Freedom and My Responsibility is the theme for Freedom Foundation 1962 Letters program.

Program, open to all members of the Armed Forces on active duty, offers 101 cash prizes totaling $8,500 starting with the grand prize of $1,000.

Entries should be in letter form 100 to 500 words in length and sent to Freedom Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., no later than Oct. 1, 1962. All entries must include sender's full name, rank, serial number, branch, unit address and home address.

Competition will be held in two divisions: one for active duty members and one for reserve and retired members.

Field realization of the program is the responsibility of Defense Robert S. Schirra Jr. who has said that, "Our goal is to let the people know the position of the freedoms which we are calling them to defend. This year's theme deals with these vital matters."

The communists are waging a war of attrition on our freedoms and vowed to destroy them. The Armed Forces are serving in the defense of the world to defend these freedoms. Men and women are also citizens and are thus concerned with more than just the military defense of our freedoms, all-important as this may be.

Only with a clear, and full understanding of what our freedoms are, and mean, and the responsibilities these freedoms impose, can they fulfill their obligations as citizens and members of the Armed Forces.

Top winners of each service and the next five winners regardless of service will be invited to Valley Forge on George Washington's (See FREEDOM, Page 2)

Crews Ready For Astronaut

Two Marine helicopter squadrons, HMM-461 and HMM-262 of MAG-26, New River Air Facility, left yesterday for Cape Canaveral to assist in the recovery of Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., following his six-orbit flight around the world.

A 39-year-old Naval commander, Schirra will ride "Sigma-7," a bell-shaped space capsule during his nine-hour flight. Tentative date for the flight is set for Oct. 3, although there is a possibility it could be postponed beyond that date.

Heavy Helicopter Squadron HMM-461, under the command of Lt. Col. E. J. Pope, has the responsibility of recovery if the capsule lands within a 100-mile radius of Cape Canaveral.

Under the command of Maj. Tracy M. Johnson, HMM-262's mission will be out at sea waiting to spot and recover the capsule in the pre-planned landing areas.

No newcomers to space recovery, 'copter crews from MAG-26 have been training under the direction of NASA since the start of the Mercury Space Program.

America's first astronaut, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., was retrieved from the Atlantic by 1st Lt. Wayne E. Koons and George F. Cox of HMM-262 after his historic sub-orbital flight of 115 miles May 5, 1961.

If the flight is successful it will be twice as long as that taken by Marine Lt. Col. John Glenn or Navy Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, who both made three-orbit trips around the world.

Set United Fund Goal At $106,500 For '62

The 1962 Camp Lejeune-Onslow County United Fund campaign will begin Monday. According to the joint chairmen of the campaign, Lt. Col. J. P. Wilson of Camp Lejeune and Robert Mendelson of Jacksonville, joint goal is $106,500.

Both Colonel Wilson and Mr. Mendelson expressed optimism for the success of the drive.

Fourteen agencies will share in the United Fund: Red Cross, Retarded Children, Boy and Girl Scouts, Emergency Relief Fund, Carolinas United, Jacksonville, Verona, Swansboro and Holly Ridge Rescue Squads, Onslow Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Salvation Army, the local USO, and United Jewish Appeal.

Contributions can be earmarked for all or any of the 14 participating agencies.

Goals for commands at Camp Lejeune have been set as follows: Marine Corps Base, $29,700, 2d Marine Division, $38,000, Force Troops, $12,000, and Marine Corps Air Facility, $5,500.

No "quotas" are being set for the drive, according to Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley. All members of the Quad-Command are encouraged to give generously.

The 1961 drive went $4,000 over the goal and drive officials are hopeful that the same spirit will prevail this year.

Co-chairmen for the 1962 drive are: Maj. W. F. Sheehan, MCSS, Marine Corps Base; Lt. Col. A. J. Voyles, Asst. G-2, 2d Marine Division; Maj. L. B. Scott, Hq. Co., Force Troops; Maj. G. A. Kroodsma, H&HS Sqn., Marine Corps Air Facility, and Mr. R. H. Piper, IRO, Civil Service Personnel.

The 1962 goal is higher than last year with the additional funds going to support the USO in Jacksonville.

Division Squad Takes Second In All-Marine

Led by Sgt. Joseph A. Canonico, a 2d Marine Division squad from the 3d Battalion, 6th Marines, placed second in the annual Marine Corps-wide infantry squad competition held in Quantico, September 17-21.

Company "K" 's 2d Squad of the 2d Platoon climaxed a week of intense rivalry with eight other competing squads by finishing a close second to the winning 4th Marines' unit from Hawaii. It was the second year in a row that the 4th Marines won top honors at the event.

"K" Company's squad was honored Monday during ceremonies held at Division headquarters. They were congratulated by the Division commander, Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman.

Presentation of awards for winning squads were made at Marine Barracks, 8th and Eye Streets, Washington, D. C., by Mr. Roswell L. Gilpatrick, Deputy Secretary of Defense. He was accompanied by Lt. Gen. J. C. Munn, Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Company commander Capt. W. D. Hubbard proudly pointed out that the "intra-battalion competition was so close that we had to hold two eliminations to find the best unit. Sgt. Canonico's squad had the desire to win during the eliminations, and it paid off in the end."

Lines Urged Commandant To Participate

COMMANDANT of the Marine Corps, I urge all Marines to participate in the 1962 Freedom Letter Awards Program.

The program is a year-long effort to let the people know the position of the freedoms which we are calling them to defend. This year's theme deals with these vital matters. The communists are waging a war of attrition on our freedoms and vowed to destroy them. The Armed Forces are serving in the defense of the world to defend these freedoms. Men and women are also

Jewish Holy Days Will Begin Friday

Camp Lejeune based Marines of the Jewish faith were invited this week to take part in the Jewish high holidays of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur which will be observed in the Jacksonville Synagogue commencing at sundown (5:45 p.m.) September 28.

