

Highways 2, Lejeune Marines 0

Marines were killed and critically injured in the highway accidents Easter weekend. In one accident, a Marine driver, who was killed, was in the right front seat. The driver was killed with manslaughter.

In another accident which killed one Marine and injured another was a civilian who swerved to avoid a slow moving truck and ran into the other side of the car, whose driver, whose also died, is in critical condition. He also charged with manslaughter. Three more Marines were killed in the accident. The tragic accident toll brings to 13 the number of Lejeune Marines killed this year. An additional 148 have been injured, many of them seriously. Two still remain on the critical list and one, injured two weeks ago, is still in a coma.

Tragically, it is the passengers who have been bearing the brunt.

Last year the GLOBE ran an editorial called SUICIDE SEAT about a Marine who was killed when his buddy drove his car into a bridge abutment.

Two weeks ago, two Marines had sense enough to save their lives when the driver of the car in which they were riding refused to slow down. They did what few in the past have done. They turned off the ignition, got out of the car and refused to go any further with the driver.

They tried to get the driver to rest, drink some coffee and take it easy for a few minutes. He appeared to consent but, once the keys were returned to him, got back into the car. A third Marine accompanied him.

Twenty minutes later the driver tried to straighten out a curve, lost control, flipping the car over three times. The driver died the next day of his injuries, but his passenger is still in a coma.

If he lives, the thoughts he had just before the crash may be known. If not, he probably realized in that last split second that he was dying because he didn't have the courage to live.

Last year the GLOBE said,

"Those leadfooted throttle jockeys who fly low on the highways have no respect for anyone's life. It is stupid to ride with them and even more criminally stupid to stay in the same car when the situation becomes dangerous.

"If you want to live, reach out your hand, turn off the switch and get out and walk.

"If you lose a 'friend' by such action, rest assured your loss was not as great as it might have been."

Two Marines had sense enough to do this. Those who didn't, died.

Investigators at the scene of one accident said one Marine might have been saved if he had been wearing a seat belt. Seat belts saved the lives of three last week when their car went off the road and rolled three times. One passenger received a slight head cut.

Seat belts can reduce injuries, but only sense can reduce accidents. The senseless and the innocent pay. The innocent with their lives and the senseless with their freedom. One Marine was sentenced to five years in prison last year as the result of a manslaughter charge arising from an accident.

The same may happen to the two drivers charged in the accidents this week. There is no substitute for common sense. He who hesitates to exercise that sense in a speeding vehicle may never have another chance.

CWO Wallis Gets Special USAFI Award

Lamar P. Wallis, CWO-4, a 2d Marine Division postal officer, was a guest of honor at a dinner on April 4 during the USAFI Invitational Conference in Madison, Wis.

The veteran Marine and five other members of the armed services were recipients of a special plaque for outstanding achievement as students enrolled in USAFI courses.

To date CWO Wallis has completed 19 courses in high school and college liberal arts, as well as a course in horticulture and agriculture economics.

Wallis first enrolled in USAFI after his two oldest children confronted him with questions concerning their homework assignments.

"Some of the questions left me embarrassed and I was lost for answers," explained Mr. Wallis.

Marines May Gain By New Veterans Bills

Although the first session of the 87th Congress did not approve too much service legislation that made headlines, there still were a number of veterans bills passed that could mean much to those in the military services.

A rundown of legislation passed by both the House and Senate and finally becoming Public Law after Presidential signature includes the following bills.

- To extend the veterans guaranteed and direct home loan program and to provide additional funds for the veterans direct loan program (P.L. 87-84).

- To provide that certain service shall be creditable for pension purpose (P.L. 87-101).

- To extend the provisions for benefits based on limited periods immediately following discharge from active duty after Dec. 31, 1956, to veterans discharged before that date (P.L. 87-192).

- To increase the rate of special pension payable to certain persons awarded the Medal of Honor, and for other purposes (P.L. 87-133).

- To provide for immediate payment of dividends on insurance issued under Sec. 621 of the National Life Insurance Act of 1940 which has been converted or exchanged for new insurance under such section, and for other purposes (P.L. 87-223).

- To provide that death pension may be paid in lieu of dependency and indemnity compensation in certain cases involving service-connected deaths occurring after Dec. 31, 1956 (P.L. 87-268).

Oldest Marine Dies

Retired Marine Master Sergeant Samuel W. Smith, here with Sgt. Maj. F. D. Rauber, was buried Friday in Annapolis, Md., with full military honors. He died April 17, at age 94.

Smith was believed to be the oldest Marine carried in the Corps' rolls at the time of his death.

He was born in Baltimore, Md., in 1865 and enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1887. At the close of World War I, he received a veteran of 31 years service.

During his career, he saw action in the Spanish American War (1898) and the Chinese Boxer Rebellion (1900). He received extensive service in the Philippines at the turn of the century.

Entitlement

Many Marines and their dependents are not fully aware of what they are entitled to under regulations. Some have mistaken ideas as to entitlement of housing, shipment of personal effects, leave, medical care and others. The GLOBE invites its readers to submit questions which will be answered as completely as possible. Questions such as "Why wasn't I promoted?" and "Why did I get transferred to the 2d Division instead of Kaneohe?" are not considered. All questions must be signed.

QUESTION: "Why are Marine wives, whose husbands are denied Military Housing?" (Asked by a Marine wife)

ANSWER: The military services are permitted to build military installations only for those persons actually assigned to the installation. Usually there are not sufficient quarters at military installations to house all personnel stationed at the installation. Due to this shortage of housing, servicemen who have received permanent change of station orders must vacate government quarters within 30 days after receipt of the orders. Exception to this rule could result in quarters being occupied by dependents of servicemen who have been detached from the installation who are stationed at the installation would have no quarters available.

SOME WHERRY HOUSING AVAILABLE

While dependents of servicemen may not occupy public housing at an installation after the serviceman is detached, there are Wherry Housing Projects under civilian management in various parts of the area. These vacant units which may be rented by dependents while the serviceman is overseas. These vacancies are the result of a reduction in personnel at the military installation not due to the defects in the housing. Each such housing project is located adjacent to a military installation and is reasonably accessible to commissary, exchange and medical facilities. The type and locations are shown below. Inquiries regarding this housing should be addressed as indicated in the following list:

Government Sites For Privately-Owned Trailers

During recent years the number of Marines owning in house trailers has become increasingly large. In order to provide trailer owners with trailer park accommodations some have provided government sites for these privately owned trailers.

Rental prices at these government sites are established by Department of Defense directive and are approximately $10 per month plus utilities. In addition, a flat fee is established by the Department for connecting utilities upon arrival and disconnecting utilities upon vacating the site.

