Joint Crusade Campaign Ends This Week

After nearly eight weeks, the Joint Services Campaign is coming to a close tomorrow. GLOBE deadline, reports indicate 80 per cent of Camp Lejeune personnel have been canvassed during the drive and 63 per cent of those canvassed have contributed.

In comparison with the 50 per cent of contributors in last year's Joint Services Campaign, this year's stands 13 per cent higher. This shows that Lejeune personnel are willing to help the Health and International Relationship Agencies. Many units have reached the 100 per cent mark within a short period after the drive began and still others climbed slowly to the top. It was the cooperation and generosity of all hands that enabled their unit to reach the goal set. The GLOBE is pleased to issue this well deserved "Well Done" to all hands for helping Camp Lejeune to reach such a high contribution.

'Foxhole' Kelly, Chaplain - Marine Assigned Duties With Hq. FMFLant

Besides receiving orders from Headquarters of the Highest Authority, Naval Chaplains also receive orders from the Department of the Navy. One such set of orders is transferring Capt. Francis W. "Foxhole" Kelly, Base Chaplain, to Headquarters, FMFLant, Norfolk, Va., where he will assume duties as Force Chaplain.

Capt. Francis A. Burke will officially relieve Father Kelly as the Base Chaplain April 5. Although this is not the first time he is serving Marines in his more than 25 years of Naval service, this is the first time Father Burke has been assigned to a Marine Corps installation.

Capt. Burke was formerly District Chaplain of the 1st Naval District, Boston, Mass., prior to this present assignment. Entering the Naval service before World War II, Father Burke has served aboard the battlewagons USS Nevada and USS Idaho and has had tours of duty in Ireland and London.

Father Kelly is leaving Camp Lejeune, after serving as Base Chaplain for more than two years, with the respect and admiration of the younger Marines here as well as that of the old timers who remember the young Chaplain beside them when they landed on the beaches of the Pacific during World War II--from Guadalcanal to Okinawa.

It was while island-hopping in the Pacific during WW II that Chaplain Kelly earned his nickname of "Foxhole Kelly"--by digging and occupying a foxhole as fast, if not faster, than any of the Marines on the islands.

Sweethearts' Added To Azalea Parade

Camp Lejeune's "Sweethearts", an advanced group of precision drill twirlers have been invited to participate along with 250 Marines from 1st ITR, color guard and the 2d Division Band in the 16th Annual Azalea Festival in Wilmington, N. C.

April 4-7.

First organized in October 1962, the Sweethearts 48 strong are composed of fifth and sixth graders under the guidance of Mrs. Carole Balta.

They have been practicing every Saturday in preparation for the parade in Wilmington which will be twice as long (five miles), as all others they have participated in thus far.

Many events are being planned by the Citizens Committee of Wilmington to provide an entertainment program for every member of the family. Favorite festival events of former years will be featured along with the new ones.

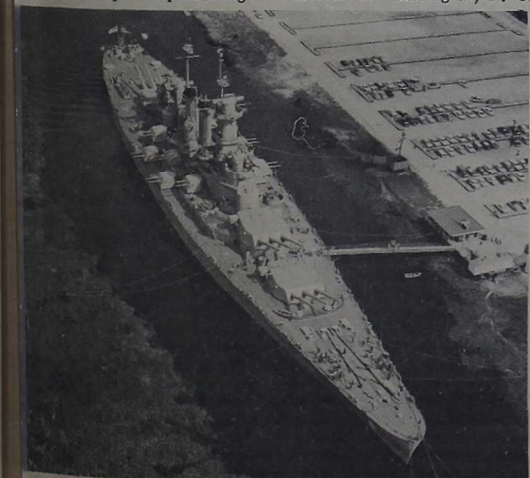

One popular feature will be the USS North Carolina Battleship Memorial which will be open to the general public from 8 a. m. till dark each day of the Festival.

Along with the celebrities and dignitaries, the many-colored blooms of Wilmington's more than one million azaleas are expected to be the chief attraction as always.

Schools Closed

In observance of the Easter Holidays, all Camp Lejeune schools will be closed Friday, April 12 through Monday, April 15.

MSgt. Thomas A. Craig, Jr.

MSgt. Stoney Craig Is Old Breed Infantryman

BY SSGT. ART MARKEY

You can tell at glance that MSgt. Thomas A. Craig, Jr., is an "old breed" Marine. He walks with a quiet dignity, shoulders squared. His tanned, weathered face bears the stamp of the professional infantryman. On his green wool blouse he wears sixteen assorted campaign and unit-citation ribbons, including a purple heart with a star for twice being wounded in combat. His nickname is "Stoney" and he has obviously been around.

The Thirties were tough years for America, and it was hard in Craig's native Ozarks. He joined the Marines from a CCC camp. Forty men applied; the recruiter took Stoney Craig and six others. It was 1940.

About a year later he was on duty in Mariaves, Philippine Island guarding a navy yard. What could have been a enjoyable tour of duty was upset early one Sunday morning when the sergeant of the guard flipped on the lights and blowing his whistle, routed Craig and the others from their bunks. They heard about Pearl Harbor as they dug foxholes outside.

Craig's outfit became an anti-aircraft unit immediately and began a wearying series of battles, withdrawals and reorganization as war came to the Philippines.

The American military situation deteriorated. The front moved from Manila to Bataan and finally to the island fortress of Corregidor in Manila Bay. Craig moved too. By this time, his unit had been absorbed by the 4th Marines, who had moved to the Islands from

Local Service Comptrollers Conduct Successful Meeting

If America's proposed Moon program is successful, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers will be supervising construction projects on that planet, according to Colonel Joseph S. Grygiel, U. S. Army, District Engineer, Wilmington, North Carolina District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Colonel Grygiel was guest speaker at a luncheon-meeting of the Camp Lejeune Branch of the American Society of Military Comptrollers, held in the Chinese Room of the Camp Cafeteria last week.

