Quantico Will Host All-Mar Photo Contest

Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., will host the 1962 All-Marine Corps Photography Contest during November. It will be followed by the Tenth Interservice Photography Contest, hosted by the Navy, in December.

The All-Marine Contest is open to all personnel who have at least 90 days' active duty, amateurs and experienced photographers alike will be vying for the 84 awards which will be presented by Headquarters Marine Corps.

Competition will be conducted at all contest levels in two groups: Group I, is Black and White Single Photographs; Group II, Color Transparencies.

Those submitting entries in Group I should send enlargements from a minimum of 8 by 10 inches to a maximum of 16 by 20 inches. Those photographs should be unmounted and unframed.

In the Group II, area, color transparencies may be up to 4 by 5 inches maximum in size and will be submitted with plastic type envelopes or other protective covering. All transparencies will be mounted, however they can not be glass-mounted. The face of each transparency will be marked with a red dot in the lower left corner of the mount. The name and grade of the contestant, together with title and category entered, will be printed on the mount.

CATEGORIES

Entries in both groups will be submitted in seven categories which include portraits, babies and children, animals and pets, sports and action, scenic and military life and experimental.

Category "A" — portraits — may include closeups of a person or persons or the entire figure or figures. The essential characteristic is to emphasize the person rather than environment or incidental activities.

Category "B" — Babies and Children — may be photographs of children singly or in groups, closeups or as part of a landscape or other large composition.

Category "C" — Animals and Pets — may include animals, birds, fish, reptiles, singly or in numbers. Household pets or subjects in natural environment are eligible.

Category "D" — Sports or action — should be sports or action photographs involving people. One meaningful instant snatched from a flow of action is typical of the entire action.

Category "E" — Scenic — may be of landscapes, seascapes, architectural and industrial scenes, or any scene which has a fundamental unit of design or mood which is of such magnitude that all other elements are subordinate to it.

Category "F" — Military life — can be of any subject or subject matter, animated or inanimate, with or without people which portrays some facet of military life.

Category "G" — Experimental — this category should be photographs produced through experimentation, that by angle and ex-

Child's Life Saved By Marine's Action

A 2d Division Marine, Sgt. William F. Amann, whose quick action probably saved the life of a two-year-old girl last June, was officially commended last week by Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman, commanding general of the 2d Division.

The sergeant is an artillery repairman attached to the Light Support Company of Service Battalion.

He was awarded a meritorious mast by General Wieseman for his prompt application of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation of two-year-old Sally Mae Henegar who was overcome from smoke.

The incident occurred while Sgt. Amann was watching a ball game at Ogden, N. C.

An automobile—in which the child was sleeping—caught fire and she immediately became unconscious from smoke. A member of the Ogden volunteer fire department removed the child from the burning auto.

Sergeant Amann immediately took the child, and commenced breathing into her mouth, while another volunteer fireman rushed the tot by car to Children's Hospital in Wilmington.

Sergeant Amann accompanied the fireman and continued his mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in the car.

His efforts were successful and the child revived after about 10 minutes, shortly before arrival at the hospital where she was pronounced out of danger by medical authorities.

A division bulletin, citing his action, credited his "... alertness, presence of mind and immediate action..." which "... prevented the probable loss of life of the child..." It continued, stating that Sergeant Amann's actions "... were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service..."

Mr. Russell A. Bostic, in his invitation said, "As president of our club I would like to invite all the Marines at Camp Lejeune with valid I. D. cards to Free Admission Day on Sept. 10."

Proper identification will admit all Marines to the fair free of charge.

Rhode Island Seabee Unit Training Here

Atlantic Seabee command closed its 1962 combat conditioning program when Mobile Construction Battalion 7 arrived at Camp Lejeune from Camp Davisville, R. I., to begin six weeks of Infantry Combat Training.

Commanded by Cmdr. A. M. Lande, USN, the 425-man unit is the last mobile construction battalion scheduled to train here this year.

MCB-7 like other Seabee units is organized to perform a dual-mission within the range of Naval operations. The battalion either can deploy for combat defense or function as a construction support organization.

From a combat-ready standpoint, MCB-7 is organized into a rifle company, a weapons company, and a pioneer platoon. These same men can function as carpenters, metal smiths, masons, bulldozer operators and other skilled construction personnel necessary to construction missions.

At Camp Lejeune MCB-7 is learning the basic techniques of individual combat proficiency necessary to assure both their own personal survival and the accomplishment of their mission under combat conditions.

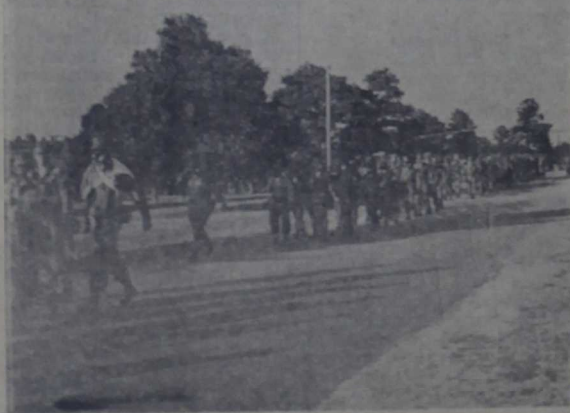

Among the training procedures which the builder-fighters of MCB-7 are familiarizing themselves with at Camp Lejeune are: instructions in field medicine, individual movement through simulated enemy defensive areas, demolitions, mine and booby-trap warfare, bayonet fighting, combat reconnaissance, squad tactics, map reading, use of the compass and techniques of fire.

First on the Seabee battalion's schedule was a week's course of instruction in rifle marksmanship at the Rifle Range. For most of the command, this was an initial step in marksmanship training.

Emphasis during the final weeks of MCB's training will be placed on specific combat procedures comparable to individual or group assignments. Included in this category will be instruction in the use of mortars, recoilless rifles, the mission of combat engineers and combat supply procedures.

A unique feature of units like MCB-7 is that they are self-containing organizations — that is they number among their personnel — doctors, corpsmen dentists, pharmacists, barbers, and many other personnel necessary to the unit's comfort and welfare.

Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, 15th Commandant of the Marine Corps was the first four star general in the Corps.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT — Recently the 2d Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, conducted a five mile forced march with more than their normal 782 gear. The Group, as part of their guerrilla-warfare training, wore gas masks for the entire march.

posure of camera, control of light source, printing, and chemical processing. These entries may include abstractions, patterns, indoor and outdoor still lifes, flower studies, tabletop photography, macrographs, and photomontage (photographs not included).

RULES

All entries will be photographs taken by individual contestant on or subsequent to Dec. 1, 1960. Developing, printing and enlarging of black and white photographs and transparencies by the contestant is encouraged.

Black and white entries in the All-Marine Corps contest will become the property of the Marine Corps and will not be returned. However, the Marine Corps will not be responsible for damage or loss.

In the event of a permanent change of station, a contestant whose entries have been submitted to higher level contests will notify his installation commander who in turn will inform CMC.

No official military photographs will be accepted for competition at any level.

Contestants may not receive more than one place award in either group of competition. That is, a contestant may receive one place award in group one and one place award in group two, as well as honorable mentions.

An entry submitted to a wrong category will be transferred to the proper category.

All entries must conform to size, proper identification of photographs and submission of entries as prescribed in Marine Corps Bulletin 1710.

IDENTIFICATION

One complete entry form including signatures of contestants (where applicable) will be attached to the black and white photograph with transparent tape across the top only. The Tenth Interservice Photography Contest Entry Form will be used. The completed form must be the original typed or written copy. It should be stamped or identified by the local command on the upper right-hand corner of each entry form submitted to the All-Marine Corps competition.

Color transparencies will be enclosed in individual envelopes with one completed entry form. The title of the entry with the name of the area level command will be written on the outside of the envelope.

LOCAL LEVEL

Local commanders may conduct local level photography contests to select entries to represent their commands in the All-Marine contest. However, all entries must be sent to the Special Services Officer by November 1.

INTERSERVICE

The Tenth Interservice Photography Contest, conducted jointly by the Army, Navy, Air Force and the Marine Corps will be held in Washington on or about Dec. 12. The Department of the Navy will serve as host for the Interservice Contest.

Each service is authorized to submit 100 entries (50 color and 50 black and white to this contest).

Prizes will be awarded to first, second, and third place winners and three honorable mentions in each category of both the black and white color groups. In addition, a "best of show" award will be presented in each group.

The winning service will receive the Perpetual Interservice Photography Contest Trophy. All winning selections will be exhibited in the Pentagon and the Smithsonian Institution, Washington.

Headquarters Marine Corps will announce results of both contests.

Advance Unit Heads For Bragg Exercise

Advance units of the 10th Marines will depart Tuesday, September 11, for a 17-day field firing exercise at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Principal element of the 10th, reinforced with other units from the 2d Division, Marine Corps Base and Force Troops will follow by motor convoy on the morning of the 17th.

A firing exercise rather than a full-scale operation or maneuver, the training will involve no Army units.

Training areas and ranges at Fort Bragg have been frequently utilized by Marine units for field firing exercises because the Army facilities at Bragg permit more extensive use of heavy and long-range artillery.

OUTDOOR PLEASURES—Camping is just one of the many relaxing pleasures offered by state parks in North Carolina. State parks are open all year round and cater to economic vacationers.

State Parks Offer Outdoor Pleasures

Scattered throughout North Carolina's Variety Vacationland are 12 state supported parks covering a total area of more than 36,000 acres. These parks, open all year round, offer weekend Marine travelers varied pleasures covering everything from mountain trail-blazing to sea-shore sun bathing.

Endowed by nature with ideal sites that range from the shores of the Atlantic Ocean to the tops of the Blue Ridge Mountains, North Carolina has located its parks for easy access as well as for varied appeal.

They offer a choice of homelike convenience and comfort, the hardy outdoor life of camping, or the quick and easy freedom of a day's picnicking.

Also included are excellent opportunities for economical vacations either in the modern, fully equipped cabins or in the campgrounds.

Developed, operated, maintained and administered by the Dept. of Conservation and Development through its division of State Parks, the parks cater to all forms of relaxation. They are dedicated to the preservation and protection of outstanding natural and scenic resources for your inspiration, joyment and for the enjoyment of generations to come.

Wildlife Sanctuaries

All North Carolina state parks are wildlife sanctuaries and are open to all forms of hunting, trapping or, in any way, molesting birds or animals is prohibited. Firearms, except dogs, except dogs on a leash, exceeding six feet in length, are not permitted within the parks.

Fort Macon State Park

Fort Macon State Park, 390 acres, is within an hour's drive of Camp Lejeune, located on the western edge of Morehead City. Established in 1924 by the Federal government, Fort Macon was the second North Carolina state park to be acquired. It was established and is maintained for the three-fold purposes of protecting and preserving outstanding natural values, protecting historic sites, and providing for the recreational use of natural resources.

Swimming, fishing, picnicking, hiking and nature study, are available to the park's guests. The park is also rich in its own history. Within the park is historic Fort Macon, a 100 year old masterpiece of architectural beauty, which was captured by Union forces in 1862. Since early colonial times, the location of the present fort has been a museum, has been the site of fortifications for the protection of Beaufort Inlet.

Hammocks Beach State Park

Hammocks Beach State Park is on Bear Island in Onslow County. It is reached from Highway 17, turning south 1 1/2 miles. Swansboro onto a county road, driving 2 1/2 miles to a ferry. From this point a ferry is provided for passengers from June 1 through Labor Day.

The park includes all of the island, covering 890 acres over three miles of ocean. With one of the finest areas in North Carolina, Hammocks Beach state park offers wonderful opportunities for picnicking and swimming while development is completed.

Venezuelan Troops Finish Training Here

Twenty-one enlisted and one officer from the Venezuelan Marine Corps finished eight weeks of training here last week, under an allied military training aid program.

The first four weeks of their training were spent at the 1st Infantry Training Regiment undergoing combat training. They then integrated with the 2d Division for their final four weeks of training.