The following commands have sites available for the number of trailers:

MCB, Camp Lejeune—319; MCRD, Parris Island—1; Barstow—21; MCS, Quantico—41; MCSC, Albany—18.

Easter For Greek Orthodox Will Be Observed Sunday

The Greek Orthodox Church celebrates Easter this year on April 29, in contrast to the other Christian Churches which observe it on April 22. Only once in four or five years does the date of Eastern and Western Easter coincide. The difference is better understood if the historical and religious background of the holiday is observed. Even as early as the second century there was a difference of opinion between East and West regarding the proper date for the commemoration of the Resurrection of our Lord. These differences, which were of a technical nature, persisted until the First General or Ecumenical Council of the Church.

Work Begins Southwest Creek Project

Community-military program materializing last week when a 42-man team of combat engineers moved to Southwest Creek to begin work on an access route from the creek to New River.

The council began discussion on the project in January following an inspection of the area. The inspection revealed that, besides the creek non-navigable, the area was a potential breeding ground and was responsible for the contamination of surrounding farms.

Plans to remove the debris from the creek bed, 8th Battalion, Force Troops, are under way.

Engineers reported that first work consisted of removing numerous logs and deadwood that had accumulated over the years. The men moved into the swampy water area to secure the logs so heavy machinery could be used to drag them out.

In some cases the water was so firmly implanted that blasting was required to clear the area.

Work is being done by Lt. J. J. Havrda, executive officer, the go-ahead for the first few feet of the small space the creek will occupy.

Operations will extend from highway 17 to its mouth emptying into the creek. The project is expected to be completed by June 15.

Quarters Bill Now In House, Senate Next

The House Armed Services Committee has reported legislation to adjust the serviceman's quarters allowance rates to the House floor.

A committee spokesman said it would come up on the floor of the House "as soon as circumstances would permit" but pointed to the Easter recess between April 20-30 as a slowing factor.

As previously announced, the legislation carries with it some important amendments that favor the serviceman.

For example, as now written the bill would abolish the well-known Class "O" allotment system for most NCO's.

This means E-4's with more than four years service and other non-coms would not draw a separate Class Q check, but revert to the traditional system of housing allowances.

The money would be paid directly to the man instead of going through an allotment system and also put him on a new type quarters rate table — with or without dependents.

Headed by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D-S.C.), the House Subcommittee voted to make the bill effective October 1.

Another amendment to the bill would pay E-4's with less than four years service $83.10 instead of the proposed $60. The present rate for an E-4 with one dependent is $77.10.

Before becoming law the bill must now pass the House floor, go through the Senate and be signed by President Kennedy.

10th Marines Train 1,000 For Reserves

Since the 10th Marines organized a reserve training branch on an experimental basis in 1960, they have provided Organized Marine Reserve Howitzer Batteries in the eastern United States with over 1,000 trained artillery personnel.

Presently under the command of Capt. P. C. Williams, the unit trains approximately 12 increments a year. Six-month reservists joining through an artillery unit are assigned to the 10th Marine's school upon completion of recruit and infantry training.

As soon as the full increment, (which numbers some 50 men), has arrived, studies begin in the different specialties related to the artillery field. The curriculum includes, fire direction control, cannoneering, field wire techniques, and vehicle operation with the individual Marine being assigned to one of these classes.

Upon completion of the formal classes, taught by veteran artillerymen, the Reservists are drilled in the field on the overall operations of the gun crew. Training support during practical application in the field is provided by firing batteries within the 10th Marines.

Last month the training branch moved to Fort Bragg, N. C., with major elements of the 10th Marines for a joint Army-Marine Field Firing Exercise employing the 105mm howitzer and the 5.2 mortar.

Upon completion of training with the 10th Marines, the Reservists are tested and assigned their MOS before returning home for duty with a nearby Organized Marine Corps Reserve Howitzer Battery.

World's Most Unusual Golfer Will Be At Lejeune May 4

Golf in its most unusual form will be presented here May 4 at the Paradise Point Golf Course when Paul Hahn unloads his bagful of "magic" golf shots for a one-hour show beginning at 5 p.m. No admission is charged for this show and the general public is invited. Prior to the demonstration, Hahn will play a match with Sgt. H. H. Brown and Ducky Miller. Hahn is known throughout the world for his unbelievable repertoire of golf shots with a freakish array of equipment. He has appeared in 37 countries, on all six continents, and on numerous TV shows with his humorous and entertaining servings of golfing "hi-jinks."

Waiting List Is Revamped At Pendleton

Marines reporting for duty at Camp Pendleton who apply for housing within 72 hours after reporting will be assigned a control date for family housing which will coincide with the date of departure from their last duty station.

The new procedure will afford each individual an opportunity to take full advantage of authorized proceed, travel and delay time without adversely affecting his status on the housing list.

It will also provide a uniform method of assignment of family housing at all Marine Corps installations.

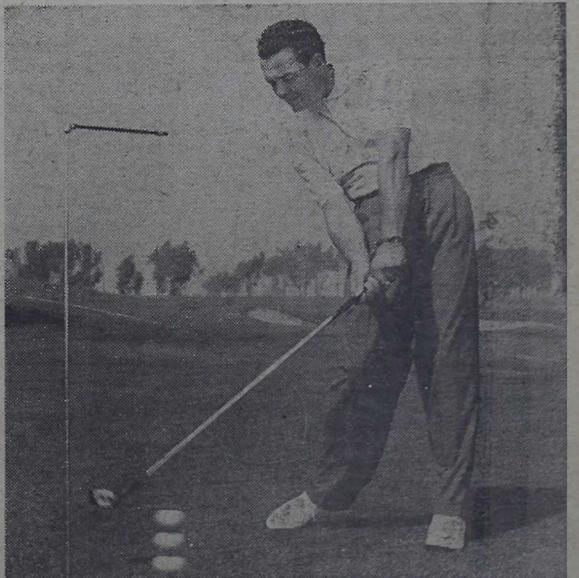

Under this plan, when two or more individuals with the same control date qualify for the same type of housing, their precedence on the waiting list will be determined by the relative seniority.

On the other hand, when an individual does not apply for quarters within 72 hours of reporting, he loses the control date privilege.

Some of the "impossible" shots that Hahn makes would have golf's founders turning over in their graves. For example, he uses a 42 inch piece of rubber hose with a golf clubhead on one end. By using the proper timing and swing, Hahn is able to get off drives of over 200 yards with this apparatus.

Besides the hose-club, Paul has clubs with 6-foot shafts and 10 pound heads; clubs with swivel joints like a dentist's drill-rig; tee pegs up to a yard high and an assortment of laugh-provoking junk. He connects solidly with balls swinging in mid-air, teed in a "volunteer's" teeth, hidden under a newspaper and with three balls at once going forward, backward and straight up.