Rabbi Solomon Poupko, Camp Lejeune's only Jewish Chaplain, will officiate at services commemorating both holidays. All services will be held in the Jacksonville Synagogue on Wardola street.

First of the two holidays, Rosh Hashanah commemorates the beginning of the year 5723 of the Jewish calendar. It begins at sundown September 28 and continues until sundown of September 30.

During the holiday, Rabbi Poupko will conduct services at 5:45 p.m. Friday the 28th, 8:30 a.m. and 5:45 p.m. the 29th and 8:30 a.m., 10:00 a.m. and 5:45 p.m. the 30th.

One of the high points of the holiday is the blowing of the Shofar — a ram's horn fashioned into an instrument used by the Rabbi officiating.

Jewish lore says that the ram's horn was first sounded when Moses received the Commandments on the slopes of Mt. Sinai. This was in the time of the Jews' exodus from Egypt.

It is also said that it was blown at the time Joshua besieged the city of Jericho.

Second of the two holidays — Yom Kippur—begins at sundown (5:30 p.m.) on October 7 and continues into the next day. During this holiday, services will be held at 5:30 p.m., Oct. 7th; and again on the 8th of Oct. at 8:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m., at 1:00 p.m., and the final service at 6:00 p.m.

During the 6:00 p.m. service the "Final Sounding" of the Shofar is heard. Jewish legend tells that Yom Kippur marks the day when Moses descended from Mt. Sinai with the second table of the Ten Commandments in his hands. On that day, it is said that the Jewish people had been forgiven their sin of having worshipped the golden calf.

The holiday is marked by a 24-hour fast, during which all Jews are enjoined against food and drink and culminates a 10-day period of repentance beginning with Rosh Hashanah.

Rabbi Poupko has arranged for transportation to carry Marines of the Jewish faith to the Synagogue from the following areas. Buses will depart one half hour prior to the time of services from the Camp Geiger Chapel, Montford Point Chapel, MCAF Chapel and Building No. 67 at Hadnot Point.

Persons wishing more information are invited to contact their Battalion Chaplain.

Artillery Exercises On Bragg Ranges

The resounding report of artillery fire Sept. 18 at Fort Bragg, N. C., marked the beginning of the 10th Marines' semi-annual Field Firing Exercise at the Army installation.

Commanded by Col. W. P. Oliver, Jr., the regiment is conducting its second FFEX at Fort Bragg this week. The unit, the artillery arm of the 2d Division, is conducting the exercise in two phases. Phase I, which began on Sept. 18, is a joint, battalion-battery operation. In this phase, the individual battalions and batteries are increasing their proficiency in gunnery and tactics by conducting exercises in precision artillery firing and registration.

The exercises include high burst artillery registration, center of impact registration, air observation missions including artillery registration, construction of observed artillery fire charts, radar missions, illumination missions, and missions on unobserved and uncharted targets. Night firing exercises are also being conducted.

Phase II of the exercises will begin on Sept. 28. This phase is to be the wrap-up of the over-all operation. It is to be a one-day regimental firing mission. The individual batteries will be utilized and coordinated by the regimental headquarters in order to receive the maximum amount of accurate fire power which each can provide.

Each battalion and battery is also conducting night displacements, utilizing blackout driving in convoy, and tactical occupation of observation posts.

The Regiment is scheduled to leave Fort Bragg and return to Camp Lejeune on Sept. 29.

Holland and Robert N. Arias; LCpls. Reynold J. Reino, Nathaniel Benjamin, Frankie C. Cornish, Joseph S. Boyd, Kenneth V. Berry, Marty A. Francera, Brian P. Suzik, Daniel K. Shaw, and Pfc Edward T. Danckwerth.

Phases of the week-long event involved an initial inspection of weapons and equipment for combat serviceability. This was followed by a helicopter-borne assault. The judges counted the method of troops' seating, leader's control of the group and manner of debarkation and deployment upon landing.

Check Stoves; Winter's Near

Hurricane warnings, football games, and green leaves turning brown remind us once again that winter is right around the corner.

With the coming of winter anyone using a heating stove should hold a complete cleaning and check for useability before the first frost arrives.

Also, units requiring fuel deliveries other than housing areas are to observe the following:

- Have more than one 55-gallon drum.
- Make sure drums and tanks have plugs.
- Measure your fuel frequently.
- Order only when requirement is more than 55 gallons.
- Do not wait until tank is empty to order.
- Order correct type of fuel.
- Place orders at least one day prior to requirement.
- Call 7-5186 for fuel deliveries.

Dependents occupying government quarters need not order fuel as Base Maintenance controls fuel for the housing areas through civilian contractors.

These fuel tanks are serviced on a routine schedule relieving personnel occupying quarters of the problems of checking fuel level and ordering fuel.

Onslow County Fair Being Held Oct. 1-6

The Eighth Annual Onslow County Fair will be held in Jacksonville from Oct. 1 to 6 on the old prison farm road near the intersection of North Carolina Highway 258 and U. S. 17 South.

Due to the enthusiastic acceptance by the fairgoers, Marines from Camp Lejeune will again participate in the affair by providing a static display of weapons and equipment.

An Explosive Ordnance Exhibit will be provided by Force Troops while the 2d Division will provide one Howitzer, one 4.2 inch Mortar, one 81mm Mortar, one Flame Thrower, one M-14 Rifle and one M-60 Machine Gun.

Marines will also be present at each exhibit to furnish information and answer any questions on the various weapons and equipment by interested individuals during the fair's open hours.

At morning and evening colors and during the playing of the National Anthem, all vehicles, except government vehicles on authorized emergency runs, shall be brought to a stop at the side of the road. Persons riding in passenger cars or public passenger-carrying vehicles shall remain seated at attention in the vehicle.