While at the Training Regiment the Venezuelans were instructed in small arms fire, squad tactics, tank-infantry coordination and map and compass reading.

1st Lt. Julio C. Lanz, officer in charge of the Marines acted as interpreter at all lectures.

Speaking for the group, Lt. Lanz said, "We have been very impressed with the quality of training received here and are pleased to have had the opportunity to receive it at Camp Lejeune."

This is the first time a group of enlisted men from the Venezuelan Marine Corps has ever trained at Camp Lejeune.

The Venezuelan Marine Corps initiated the new program for training selected enlisted men on American bases as a first step toward ramping their overall training procedure. Each of the American-trained men will be expected to pass on has gained knowledge as an instructor when he returns to Venezuela.

Pfc Canopy Hawk Flying With Recon

Maj. John F. Conroy, Commanding Officer, 2d Force Reconnaissance Company, Force Troops, scratched his head and queried 1st Sgt. W. H. Bean, regarding the number of men eligible for jump status in the company.

"It seems to me, 1st Sgt., that there is a discrepancy in the status board. I find three men eligible, and four are listed on the board for jump status."

"You must be counting 'Henry the Hawk' Major," was the 1st Sgt's reply, and thus the story of Henry's entry into Recon Company was unfolded to its Commanding Officer.

Last month when members of the company were at the Cold Weather Training Center, Bridgeport, Calif., Cpl. James P. McGee, of the 1st Recon Platoon gained more than knowledge from the training. He gained a mascot for the company, namely, Pvt. Henry the Hawk.

While a member of a four-man team, on a three-day survival problem, his team worked their way along a planned route. Their first day out was devoted to escape and evasion techniques, and while enroute along a trail through desolate country, McGee first spied his new acquaintance.

Henry, a California Redtail Hawk, about the size of a pigeon, was sitting on a tree stump. McGee said that the bird was weak and offered no fight when he picked him up.

Now a four-man and one-hawk patrol, they proceeded to complete their three-day mission, with Henry eating C-Rations and fish along with the other members of the Recon Team.

Upon completion of school, McGee and the other Recon men had become rather attached to the hawk, so McGee brought him back to Camp Lejeune as a mascot for the company.

Henry, who is approximately four months old, lost a lot of feathers molting, but seems fairly well acclimated now. His feathers are growing back in, but he doesn't quite have a full growth yet, and can only fly short distances of about 15 yards.

Henry tries to keep right in step with the members of Recon Company by doing his share of the calisthenics. He perches on the clothesline pole back of the barracks daily doing his neck rotation exercises. He amuses the men with this exercise as it seems his head is on a ball-joint, turning almost 360 degrees.

McGee feeds Henry once a day, and claims that the hawk likes liver, and consumes about a pound a week. On occasion his diet is supplemented with a stray field-mouse which the hawk devours in five minutes. He once swallowed a five inch trout whole.

McGee, normally handles Henry with a leather-glove, but has handled him without it. He says its best to use the glove for should the hawk get frightened, he has a tendency to "grab on to your arm a little tighter, and the talons could tear into your flesh."

Henry observes the daily routine of Recon Company from his clothesline perch and moves only when the sun starts to bother him. Then he seeks a shady bush to perch on. In inclement weather, Henry can be located in the Recon Company washroom.

McGee is planning to billet Henry in new quarters temporarily, with a local veterinarian, when he leaves with the recon platoons and supporting elements of Recon Company for amphibious recon training at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Off. Swanson To Captain Reserve Match Teams

CAMP PERRY, OHIO — The lieutenant of the Marine Corps, David M. Shoup, announced that Marine Reserve Col. Emmet O. Swanson of Minneapolis, Minn., of the 1962 Marine Corps Rifle and Pistol Team will be to serve in this position the 1963 season.

Swanson, a veteran shooter, has been captain of the Marine Rifle and Pistol Team since 1959. The team is currently competing in the National Rifle and Pistol matches at Camp Perry. The first fired in these matches he participated in the Olympic Games in Rome, Italy, as Captain of the U. S. Olympic Shooting Team.

Colonel Swanson won his Distinguished Pistol Medal in 1959. In 1948 he was elected to the Executive Council of the National Rifle Association. At the present time there are 14 members in the Council. All are elected for life membership.

Marines Taught Tricks At Parris Island School

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. — What's impossible? Teaching old dogs new tricks?

Maybe!

But Parris Island's First Sergeants' Personnel and Administrative Course is making a snap of the job of showing some of the Marine Corps' finest enlisted men how to be top administrators.

The enlisted "devil dogs" who are being taught new tricks are first sergeants and other senior staff noncommissioned officers from various posts and stations throughout the Corps.

They are given classes and lectures in basic subjects relative to the task of supervising all the administrative work in their billets.

These senior Leathernecks who earned their stripes in combat and in different military occupational fields are assigned to the course by quotas from Headquarters Marine Corps. The majority of them do not have an administrative background.

This is the only course of its kind in the Corps. The earliest records of its existence date back to August 1954.

Instruction starts at 7:30 a.m. and ends at 4:15 in the afternoon. This routine continues five days a week and a half-day on Saturdays.

There is no let up as students devote 194 classroom hours of study to subjects ranging from administrative English to casualty reporting.

Each student class is composed of approximately 20 men and the course is conducted six times yearly.

Six instructors share the job of teaching Marine Corps personnel system, office management, personnel procedures, personnel accounting and record keeping, Marine Corps classification and the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

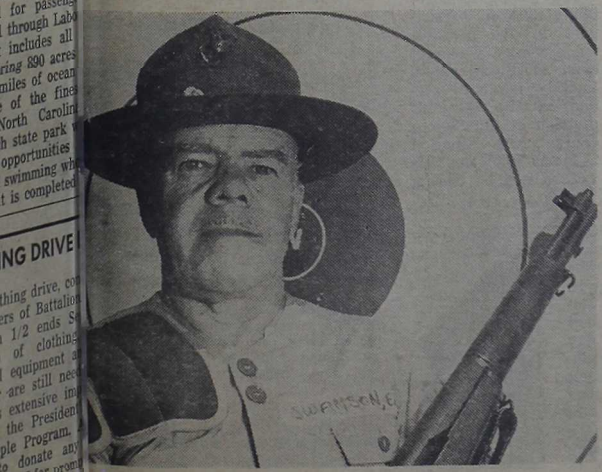

They are GySgts. Verne J. Gaudet and Joseph R. Simpkins and SSgts. Russel E. Moore, Linus J. Wendorf and Gerard P. Tetu.

