Barefooted Marine Leaps To Limelight

First Lt. Bob Gardner joined the ranks of the world's greatest high jumpers last Tuesday afternoon when he officially cleared seven feet at the Tennessee AAU Olympic Development Meet in Nashville.

Only seven others have cleared this height since Charlie Dumas, jumping for Compton Junior College, first performed the feat, clearing 7 feet, 1/4 inch, in the Los Angeles Coliseum at the Olympic Trials Games in 1956.

Other seven-footers are John Thomas of Boston University, who holds the present American record at 7 feet, 3/4 inches, Joe Faust and Bobby Avant, both of the University of Southern California, and Russians Robert Shavlakadze, Yuri Stepinov and Valery Brumel, holder of the world's record at 7-feet-4.

At Nashville, Gardner showed up at the meet after driving 17 hours and arriving at 3 a.m.

"I felt in fairly good condition, he said, "except that I was a bit tired after driving all night."

He started jumping at about 2 p.m. and by the time that the last man in competition, Ralph Boston, dropped out at a height of 6-feet-7, Gardner was just about warmed up.

"When Boston dropped out, I asked the track officials to move the bar up one inch at a time so that I could get in a few more jumps before trying seven feet," Gardner remarked.

Without a miss, Gardner climbed to 6 feet, 11 inches, and then asked officials for the move to seven feet.

"On my first jump at seven feet," the former St. Johns University star said, "I got off to a bad start and just missed clearing the bar."

In 90 degree heat, the lanky Lejeune athlete joined the elite circle of 7-footers on his second attempt, and also established a new meet record clearing the 7-foot mark.

After the official re-measurement, Gardner tried to clear 7-feet-2, but failed three times.

The record jump also earned Gardner the meet's outstanding performance award.

Vieques Citizens Praise Marines For Giving Blood

A group of 2d Division Marines took to heart President Kennedy's good will "People to People Program" during Lant-PhibEx 1-62.

Their token of friendship for the program was their blood—given to the San Lucas Episcopal Hospital in Ponce, Puerto Rico.

Maj. Ralph E. Brandel, executive officer of the 2d Pioneer Bn., and commanding officer of troops aboard the USS Ashland (LSD-1) during the exercise, and Maj. James A. Horn, 2d Service Bn., on their way to church one Sunday, learned that the Ponce hospital had a continuing need for whole blood.

Major Horn contacted Doctor Womble, formerly a Camp Lejeune Naval Hospital medical officer, now chief surgeon and resident administrator of San Lucas Hospital, and arranged for the donors' visit.

In coordination with Major Brandel, Marines of the 2d Pioneer Bn., 2d Service Bn., and Marine Air Support Squadron One (MASS-1), donated not only a whole week's supply of blood, but a half day of their liberty to their highly commendable cause.

In addition to Doctor Womble's profound gratitude for the donations, the hospital prepared an excellent "brunch" for the donors.

Drive Under Quota At Half-Way Mark

The Navy Relief Fund Drive reached the halfway mark this week 63 per cent short of its $50,000 goal.

Force Troops leads all commands with 69 per cent, two-tenths of a percentage point above Marine Corps Air Facility. Marine Corps Base is in third place with 47.1 per cent.

Returns from Division units were incomplete this week due to so many units being away from Camp Lejeune.

The 2d Field Artillery Group was the first regimental sized unit to exceed its goal with 105.6 per cent. Leading single unit in the Quad-Command is the Navy Medical Field Research Laboratory, Marine Corps Base, with 160 per cent.

"A" Company, 8th Motor Transport Battalion, Force Troops, has reached 200 per cent of its quota. Sub Unit No. 1, H&MS-26, leads the Air Facility with 150 per cent. MACS-8 trails with 104.6 per cent.

President Sends BLT 3-9 To Thailand

TROOPS ON THE MOVE — Newsmap shows the military situation in Southeast Asia after President Kennedy ordered U. S. troops to land in Thailand at the request of the Thai government. Marines with the Navy's Seventh Fleet in the area were ready to move when the President ordered approximately 1,800 to land at Bangkok. This force, beefed up by some 1,000 Army personnel already in Thailand, will protect the nation from the threat of Communist forces advancing in Laos. Another 1,200 Army troops and about 1,000 tactical air and support personnel will arrive later. This is the first time U. S. troops have been ordered ashore in such a maneuver since the Lebanon landings in 1958. Shaded areas on the map are Communist-held.

Part Of U. S. Military Assistance Command

President Kennedy has ordered additional U. S. military forces to Thailand in view of the Communist Pathet Lao invasions in neighboring Laos. This action follows joint consultation between the United States and Royal Thai government on the deteriorating situation in southeast Asia, which is ed in the Thai government inviting U. S. forces onto its home soil.

