Leathernecks Very Impressive In Spectacular Beach Assault

The President of the United States, no stranger to Marines assaulting beaches, was startled into a spontaneous statement of admiration as 8,000 Marines stormed Onslow beach in a demonstration of amphibious power Saturday.

"Terrific," said Mr. Kennedy as the assault groups plowed through high surf and raced yelling-wet into the sand dunes.

At his side were the Commandant of the Marine Corps and the Shah of Iran as well as representatives of 45 allied nations and top Washington political and military figures.

As the Commandant pointed out the phases of the assault, other prominent visitors, such as Vice President Johnson, said they were "impressed" by the precision and spirit of the 2d Division and Force Troops Marines.

Major General F. L. Wieseman, who commanded the as sault, spoke briefly with the President and accepted his congratulations for the Marines involved.

The landing was a unique experience for the Shah of Iran whose country is landlocked.

The Navy-Marine Corps team demonstration was the second military show presented to the President since he took office. He earlier watched members of the Army's 82d Airborne Division at Fort Bragg.

Many Nations View Landing

High-ranking officials from 45 countries were among the dignitaries who watched 2d Division and Force Troops Marines storm ashore in the dramatic demonstration of American amphibious might Saturday.

Representatives of practically every friendly nation were special guests of President Kennedy during the Navy-Marine Corps show. In addition to the allied diplomatic observers, scores of prominent American political and military figures were present. According to one newspaper report, "The roll call for top brass, civilian and military — attending the big show included just about all of Washington's biggest names."

A presidential aide said it was "the heaviest concentration of top government officialdom outside Washington since the President took office."

Most of the visitors came armed with cameras.

Locally, prominent North Carolina figures were also present. Former North Carolina Governor, Luther Hodges, presently Secretary of Commerce, was prominent among the Tar Heel officials.

PROUD TRADITION of the Marines throughout history who have carried the flag to the enemy, these 2d Division Marines charged through heavy surf to their Commander-in-Chief the finest fighting force in the world. The unidentified rifleman in the beach assault received the congratulations of their President as well as the Commandant and all Marines in the Quad-Command for a job "Well Done."

MSGT. JOSEPH JUNKINS

NCO Starts Nineteenth Tour Of Duty Overseas

"I think that I owe the Marine Corps quite a bit—more than I can ever repay." This statement was recently voiced by MSgt. Joseph L. Junkins, first sergeant of "B" Co., 8th Engineer Bn., who will make his 19th trip outside of the continental U. S., when he goes to Vieques, Puerto Rico, this month. This will be his fifth trip south with the Engineers.

Family Expert Will Lecture Here Apr. 27

Dr. Paul Popenoe, Sc.D., noted authority on family relations and marriage counseling, will give two lectures at the Protestant Chapel, Friday, April 27. These are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Topics will be: "Growing Up Emotionally" and "The Changing Family in a Changing World."

Dr. Popenoe is the founder and President Emeritus of the American Institute of Family Relations, Los Angeles, Calif., which is a non-profit organization founded in 1930 as the national educational center for all measures strengthening marriage and family life.

He was educated at Occidental College and Stanford University and spent three years in newspaper work, and two years as an agriculture explorer. He has served as editor of the JOURNAL OF HEREDITY in Washington, D. C.; on the staff of the Surgeon General of the Army during World War I; as executive secretary of the American Social Hygiene Association in New York City; as secretary and director of research of the Human Betterment Foundation of Pasadena, Calif.; and lecturer in biology at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Popenoe has written more than a dozen books.

During recent years he has devoted much of his time to the promotion of education for marriage and family life in the schools and colleges of America. He has lectured at nearly 200 colleges and universities and has taught special courses at summer sessions in a number of institutions, including five years at Teachers College, Columbia University.

The 50-year-old first sergeant has served the United States for more than three decades as a serviceman.

He enlisted in the Naval Reserve at the age of 19 in 1930 and was called to active duty at the outbreak of World War II, as a Boatswain's Mate Second Class instructing in small boat navigation and seamanship at his first duty station, Trinidad, British West Indies.

During the latter part of the war, the South Boston native was transferred to Camp Davis, R. I., for training as a salvage diver.

After WW II, Junkins returned to civilian life as maintenance supervisor of veterans' housing in Lynn, Mass. Three years later, he joined the Marine Corps Reserve.

When the Korean Conflict erupted in 1950, he volunteered for active duty and was assigned duty with the Engineers here, and at that time decided to make a career of the Marine Corps.