Drinking While Driving Is A Fatal Combination

"Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age..." That's a quotation from the Bible, the book of Job to be exact. And it's another way of saying death should come after a full lifetime, not rushed or brought about by a needless traffic accident.

With the end of the summer vacation season, we are moved to ask just why so many people kill themselves needlessly during what should be a happy and leisurely farewell to summer.

One of the main reasons, is that man simply cannot learn that drinking and driving are a very fatal combination.

Still another proverb reads, "Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein." And we can think of few truisms that more aptly apply to the drinking driver than this one. If one chooses to drink, then drives, one is asking for trouble—and often times finds it tenfold.

We're not here to preach a sermon on the evils of alcohol. But everyone who drives should be reminded that even one or two drinks tends to lower visual powers and ability to react to emergency situations that may arise.

Suppose a car up ahead suddenly stops or another driver runs a red light at an intersection. Perhaps a car passing you cuts in too sharply and crowds you dangerously, or if you are walking, you may step off the curb without looking first and find a car rushing toward you.

When such things happen one needs every one of his faculties working. If his reaction time is slowed down, and he is forced to make a fast decision, the chances are he will fail to do so.

And then—an accident.

Unfortunately, the danger created by the drinking driver is not confined to himself. He can easily involve others in mishaps. So though you, personally, do not drink, bear in mind that drinkers are (and will be) on our highways all the time. We must be extra alert in order to protect ourselves and others from their irresponsible actions and deadly mistakes.

Chaplain's Corner

Someone took the trouble to determine the chemical value of man. The elements derived from a man weighing one hundred and fifty pounds would be enough iron to make a ten penny nail, enough salt to fill a salt shaker, enough sugar to fill a sugar bowl, enough lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough phosphorus to make a dozen matches, enough magnesium to fill a table spoon. The albuminoids could be used by a skilled baker to replace the whites of five dozen eggs, and enough fat could be extracted to fill a ten pound lard pail. All of this would not be worth over $2.79 on the most inflated market.

Today research scientists tell us that the atoms in a human body have an energy potential of 11,409,000 kilowatt hours per pound. For the same one hundred and fifty pound person this is worth $379,000,000 per pound or for a total of $56,850,000,000. Thus nuclear physics join the Christian faith in placing an infinite value upon human life. Potentially we are all literally billionaires. The real question is how do we use this potential or wealth?

For the Christian the answer lies in being guided by Christ in the use of our potential. The Bible tells us of God's evaluation of man. In the Gospel according to St. John chapter three verse sixteen we read, "For God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son..." What a tremendous value God has placed on us in that He was willing to give his only Son. But he tells us how to direct this wealth, "that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Our potential is great our value for eternity. Let us invest our lives wisely in those values that shall never fail.

Library News

By LOUISE ROWE

These books are available at the Central Library, Bldg. 63, or through request from area branches at Montford Point, Courthouse Bay, and Rifle Range. Books may be reserved by telephone.

KINGS OF THE HOME RUN: by Arthur Daley. Each of the home run kings is examined closely to see what makes him tick, not only as a hitter, but as a human being as well. The author, a Pulitzer-Prize winning columnist of THE NEW YORK TIMES, is perhaps unique among sportswriters in that he has known each of these men personally, and he writes with humor and insight about the foibles, talents and phobias of the twenty men in the select group of those who have hit above the 300 mark in home runs. King of all this fascinating group, of course, is the immortal Babe, who, with 714 homers, has contributed so richly to baseball history.

THE SERPENT'S COIL: by Farley Mowat, tells about the savage fury of the hurricane and about the men and ships that battle with them. His story, based on fact, took place on the North Atlantic in the late summer of 1948. The men and ships that he describes endures not one but three successive encounters with the crushing embrace of the Serpent's Coil. This is the tenth book by the Canadian author who has earned by forthright exposure of unpopular causes the title of rebel, iconoclast, enfant terrible of Canadian letters, and even—farthest from the mark—reformer.

THE HISTORY OF MAN: by Gustav Schenck gives a picture of the whole area of anthropology and genetics and insight into the results of recent important discoveries. There are also descriptions of paleolithic rock paintings, man's first attempts to make tools, the influence on his development of climate and environment, the laws of genetics and inheritance, and the probable blind alleys in which some early races were lost. Finally, the author speculates on how man with his great and perhaps over-developed brain may fare in the future.

NATO, THE ENTANGLING ALLIANCE: by Robert Endicott Osgood. Since its creation in 1949, NATO has been the outstanding political instrument of American security, but the extensive military and political collaboration it demands is a source of trouble as well as of strength. The author is concerned primarily with the military-strategic sources of NATO's troubles. But military strategy has become, he holds, far more than "the science and art of fighting battles." He believes that a major strategic revision of NATO is necessary, that the United States must be the instigator, and that the Europeans must assume a larger responsibility in plans and decisions.

Latest Word

Marine Corps officers can now wear the same type of brown plastic buttons on their service uniforms that enlisted men wear.

A recent change to uniform regulations authorizes the plastic buttons instead of the bronze metal buttons on male officer winter and summer service uniforms and on Woman Marines' winter service uniforms.

Bronze metal buttons can be worn until they need to be replaced.

If You Ask Me:

HOW DID YOU SPEND
LABOR DAY WEEKEND?

PFC JOYCE MARIE ANDERSON, WM Company— Since this was my first weekend at Camp Lejeune I spent most of my time unpacking and getting to know some of the girls. They are all very helpful and always willing to give one a hand with anything. I also visited the beach and went on a tour of the base. I think it is very pretty here and I know I'm going to be very happy to be a part of it.

