MC Supports Library Week

WASHINGTON, D. C.,--General David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, has issued the following message on the observance of National Library Week, April 21-27, 1963:

"The era in which we live has been called both the 'Space Age' and the 'Nuclear Age.' It has come to signify a time of unparalleled exploration, the other, a dreadful capability of man to destroy civilization. Both are the products of man's knowledge--both need man's wisdom if they are to benefit mankind.

"The progress and direction of humanity is the result of each individual's contribution. If we do not contribute or contribute to a lesser degree in our capabilities warrant--we must share the burden if the world falls to move forward to peace and freedom.

"As individuals, we can fully realize our capabilities only through a conscious effort directed towards intellectual growth.

"Now, during National Library Week, it is appropriate that each of us honestly evaluate our personal development. I am certain that everyone will find room for improvement--and the Library can be of significant value in helping us to make our 'true contribution.'"

Bulletin

WASHINGTON -- The House Armed Services Committee approved Tuesday a pay increase for all military personnel except those with less than two years' military service, beginning next Oct. 1. Legislation will be sought during the first week of May.

The increase for active duty personnel would vary with ranks but all retired personnel would receive a straight 5 per cent increase. The cost is estimated at $1.2 billion a year.

In addition of boosting the base pay of service personnel, the bill would increase officers' subsistence allowances by $3.12 a month and ration allowances for enlisted men, which vary, would be raised.

Quad-Command Marines Push Operation "Air-Seed"

A group of enthusiastic Quad Command woodsmen, engineers, alrmen, truckers and amtrack crewmen joined hands to score another first at Camp Lejeune last Monday afternoon, April 8, when they carried out OPERATION AIR-SEED.

Designed to insure safer and more abundant feeding areas for deer and other wildlife aboard the Base, the project was under the supervision of Colonel J. A. Etheridge, 2d Division Air Officer, Lt. Colonel St. Clair Tant, 2d Division Disbursing Officer and Division Representatives on the Base Wildlife Committee, and Major C. E. Westbrook, Base Assistant G-3 Officer and Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club Field Chairman.

The amtrackers combined Lepedez, Kentucky Fescue and Certified Clover at the Rod and Gun Clubhouse last Friday, April 6, and then placed it in burlap bags.

Monday afternoon the seed was loaded aboard a 2d Force Service truck and transported to the Camp Parade Field. Here it was loaded aboard a Marine Corps Air Facility helicopter, piloted by Colonel Etheridge.

Also placed aboard the helicopter was a specially-fitted drum constructed by personnel of the 8th Engineer Battalion, Force Troops. The drum was designed to insure the seed being successfully released from the air.

This was accomplished by attaching a short metal pipe-like nozzle to the bottom of the drum and inserting a broom handle into the nozzle from a hole in the top of the drum. A tennis ball was then attached to the lower tip of the broom handle to facilitate the seed being either released from the drum via the nozzle or prevented from doing so. The broom handle was raised or lowered by means of a length of wire.

According to Major Westbrook, the seeding was designed to supplement cultivated wildlife food plots aboard the Base. There are more than 100 such plots.

Not only was Operation Air-Seed a huge success in its humanitarian aspect but it also provided a step forward in the mission to prevent traffic hazards on the Base, resulting from deer crossing thoroughfares at night in search of food.

It's Growing!

Lejeune Hosts '63 SNCO Symposium

The 1963 Staff Non-Commissioned Officers' Symposium has reached the final planning stage at Headquarters, Marine Corps, and is tentatively scheduled to be held at Camp Lejeune August 4 to 10.

Headquarters Marine Corps, meanwhile, is going ahead with plans to allocate delegate quotas to all major commands and to set the stage for these commands to hold local conferences to propose subjects for the coming Corps-wide session. It is expected that between 30 and 40 senior staff NCOs will attend the 1963 symposium.

The last Corps-wide symposium was held in August 1960 at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Up until that time, the meetings had been held every year. The meetings of the following two years were deferred by Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, in the belief that the value and effectiveness of the conferences would be increased if they were called at less frequent intervals.

One reason the Commandant is spacing the meetings farther apart is that many of the recommendations which come out of the group are controversial ideas requiring considerable study at the Headquarters level. Under the former annual schedule, the studies often would not be completed by the time the next symposium rolled around. As a result, some recommendations on which no decision had been reached would be needlessly reconsidered and resubmitted by the symposium.