To back up his statement about wanting to stay in the Corps, he reenlisted for six years April 1, 1962.

Since he has been stationed at Camp Lejeune, he has taken advantage of some of the fringe benefits a Marine is offered and is presently enrolled in a Spanish course at East Carolina College. "The education I've received and am still getting, I owe to the Corps," he says, "and with the aid of my wife, who's Spanish, I've been able to maintain an 'A' average in my studies."

During his visits to the British West Indies, Hawaii, the Philippines, parts of Europe, Japan, China, France, Spain, Italy, Algeria, Greece, North Africa and Sicily, the sergeant has met many Marines and formed points of view about Marines and the Corps of today.

About young Marines, Junkins has this to say: "They're just as good and just as ready as the Marines of two decades ago."

Girl Scouts Send Clothes To Storm Site

Two HUS-1 helicopters of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-162 flew along the shore of North Carolina northward to the town of Kill Devil Hills. The helicopters piloted by LtCol. Reinhardt Leu, Commanding Officer of HMM-162, and Maj. Anthony Edwards, Executive Officer of HMM-162 landed in a nearby field with clothes for the storm-stricken people.

When the choppers landed they were greeted by Chief Boatswain's Mate John E. Finn. Chief Finn is in charge of the local Coast Guard Station. The two crew chiefs, SSgt's John Bruce and Dennis J. Marable helped unload the planes. Also there to greet them was Mr. Charles T. Griffen. Mr. Griffen, who owns and operates the Outer Banks Trading Post, was in charge of distributing the clothes to the needy families.

The clothes were collected from residents at the MCAF by the MCAF girl scouts. Mrs. Jane Aaglan and Mrs. Barbara Tessman packaged the clothes which the girl scouts collected.

N. C. Prison System Needs Security Dogs

The North Carolina State Prison Department in Raleigh is looking for German Shepherd and Doberman Pinscher dogs to be used in the Prison System's Security Dog Program.

Because of breeding requirements extending over a two to three year period, and the immediate need of the Department, the call has gone out to private dog owners.

It has often been found that a number of people own animals of this kind that have become too large for their children or too vicious to handle.

People who own either type of dog and who would like to donate them to the prison system may phone, collect, Maj. Hugh A. Logan, Jr., Superintendent, Odom Prison 500, Route 1, Box 36, Jackson, N. C. The dogs will be picked up.

CAR WASH

The senior class of Camp Lejeune High School will sponsor a car wash Saturday, April 21 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Paradise Point outdoor theater parking lot. Price for the car wash and cleaning of the inside is $1.00. All proceeds will be used for the Senior class trip to New York April 26.

Deadline Set On Option Act Applications

Military personnel on active duty desiring to take advantage of the Uniform Contingency Option Act must apply for it before the end of their 18th year of service or have three years remaining on active duty.

The option act allows for military personnel to set aside a portion of their retirement pay each month to provide their widow or children with a monthly income should they die following retirement.

Cost Factors

The cost of the annuities is relatively small and it costs nothing until retirement. Deductions are made monthly from the individual's retirement pay according to the option plan selected; the individual's age upon retirement; the ages of his wife and minor children and whether or not he has been retired because of disability.

The amount of annuity available for the wife or children is one-half, one-quarter, or one-eighth of the reduced retirement pay.

Example

If retirement pay is scheduled to be $200 monthly and the deduction for the one-half survivors benefit comes to $25, the net retired pay would be $175; the survivors benefit payable to the widow or children would be $87.50; one-half of the $175.

For further information contact the Base Education Office, telephone 7-5121 or 7-5572.

FSR Adds Dental Health To Military Subjects List

The curriculum of the 2d Force Service Regiment's General Military Subjects School has been expanded to include a course in dental health. A survey of dental health among the personnel stationed at Camp Lejeune prompted the inauguration of the new course. FSR's compulsory attendance to the one-week school made it ideal for the trial method of mass indoctrination in oral hygiene. All personnel E-6 and below attend the school averaging approximately sixty men per class.

The course is composed of lectures on proper care of the teeth and gums; demonstrations on the correct way to brush teeth; and color slides showing the different dental diseases. Brochures containing detailed dental health information are passed out to encourage individual study. The emphasis of the course is placed on proven measures for prevention and control of dental disease, both in the field and garrison.

Following completion of the course each class is transported to Base Dental for a checkup and subsequent appointments if needed. Officers and personnel E-7 and above receive the same indoctrination and checkup when they report for their annual physical examinations.