CPL. RONALD L. HART, Headquarters, 2d FAG— I spent Labor Day weekend on the base and caught up on a lot of sleep. Friday night I watched the Camp Lejeune Inter-Squad football game. The team looked pretty good and should be ready by the time the season begins. I had an excellent steak dinner at the steak house Monday. I played a round of golf and went to the NCO Club. It wasn't an exciting weekend but a safe one.

PFC BOBBI DORN, WM Company— It was nice having an extra day this weekend to spend anyway I pleased. Most of the time I spent at the Water Skiing Regatta. Being able to participate in the Regatta made my weekend even more enjoyable. Luckily I placed second in the women's division of the Slalom course race. Since I enjoy water sports, I was glad for this extra day, for the season will be ending shortly.

PVT. SANDRA DOORES, WM Company— My weekend was exciting mainly because I didn't know whether I would last through it. Another Woman Marine and myself had taken a twenty day leave to California. Our trip back began with a twenty hour wait at March AFB in Riverside, Calif. before we got a hop going east. On its way to Pittsburgh, Pa. it stopped at Lincoln, Neb.

Pittsburgh, Pa., it stopped at Lincoln, Neb., and Milwaukee, Wis. We ran car in Pittsburgh and drove down Greensboro, N. C., and from there took a bus to Camp Lejeune. The weekend was spent recuperating the trip.

SSGT. LEON P. LEBLOND, Base Lab— I stayed at home and enjoyed very quiet weekend. My mother-in-law was down from Maine and believe it or not I still had a pleasant weekend. There were no worries about getting wrecked on the highway. I just stayed around the house and relaxed. My oldest boy, Randy, went to Cherry Point and competed in the archery test. He also had a hound dog given him so he built a pen for it. They five children, and my wife and I tinkered on a few things that need doing on.

School Bells Recall

OUCH!—Young Ronnie Likens begins the school year in his own way by playfully yanking Martha Jo Whalley's pigtails in Miss Brenda Cole's second grade class at Stone Street.

GETTING ACQUAINTED—Miss Louise Green, affectionately called "Mama Green" by many of her pupils, makes friends with Teresa Ann Durrance as her mother double-checks Teresa's registration.

SCHOOL'S OPEN—Portable school crossing signs will be placed around Camp school zones by military policemen during the 1962-63 school year. Motorists are urged to heed the speed limits in these areas when students are coming to and from schools.

153 Teachers Aready S Educate Evergrow

Readin, Rittin, 'n' Rithmetick... Yes, the three R's are echoing throughout the Camp Lejeune schools once again as the 1962-63 school year began Tuesday for approximately 3,700 children, surpassing last year's attendance by 400.

Students flocked back amid shouts of joy at seeing old friends, some made new ones the first day. Others were a little sad at the thought of another school year of hard work but all were eager and anxious to get started.

Some, getting their first taste of the "Golden Rule," were amazed and bewildered at what they saw. But before long they will be "old hands" and forget their fears and wonderment of what school is all about.

On hand to meet the ever-growing number of students and the inexhaustible appetites for education were 153 well-trained teachers specially selected for their keen interest in, and knowledge of, child growth and development. They are constantly on the alert to new developments in materials, methods and changes in our society.

Later in the school term, additional teachers are expected to join the Camp School Faculty, to allow the entire staff sufficient time to work with the individual students according to their needs.

Parents and teachers are eligible and encouraged to join the association of their child's school.

Objectives of the Parent-Teachers Association are:

- To promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community.

- To raise the standards of home life.

- To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.

- To bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child.

- To develop between educators and the general public such united efforts that will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.

Devilpups Open Grid Season Friday Against Aycock High

Once again it's that time of the year to exercise the vocal chords and release all the pent-up emotion as the Camp Lejeune High School Devilpups kick off their 1962 gridiron campaign by traveling to Pikeville to take on Charles Aycock High tomorrow evening.

Head coach Tom McGhee, starting his seventh season with the football Devilpups, remains optimistic about the future of the squad as they try to surpass last year's 9-1 season record.

Although 19 returning lettermen, including eight regulars, form the nucleus of the Devilpup eleven, the team's chances for another championship season appear dim to McGhee. The head coach stated that this year's squad will be hurting in the interior line, and much of its success will depend upon boys who are 'long on heart but short on vital experience.'

Last year's Lejeune Devilpups, although losing only one game, went undefeated in the now-defunct Waterway Conference, and walked off with championship honors. In addition to team laurels, nine individuals were selected to the All-Waterway Conference first team, an honor which would have been hard to surpass this year if the league was still in existence.

Backfield Strong

The backfield should prove to be the strong point for the 'Pups. Returning lettermen are flashy quarterback Jim Barrett, fullback Randy Fridley, and halfbacks Ned Paulson, Rick Lowder and Al Kyle.

Backing up the five returnees in the Devilpup backfield are newcomers Robbie Curtis and Mickey Fridley. Curtis, according to the coach, is blessed with a good pair of hands and will be utilized a great deal in passing plays, while Mickey Fridley will back up his brother Randy at the fullback slot.

Utilizing Split-T

McGhee plans to run the team from a split-T offense and will rely heavily on the field leadership of experienced Jim Barrett, not only an excellent passer but a strong runner also.

On the receiving end of Barrett's tosses will be Dan Paetow and Warren Smith. Paetow, a 6-foot-5, 210-lb. senior, is the tallest man on the squad and is considered by McGhee as an excellent pass receiver. Smith will be used on both offense and defense this season.

Line Weak

The line, from tackle to tackle, is considered the big weakness and is small and slow afoot. McGhee is hopeful that returnees can clear up this cloudy picture before the game tomorrow night.

Fighting for the two tackle slots are John Winn, Taylor Wagenseil, John McKeon, and Jim Horn. Guards will be Ron Dunkleburger, Bob Collier and Ted Dominique. The center slot is the bright spot in the line with 140-lb. mite Cary Ward returning for his second season, with a newcomer, Buddy McAlle backing him up.

