Marine Blood Donors Aid Elderly Lady

Eight Camp Lejeune Marines insured the success of an operation on an elderly lady last week at the Onslow Memorial Hospital by their immediate response to a call for blood donors.

LCpl. J. E. Welinski and Pvt. M. S. Cook, D. Husak, R. M. Griffith, L. R. Robinson, D. W. Hutchenson, R. E. Smith and C. L. Elliott, all members of "C" Company, 8th Motor Transport Bn., Force Troops, received word of the need for blood from their company commander, 1st Lt. Robert Burgess.

Lt. Burgess was confronted with the request from a fellow church member, Mr. Fred Gore. Gore's mother-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Smith, was to undergo an operation requiring several pints of blood.

Minutes after Lt. Burgess received the phone call, help was on the way.

Marines at Camp Lejeune. The Marine Corps began participating in NESEP, which gives enlisted Marines a chance to obtain a college degree and a commission, in 1958. The U. S. Navy had commenced the program under a different name and different ground rules two years earlier.

The Corps joined the program to integrate scientifically trained Marines into the officer corps and to provide a program for meritorious enlisted men and women.

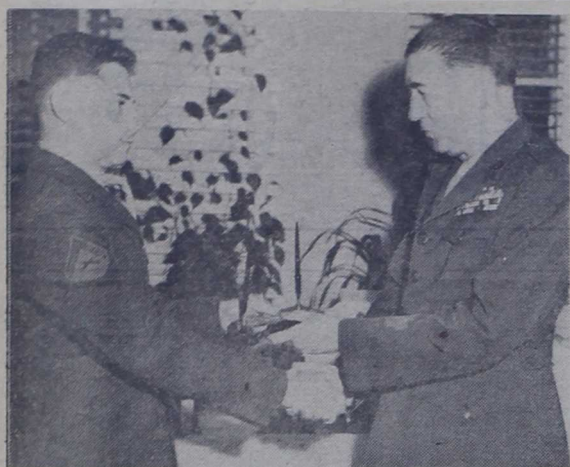

Applicants are selected by a board at HQMC after it has been determined that each meets the qualifications and has taken a screening examination.

Applicants may be either male or female, married or single, of any enlisted grade and either a regular or reservist on active duty. They must be U. S. citizens and have completed boot camp. Each applicant must be 26-years of age, or less, upon his entry into college; be a high school graduate or have passed a high school GED test; have a GCT of 125 or over, or if other points are high enough, receive a waiver from his CO for a GCT of 110 or above; agree to enlist, reenlist or extend to have six years obligated service upon assignment to college; be physically qualified and be recommended by his CO.

The eight Lejeune selectees will be ordered to a college preparatory course at Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Maryland, in May. Upon successful completion, they will be ordered to college in September. They will receive full pay, allowances, promotional opportunities and leave and will be permitted to wear civilian clothes while attending college.

The Marine Corps will pay the students' tuition, fees and books. The NESEP student may attend one of many universities, ranging

'Library Week' Activities List Author's Appearance

The Onslow County Public Library and Camp Lejeune's Central Library will co-sponsor again this year a "World of Books" fair April 8 through the 14. The fair will be held in Cowell Memorial Auditorium in the Jacksonville City Hall. Admission is free. The local fair is in conjunction with observance of National Library Week.

The purpose of Library Week is to stimulate interest in reading by introducing the citizenry to their local library reading stock. Slogan for this year is "Read and watch your world grow."

Activities in celebration of Library Week include guest appearances of literary personalities and book displays.

On the local scene, Leon Rooke, native North Carolinian, actor, author and playwright, will be at Cowell auditorium Tuesday evening, April 10. Rooke, a graduate of Mars Hill College and the University of North Carolina, worked for several summers as an actor and technician in Kermet Hunter's "Unto These Hills," outdoor drama at Cherokee, North Carolina.

Rooke has written plays presented by the Carolina Playmakers at Chapel Hill, the Louisville Art Center, the Mercer Players and Sequoia Theater. His fiction and poetry have been published in the "New England Review" and the "Carolina Quarterly." A series of his stories are scheduled for future editions of the "Paris Review."