Headquarters officials feel that holding the meetings at three-year intervals will allow enough time to take action on most of the recommendations.

This theory is apparently proving out. Of the 47 recommendations submitted by the 1960 symposium, decision is still pending on only one item. That item, the suggestion to adopt a uniform decal for use on private autos throughout the Corps, appears to be dead now. Presented to field activities for their comments, there apparently was so little sentiment in favor of its adoption that none of them reported their opinions back to Headquarters. Of the other 46 ideas suggested in 1960, 25 gained at least partial approval, while 21 were turned down. Some of the rejections, however, were because the Corps was already doing what was proposed, or was taking care of the problem in some other way.

The pattern of holding these conferences every three years appears to be firm now, with the next meeting after this summer's being scheduled for the West Coast in 1966.

Battalion Landing Team 2/8 Host 50 Greek Trade School Students

IN THE MEDITERRANEAN—Students from the Technical Trade School of Mires, Crete look over the 150-mm Howitzers attached to Battalion Landing Team 2/8 during their visit with the Marines. The visiting students also witnessed a helicopter's maneuverability in the air, after which they were taken to the BLT messhall and served refreshments prior to returning to Mires. (Photo by Sgt. J. F. Fryman)

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, TIMBAKION, CRETE, March 28 (delayed) Battalion Landing Team 2/8 was host to 50 students from the Technical Trade School of Mires, Crete.

The students, ranging in age from seven to sixteen, were led by their school principal, Mr. George Vanrakis.

Automotive mechanics and electronics are taught at the school.

BLT 2/8 motor transport was utilized to bring the students to the Marine camp.

First on the agenda for the visiting students was a look at the Marine bivouac area. Here the Marine Interpreter explained to the students how the Marines live in the field. Some of the individual Marine's equipment was also shown to the students.

The boys were next directed to the gun park where they were shown the 105-mm. Howitzers.

After the artillery the students were shown the BLT motor transport, amphibian tractors, ontos, tanks, and other supporting units of the BLT. Student interest was mostly centered around the engines and electrical wiring of the vehicles.

After the students got their fill of looking around the mechanical parts of the vehicles they were directed to the air strip where they saw helicopters of HMM-262.

The "choppers" were explained to the students, after which they were given a chance to get inside and strap themselves into the seats to "get the feel" of the aircraft.

A demonstration of the helicopter's mobility in the air was given to the young men after they had all been ushered through the helicopter.

Warning!

Mix Cleaners — Bleaches; Get Chlorine — Death!

With the arrival of warm weather and most households undergoing 'spring cleaning', the Base Sanitation Department warns that the combination of toilet bowl cleaners mixed with bleaches will produce chlorine.

The following article is a transcript from the National Association of Sanitarians' "Journal of Environmental Health":

"Sold under a variety of trade names, household bleach is a solution of sodium hypochlorite. Any acid substance, even vinegar, added to bleach will release poisonous chlorine gas.

"Two cases were reported recently wherein housewives were using a well-known cleaner in home toilet bowls. Not satisfied with the way the cleaner was working, each of these ladies added household bleach and stirred the mixture.

"The acid content of the cleaners liberated chlorine when the bleaching compound was added. Death came in a few minutes to one of the ladies; the other, younger, survived but required a long period of hospitalization and treatment.

"Cleaners and bleaches should never be combined. They should be stored in separate places, and both kept well away from food or medical supplies. Above all, they should never be left where children might play with them and combine the two compounds accidentally."

According to the Base Sanitation Office all of the toilet bowl cleaners offered for sale at the Base Commissary contain one or a combination of acids. Three of the general purpose household bleaches also offered for sale contain an ingredient which will produce chlorine if mixed with an acid.

16 Airlines Slash Fares For Military

Washington—“Furlough Rate” plane tickets went on sale late in March when 16 major airlines were authorized to offer half-price tickets to servicemen and women.

Military personnel on leave or delay in route may purchase the tickets by showing a copy of their orders or leave papers to the ticket agent. Travel on these tickets must be made in uniform, the same as on reduced bus or train tickets.

