Three Naval Vessels To Join Azalea Festivities

Among the many special features to be seen at the Azalea festival to be held in Wilmington, N. C. April 4-7 will be three Navy vessels which will hold open house at the State Sports Authority terminal Friday and Saturday from 1 to 4 p. m. and Sunday from 1 to 3 p. m.

The ships are the submarine USS Amberjack, commanded by LCDR. J. R. Kennedy; the guided missile destroyer USS Sellers, commanded by Cdr. William R. Johnson; and the radar picket destroyer USS Deyess, commanded by Cdr. W. E. Fowler.

Highlighting the festival schedule are a free variety show and fireworks Thursday night, performances of the Queen's Coronation Pageant Friday and Saturday nights, the mammoth Azalea Festival parade Saturday morning and the Coronation Ball Saturday night.

Representing Camp Lejeune in the parade will be the "Sweethearts", an advanced group of precision drill twirlers composed of fifth and sixth graders along with 250 Marines from 1st ITR, MCB color guard and the 2D Division Band.

As always, stars of the big show will be the city's more than one million azaleas just beginning to bloom and which officials say will be at their height during the Azalea Festival.

Giving the azaleas competition for first place attraction will be lovely television star Nancy Malone, Queen Azalea XVI, and Miss Marcel Wilson, Hawaiian beauty who was the Miss USA contestant in the Miss Universe Contest.

CMC Announces Early Outs!

An early release program has been established according to MCBul. 1910. Upon a request in writing by the individual Marine, commanding officers are authorized to affect a discharge or release from active duty during April. Enlisted Marines serving on their first enlistment in pay grades E-4 and below, stationed in or enroute to the United States or their residents in dependencies, trusts and the states of Alaska and Hawaii; whose normal expiration of enlistment or obligated active service will occur during the period April 1, 1963 to June 30, 1963, both dates inclusive are eligible.

Marines not eligible for this early release are: those in critical MOS fields serving in Category 1, Enclosure (1) to MCO 7220.12C, aliens qualifying for citizenship by completion of three years active military service and six month reservists.

Separations are to be effected as soon as possible during April.

Personnel discharged under this authority who are otherwise eligible as to their Expiration of Active Service may be awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

Easter Services

Easter Sunrise Services will be held at Camp Lejeune at 7 a. m., Sunday morning, April 14th, in the Amphitheater behind building 2, 2d Marine Division Headquarters.

The services will be conducted by Chaplain G. M. Leonard; the sermon by Chaplain J. P. Moorman.

Music will be provided by the Protestant Chapel Choir under the direction of Mr. James Martin, the 2d Marine Division Band under the direction of Warrant Officer Frank E. Barthold, and Pianist, Mrs. Lois Springer.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

First Antarctic Nuclear Reactor Merits MCB-1 Navy Commendation

LCdr. Charles M. Howe, CEC, USN, received one of the Navy's highest peace-time awards, the Navy Commendation Medal, during ceremonies at Camp Geiger last Friday.

Led by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Force Troops, the full battalion of the U. S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion ONE staged an impressive parade and pass-in-review in honor of LCdr. Howe, their former Commanding Officer.

Capt. W. J. Thompson, CEC, USN, Area Public Works Officer Chesapeake, on behalf of Rear Adm. Peter Corradi, CEC, USN, Chief of Civil Engineers and Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks presented the with low ceilings if they are considered a hazard to the driver.

Summer Service "C" for officers and "A" or "B" for enlisted, with long or short sleeves and without necktie, are authorized for wear between the hours of 5 a. m. and 6 p. m. weekdays, except holidays. At all other times the liberty uniform will be worn.

When any shirt is worn as the outer garment about the base, ribbons and badges are optional. When on leave or liberty however, all ribbons and badges must be worn.

The French cuff shirt is an optional item of wear for officers and staff noncommissioned officers. They may wear it on duty, on leave or on liberty but not in formations, parades or at ceremonial occasions. The gold service cuff links and tie bar are the only accessories to be worn with the shirt.

Regulation raincoats may be worn at the option of the individual.

Gen. Wieseman Selected For Promotion, Transfer

Major General Frederick L. Wieseman, commanding general, 2d Marine Division has been nominated by President Kennedy for promotion to lieutenant general and is slated to relieve Lt. Gen. Edward W. Snedeker as Commandant of Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

No date has been set for General Wieseman's promotion or detachment from the 2d Division, and no replacement has been selected by Headquarters, Marine Corps to command the Division.

General Wieseman a veteran of over 30 years service in the Marine Corps will be ordered to Quantico to assume his new duties prior to receiving his third star.

General Snedeker is expected to retire prior to June 30th, with the rank of Lieutenant General.

General Wieseman has commanded the 2d Division since November 1961. In August, 1925 he entered the Marine Corps serving as an enlisted man until July 1927, when he was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy.

FORMER SKIPPER HONORED—LCdr. Charles M. Howe, CEC, USN, receives the coveted Navy Commendation Medal from Capt. W. J. Thompson, CEC, USN during ceremonies held at Camp Geiger last week.

THE SWINGIN' 'ESSEX'—Pooling their voices, these four Camp Lejeune Marines, left to right, LCpl. Walter Vickers, Pfc's Billy Hill, Anita Humes and Rudy Johnson, make up the singin', swingin' team of the "Essex." Breaking into the recording field with the Roulette company, they have tentatively scheduled a release entitled, "Easier Said Than Done" and "Are You Goin' My Way?" for April 15.