Marines and the general public of the area will be seeing stuff that has amused, amazed and instructed uncounted millions of golf addicts the world over for the past ten years, when Mr. Hahn appears at the Lejeune golf course. At the conclusion of the show Mr. Hahn will be available for special interviews with local golf enthusiasts.

Self Discipline Is First Step To Real Education

The word education has come to be associated in the minds of many people solely with books and classrooms. Education is defined in the dictionary as: "Discipline of mind or character through study or instruction." It would appear at first sight that the definition is completely in line with the "books and classrooms" concept. Words such as "discipline," "mind" and "character" go far beyond books in their meaning, however! They apply to life as a whole and life in itself is a never-ending source of education.

Many a Marine has heard an instructor say from the platform that we are constantly one of two things, separately or simultaneously, in the Corps; students or teachers. That statement holds as much truth as you read this as it did when first you heard it. It applies to each of you as Marines, as citizens and as human beings. You are constantly teaching and learning . . . teaching through action and example, learning by the action and example of those with whom you work. Unconsciously you are studying others and are in turn being studied. You are shaping the characters of others and having your own characters shaped. The extent of how well you influence others and the shaping of your own lives depends on that one word in the definition of education that is most important of all, discipline!

This is a discipline not meant in the sense of obeying rules and regulations alone but the self-discipline that is the mark of a man. Self-discipline is the difference between being ordinary or being outstanding. In many cases it takes but one step to overcome mediocrity. As a citizen, that step might be going to the polls and exercising your right to vote or admitting you're wrong when you know you are. As an officer, the step might be staying with one of your men beyond normal working hours to help him solve a problem. As a staff NCO it might be making the inspection of the troops a good one instead of a walk through after the time and effort they exerted to become "squared away." For the individual Marine who makes up the bulk of the Corps the step might be the simple act of realizing you are not the only man in the world. Look around you and become educated. The first lesson is acknowledging there is somebody on your right and on your left who are as valuable as you are in this existence. Do that and your education is under way. Exercising consideration for your fellow Marines, for your fellow human beings, is a demonstration of self-discipline. Stop and consider that all laws and regulations, civil and military, are created for the welfare of all people and are not for the desires of one alone. The speeding Marine, the drunken Marine, the slovenly Marine, and the discourteous Marine are all prime examples of lack of self-discipline but plenty of self-indulgence.

They are not being educated because they didn't want to be, yet the example they set is providing an education for others in the negative sense. The only way to offset their negative example is with self-discipline in your own way of life or irresponsibility will be the rule rather than the exception. Irresponsibility is the mark of the uneducated man. Have you kept anyone uneducated because of your instruction by example? Take a long look around you, Marine! Do you see anyone of your students or perhaps someone you now realize has taught you something of "mind and character"? If you do, you have acquired an education that no book could ever give you in a dozen life spans.

If You Ask Me:

How Do You Feel About Proposal To Pay The Allotment To The Marine Instead Of His Wife?

1ST SGT. B. L. ALLEN—I think it's a great idea. It still gives a man the opportunity to give his wife extra money if he so desires. When he is residing with her he has the chance to pass the money across the table twice a month, and when he's away he can increase her allotment if he wants to. I think the male member of the family should handle the money.

MRS. M. TURNER—I don't approve of this. The wives have to run the household and because of the many cruises and such it's easier for them to receive a regular allowance than to wait for a paycheck. Many times mail is delayed when it is sent from aboard ship, so money orders wouldn't be too reliable. I think the quarter's allotment should continue to be paid to the wife.

SSGT. PASQUALE A. DESARNO—I think this is a good idea. It would be best for the Marine so he could get his gear squared away with the extra money. It would make a guy feel like he had more money in his pocket (for a while, anyway). The raising of the allotment would help the younger Marines make up their minds about reenlistment.

SSGT. EDWARD PERCIVAL—My personal opinion is that I don't go along with it for the simple reason that if I go overseas I would have to send money orders home and that would make it much harder for my family. My wife handles all the money anyway, and she has done a pretty good job so far. I even increased my allotment just so my family would get more money in case I do go on a cruise.

Chaplain's Corner

Many children have learned a poem that they use to ask God's blessing for the food they eat. The poem opens with these words: "God is great, God is good." Perhaps you used this poem at your table.

Whether you did or did not use the words above is not the question here, but rather have you ever met this God who is great and good? Have you ever felt His presence?

I met Him once down on a river bank while I was shooting light bulbs with my .22 rifle. He stopped me in my tracks with the most dazzling display of light I have ever seen. It was only the Northern Lights being manipulated like fingers of color across the entire northern sky, but I met God there—I saw something of His greatness.

I met God again in a hospital ward. An old sailor was dying of cancer and he had asked the nurse to call the Chaplain. The tired man just said, "God is good. He is going to take me out of all this pain . . . will you hold my hand while I thank Him?" The sailor didn't have time to finish his prayer, but I saw something of the goodness of God there and I finished the sailor's prayer for him.

I met Him again on a night bombing attack. The enemy searchlights were just off our port wing about a hundred yards and it was only a matter of seconds before they would have had us bracketed. We had only one bomb left, but God was with us for the bomb put out the power supply for the searchlights.

No, I'm not crazy, I've just met God, that's all. So have you. Did you recognize Him?

Onslow Beach Facilities Open Friday

Lejeune sun-bathers and surf swimming enthusiasts will once again be able to enjoy the many recreational facilities at Onslow Beach. Effective tomorrow, the beach area will be open to all Marines and their guests or dependents.

Snack bars are located in all of the pavilions and service clubs. They offer a variety of cold drinks, sandwiches, ice cream, snacks and sundry beach items.

The Commissioned Officers Beach and Pavilion includes dressing rooms and a mess annex. Dressing rooms and a club annex are also available at the Staff NCO Beach Pavilion. The Enlisted Pavilion includes dressing rooms, checkroom, snack bar and an Exchange Store.

HOURS

Hours for swimming will be from 10 a.m. to 30 minutes after sunset on Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 30 minutes after sunset on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Approximately 15 lifeguards, all trained either as Senior Life Safety or Water Safety Instructors, will patrol the beachfront. Because Onslow's combination of undertow and surf can be very dangerous, personnel are reminded that lifeguards are at the beach for one reason only—safety.

Due to the presence of sharks, barracuda and other aggressive and dangerous fish, personnel will not be allowed to swim beyond the floating buoys marking the swimming area.

CHILDREN

Children under 12 years of age will not be permitted in the water unless accompanied by a parent or other adult authorized to use the beach and its facilities.