Achievement Tests To Begin Tomorrow

Achievement tests for enrollment in the USAFI Off-Duty high school classes will be conducted tomorrow, Monday, Oct. 1, and Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 8 a.m. in Mess Hall 211.

Originally the tests were planned for Monday and Tuesday only, however increased interest in the program indicated the need for the extra session scheduled for tomorrow.

Capt. G. E. Shockley, Base Education Officer, has urged Marines to forget about their GCT scores, how far they went in school and any other reason they think might make them unqualified to take the USAFI off-duty classes. He encourages all Marines to make arrangements to take the achievement tests.

Captain Shockley also stated that personnel unable to participate in any of the three scheduled periods can arrange through their parent organization education officers for a special testing.

Special emphasis is being placed on the achievement testing by Captain Shockley because he says many military men feel they may not have the educational background to complete USAFI courses successfully.

"These achievement tests will prove to a man what he can do," said Shockley. Records of USAFI off-duty programs at other military bases and here show that many men who never entered high school have learned enough without formal study to be able to manage high school courses satisfactorily.

High school classes in English, Bookkeeping and Accounting, American Government, Business Law and Mathematics will commence Oct. 15.

Classes will be conducted twice weekly from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Brewster Elementary School. Enrollment in these courses is dependent upon completion of the achievement tests.

Registration must be made in person at the Base Education Office, west side entrance of the Base Theater on the third floor between Oct. 8-12.

Personnel expecting transfers before Dec. 20, the date the first quarter classes are scheduled to end, may enroll in the classes and transfer to correspondence courses at no cost to complete their studies.

Captain Shockley commenting on the success of USAFI classes, said "A study recently conducted at Fort Bragg, N. C., showed that 97 per cent of all men who successfully completed USAFI classes passed the GED Battery Tests in the subjects studied."

Complete High School Through USAFI Classes

Who is there among us today who will question the value of an education? The tremendous interest in education and the daily evidences of Americans striving for an education prove that there are few indeed who do not recognize that in this age of space flight, Telstar and international involvement an education is vital.

Sixteen of every 100 FMF Atlantic Marines in the lower four pay grades have recognized their personal need for education and have completed their high school education through part-time studies and the General Educational Development tests. The same study that revealed the above figures also showed that there are still 32 in every 100 of these FMFLant Marines who have never found the right combination of time, money, ambition and opportunity to obtain high school diplomas or GED equivalency certificates.

The USAFI Off-Duty Class Program beginning here next week offers the best opportunity to complete high school requirements that many will ever have. Classes in English, Bookkeeping and Accounting, American Government, Business Law and Mathematics will be offered two nights a week for ten weeks beginning October 15.

Really ambitious military personnel of the Camp Lejeune command who have the time can enroll for two classes, each meeting two nights a week—one on Monday and Wednesday, the other on Tuesday and Thursday.

The USAFI program, of course, is not limited by any rank, age, size, shape, or sex or any other requirements except that the individuals be military personnel and have the time and ambition to attend.

Although the Marine Corps does not have any means by which a high school diploma can be awarded, the completion of required courses and a successful score on the GED tests is recognized by all states as equivalent to a regular high school education. Through arrangements with hometown school systems, a fully recognized diploma may be obtained in most instances.

The achievement tests being given tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday are completely free. The results do not go into your record book and are not published. These tests WILL tell you what courses you need and what courses you might skip. See the article elsewhere in this edition of the GLOBE for details as to time and place for the achievement tests.

Now is the time to act. If you don't have a high school education or if you want to study through the USAFI Off-Duty Class Program for other reasons, see your unit education officer today and get started toward your goal.

If You Ask Me:

WHY ARE YOU INTERESTED IN THE USAFI OFF DUTY EDUCATION PROGRAM?

PVT. JOSEPH P. DEVINE, 2d Plt., "D" Co., 1/8—I had the chance to finish high school but let it go out the window. Then I finally realized that in this age of standards you can't get anywhere without an education. An education will follow you wherever you go and will determine the type of work and pleasures you will have in the future. I want to get an education so I can work toward advancement in my occupation.

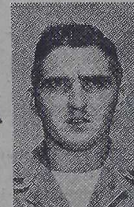

SGT. ROLAND A. DESJARLAIS, H&S Co., 2/8—I firmly believe that off duty education enormously benefits the individual Marine. Whether you plan to make the Marine Corps a career or return to civilian life, this is an opportune time to augment your knowledge. USAFI courses help you become more efficient at your present duty assignment, increase your capabilities for assuming greater responsibilities and satisfy your intellectual desires.

CPL. WILLIAM F. HICKEY, H&S Co., 2/8

Off-duty education is one of the excellent advantages of the military service. The courses offered to the Marines today vary in every degree of learning. No matter how high a Marine's education is, he can never cease to better his knowledge through courses offered by USAFI. These courses will definitely better my military career as well as furthering my civilian education.

LCPL. M. J. URICK, Hq. Co., H&S Co., 1/8—There are several reasons why I am interested in off duty courses. First and most important is to finish my education and for a good pay in civilian life. I have a college I am interested in taking a few school business courses. I find that taking part in off duty courses it helps to relax, enjoy and understand the world more fully, but not least is knowing that a person has the ability to further knowledge and better himself for a civilian job.

PFC PATRICK J. WALSH, 2d Plt., "D" Co., 1/8—I am interested in the program because I want to finish high school. I quit school when I was in the 11th grade and now I'm sorry I did. Now that the Marine Corps has given me the opportunity to finish high school I'm going to take it. I've found out that without a high school diploma it is very hard to do anything. I always had the desire to go to college and then to medical school without a high school diploma it was impossible. While in the Marine I am going to finish high school and work toward college credits.