'Essex' Marine Quartet Hoping For Big Break

"Easier Said Than Done" has a real double meaning for four Camp Lejeune Marines, LCpl. Walter Vickers, Pfc Billy Hill, Pfc. Rudy Johnson and Lady Leatherneck Pfc. Anita Humes.

In addition to being a very accurate axiom for those attempting to hit the big time, it is also the name of the first record to be cut by this Marine singing quartet.

The Essex, as the group is named, have cut a master recording of "Easier Said Than Done" with a tune called "Are You Going My Way?" on the flip side, with the Roulette Record Company, and are now anxiously waiting for the release date, tentatively set for April 15th.

If the record sells well, the Essex have high hopes of "breaking big" into the entertainment world. To date, they have already secured a one-year contract with Roulette, and have been scheduled for a premier promotion tour to include a total of 11 public appearances in Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago and Boston.

The Essex appear confident that their first record will go big, but theirs has not been an overnight success.

The group was first formed when Rudy, Walter and Billy began singing in the barracks to pass the off-duty hours. Rudy had planned for years to eventually cut a record, and the group began to lean away from the songs and musical arrangements of other artists, and experimented with their own.

As time passed, and the group had a ready portfolio of their own work, they considered transforming the trio into a quartet, using a female vocalist, and contacted Anita, a Woman Marine, who had been singing with the Milton Dennis Jazz Quartet on base and in Jacksonville, N. C.

Anita agreed to join the group, and within a few days, they were hard at work on "Are You Going My Way?", written and arranged by Rudy. When it appeared the arrangement was perfected, the Essex took their first big step and taped the arrangement, which was taken to New York and submitted to Roulette Records by Rudy.

Roulette cut a "dub" or initial record from the tape, and a producer-arranger said that the song had potential. An audition was suggested, and the Essex were asked to return on March 19th for an audition. Rudy hurriedly called the group together, and learned that Anita was at her home in Pennsylvania on leave. She cut short her leave and joined the Quartet to cut their master record with Roulette, signing the contract.

While stating that the Marine Corps is still their primary concern, the Essex are planning to organize after their discharge in 1965, and hit the entertainment world full-force.

Eligibility Rules Set

NavSec Authorizes Medal For Thailand, Cuba Service

The award of the Navy and Marine Corps Expeditionary Medal has been authorized by the Secretary of the Navy for operations in Thailand and Cuba. For Thailand, all Navy and Marine Corps personnel attached to the 3d Marine Expeditionary Unit who served ashore from May 16, 1962 to August 10, 1962 are eligible.

The dates for the Cuba Operation are January 3, 1961 to October 23, 1962. Those persons are eligible who meet one or more of the following criteria:

1. Those assigned to the Naval Base, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, including personnel attached to ships and units actually assigned to the Naval Base.
2. Those engaged in reconnaissance flights over Cuba.
3. Those engaged in special operations specifically designated by the Secretary of the Navy.

Itinerants and personnel, units and ships temporarily assigned for short training periods are not eligible.

No more than one medal will be awarded to an individual. For each succeeding operation for which it is to be authorized, one bronze star may be worn on the medal's suspension ribbon.

The medal is not yet available for issue. However, ribbons may be purchased from Navy and Marine Corps exchanges or military stores. In order of precedence, the Expeditionary Medal will follow immediately after the Navy and Marine Corps Good Reserve and Marine Corps Good Conduct Medals, or the Naval Reserve and Marine Corps Organized Reserve Medals.

Assault Ship Guadalcanal Christened By Mrs. Shoup

WASHINGTON, D. C.,--The Navy's newest amphibious assault ship was christened Guadalcanal by Mrs. David M. Shoup, wife of the Commandant of the Marine Corps, during ceremonies March 16, at the Philadelphia (Pa.) Naval Shipyard.

General David M. Shoup was principal speaker at the ceremonies for the LPH-7 assault ship, named in honor of the United States' first offensive campaign of World War II.

Guadalcanal is designed to transport and land Marines and supplies by means of assault transport helicopters during amphibious operations. This

Passover Festival

Monday evening at Sunset will begin the Jewish Festival of the Passover, an occasion for family observances and gatherings at home.

Passover will end at Sunset on Tuesday, April 16. The first two days, Monday and Tuesday, April 8-9 are days of intense religious obligation for those of the Jewish faith.

Those personnel who are unable to join their families are encouraged to contact the Jewish Chaplain in Bldg. 67 or by calling 7-5822 who will make arrangements with Jewish families in the Camp Lejeune area, for their participation in the Passover observance.

modern technique of vertical envelopment, which exploits flexibility and surprise, was pioneered by Navy-Marine Corps teamwork.

The ship's keel was laid Sept. 1, 1961. She has a completion date of Sept. 30, 1963, and a cost of approximately $40 million.

Guadalcanal's complement is approximately 50 officers and 500 enlisted, and she can transport 2000 combat troops and 24 large amphibious transport helicopters.

Displacing 18,000 tons when fully loaded, the ship has an armament which includes four twin 3"/50 caliber rapid-fire anti-aircraft gun mounts.

Her overall length is 592 feet; her beam is 85 feet.