Fishing is authorized at Onslow Beach at any time during the day or night, except in areas specifically designated as swimming areas and when scheduled training is being conducted.

Areas will be available for organized parties. Assignment to these areas may be made by contacting the Base Special Services officer or his representative.

CABANAS

Beach cabanas are also available for married personnel at Camp Lejeune. They are designed to furnish low-cost housing to those families desiring to spend several days at the beach.

There are 12 efficiency apartments, each consisting of a kitchen area, bathroom and sleeping accommodation for six persons. Linen, kitchen and dining ware, and limited maid service, will be furnished.

SCHEDULE

The schedule for officers and their families during the summer season is from noon Monday to noon Thursday and from 3:30 p.m. Thursday to 8 a.m. Monday. Staff NCO's may occupy the cabanas from noon Friday to noon Monday and from 3:30 p.m. Monday to 8 a.m. Friday. For sergeants and below, the times are from 3:30 p.m. Friday to 8 a.m. Tuesday and noon Tuesday to noon Friday.

Reservations may be made by contacting the Recreation Office either in person at the Field House or by telephone at 7-3762. Reservations will be taken no earlier than 15 days prior to occupancy period.

PAYMENT

Tenants must make payment for cabanas at least 48 hours prior to the occupancy period in the office of the custodian at the Field House. To check in, tenants will present their receipt at the Beach Detachment Office located in the northeast corner of the Enlisted Beach House.

Persons who have not had use of a cabana or cottage during the current season will be given priority on the 14th day prior to the occupancy period only. On subsequent days, units will be assigned to eligible ranks on a first come, first served basis. Applicants who appear in person will be given priority over those making telephone applications at the same time.

Rental charges for the summer season have been set at $2 per day for Beach Cabanas, $2.50 for Pier Cabanas, $3 per day for the Mobile Cabanas. These fees are charged for the original occupancy of the unit up to four days. In the event the reservation is extended beyond four-day occupancy period an additional daily rental fee will be charged.

LIFEGUARDS

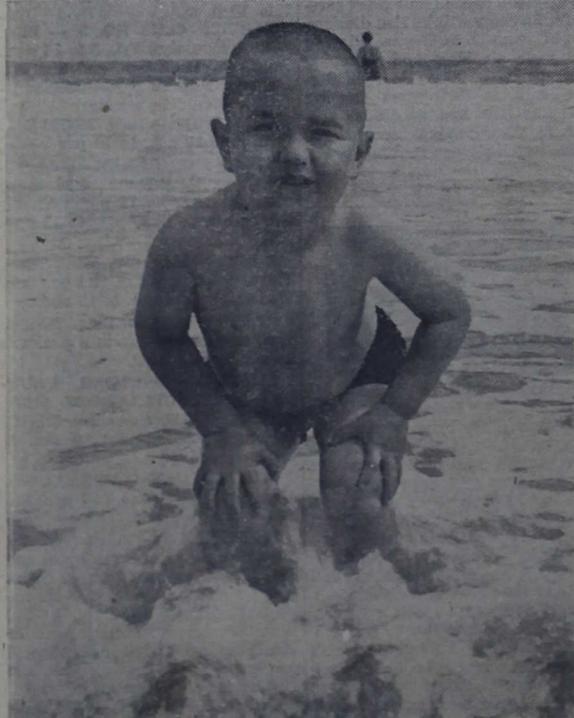

Although the lifeguards would make an excellent recruiting or reenlistment, it's not too late to fill, surf 'n sand would-be Marine enlistees envision it.

Take the word of Marine lifeguards who over you and yours frolic along Camp Lejeune beaches.

It's an exacting, headache-filled responsibility in which there is no room for mistakes. Even a minor error in judgment could be fatal to a young adult caught in the "mix-master" sweep of a rough, in-tide.

In addition to their guard duties, the Marine lifeguards instruct other Marines in Sun and Surf classes, water survival, artificial respiration and the construction of water safes.

Officer in Charge of the beach detachment is John C. Reale, his sergeant is GySgt. E. J. Moran and his sergeant is Sgt. B. J. Moran is the Safety Instructor.

SEE NOW—Surrounded by tools of the competitive shooter, a Marine records his "dope" or perhaps tallies the day's score. Regardless of what he is doing, he typifies the average Marine shooter competing in this year's Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol Matches. With the Matches in the "home stretch," veteran and tyro shooters alike are looking forward to good weather and an all-important "win." Win, lose, or draw, the Camp Lejeune GLOBE is proud to salute the East Coast's top Rifle and Pistol shooters participating in this year's matches.

COL. EMMET O. SWANSON

Drilling Targets Or Teeth No Problem For Colonel

"There's more enthusiasm now—shooting is on a much broader scale. With all the tournaments being held and the fact that the quality of the shooter's gear has improved, I think that the shooters of today are a shade better than those of the Old Corps." So says Col. Emmet O. Swanson, holder of two world shooting championships.

Colonel Swanson is Distinguished with both rifle and pistol, and in addition is a dentist in his hometown of Minneapolis. The colonel is a competitor and captain of the 30-man reserve Rifle and Pistol Team participating in the 1962 Eastern Division Matches.

Colonel Swanson has fired in the National Matches at Camp Perry every year they were held from 1925-1961 except 1960. In 1960 he went to the Olympic Games in Rome, Italy, as team captain of the U. S. Olympic Shooting Team. That year Capt. William W. McMillian Jr. out shot a Finn and a Russian to earn first place and a Gold Medal in the rapid-fire silhouette match. The colonel considers Captain McMillian the best pistol shot the Corps has ever had.

It was while attending the University of Minnesota the colonel had his first taste of shooting. He was a member of the University rifle team from 1923-1928. In 1926 he won the National Smallbore Championship.

"After graduation from Dental School in 1928 I joined the Army Dental Corps," he said. "I remained with the Army until 1937 at which time I resigned my commission as a first lieutenant and joined the Marines."

"My best years were 1939-1931," he added. It was during these years he won the World's Smallbore Championship (kneeling) in Belgium; World's Smallbore Championship (prone) in England; became Distinguished with the rifle while firing at Camp Perry; tied for first place in the National Individual Service Rifle event and won the Civilian-Military Championship on the basis of the tie.

After graduation from Ordnance School in 1942, Colonel Swanson joined the 5th Division as Ordnance officer. He was with the Division when it hit the beach at Iwo Jima and was awarded a Bronze Star for heroism during the battle.

At the end of the war he started shooting again. He was president of the National Rifle Association from 1947-1948. In 1951 he was team manager for the U. S. Shooting Team in the Pan American Games held in Buenos Aires, Argentina. The colonel won his Distinguished Pistol Medal while shooting in the 1959 Eastern Division Matches held here at Camp Lejeune.