Rooke is currently employed as a staff writer at the University News Bureau in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Camping Trip Tests Lejeune Scouts' Skills

Approximately 300 Boy Scouts from Onslow County pulled up tent pegs Sunday afternoon ending their three-day pre-spring camporee and a refresher course in "out-of-doors" living.

The camporee was held to prepare the area scouts for the East Carolina Council Camporee to be held in Wilson, North Carolina sometime in April.

The scouts left last Friday afternoon for their camporee campsite located on Highway 17 behind the Seashore bus garage. All of the Camp Lejeune Troops were present comprising one third of the total group.

Activities for the camporee included troop competition in knot tying, fire by flint and steel, tent pitching, first aid and a compass march. Onslow County scouts will vie against scouts from the East Carolina Council in these same events at the April Camporee.

Camp Lejeune scout units participating in the recent camporee were: Troop 190 from Midway Park and Tarawa Terrace; Troops 90 and 490 from Paradise Point; Troop 390 Knox Trailer Park and 590 from Capehart.

OLD ORDINANCE—Sgt. William L. Wilde, a member of 1st Marine Division, examines one of two British-made 52-caliber field rifles, part of a cargo carried by the Modern Greece, a blockade runner sunk off the coast of North Carolina during the Civil War.

Division Skin-Diver Finds Century-Old English Shipwreck

A 2d Marine Division motor transport sergeant claims to be the first human being to set foot on the remains of a sunken Civil War blockade runner Modern Greece which lay down off the coast of North Carolina in 1862. Sgt. William L. Wilde, of Hq. Bn., says he entered the wreck twice, once in June and again this month after the recent storm that swept the eastern seaboard.

The wreck—first sighted by a civilian diving concern three years ago—is located about 225 feet from shore in about 25 feet of water between Kure Beach and Fort Fisher, near the city of Wilmington.

The Modern Greece was a British sailing ship assisted by auxiliary steam power. It was trapped by the Union blockade while attempting to run a cargo of lead and rifles to the Confederacy. Wilde says he believes the vessel was deliberately scuttled in shallow water to avoid falling into Union hands.

He has already raised a number of 52 caliber rifles of English make, as well as bayonets and a large number of minie balls.

Wilde reports the Modern Greece to be considerably damaged by its century long immersion. "Most of the metal plates are pretty well gone," he said. "The wooden parts are better right now, but if they're ever raised, they'll probably fall apart in the air."

He said he found approximately 500 rifles and large amounts of ammunition and lead blocks. He estimated that the hulk holds about 20,000 pounds of lead in 300-pound blocks.

He has offered any items of historical value recovered from the vessel to the State of North Carolina. The sergeant explained that maritime salvage law gives any hulk found within a three-mile limit to the state concerned. The law also provides for payment of historical items, but Sergeant Wilde said that he would donate his find.

The sergeant credits a bottom of shell and gravel with helping him enter and explore the wreck of the Modern Greece. "Lots of stretches of North Carolina beach are so murky you have to work directly by feel," he said.

During his diving career he has made dives on both U. S. coasts, the Caribbean, the Mediterranean and the Black Sea. He admits that he has "collected an awful pile of stuff from the ocean bottom" during that time.

Among his collection are a number of old pieces of eight found in the Caribbean just off the coast of Costa Rica in 1952, and some pieces of 18th century German-made silverware.

Sergeant Wilde said that one of the oddest sights he ever saw beneath the surface of the sea was just off Vieques while he was in the Caribbean on a training cruise. While diving a short distance off-shore he rounded a rock and came face to face with a Model A Ford. The doors were open, the windows were rolled down, the car was empty. "It certainly as well have been sitting in a lot," he commented. "The tires were pumped up with air."

Another of the sergeant's finds was a sunken German submarine. Acting on the tip of a Senechal resident, Sergeant Wilde commenced a systematic search area. He found the sub two days ago, partly covered. When turned later, no trace of the boat remained.

Wilde estimates that during eight years of diving he has raised about 45 ships in different parts of the world.

Reservists Praise Training Conducted By 10th Marines

If I had to go into combat, this is the outfit I would go with," said Pvt. William S. Latimer II, one of 60 reservists serving his two weeks annual training with the 10th Marines at Fort Bragg, N. C. "The training we received here at Fort Bragg has been simply great," the Marine continued.

The reservists were given the opportunity to actually put to use what they had been taught in the classroom.