The Area Of Discipline

"The old adage about sparing the rod and spoiling the child is open to so many 'ifs and buts' that it really can be a dangerous norm. However, change one word in that adage and you have a real thought-provoker: 'spare yourself' (that is, don't bother to have any plan) and spoil the child. The worst enemies of successful training in discipline are a number of current fallacies or misguided ideas about training and about childhood.

To allow a child to "act" grown up. Evidence of this norm is seen in such things as cap-and-gown kindergarten graduations, dressing of little tots in adult styles of clothing, solo dating already at grade school levels. Some of these things are seemingly little but the attitudes behind them are not. It gets a child accustomed to being called grown-up (which he simply is not) and soon he or she starts demanding grown-up rights. They rebel at being refused. Yet at the same time if permitted to imitate adult practices they do not have the needed balance or control of emotion to keep out of trouble or ruin.

Childhood time is dependent time—the key truth in all training. In their first hazy sight of the freedom of independence they do not see its equal responsibility. In their misunderstanding they may call their parents "old-fogey." That is perhaps the greatest anguish period in the parents' lives when their children go through the period of condemning and showing no appreciation for parental guidance. But if as parents you can stick to your principles, when principles are at stake, and not give in to the temptation to be popular at any price, this period of unappreciation will pass by. If, on the other hand you relinquish your training hand when it is so critically needed, a child's mistakes may bring you an anguish that will not pass away.

While discipline aims to become self-discipline, the formative years demand an outward mold or form.

Veteran FMF Corpsmen Aid Pilot With Constant Air Safety Program

It is almost impossible for a dirty, sweat-soaked rifleman on the ground not to envy the Marine pilot who flashes by overhead in a screaming jet. His is a "no-sweat" job, or so the rifleman may think.

The pilot, the rifleman may think, is gently awakened each morning to the strains of soft music—not reveille or the not-too-dulcet tones of the First Sergeant.

After a hot shower, and a leisurely gourmet breakfast, he is driven to the flight line where mechanics have made his gleaming, aerial steed ready for mounting. With negligent ease, the pilot fires up, roars down the runway and lifts off. A short run to the target, 10 or 15 minutes work and then back to the base to his palatial residence for fun and games for the rest of the day.

Paradoxically, pilots often envy the Marine on the ground since, in many respects, the rifleman's job is safer. The rifleman's basic danger is encountered in combat while the pilot faces sudden death from the time he sets foot in his plane until he climbs out at the end of a mission.

The Simple Life

When Marine pilots flew propeller driven aircraft, life was relatively simple. If they were hit on a close support mission, they could climb and bail out. In jets, life is infinitely more complicated.

And, since Marine pilots are just as human as Marines on the ground, constant training and safety lectures are necessary to keep them from getting careless. Just as a rifleman can conceivably become careless with a weapon, so can a pilot ignore occasionally the ever present dangers of a flame-out or other trouble in the air.

A small group of Navy Corpsmen, all of whom have served in the FMF, are responsible for part of the safety training of Marine pilots based at Cherry Point.

Their objective — live pilots.

27-Year Veteran

Led by a 27-year Navy veteran, Chief Medical Service Warrant Officer Richard H. Weaver, the group mans the Physiology Unit at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Cherry Point. All pilots and crewmen pass through the section periodically for checkouts in the altitude chamber, the three types of emergency ejection seats and a refresher course on night vision.

All corpsmen attached to the unit have more than two years' experience in the physiology field.

"The pilots get constant safety lectures and demonstrations in their squadron," Weaver said, "but the regulations require them to go through the chamber and ejection seat check every two years."

High performance jet aircraft are partly responsible for the stepped up safety program. Close air support missions, the most dangerous flown, are also responsible.

Korean History

During the Korean war, Navy and Marine Corps pilots flew 255,000 sorties in both jet and prop-driven aircraft. Nearly 600 aircraft were lost to enemy ground fire.

"Pilots have to react automatically under such conditions," HM2 Armand J. Provencher who lectures on ejection procedures. "At low altitudes they'll think themselves to death if they don't go immediately."

The pilots receive a thorough checkout on the standard ejection seat, the Martin-Baker and RAPEC ejection systems before going to the trainer for a fast trip.

Position Important

"You can snap your neck or your back if you aren't in the proper position since these systems give you a "22 G" kick in the pants," Mr. Weaver said. (22 "G's" are 22 times the amount of gravity.)

HM1 Gerald E. Tanner and HM3 Vaughn L. Pudney, give lectures on the effect of altitude.

Hypoxia Dangerous

"Most people don't know how the decreased pressure and lack of oxygen can affect them," Tanner said. "Some people get happy, some get mean and all of them pass out. It is dangerous since it is almost impossible for a person to tell they are suffering from hypoxia."

The reasons for this are demonstrated before the pilots and crewmen go through the chamber, as well as the effects of hyperventilation, or overbreathing.

"Over-breathing," Mr. Weaver commented, "is one form of fainting. You know that weak feeling you get when you are on the carpet? Hold your breath and it will go away. You've simply flooded your self with oxygen and upset the balance needed in your lungs."

Following the lectures, HM2 Charles L. Corrigan and one of the other corpsmen, accompany the group into the pressure chamber. After checking all oxygen masks and the oxygen regulators, the chamber is "taken" to 18,000 feet and masks are removed. In two to three minutes, the symptoms of hypoxia are evident to an observer outside the chamber. Fingernails and lips turn blue and responses by the participants are slow.

Even Teeth Hurt

"Before we take them up to 33,000," Weaver commented, "we make sure they haven't had a filled in the last day

"Your stomach is like that balloon," V commented. "As for teeth, we've had a pop out because they not packed tightly to get all the air out cavity. Most painful in the world."