While the new fare is based on jet coach fares, the tickets will be honored on piston aircraft, in coach and economy coach sections of jet aircraft, and in one-class service planes.

No reservations will be made for the reduced rate tickets. Service people traveling on such tickets will be assigned unfilled seats in regular flights. However, airline people say this will cause little delay in most instances, except during times of abnormal travel loads.

A major feature of the fare is that, as in the case of “delays en route,” the tickets can be purchased for a one-way trip at the same reduced rate.

CAREER ENDS—For Chief Medical Service Warrant Officer Eugene E. Atwood after 29 years of active service. Warrant Officer Atwood receives his retirement papers from Capt. J. E. D. Humphries, USN, Base Medical Officer, at retirement ceremonies held in front of the Base Dispensary last week.

ARMED FORCES DAY

"...HE HAS RISEN, HE IS NOT HERE..."

(Mark 16:2-6)

In the ancient city of Jerusalem, there is a church called the Church of the Holy Sepulcher. In this church is a Chapel built over the traditional site of the tomb of Christ. Strange things happen at this Chapel on Easter. Flames leap from the tomb. Priests step forward to light their torches, and people crowd in to light their candles. Some of these people even sleep in the Church on Good Friday night while others mill around in the streets outside.

On this Easter morning, millions of people will crowd countless churches to light their lives with the fire of the Risen Christ. Others will go because it is the customary thing to do, and others out of curiosity. In any event, they can find the Risen Christ and then can feel His power.

Our Lord came to redeem a world that had died inside. What disturbed Him was the people who lived, yet were in reality quite dead. They had become insensitive to good. Their senses were dulled to love and mercy. They were completely unconscious of faith and hope. They were unaware of God. They were dead!

Christ came to bring men back to life. He came to lift them out of their confusion and to make them alive to things that really matter. He came to give them the spirit, the heart and outlook of God's children. He did it on Easter.

Easter means, then, that many of the things we take for granted are simply not so. Selfishness, greed, lust and lying that wave their banners on Good Friday are now stripped of their disguise, and we see them for what they really are — powerless, defeated and dead!

The goodness and mercy, righteousness and hope, peace and love which we had dismissed as idealistic and useless are now seen as they really are — powerful, triumphant and alive!

But, Easter means even more. Easter means that men can, the power of this event, die their low aims, their selfish ambitions and the proud passions which have controlled their lives. Easter also means that these same men can come alive to goodness and mercy, the faith and hope, and the peace and power that are the birthright of the children of God.

Christ is Risen! You can live with Christ. That is the hope of Easter.

Chaplain's Corner

I remember as a boy that many times my father would say jokingly "What good are you?" The typical answer was, "To keep bread from mou- ing"

I have since discovered that this seemingly innocent jest lies at the basic question of life. For really no what good am I to this world I live in. We cannot just let the philosopher worry about this question. We can escape answering "What good am I because the way we live, the way we think, and the way we get along with those around us is our answer. If a basic concern is to live for our own self-interests, our own self-pleasure — then we have denied the very reason for our being here. We have effect said, "There is no God but me. To live for self is to deny the purpose of creation — which is to glorify God. A life without God as its controlling dynamic is as a dog chasing its own tail. It is a life in a hopeless state of confusion. Is it any wonder the world is in such a muddle?

"What good am I?" I am good as a person created by God. I am of special worth to God. Because God is my creator, I can only be "worth something" when the living God is the master of my life. It is God who alone can make us the people we ought to be. It is God who perfects us in every area of life. Through God, a husband becomes a better husband; a wife, a better wife; a marine, a better marine; and through every occupation on the face of the earth.

Without God we are nothing. We God we are everything, for through God we acknowledge the "why" of our being here.

The Latest Word

Washington—Nearly half of the holders of GI insurance policies had errors of some kind in beneficiary listings, a recent Veterans Administration survey showed.

One-third of the errors discovered were caused by the failure of policyholders to make necessary changes in their major beneficiary designations.

In too many cases, the VA said, the serviceman or veteran fails to change his beneficiary when he gets married or remarried, or has children. This can result in someone other than those he desires getting the insurance benefits in case of his death.