An outgrowth of the new course has been the establishing of a Dental Health Bar in the training area. The Bar is equipped with water, paper cups, dental floss, stimulents and tooth brushes. Correct usage of the various items is described in a series of enlarged photographs tacked to a backboard at the Bar.

In commenting on the new course, Lt. Col. J. R. Haynes, Regimental Executive Officer, said, "This preventive dentistry program inaugurated with 2d FSR has certainly proven its worth and will eradicate dental problems of combat Marines."

Automobile Accidents Head Danger List For Servicemen

According to a survey made by the Office of Industrial Relations, more servicemen are killed or seriously injured as a result of motor vehicle accidents than from any other cause. The Industrial Relations Office derived their findings from a six-month survey conducted from April 1, 1961, to Sept. 30, 1961. Resulting statistics were presented in the April issue of the Navy Department's Safety Review.

The six-month period listed 1,750 accidents involving sailors or Marines as drivers of automobiles, off duty, in which some persons or persons were killed or injured badly enough to result in a loss of work hours.

Seven hundred and ninety-five of the total number of recorded accidents occurred during periods of liberty of less than one day. Fatigue is not ruled out although the time element would allow for servicemen to be somewhere within close proximity of the base. One important factor is bared, however; driving in the dark as opposed to the daylight is not as singularly significant a factor in the cause of accidents as older surveys have led safety officials to believe. Four out of ten of the accidents occurred during the daylight hours!

The accident curve snakes up and down as more time is allowed for driving. In the category of those with liberty from 24 to 48 hours, only eleven percent of the total accidents occurred, almost fifty percent of which were during daylight hours.

Accidents involving servicemen on leave over three days presented a surprising picture. Two-thirds occurred around the base or at their destination. Twice as many accidents occurred during daylight.

The ratio of accidents occurring during daylight as opposed to dark stood at a glaring two to one. Forty-seven of the accidents happened while traveling away from the base and 23 enroute to the base.

Ceremonies at the Marine Barracks will be held every Friday at 9 p.m. from May 25 to Oct. 5. Participating in the colorful military ceremony will be the United States Marine Band with the Drum and Bugle Corps and precision drill units in full-dress uniform. The event normally lasts about one hour.

Navy Relief Deserves Help Of All Marines

Philosophers say that money does not bring happiness, but the work of the Navy Relief Society at Camp Lejeune proves that it comes in very handy sometimes.

While it's true that facts and figures cannot record the feelings of those who have had to prevail upon this unique organization for aid in the past year, they can shed light on the sum total of the Society's workings.

We know that the Society provides financial aid to meet the necessities—not desires—of people who are, so to speak, in a "bind." But financial assistance does not curb the functions of the nearly 60-year-old Navy Relief Society.

To have an understanding of the person-to-person aid the Society provides, we would fare best by looking at a case history. The story is true and on record with the Camp Lejeune Navy Relief Society.

Marine Pvt. "Y" received orders transferring him to duty overseas. He had his wife and family living here but no funds for their transportation home.

A loan was made to the Marine, to be repaid by an allotment of $10 a month. The Marine left the office greatly relieved to know that his family would be taken care of while he was transferred.

Just as this Marine experienced anxious moments over a financial problem, other Marines have problems and often seek the experience of the Society's volunteer workers to solve them.

Two hundred ninety-six women volunteers of the Camp Lejeune Society spent 16,703 hours last year counseling 4,695 individuals of which no two had the same problem.

At Camp Lejeune there are only six paid professional workers hired by the Society. Two of them are registered nurses. Last year the ladies made 6,038 calls and taught seven series of pre-natal classes at no charge.

The others are: "Bookkeeper, cashier, typist and executive secretary, who preside endless hours over the activities and also trains volunteers for working.

Adding to the financial assistance, the counseling and the nurses' work all the volunteer work the Wives Clubs aboard the bases do, such as putting together layettes for more than 300 families last year, results in a lot more than money tied up in the Society's program.

Granted, money isn't everything, but to the 2,034 persons who received $103,244.45 in loans and gratuities from the Navy Relief Society, it's something.

It gives one a great feeling of satisfaction to be able to show appreciation for an organization such as Navy Relief by helping support it.

Chaplain's Corner

Is it a coincidence that Spring and Easter are practically synonymous? The coincidence is there because God planned it that way. In the Spring the death of winter is left behind and forgotten in the new outburst of life which is Spring. The renewal of life brings color and freshness far overshadowing the bleakness and lifelessness which is Winter. In a more true manner the resurrection of Christ from the dead is a symbol of victory over death. Death is despair and hopelessness. The Resurrection is hope and life. In the glory of the Resurrection is forgotten the sorrow of Good Friday. And in that glorious victory is found a new message of hope rising up and destroying despair.