It is estimated that 5,000 Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps men comprise the newly established U. S. Military Assistance Command, Thailand, headed by Gen. Paul D. Harkins. Of these, approximately 1,800 Marines have landed in Thailand to join 1,000 Army troops already present from an earlier SEATO maneuver. The Marines landed shortly after the President's decision was made.

Later, another 1,200 Army troops will land followed by tactical Force and logistical support, expected to total about 1,800.

The troops and the 1,800 U. S. Army battle unit have moved up to Thailand's northern border with Laos.

President Kennedy in his statement said: "The dispatch of U. S. forces to Thailand was considered desirable because of the attacks in Laos by Communist forces, and the subsequent movement of Communist military toward a border of Thailand."

Pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces have invaded northern Laos, breaking the uneasy truce agreement, and have reached Thailand's border.

Citing the United Nations Charter, the President said, "I am sure that this is a defensive action on the part of the United States wholly consistent with the United Nations Charter which specifically recognizes that nations have an inherent right to take such measures for self defense."

"In the spirit of the Charter, I have directed that the Secretary of Defense be authorized to inform the actions that are being taken," said Mr. Kennedy.

The President then said: "There is no change in our policy toward Laos, which continues to be the re-establishment of an effective cease-fire and prompt negotiations for a government of national union."

This is the first time since 1958 landings in Lebanon that U. S. troops have been ordered ashore in this type of maneuver.

Units of the Navy's Seventh Fleet had been enroute to Thailand carrying the Marine landing force.

The Marine unit is the 3d Battalion of the 9th Marines, a part of the 3d Marine Division. It is commanded by Lt. Col. Harold W. Ames.

Valley Forge carries Marine helicopter Squadron 261, commanded by Lt. Col. Fred A. Steele.

The Marine Attack Squadron 332, commanded by Col. Harvey M. Patton. This squadron, with A4D Skyhawk aircraft was deployed from the Philippines. It is a unit of the 1st Marine Wing.

Laotian History Shows Many Past Invasions

Somewhat larger than the state of Idaho, Laos presently represents the chief trouble spot of southeast Asia.

Trouble, however, isn't anything new to the Laotians. Laos has been invaded by practically everyone including Tibetans, Mongols, Javanese, Annamites, Indians, Chinese, French, Khmers and now communists. The Laotians have in time always gotten rid of their invaders.

The Laotian villages consist of thatched cottages on stilts in palm and banana groves.

The country's 80,000 square miles are inhabited by 2 million people, predominantly of the Buddhist religion.

The town of Vientiane serves as the capital.

The principal race is the Thai. The main crop is rice. Before Communist trouble began, life in Laos was slow and sleepy. The working day was short and the siesta was long.

Laos in ancient times was called Lang Xang, "land of a million elephants." Now it may be more aptly called "land of a million communists."

2d FSR's Drill Team Is Not Marking Time

Armed Forces Day, the public was treated to a demonstration of precision drill by the 2d Force Service Regiment drill team. Included in the drill team's manual of arms and drill were many original movements plus some that have been adopted from the world famous drill team of Marine Barracks, 8th and Eye, Washington, D. C.

The drill team was formed in November, 1961, by Col. A. J. House, commander of 2d FSR.

It is composed of 26 enlisted men and one officer. The officer in charge is 1st Lt. L. R. Jamison. Drill Master is Sgt. R. Rodgers, who maintains the sharp appearance of the men and conducts practice.

"The Drill team has served as an inspiration and morale booster to the men of 2d FSR. We have worked hard to maintain high standards of perfection and we will continue to work hard to achieve greater heights," commented Sergeant Rodgers.

Practice for the team is held two or three days a week and each session is from one to two hours long.

The drill team uses the M-1 rifle to perform the manual of arms because many of the maneuvers in the manual cannot be performed with the new M-16 rifle.

Attire for the team is the tropical uniform with white harracks covers, white gloves and white belts.

Men for the drill team are selected from the Industrial Area Guard. Basis of selection is appearance and military bearing.

No Room For Guest Says Kure Skipper

In recent weeks, Marine spending the weekend in the Carolina Beach area have been requesting accommodations at the Fort Fisher Air Force Station at Kure Beach. According to Major Bernard F. USAF, CO of the 107th Aircraft Control & Warning Squadron, no billeting facilities are available.