The VA has no choice in the matter but must pay the insurance proceeds to the person whose name is recorded as major beneficiary, regardless of who may be the heirs of the deceased.

Policyholders are advised by the VA to make certain their recorded major beneficiary is correct. Changes can be made by writing to the VA insurance office to which premiums are paid.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS
The story of Damon and Pythias has become a byword and a legend, symbolic of friendship of the highest order. Here, that story is told in terms of a motion picture, with a result which makes for satisfactory entertainment of its kind.

ESCAPE FROM EAST BERLIN
Based upon a true incident, this picture achieves mounting suspense because it adheres constantly to its main premise: the deeply felt desire of East Berliners to breathe the air of freedom from Communist tyranny. Don Murray is surprisingly believable in an honest portrayal of a German mechanic who decides to plan and undertake the dangerous task of preparing to escape. Co-starring with Murray is Christine Kaufmann. "Escape From East Berlin" was produced in Germany.

ARMORED COMMAND
Interesting characterizations, and action are brought into enjoyable focus in this war drama. A good cast headed by Howard Keel and beautiful Tina Louise along with Earl Holliman.

TWO TICKETS TO PARIS
Jeri Lynne Fraser and her finance.

Dee, before their marriage, go off to Paris and a lucrative theatre engagement for Dee, but her mother insists on a shipboard chaperone. It's light, but amusing, and should sell well to the teens. In the cast are: Joey Dee, Gary Crosby and Kay Medford.

TENDER IS THE NIGHT
Jennifer Jones suffers a lingering neurosis brought on by an attack on her as a child by her father. As she nears cure, she falls in love with her psychiatrist. Co-starring with Miss Jones are Jason Robards, Jr., Joan Fontaine and Tom Ewell.

IT'S ONLY MONEY
Jerry Lewis is a slightly demented radio-TV repairman who wants to be a private detective. He latches on to Jesse White, a private eye seeking to find a missing heir. All in all it's fun for everyone. The cast includes Jerry Lewis, Zachary Scott and Joan O'Brien.

EL CID
The story of Spain's great 11th century hero who freed Christendom and his country from the Moorish invaders. Starring in the film are: Charlton Heston, Sophia Loren, Raf Vallone and Genevieve Page.

PERIOD OF ADJUSTMENT

A pleasant and amusing story about two couples — one just married and the other, a veteran of a few years' wedded bliss — and how they help each other untangle domestic crises into which they have separately become involved. Starring in the cast are Tony Franciosa, Jane Fonda and Jim Hutton.

IN SEARCH OF THE CASTAWAYS
The fabulous, more than slightly incredible and occasionally fantastic adventures as recorded by Jules Verne something over a century ago and made-to-order for Walt Disney. This film should delight and entertain the young and perhaps some of the young in heart. Those in the cast include: Hayley Mills, Maurice Chevalier, and George Sanders.

CAIRO

This story is a rather old one of dishonor among thieves, of double-cross, and an excitingly active delineation of the ancient adage that "crime does not pay." It is relatively exciting and entertaining material. Starring in the cast are George Sanders and Richard Johnson.

LET'S GO TO THE

Friday, April 19th is the date to mark for fun in the sun at Camp Lejeune, with the official opening of Onslow Beach and its facilities.

For those preparing to make use of these facilities, through swimming, organized unit parties, fishing, cabana rental or just soaking up the sun, the Base Special Services Office, working with the Camp Lejeune GLOBE, has compiled information concerning facilities, recreation and regulations to eliminate past problems and unintentional breaches of beach policy.

Swimming at the beaches this year will be from 10:00 a.m. to sunset, Monday through Friday, and from 8:00 a.m. to sunset on weekends and holidays.

Patrons of the beach are reminded that swimming in all areas of the beach may involve personal danger due to the combination of surf and undertow. No swimming will be allowed in areas not designated for that purpose, and no swimming in any area will be allowed unless a qualified lifeguard is present to insure water safety.

There is to be absolutely no swimming in the intra-coastal waterway.

Lifeguards are acting as the direct representatives of the Commanding General, and must be obeyed as such. They are not there to limit your fun or to interfere with your recreation; they are there to insure your safety.

Children under 12 years of age must be accompanied by a responsible adult at all times while in the beach area.