The 10th Marines, commanded by Maj. Wade H. Hitt, completed a two-week field firing exercise at Fort Bragg last Thursday. The reservists at the Army camp two weeks each year, utilizing live ranges.

The training for the unit was conducted in four phases. Phase I was Battery and Battalion Practice.

The reservists and Counter-Guerilla operations were conducted during the exercise. Ten men from each of the four battalions fired the "sniperscope," used in night firing. By use of infrared light beams and special lenses, the shooter is able to detect persons and objects which are not seen by the naked eye.

2d Division Skiers Battle Deep Snow To Set Record

By SSGT. E. D. BREY
2d Division ISO

Twenty-five 2d Division Marines were congratulated last week by Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Wieseman for setting a new record while attending Military Skiing School at Pickel Meadows, Calif. The Division Marines composed the bulk of the first class to graduate 100 per cent of its starting students since the school began in the winter of 1957-58. A letter to General Wieseman from the commanding officer of the Cold Weather Training Center praised the class for their singular accomplishment.

"This praiseworthy achievement," read the letter, "was accomplished under the most adverse weather conditions and reflects highly on the military competence of each individual. Their morale was high throughout the course and reached its peak upon the completion of a grueling three day cross country ski patrol conducted under near blizzard conditions."

Division Marines attending the school included four officers and 21 enlisted men. They were Capt. A. G. Hentz (class commander), 1st Bn., 10th Marines; 1st Lt. R. E. Lowe, 1st Lt. J. M. Mauere, and Sergeants Z. L. Dillon, D. L. Horne and D. G. Fullerton, 1st Bn., 6th Mar.; 1st Lt. R. D. McKinney, Sergeants C. F. Twigg and R. D. Ryan, Corporals S. T. Brown and T. J. Urban, 3rd Bn., 6th Mar.; Sgt. C. Wardlaw, Corporals F. A. Rodrigues, M. Gontar Jr., E. F. Greenough, J. L. Johnson, R. Klementovich and C. L. Matthews, 1st Bn., 2d Mar.; GySgt. R. L. Elliott, 2d Bn., 10th Mar.; Sgt. B. C. Braswell, Hq. Bn., Cpl. F. W. Herrman Jr., MTBn., and Sgt. W. E. Dilly and Cpl. M. P. Bourgal, 2d Pioneer Bn.

The three-week course provided students with basic knowledge on the movement of troops over difficult terrain in snow country. "Graduates of the school," explained Capt. Hentz, "are not expected to be accomplished snow troops. However, if need demanded and equipment was available, they could instruct an average unit to operate adequately on skis within two or three weeks."

The course covered basic cold weather and equipment subjects, tactical mountaineering, avalanche rescue, ski nomenclature and maintenance, downhill and cross country, skiing — including traversing up and down hills, snowshoeing, and skijoring.

Skijoring is being towed behind vehicles and is a good way to move large numbers of troops long distances. One snow vehicle can tow up to 25 ski troopers.

Capt. Hentz pointed out differences between military and recreational skiing. The military is concerned primarily with the use of skis as a means to move troops. It does not concern itself with skiing refinements and niceties used by sportsmen.

The equipment is also different. The men of the school were taught to ski using "micky mouse" or thermal boots. Although they lack the ankle support and are clumsier than civilian ski-boots, they are the type of footwear that normally would be available to Marines operating in cold weather.

During the second week it was estimated that from six to seven feet of fresh snow fell to mark the heaviest snow-fall remembered by permanent personnel of the center since 1954.

"The going in the fresh snow," said Capt. Hentz, "was extremely difficult." Vehicles from base camp, which would have supplied them with at least one hot meal, could not reach them. As on all ski patrols, the men broke branches from trees to provide heat to warm their field rations.

First Lt. Lowe summed up the final week. "We were taken by Otter (a snow vehicle) to about 6000 feet to begin our 25-mile forced march on skis. An intermediate camp was established at about 8500 feet. The snow increased to near blizzard proportions and going was extremely difficult. The eight-man teams, each headed by an officer student, took turns breaking trail. Several ridge lines were traversed before we completed the round trip back to base camp."