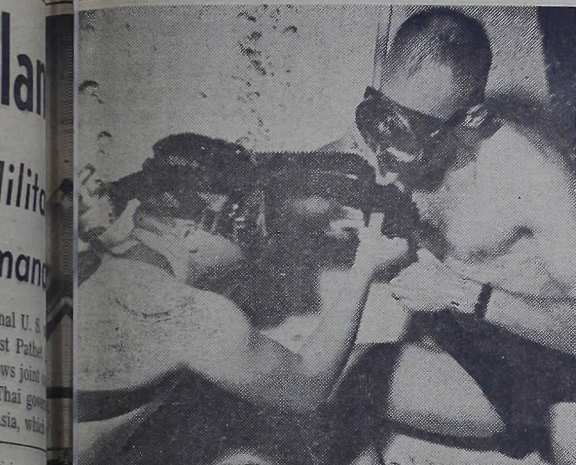

The Air Station has no house facilities and Air Force members on temporary duty to the command must stay ashore.

Marines and their families spending weekends in the area are requested to make other arrangements for housing.

ATTENTION—Smartness of dress and military bearing are two requirements for the members of the 2d FSR precision drill team. Armed Forces Day the public was treated to one of the drill team's infrequent public appearances on the Camp Lejeune parade ground.

Telephones, But Protection Against Fire Ant

A two-tone red fire ant blisters like a bee and has been re-gain this year at Camp Lejeune. Several colonies of "imported" fire ant have been found at Midway Park and Tarawa.

Fire ants are almost as large as the regular red ant and live in mound mounds which range in size from that of a baseball to a wash tub.

The sting of the fire ant has been described as being as painful as a cigarette being touched to one's skin. The sting will result in a distinct blister which lasts two or three weeks and leaves a scar similar to a chicken scar.

Persons susceptible to fire ant bites may become highly nauseated and require medical attention. Strong stings could produce fatal results.

Base Medical Officer, Capt. D. Humphries, USN, said the ants should be packed around the sting immediately to keep the poison from spreading and that the sting should be taken to a doctor.

On discovering fire ants, report to Base Maintenance Control Section, phone 7-1000, the U. S. Department of Agriculture can be notified. The Base is responsible for controlling and eliminating this pest.

Portuguese CNO Tours Lejeune Area

The highest ranking officer in the Portuguese Navy, Vice Adm. Joaquim de Sousa Uva, made a one-day tour of the 2d Marine Division Wednesday.

He was met by Maj. Gen. F. L. Wieseman, commanding general of the 2d Division; Brig. Gen. L. W. Walt, and members of the division staff.

An honor guard from Company "A", 1st Bn., 6th Marines rendered honors to Admiral Uva, who was accompanied by three officers of the Portuguese Navy.

Following a 19-gun salute in his honor, Admiral Uva, accompanied by General Wieseman, inspected troops and witnessed a review held on the landing strip.

The Admiral and his party made a brief tour of the Air Facility and viewed a static display of helicopters set up by Marine Aircraft Group 26.

After lunch the Admiral and his staff were flown by helicopter to a remote area of Camp Lejeune where they got a look at a Marine rifle squad in action. Troops from the 2d Bn., 2d Marines, demonstrated the Marine Corps' concept of anti-guerrilla operations.

Following a short briefing, Admiral Uva saw a firing demonstration conducted by the 2d Marines.

Prior to his visit to Camp Lejeune, the Admiral visited various ports and installations along the East Coast.

Top Photographer Receives Citation

A Marine who has photographed queens, kings, presidents and commandants received a letter of commendation here last week for pictures he took of Marines. Gysgt. John Babyack, a veteran combat photographer whose pictures of the Korean conflict received nationwide publication, was commended for outstanding photographic coverage of the 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn.

The letter of appreciation presented by Maj. R. B. Ingrand, CO, Headquarters Co., Force Troops, was initiated by Lt. Col. J. P. Treadwell, CO of the 2d AmTrac Bn.

Signed by Brig. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, Commanding General, Force Troops, Atlantic, the letter cited Babyack " . . . for photographic support rendered to 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn. during the past year as most exceptional."

The letter continued by stating: "Gunnery Sergeant Babyack has, on numerous occasions during this period, utilizing his own transportation, traveled great distances, and worked long, hard hours at a great inconvenience to himself, to provide excellent photographic support and news coverage many times on short notice and always with a professionalism and keen interest which was noted with admiration by all of the Marines of the 2d Amphibian Tractor Bn., with whom he was associated."

Babyack, NCOIC of the Force Troops Informational Services Section, has covered stories for Force Troops in Vieques, P. R., missile launchings at night, the President's visit, the commandant's visit, static displays, and has performed many other jobs.

During his tour with the Corps, the 31-year-old gunnery sergeant has photographed Commandants C. B. Cates, Lemuel C. Sheppard Jr., Randolph McC. Pate, and David M. Shoup, President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower.