Included among the members attending the luncheon-meeting were Major General James P. Berkeley, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, and Colonel William C. Ward, Assistant Chief of Staff, Comptroller, Marine Corps Base.

According to Colonel Grygiel, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers is the largest organization of its kind in the world, with responsibility covering both military and civilian projects.

"The Corps of Engineer's had the responsibility of laying out every major railroad in the Nation, the Panama Canal and such memorial edifices as the Washington Monument," stated Colonel Grygiel.

Of special interest to the Camp Lejeune-Onslow County area is the flood-control work done by the Corps of Engineers. Also they have recently finished a beach landscaping project on the Coast of North Carolina and along the outer banks.

Colonel Grygiel noted that Camp Lejeune provided Marine Corps helicopters for transporting Corps of Engineer officials to the beach area for reconnoitering purposes.

During the remainder of his speech, Colonel Grygiel outlined the various present-day work of the Corps of Engineers such as harbor and river improvement and hurricane and shore protection. He traced the appropriate procedures that must be carried out to get a project started.

Before his assignment to the Wilmington District, Colonel Grygiel was with Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers, Europe. A native of Nashua, New Hampshire, the Colonel was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1941.

He served in Alaska and in the State of Washington during World War II. From 1946-47 he attended Iowa State University where he received a Master's Degree in Civil Engineering. During the later phase of the Korean Conflict, the Colonel commanded an engineer battalion in the combat zone.

The local Society of Military Comptrollers is composed of 50 members representing all commands at Camp Lejeune. The aim of the Society is the constant improvement of Marine Corps financial disposition through budgeting and planning methods.

The Club is open to all officers and civilian personnel associated with financial management. Those desiring to become members are requested to contact Captain Frank Junger, at 7-5552. The next Club's meeting will be held on April 9.

Local Marine Credit Union Announces New Services

The Marine Credit Union's Board of Directors authorized new and improved services for Marine and civilian members during their monthly meeting held on March 20.

New services offered include loans on used cars and a new collection office at Camp Geiger. A change was also made to allow Sergeants E-5 and their equivalent in civilian status eligibility to finance new and used cars.

Used car loans will be restricted to current models and those two years old. The current model will be determined by the appearance of the first new cars on display in dealer's showrooms. Interest rates will be the same as new car loans, 3/4 of 1% on the unpaid balance per month. The maximum period of time for a used car loan will be 24 months.

The expanding membership in the credit union has established the need for additional offices. The newest is located at Camp Geiger at the Deputy Disbursing Office Bldg. #854. Hours of operation will be from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., Monday thru Friday. Loan applications, deposits and new accounts will be accepted.

Hours of the main credit union office, located in Bldg. 14 (Industrial area) are from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., Monday thru Friday. The branch office at the Air Facility, Bldg. #82 is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

HS Student Wins Award

Bill Patton, an 11th grade student at Camp Lejeune Junior-Senior High School was selected as one of the winners in the Southeastern District Science Fair in Wilmington, N. C. last weekend.

Using a fatigue measuring device as his exhibit, Patton now has the right to compete in the North Carolina State Fair in Raleigh April 5-6.

Winners of the State Finals will then compete in the National Championships in Washington, D. C.

Competing against 25 other schools in this district, Camp Lejeune entered 11 displays of the some 450 judged and received six Honorable Mentions in addition to Pattons winner.

Receiving Honorable Mentions were: Bill Haines with a solar furnace; Taylor Wagensell Elementary Ballistics; Ernest Fusan with a spectroscopic exhibit; David Cross for a study of the D. N. A. molecule; Leo Brady for a Smoke Tunnel and Eric Hoover for a study of 21 days in a shell.

Those selected for the Base Rifle and Pistol Team will participate in the Eastern Division Matches being held at Camp Lejeune during the week of May 20-25.

Parent organizations are requested to provide transportation.

Interested shooters should report to the commanding officer, Rifle Range detachment, not later than noon April 1.

Mountains, Cold Weather Sharpen Recon Marines

Members of the 2d Reconnaissance Battalion have returned to Montford Point following extended training exercises in the Nantahala National Forest in the mountains of western North Carolina. About 350 men of the battalion, commanded by Maj. Joseph A. Goss, left here February 14 to conduct cold weather training and mountaineering exercises.

Prior to leaving Camp Lejeune, the battalion was completely fitted out with cold weather clothing including fur-lined parkas, trouser shells, liners, cold weather thermal boots and mittens. The total weight of the cold weather gear, plus each man's normal equipment and rations frequently weighed as much as 65 pounds.

Most of the exercise was carried out in mountainous area more than 4500 feet above sea level. Temperatures ranged from about 33 degrees during daylight hours to as low as 16 below on February 21.

A blanket of about five inches of snow gave the Reconnaissance Battalion Marines a chance to sharpen their skiing and snow-shoeing. Members of the battalion who were graduates of the Marine Corps' Mountain Leadership Class in California served as instructors for this phase of the training program.

The snow also gave the Marines an opportunity to try their hand at building cold-weather shelters including igloos. However, except for training purposes the Marines lived in five-man arctic tents equipped with small heating stoves.

Mountain training included the use of rope bridges which were stretched over icy streams. The Marines also learned rappelling down near-vertical slopes, knot tying and emergency evacuation procedures up and down rocky cliffs.