A first aid station is located at the enlisted pavilion. Those injured while in the beach area may obtain immediate aid by calling 7-3034, or by contacting the nearest duty lifeguard.

Privately owned vehicles must be parked in lots provided in areas adjacent to beach buildings BA 115, 113, and 147. No parking will be allowed along shoulders of roads, or in beach areas.

No glass containers will be allowed in the beach area.

An impact area is located approximately 1300 yards northeast of the mobile cabanas. This area contains dangerous duds, capable of inflicting serious injury or death, and is strictly off-limits to all personnel. Children should have full understanding of this danger, and extreme care should be taken to keep them clear of this hazard.

Sanitary arrangements at the beach are limited. All patrons are requested to give due attention to sanitation police, and cleanliness of the beach areas.

Beach houses and Cabanas for use of military personnel and their dependents consist of 12 units, each sleeping six people, with kitchen and bathroom facilities. Four of these are for SSgts. E-5 through GySgts. E-7, four are for Sgts. E-5 and below, and four are for Company Grade Officers.

In addition, there are two units on the fishing pier, each sleeping eight persons, with kitchen and bathroom facilities, one for enlisted grade E-8 and one for E-9.

Two house trailers, one each for Majors and Captains, sleeping six persons, two beach houses, sleeping eight persons for Colonels and Lieutenant Colonels, are also available at the beach, and are equipped with bathroom and kitchen facilities.

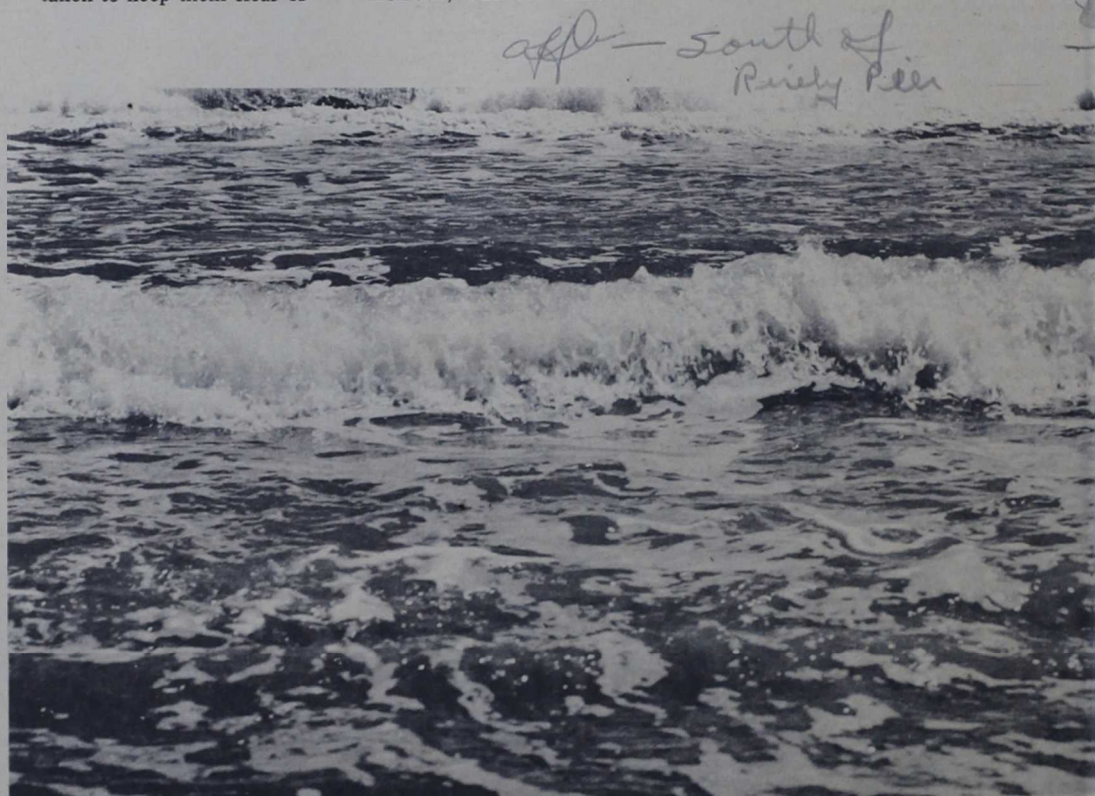

Summer Rates (effective May 1st through October 15th) are:

BEACH CABANAS (enlisted and company grade) $2.00 per day.