This message of hope filters to all people regardless of how strong might be the wall or how tightly woven might be the curtain of bamboo or of iron. The barrier that can black out the hope of Christ's message has not and cannot be constructed. Men may be enslaved in body. Every effort might be made to wash from his mind all sense of rights or freedom; regardless of the apparent success of the methods of regulating thought and regimenting action, there always exists in the minds of men a little spark that waits to burst into intense flame when fanned by the breeze of hope.

It is our prayer that the message of hope personified in the Resurrection of Christ destroy all hopelessness or enslavement and encourage men with the thought that nothing is impossible to Him Who conquered death. The hope of eventual freedom and rebirth of human dignity clothed in the new spiritual life of Spring is our God-given guarantee. Of this man cannot be deprived.

—Francis W. Kelly,
Base Chaplain.

If You Ask Me:

WHAT DO YOU THINK PRO PAY?

CPL. MICHAEL J. CLARKE, Traffic Investigation Department—Pro pay has raised many questions, both pro and con, in regard to the advantages and disadvantages. However, I feel a Marine should be meritoriously promoted to the next higher rank if he has qualified for pro pay for three consecutive quarters. Many Marines are given pro pay because they cannot be promoted in their MOS; the field is overloaded in rank and so forth. Pro pay has been a great incentive and reward for the Marine who works hard at an assigned task and a greater incentive to work harder to retain such pay.

SGT. RICHARD P. BEAM, Force Troops—I feel that proficiency pay should be given to the top men in all fields and not to just a limited number as it is now. It would stimulate great competition in all fields and the big winner would be the Corps. One shouldn't have to be rewarded for top quality work but it causes more of us to put that little something-extra into our efforts.

HMCA J. W. ZEIGLER, Naval Hospital—There are many complaints concerning the pro pay program.

Personally, I like it. Although it tends to cause a little ill feeling among those shipmates not recommended for it, a program of this kind cannot satisfy everyone. I think the Navy program is more fair than the Marine program, for the Navy personnel have to pass a Fleetwide exam before being recommended.

HM K. L. KURTS, Naval Hospital—I think pro pay provides an incentive for career personnel, especially those personnel not advanced to the next highest rate due to quota limitations who are outstanding in their professional performance. I especially like the Navy's way of giving a competitive examination to those who qualify.

CPL. MARY McCARTY, Provost Marshal Office—I think pro pay is an excellent way of recognizing those people who have displayed proficiency in the skill and grade in which they are serving. In my opinion pro pay should not be limited to a certain number of people per company, but to as many as really deserve it, whether it be ten or one for each company.

'I Was Most Impressed'

PERSONAL CONGRATULATIONS—President Kennedy personally congratulated Maj. Gen. F. L. Wieseman, the 2d Division commander, for the demonstration put on by Division Marines. The President said the show was "terrific."

The President of the United States, the Shah of Iran, representatives of 45 countries and official Washington saw 8,000 Marines of the 2d Division and Force Troops put on a spectacular demonstration of modern amphibious striking power Saturday.

Mr. Kennedy's unofficial opinion was "terrific." Later he dispatched the following message: "I was most impressed by the skill, the enthusiasm and the fighting qualities demonstrated by the Navy and Marine forces I witnessed today. Please pass to all involved in these exercises my admiration for their performance and my appreciation for their contribution to the defense of their country."

The landings were preceded by a tour of a static display showing all equipment used by the Division and Force Troops support units. Four low-boy trailers, each equipped with a loudspeaker and bleachers, took the Presidential party members through the display.

The President was joined at Camp Lejeune by the Shah of Iran who is touring American military installations.

Frogmen from UDT-21

based at Norfolk opened the demonstration when they jumped from high-flying helicopters. A second group carried demolitions and destroyed underwater obstacles as they swam ashore from landing craft.

Planes from the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing began alternating bombing and strafing runs, 13 in all, while the Naval bombardment alternated to pound the beach.

The first two waves of troops were brought to shore in amtracs from the 2d AmTrac Battalion. Two BLTs landed abreast on the beach.

As the first wave of amtracs cleared the beach, helicopters from MAG-26 roared in to drop their combat Marines and supplies.

As soon as the demonstration ended, many of the Marines returned to their ships for the trip to Vieques and LANTPHIBEX 1/62.