Other dignitaries present at the christening ceremonies included: General and Mrs. Shoup's daughter, Carolyn (Mrs. Joel S. Watkins) and their granddaughter, Miss Martha Shoup; General Gerald C. Thomas, USMC (Ret'd), who was Chief of Staff of the First Marine Division on Guadalcanal and represented those who participated in the campaign; Vice Admiral Horacio Rivero Jr., USN, COM PHILANT; and Rear Admiral Ralph K. James, USN, Chief, Bureau of Ships, Department of the Navy.

Also in attendance were: Rear Admiral Robert W. Cavenagh, USN, Commandant of the Fourth Naval District; Captain Joseph E. Rice, USN, Commander of the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

MARINE ASSAULT CARRIER—The new Marine assault carrier Guadalcanal was christened at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard in ceremonies that featured the traditional "bottle breaking on the bow" by Mrs. David M. Shoup, wife of the U. S. Marine Corps Commandant.

Career Advisor Plays Cupid

Career Advisory NCO's aren't always seeking to upset the plans of young men by persuasive recruitment talks. In fact, sometimes they are even nice. And when you find a career advisor who also plays cupid... well, listen to this.

Lance Corporal Marilyn Cox is an attractive young woman who works in the Woman Marine Company Office, Corporal Donald B. Henderson is a troop handler with 1st Battalion, 1st Infantry Training Regiment. They are engaged to be married. But...her enlistment doesn't expire until 1965, Henderson gets discharged in July 1963.

The young Montana Miss wants to travel. That's why she became a Marine. The other day a quota came in for duty in Hawaii. After some discussion, Marilyn extended her enlistment for an extra three months so she could see Diamond Head in actuality.

Staff Sergeant Joe Pratt, a friendly sort from Headquarters and Service Battalion, Marine Corps Base arranged things for her. He also happens to be the battalion career advisor. You can imagine fiance Henderson's reaction when he heard the news.

He rushed to Pratt's office. But he was no match for the quick-talking recruiter. He just reached the sergeant's desk when Pratt called out:

"Ship for four years and go with her! Have a honeymoon in Hawaii at government expense!"

Henderson did.

One might be inclined to believe Staff Sergeant Pratt said what he did in self-defense. We like to think that he was really playing cupid.

Veteran Lejeune Diesel Awaits Uncertain Future

Perhaps old soldiers--to quote an old army refrain--merely do "just fade away" when sent into retirement. But this is not true of an old veteran retired at Camp Lejeune nearly two years ago.

This old veteran is a lady as the gender of all mechanical contrivances are designated in the Naval service. She is a 80 ton, $41,000 diesel locomotive that hauled troops and freight in this vicinity for 16 years. She probably would have continued doing so too had not the Camp Lejeune Railroad as such been discontinued in July 1961.

Today she sits on a track in Bldg. 738 patiently waiting for something to be done about her plight. At last report she has been transferred from the control of Base Maintenance to that of the 2d Force Service Regiment.

According to Base Plant Account Office her future will be decided by the Redistribution and disposal branch of 2D FSR's Automatic Supply Distribution Battalion.

But until this latter office takes action, Marine Corps Diesel Locomotive No. 152145 will be obliged to remain in her quarters at Bldg. 738.

The locomotive was one of three used at Camp Lejeune since 1945. One is still in operation here, and the third, an engine loaned to the Marine Corps by the U. S. Army was returned to that service some time ago.

Some may say who cares about an old 39 foot diesel locomotive that is aging away in a warehouse down in the Industrial area, and they may be right. For after all, the locomotive represents a bygone era at Camp Lejeune.

Like the environment it has been so much a part of during the past 18 years, Marine Corps Diesel Locomotive No. 152145, according to the Plant Account Office, is still capable of more mileage-perhaps at another Marine Corps or other service installation.

But wherever she goes, she like other service veterans may never really die--but "just fade away".

MARINE OF THE MONTH—for the 6th Marines is Cpl. Shelby R. Peden. Normally assigned duties as Headquarters Company Chief Clerk, Peden was cited for successfully filling in for his Company First Sergeant for one week during the latter's absence due to illness and for outstanding work during his regular duties as Company Chief Clerk.

AWAITING HER FATE—at Bldg. 738 is Marine Corp Diesel Locomotive No. 152145, veteran Camp Lejeune workhorse for 16 years. The 39 foot long — 13 foot high engine was retired from troop and freight-hauling duties here in July 1961 when the Camp Lejeune Railroad was disbanded. Her future status is now being decided by 2d FSR's Redistribution and Disposal Division. (Photo by LCpl. H. L. Shaw)

Warm Weather Brings Common Foe--The Chigger

To music lovers, "I've Got You Under My Skin", is an ever popular Cole Porter melody.

When the phrase is overheard in the pine-covered training areas or "boondocks" of Camp Lejeune it is a sign that spring has come and that 2d Division Marines are talking about the ever unpopular warm weather insect--the chigger.

Smaller than the literal "fly in the Marine's ointment", the chigger is the size of a small grain of sand. He is, in the belief of many Marines, the unconventional enemy.

Applying Marine Corps tactics in making his home away from home, the chigger burrows foxhole style beneath the surface of the skin. There, with an adequate supply of oxygen from pores, he is quite content to remain for the duration of any extended field problem. But his unwelcome presence soon begins to irritate, thus causing excessive itching.