PIER CABANAS (E-8 and E-9) $2.50 per day.

MOBILE CABANAS (Majors and Captains) $3.00 per day.

Organized unit beach parties must check in and be assigned a recreation area by the Officer In Charge of the beach, located in the Enlisted pavilion. Swimming during sanctioned unit parties is allowed, providing a commissioned officer accompanies them, and a qualified lifeguard is provided by the unit. Cold beer in case lots may be purchased from the enlisted pavilion, providing the commanding officer of the unit will authorize the serving of beer.

Those desiring to have softball, volleyball or other athletic equipment at the beach, may contact their unit special services.

While at the beach, keep in mind that your recreation activities will not be limited unreasonably, and that it is your responsibility to insure that your activities and conduct do not interfere with the rights and enjoyment of others.

Quantico Star Selected To Pan-American Team

Dick Edmunds, top Quantico thincad, was selected to run the 1600-meter relay in the Pan-American Games at Sao Paulo, Brazil, this month.

The all-Marine Champion received a telegram several weeks ago from the U.S. Olympic Committee, stating his selection to the United States PanAm track team.

A former Inter-Collegiate and Heptagonal champion, Edmunds ranks high among the nation's quarter milers. He barely missed the 1960 Olympic squad, running his "specialty", the 440, in 46.2 seconds.

The speedster, a former Princeton University star, also competes in the 60 and 100-yard dashes and the 300 and 600 yard runs. He began breaking records while attending high school at Glen Falls, New York where he won the state school-boy championships in 1954 and 1956.

In 1957 he broke 1956 gold medal Olympian, Charles Jenkins's, 300-yard record to set a new national interscholastic mark at New Hampshire's Exeter Academy.

Some of Edmunds' greatest performances have been turned in as Quantico anchor man for the mile relay.

Edmunds chalked up a 46.8 time as he led off the winning sprint medley squad during the 1962 MCS relays. With the mile relay squad, he came from 12 yards behind in the anchor leg to run the event in 46 seconds flat and pick up the victory for his team. He was selected as an All-Marine Champion the same year.

He has competed in the AAU Championships for the past four years and ran in the NCAA championships for three years while attending Princeton.

Edmunds is scheduled to join the American relay team in Miami next Monday. Although the Pan-American Games are to be held April 20 through May

Quantico Star Selected To Pan-American Team

Dick Edmunds, top Quantico thinciad, was selected to run the 1600-meter relay in the Pan-American Games at Sao Paulo, Brazil, this month.

The all-Marine Champion received a telegram several weeks ago from the U.S. Olympic Committee, stating his selection to the United States PanAm track team.

A former Inter-Collegiate and Heptagonal champion, Edmunds ranks high among the nation's quarter milers. He barely missed the 1960 Olympic squad, running his "specialty", the 440, in 46.2 seconds.

The speedster, a former Princeton University star, also competes in the 60 and 100-yard dashes and the 300 and 600 yard runs. He began breaking records while attending high school at Glen Falls, New York where he won the state school-boy championships in 1954 and 1956.

In 1957 he broke 1956 gold medal Olympian, Charles Jenkins', 300-yard record to set a new national interscholastic mark at New Hampshire's Exeter Academy.

Some of Edmunds' greatest performances have been turned in as Quantico anchor man for the mile relay.

Edmunds chalked up a 46.8 time as he led off the winning sprint medley squad during the 1962 MCS relays. With the mile relay squad, he came from 12 yards behind in the anchor leg to run the event in 46 seconds flat and pick up the victory for his team. He was selected as an All-Marine Champion the same year.

He has competed in the AAU Championships for the past four years and ran in the NCAA championships for three years while attending Princeton.

Edmunds is scheduled to join the American relay team in Miami next Monday. Although the Pan-American Games are to be held April 20 through May next meeting of the International Wives' Club which will be held Friday, April 19, at 10 a. m. in the River Room of the Paradise Point Club.