That the demonstration was a success was reflected in the Commandant's message to all hands: "The demonstration of amphibious techniques and capabilities for the Commander in Chief and his guests was a masterpiece of mixing the exact proportions of expertly trained manpower, materiel and know-how by our famous Navy-Marine Corps team. I am sure the result was absolutely perfect for the highly important purpose for which intended. Congratulations and a 'Well Done' to all hands."

The Division commander echoed the words of all Marines who saw the demonstration: "You were tremendous today. I am so proud of you and so proud for you. Well Done."

SHAH OF IRAN, escorted by Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, the king of a land-locked country, considered the amphibious demonstration unique. The Shah is touring U. S. military installations and was a guest of the President during the Onslow Beach landing.

Lejeune Wins Third In Row After Losing Season Opener

After losing to the University of North Carolina on the road last week, 4-0, the "new look" Camp Lejeune Marines bounced back on their feet Monday evening at Harry Agganis Field by retaliating with a 5-4 victory over the North Carolina Tar Heels. The "new look" indicated by Head Coach Andy Anderson, is broken up with the return of only two members of last year's team. In Monday's game with the Chapel Hill College ball players, Lejeune went all the way down the line to pull the game out in the last of the ninth by scoring two runs without the benefit of a hit

All Marines Trying For Second Title

The final round of the U. S. Armed Forces Interservice Boxing Championships got underway last night in Norfolk, Va. Due to GLOBE deadline, the results of the final and semi-final rounds are not available and will be re-capped in next week's edition.

In the first round of elimination held last Monday evening five Marine fighters climbed into the ring with two emerging as winners.

In the 112-pound flyweight division, Bob Carmody of the U. S. Army, decisively won over Lejeune's Bob Palmeri.

The Marines' first victory came at the hands of Pendleton featherweight Charlie Brown, who is a four-time All-Marine champion. Brown, who defeated Fabian Suterlee of Camp Pendleton to win the All-Marine title, decisively won the All-Navy championship William O'Banion of Bethesda Naval Medical Center.

The only knockout of the opening day was posted by All-Marine light middleweight champion Roosevelt Sanders of Camp Pendleton over Dean Harrison of the U. S. Air Force in the second round.

In other fights of the opening round, Fred Lewis, the 178-pound Air Force champion, decisively won over Gilbert Tindley, from the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, and light middleweight All-Marine Charles Carter from El Toro was decisively won by the Air Force champion Quincy Daniels.

Umpire's Meeting

All personnel interested in umpiring during the 1962 softball season are requested to attend a meeting on Thursday, April 26 at 6:30 p.m., in the classroom of Bldg. 535, located on M Street in the Fifth Area. Heading this year's umpires are GySgt. Dave Petros of Division Special Services and MSgt. Herb Hale, who is the area representative of the American Softball Association of North Carolina.

to nip North Carolina 5-4. Going into the home half of the ninth, the local varsity was down 4-3. The tying run came across on a fielder's choice and the winning tally was forced home with a bases loaded walk.

The victory for Lejeune was their third during the regular season. They dropped their opener to UNC last Monday, 4-0 and since then have posted three straight.

Frank Wilhelm went the route to chalk up the victory although he was tagged for 11 scattered hits.

Left fielder, Stan Rogers was the only local batter to get two hits.

Slowly the Lejeune Marines are picking up some of the veterans from past seasons. During the past two weeks, four old faces have returned to Lejeune.

A 1958, '59 standout, Bill "Pappy" Harrington will be back on the mound again this year. While pitching here in 1959, Harrington had an 11-4 record.

Also arriving this past Monday was Dayton "Rusty" Gates. Gates, a native of Durham, N. C., just returned from a tour in Hawaii. In 1959, Gates was player-manager of Parris Island's team. A powerful left-handed batter, who usually fills an outfield slot returns to Lejeune for the first time since the early 1950's.

Curt Salyer, an assistant Lejeune coach in 1958 and 1959, will be available to fill any vacant spot in the infield. Salyer has six years experience playing in the Carolina League.

Another past Lejeune performer is utility man Billy Garrett, Garrett, a native of Thomasville, N. C., played with Hawaii this past season and was at Lejeune during 1954 through 1956.

In addition to veterans Alex Bright and Pappy Harrington, the Lejeune pitching staff includes Frank Wilhelm, Tom Mazzolini, Jim Goodrich, Larry Ritter, Vic Johnson and Chuck Davis.

Johnson just arrived from Parris Island last week and could be what Lejeune needs for a big season.