Navy Corpsman have found through experience the best method for evicting the "free-loader" is to cut off his oxygen supply. This is done by applying a lotion which, when dried, prevents air from reaching the infected area.

This process is a slow one, but of all remedies, works the best. Small blotchy areas mark the chigger's nesting place months after he's withdrawn from under the skin.

The chigger particularly likes to roost around those areas of the body where clothing fits snugly.

He is no stranger to Camp Lejeune's FMF Marines. The chigger's grand-pappy and his pappy before him tormented field Marines when New River was a tent camp. Controlling him would be an impossible combat of nature. Biologists agree, the chigger is here to stay.

HERE FOR DUTY—Rear Admiral Raymond T. Holden, (MC), USNR, Special Assistant to the Surgeon General for Obstetrics and Gynecology, arrived last week for three days of active duty at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune.

ducted advanced studies at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Princeton University, and the Armed Forces Staff College. At the present time, LCdr. Howe is the Commanding Officer of Naval Administrative Unit, Camp David, Md.

During this past year, MCB ONE was selected as the "Best" of the Atlantic Fleet Mobile Construction Battalions for 1962, and was awarded the Navy Unit Commendation for outstanding performance of duty in constructing the first nuclear reactor in the Antarctic. The Unit Commendation was presented to MCB ONE by under Secretary of the Navy, Paul B. Fay in January of 1963, while the battalion was deployed in Rota, Spain.

Now Commanded by LCdr. Robert H. Miller, CEC, USN, MCB ONE will return to Davisville, R. I.

Schools Closed

In observance of the Easter Holidays, all Camp Lejeune schools will be closed Friday, April 12 through Monday, April 15.

EM Clothes Money May Drop July 1

Even though the Marine Corps' clothing issue has increased in price from $196.10 in 1953 to $202.28 at present, Department of Defense officials indicate that the monthly clothing maintenance allowance might decrease in July.

Clothing allowances are paid on a service wide scale and not for the individual service. Defense officials claim that on the average, today's military clothing costs eight percent less than it did when the allowances were fixed.

According to the allowances fixed in 1953 a Marine with less than three years service receives $4.20 a month allowance and those with over three receive $6.00. Navy Chiefs receive $7.20 a month.

Clothing allowances are reviewed by Defense officials in June of each year and indications are that, unless overall prices are up this year the allowances will drop.

2d MAW Pilot Selected For 1962 Britannia Award

2d Lt. Delbert M. Bassett, a 2d Marine Aircraft Wing pilot, has been selected to receive the United Kingdom's 1962 Britannia Award for outstanding aerial gunnery. Lt. Bassett presently is a member of Marine Fighter Squadron-251 (VMF-251), based at the Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S. C.

Given annually to the Naval or Marine aviator attaining the highest overall weapons score in aerial gunnery and missile tactics.

Rear Admiral J. F. D. Bush,

Commander, British Navy Staff in Washington, D. C., will present a scroll to Lt. Bassett, whose name will be inscribed on the Britannia Trophy, a model of the British Royal Navy "Vampire" jet.

The Britannia Award was established by the Admiralty in appreciation of assistance rendered in training British Naval pilots by the U. S. Navy during the period 1952-1956. It is awarded annually to the Naval or Marine Corps flight student who attains the highest overall weapons score in the advanced stage of aerial gunnery. Lt. Bassett won the award while flying an AF-9J "Cougar" jet.

Lt. Bassett began his Marine Corps career in 1956 when, as a senior at Odessa High School, Odessa, Texas, he enlisted in the 47th Special Infantry Company, a Marine Corps Reserve unit in nearby Midland, Texas. Following high school graduation he attended the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., and later transferred to Texas Technological College in Lubbock, Texas.

In February 1961, Bassett was appointed to the Marine Aviation program and began his pre-flight training at Pensacola, Fla. He flew his solo flight in a T-34 reciprocal-engine training aircraft in September 1961.

Following initial flight training at Pensacola, Lt. Bassett was transferred to the Naval Air Station, Chase Field, Beeville, Texas, for advanced training in the AF-9J "Cougar" jet.

FREEDOMS FOUNDATION AWARD—Lt. Col. Edward F. Danowitz, right, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2/G-3, Force Troops, is presented a George Washington Honor Medal by Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, Commanding General, Force Troops. The award was presented to Col. Danowitz along with a check for $50.00, on behalf of the Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, for his winning entry in the annual Freedoms Foundation contest.

Warning

Base Special Services has announced that Onslow Beach will officially open on the 19th of this month. Marines and their dependents are reminded, however, that there will be no swimming at the beaches until the 19th, when lifeguards are scheduled to go on duty.

Also, with the opening of the beaches, summer rates for beach cabanas will go into effect.

Persons wishing to organize beach parties may do so at any time, providing a letter is submitted to the Base Special Services office. For further information call 7-3794.

Profanity, Crudeness Not Mark Of Marines

The advent of Spring, always a pleasurable time of year, has unfortunately brought with it an ill wind of profanity and vulgarity in speech on the part of some spectators at public activities aboard the Base.