"Many people wonder how I can keep on shooting," he said. "My answer is through continuous training and competition. Shooting can be compared to playing a musical instrument," he continued. "Once you master it, you can keep your proficiency through training and practicing."

His advice to young shooters interested in competitive shooting was a simple statement, "Plenty of hard work!"

When asked if he had any secret training methods, he replied, "No. I do enjoy walking for exercise." He added that he does not smoke and never has.

At present Colonel Swanson is a member of the National Rifle Association executive committee and chairman of the Olympic Rifle Committee.

Reflecting on the many titles he has won and the countries he has visited, Colonel Swanson explained that he has "no plans for retiring." He added that he planned to continue drilling targets as well as drilling teeth.

Kiester Wins Rifle Match; Ties Record

Capt. C. F. Kiester of Paris Island had an "ideal day" and tied the Eastern Division Individual Rifle Match record, winning first place in the 1962 competition. His 586X600 aggregate tied the record shot last year by two-time winner, SSgt. D. S. Wagner of Quantico.

A Quantico shooter, GySgt. C. D. Ainscoe took second place with a 582X600 and SSgt. J. D. Wilson of Force Troops placed third with a 581X600.

Today the shooters compete for individual pistol honors and Friday for the Wirgman, Elliott and Edson team trophies. Saturday the trophies will be presented to the winners.

Kiester said it was a "fair weather shooter's ideal day," referring to winds of 10- and 15-miles-per-hour which have plagued the shooters all week.

Earlier in the week the competitors predicted low scores due to the weather but have hopes now of completing the matches with high scores in the pistol and team categories.

Cpl. Thomas Simon

Tyro Shooter Banks On To Bridge Experience

Cpl. Thomas Simon, Rifle Range Detachment, Camp Lejeune, is typical of the young Marines competing in the Eastern Division Matches. Simon will be competing with other Marines who have fired in the Eastern Division competition for several years compiling records that often means the difference between winning and losing.

This isn't the first year Simon has had to cope with such eagle-eye talent. He competed in the 1959 Eastern Division Matches and the 1960-61 Pacific Division Matches, winning the Distinguished Marksman Medal. He's going for his first "leg" this year, trying to establish himself as a two-time winner and move out of the bronze bracket into the silver.

Simon's assignment to the Rifle Range Detachment has afforded an opportunity to absorb "secrets of shooting" from some of the old-timers. One in particular speaks of his own experience. "I have obtained information about shooting from Sergeant Cox and also by remembering every little tip that Simon says. 'Who knows those tips may be the ones that get me over.'"

Simon says he rates all of his tips and habits gathered on line into one complete action when firing. He takes enough time from the best shooters he is going to be that

SEPARATING THE MEN FROM THE BOYS—Firing from the 600-yard line, according to the long-time shooters, separates the men from the boys. Many championships are won or lost at the long ranges. All category winners will be announced in next week's GLOBE. Winners from the Eastern Division Matches will compete in the All-Marine Matches later this summer.

TWO BIG WINNERS—Camp Pendleton fighters, welterweight Maurice Frilot (left) and featherweight Charlie Brown (right) were the only Marines to capture Armed Forces Interservice crowns last week at Norfolk. They, along with the other champions, will represent the United States in the Council du Sport Militaire Boxing Championships this year against the top Armed Services boxers in the world.

Marines Take Two Titles At Interservice Matches

Two Camp Pendleton fighters, welterweight Maurice Frilot and featherweight Charlie Brown, who won their All-Marine titles here earlier this month, waded through two opponents each last week to capture Armed Forces Interservice crowns in their respective weight classes. The victory at Norfolk for the two fighters gives them a chance to represent the United States in the Council du Sport Militaire Boxing Championships later this year in Europe.

We made a very good showing, but we just didn't get enough breaks," stated MSGT. Frank Veith, coach of the Camp Pendleton team, who acted as head coach of the Marine team at the Interservice bouts.

In the first night of the elimination bouts Bob Palmeri lost his bid for the Interservice crown by dropping a decision to the All-Army flyweight Bob Carmody. Palmeri, who was given the All-Marine crown without having to fight for it, did not have the ring experience displayed by Carmody, who posted the unanimous decision.

Also in the first evening of the tourney, Charlie Brown posted his first win on the way to the championship via a decision over Navy champ William O'Banion.

Roosevelt Sanders of Camp Pendleton downed Dean Harrison of the U. S. Air Force in the second round for the only knockout of the evening.

Two other Marines fought in the first day of the tournament. Gilbert Tindley of MCAS, El Toro, substituting for champion Dan Stepniwski of Camp Pendleton, lost his bid via a decision at the hands of Fred Lewis of the U. S. Air Force, while Chuck Carter of El Toro was decided by Quincey Daniels, the Air Force champion in the Light Middleweight class.

Five Marine fighters fought in the second night of elimination bouts with only two moving into the championship round. Opening the card, John Davenport of Camp Lejeune, substituting for Leonard Lopez of Camp Pendleton, was knocked out by the All-Army camp Ted Whitfield in the third round.

The two Marine winners were Maurice Frilot who decided James Honeysuckle of the U. S. Army and Lejeune's heavyweight, Percy Price, decided last year's CISM games champion James Johnson of the U. S. Army.

In other bouts, Lejeune's Leander Moore lost a decision to John Dixon of the Navy and Richard Anderson of Camp Pendleton dropped a decision to the Army's Carlton Brooks.

Championship Night

In the final round of competition two of four Marine representatives won their titles. Charlie Brown, the four-time All-Marine champion added his second interservice title by decisioning James Grant of the Army.

In their second appearance, Maurice Frilot made it two in a row for the Marines via a decision over the All-Navy champ Ralph Pelliccia.

Alex Bright Team Workho In Lejeune Winning Streak

The Camp Lejeune Marine varsity baseball team continued to win as they further north on their regular season road trip. After dropping their season opener at the University of North Carolina, 4-0, two weeks ago, Coach Andy Anderson's team have roared back to win six consecutive games, establishing their longest winning streak in the history of the team. Alex Bright turned in another sparkling performance last Monday at Williamsburg, Va., as the local Marines compiled win number six, downing William and Mary College, 3-2 in the first of a two game series.

The second game of that series was played Tuesday evening. The results of that game were not available at GLOBE deadline and will be recapped in the next week's edition.

The lanky righthander, in his second year with the Lejeune varsity upped his season strikeout total to 43 by fanning 14 William and Mary batters last Monday. In the three games he has pitched this year, Bright, a native of Memphis, Tenn., has allowed only six runs in twenty-seven innings. His strikeout list includes 10 against Frederick College, 19 against Atlantic Christian College, which tied the all-time Camp Lejeune record (see page 9), and the 14 in Monday's contest.