In commenting on the course, Lt. McKinney (a veteran skier who has served on Embassy duty in Switzerland) said that it was an excellent course. "Each man can justifiably feel proud in finishing a difficult course of instruction in fine style."

Nine Allied Officers Will Visit Lejeune

Officers representing the British Commonwealth, Argentina, France, Nationalist China, Venezuela and Korea will visit Camp Lejeune April 5-6.

During their stay they will be briefed by Base officials and will observe training of 2d Division units and the First Infantry Training Regiment.

Maj. R. E. June will act as escort officer for the group. The nine visitors are among the Allied personnel attending classes at the Senior School at Quantico.

Probably the most fitting tribute to the men who fought on Iwo Jima was expressed by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz. "Among the Americans who served on Iwo Island uncommon valor was a common virtue."

BACHELOR IN PARADISE
 Bob Hope stars in this goofy production of zany antics and predicaments covering North America and Europe. Hope is cast as an author who writes about how people act from first hand experience. Income taxes creep up on him and he's forced to leave his enter- taining search for material. He settles down in America to write a book about "How Americans Live" to keep his taxes from putting him in the "cooler." While writing the book, Hope becomes involved in schooling the female neighbors in the art of making themselves more appealing to their husbands. The husbands object and Hope gets into hot water trying to give a cool answer affording the audience with better than an hour of laughs.

HOMICIDAL
 A mystery story jam-packed with spon- taneous surprises with a catchy ending. Most patrons feel they've been "had" after seeing the movie, but admit the action and events leading up to the climax was worth the sitting.

MADISON AVENUE
 Dana Andrews portrays one of the "rat race" competitors in the New York advertising field whose cheese has been taken. He maneuvers his way back to ward the top using any and all methods to gain his end of ousting the one who first knocked him down. One of those "good for him" movies that everybody enjoys.

PRISONER IN THE IRON MASK
 The picture is based on the famous classic by Alexander Dumas. Plenty of sword-fighting, castles, and peasant re- volutions against pictorial backgrounds. One of those movies to pass the time away.

FROM THE EARTH TO THE MOON
 Sounds like one of Jules Verne's en- deavors. If we're right it should be pre- ty interesting entertainment. It's timely enough.

BERNADETTE OF LOURDES
 No available information.
MAN ALONE
 Good for one of those rainy nights when you feel lonesome and the first sergeant has you restricted to the Base.

It was during the Battle of Peleliu that the Marines faced the most effective defense in the Pacific.

Reserved Seats Available For Jose Greco Performance

According to sales records at Goettge Memorial Field House, there are still a few reserved seats remaining for the single performance of Jose Greco Spanish Dancers this Friday night. Reserved seats sell for $2; $1.75, and $1.50. General admission is 75 cents. The Greco troupe, a favorite booking for Camp Lejeune entertain- ment, is nationally known. Their program of Spanish dances is made up of samples from the entire range of Spain's terpsi- chorean heritage. There are dances of sadness as well as those of al- most boisterous humor, satire and pantomime. The smoldering Fla- menco fires are offset by the spon- taneous gaiety of the popular "jo- tas."

SPANISH DANCERS

In all, Greco has sought to provide the widest range of mood, tempo, pattern and character in the current program, an endeavor that would be well nigh impossible with any smaller or less perfected company than the Greco troupe which comprises upwards of 30 artists.
 Greco's dancers have the distinc- tion of being the first artists to have ever been booked for the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria for two engagements within a six-month period. In addition, the troupe has appeared at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, the Hollywood Bowl, Statler-Hilton in Los Angeles,

In the 147-lb. Welterweight class, Tommy Hennessy was scheduled to fight but he suffered a nose injury in the Florida AAU bouts and had to withdraw from the All-Marine.

Danny Garcia, Lejeune regular featherweight, will not be appearing in the All-Marine. He is engaged in a field problem with his organization and is not able to get away for the proper training.

Representing Lejeune in the flyweight class will be Bob Palmeri. This is Palmeri's first year in service boxing, and has recently won the 112-lb. Atlantic Fleet Tourney Crown.

John Davenport will be fighting for Lejeune in the Bantamweight division. Davenport has been one of the most consistent fighters for Lejeune this year. He fought last year while stationed in Hawaii.

Lejeune's big man in the Light Welterweight class is Leander Moore. This is Lee's second year with Lejeune, although he spent part of the last season with Norfolk.