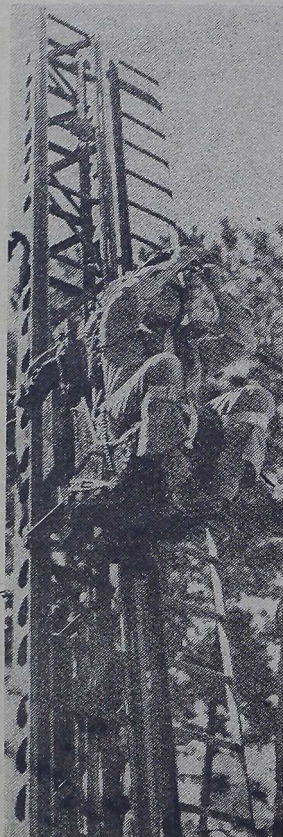

"These new jets o from sea level to cla altitudes," Mr. Weave mented. "Because o pilots must be prepar bailouts from just o deck up almost into. The ejection seats are ped to operate at all but the pilots have to what to do and when it when an eme arises. ION FORCES WERE WAITING FOR LEE AT ANTIETAM. THE "LOST ORDER" CAUSED A CONFEDERATE DEFEAT AND CHANGED THE COURSE OF THE WAR.

Lee Loses At Antietam; Security Leak Blamed

of security of classified documents and improper relayed orders have cost the lives of many Americans in combat. One example was the "lost order" which gave the Union Forces the entire plan of battle at Antietam. Although it happened 100 years ago, it could happen again. Lee's division was the security of the plan of battle. The security of the plan of battle is a classic example of why the Marine Corps places so much stress on security.

RICHARD W. IOBST
 A slowly-fading document in a manuscript collection in the Department of Archives and History in Raleigh has a history which affected the course of the Civil War and, possibly, the course of our nation's destiny. While it is a copy of Special Order No. 191 in the Hill Collection and named by Stonewall Jackson, it is the key to the battle of Sharpsburg (Antietam), where so many North Carolinians lost their lives, Confederate General Robert E. Lee decided on a daring maneuver in the face of a far numerically superior Yankee force. He split the tough-fighting Army of Northern Virginia into five parts to meet the enemy as he headed toward Pennsylvania. Col. R. H. Chilton, Lee's Assistant Adjutant-General, prepared six copies of Special Order 191 detailing Lee's plan. These copies went to Jackson, McLaws, Longstreet, Walker, Stuart and D. H. Hill. Jeb Stuart destroyed the copy sent him. Longstreet read his copy, placed it in his mouth and chewed the paper to a pulp. Jackson got his copy and immediately proceeded to prepare a copy for his brother-in-law, D. H. Hill, whose division was in Jackson's corps and who was mentioned in the order. Here we arrive at a problem. Hill, never a friend of Lee, but quite intimate with Jackson, had been placed in Jackson's corps immediately after the Battle of Chantilly (September 1, 1862). After Jackson had been placed at the head of Lee's line of march, Hill had been detained to cover the rear of the army. Since Hill was much closer to Lee (in Hagerstown) than he was to Jackson (maneuvering in front of Harper's Ferry), Lee considered him to be under his (Lee's) direct command. Hill, therefore, had two copies of Special Order No. 191 directed to him—one from Chilton and one from Jackson. And Gets Worse

 Due to an unknown circumstance, however, Hill only received the copy sent to him by Jackson. Somehow, possibly because of the disaffection of a courier or because of carelessness on the part of Lee's or Hill's staff—or a combination of these things—the Chilton copy never reached Hill. On the morning of September 13th, the 27th Indiana Volunteers encamped on the site of D. H. Hill's former campground, about one mile east of Frederick, Md., near the crossing of the Monocacy River. Pvt. B. W. Mitchell noticed three large cigars wrapped loosely in a folded paper on the ground. Mitchell, at first more interested in the cigars (as were most of the men in the tobacco-starved Union Army), soon took notice of the paper. It was Chilton's copy of Special Order No. 191 addressed to D. H. Hill. Union Soldier Sharp
 The excited Mitchell showed the order to his first sergeant, John M. Bloss. Capt. Kopp of E Company was soon informed. The excited men hurriedly carried the order to Col. Silas Colgrove, who in turn delivered it to Col. S. E. Pittman, Adjutant-General to General Alpheus

S. Williams, commanding the division. Pittman, who had known Colonel Chilton in the "Old Army" when both were stationed at Detroit, identified the handwriting as Colonel Chilton's. The order was immediately passed to General McClellan, commander of the Union Army. As Dr. Lenoir Chambers so aptly expresses it in his book, Stonewall Jackson: "When McClellan looked at the document he saw a blueprint of Lee's whole campaign, and knew that Lee's army was scattered and wide open to destruction by an opponent who was as near as McClellan was, as powerful as McClellan's resources were, and as well armed with information as McClellan now was." Civilian Helps History tells of D. H. Hill's successful bid for time at South Mountain and of a Marylander, sympathetic to the Southern cause, who rode into Stuart's lines at the base of South Mountain giving news of the finding of that order. Lee's army was forced to fight for its life at Sharpsburg on September 17. Thanks to good luck and hard fighting the Confederates were able to save their army, but not the campaign. On the evening of September 18, Lee's weary veterans recrossed the Potomac back into Virginia.