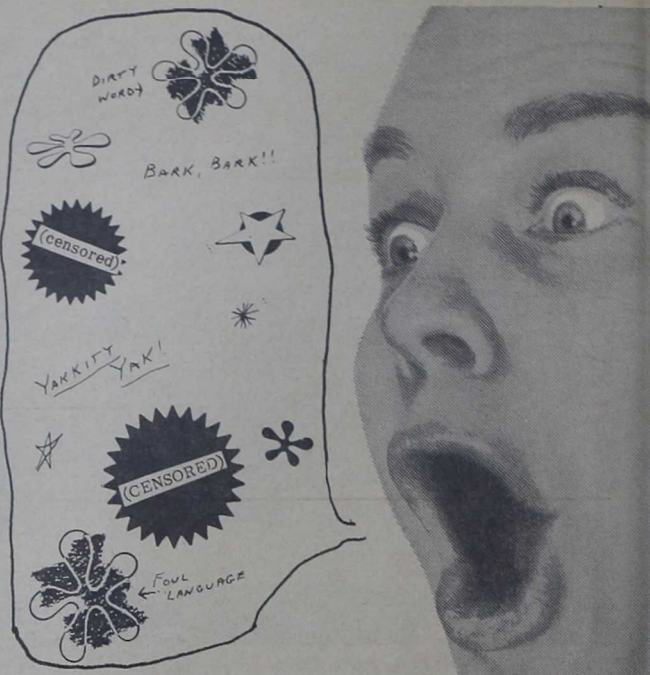

Who among us at Camp Lejeune would willingly expose a wife, children or date to gutter remarks? No one who claims to be a man would do so! Yet the verbal crudeness emanating from the cover of a crowd of spectators has been a source of embarrassment to the vast majority of Camp Lejeune Marines.

Both at sporting events and films, the flow of foul language has been a discredit to our Corps and individual Marines. These few people totally lacking in consideration for others are the ones who convey a bad impression of our Corps to the public and at the same time sadly detract from the enjoyment of a public event or activity.

The name "Marine" and the uniform we wear have always connoted a sense of discipline and courtesy that has gained global respect. The public has become imbued with the image of the Marine Corps as a builder of men; men of strength but also of great self-control not only in the face of the enemy but in their personal conduct. Cheering or shouting at sporting events is considered natural and the spectators' privilege. However, the use of profanity shows none of the self-control or discipline so admired and respected in Marines.

If you are one of the thoughtless few guilty of doing discredit to yourself and your Corps in this manner, pause for a moment and reflect . . . profanity and crude language are the marks of the swaggering bully whose only claim to fame is a loud foul mouth. It is not the way of a Marine!

Latest Word

New assignments for four Marine Corps general officers were announced by Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps. It was also revealed that the previously announced reassignment of Lt. Gen. John C. Munn, now Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps, to be Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., will be effected by May 1.

General Munn, who will be detached from Headquarters Marine Corps on March 29, will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Charles H. Hayes, who is scheduled to be promoted to lieutenant general upon assumption of his new office.

New assignments announced by General Shoup are:

Maj. Gen. James M. Masters Sr. from Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, to Commanding General, 3d Marine Division, Okinawa, replacing Maj. Gen. Henry W. Buse Jr. in May. General Buse will report to Headquarters Marine Corps for duty.

Maj. Gen. Alpha L. Bowser, now Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, Headquarters Marine Corps, will succeed General Hayes as Deputy Chief of Staff (Plans and Programs). Brig. Gen. Ormond R. Simpson, Assistant Director of Personnel, will replace General Bowser.

MOVIES -- B THA

ING THE FILM—Mrs. Sara Bradshaw inspects one of dozens of reels of movie film at our camp film exchange. Every movie shown here is inspected and repaired, and, upon arrival, then, it is re-inspected by Mrs. Bradshaw after each showing.

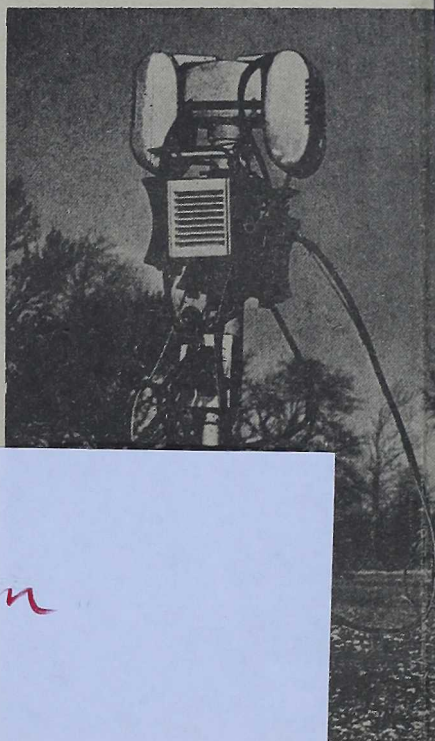

One day each week hundreds of children crowd happily into two of our camp theatres for the time-honored ritual of spending a Saturday afternoon.

As the youngsters fill the seats, the shrill sound of their squeals and shouts echo across the aisles. Tiny movie fans stream into the theatre and the noise increases. The Saturday matinee is the children's market place where they meet to chatter and gossip. Then the lights dim...the audience roars its approval as a beam of light from the projectionist's aerial cuts through the darkness. He adjusts the arc-lights within the projector and aligns his complex machine with the screen below. A cartoon flashes before the cheering faces. The noise becomes deafening. Then all falls silent. The show is on.