Uelses Discharged

QUANTICO, Va., Cpl. John Uelses, the champion pole vaulter and the only man in the history of the event to clear 16 feet, received an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps last week at the end of his enlistment. His immediate plans are to return to his home in Miami, Fla.

Air Facility Golfer Scores Hole In One

With only two trips around the links of the Paradise Point Course, SSgt. Jim Entwistle of H&MS-26, performed the most sought-after feat in the sport of golf, a hole in one, two weeks ago on the Point's number 2 course.

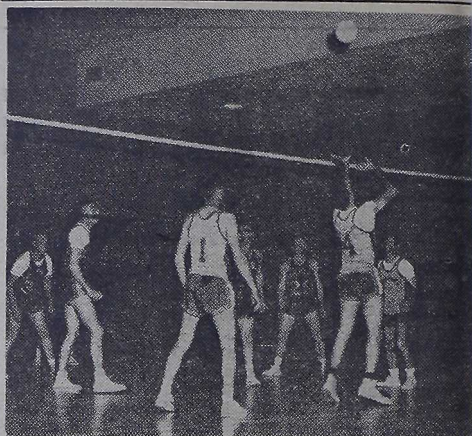

The 8,600 to one long shot came on hole four, a 148 yard, par three, on the course used by personnel who are not yet proficient enough for the championship course.

Using a seven iron, Entwistle, who picked up a golf club for the first time only eight months ago, blasted the perfect shot, which fell about 25 feet short of the pin and rolled up for the ace.

With the hole-in-one, SSgt. Entwistle also broke 100 for the first time in his short career, firing a 97 for the 18 hole course.

The once a week golfer started playing golf while stationed with the Marine Detachment, Naval Air Station, New Orleans, La., and continued when he arrived here at Lejeune last month.

Although not yet registered at the Paradise Point course, he is eligible for awards given by one of the top golfing magazines in the country for his feat.

Azalea Open Final Round Begins Sunday Afternoon

WILMINGTON, N. C. — This may be the year the 72-hole record for the annual Azalea Open golf tournament will be broken. With four former champions and many of the top golfers already entered in the four-day $20,000 tournament will be played on the rugged Cape Fear Club course, beginning this afternoon through April 1. And for the first time in seven years, since Billy Maxwell set the tournament record with an 18 under par 270, the field is liberally sprinkled with top names capable of challenging Cape Fear's long tees, fairways and greens.

Back for another chance to repeat will be former Azalea Open Champions Jerry Barber, who is also current PGA champion, Art Wall, Tom Nieporte, and the record-holder himself, Billy Maxwell.

They will be joined by such tournament favorites as Dave Ragan, Gary Player, who was last year's leading PGA money winner, Billy Casper, the National Open Champion Gene Littler, who is also current leading money winner, Bob Rosburg, Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald, the Hebert brothers, Jay and Lionel, Mason Rudolph, Fred Hawkins, Dave Marr, and Jim Ferrier.

In all, over 60 professionals have already entered, plus a contingent of pros from the Carolinas section of the PGA.

J. B. (Bunny) Hines, president of the sponsoring Wilmington Athletic Association, expects another 50 more professionals on hand for the tournament, including additional players among the elite of the touring troupe.

Host pro Hampton Auld says the rugged Cape Fear Country Club course will be in top shape. "But it will be a tough course for four days," he says, "and it will take consistently outstanding play to beat Maxwell's record. But I'll admit this may be the year."

Since Maxwell set the record in 1955, only Mike Souchak has come close, with a 273 in 1956 when he won the title.

The Azalea Open will have space for 10 amateurs, and already 17 have filed for entry. A qualifying round was played Tuesday, March 27, for five openings, the other five going to amateurs who are exempt from qualifying. Those exempt are Raleigh Powell and Bobby Harrell of Wilmington, John Hughes of Greensboro, Ed Justa of Rocky Mount and Bob Galloway of New York City.

The Wilmington Athletic Association will stage a $2,500 pro-am tournament on March 28, preceding the big Azalea Open. The field will include 150 amateurs paired with 50 pros, and will be in four-somes.