Southpaw Chuck Davis, a native of Alexandria, Va., could easily end up as Lejeune's number one starter this season. Davis who arrived from Quantico last week, holds an all-time pitching record for the U. S. Naval Academy. During his three varsity years, the stocky pitcher won 22 games and lost only one.

Boys League Kicks Off Season Opener With Gala Pre-Game Ceremony Saturday

The Camp Lejeune Boys' League will open its 1962 season Saturday morning with a formal ceremony and an almost full schedule of games beginning at 11 a.m. on the Boy's League Baseball diamonds located at the entrance of Tarawa Terrace No. 1.

Opening day ceremonies commence with music supplied by the 2d Division's Drum and Bugle Corps, under the direction of GySgt. William Closs.

Following an invocation delivered by LCDr G. M. Leonard, the Assistant Base Chaplain, Col. C. L. Granger will present the colors to the team captains.

The raising of colors to officially open the '62 season takes place at 11:25 a.m. and will be followed by a few words of encouragement to the players from Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley. General Berkeley will also throw out the first ball.

The league will be divided into three separate divisions according to ages. The youngest, the Minor League, includes all ball players between the ages of eight and 10. The Major League players age ranges from 11 to 12, while the oldest group, the Pony League's age group is from 13 to 15.

There are twenty-two teams represented in this year's competition which is an increase of two teams in each league from last year.

All but two teams are scheduled to open their season on Saturday. The two teams, the Angels and the Mets will take part in the opening day festivities but will not start their regular season until Monday evening at 4:30 p.m.

Games have been scheduled daily except Wednesday and Sunday with one game being played nightly in each league. On Saturday, each of the three divisions will schedule three games beginning at 11:00 a.m.

The season will run through the month of July with each team in the Minor and Major Leagues playing 21 games. The complete Pony League schedule is still being revised. Post season playoffs will determine the three championship teams.

"Registration will continue throughout the entire season" states Sgt. Maj. John Arney, the Boy's League President. "This will enable the dependents of Marines transferred to Lejeune, the opportunity to play ball although the regular season has already begun."

Approximately 440 dependent youngsters will be taking part in the season's activities. So that one team is not being given all the better players, Sgt. Maj. Arney, the other League officers and a select Board of Governors made the team selections, equally dividing the teams so that a more closer race for the championship might develop.

The Orioles of the Pony League, the Cubs of the Majors and the White Sox of the junior circuit are the defending champions in their respective leagues.

Relays Win Three Events At All Marine Track Meet

Lejeune's track quartet, consisting of miler Pete Close, high jumper Bob Gardner, Mel Schwarz, and recent addition Alex Breckenridge, put a scare into the track of the Marine Corps, Camp Pendleton and Quantico by capturing three first places in the All-Marine Track and Field Championships at Quantico's Butler Stadium. In total, to the three wins, the Lejeune team also had two second places to round out the victories. In total, the unofficial team score was 154.4.

In the second day of competition, Alex Breckenridge of Lejeune became a double winner in the All-Marine by taking the title in the 10,000 meter run. Although finishing second in the event with a time of 30 minutes, 47 seconds, Breckenridge, being the first Marine across the finish line, was awarded the All-Marine victory. The time of 30:47 bettered his old mark for the All-Marine competition by almost two minutes. The former Villanova star set the previous record in last year's race with a time of 32 minutes, 16.2 seconds.

Also in Friday's competition, Bob Gardner added the third first place by setting both the All-Marine and MCS Relay's mark in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 8 1/4 inches to up the previous standard of 6-7 1/2 he jumped in the 1959 All-Marine. Another strong Lejeune finish was registered by Mel Schwarz in the pole vault event on Saturday. Schwarz cleared 15 feet, 1 inch to place third behind Dave Tork of Camp Pendleton and John Belitz of the University of Maryland.

HIGH JUMP KING—Bob Gardner of the 10th Marines shows great form as he clears the cross-bar set at 6 feet, 8 1/4 inches, to win both the All-Marine and the Marine Corps Schools Relays' high jump event last Saturday at Quantico. With this jump, Gardner broke the meet record formerly held by Phil Fehlin at 6 feet, 6 1/4 inches.

E AGAIN—Ed Collyer of Camp Pendleton streaks across the finish line to win the 120 yard dash in the All-Marine Track and Field Championships. Collyer won both the 120 yard dash and the 220 yard dash.

Lejeune Runner Competes For Boston Marathon Title

Lejeune's Alex Breckenridge, one of the country's top long distance runners, will make an attempt to dethrone little John Kelley, the Groton, Conn., school teacher in the 26-mile, 385-yard Boston AAU Marathon this Saturday in Boston, Mass. This is the second attempt at perhaps the most grueling event ever staged in the world of track and field for the former Villanova runner. He competed in the event in 1960 when he placed fourth behind Kelley who has won the Marathon for the past four years.