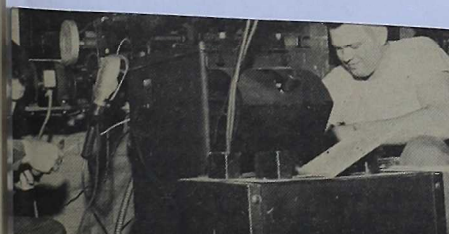

Although our older movie fans are not as demonstrative as the bicycle and pony-tail set, they apparently enjoy "the movies."

Before movie films arrive here many have circulated to civilian theatres throughout the Carolinas. Often they arrive dirty and scratched with sprocket man in charge of the entire operation here is SSgt. Albert L. Lehr, an old hand in the business. He has worked in theatres from Mississippi to Tsingtao, China. Like his assistant, Cpl. Donald Erp, Lehr graduated from the Navy Motion Picture Projectionist School at Norfolk, Va.

Lehr is concerned about the large quantities of movie film that arrive here damaged. This is why Camp Lejeune maintains what is possibly the only film exchange in the Marine Corps.

Mrs. Sara Bradshaw and her helpers work all day, seven days a week cutting, splicing and cementing the edited film. After a movie is shown at a Base theatre, it is returned to the film exchange where it is re-examined before it goes to the next projection booth.

Spring is here and summer close at hand which means many career Marines will be vacating quarters at Midway Park, Tarawa Terrace, Capehart and Paradise Point housing areas due to overseas assignments.

Furniture, however, is at a premium. At Tarawa Terrace there is a 72 percent furniture availability, while at Capehart there is only a 50 percent availability in furniture. Paradise Point due to its being the oldest of the Base housing areas has 100 percent furniture availability. No furniture is available at Midway Park, but each home is equipped with a cooking range and refrigerator, as are the homes in other areas.

To correct these deficiencies, Tarawa Terrace and Capehart housing officials will supplement personally-owned furniture with government pieces with the exception of dining room furniture and rugs.

This procedure is in accordance with government regulations which state, "a

There are several types of movie projectors at our camp theatres and their maintenance is a complicated job. The machinery that McNeese and Stephens installed recently at the Midway Park theatre was not new. These projector parts were re-conditioned ones, but with care will last 10 years.

The Drive-in Theatre suffers the greatest abuse from movie patrons. The speakers are often mutilated by thoughtless viewers.

This month, about 25 speakers will be damaged by motorists. Most movie fans, however, don't intend to damage our government property. These folks become a little absent-minded.

When a tactical unit leaves for Vieques and points East, they make heavy demands upon the small reserve of projectionists. Two or three men usually accompany the supporting units. Our combat elements haven't forgotten the morale benefits of watching a good movie.

Corporal Bobby J. McNeese, an expert repairman and projectionist who began his technical career as a small boy in his father's movie house, has this to say:

"It takes considerable talent and training to run a movie actually run in sequence to create the illusion.

"Operating a 35mm projector lit by arc-lamps is a far-cry from cranking up a tiny home movie type."

McNeese and his assistant, Cpl. Larry Stephens, service all big projection units at Camp Lejeune theatres. Both are Infantrymen. No formal technical training is available to them as repairmen. Their only assistance comes with the monthly arrival of a civilian sound engineer who inspects the audio equipment.

In the case of Marine personnel being assigned government quarters but who have no furniture of their own, the Property Control Division will provide them with as much furniture as is available.

Personnel vacating government quarters are expected to leave the furniture in as good a condition as when it was placed in the quarters. No furniture, however, can be turned into the Property and Control Division to permit occupants more convenience in cleaning up their quarters.

The Property and Control Division also expects stoves and refrigerators to be left spotlessly clean. Finally any damage done by the occupants will be charged to the occupants.

The Property and Control Division therefore requests that any questions regarding these matters be referred to their offices. The phone number to call is 5845.

Devilpups Defeat Dixon With Barrett Home Runs

Camp Lejeune Devilpups led the home run hitting pitching of Jim Barrett over the Dixon Bulldogs in their pitching ace Bill s, 6-2.

Last weeks action on Tuesday and Friday the Devilpups defeated Morehead City, 9-3, and Havelock, 7-5.

Dixon the Bulldogs took lead in the bottom of the 10th on a hit batter, passed and a single by Frank Barrett.

Camp Lejeune came back in the top of the third with three runs on singles by Mark Larson and Tessa on a sacrifice fly and a two-run home run by Jim Barrett.

Devilpups added two more runs in the fourth and topped one more in the top of the seventh on Barrett's home run of the day.

Dixon picked up its final run in the fifth after two straight singles by Ray Williams and Frank Justice and an error by third baseman Lou Paulson on Harry Rimels hot grounder.

In Tuesday's game against Morehead the 'Pups behind a two hit pitching performance of Paul Bacon ran away from the Eagle nine, 9-3.

Leading the Devilpups 10 hit attack was Lou Paulson with a two run homer and a double and Bacon with a two run double.

At Havelock on Friday, five errors by the 'Pups led to five unearned runs by the Rams enabling them to defeat Camp Lejeune, 7-5.

FT Cagers In 1-Point Title Victory

2D MARINE DIVISION--A high flying Force Troops squad romped to the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Basketball Championship Friday night defeating 2d Marine Aircraft Wing of Cherry Point 65-49 at the Goethe Memorial Field House.