An accident during the training forcefully pointed-out the importance of evacuation techniques in cold weather. Pfc Bruce D. Balrd of Company "C" fell and injured his leg during darkness. Five members of his unit commenced evacuating him with a stretcher but deep snow, narrow trails and icy conditions made their progress too difficult to continue. So two of the party, HM3 Robert L. Giffin and LCpl. Klaus D. Schrelber continued on by themselves with the injured Marine, using a fireman's carry, to a highway pick-up point where an ambulance was waiting.

The two men took about six hours to evacuate their patient over the hazardous terrain, made more dangerous by a chilling rain and thick fog.

This year's mountain exercise was the fourth made by the Marines of Reconnaissance Battalion since 1961. The previous three had all been to Pisgah National Forest north of Asheville, N. C.

THE BUDDY SYSTEM—is the system for survival in the mountains and two members of Reconnaissance Battalion practice it during recent cold weather training exercises in western North Carolina. Pfc's M. E. Whitfield and F. Wilson practice evacuating wounded down steep slopes with the aid of mountain slings.

School Graduation Sets Three Alumni

What began as graduation of 2d Marine Division's Non-Commissioned Officers Leadership School became an impromptu alumni meeting of the University of Pittsburgh graduates.

Col. R. M. Port, Reserve Division Officer, Lt. Col. J. P. Riades, guest speaker, and James K. VanRiper, honor graduate, all had many things in common—Marine Corps members—University of Pittsburgh (graduates)—Pittsburgh (natives). Cols. Port and Riades attended Pittsburgh grammar and high schools graduated from the university at the outset of World War II. Both were active in inter varsity sports. Col. Port is serving as Officer in Charge, Reserve Liaison for Camp Lejeune, while Lt. Col. Riades is commanding Officer, 2d Battalion, 10th Marine Regiment.

Pl. Van Riper received his college education while a member of the Marine Corps Reserve.

A member of the 12th Marine Infantry Battalion of Pittsburgh, he went on 30 days active duty to attend the school. He compiled a 95.7% average and finish first in the class of 43.

Corps Selects Black For Three Pieces Of Uniform

Black shoes, black socks, and black gloves for wear with service uniforms will replace the brown accessories worn by Marines, General David M. Guss, Commandant of the Marine Corps, announced.

The change will be effective immediately with the most economical utilization of existing stocks of the presently authorized dark brown items.

At his request that these items be standardized, General Shoup turned the Defense Supply Agency that, on the shoes alone, direct savings of $106,644 in FY-64 and FY-65 would be realized. Another $188,000 would be saved annually with the elimination of 188 Federal Stock Numbers.

Women Marines will use black shoes, gloves, and handbags.

During FY-64 and FY-65 the black gloves for men and women will save $56,054. Another $14,000 will be saved by the elimination of 14 Federal Stock Numbers.

Additional savings will be realized on the Women Marines' handbag and the male Marines' black socks.

Black accessories are now used by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Generator Shed At Courthouse Bay Compliments Of Reserve Engineers

A collection of former college students, clerks, and farmers, last week gave visible evidence of the thoroughness of their training as combat engineers.

In just 13 working days this group of six-month Marine Reservists almost completed building a large shed on the grounds of the Engineer School at Courthouse Bay. The engineer students have ended their active duty training, but before they left they raised the supports, trusses and purling completing the framework in preparation for roofing. When the group was assigned the unique work project, only the shed's concrete foundations were poured.

The Reservists attended the Combat Engineer Course during their brief stay at Courthouse Bay. Until their introduction to military engineering, most had never built any type of structure.

The men studied demolitions and mine warfare, rigging, camouflage and bridging. Erecting the large shed was a practical lesson for the students.

Delay Enlistments Offered Seniors

High school seniors in the Camp Lejeune, Jacksonville area are now eligible to apply for enlistment in the Marine Corps under the special 120-day Delay Enlistment Plan, guaranteeing them an opportunity to enlist now, but select a day at their own convenience for departing for recruit training.

However, their choice must be within the 120-day period. This type of enlistment in no way hinders the opportunities for specialist training, nor does it in any way interfere with accumulation of leave.

Those who wish more information concerning this enlistment plan may write to Sgt. Milton R. Jacobson, Marine Corps Recruiting Substation, Room 205, Post Office Building, Wilson, N. C.; or by visiting or calling one of the Career Advisory Offices aboard Camp Lejeune.

Service Uniforms Need Spring Cleaning Now!

There's no better time than the weeks ahead to do your personal "spring cleaning" . . . not with broom, brush and basket but by taking a hard look at your service wardrobe and replacing items of apparel that have seen their best days. It would also be a good idea to check those frayed, worn out service ribbons, too.

The winter's over. It's been rough on uniforms, shoes, overcoats, and caps. Change-over dates for summer wear are coming up, in fact the tentative date for all hands is slated for April 15. Have you gone over your khakis and tropicals lately? Have you examined them for perspiration stains, spots, frayed cuffs, missing or broken and loose buttons? Have you tried them on to see if they still fit?

And, just as the housewife in her spring cleaning throws out accumulations of winter, saying, "We'll never use that again, so why keep it around?" you can do your own throwing out . . . and be TOUGH about it. Is that shirt, those trousers, good for a few more times . . . but only a few more? Replace them. Those shoes, badly scuffed but still serviceable? Maybe . . . but not with a service uniform. Replace them!

Happy Anniversary

April 1 marks the 12th Anniversary of Force Troops inception into the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic at Camp Lejeune.

Its formation incorporated a new concept in support doctrine for Marine combat units.