The victory for the week-end moved them to place tie with Lt. L. G. Dental Corps, who won in the race last Sunday. In the third leg of the series, held almost two weeks ago, Lieutenant Popp won with Lt. F. Kahn, from the 1st Division, in second place, and swiftly moved to place finish behind normal winds estimated at 30 mph. At times during the gusts were judged at 40 mph, the eight boats that were water at the beginning of the race only three were able to finish because of the tricky winds.

The fifth race in the series will begin this Saturday morning at the Wallace Creek Club.

Lejeune Nine Splits Series With Michigan State Spartans

r dropping their first two contests with Michigan State University, the Camp Lejeune evened their season's exhibition record by downing the Spartans in their meetings, 8-3 and 6-2. Rain forced the cancellation of the first game against the Massachusetts Monday, but the Lejeune Marines made up for their day off the New England college team in a doubleheader on Tuesday. In the first of a series with Michi-

Bill Tucker started for Lejeune but lasted only a short time giving way to Larry Ellet in the fifth. Jim Goodrich finished off for Lejeune from the seventh. Tucker was given the loss.

Camp Lejeune 8 Michigan State 3 John Holt's fifth inning home-run and Hal Norton's two run producing double paved the way for Lejeune's first victory over Michigan State on Saturday.

The Marines opened scoring with four big runs in the first inning and never lost the lead.

Lejeune scored another in the second to send Spartan starter, John Knap to the showers, added another on Holt's fifth inning blast over the left centerfield wall and then wound up with two more in the sixth via Norton's two bagger.

Michigan State reached starter Alex Bright for 12 scattered hits but had him in trouble only in the fifth when they got their only runs.

Bright was the first Lejeune hurler to go nine innings this year. Camp Lejeune 6 Michigan State 2

In Sunday's wrap-up, Lejeune evened the season record by downing Michigan 6-2, behind the three hit pitching of Jim Goodrich and the big bats of Hal Norton and John Holt.

Goodrich became the second local pitcher to go the route in the last two games, giving up only two rounds and three hits to the Spartan's powerful batting order that stumped Lejeune in their first two meetings.

Both Norton and Holt had two hits apiece in the series finale. Norton also scored twice for the winners.

Sluggers Salvage Second In Atlantic Fleet Tourney

The Camp Lejeune boxing team was able to pick up enough points to finish second in the Atlantic Fleet Boxing Championships held earlier this month at Norfolk, Va. From the opening of the tourney, the local scrappers were faced with the loss of their three top fighters, Percy Price, Leander Moore, and Ray Phillips, because they were not members of an FMF unit, but are attached to Marine Corps Base.

Every win that the Lejeune fighters posted were via the Knock-out routes and Coach Matt Hardmann is thoroughly impressed with the game showing that the locals displayed.

In the heavyweight class, Seben Jackson, who was fighting his first open fight, kayoed Ron Dickinson, the 1961 CruLant Heavyweight champion, in 47 seconds of the first round. This was the fastest knockout of the tourney, and was only Jackson's third service fight.

"He is one of my best projects," stated Sgt. Hardmann, after the team returned to Lejeune. "He can hit just as hard with either hand."

In the Middleweight division, Carlos Tapia scored successive knockouts over Jimmy Kelly of CurLant and Bob Caldwell of Sub-Lant to win the 165-lb title.

Clarence Glenn, who was a back up fighter this year for welterweight fighter Tommy Hennessy, stepped into the limelight by flooring Sid Brockman of CruLant in 2 minutes of the second round. Hennessy was injured during the Florida AAU bouts and will not fight for the rest of the year.

Both John Davenport and Bob Palmeri were victorious via the knockout route. Davenport, fighting in the bantamweight class scored a second round knockout over Bill Hayes of CruLant, while Palmeri, in the flyweight class kayoed Joe Perputa also of CruLant, in two minutes of the second round.

Lejeune High Meets Dixon In First Game

Coach Tom McGhee's Devilpup varsity baseball team swings into action this afternoon as they travel to Dixon to face the strong Dixon Bulldogs in the season's opener for both teams.

Lejeune is the defending Onslow County Conference Champion and is expected to repeat again this year.

Last season, Lejeune High, Swansboro and Dixon finished in a three-way tie for first place during regular season play. In the post-season playoff to decide the championship, Lejeune which drew a first round bye, sat back and watched Swansboro squeeze out an 11-9 victory to eliminate Dixon. On the following day, the Devilpups trounced Swansboro, 13-5 in the finale to win the championships.