Bright allowed only three hits in the game against William and Mary leading Lejeune to their sixth straight victory. Two of the three hits given up came from the bat of "Sparky" Parks, one of the top batters in the school's history. William and Mary scored their only runs in the first inning.

Lejeune Takes Opening Lead

Lejeune jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but it was short-lived as the Virginia college team bounced back with two tallies in their half of the first. The locals grabbed the edge for keeps in the third by scoring their final two runs of the game. After that point, it was all Bright's ball game.

Billy Garrett was the hitting star for the locals hanging out three of the Lejeune's eight safeties.

First ECIC Game

The Lejeune Marines open their East Coast Interservice Conference schedule next Wednesday afternoon against Fort Lee, Va., on the road. Following a three game series with the Leemen, Lejeune returns to Harry Agganis Field to Monmouth in the first game series, beginning their first home stand. The game will include only two with Monmouth and Fort Devens, Mass.

Local Leatherneck Man New York's Most Muscular

CARLOS RODRIGUEZ, NEW YORK — "Shape up or ship out," is a phrase generally associated with the military. What it means something like "get on the ball or get out of here." Neither the military nor civilian terms are as harsh as they sound at Carlos Rodriguez, 18, of Hoboken, N. J.

Son of Mrs. Josephine Rivera of 232 Bloomfield Street, Hoboken, the five foot, six inch Marine private has won many trophies by posing in front of audiences.

In 1960, he placed third in the "Mister New Jersey" contest and last year he was third in the "Mister New York City" contest. Also, in 1961, Carlos finished second in the "Mister Gotham" and "Mister Metropolis" contests held in New York City. During the latter competition he was named "Best Legs" and "Best Abdominal."

Two weeks ago in New York's YMCA, 180 West 135th Street, he represented the 2d Division in the "Mister Gotham" contest.

He placed second, two points behind the title winner, and was also named "Most Muscular." Assigned as a Marine with the 2d Marines, he brags about his muscles and workouts. Presently, he is able to lift 350 pounds with his arms.

As a recruit at the Recruit Depot, he set records during physical training. The first was a 100 pull-ups during one hour. The second was to execute 149 push-ups in one hour.

Carlos weighs 167 pounds, has a 43-inch natural waist, and a 32-inch chest. He is 16 and a half inches tall. He has no "before" in his photos!

During the "Mister New York City" contest and similar contests, he has won such trophies as "Best Legs," "Best Arms," and "Best Abdominal." Well as the main title.

When Carlos returns to Camp Lejeune carrying the "Most Muscular" title, the Marines will give him a special award. (Had he won the award, though, it would be difficult to compare him with the other winners... not out of the question.)

Girl's Softball

Registration for the Girls' Summer Softball League will begin Friday afternoon at 3 p.m. at the Girls' Softball field in Tarawa Terrace I. The registration will continue until 6 p.m. and will be resumed on Saturday morning and will run throughout the day.

All girls, at the ages 10 and above, may register at this time. If, because of previous plans, a girl cannot register during the hours mentioned above, she may register by calling the League president, Mrs. Peg Vegass, at 346-9659.

Boys Baseball Begins

It was "Play Ball!" for the 22 teams of the Camp Lejeune Boys Baseball League Saturday, after impressive opening ceremonies before nearly 400 parents and friends.

Participating dignitaries in the opening ceremonies were Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, Brig. Gen. L. W. Walt, and Capt. H. H. Fridley, USN. Each man tossed out a first ball, opening the Pony, Major and Minor Leagues.

The Minor League is comprised of boys from 8-10; the Major League, 11-12; and the Pony League, 13-15. Over 300 boys are taking part in this year's league action.

Speaking before the team formations and fans, General Berkeley said, "I am grateful to the adults for their devotion to our youngsters—for, from this league may very well come the next Willie Mays or Mickey Mantle—I wish each team the best of luck!"

Lt. Cmdr. J. N. Leonard, Assistant Base Chaplain, gave the invocation, opening the ceremony, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Musical entertainment was provided by the 2d Marine Division Drum and Bugle Corps.

Opening day battles in the Pony League finished close with the Orioles knocking off the Tigers, 7-5, and the Pirates edging the Knights, 8-7. The Indians went down to defeat, 10-4, before the high scoring Athletics.

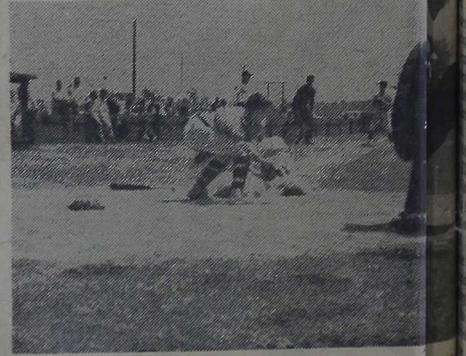

Major League play opened with the Pirates, Cardinals, and Braves emerging victorious. Scores: Pirates 9, Giants 1; Cardinals 16, Cubs 12; Braves 9, Dodgers 1.

The Minor League came up with the day's highest score as the Red Sox belted the White Sox, 25-2. The Yankees blanked the Redlegs, 4-0, while the Phillies defeated the Senators, 8-7.

Action takes place on three fields at the entrance to Tarawa Terrace I nearly every night and over the weekends. Stop by and see today's youth in action!

THE BIG SCRAMBLE—Members of the Minor League of the Camp Lejeune Boys Baseball League rush onto the field for the first time of the season in an attempt to retrieve a baseball thrown by Maj. Gen. J. Local Marine Takes Time Out To Fulfill Military Obligation

From sandlot to Triple A League baseball is the success story of Pvt. Tommy Arruda of the Reserve Training Group, Tenth Marines. Last season Tom was a pitcher for the Tacoma (Washington) Giants, a Triple A League farm club of the San Francisco Giants. On completion of his initial active reserve duty, Tom will be heading west in order to join the club in its quest for a pennant championship. The career of a baseball player usually has its ups and downs, but for Arruda there has been only one way—up. In 1957, Tom was signed by a scout of the Giants while playing in the Johnstown, Pa., Semi-Professional Baseball Tournament. He began his professional baseball career with a 16 and 9 record for a Class D club, the Michigan City Giants in Indiana, in 1958. The following year he moved up to Class C ball earning a 13 and 8 record for the Fresno Giants. The 1960 season found Tom moving up still another notch to Class B ball, compiling a 12 and 5 record for the Eugene Giants in Eugene, Ore.