The task of coordinating and training 15 diverse and highly specialized battalions and separate companies began. Today with only five of its original units still in existence, and 10 others either disbanded, reorganized or redesignated, Force Troops is as ready as ever to answer the call of its country and "corps."

Comprised of varied sized units, Force Troops' mission is to complement the lighter and more highly mobile Marine Division, rendering heavy combat support, service support and specialized technical support essential for sustained combat operations of the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, its Marine Air Wing and Marine Division.

Force Troops units, specialized units with diversified roles of varying magnitudes and capabilities, constitutes this source of support.

It exemplified its readiness in 1958, when elements of this command supported the 2d Marine Division in a lightning move to halt aggression in the Middle East during the Lebanon crisis. It came to light again last fall when it again showed it was ready and able to stand up for Democracy during the Cuban crisis.

Today members of Force Troops are deployed and in a constant state of readiness in many of the troubled areas of the world. The very nature of their mission dictates their deployment. Combat readiness is ever the byword for Marine training and Force Troops has shown that its units are no exception to the rule.

They're Saying . . . Get Out Troops!

Chaplain's Corner

The principle employed by "Gideon's three hundred" is well worth the adoption of man today. Gideon had a great number of soldiers under his command of whom only three hundred were chosen as a fighting force. These were chosen because they gave attention to the business of the soldier's vigil. Even when they drank water their eyes were sweeping the danger area for possible attack (Judges 7:5,6). They refused to let anything, even urgent personal privations, detract their minds from the imminent possibility of invasion.

In the New Testament the principle of Gideon's three hundred is applied to the spiritual aspects of life. This application is found in Ephesians 6:10-20: Note the translation of verse 11 as found in the New English Bible — "Put on all the armour which God provides, so that you may be able to stand firm against the devices of the devil." This is simply stating that whatever man does he should never let his spiritual guard down. He should keep constant and diligent the spiritual vigil of the soul.

Regardless of the many warnings that God has given man he continues to have the tendency to be more careless of his spiritual discipline than another. While he faithfully cultivates and supplies the physical, social, and intellectual needs of his being there is a weakness toward overlooking the exercises of the soul. This is not to suggest that he intentionally fails to develop his religious life. He has nothing against the church or her mission. His fault seems to lie in the sin of procrastination inasmuch as he tells himself that he will care for his spiritual needs on some distant tomorrow.

The tragedy of this spiritual disposition is that it fails to face up to the truth that man's neglect is Satan's opportunity. It is, in fact, when religious precautions are overlooked by man that serious spiritual malignancy seizes, eating away the fibers of his faith, the virtues of his love, and the foundations of his character. It is through this sinful virus that doubts are created within the mind and wall of iron resistance erected within the soul.

Let every man beware lest he fall victim to this awful disease by failing to keep constant the spiritual vigil of the soul. And let every man practice loyalty and love toward his God and the church of his choice.

Movie Reviews

BACHELORS FLAT

Jack Cummings produced this CinemaScope film, providing it with sumptuous sets, in color by De Luxe. In his first American-made film, Terry Thomas, an Englishman, portrays a professor of archaeology at a California college, where most of the girl students have crushes on him.

FIRST SPACESHIP ON VENUS

The team of seven astronauts and scientists includes an attractive yet, serious-minded oriental girl doctor. Arriving on Venus, they begin their adventure-filled exploration. Starring in the cast are Julius Opendyre, Michael Postnikow, and Oldrich Lukes.

THE BROKEN LAND

Kent Taylor undergoes a switch as a sadistic, vengeance-seeking western town marshal, who has succeeded in ruling the townspeople with an iron fist. Also starring in the cast is Dianna Darrin. Jody McCrea, Jack Nicholson and Robert Sampson.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS

The story of Damon and Pythias has become a byword and a legend, symbolic of friendship of the highest order. Here, that story is told in terms of a motion picture, with a result which makes for satisfactory entertainment of its kind. Guy Williams offers the key role of Damon, and Don Burnett is the straight forward Pythias. It is a colorful and occasionally exciting telling of an ancient tale, an action film in period costume, and should have appeal to audiences who like screen excitement.

ESCAPE FROM EAST BERLIN

Based upon a true incident, this picture achieves mounting suspense because it adheres constantly to its main premise: the deeply felt desire of East Berliners to breathe the air of freedom from Communist tyranny. Don Murray is surprisingly believable in an honest portrayal of a German mechanic who decides to plan and undertake the dangerous task of preparing to escape. Co-starring with Murray is Christine Kaufmann. "Escape From East Berlin" was produced in Germany.

THE BLUE NILE by Alan Morehead. A companion volume to the author's THE WHITE NILE, this work tells the story of Western expansion, in the nineteenth century, into the regions watered by the Blue Nile and the main stream of the river on its long journey to the Mediterranean. It is an absorbing story set against a background of slavery and massacre, political upheaval and war, and it vividly depicts Napoleon's invasion of Egypt.

As Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, marks its 12th Anniversary on April 1, it can recall its part in helping write the colorful pages of the Marine Corps' eventful history.

Force Troops, only recently, exemplified once again its maximum readiness to meet the country's needs in an unexpected emergency such as the Cuban crisis.

Another emergency was met in 1958 when elements of this command joined units of the 2d Marine Division in a lightning move to halt aggression in the Middle East. Training and a constant state of combat readiness, ever the hallmark of the Marine Corps, paid off as the Marines of Force Troops and the 2d Division moved with speed and efficiency during the Lebanon crisis.

Within a matter of hours after orders were received, elements of Force Troops and 2d Division formed a Landing Force tailored to meet the particular situation in Lebanon, and were on the high seas.

Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, was activated on April 1, 1951. BrigGen. Gregon A. Williams was the first commanding general and, with his staff, undertook the task of coordinating and training some 15 diverse and highly specialized battalions and separate companies.

Force Troops was activated as a command directly under the Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, to administer and coordinate Force Troops units while in garrison status; to train those units to carry out their mission of providing heavy combat support and heavy combat service support for the 2d Marine Division and other FMF units, to include Marine air-ground task forces, or for conducting independent missions.

Only five of the original 15 units are still in operation under their original titles. These include 8th Motor Transport Bn., Headquarters Co., 2d ANGLICO, 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn., and 8th Engineer Bn.

The other ten have either disbanded or changed names and duties. These include 8th Tank Bn., 2d 4.5" Rocket Co., 2d 90mm AAA Gun Bn., 2d Amphibious Reconnaissance Co., 2d Armored Amphibian Bn., 2d Combat Service Group, 2d

The eleventh unit, now deactivated, was the 2d Provisional Marine Aggressor Co.

Camp Geiger was chosen as the first home of Force Troops more than 12 years ago, and that installation, known during World War II as Tent Camp, took on a new look. Existing quonset huts were repaired and overhauled, and the construction of 90 new cement barracks began in May 1951.

For the units in Force Troops, many of them newly activated, training began in earnest. In the ensuing months and years, elements of Force Troops participated in every fleet-wide amphibious landing conducted by the Atlantic Fleet.

Additionally, units and elements of Force Troops provided their specialized support for 2d Division exercises, and were used for independent assignments, both in the U. S. and abroad.

In the spring of 1958, the reorganization of Force Troops began, and in July of that year, most of the Force Troops units moved to Hadnot Point in the interests of economy and to better implement the reorganization.

The move and reorganization was well-timed, because the Lebanon mount-out came within a matter of weeks.

In April 1959, Force Troops marked another first when the entire command took to the field in TraLex 2-59 to test their combat capabilities. Entirely successful, TraLex 2-59 proved the soundness of the support doctrine presently employed by Force Troops units.

Force Troops has always been commanded by an officer of the rank of brigadier general. After General Williams, in the order they served, came, Francis B. Loomis, Robert B. Luckey, Jack P. Juhan, Sidney S. Wade, and Leonard F. Chapman, Jr. Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle is presently commanding general of Force Troops.

Spartans Take Two, Lejeune One; Purdue Here For 3-Game Series

Camp Lejeune's baseball squad moves into the middle of its exhibition series with a three-game service against Purdue University, today, tomorrow and Saturday, at Agganis Field beginning at 1:30 p. m.

In last week's action right-hander Frank Wilhelm, backed by seven timely hits saved the local nine from suffering its third consecutive defeat at the hands of a strong, power-hitting Michigan State Spartan team.

After Lejeune dropped the first two contests, 2-0 and 9-2, Wilhelm, the first local hurler to go a full nine innings picked up his first season victory, 5-1.

The dual loss to the Spartans was not felt as sharply as is the temporary loss of shortstop George Borders. The speedy glove man, suffered a badly sprained ankle during the ninth inning of the middle game and is expected to be out of action for about one or two weeks.

Opening the series Spartan hurler Jack Nutter, pitching his first game of the 1963 season, held Lejeune batters scoreless on five hits, while teammates, came up with two big runs in the eighth inning on the same amount of hits.

Nutter walked only two batters, while striking out seven. Loser in relief was Chuck Cuppett, who replaced Alex Bright in the fourth.

The rally came on a walk to the leadoff man, a perfect sacrifice and three singles.

Continuing their domination over Lejeune, the Spartans unloaded their heavy lumber in the second game, behind a fine four hit performance by righthander John Aquino, who picked up his first season win, 9-2.

Lejeune scored one run in the first, but quickly fell behind as the visitors rallied for two in the third, one in both the fourth and the fifth and three in the sixth.

Trailing 7-1 in the sixth Lejeune touched Aquino for a lone run, but the Spartans jumped back with two more in the ninth.

Big sticks for the Spartans were Bob Maniere and Jeff Abrecht, both plowing solo homers the fifth and sixth innings respectively.

Maniere having a fine day at the plate, collected three hits in four times at bat, including his homer, a double and a run scoring single.

Lejeune evened their season record, with the third-game victory at 4-4.

Wilhelm, who only four days earlier hurled no-hit ball for five innings against Springfield, gave up seven hits, walked three Spartans and struck out nine.

During the 1962 season Wilhelm was a big winner for the local nine with 12 wins and four losses for the year.

The home club scored two big runs in both the third and fifth and picked up one in the fourth.

Opening up the third inning secondbaseman Dick Garcia reached first on an error. With one out Wilhelm sacrificed Garcia to second and after centerfielder Bud Simpson reached first on the second error of the inning, Garcia scored. Simpson moved to second on the throw to the plate and then scored on a single to center by third baseman Billy Garrett.

The lone run in the fourth came after leadoff batter Cicero McClellan singled to right, reached second on a wild pitch and scored when Garcia later hit into a double play.

Again putting the leadoff man on base by virtue of a walk, Lejeune scored their final two runs in the fifth. Wilhelm walked but was forced at second by Simpson, who was safe on the fielders choice. Garrett came up with his second hit of the day a double off the center field wall, and Simpson was held up at third. First baseman Hal Norton was issued an intentional walk and when McClellan forced Norton at second Simpson crossed the plate with the fourth run of the game. Rightfielder Billy Westendrick followed with a single scoring Garrett.