Injuries Hurt Chances

Early season injuries to key players may cause the Devilpups plenty of hardship as the season progresses. Nine men are currently on the injured list, six of whom are considered top prospects. Injuries, however are slight with fullback Randy Fridley, sustaining some pulled ligaments in his shoulder, the most serious. He should be ready before the start of tomorrow's contest.

The team has scheduled nine games for the season, five on the road and four at home.

Season Schedule

Ladies Needed For Area Bowling Loops

The secretary of Jacksonville's Women's Bowling Association has extended an invitation to all newcomers to join the bowling activities in and around the Jacksonville area.

Bowling leagues for ladies are now being formed at Bowlerena Lanes, Air Facility Lanes and at Paradise Point Lanes with a wide choice of morning, afternoon, or evening schedules.

Ladies desiring more information concerning bowling activities may call Noma Burnette at 346-6743.

A meeting to organize a Thursday Night League has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 8, at the Bowlerena Lanes. Starting time for the meeting is 1 p.m. Anyone interested in joining this league is cordially invited to attend.

The San Diego Leathernecks and the Pensacola Navy Goshawks face each other once again this year in the Leatherneck Bowl in California. Last year, Pensacola won the Bowl with a 21-15 score.

Baseball Season Completed

Baseball segment of the East Coast Interservice has been completed and although the final and statistics have not been released by the headquarters at Fort Monmouth, from this side it appears as if the Lejeune Marines once again second.

Second-place spot in the standings seems to be getting popular for Lejeune varsity sports in the conference three sport programs offered by the ECIC during year of operation, the Lejeune Marines have had a record of finishing in the runner-up slot twice and in once.

Second Is Better Than None

ne, this record might seem good considering that the Marines were the only Marine team representative sporting activities sponsored by the confederico did not field a baseball team, and should be a champion against a record such as Fort Monmouth through the year, never finishing above fifth conference.

say that second place is better than the bottom p. If these people want to be connected with the t, it's all right with me. As for myself, and many sure, I'd rather be with the winning team. I know would.

They Did Try

ne Leathernecks on the field, whether it be the court, baseball diamond, or the football field, trying every minute for a victory and a chance to us a winner. Sometimes, as inevitable as taxes, they were beaten, but they never gave up hope. ed right back off the ground to hit just as hard l before their setback.

en participation in the ECIC, the Lejeune Marines a fantastic 8-1 record on the gridiron, after being a sure fifth or sixth place finisher by conference the Marines went out to show them and to show us ad what it takes to become a champion.

Poor Planning Hurts

se of a poorly planned schedule for the initial the ECIC, the Lejeune Marines were forced to d billing in the conference behind Fort Eustis. In ere forced into that position even before the first nt downfield.

d our two cents to the matter, we didn't think it ricket for one team to have a half-game edge best game is even played, which is what the whole e down to in the final analysis. Eustis, with one o on their schedule, had to lose two ball games to ed out of contention, while Lejeune and our om the North, Quantico, faced going through the defeated before one or the other could get clear e title.

st hope that the same type of schedule does not in this year.

Tokyo by TV

is a strong possibility that the American neo- able to watch the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo, it in their own living room, if talks are success-has been negotiating with the United States on lity of world-wide coverage for the event if the are able to utilize this country's Telstar, and e good.

resent Telstar, orbiting the earth, does not have ong enough to transmit a television program from he United States but with progress, the United e sending bigger and more powerful transmit- and this possibility may become a reality.

Sand Trap Slashers Consistently Hinder Paradise Pt. Golfers

Although golf is not much of a spectator sport, for years it has always been one of United States' most popular participating sports designed for both exercise and relaxation.

At Lejeune's Paradise Point courses, professional and duffer alike play the two Point courses over and over again to the tune of 14,000 trips around the fairways annually.

Do the courses show the wear and tear of such constant pounding of feet and clubs? In some places. But expert care by the maintenance crews, plus a little help from every golfer, can keep the courses in their championship condition.

One of the main gripes among regular players is the 'sand trap slasher'. This is the guy who, caught in the sand trap, blasts a giant mound of sand from the pit and then leaves the hole he made untouched.

Along comes Charley Do-Good, enjoying a pleasant day on the golf course until his ball lands in the hole left by the notorious 'slasher'. It will take Charley a year and a day to drive out of the trap and after that he might as well head for the clubhouse because his score is ruined.

A little time and consideration on the part of the 'Slasher' would have made it a happier day for poor Charley. Alongside each sand trap is a rake, placed there for the express purpose of raking the trap area where holes are made.

Base Order 1710.10 pertaining to Regulations for the Camp Lejeune Golf Courses states, "All tracks, prints, and marks in sand traps must be smoothed down. Rakes will be provided for this purpose at each trap."

Make a round of golf as enjoyable for all Charley Do-Goods as you would wish for yourself. Follow the regulations contained in that order.

The hours of play at the Paradise Point Golf Courses are Tuesday through Sunday, 8 a.m. until darkness.

Duck Hunting Season Set For October

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has granted the periods from Oct. 12 through Dec. 30 and from Oct. 1, 1962 to Jan. 30, 1963 as duck and geese hunting seasons respectively, in the Atlantic Flyway, of which North Carolina is a part.

For the duck hunter, North Carolina offers the choice of a 40 day hunting season with a bag and possession limit of three and six daily, or a 50 day season with a two duck daily bag limit and four in possession. The state may also chose a split season which would result in a 10 percent reduction of hunting days.

For geese hunters the state Wildlife Commission can select 60 days, consecutive or split, with a daily bag of two and a total of four in possession.

In order to hunt duck or geese, the North Carolina hunter must purchase a Federal stamp at a cost of $3.00, over and above the actual cost of the regular license.

Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset during the hunting season. There are two exceptions however, on Sunday when there is no hunting allowed and on the first day of the season when firing begins at noon.

Dove hunting season in North Carolina opens Sept. 8. There will be a $2.00 fee for a season hunting permit. These permits, as well as regulations, may be picked up at Bldg. 37, during normal working hours on Sept. 7.

Mast Is Given

LCpl. Antonine J. Berube received a letter of appreciation and congratulations recently from Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, commanding general, Force Troops.