D. H. Hill was accused of carelessness concerning the "Lost Dispatch" in the summer of 1863. For the rest of his life he was forced to defend himself from numerous attacks that he indirectly, through carelessness, lost the war for the South. The personal animosity between Hill and Lee was also a factor in this dispute. Hill's acid tongue and cutting comments (for example, Hill's attack of Lee's troop dispositions both during the Seven Days and at Antietam) were certain to be the subject of numerous rebuttals. Hill stated, years after the war: "I went into Maryland under Jackson's command. I was under his command when Lee's order was issued. It was proper that I should receive that order through Jackson and not through Lee. I have now before me the order received from Jackson. . . . My adjutant-general made an affidavit 20 years ago, that no order was received at our office from General Lee. But an order from Lee's office, directed to me, was lost and fell into McClellan's hands. Did the courier lose it? Did Lee's own staff-officers lose it? I do not know." The question of the Lost Dispatch is one of history's most interesting arguments. The true story of how Private Mitchell happened to find it in D. H. Hill's old camp will probably never be known.

Asking For Explanations

ce last week's column we have been deluged with one calls and oral requests for an explanation on said that Fort Benning was the best service team will face all season, after losing to the Doughboys Georgia, 21-14. The main reason people are asking explanation is that Lejeune also bowed to Pensacola Saturday, which some believe is a worse defeat or initial loss.

the scores look, this may be correct but the way touchdowns were scored against us is why we still that Benning is the best Armed Services team in t and probably one of the best among national

SHOW STOPPERS—Lejeune Devilpups' powerful threesome of lineman Gary Ward, quarterback Jim Barrett, and fullback Randy Fridley stole the show in last Friday's encounter with Hallsboro High School. Ward, with a game-saving tackle on Hallsboro quarterback John Duval, stopped the Tigers' final drive. Jim Barrett, the big mainstay, relied on his passing arm to set up both Devilpup touchdowns. The final member of the curtain callers, Randy Fridley, scored the game-winning touch-down with only two minutes remaining in the con-test.

'Pups Increase Streak; Try Beaufort Saturday

Coach Tom McGhee's unbeaten year against Ayden High School, posted their third victory of the year last Friday evening over Hallsboro High School, 13-6, before a capacity crowd at the Base Intra-mural Field.

Tackle Insures Victory

A key tackle late in the final period by Lejeune's Cary Ward stifled the final Hallsboro attack and insured a Lejeune victory. The tackle, following two rapid first downs saw Ward, a 145 lb. center, dump Hallsboro quarterback John-ny Duval for a 25 yard loss, virtual-ly ending a last ditch ground at-tack by the Tigers.

The Devilpups opened the scor-ing early in the first quarter. Cap-ping a 50 yard drive which brought the 'Pups inside the 20, Barrett swung around left end and just before being dropped, lateralled off to halfback Al Kyle who went the rest of the way for the score. The 'Pups failed at their attempt for the extra point and settled down, moving into the defensive with a comfortable early 6-0 lead.

Hallsboro Scores

After a quick exchange of punts, the Hallsboro Tigers took over on their own 45 yard line. Their first play from scrimmage netted only one yard and on the next play, quarterback John Duval handed off to halfback Bryant Powell, who sprinted through the center of the Lejeune line and scampered 55 yards for the Tigers' lone touch-down. Powell's run was the longest of the night.

Passing Attack Falters

Early in the final quarter, Bar-rett barely missed Dan Paetow with a pass in the end zone, but moved the ball into Hallsboro ter-ritory on successive running plays.

After an offside penalty stopped the forward motion of the 'Pups, McGhee called on John McKeon for a field goal. McKeon's kick was short however, and the Tigers took over from their own 20 yard stripe.

Unable to move, Hallsboro was forced to punt to Rick Lowder who returned the pigskin deep into Tiger territory.

With two minutes remaining, the 'Pups scored the game winning touchdown on a five yard plunge over right tackle by fullback Randy Fridley. Spectacular Jim Barrett set up the final score with a 20 yard gain around left end, and made the extra point on an identi-cal run which netted the late tally.

Rain Dampens Tiny Tots In Boys League Grid Action

Tiny-Tot Boys League gridiron action resumes play this Saturday at 1 p.m., after a week's post-ponement because of rain. Opening action this weekend will be the unbeaten Browns facing the Rams. Immediately following, the Vikings take on the Lions. Both the Browns and Lions are unbeaten in Boys League competition.

Sunday's Midget League action will pair the unbeaten first place Bears against last place Colts, while the Redskins take on the Eagles in the second contest of the day. Sunday games begin at 1:15 p.m.

Wet weather caused the cancel-lation of Tiny-Tot action last Sat-urday, but failed to dampen play in the Midget League on Sunday.

In the initial contest, the Red-skins called on their powerful run-ners, Bob Yezierski and Carl Wiggens, as they scalped the Colts, 44-0. The 'Skins started early in the opening quarter when Yezi-erski skirted left end and sprinted 58 yards to push the Redskins in front, 6-0. Wiggins added the sec-ond 'Skin tally on a pass play from Milt Ortiz as the first quarter end-ed in a 13-0 lead for the Redskins.

Wiggins scored his second touchdown of the day as the sec-ond quarter opened and at the end of the first half, the Redskins boasted a 19-0 lead.

Continuing to overpower the Colts, the Redskins opened the sec-ond half with their fourth score of the day as Carl Yezierski scam-pered 58 yards into the end zone. Before the final gun, Wiggins, Or-tiz and Billy Bikens added three additional touchdowns to finish the Colts.

In the second game of the after-noon the league leading Bears continued to dominate play in the Midget League by downing the third place Eagles, 13-0.

The Bears stayed on the ground through most of the game and counted on the running of fullback Allen Bartholomew for most of their scoring punch.

In the first quarter, after mov-ing the ball downfield, Bartholomew took a hand-off and galloped 28 yards over tackle for the first score of the day.

After the initial score, both sides settled down and fought each other in quite a defensive dual.

Bob Hingston of the Bears broke up the game in the final quarter by slanting off tackle for nine yards and raced into the end zone for the final tally of the day. Bartholomew added the extra point and the Bears climaxed an exciting day with a 13-0 victory.