The front office of the San Francisco Giants liked what they saw in the rookie righthander and sent him to their Triple A farm club in Tacoma, Washington. Tom hit two homers and carried a .260 batting average while doing the relief pitching chores for the Tacoma Giants. His 4 and 9 record for the season does not look well on paper but the Tacoma Giants were impressed by this youngster from Massachusetts and signed him to a 1962 contract.

Tom's participation in sports began at an early age. He played sandlot ball with neighborhood teams and then moved on to play in the Little, Pony and American Legion Leagues in his home town, Fall River, Mass. He was a member of Fall River's Durfee High School baseball and basketball teams for four years and he was the captain of Durfee's championship 1956 basketball team.

Tom entered the Marine Corps Reserve Program on Nov. 22, 1961, and is presently assigned to the 155 Howitzer Gun Section of the Reserve Training Group, 10th Marine Division.

Sellers Leads Devilpups To 3rd Straight

After being idle for almost a week, the Camp Lejeune Devilpup baseball squad traveled to Dixon Tuesday afternoon in an attempt to increase their unbeaten conference string to four straight games. Due to GLOBE deadline, the results of that game were not available at press-time and will be recapped in the next edition.

Sellers Sets Pace

Mike Sellers sparked the Devilpups to win number three last Wednesday by pitching a no-hitter to down the visiting Swansboro High School, 5-1.

Sellers helped his own win by getting two hits in three trips to the plate and scoring one run.

The big righthander, who transferred from Jacksonville High this term, struck out four and walked four.

Another Jacksonville to Lejeune transfer, Ned Paulson was the only other Devilpup to collect two hits. Paulson also scored two runs in three trips to the plate.

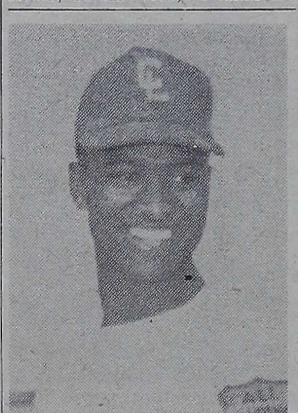

Good Support

Sellers received excellent support from the fielders in posting his no-hitter. Rick Lowder made an outstanding catch of a Swansboro line drive in the last inning to preserve the victory.

The visiting team scored its lone run in the fifth inning on two walks and an error.

Lejeune's record in conference play is 3-0 while they stand 6-4 in overall play.

When asked what he thought of the Reserve Program and how Marine Corps life has affected his career, he answered, "I think the

Bright Fans 19 Batters; Ties Record

Alex Bright, one of the sparks for last year's Lejeune varsity pitching staff, gave up a single in the first inning last Friday evening against Atlantic Christian College and then struck out a record tying 19 batters as Lejeune downed their opponents 3-1 at Harry Agganis Field.

After giving up the run in the first, the lanky right-hander from Memphis, Tenn., struck out the side and then duplicated his feat in the second inning. He also struck out the side in the fourth. In the third, fifth, seventh, and ninth innings, Bright added two more strikeouts per inning.

The 19 strikeouts tied the Lejeune mark set by Jerry Smith and Bill Haywood. Haywood is currently pitching for Wilmington College, the defending national junior college champions.

The win over Atlantic Christian last Friday raised Lejeune's season record to 4 wins with only one setback.

Reserve Program is great, it allows people in situations such as mine to do six months of active duty and then to continue their careers while attending reserve meetings and to do only two weeks of active duty each year. Thanks to the Marine Corps, I am in the best shape I have ever been in."

Force Troops Win Second In Pin Contest

Force Troops keglers bowed to Cherry Point bowlers last week after a closely contested playoff in the FMFLant Bowling Tournament here.

Going into the playoffs Thursday, the two teams each had 13-7 records. The Cherry Point—2d Marine Air Wing—team took the first of a three game match with the Troops' team. Force Troops rallied to capture the second match, but the airmen overwhelmed the Troops' team in the third match and captured the FMFLant Championship Crown.

The three day tournament—hosted by Force Troops—saw MAG-31, 2d Marine Division, 2d FSR, 2d MAW, Hq Bn.—FMFLant and Force Troops vying for the FMFLant Rotating Trophy.

Five bowlers from the East Coast units reaped high individual honors for high games, high series and high individual averages. These top keglers, along with LCpl. P. Zimarino, 2d MAW, and Sgt. W. Bonnell, 2d MarDiv, will represent FMFLant in the Atlantic Fleet Bowling Tourney scheduled for April 30.

Runner Places Third Boston Marathon Jaunt

Breckenridge of Communications Support Co., 2d Marine Division, placed third in his performance in last year's Boston AAU Marathon. He finished fourth, by capturing third place last afternoon in the gruelling 26-mile, 385-yard run. Villanova long-distance runner was the first to cross the finish off the course record of 2:20:05 he set to win in 1957.

This marks the fourth time that the Lejeune distance star has competed this year. At the 10th Marines intramural track meet, Breckenridge finished first in the two-mile run. At Quantico earlier this month, the Lejeune lieutenant finished first in the All-Marine 5,000-meter run with a time of 14 minutes, 58 seconds.

Finishing second in the 10,000-meter run for the Quantico Relays, Breckenridge established a new All-Marine record for the event, being clocked at 30 minutes, 47 seconds, almost two minutes faster than his 1960 time of 32 minutes, 16.2 seconds. He was awarded first place in the All-Marine 10,000 meters, which was run jointly with the Quantico Relays event.

The well-known scallop, a native of the North Carolina coastal waters, may propel itself several feet by flapping its shells much as a butterfly flaps its wings. This creature has certain seasonal migrations and tends to be gregarious.

He agreed to take her as a student and upon learning there was no textbook on the subject she decided that many other people might like to learn Sumi-e. She and Uchiyama worked on the book which was published last year in Tokyo. It is the first such book in English on Sumi-e. The creative expression of Sumi-e has been translated into words and drawings. The technique and technical terms (which are used sparingly) are identified and simplified for the novice. There are more than 50 illustrations, many in color, which reproduce Uchiyama's masterful strokes.

Arleigh Burke To Be Speaker At Dedication

Admiral Arleigh Burke, former Chief of Naval Operations, has been announced as guest speaker for the U.S.S. North Carolina dedication ceremonies in Wilmington April 29. The ceremony will establish the ship and her permanent mooring site on the Cape Fear River as the U. S. S. North Carolina Battleship Memorial.

The war-famed battleship was commissioned in 1941 at the outbreak of World War II. During the war the ship participated in naval engagements from Guadalcanal to Tokyo earning twelve battle stars and the name of being "the greatest sea weapon ever built by the United States" at that time.