A Perfect Replacement
With the release from active duty of John Uelses, the only man in the history of track and field to pole vault over 16 feet, the Marine Corps lost another great athlete. He was not gone a week, when another Marine pole vaulter threw his hat into the ring to indicate that he was to be the successor to Uelses.

On the Saturday following Uelses' release, a slender, blond-headed lieutenant from Camp Pendleton, Dave Tork, the new fibreglass astronaut vaulted 15 feet, 8 1/4 inches at Santa Barbara to announce his move up to the 16-foot bracket.

In the presence of the original astronaut, Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., at the Quantico Relays last Saturday afternoon, the new fibreglass astronaut vaulted 15 feet, 7 3/4 inches to win the Bob Gutowski Memorial Pole Vault.

Standing Ovation
Both Glenn and Tork received standing ovations from the crowd of some 5,000 spectators and runners when the names were announced over the public address system.

Glenn, who came to the meet from his home in Virginia, sat unnoticed in the stands for almost a half hour. When his name was announced over the PA system, he was swarmed by young autograph seekers and was given an escort when leaving to keep the crowd away.

When the 6-foot Tork cleared 15'7 3/4", he climaxed six hours and 22 minutes of competition in the pole vault event. Most of the crowd had departed since all of the running events were completed, but the stout-hearted that remained to brave the high winds, greeted the MCS relays record with the second ovation of the day.

So Close
After setting the record, Tork decided to try for the world's record and asked to have the bar raised to 16 feet, 1 inch. His first try at that height was a heart-breaker. He seemed to clear the crossbar, but on the way down his hand grazed the bar enough to knock it off the uprights. His next two attempts fell way short of their mark.

TOP BOWLERS—Members of the First Infantry Training Regiment Bowling team pose with their battalion commander, Col. R. W. Rickert (fourth from left) after the colonel made the presentation of trophies to the team for winning the Regimental Intramural Bowling Tourney held last week. With the colonel are, left to right, SSgt. Sam White, 1st Sgt. B. J. Sasser, SSgt. Dick Stout, SSgt. E. J. Kresky and MSgt. G. G. Gauthier.

By their knowledge of their equipment and their ability to apply this knowledge, the detachment materially aided this Regiment in maintaining constant communications throughout the entire exercise. Capt. and Mrs. Harold F. O'Donnell wish to gratefully acknowledge and express their sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness and thoughtfulness of their friends and neighbors at the time of their daughter, Cathy's, death.

Dior Talent Challenged By Wives' Hat Fashions

Members of the Staff Wives Club celebrated their twelfth birthday Monday night at the Montford Point Staff Club with a dinner and an Easter Parade of hat fashions. Honored guests were Mrs. J. P. Berkeley, Mrs. C. F. McKiever, Mrs. Sybil Wittmer, president of the Cherry Point Staff Wives' Club and about fifteen of the club's members. Dior could probably have gotten a few ideas from the hat originals composed of everything from balloons to diaper pins. Winners of the Most Original were Esther Kingston with a vegetable hat and Lil Vidinski with a mail box hat. Mrs. Kingston's was made with large cabbage leaves encircled with sliced radishes and completed with carrot top earrings. Mrs. Vidinski decorated and balanced an "in-going, out-going" guard mail box on her dome.

Funniest were worn by Lynn Reimer, who displayed a "creme d' mint" glass atop a pancake platform with a stuffed glove holding a cigarette holder and Pauline Joos of Cherry Point with her bottle of Chianti wine, typical with a candle inserted and a loaf of Italian bread.

Miss Eunice Hurtig, New USO Assistant, Now In Jacksonville

Miss Eunice Hurtig, the new assistant director of Jacksonville's USO, arrived last week. A native of Hanover, Kans., she attended Mount St. Scholastica College for Women in Atchison, Kan. Upon graduation she joined the staff of the Kansas Department of Social Welfare in Clay County, Kan.

Her present duties will include planning and proposing programs for the Base wives' clubs. This will be a new experience for me," she said. "I'm used to working more on a community basis."

"I have been forced to do some fast getting acquainted and adjusting due to the absence of most of the USO staff because of illness," she added. "It can become embarrassing but also humorous when I have to ask the delivery man where the deliveries are to be delivered."

Judges of the contest were Mrs. Berkeley and Mrs. McKiever.