The championship, Force Troops first in seven years, climaxed day-long celebrations commemorating their 12th Anniversary. Coached by 1st Lt. Joseph M. Viggiano, they fought an uphill battle, having lost in their first tourney game 69-51 to a strong 2d Division quintet. But, the tide turned, as they roared back with a vengeance defeating 2d Force Service Regiment and Marine Aircraft Group-26, then eliminated previous conqueror 2d Marine Division 56-55 in a Thursday afternoon squeaker.

Riding a hot streak, they beat undefeated 2d MAW 57-46 Thursday night, forcing a playoff game in the double elimination tournament.

The second and final tilt with the Cherry Point representatives was more or less a repeat performance as they dominated play from the outset and led by 15 points at halftime. Bill Gross and Andy Downie dropped in 38 points between them, while outstanding support performances were turned in by Chris Mitchell, Bill Wesley, Wayne Coomes and Brian Buttery.

FINAL RESULTS

Semi-Pro Hockey Player Helps Japanese Skaters

MOAS, Iwakuni,--The language of sports is universal and overcomes any barriers. This is proved weekly by Marine First Lieutenant M. R. "Sid" Snedeker, as he travels to Hiroshima each week to play and teach the game of ice hockey.

The lieutenant, who has been skating for almost as long as he has known how to walk, and who skated semi-pro for seven years, trains and plays with the members of the Hiroshima Ice Hockey team.

With 28 members in the club, the team is made up of students and businessmen of Hiroshima. The club was formed in 1950 by repatriates who had been held in Manchuria and Korea following World War II. Skating is one of the main sports in Manchuria, and the players wanted to continue their activities after returning to Japan.

The team competes regularly in national events. The last games of national interest they took part in was the National Athletic Meet last February at Obihiro, Hokkaido. Lieutenant Snedeker played with the team in a game held March 16 at Fukuoka. The Hiroshima team won 7-3.

In addition to playing and training with the team, Lt. Snedeker gives instructions to novice hockey players, ranging from 12 to 17 years of age, prior to the regular team training sessions.

When asked how he liked his teaching job, Lt. Snedeker commented, "I get a big kick from helping the team members in the sport and also from helping the tottering youngsters, who look like fledglings on skates for their first time. It gives me a great amount of self-satisfaction to help these people."

THE FINER POINTS--Marine First Lieutenant M. R. "Sid" Snedeker, Aide-de-Camp to the Assistant Wing Commander, First Marine Aircraft Wing at Marine Corps Air Station, Iwakuni, shows Suedo Kidaka one of the finer points for a goalie to keep his opponents from

Ser. Bn. Messhall Winner Of CG's 'Outstanding' Award For 10th Time

The 2d Service Battalion's messhall was awarded its 10th consecutive Commanding General's award last Thursday as the "outstanding" mess-hall of the month.

Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, made the award to Col. James A. Donovan, Jr., commanding officer, 2d Service Battalion, at a noon meal formation held in front of the mess-hall.

The Col. then presented the inscribed certificate to GySgt. Buford M. Levi, the battalion mess sergeant.

1st Lt. John G. Donohue, Food Services Officer, praised the entire mess staff for taking personal interest in keeping the mess-hall in "tip-top" shape.

The award is based on excellence of food preparation, serving, and sanitation of the mess-hall and equipment.

"Everyone connected with the mess-hall has to give his job the best he has," Lt. Donohue said. "We're happy to say that the entire staff of our mess-hall has that attitude."

Both Lt. Donohue and Sgt. Levi were quick to praise the messhall's two chief cooks, SSgt. James E. Duff and John W. Payne.

The award winning mess sergeant originally entered the food services field as a Pfc in 1945. He admits that he has never been school trained, but during his years in the business has worked at just about every job connected with a mess-hall.

WINNER OF THE Commanding General's mess-hall award, GySgt. Buford Levi (right) is congratulated by Maj. L. Powell, Division Food Services Officer, following ceremony in front of 2d Service Battalion's mess-hall. The battalion received the trophy for the 10th consecutive time.

SILVER REPLACES THE GOLD—Lt. Col. William G. Timme, center, Assistant Chief of Staff, Comptroller, Force Troops, has his new silver leaves pinned on by his wife, Eileen, and Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, Commanding General, Force Troops.

Career Advisory Clues

Every Marine had to meet certain qualifications to become a Marine. Certain qualifications must be met to become eligible for reenlistment also. These qualifications are guide lines used by company commanders when they determine who may be recommended upon separation. If the Marine meets these requirements, he is recommended and the statement, "Recommended For Reenlistment" is entered on his DD 214 form, item 32. If the Marine is not recommended, this statement is not included on the DD 214.

The DD 214 form is the Armed Forces of the United States report of transfer or discharge. The following is an excerpt from article 15072 of the Marine Corps Manual: "The form DD 214 is designed to provide separated personnel with a brief, clear cut record of a term of active service for the purpose of obtaining civilian employment equal to service qualifications and experiences, obtaining benefits which are due under Federal and State legislations and for applying for reentry into the Armed Forces."

Marines have been heard to say, "I'm getting out. I don't care if I'm not recommended. I'm going to be Mr. Joe Civilian. They don't know whether I'm recommended or not, nor do they care. If I can't make it as a civilian, I can always get into another branch of the service."