SATURDAY — 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Hong Kong, the cosmopolitan city which means Fragrant Harbor in Chinese, has been a British Crown Colony since 1835 and has a population of nearly three and a half million people, of whom only 15,000 are of nationalities other than Chinese. Lt. and Mrs. Stackpole will tell of the background and customs of the city; its people, government, politics and the situation of the many refugees living there. They also plan to discuss typical foods, marketing and fashions. Colored slides will illustrate the program.

Mrs. J. P. Berkeley, honorary chairman of International Wives' Club, will bring some of her lovely Chinese things for display at the meeting. General and Mrs. Berkeley lived in Peking for several years and Mrs. Berkeley acquired some exquisite things. Among them: "Thousand People" china, beautifully embroidered robes, china and intricately-fashioned chopsticks. There will also be linens, cloth, a pewter lamp and a very old Chinese brass vase on display belonging to Mrs. Stackpole.

Diminutive Vivien Stackpole was born in Hong Kong and has lived there all her life with the exception of eight years spent in school in England. She graduated from the Central School of Arts and Crafts in London as an interior designer (a combination architect-interior decorator) and upon her return to Hong Kong had her own firm until her marriage last December. She is a most charming representative of one of the most delightful cities in the world.

Lt. Stackpole is a native of New Haven, Conn., and a graduate of Princeton University. During his five years in the Marine Corps he has been stationed at Quantico, Camp Pendleton, and the far east and is currently Informational Services Officer at Camp Lejeune.

An array of foods typical of Hong Kong has been planned to delight the palates of guests. The cuisine of Hong Kong is Cantonese and featured will be spring rolls, sweet and sour pork, chow mein with beef and vegetables, Chinese steamed bread, toffee apples, fortune cookies and Chinese jasmine tea.

Reservations should be made by Wednesday, April 17, by calling Mrs. D. J. Barrett, 6-6778; Mrs. R. L. Mulford, 6-6144; Mrs. E. J. Radics, 6-6256; Mrs. C. E. Spence, 6-6654 or Mrs. J. T. May, 346-8271. Sitting service reservations should be made at least 24 hours in advance by calling 6-6723.

HONG KONG PREVIEW—Discussing some of the differences between North and South China prior to the International Wives' Club meeting to be held Friday, April 19, are Mrs. J. P. Berkeley, honorary chairman of the club, and Mrs. H. C. Stackpole, a native of Hong Kong. Mrs. Stackpole wears a Mandarin Chinese jacket, one of the many lovely items acquired by Mrs. Berkeley during her residence in Peking. A program on Hong Kong will be presented by Lt. and Mrs. Stackpole at the meeting April 19. (Photo by MSgt. W. V. Brown)

TT E- 4, E-5 Wives Get Acquainted Over Coffee

The Easter bunny made his premier in this area Monday night at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center where the newly formed E-4, E-5 Wives' Club held its "Get Acquainted Coffee".

No one saw him in person but his trail was unmistakable as he left Easter basket favors at each setting, huge white bunny centerpieces on the tables and colorfully arrayed spring flowers about the room.

Several tables, lined with pastry delights and delicacies assured the approximate 45 wives present that "Easter's on its way".

Vice-president Ann Dotson opened the meeting with a prayer after which Sandie Dodd, president, introduced the other board members: Phyllis Laberge, secretary; Betty Dalley, treasurer and Shirley Taylor, publicity chairman.

The wives made plans for dyeing eggs Saturday morning for the Tarawa Terrace Easter Egg Hunt to be held Easter Sunday at 1 p. m. on the Community Center lawn. Also discussed was the club's bake sale which will be coming up April 26.

Camp Lejeune 'Stars' In Azalea Festival

Marine marching units, representing Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point, passed in review during the gigantic Azalea Festival Parade before a record-breaking crowd of 165,000 in Wilmington, N. C., last weekend. The Marines held one of the most eye-catching positions in the Festival Parade, following Queen Azalea XVI, Nancy Malone, television star of Naked City, James Drury, star of "The Virginian", and Joe E. Ross and Fred Gynne, stars of the popular television series, "Car 54, Where Are You?".

Led by the Marine Corps Base color guard, 250 smart stepping Leathernecks from the 1st Infantry Training Regiment, passed sharply by the Festival reviewing stand, leading the way for the crack 2d Marine Division Band.