Other well-known persons photographed by Babyack include General Mark Clark, Queen Elizabeth of England, Shah of Iran, General Douglas MacArthur and President of the Korean Republic, Syngman Rhee.

Elementary Schools Hold Athletic Meet

More than 400 fifth and sixth graders from the three Camp Lejeune elementary schools participated in the second annual track and field meet at Brewster School May 17.

The field meet was held under what many spectators termed ideal weather. And as a result many of last years "records" were shattered.

Schools represented at the meet were Brewster Elementary school,

Stone Street Elementary school and the Tarawa Terrace Elementary school.

Included in the days activities were eight track and field events. They were 75 yard dash, running broad jump, 200 yard dash, basketball shooting contest, tug o' war, high jump, standing broad jump, and a baseball throw.

Ribbons were awarded to individuals who placed first, second or third in the events.

These Men Must Not Have Died In Vain

On May 30 Americans across the nation and throughout the world will gather to do honor to those brave men of arms whose courage and determination in the course of our nation's young history have made the United States of America the hope of those to whom freedom means life.

The world called for giants in the Revolution, the War of 1812, the internal struggle of the war between the states, in World Wars I and II, and in that bitter land called Korea. And always those Americans to whom the very air they breathed was freedom, responded.

On Memorial Day, May 30, 1962, take pride in the thought that for every grave marked by an American flag freedom has gained in strength. Yet the fight is not won and the world need for men to carry on the task of extending freedom to all mankind is greater than ever before.

The soldiers and sailors, airmen and Marines whom we honor on Memorial Day committed us to that task when they gave their lives in freedom's name. We can no longer be concerned solely with what happens at Camp Lejeune or in the United States. What happens in Berlin, the Congo, South America, and Southeast Asia affects each of us who claims to be free.

We have been committed to the world by our heritage and as Marines, committed actively.

The landing of 1,800 Marines in Thailand to bolster the strength of some 1,000 U. S. troops already in that country on maneuvers will be welcomed by the seven nations that, with the United States, make up the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. They will no less applaud the formation of a U. S. Military Assistance Command in Thailand which was announced by Secretary of Defense McNamara following President Kennedy's decision in his words, "to help insure the territorial integrity of this peaceful country."

For Thailand, a SEATO member, is our friend and a bastion of freedom in a part of the world where the Communist cancer is showing fresh malignancy. One of her borders faces troubled little Laos, racked again by fighting since the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces of Prince Souphanouvong broke the cease-fire. That violation, as the President noted, made the dispatch of the Marines and Army and Air Force units desirable.

That we honor our defense commitments to the nations of the Free World who are our allies will not surprise them. Berlin is fresh in memory, and the issues there are far from settled. The new Thailand Command is a reaffirmation of the spirit of the Manila Conference that created SEATO almost eight years ago. It is Free World backing up our pledge on paper. And, as the President also noted, it is "wholly consistent with the United Nations Charter which specifically recognizes that nations have an inherent right to take collective measures for self defense."

Such a show of strength as the President has decided up is, then, the best answer to the Asian Communists who hope to gain by tenuous nibbles what they cannot have in a single slashing bite. "A threat to Thailand is of grave concern to the United States," said the President, and the Marines who landed at Bangkok were personifications, each and every man, of our commitment. (AFPS).

If You Ask Me:

IF YOU HAD YOUR CHOICE OF SCHOOLS IN THE SERVICE, WHICH WOULD YOU CHOOSE?

PFC LINDA KELLY, WM Company — If I had my choice of schools in the Marine Corps, I would pick N C O Leadership School. I would like to go to this school because it teaches one a lot about drill instruction and also leadership. Since drill is my favorite subject I would choose this school so I could become more efficient in drill. It would also help a great deal in my future plans of being a drill instructor.

LCPL WILLIAM J. GALIK, Hq. Co., 8th Engr. Bn.—If I had my choice of schools in the Marine Corps I would choose the Drafting School at Fort Belvoir. The Marine Corps offers many various types of schools and courses which will enable the Marine to become more proficient in his MOS. If the Marine is interested in his job and plans to continue in his present field, he should try to get all the knowledge and training that he can. School training will help open up new fields to the individual and better his chances for promotion.

PVT. KARL E. HOHENSEE, Hq. Bn., 10th Mar.—Aviation school would be my choice. I've four years of experience in aviation. I entered the Right now I'm in operations section, attended FDC for two weeks. I feel that I could fit the Marine Corps more by using previous experience plus the knowledge I could pick school at Memphis, Tenn. This could be a 16-week affair.

HM3 DELMAR L. KARNES, USN—S. have already attended the Class "A" Class "C" Navy Schools. I haven't thought much about attending another anytime soon, but if and when I get the chance, I think I would choose X-ray school on the west coast. To most people radiology seems to be a very dry and boring subject, but to me it is fascinating.