But is this true? Put yourself in the place of a Personnel Director of one of today's modern industrial firms. Do you honestly believe that he does not know what that man's remark, "Recommended For Reenlistment" on your DD 214 means: Just how long he holds his position if he does not keep himself and his abilities abreast of what is going on?

He knows what it takes to be recommended for reenlistment. Having this information does he want someone who does not have these very qualifications, will not put in a day's work for a day's pay, and who also does not have a willingness to learn and a desire to advance?

What about entering the branches of the new of the Armed Forces? A former Marine recommended for reenlistment cannot be enlisted in any branch of the Armed Forces.

The basic qualifications for reenlistment are:

1. Be a potential Non-Commissioned Officer.
2. Average conduct and discipline ratings of at least 4.0.
3. Average production and quality of work ratings of at least 3.0.

What type of a Marine can't meet these qualifications? Does civilian industry want him?

Books May Better Promotion Chance

"Hit the books!" These are the words of advice from Col. F. J. Karch, Head of Plans and Programs Branch, G-1 Division, Headquarters Marine Corps, to Marines on how best to prepare themselves for advancement in rank.

The Colonel feels that the best single thing a Marine can do to improve his promotional standing is to study. Promotion board members have many factors to weigh before making their decisions, but proven growth potential is the major factor behind promotion selections.

A Marine's growth potential is measured by his past activities to improve himself in his job. Col. Karch believes that of all the qualities which the promotion board members judge, this is the most important one controlled by the man himself.

The Marine Corps Institute has the "books"—143 correspondence courses on general military and occupational special subjects. Copies of certification of completion are filed in the Marine's service record book at Headquarters Marine Corps and are considered when a promotion board meets.

USAFI Revises Three Courses

Madison, Wis. (AFPS)—The United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) has announced that three of their courses have been revised: E 401, English Composition II; C 517, College Physics I; and C 503, College Biology I.

English Composition II is a continuation of E 400 and requires a reference paper based on somewhat advanced source material, building upon the knowledge acquired in the first semester.

College Physics I is a study of the fundamental concepts underlying physics laws and relationships.

College Biology I is a study of the fundamentals of living things—their nature, functions, reproduction, and place in the environment, stressing the understanding of biological principle.

These courses will soon be available at command education centers.

Corporal Receives Thanks From Okinawa Children

The gratitude of 1500 Okinawan school children was expressed in a letter of appreciation presented to Cpl. Marlon D. Morgan, Pioneer Support Company, 2d Pioneer Battalion, by Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division.

The letter, from officials of the Gushikawa (Okinawa) Education Board, praised Cpl. Morgan's efforts at construction of playgrounds for three Okinawan schools.

The cpl. was serving with the 3d Marine Division on Okinawa last fall when the project was undertaken by Okinawan school authorities. He worked about six weeks to assist in constructing the playgrounds.

The letter of appreciation was signed by the Chief of Gushikawa Educational Board; Principal of Takaesu Junior High School; Principal of Takaesu Elementary School; and the President of the Parent Teachers Association.

In thanking Cpl. Morgan for his work, the letter said "...1500 pupils, their parents and village men appreciate your meritorious deed and your good mind. We hereby give you LETTER OF APPRECIATION and MEMORIAL of our thanks to you."

A NEW LEAF is worn by Lt. Col. M. M. Hewlett, assistant Plans Officer, 2d Marine Division, as he is promoted by Brig. Gen. R. McC. Tompkins, Assistant Division Commander at ceremonies held in Division Headquarters.

DESERVED HONOR—Cpl. Marlon D. Morgan, Pioneer Support Company, 2d Pioneer Battalion, is presented with a letter of appreciation by Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, Commanding General, 2d Marine Division, for his efforts in constructing playgrounds for three Okinawan schools.

PASS IN REVIEW—Component units of Force Troops pass in review during their 12th Anniversary ceremonies held on Camp Lejeune's parade ground last week. Lt. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, flanked by Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, Commanding General, Force Troops, and Col. F. R. Schlesinger, Commanding General of Troops with his staff reviews the Gen. Luckey was honored with a reception at the Paradise Point Officers Club and a luncheon was held at the Hadnot Point NCO Annex for Sgt. Maj. Michael Esch and Sergeant Major of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic.

COFFEE FOR THE COLONEL—Aren't they fattening is what Col. Margaret M. Henderson, center, Director of Woman Marines, seems to be wondering as GySgt. Katherine Finney, far left, offers her a selection of goodies at the informal social held Monday night in the lounge of the WM barracks. Between Sgt. Finney and Col. Henderson and eyeing the "calorie counters" is Capt. Jane L. Wallis, Commanding Officer, WM Company. LCpl. Linda Kelly hands the Colonel her coffee as Sgt. Maj. Bertha P. Billeb, who is accompanying Col. Henderson on her tour, just enjoys the whole situation. Col. Henderson and Sgt. Maj. Billeb left yesterday for Cherry Point to continue their tours of observing Woman Marines on the job. (Photo by GySgt. R. F. Hallahan)

Major E. H. Jones New 2d Engineer Bn.'s CO

Change of Command ceremonies were held in Headquarters, 2d Engineer Battalion, 2d Marine Division, this week with Major Edward H. Jones relieving Lieutenant Colonel Ralph E. Brandel as commanding officer.

Lieutenant Colonel Brandel recently received orders to the Marine Military Advisory Group in the Republic of Korea, and will depart from Camp Lejeune soon.