The ship was decommissioned in 1947 and was turned over to the state of North Carolina Sept. 6, 1961 after North Carolinians raised funds by public subscription to establish her as a permanent memorial.

The ship has been open to the public since Oct. 14, 1961 and has had over 100,000 visitors since that time. At present visitors can see all of the main deck, the second deck and the machinery and equipment in a 16-gun turret.

NEW CITIZEN—Cpl. William Mackay, right, of 8th Engineer Battalion, Force Troops, and his wife, Anne, left, receive congratulations from Corporal Mackay's battalion commander, Lt. Col. James A. Harper, on his becoming an American citizen on March 14, 1962. Mackay was born in Southerlandshire, Scotland, and resided in that country and England before coming to the United States in 1957.

Scotland Born Marine Gets U. S. Citizenship Papers

Cpl. William Mackay, Hq. Co., 8th Engr. Bn., Force Troops, received congratulations from his battalion commander, Lt. Col. James A. Harper, on April 25 upon his becoming an American citizen. Corporal McKay was born in the county of Southerlandshire, Scotland, on March 1, 1935, to William and Mary McKay. He resided there until just after he began school, in 1942, when the family moved to the hamlet of Chequers, England.

In Chequers, summer home of the Prime Ministers, Mackay first came in contact with Americans through the soldiers who guarded the town during the German attacks on London. He became quite friendly with them, he says, and learned much about this country from them.

After the war, Mackay moved to Aston Abbotts, England, where he was "finished" (graduated) from "wing school" (roughly, equivalent to U. S. high school) in 1951, and, in 1957, at the age of 21, sailed from Southampton for America.

Six months after arriving in New York, Mackay joined the Marine Corps, partly due to the influence of a cousin, who had served in the Marine Corps.

In October, 1959, Mackay returned to England to marry Anne Eaton, but encountered difficulty in procuring a visa for her to come to this country. Not being an American citizen, he could not sponsor her himself. He finally secured a visa, and they arrived in the United States at the end of that month.

In 1959, Mackay instituted proceedings to become an American citizen, and in March, 1962, sponsored by 1st Lt. William Dickey, Mackay's platoon commander, and Mrs. Rosemary Madden, wife of Cpl. Robert S. Madden of MCB Motor Transport, Mackay secured his citizenship, taking his oath at New Bern, N. C.

Corporal Mackay and his wife and son, Brian Scott, reside at Midway Park. His parents and two younger brothers live in Poughquag, N. Y., where the elder Mackay manages an Aberdeen-Angus cattle ranch.

At the present time, Corporal Mackay is a Message Center Chief at 8th Engineers, and says he enjoys the job very much. He is undecided on his future, but would like to see the West Coast before leaving the Marine Corps.

Mackay added, "I like the American way of life, and so does my wife; this is why I also urged my parents to come here. Whatever my future holds for me, I'm sure I'll have a good life."

Marksmanship records indicate that as early as April 1979, a company of Continental Marines expended quantities of powder and ball in target practice.

CO's Get More Authority In Bill To Revise UCMJ

The House Armed Services Committee has passed and sent to the floor, legislation that would give commanding officers greater authority in handing down non-judicial punishment for minor offenses. Officials said there has been a feeling for some time that commanding officers did not have enough authority in disciplinary matters and has to resort to summary court-martial in relatively minor cases.

Lawmakers, at the same time, believe by stiffening judicial punishment measures a man's record will not reflect comparatively minor offenses, as in the case of a court-martial, regardless of type. They also believe that in time the summary court-martial would be seldom used.

The legislation (H. R. 11257) must now pass the House floor, go to the Senate for scrutiny and approval and finally to the President for signature.

Here are some of the non-judicial punishments commanding officers may use for disciplinary purposes against offending enlisted men:

Reduction to the next inferior pay grade, if the grade from which demoted is within the promotion authority of the officer imposing the reduction or any officer subordinate to the one who imposes the reduction.

Extra duties, including fatigue or other duties, for not more than 14 consecutive days.

Detention of not more than 14 day's pay.

If the punishment is handed down by an officer of the grade of major or lieutenant commander, or above, he may:

(a) Call for correctional custody for not more than 30 consecutive days;

(b) Call for forfeiture of not more than one-half of one month's pay per month for two months.

(c) Call for reduction to the lowest or any intermediate pay grade, if the grade from which demoted is within the promotion authority of the officer imposing the reduction or any officer subordinate to the one who imposes the reduction, but an enlisted member in pay grade above E-4 may not be reduced more than two pay grades;

(d) Call for extra duties, including fatigue or other duties, for not more than 45 consecutive days;

(e) Call for the retention of not more than one-half of the month's pay per month for three months;

(f) Call for restrictions to certain specific limits, with or without suspension from duty, for not more than 60 consecutive days.

A commanding officer could, according to the legislation, call for confinement on bread and water or diminished rations for not more than three consecutive days if he is attached to or embarked on a vessel.

Local Marines Honor Marine Drill School

Two former Camp Lejeune Marines, GySgt. James P. Adkins and Cpl. Sheldon J. Bathurst, recently returned from the Drill School and second place in the competition. Adkins and Bathurst were graduates of the Drill School last week.

Lt. Col. James P. Adkins, 1st Battalion, 2d Marine Division, presented the Marines with their diplomas and certificates. Adkins, a former instructor at the Drill School, presented the Marines with their diplomas and certificates.

Prior to reporting to the Drill School, Adkins and Bathurst were assigned to the 2d Battalion, 2d Marine Division. Adkins was assigned to the 2d Battalion, 2d Marine Division in February 1946, at Huntington, W. Va.

A former student of the Drill School, Bathurst was assigned to the 2d Battalion, 2d Marine Division in March 1946, at Huntington, W. Va.

Corporal Bathurst was assigned to the 2d Battalion, 2d Marine Division in March 1946, at Huntington, W. Va.

The Parris Island Drill School is a school of two such schools in the Marine Corps. It includes basic training, weapons, leadership, and instruction in noncommissioned officer duties throughout the United States and abroad.

Temperature

The stations will record all characteristic weather factors contributing to heat exhaustion and translate them to show the amount of activity Marines can carry on and remain relatively safe from the heat.

Units whose training programs will be directly affected by the weather may obtain readings from any of the stations from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Index readings are available for weekends 48 hours in advance at the Base Range Office.

Although the weather stations will be constantly feeding information to training units, individuals will be held responsible to condition themselves against heat by adopting common-sense habits as an added safety factor.

Excessive sweating and the resulting loss of body-salt is commonplace with summer. Salt tablets can supplement the salt intake and make allowances for the loss. Water intake is another important individual responsibility. Small frequent amounts are the rule as opposed to large infrequent amounts.