HALL SHOWS FORM—Reliever Dick Hall shows the form used to hold Michigan State scoreless in the bottom of the ninth inning. Lejeune however, was unable to pick up any runs as the Spartans scored their second straight win over the "Marines," 9-2.

Locals Rap Springfield On 15 Hits

First Baseman Hal Norton slammed his second home run in his last three games as the Camp Lejeune "Marines" downed the Springfield college nine, 8-6, knotting two-game series at 1-1.

Racking up their third victory of the season against two defeats, the locals touched two Springfield hurlers for a total of 15 hits, including Norton's home run, shortstop Cicero McClellan's triple and three doubles by centerfielder Bud Simpson, who hitless until this game went four for five at the plate.

Lejeune starter Frank Wilhelm pitched five full innings of no-hit ball, then gave way to reliever Mike Hamilton. Wilhelm faced 16 batters, gave up one walk, struck out six and threw only 60 pitches.

A shot off the bat of Springfield shortstop Everett Venturini, in the fourth inning, looked as if it might spoil the righthanders string but shortstop George Borders leaped high into the air to stab the drive.

Norton's homer came in the sixth inning and scored third sacker Billy Garrett who had drilled a one-out single to left. The drive carried well over the leftfield wall, 325 feet from the plate.

Lejeune scored a pair of runs in the second inning on three consecutive singles by secondbaseman Dick Garcia, leftfielder Tom Harrington and Wilhelm. Another pair were scored when Norton started the third inning, reaching second on a throwing error, and scored following McClellan's triple. With one out McClellan scored on a single by Borders.

Simpson doubled and scored Lejeune's fifth run in the fourth inning when Garrett was safe on Springfield's second error.

Following the two-run sixth inning, Lejeune picked up their final run in the eighth inning with Simpson's third double and a single by Norton.

SHORT TO FIRST—Leftfielder Tom Harrington grounds out short to first during the first of a three game series against the Spartans of Michigan State. Lejeune, garnering only five hits were shutout by the visitors, 2-0.

Massachusetts Squad Handcuffed By McIntyre

Righthander Ralph McIntyre, behind Camp Lejeune's finest hitting exhibition of the season picked up his first win of the year, 5-1 over the University of Massachusetts, Monday afternoon.

Trailing 1-0 in the second inning, Lejeune tied the game up with a 385 foot triple by utility infielder Chuck Teletchea, substituting for alling George Border, and single through the box by second baseman Dick Garcia.

Lejeune moved ahead 3-1 in the fourth following a two-out rally led by Cicero McClellan with a booming triple nearly clearing the center field wall. Bill Westendrick drove McClellan in with a broken bat single and scored himself on Teletchea's double to center. With one out in the eighth inning thirdbaseman, Billy Garrett slashed a single to left and moved to second on a wild pitch. First sacker Hal Norton followed with his third home run of the season, a 315 shot over the left field fence.

McClellan flied to right, but Westendrick singled to center to keep the rally alive. Teletchea, picked up his third hit of the day in four trips to the plate, a double down the right field line; Garcia was intentionally walked and catcher Tom O'Leary grounded out to end the inning, with the bases loaded.

Massachusetts picked up its lone run in the second frame, on a single, a walk and a wild pitch.

The visitors threatened in the ninth inning with a lead-off single, but McIntyre put out the fire with his fourth, fifth and sixth strike outs.

Military Athletes Praised

Olympic Committee Chairman of the United States, Ken Wilson, predicted a four-year development program will pay off in a flock of gold medals at the '64 Tokyo Olympics.

Wilson enthusiastically stated the military services will play a large part in developing winners in sports in which the United States has taken a back seat in previous Olympics.

Wilson spoke at a news conference after a meeting with members of the Interservice Sports Council at the Pentagon.

"Year in and year out," he said "the armed forces produce about 25 percent of the Olympic competitors."

However, he stated the number and caliber of the competitors should increase as a result of the stepped-up competition between the services and with other nations as part of the program of the International Military Sports Council (CISM).

Division and Wing, Victorious In FMF Cage Tournament Opener

By Cpl. Frank Donahue

In Monday night's opening action of the FMF Cage Tournament, the 2d Marine Division and 2d Marine Air Wing teams emerged victorious at Goettge Memorial Field House. Host for the tourney, 2d Marine Division, provided All-Division team sparked by Frank Wilhelm and Howie Day, who added the necessary action to "shoot down" Marine Air Group-26, 86-74. Trailing by three points at half-time, the Division unit, aided by Wilhelm and Day's 43-point combined effort, pulled ahead mid-way through the second period.

"Tall Bird" Thalman led the scoring for MAG-26 with 24 points while team center Charlie Miller added 13.

Cherry Point hoopsters from the 2d Marine Air Wing outclassed the unpolished but high-spirited 2d Force Service Regiment representatives 66-52, in the second game of the evening.

Slipshod at the outset, the Wing quintet settled down to a style which identified them as a pre-tourney favorite.

High-scoring Glenn Johnson led the Wingmen with 27 points. Also in the double figures bracket were Norm Holmes and Gene Kaye, who garnered 12 each. Leo Jones hit for 16 points and Ray Davis 17 in racking-up 33 of the FSR's total tally.

This year's competition, minus Norfolk and Beaufort teams, includes MAG-26, 2d MAW, 2d FSR, Force Troops and 2d Marine Division. Due to the GLOBE deadline, remaining games will be reported in the next edition.

Pups Open '63 Season

Camp Lejeune High School renewed its season record Friday at 1-1 by shutting out Morehead City 5-0, behind the one pitching of junior right-hander John McKeon.

In their season opener last Thursday, righthander Paul Moon also pitched a one-hitter, it was the victim of errors as Moon defeated the Devilpups, 1.