PFC FREDERICK MAIELLO, H&M, 1st Bn., 6th Mar.—I have been in the Marine Corps for years and in my opinion if I had the chance to go to school I would pick Electronics because it is one of the largest fields of study, and in this age just about everything is dependent upon electricity. I think that if more had the opportunity to go to school, there would be a much larger reenlistment.

Library News

By LOUISE ROWE

These books are available at the Central Library, Bldg. 63, or through request from area branches at Montford Point, Courthouse Bay, and Rifle Range. Books may be reserved by telephone.

THE MEDAL, by Frank Donovan. The story of the Medal of Honor, established by Congress in 1862, and the daring exploits of some of the nation's bravest men which have won them the country's highest military award from the Civil War through the war in Korea—deeds of "personal bravery or self-sacrifice above and beyond the call of duty while a member of the armed forces in actual combat with an enemy of the nation."

NIGHT DROP, by S. L. A. Marshall. The candid, graphic account of what actually happened in those hours before dawn on June 6, 1944, when the American 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions, led by Matthew Ridgeway, Maxwell D. Taylor and James Gavin and others dropped in Normandy behind Utah Beach. It is one of the great stories of World War II, told very often in the words of participating officers and men.

THE NARROW MARGIN, by Derek Dempster and Derek Wood. A detailed and documented account of the Battle of Britain, examining the dramatic development of the RAF and the Luftwaffe, and the intelligence, radar and radio systems that played such an important part in the course of the battle. Each phase of the Battle of Britain is covered as it developed.

SCOUNDREL'S BRIGADE, by Carter A. Vaughan. Hugh Spender, former lieutenant in the King's Light Dragoons, duped by counterfeiters, is imprisoned in Newgate and sentenced to indentured service in the American colonies. Escaping his Tory master, he joins the American army. When the increase in counterfeit money greatly weakens morale and threatens the American cause, Spender, chosen to head an intelligence unit to discover the counterfeiters, employs the tactic "set a thief to catch a thief." A vivid tale of intrigue, danger and romance behind both American and Tory lines.

NAVY DIVER, by Joseph S. Karneke. A deep-sea diver's reminiscences of 20 years' experience in salvage work and undersea adventures with the U. S. Navy. He tells about working on sunken wrecks at Pearl Harbor, fighting off sharks in the South Pacific, studying atom-bomb effects at Bikini. He gives an interesting and readable account of underwater specialists at work in war and peace, from World War II to the Korean War.

Chaplain's Corner

Coleman Cox tells this story: "A long time I have been preaching the truth that we get out of life just what we put into it. A neighbor of mine made this statement several times and one day took me to task as follows:

"Say, Cox, tell me how you are going to collect from these little sparrows and robins and wild canaries I see feeding every morning?"

"Well," I replied, "I don't know or where or when, but you can rest assured I will be paid in full, all right."

"He just laughed and went on. A few mornings later he stopped an admiring the roses in our garden, all of a sudden he discovered there were no bugs on our bushes, and right he wanted to know what kind of we used, declaring the bugs were doing every plant he had. I told him I had never used a spray, and explained to him in this fashion:

"You see, we have a hundred or more birds breakfast with us every morning and they sing us a song or two but do not seem to feel that their song pay enough for what we do for them and in wanting to do more, they have undertaken the job of freeing our of insects, that they may not destroy as they have yours. It always works away. We get out of life just what we into it."

Have you ever had any doubts why some people don't get much out of life? Have you ever wondered why people get so much out of church while others get so little? If you read this story again.

—Robert L. Trett, Chaplain, Hq. Bn., 2d MA

ALL-MARINE HOPEFULS—Bowlers from the Air Facility completed local competition for the All-Marine Bowling Championships last week, and their scores have been forwarded to Headquarters Marine Corps in Washington, D. C. Sgt. Raymond D. Hamil, second from left, took first place awards in all three categories. Due to a local rule, only one trophy was presented to any one person. Others are Capt. Charles F. Bogg, left, LCpl. Robert A. Pollack and 2d Lt. Barkley Calkins, right. (Photo by Cpl. J. L. Thompson)

What Happens Next?

Now that Bob Gardner, Division's ace high jumper, has surpassed seven feet, what is in line for this potential world champion? Can he go higher? Gardner claims that he can but he also mentions that he must have stiffer competition if he is going to challenge the national or world's record.

"If I get a chance to compete against someone who can supply a little competition, I'll go higher," the lanky lieutenant stated.

A week ago, Gardner had hoped to jump on the West Coast against Bobby Avant, Joe Faust and other top members of the high jumping set. Unable to attend the meet, Gardner jumped at a much smaller meet in Tennessee. At that meet, he became the eighth man in the history of the sport to clear seven feet.