Marine Soccer Team Downs Bragg, 11-1

The Camp Lejeune Soccer team rebounded from their loss two weeks ago at the hands of Fort Lee by overpowering the Fort Bragg booters, 11-1 last Saturday at Fort Bragg.

Bragg drew first blood in the contest, scoring on a penalty kick in the opening minutes of the game.

Hans Weiss of 2d Pioneers tied the score shortly after with his first of five goals for the afternoon. The first half ended with the Le-jeune booters on top, 4-1.

Lejeune could do no wrong in the second half as they poured in seven more tallies. Helping Weiss with the scoring were Dave Kent of Service Battalion, with three goals, Chris Slater of 2d FSR, two goals, and Peter Kriz, 2d Tank Bn., with one goal.

Next Saturday Lejeune goes after win number two against North Carolina State in Raleigh. The first home game for the Le-jeune booters will be Oct. 13th at 2 p.m. against Fort Bragg.

Sailers vying for position is a usual sight at Wallace during the Lejeune Sailboat Committee's annual Fall Sail-ing. Last week's race was cancelled due to heavy winds and to this Sunday. ## Five Receive Mast Awards For Initiative

Professional ability and hard work by three officers and two sergeants at the Marine Corps Supply Schools, Montford Point, brought them before their commanding officer last Friday to receive letters of appreciation.

First Lt. W. B. Weaver, GySgt. Michael E. O'Leary and Sgt. Billy R. Sanders were commended by Col. Rodney M. Handley for their presentation of the techniques of military instruction given a group of non-commissioned officers during an eight-hour class period Sept. 5. Lauding the trio's "excellent instruction," the letter adds that the information taught the NCO's should "materially improve their caliber of instruction in the future."

Lt. Robert W. Hart and CWO Algie W. Thornton of the Motor Transport School were commended for assisting the Organized Reserve units which trained here during the summer months. Colonel Handley presented their letters on behalf of Col. Sam W. Smith, former commanding officer of the Reserve Liaison unit here.

Their citations read in part: "... favorable comments have come from many quarters concerning your outstanding support given the Reserve program... it is difficult to single out individuals when so many have contributed so much to this successful training period... but you have been cited so frequently that you merit special recognition..."

Lieutenant Hart is academic officer at Motor Transport Company and CWO Thornton heads the automotive mechanical instruction section.

The letters were made a permanent part of each Marine's service record book.

As a symbolic gesture, the 4th Marines, who were captured on Corregidor, were the first to enter Japan — the first foreign troops to occupy Japanese soil.

COMM SCHOOL GRADUATES—Fifteen student Marines from Force Troops, Marine Corps Base, and the 2d Marine Division, were graduated from the FMFLant Communications School's TRC-75 course on Sept. 14. # Navy Relief Workers Given Pins For 'Job Well Done'

Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, congratulated four Navy Relief workers last week and awarded them with Navy Relief hour pins.

Receiving the general's "thanks for a job well done" and 600 hour pins were Mrs. Leroy Delano and Mrs. Winton Willhide who both knit for the Navy Relief Layette Program. Awarded the 100 hour pins were Mrs. M. C. Farina, a Navy Relief clerical worker who also does knitting for the layettes and Mrs. L. F. Enke, a Navy Relief interviewer.

Work done by Navy Relief volunteers falls into four general categories: interviewers, receptionists, clerical and layette workers. The office workers give a couple of hours each week in the Navy Relief offices while the layette workers are able to do their work at home.

A layette consists of a large blanket, receiving blankets, gowns, sacks, diapers, sweaters and pads. A half hour is given for each receiving blanket, an hour for each sack and gown and fifteen hours for each sweater. Navy Relief supplies the material.

In Mrs. Delano's words, "All a lady has to do is give a few hours of her time to make a mother happy and a baby warm."

A training course for volunteer women will begin Oct. 2 and end Oct. 25. The classes will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and Thursdays on the top floor of the Area One Service Club, Building 125.

There will also be a graduate course for volunteers who have previously completed the basic training course. It will be held Oct. 5, 8 and 12 from 9 a.m. to noon in the Area One Service Club.

Miss Barbara Blair, field representative of the Navy Relief in Washington, D. C., will conduct both courses.

Free baby-sitting service will be provided at the Paradise Point Sitting Service while the volunteer attends classes and during all hours worked.

Those interested are asked to call the Navy Relief Office, ext. 7-5584.

Division Will Host FMFLant Matches

The third annual Fleet Marine Force Atlantic intra-mural pistol and rifle matches will be held November 2-9 at the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range.

Pistol shooters will be divided into three categories: .22 caliber,

.38 caliber revolver, and .45 caliber service pistol. Competitors in the rifle matches will be divided into only two categories: .22 caliber (small-bore) and M-14 service rifle.

Competing in the matches will be teams from the 2d Marine Division, Force Troops, 2d Marine Aircraft Wing, and FMFLant Headquarters from Norfolk.

Interested 2d Division personnel should contact their respective unit commanders for further information. Individual shooters must be qualified pistol or rifle experts who have never competed in the Marine Corps National Matches or any Marine Corps Divisional Match. The shooters additionally should have no weapons classification with the National Rifle Association.

Shooters interested in the .45 pistol or M-14 categories must bring their own service weapons, cartridge belts, pouches and magazines to the range. Other equipment such as .22 pistols and rifles, shooting jackets, etc., will be supplied at the range.

Try-outs for the team will commence Oct. 1, and continue through Oct. 12. At this time the actual competing team will be chosen. From Oct. 15 to Nov. 1 this team will be practicing for the matches.

In the 1961 competitions, held at Cherry Point, the 2d Division won first place in two of the three pistol matches.

The Officer-in-Charge of the 2d Division team will be 1st Lt. G. J. Lattimore, who can be telephoned at 5-7268 or 7-3252 for further information.