At Kinston the Red Devils scored in the second inning, when Jerry Befort lost Dickson's high fly in the sun to a triple, and crossed the plate on a fielders choice. In the third inning Kinston scored at proved to be the winning run on a walk, a ground ball and a two base throwing error by the shortstop.

The Devilpups picked up their tally in the fifth on a single by Jim Slaton, a ground ball which advanced Slaton and single by Bacon.

Against the Eagles of Morehead City the Devilpups scored five times in the bottom of the fifth inning on a walk, sacrifice, three Eagle errors and a Barrett's long triple, to record Camp Lejeune's first victory.

Boating, Big Business

With warm weather slowly edging into the North Carolina area, boating, one of America's busiest forms of entertainment is on the upswing at Camp Lejeune.

Handling the bulk of this business is Wallace Creek Boat-house located on New River inlet, adjacent to Hospital Point. Other boat-houses are located at Courthouse Bay, Montford Point, Camp Geiger and the Air Facility.

Open from 1 p. m. to sunset daily, except Monday, and 9 a. m. to sunset Saturday, Sunday and holidays, Wallace Creek facilities include a variety of boats and motors for use by military personnel and their dependents; docking space for private craft; a boat hobby shop and instructions in boating and sailing.

Career Advisory Clues

Quite frequently the question is asked, "Can that Marine reenlist?" This is certainly a reasonable question, particularly in the case where a Marine meets the qualifications for a General Discharge instead of an Honorable Discharge.

First, you should be familiar with the pertinent references/directives which apply in making the correct determination: MCO 1133.2d, MARCORMAN, Par 1133, and MCO P5000.3, MARCORPERSMAN, Chap 2, Part E.

Beginning with Lance Corporals and below, we find the Marine Corps Manual tells us that they must be potential noncommissioned officers (in the opinion of their Commanding Officer) to be eligible for reenlistment.

Lance Corporals who are married or who have other dependents may be reenlisted provided they are otherwise eligible. In other words, their having dependents, in itself, does not preclude their reenlistment. It is to be noted, however, that a Lance Corporal with dependents who does not reenlist immediately (within 24 hours) will require CMC's approval prior to reenlistment at a later date. The Commanding Officer is required to determine that the marital status of an E-3 Marine has not caused any hardship or interfered with his overall value to the Marine Corps.

Those marines in the rank of Pfc or Pvt, who are married or have other dependents, must first obtain a waiver from CMC before they can be reenlisted. This waiver is required in the cases of E-1's and E-2's even if the reenlistment is immediate and is necessary in addition to their having to be otherwise qualified.

Noncommissioned Officers (E-4's and above) must have demonstrated the high standards of leadership, professional competence, and personal behavior required to maintain the dignity and authority of Marine Corps noncommissioned officers.

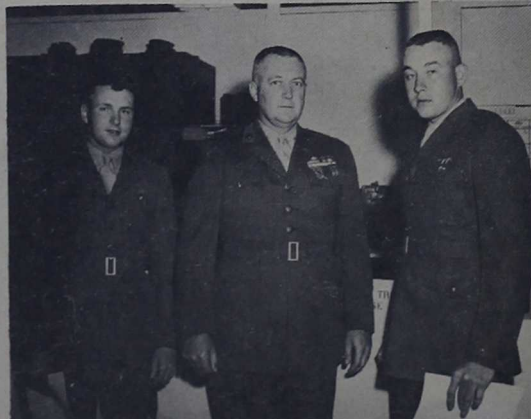

The approval of CMC is required prior to effecting a reenlistment or extension which would provide for services beyond a total of 20 years active service in the cases of Marines in the grade of E-7 and below.

E-8's and E-9's do not require such prior approval.

No person can be accepted for reenlistment who was last discharged for inaptitude, unsuitability or under conditions other than honorable. It is pointed out that paragraph 1322 of the Marine Corps Personnel Manual states the requirements for the issuance of an Honorable Discharge—and paragraph 2205.3a states that character of prior service must have been honorable or under honorable conditions.

The responsibility of determining whether a Marine is eligible for reenlistment rests on the Commanding Officer of the individual concerned. Marines who are not considered eligible for reenlistment must be so advised by the Commanding Officer at least six months prior to the expiration of their enlistment. A probationary warning may be given "border line" individuals. The final decision made to the eligibility for reenlistment is a later date.

The Comptroller General in a recent Navy Times article made it quite clear just how costly the wrong "deterioration" can be. The article stated that the military services were "spending" an estimated $15 million a year by reenlisting men whose records indicated they were poor shipper over risks. In addition, government was losing $90,000 a year through reenlistment bonuses. This is caused by who are later discharged because of the end of their enlistment reasons which preclude recoupment of the remaining portion of the bonus. Any Marine having any question concerning his reenlistment should contact his Career Advisory TOP TWO—Pfc H. G. West, right, and Pfc F. J. Reinert, left, 8th MT Bn., Force Troops, are shown with Maj. F. O. Olson, commanding officer, 8th MT Bn., during graduation ceremonies held for the Motor Transport School on March 15. Pfc's West and Reinert were meritoriously promoted to their present rank for finishing high in the three week course, which covered Preventive Maintenance, Practical Application and Convoy Procedure. Both men are six month reservists attached to "A" Co.

Spotlights were turned on 16 models and five children entering the stage from either side of the runway. They modeled approximately 50 outfits which included sportswear, sleepwear, maternity clothes, evening and cocktail dresses.

O' Wives See Spring Styles

Pastel hues of white and pink with golden highlights transformed Marston Pavilion into a sumptuous setting for "My Fair Lady", the Officers' Wives' Club spring fashion show which was held there today.