His Second Time

His seven-foot jump at the Tennessee AAU Olympic Development meet was actually the second time he has cleared that height. The first time, at the Philadelphia Athletic Club Games in May of 1961, he cleared the seven-foot barrier on his fourth try, which made the jump unofficial according to AAU rules. He won the event at that meet with a leap of 6 feet, 11 inches.

Gardner also expressed hopes to compete at the West Coast Relays last Saturday but again he was in the East and competed in another small meet, the Raleigh AAU games. He won that event, although he only jumped 6-8, which is below par for him. The reason for his sub-par performance was an aggravated blister on his right foot.

Looking For World's Record

Besides wanting to jump against stiffer competition, which he believes will get him nearer a world's record, Gardner wants to jump from a rubberized asphalt starting track. That kind of track allows much more spring to the feet and would permit him to get better results. All West Coast stadiums have the rubberized starting tracks.

From The Beginning

It was a long climb up the ladder to the seven-foot notch for the 6-foot-3 athlete from Sea Cliff, L. I. As a high school senior, he jumped 6-foot-1, just enough to earn him a scholarship to St. Johns University in Hillerest, L. I.

In 1957, Gardner cleared 6 feet 9½ inches to win at the World's Track and Field Championships at Helsinki. He also placed second in the Pan American Games that same year with a leap of 6'8½".

Gardner, who jumps with no shoe on his right foot, missed qualifying for the 1960 Olympics because, as he says, "I messed up."

Concerning the missing shoe, he remarked, "I don't want to take a chance on the shoe catching the turf as I kick up my right foot to go over the bar."

Misses at 7-2

After clearing seven feet at the Tennessee meet, he tried but missed in three attempts to make 7-feet-2.

"I put some tape on my foot after I jumped seven feet and it was too tight," he remarked later. "It cut the circulation off in my foot and that didn't help any."

Can Go Higher

Lt. Bob Gardner has pushed himself into the elite circle of seven-foot jumpers to become the eighth member of that group. To go higher, all that is required is the opportunity to compete against men like John Thomas, Bobby Avant, and Joe Faust. He is only four inches away from the world's record now, and with the proper training and competition, there is no doubt that he can come much closer to that 7 foot 4 inch mark set by Russia's Valery Brumel.

Meade Enters ECIC; Field Now At Nine

The U. S. Army base at Fort Meade, Md., has been accepted into the East Coast Interservice Conference and will field their first team for the 1962-63 basketball season.

The entrance of Meade at the semi-annual meeting of the conference at Fort Dix last month boosted the conference membership to nine teams.

Other posts in the league besides Lejeune and Meade are Fort Lee, Va.; Fort Dix, N. J.; MCS, Quantico; Fort Belvoir, Va.; Fort Eustis, Va.; Fort Monmouth, N. J.; and Fort Devens, Mass.

Also discussed at the meeting was a proposal for a track meet for the latter part of June 1963. This proposal was also accepted but the exact date and place has not been set but a limit of 25 members per team was suggested. Further information will be given as soon as it is received.

Midway Sox Ready For Softball Season

The Midway Park Sox are at it again. Once more they are making themselves known on the local softball scenes as they prepare for the forthcoming softball league of Lejeune housing units.

For the past two seasons, the Sox have garnered the team championship and are looking ahead to their third consecutive title.

The team has compiled a 3-1 record so far during the practice season.

A big team effort was displayed last Sunday as the Sox downed 2d Tank Bn., 3-2.

Tanks were considered to be one of the strongest softball teams in the area prior to Sunday's game, but due to fine hurling performances by Roy Marclas and John Enderly, Tanks were limited to just two hits.

Any organization interested in challenging the Sox are invited to contact Sgt. Longe at 06-423, MCAF.

LITTLE MEN WITH BIG BATS—Second baseman Curt Salyer and Chick McClellan, two of the newest additions to the top sluggers list, belted homers against Devens last week and looking for a repeat performance Monday night when the take on Fort Dix in the first of a three game series.

Varsity Nine Meets Fort In Crucial Three-Game

Rolling along to their best season in recent years, the Lejeune baseball team takes on another rough opponent, Fort Dix, when they return home next Monday to Harry Agganis Field.

Monday's game will be the first of a three game series with the Burros and game time is 7:30 p.m.

Dix, like all representatives in the baseball segment of the ECIC, has built its team from pro ball players activated during the recent Reserve call-up.

One of the biggest setbacks for the Burros was the loss of three starting pitchers recently included Baltimore Oriole baby John Papa. All three received transfer orders.