Quantico School Uses Programmed Learning

A relatively new teaching method called "Programmed Learning" is being used at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico in the training of officers and selected staff non-commissioned officers at the Basic Extension School.

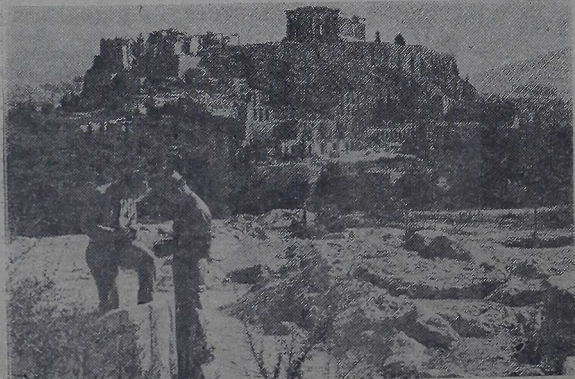

The first in the Armed Forces to add this instruction to its correspondence syllabus, the Marine Corps is also experimenting with it in resident schools.

Programmed Learning was adopted for one extension sub-course on the recommendation of Maj. James R. Schoen who rewrote the course. Maj. Schoen says it has sentence blanks, and also uses multiple choice and open end methods of programmed learning. The open end allows students to utilize easy type answers to questions.

Based on five basic principles, it utilizes a large number of small, easy-to-take steps whereby a student can proceed from knowing very little about a subject to its mastery by consuming the information a little at a time.

Another finding from psychological laboratories utilized is that a student learns best if he is actively responding as he learns. The students who actually work out problems will probably do better on a test than students who only read the explanations and look at examples of it.

BLT 2-6's Generosity Aids Greco-American Relations

WITH THE SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, ATHENS (Delayed)—Marines of Battalion Landing Team 2/6 (BLT 2/6) played Santa Claus to a small village on the border of communist Albania during a visit to Greece Sept. 12-18.

The village of Molyvoskepasto (population 250) in the mountainous district of Epirus in Northern Greece was presented a badly needed 36-inch diameter cement culvert pipe and school supplies in a special visit to the "free world" outpost Sept. 15.

The supplies, purchased with $368 in 25-cent donations from the men of the landing team, were delivered to Mayor Demetrios Gaziotas before a gathering of the entire village. The mountain town, which has an annual income of 6,000 drachma ($200), was in need of the drainage culvert to repair the washed-out dirt roads that service the community.

In addition to the culvert, gifts included a school work-table with four chairs, paper and pencils, and a geography training aide.

Second Lt. Troy T. Shirley, Company "G", and 1st Sgt. Robert D. Brooks, Company "E", presented the gifts in behalf of the BLT.

The trip to the Greek mountain village was memorable for the two Marines. After a two hour flight from Athens in a Greek twin-engine transport aircraft, they arrived at Yannina where they were met by Mayor Gaziotas and the principal of the Molyvoskepasto school. Half of the 60-mile jeep ride from Yannina to the village was over rocky dirt roads.

A song of greeting welcomed the Marines upon their arrival at the town. After passing out chocolate candy and cookies to the 60 children of the town, Lt. Shirley presented the Mayor with a BLT plaque and the gifts they had brought with them.

In thanking the Marines for their gifts, Mayor Gaziotas spoke of the common democratic ideals that bind the two countries together. He then presented the BLT with a plate of fine copperwork and a pictorial book of the district.

Following the presentation ceremony, Marines visited the Greek army outpost that stands guard over the border with communist Albania. The Marines returned to Athens for dinner at which they were

Off-Duty Language Classes Begin

"Desirez vous apprendre le grec?" or "Quiere usted aprender el Espanol?"

Some 60 officers and Marines of the 2d Marine Division, H&S Battalion, Marine Corps, have answered the above question in the affirmative and are spending their lunch hours as invited next week.

"Do you wish to learn Greek?" or "Do you wish to learn Spanish?" are the questions who answer "yes," class members will be asked. The classes begin Monday, Oct. 1, in the 2d Marine Division Service Club, 2d Battalion personnel who are registered for the USAF proved study courses must so at the battalion S-5 Building No. 50.

The idea of the lunch language classes was successful last June and July with students completing the course in Spanish and their USAF diplomas.

French classes will begin Monday, Monday through and meet until 1 p.m. on days. Complete details are being furnished to the battalion.

Leader for the French class will be SSgt. J. W. Pratte and for the Spanish class is R. Arnold.

HMM-262 Mercy Flight Saves Greek

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, ATHENS (Delayed)—Two Marine Corps helicopters were used here to rush a Greek National from the remote Aegean island of Elafonisos to an Athens hospital.

The man was suffering from internal bleeding that required emergency surgical treatment to save his life.

The helicopters completed the 200 mile round trip in less than four hours after receiving the urgent request for assistance from the U. S. Embassy here. Transportation from the isolated island to adequate medical facilities would normally have taken up to 24 hours.

The mercy mission helicopters were from Sub Unit No. 2, HMM 262, which is serving in the Mediterranean as a part of BLT 2/6. The helicopters are stationed aboard the landing ship dock USS Shadwell.

First Lt. G. H. Mueller (pilot) and WO Hardy Gates (co-pilot) flew the mission.

WASHINGTON—Surgeon General Luther Terry has a warning for the American people.

Terry fears a widespread epidemic of Asian flu this winter, probably starting about the middle of December. He urges persons over 45, those suffering from a chronic disease and pregnant women to start taking flu shots immediately. By a chronic disease, Terry refers to those suffering from heart trouble, high blood pressure, tuberculosis, asthma, diabetes and rheumatism.

Persons who have had flu vaccinations will require only one single booster shot now. Others will need two doses of vaccine about two months apart.