Proposal Will Give 'Q' Money To Man

Recommended changes in the proposed quarters bill will cause "howls from the little woman," according to a recent UPI story. The expected reaction stems from proposals of the House Armed Services Sub-Committee last Friday when the bill passed to the full committee recommending that "Q" allotments be dropped and the quarters allowance be paid directly to the serviceman rather than to the wife.

Congressmen said it "was an important move to boost the morale and prestige of the people who really run the armed services — the non-commissioned officers."

Headed by L. Mendel Rivers (D-S. C.), the Sub-Committee voted to make the proposed legislation effective October 1, instead of January 1, as originally recommended.

The Sub-Committee also gave E-4's with less than four years service a break by writing in $81.30 instead of the proposed $60. The present rate for an E-4 with one dependent is $77.10.

E-1's through E-4 with less than four years service would not be affected by the allotment change but would continue to be regulated by the allotment system program.

Local reaction to the proposal to give the serviceman the allotment rather than the wife was pronounced. One senior NCO said, "It'll make a lot of wives move to Lejeune."

Another commented that the wives consider the "Q" allotment as "their" money, a fact which has caused "discussions" between servicemen and their wives.

One point not made clear was a recommendation to put the man who receives the allotment on a new type quarters rate table — with or without dependents.

The proposal would have one benefit not mentioned in AFPS and other news agency releases — less overall cost to the taxpayer.

Postmen would probably be the most grateful. Sixty-one percent of all Marines are married and the footsore and often, ear-sore postmen would have one less problem to cope with — the irritated wife whose check didn't arrive when she thought it should.

Before becoming law the bill must pass the full House Armed Services Committee, the House floor and the Senate. It would then go to the President for signature.

Thirteen Marines won the smiling approval and the personal congratulations of the President when they demonstrated the capabilities of a charging rifle. Their appearance was signaled by 1st Lt. David Connell, who halted the Presidential limousine on the drive to Onslow Beach.

Landing Ends First Phase Of PHIBEX 1/62

A 40,000-man Navy-Marine Corps team aboard 84 ships of the U. S. 2d Fleet wound up the first half of a giant amphibious exercise here this Saturday at Onslow Beach with a display of military might before the President and a host of visiting dignitaries.

LANTPHIBEX 1/62 got under way April 9 when elements of the 2d Marine Division and supporting units boarded ships at Norfolk, Va., Morehead City, Wilmington and Onslow Beach. Remnants of the Atlantic Fleet docked at Norfolk began leaving port April 7 to join the main body of the participating ships at sea.

Vice Adm. Alfred G. Ward is in overall charge of the exercise and Lt. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, commanding general, FMFLant, is commanding the 2d Marine Expeditionary Force embarked aboard the ships as the striking arm.

Anti-submarine and anti-air exercises were conducted at sea prior to the landing at Onslow Beach Saturday. Aggressor forces under the command of Rear Adm. James C. Dempsey, added realism to the exercise through constant at-sea harassment and affording the fleet an opportunity to try out new electronic, sonar and radar equipment as well as the capabilities of anti-submarine weapons and tactics.

The aggressor forces will continue harassing maneuvers while the fleet is en route to Vieques Island, Puerto Rico, for the final landing of the operation April 23.

Maj. Gen. Robert D. Houghton, O.B.E., MC, British Royal Marines, will witness the landing at Vieques. The general is Britain's Chief of Amphibious Warfare. He is currently involved in a 10-day tour of several selected U. S. Marine Corps commands.

The hand of the President's car burst from the helicopter and clung to the line, yelling and waving.

Stopping short of the President's car, the Marines produced as typical of the "toughest, hardest fighting and most dangerous unit" in the Marine Corps.

Lieutenant Connell didn't feel anything" when the President of the United States halted the Presidential limousine on the drive to Onslow Beach.

"I didn't stop the car," he hastened to add. "I was the driver of the car."

"The only thing through my mind was 'don't forget the speech,'" he continued. "I must have speech at least a half hour."

All I needed was to see the President. I would have been there for the President.

The squad members of the 2d Marine Division, who were on the basis of rifle companies of the 2d Marine Division.

Their feelings about the President were thought it was "exciting" and "wonderful" to see the President. One man guarding the President might do. One man thing about the "President."

Others thought the President was "a great man" and "a great leader." No one knows what he thought but he now approval during the exercise.

The Commandant of the exercise, Vice Adm. Alfred G. Ward, He ordered his car to the road and personally picked up the President's car.

"They were fine," he said. "They were fine."