With what is left, Burr Tom Arciniega has formed a classy club. Arciniega, besides his duties as coach, also carries the team. He joined the team last year and helped them bid for the First Army Championship.

Prior to coming to Dix, he led the Fort Benning team to berth in the Third Army game. He also played pro ball for Fort, N. D., in the Pittsburgh rate farm chain.

The biggest Burro threat in the infield is Chuck Forte, versatile athlete at Dix for years. He took charge of shortstop position last year and is under contract with York Mets.

With the loss of Papa, the team relies on Jack Tupper, president of the team, to lead the team. Tupper, a veteran three years' pro ball, played Shreveport in the South Atlantic last year.

The Local Nine

It's a toss-up as to who the opener for Lejeune, the Andy Anderson will have to choose from when making choice. All of the Lejeune will have had four days rest before game time Monday.

Gifted with the recent of home run hitters in the lineup, Lejeune is looked the most dangerous team in ECIC. In their last home against Devens, the local belted nine homers, Chick McClellan's inside blast last Saturday night.

The biggest bat is still Lejeune's first baseman, Lejeune will be looking for home runs Monday as he moves to the record, which stands at 14.

THE BIGGEST BAT—Lejeune's first baseman, Hat Norton, will be gunning for his sixth homer of the season as he moves closer in pursuit of the Harry Agganis Field home run record which still stands at 14. Norton will have a big opportunity beginning Monday evening against the powerful Fort Dix Burros.

Varsity Knocks Off Devens Three Straight Contests

Lejeune varsity baseball team. In the conference opener, the Lejeune Marines trounced the Fort Lee Travellers, 13-2, but suffered their only defeat in conference play the following night, losing to Lee, 2-1.

In last Friday night's game, three home runs supplied by Hal Norton, Rusty Gates and Joe Dunn provided the main punch as the Lejeune Marines downed Fort Devens, 9-4 at Harry Agganis Field.

Lejeune righthander, Vic Johnson went all the way for the locals posting his third win of the year. In the first, Devens looked as though they had the game in the bag as they scored two runs without getting a hit.

Their lead was short lived however, as Wayne Whitmore walked for the locals and Hal Norton tallied with his fifth home run of the year, a 340 foot blast over the left field wall, to tie the score at 2 all.

The score remained deadlocked until the last of the sixth when the locals started to move away. After Dunn lined to right, Johnson walked. He moved to second on a single by Wayne Whitmore and was moved along one more base by a walk to Curt Salyer which loaded the bases. With Norton batting, a wild pitch scored Johnson and after Norton fouled out, Gates promptly hit a 3-2 pitch over the right field wall to score three more Lejeune runs and the locals moved out in front 6-2.

Devens was nowhere in sight after that and Joe Dunn added the final touches in the Lejeune eighth with a homer scoring Bill Garrett ahead of him to end the scoring for both sides.

In other games over the weekend the Lejeune nine took two more away from Devens, 13-7 on Saturday night and 13-12 in the Sunday afternoon matinee.

The locals have an overall record of 20-3 and are 6-1 in conference play. Besides losing to Fort Lee, the Lejeune varsity has dropped decisions to the University of Baltimore and on opening day to the University of North Carolina.

EASY OUT—Lejeune's Joe Dunn moves down the first base line but is just a little late as Devens' first baseman, Toby Williams, takes the throw from short for the out. Later in the game, Dunn cracked a 330-foot homer and scored Billy Garrett ahead of him to score Lejeune's last two runs of the game in the eighth. (Photo by Pvt. E. J. O'Neill)

DINING PARTY—A group of well wishers gather around home to welcome Rusty Gates as he crosses the plate after blasting a home run, three-run homer against the Ft. Devens Hornets last night. ## Marital Clinic Starts In June

The Base Chaplain's Office has announced the scheduling of a series of pre-marriage conferences open to all personnel in the Quad-Command. Separate conferences will be held for Protestants and Catholics.

Father Valens Kieffer will conduct the series for the Catholics. The first meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., May 31, in the Conference Room of Bldg. 1. Eight meetings are planned in the series.

Statistics prove that every year 700,000 men and women who once presented their undying love to each other enter divorce courts and tell the judge, "It was all a mistake." The conference instructors will deal with problems and responsibilities of marriage. Their goal is to eliminate misunderstandings and "mistakes" before they begin.

The problem areas discussed will be the medical aspects of marriage, morality and marriage, the marriage contract, legal and financial aspects, the duties of parents and family life in the military.

Mail Bag Yields Happy Letters From Children

Youngsters from the Montford Point Elementary School who were "inspected" by Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley during the Marine Corps Supply School annual inspection, put their reactions into letters.

"We enjoyed watching General Berkeley inspect the troops. We hope everyone passed. Thank you for letting us come."