The Devilpups tried to get Jacksonville High School for this year, but their schedule was full. Instead, they were able to add Kinston, a 3-A team, to the schedule for April 25.

For its opener today, Lejeune is expected to go with Larry Walt at first base, Ned Paulson at second, Dick Dube at short, Randy Fridley in left, Louis Paulson in center and John Winn in right. Jim Barrett will handle most of the catching duties this year and is expected to start behind the plate.

The starting third baseman has not been decided with candidates Jim Roloph, Jack Weeks and Steve Mihalak competing for starting honors.

The pitching chores for the opener will be handled by sophomores John McKeon and Charles Pruiett.

McKeon was the winning pitcher in the championship game against Swansboro last season.

Things Are Looking Up

Mel Anderson Tries Canada For Pro Play

Lejeune's three-time All-Marine halfback, Mel Anderson, signed a 1962 professional football contract last Thursday to play football for the Ottawa Rough Riders in the Canadian Professional Football League.

Mel ended his service football career at Lejeune last season as the Marines' leading pass receiver, taking 11 receptions for 184 yards and one touchdown. He was also the workhorse in the locals' winning campaign. On 75 carries, Anderson picked up 440 yards for an average of 5.8 yards per carry. He also finished third among Lejeune scorers with 22 points for the year.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Mel, a five-foot-eleven, 195-pounder, is the tenth new American to sign with Ottawa and the first recruit in recent years with no background of college ball.

MSgt. Everett E. Jenkins, 2d AmTrac Bn., was honored at a battalion mast last week by the battalion commander, Lt. Col. J. P. Treadwell.

The commendation letter presented to Sgt. Jenkins read:

"As Maintenance Chief of Company 'A', 2d AmTrac Bn., MSgt. Jenkins has, over a period of four years, made an indelible mark by the zealous, resourceful and dedicated manner in which he has performed his duties. Through his determined efforts and exceptional knowledge of his occupational field, the average daily LVT deadline has been less than ten percent. Through his constant ingenuity, he has materially enhanced not only Company 'A's' combat readiness, but that of the entire battalion. He has made many well-thought out improvements in content as well as boxing, and methods of handling the spare parts blocks that accompany platoons on various commitments. Through a combination of high personal standards and exceptional knowledge of his field, MSgt. Jenkins has provided a degree of leadership and training that has been readily received by his subordinates, which has led them to perform all their assignments with dispatch and maintain great pride in their mission. MSgt. Jenkins embodies all of those qualities established by Marine Corps tradition as an outstanding leader of men."

Local Scouts Give Aid To Storm 'Kin'

True to their Scout oath, the Camp Lejeune Girl Scouts responded quickly to the need of the victims of the recent storm which caused much damage to the outer banks of eastern North Carolina.

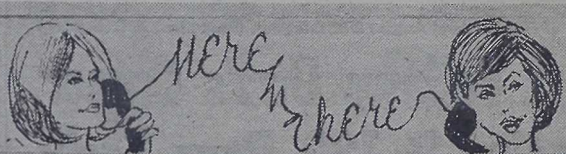

They have launched a drive to aid their sister Scouts who reside on the outer banks. Included in the items now being collected are: blankets, non-perishable foods and clothing. Upon receipt of the various deliveries of needed supplies, the outer banks Scouts will either distribute them or donate them to other agencies for distribution.

One carload of contributions has already been taken to Washington, N. C. and another for which Scouts of Troop 307 have been collecting for the past two weeks will be sent today. From there they will be delivered to Nags Head, N. C.

It is expected that all 6,267 girls of the Girl Scout Council of Coastal Carolina, a United Fund agency, will eventually participate in some phase of the project. Many governmental, civilian and volunteer agencies will assist the Scouts.

FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS — SSgt. L. I. Smith, Marine Corps Recruiter from Wilson, N. C. directs John Caddle III, center, to the dotted line starting a four year enlistment in the United States Marine Corps. Col. J. F. Mallard, Force Troops Chief of Staff, seated, and MGySgt. John Caddle, witness the signing. John the oldest of three sons, will enter Parris Island August 2 of this year. (Photo by Pfc G. Byrnes.)