Berube's citation read in part, "It is with extreme pleasure that official recognition be awarded you for your outstanding performance of duty while processing incoming personnel to Force Troops."

"You willingly and cheerfully worked many hours day and night through the weekend to process the incoming personnel from two returning overseas drafts. You endorsed orders, directed the personnel to the proper billeting area and arranged for transportation to the new units without any outside aid."

"Your display of unusual initiative, professional ability and devotion to duty are to be highly commended. Your conduct and application of professional skill and knowledge is in keeping with the high standards and traditions of the Marine Corps."

The letter will become a permanent part of Berube's service records.

Hubbard Receives Advisory Certificate

Sgt. Melvin S. Hubbard, Jr., of Eighth Motor Transport Bn., was awarded The Career Advisory Achievement Certificate from the Commandant of the Marine Corps by Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, commanding general, Force Troops.

Sgt. Grainger Gets Mast For Leadership

Sgt. Ralph Grainger, of 8th Engr. Bn., Force Troops, was congratulated and presented with a citation by his battalion commander, Lt. Col. J. A. Harper, after being awarded a Meritorious Mast.

The citation read in part: "During the period Feb. 15 to June 13, 1962, you demonstrated outstanding leadership and attention to duty while a member of the Engineer Equipment Mechanics Class, Engineer School, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune. Your attention to duty, high degree of discipline, and judgement resulted in your being the honor graduate of a class of 18 students."

This exemplary performance of duty and initiative demonstrated by you has set an example of responsibility, devotion, and discipline for all. Your splendid efforts reflect the highest credit upon you and your unit."

Sgt. Hubbard, who is currently attending the Marine Corps School of Leadership, Indian Head, Md., said he believes in the Marine Corps as a profession as I do then it is not just a job."

Captain Samuel J. Hays, Jr., 1st Continental Marine, was appointed under the resolution of the Marine Corps as president of the Commandant of Corps.

Although he may have many numbers of extensions, the small station has offered him equal to his counterparts in units and the personnel results prove he met in an outstanding manner worthy of this award.

Girls League Honored At 'Party Time'

Peg Vegass, manager of the Tarawa Terrace Girls' Softball League, called "time out" after a busy season Saturday, August 25, for a party at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center to award certificates and trophies to the coaches and members of the team.

Marcelle Boulanger, Marian Chapman, Bobbi Grant and Jean Tuck laid their softball bats and gloves down to accept certificates for the "most valuable player" of their respective teams; Blue Devils, Black Panthers, Green Dragons and Red Dogs.

Selected as the "best sport" of these teams were: Nancy Arndt, Pam Wulk, Pat McLaughlin and Ruth Cowart.

Batting the highest average of the season was Marcelle Boulanger of the Blue Devils with a .786. Irene Neris, of the Green Dragons, was next with .718. How does that compare, baseball fans, with Mickey Mantle's .317 average of last year?

Coaches for the winning team of the season, the Green Dragons, were MSgt. and Mrs. Clyde M. McLaughlin. They had a 9-3 record. The Black Panthers were next with a 7-6, coached by GySgt. and Mrs. Bruce Morris. Third on the list were the Blue Devils under the guidance of MGySgt. and Mrs. Sidney Boulanger with a 6-7 record. And sliding into home with a 3-9 were the Red Dogs under the direction of Mrs. Bobbi StPierre.

Also receiving certificates were GySgt. John Burton, scorekeeper and SSgt. Larry Washer, umpire.

The season began shortly after the end of the school year and ended August 10. Team members included girls from Tarawa Terrace, Paradise Point and Capehart.

GREEN DRAGONS—MSgt. and Mrs. Clyde H. McLaughlin, coaches for the Green Dragons, winners of the Tarawa Terrace Girls' Softball League, hand certificates to Bobbi Grant, center, selected "most valuable player," and Pat McLaughlin, right, "best sport." ## Household Hints

If a spot is hard to remove, saturate a cloth with cleaning fluid and hold it firmly against the area. This often loosens the particles better than rubbing.

PANTOMIME CLUB

Registration for the Tarawa Terrace Pre-teen Pantomime Club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 11 from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Tarawa Terrace Community Building. It is free to all youngsters between the ages of five and twelve. Members are taught pantomiming and dancing. For further information contact HMI Milton Ortiz at 346-8860.

GLOBE Admits 'Goof' And 'Tries, Tries Again'

A few weeks ago this dedicated society reporter ran a story listing the eight groups of the Officers' Wives' Club with the good intention of helping the new wives "know which group they will be in and who to contact." Instead she got a little mixed up and as a result more wives got acquainted and contacted than was planned.

Following is a list of the correct groups with the correct chairmen and correct phone numbers (she hopes). The wives whose husbands are in the organizations listed will call that particular group's hospitality chairman.

Group I — Mrs. S. M. Kelly, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6234. Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps Base, 1st Infantry Training Regiment, U. S. Naval Hospital, Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory, Base Dental and Base Dispensary.

Group II — Mrs. J. F. Conlon, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6213. Headquarters Second Force Service Regiment, Material Supply and Maintenance Battalion, Headquarters and Service Battalion, Automatic Supply and Distribution Battalion, Base Materiel Battalion, Rifle Range Detachment, Marine Corps Engineer and Supply School.

Group III — Mrs. E. D. Foxworth, membership chairman, base ext. 6-6195. Headquarters Second Marine Division, Headquarters Battalion, Second Marine Division, Second Reconnaissance Battalion and Second Medical Battalion.

Group IV — Mrs. W. J. Skvaril, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6397. Headquarters Company and the First, Second and Third Battalion of the Second Marine Regiment, Second Service Battalion, Second Motor Transport Battalion and Second Dental Company.

Group V — Mrs. J. W. Davis, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6217. Headquarters Company and the First, Second and Third Battalion of the Sixth Marine Regiment and Second Anti-Tank Battalion.

Group VI — Mrs. E. L. Dickson, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6819. Headquarters Company and the First, Second and Third Battalions of the Eighth Marine Regiment and the Second Pioneer Battalion.