Mrs. R. L. Milford, overall chairman, was pleased with the capacity attendance of over 500 wives at the luncheon and show.

The elegantly draped windows accented by gold epargnes full of roses, a lavish handmade chandelier hanging over the ramp and the multitude of delicate pink roses decorating the luncheon tables were the creations of Mrs. W. C. Maughan and her committee members.

In this lovely setting, 15 models presented the latest in spring and summer fashions. Yellow, orange, indigo blue and black and white were the predominant colors which were seen in casual to formal wear.

Music for the occasion, featuring selections from "My Fair Lady", was provided by the T-Tones.

Teamwork Drills

For Division Units

The early days of March were busy ones for men of the 6th Marine Regiment at Camp Lejeune. Its two unattached battalions trained vigorously in combat-in-towns, night combat and helicopter operations.

Activities of the 2d Battalion's rifle companies were highlighted by training at Camp Geiger's Combat Town night-long exercises in field.

Combat Town confronts Marines with the problems of battle in built up areas. Stress placed on teamwork and operation between units.

Fire support between small units is a key technique of combat in towns and cities where any building, or pile of rubble might conceal an enemy. Movement is fast, but progress is made on a house-to-house basis, slowly and cautiously with liberal use of hand grenades.

Realism during the Combat Town training was enhanced by use of blank ammunition. Aggressor teams who fought back from house to house.

Night attacks were conducted by 6th Marines' rifle companies last week to give Marines confidence in their ability to wage effective combat in the dark. These exercises emphasized the wage effective combat in the dark. These exercises emphasized the role of individual Marines both in offensive and defensive situations.

Night combat is made difficult by the need for friendly elements to maintain contact in the dark and the hazardous moving semi-blindly over familiar terrain. At every patrol has a 360-degree front.

The 1st Battalion, 6th Marine Regiment, stressed helicopter training this last week. Each of the battalion's four rifle companies took indoctrination flights in Marine Aircraft Group 25 helicopters from New River, N.C.

Besides a busy training week which included night patrol and night defensive tactics, Company "D", 1st Battalion, took time to work out with infantry's close-in weapon bayonet. Company "D" claims special affinity for the bayonet. Although the bayonet seems neglected in training these days, Marines who have to charge up hills in future war will surely find it as indispensable to them as fighting as the can opener for eating. Company "D" will be hard to beat with cold steel.

Stoney Craigg -

Shanghai just before the Japanese attack. Defense of Corregidor's beaches became their responsibility. Craigg labored with the others, laying barbed wire and digging in. They fought daily air attacks, improved the beach defenses, and lived on less-than-half rations. Life on the island became life on a bull's eye.

During one attack, Craigg was wounded in six places by shell fragments. He was lying in the hospital tunnel when the medics passed the word of the American surrender.

He spent two-and-one-half years in the infamous Cabanatuan prison camp. With the others, Stoney Craigg fought to live above the daily brutality, malnutrition and disease that thinned their ranks. When he was transferred to Japan he was introduced to the back-breaking labor of the Kyushu coal mines.

One day-a year after his arrival at the mines-the drone of aircraft engines broke the Camp routine. Gazing skyward, Craigg saw huge, silvery B-29's with American fighter escorts zooming above the mountains. Leaflets showered down, and drums of food and supplies jerked at the end of popping parachutes. Ten days later, their Japanese captors unlocked the gates. Craigg's war was over.

AmTracBn. Private Gets New Home For Summer

"Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home". To scrappy Pvt. Elvie Tee, alligator mascot of 2d AmTracBn., Force Troops, these words were just the thing for alligator ears.

After spending a long winter inside a steel tank at the battalion's boat basin, his summer home was a pleasant sight.

Put into the tank last November for the winter, Pvt. Tee was very unhappy about the whole affair and lost a little weight as do most alligators in captivity. The water in the tank was kept at 70 degrees because Elvie is of tropical nature and he has to be kept in a warm environment. AmTrac personnel used their maintenance building to store Elvie and the tank for the winter.

A crew of three Marines were called in to move the six foot gator from the tank to his outdoor home made of steel matting. Heading the handlers was SSGT. C. D. Woods, who removed Pvt. Tee from the truck. Once out of the truck, LCpl. D. G. Jones, and PFC. J. E. Rice helped put Elvie into his summer quarters. A little hesitant about going into the cage, Elvie gave out with a few remarks that would make the best of Gunny Sgts.' skin crawl.

No one was as happy as Elvie once he got inside the steel cage. Soon as the handlers removed the rope from around his mouth, he said no more and slid into his special built pool to enjoy the sun and water.

Lt. Col. T. W. Clarke, commanding officer, 2d AmTracBn., in explaining Elvie's failure to be promoted, said, "Elvie is still a private because he refuses to become military minded."

Elvie has been a member of the battalion for about eight months and for some strange reason refuses to become a hard charging Marine. Along with Lt. Col. Clarke at the annual event was the battalion Sgt. Maj., E. D. Knight, who is responsible for Elvie's welfare. When asked what the gator eats, Sgt. Maj. Knight replied, "fish, vegetables and fruit, usually obtained from mess hall scraps."

Elvie was a gift from the Jacksonville, Fla., Reserves in appreciation for the way they were received by the Marines of 2d AmTracBn., during their summer training here last year.

PLAYING IT CAGEY—As AmTracBn.'s mascot, Pvt. Elvie Tee suns himself after spending the winter months in an indoor tank, two members of the battalion sort of get the feel of things before Pvt. Tee is put into his outdoor cage.