The Division Band, presenting a colorful appearance in their dress blue uniforms, and with the glittering brass of their polished instruments, broke into the stirring "Marine Corps Hymn" in the heart of Wilmington.

Not to be outdone by their male counterparts, a company of Women Marines from the Marine Air Station at Cherry Point, North Carolina, followed the band.

Also representing Camp Lejeune in the parade were the "Sweethearts", an advanced group of precision drill twirlers composed of fifth and sixth graders from Lejeune's dependent schools.

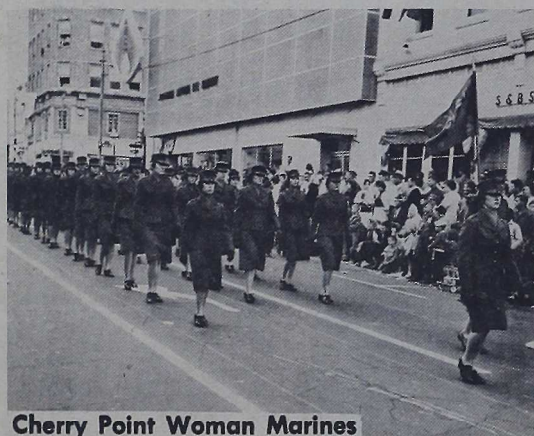

Despite overcast skies and a light, misty rain which lasted only long enough to create anxieties among parade officials, the gigantic parade moved without difficulty thrilling thousands of spectators.

As usual, the center attraction this year, as in the past 15 since the festival began, were the millions of Azalea blossoms, covering Wilmington with an array of color.

Continuous festival highlights, beginning Thursday night and formally climaxing with worship services in downtown

Wilmington Sunday morning provided constant entertainment to visitors, milit and civilian, from all over United States.

An Infantry weapons demonstration will be held later in the afternoon at range D27 by the 1st Battalion, 2d Marines, followed by a grenade launcher exhibit by 1st Battalion 6th Marines, at Range A-8.

Grades Vital To College Entrance

As we move into the final weeks of the school year, each student of the Camp Lejeune Schools is endeavoring to make the best possible grade on each respective subject, it is only natural that we pause and take an introspective view of ourselves, subjects and our grades and determine what an integral roll play in our future. Since approximately 75% of our graduates either enter institutions of higher learning or go into military service, it is vital that we realize the real significance of our academic grades. Colleges, in a manner of speaking, scout for students by mail, and acquaintanceship with most applicants begin with the receipt of a postal card requesting a copy of the current catalogue.

It continues with letters of inquiry and explanations and may progress to an exchange of bulky envelopes containing application forms and documents. During this period, college begins its weeding-out process. It must learn something of you without the benefit of a "to-face" meeting.

In point, rather than in person, seeks preliminary answers to questions: Will you be a good student? Will you last out four years of work? Will you bring credit to school and its traditions? Can you make the emotional change from protective and hand-holding school atmosphere to the highly competitive, self-reliant, and challenge campus routine?

Over the years, colleges have innumerable and elaborate ways to guarantee the correctness of long-distance selections. Always, ever, the conclusion of the mail has been that high school offers the best clue to a student's future scholastic performance.

There is no shortage of evidence that grades are a reliable index to colleges of probable success in their campus. Ninety percent of leges, in reply to innumerable questionnaires from school administrators, declare that your marks are of importance in considering your application.

Thus the college admissions director looks first at your marks then your marks in relationship to grades determined by others in your class, next he looks at the student itself, the kind of courses it takes, its faculty, the record of other students who have graduated from the degree of competition faced when you were enrolled in it. Finally, he looks back at your high school record to be sure how your average was reached. You have a (B) average which is lifted from a (C) by taking subjects in Physical Education, Hygiene, M. Training or Home Economics. You will probably be considered a (C) student. The fundamental basis for admission to colleges and universities is high scholarship in academic subjects.

For students who are still or single most important lesson to be learned by the "ever increasing" emphasis on high school grades is this: show bettering your marks that the upward. It is true that college respect your overall four years average, but it is equally correct to say they are most concerned with the last two years in high school. May each of you firmly resolve your academic record will be the best that is possible for you to attain, thereby, earning for you traditional military "WELL DONE."