Group VII — Mrs. W. A. Weston, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6568. Headquarters Company and the First, Second and Third Battalions of the Tenth Marine Regiment.

Group VIII — Mrs. B. L. Plache, hospitality chairman, base ext. 6-6405. Headquarters and Headquarters Company Force Troops, Second Amphibian Tractor Battalion, Eighth Communication Battalion, Second Tank Battalion, Second Field Artillery Group, Second ANGLICO, Eighth Motor Transport, Second Composite Radio Company and Second Force Reconnaissance Company.

Artillery Unit Plots Mortars With Radar

When air and ground intelligence teams are hampered by conditions and Marines are on the receiving end of enemy mortars, what answer can be given the Commander who asks, "Where are the rounds coming from?"

Hardly before the impact of the first few rounds are heard, the Marine Corps' Radar Counter Artillery Unit has electronically recorded on paper, the height, range and azimuth of enemy rounds in flight. Locating the area of the mortar emplacements is a simple matter of human extrapolation or plotting.

Operating one of the most technical pieces of electronics equipment in the Marine Corps is Cpl. Paul L. Malone of Regimental Headquarters Battery, 10th Marines.

A recent graduate of the Field Artillery Radar Operators School at Fort Sill, Okla., Malone is one of the four man crew needed to operate the Radar unit which is composed of a generator, the RD54 recorder, a remote control unit and a tracker mount.

A generator is the power source for the unit. The RD54 recorder automatically records on paper the distance, elevation and direction from which the round was fired.

The remote control unit is not only the eyes of the unit but also the brain, for it acts as liaison between the tracker mount, which follows the projectile in flight, and the RD54 recorder that extrapolates or plots the information.

Malone remarked that he has hopes of attending the Fire Direction Center School at Fort Sill sometime in the future.

Marines Rebuild Home For Orphans In Santo Domingo

Volunteers of the 6th Marine Expeditionary Unit will be long remembered by the people of Santo Domingo, capital city of the Dominican Republic for the way they spent their liberty hours there.

The Marines, mostly aboard the USS Boxer, repaired a children's orphanage that had been destroyed by unknown vandals.

Learning of the orphanage upon their arrival in Santo Domingo, the Marines rebuilt the house's frame, installed neon lights, reset plumbing, and poured concrete floors for bathroom facilities. Linens, towels and medical supplies were contributed by personnel of the USS Boxer.

The home, "Casa de la Providencia" (Home of Providence), houses eight children and two nurses. It also serves as a school for some 50 children of the immediate area. Its most important function though, is giving medical aid to an undeterminable number of Dominican people.

American Ambassador Martin wrote to the Secretary of the Navy, saying in part: "The individual conduct of the sailors and Marines won us many friends, and a special Civic Action Project—300 Marines voluntarily spent two days in the tropical heat rebuilding an orphanage, Casa de la Providencia—won us many hearts."

Commanding officer of the 6th MEU, Col. Edwin G. Winstead, also praised the volunteers. He said, "I believe the work of these Marines will be long remembered by the people of Santo Domingo. Much was done to cement the feelings of goodwill between the peoples of the Dominican Republic and the United States."

TV Show Nets Division Man More Than $2,000

How would you like to earn $70.00 a minute?

Pfc George J. Siciliano, a member of the 2d Marine Division Drum and Bugle Corps, did it and liked it fine.

Siciliano appeared on the television show "The Price Is Right" and received more than $2000.00 in cash and prizes for his half-hour appearance.

The young Marine won a set of lawn furniture valued at $1,124.04 and was also given a bonus award of $920.00.

Pfc Siciliano was home on leave after completing Field Music School at Parris Island, and as part of his birthday celebration he decided to take his fiancée, Miss Virginia Licato, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to see a TV show. He went to Rockefeller Plaza to see what show he could get tickets for, and got them for "The Price Is Right."

"When I picked up the tickets, the thought of appearing on the show was the farthest thing from my mind," he said. "When I got home," he continued, "I told Virginia the name of the show and she got excited about it. She said she would like to compete on the show."

While in the show's audience, they were told that if anyone wanted to appear on the show that night they should remain in their seats after the daytime show had concluded.

"I wasn't interested in staying, but Virginia was, so we stayed. However, she didn't get chosen, I did," he said.

There were 50 persons chosen from the audience. Eighteen of these were interviewed and three of that number were chosen to appear on the evening show.

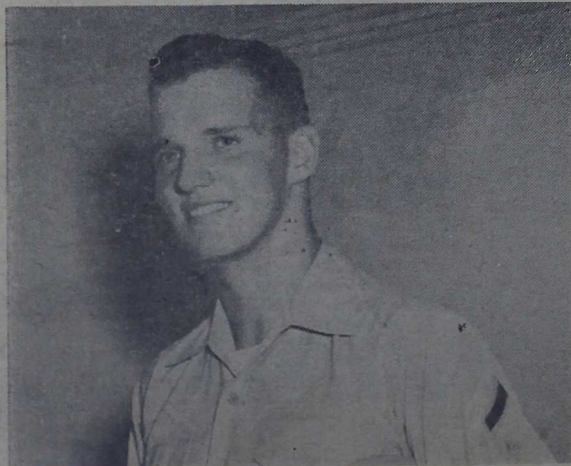

"I was told to return that evening at 6:30 p.m. When I did, I was taken to a suite of rooms at the Empire Hotel, right next to the Colonial Theater, where the show is televised. There I was introduced to the other contestants and the show's Master of Ceremonies, Don Scott."

"The first item was a mink jacket, which was worth in the neighborhood of $5,000. It was won by one of the other contestants. The second item was the lawn furniture, which I won. I bid $950.00 for it, which was the closest bid without going over the actual value. One of the other contestants bid $750.00, and the others bid over the price."

After Siciliano had won the lawn furniture he was also given a bonus award.

"My bonus prize was a real dandy. I had to talk for one minute on 'What I Intended To Do On My Honeymoon.' For this they gave me $20 a word for each un-repeated word I said during the allotted one minute."

When he had finished talking, Siciliano had collected $920 bringing his total earnings to $2,040.04.