Son Follows Dad's Career, Begins It 120 Days Early

Minutes after John Joseph Caddle III enlisted in the Marine Corps for four years, his father, MGySgt. John J. Caddle, Force Troops Communications Electronics Chief, admitted to the "wily workings of career lineage." "I brainwashed him in the benefits of the Marine Corps," Caddle said, "but he took it a step further. He enlisted 120 days before he has to go to Parris Island for training. He's insuring himself of a spot in the Corps."

John III signed up under the 120-day program to allow him to finish his last few months of high school. Following graduation he will report to Parris Island August 2.

Caddle has two other sons with itching feet for Corps travel, Kerry Ried, 12 and Richard Adrian, 14.

"If they had their way they'd join tomorrow," said Sgt. Caddle. "Just goes to show you, it doesn't take much to sell the Marine Corps in my family; they bought it a long time ago."

Hot-Rodding Cycles Menace Pedestrians

"Scorchers are endangering sidewalk pedestrians in Tarawa Terrace, according to a spokesman from the Base Provost Marshal's office.

"Scorcher" was a turn-of-the-century term for hot-rodding bicycle riders."

Youngsters are using the sidewalks and congested parking areas in the Terrace shopping center for riding areas, in violation of Base safety regulations. Bicycles are not allowed on the sidewalks.

Parents are asked to caution their children against riding on sidewalks, particularly in the shopping center.

MAG-26 In Week-Long Mock Battle

"Operation Foxy" got under way Monday morning as Marine Aircraft Group-26 loaded the entire group aboard helicopters and trucks and moved to their base camp at Oak Grove, near Pollockville, N. C. for their week-long annual field problem.

First echelons departed via HUS-1 helicopter Monday morning after elements of Marine Air Base Squadron-26 had been in the field for a week setting up the campsite at Oak Grove.

For the purpose of the problem, MAG-26 is considered to be in a secure logistics support area and from there will furnish helicopter support to hypothetical ground units operating within a 50 mile radius of Oak Grove. "Operation Foxy" is a test of MAG-26 equipment under field operating conditions, including the operations of their helicopters from the field.

According to the script, no regular enemy unit will be able to attack the airfield but MAG-26 will receive limited activity and harassment by "guerrillas," furnished by 2d Recon Bn.

LCpl. Corrado Accepted For Marine Band

A 22-year-old cymbal player with the 2d Marine Division Band has been accepted as a solo accordionist with the Marine Band in Washington, D. C.

LCpl. Charles V. Corrado will be the only accordionist in the Marine Band.

The young musician, explaining why he was playing cymbals with the Division band instead of the accordion, said that the Division band has no requirement for accordions and that "cymbals just seemed like a good place to put me."

Upon being transferred to the Marine Band, Corrado will be promoted to pay grade E-5. He stated that he will reenlist in July when his current enlistment expires, and that he hopes to be a career member of the band.

Before entering the Marine Corps in July 1953, he played with dance bands and combos around Boston, Mass.

NCOs Would Profit No From Proposed BAQ

Proposed legislation designed to amend the Compensation Act of 1949 has been sent to the Congress by the Secretary of Defense. It would provide an increase in the allowance for quarters (BAQ) for members of the armed services to meet the increased costs of housing in civilian communities. Current basic allowances for quarters are essentially those established by the Act of May 19, 1952, which represented a 14 percent increase over then existing allowances, the approximate increase in housing costs during the period 1949-52.

The allowances for each grade in the proposed legislation are based on current housing costs paid by civilians of comparable income levels. Data from numerous government agencies, including Census, Federal Housing Administration and Bureau of Labor Statistics, were utilized.

There is no appreciable increase recommended for the lower enlisted pay grades. Present rates for the lower grades are considered reasonable, based on housing expenditures by comparable civilian income groups and actual figures reported by personnel. The largest increases proposed are in the top enlisted grades of E-8 and E-9 amounting to 49 percent for a serviceman with one or two dependents and 66 percent for one without dependents.

The proposed rate structure also reflects these basic proposals of the Housing Panel: (1) increase by grade in the enlisted pay structure, as is currently the case for officers; and (2) increase allowances in proportion to the increase in housing costs at the end of 10 years of service.