"I like your inspection. I saw a helicopter and some men. Were your rifles clean? Thank you for letting us watch your program. General Berkeley came over to see us too. We enjoyed seeing the men march."

"We saw rifles, flags and cars. I saw four troops, and one of them marched. General Berkeley was there to see if the rifles were clean."

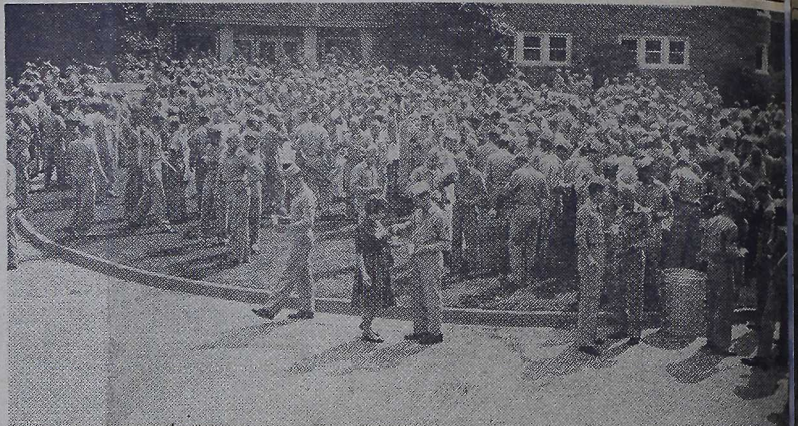

Mrs. L. James, principal of the Montford Point School, asked permission of MCSS commander, Col. R. Quigley, for the children to watch the inspection.

The youngsters "fell in" in class formation and were visited in turn by General Berkeley when the regular inspection was over.

(Editor's Note: The troops "passed.")

Corps Nets 226 Years From FT's Career Day

"...The quotas were only one aspect," remarked MSgt. John Doyle, Force Troops Career Advisory NCO as he commented on the effects and results of the "Career Day" presentation held last week by Force Troops.

"There are many policies, programs and opportunities open to each and every Marine, but unfortunately, relatively few of them have the opportunity to familiarize themselves with them all. Then too, there are many ways a Marine can get behind the eight-ball — financially and otherwise. There are many tricks of the trade by which they can avoid these pitfalls — but again, they are widely known. The Marine Career Day really sat up notice. The response to information presented has been tremendous."

This, generally, is the result of the presentation held by all personnel with the Career Advisory Office. The presentation had had when Marines stormed the presentation in an apparent effort to be with the mostest in extensions and reenlistment facilities were available for to agree to extend on Two Force Troops Marine first to ship over for two available duty stations sworn in before the auction over 1500.

Within 55 hours, Marines committed themselves for 226 additional years of Marine Corps. During week, the Informational Office has joined Force Troops Career Advisory to provide an office space for interviewing the steady stream of Marines interested in duty station, and family finance. The Marines have brought wives along for a chat with Career Advisors.

"All in all, the presentation has had a long-lasting reaching effect on the careers of many Force Troops Marines," added MSgt. Doyle.

Only a short time remains the remaining quotas to — among them, Japan, Hawaii, Fallbrook, Calif., Island, Calif., Seal Beach, Vallejo, Calif., Brooklyn, Philadelphia Naval Base and San Antonio, Va.

Dhooge, Bennoit, New N.R.O.T.C. Instructors

Speak of officers and commissions and before long, the conversation will probably swing around to one of the service academies. Long on tradition and high on quality, they stand as the basis of officer programs throughout the armed forces.

However, of the many commissioning programs available to the prospective officer, the academies constitute only a small percentage.

One of these is the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps Program — commonly referred to as NROTC. Administered as a regular part of the college curriculum, NROTC allows students attending member colleges and universities to pursue work in preparation for careers in the Naval service without interrupting their training in regular academic subjects. The instructor staff consists of regular members of the officer and enlisted ranks of the Navy and Marine Corps. Drawing on their knowledge, background, and personal experience, these men are dedicated to the task of preparing their charges for the job of leading others.

Among those most recently selected for duty as NROTC course instructors are MSgt. G. Dhooge of 8th Comm Bn., and SSgt. R. A. Bennoit, 2d Force Recon Co. MSgt. Dhooge received orders to Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, and is now enroute to his new duty assignment.

SSgt. Bennoit is presently preparing to leave for Providence, R. I., where he will teach basic military science, weapons and drill at Brown University.

During their tour, they themselves will have the opportunity to take advantage of college off-duty and night courses.

"We all can't recruit physically," commented SSgt. Bennoit, "but we can recruit by example, and this is a tremendous chance to do just that."
