

Graham 'Crusade' Here March 18

Evangelist Billy Graham will hold a rally for the Jacksonville area at Camp Lejeune March 18 at 3 p.m. Dr. Graham appearing here through the efforts of the Jacksonville Ministerial Association. The rally will be held at Liversedge Field, Base football field, which has a seating capacity of 12,000.

ing facilities on the Base limited and the use of cars and chartered buses are arranged by Base officials. Gates are open to persons attending rally at 8 a.m.

There are no housing facilities camping areas for visitors on Base. Jacksonville Ministerial Association has been trying to promote a speaking engagement for Graham here for the past two years but could not due to lack of space large enough to accommodate the people desiring to attend. Camp Lejeune officials, at the request of the Jacksonville Ministerial Association, made available Liversedge Field.

The world famous evangelist, a North Carolinian, will be making his first appearance at Camp Lejeune.

Graham began his religious work at the Florida Bible Institute Trinity College, in St. Petersburg, Florida. He continued at Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois while there decided on evangelism. Graham's evangelistic efforts have led to the organization of the "Youth For Christ International" and his present "Crucify For Christ" rallies that have reached millions of people here and abroad.

Graham is regarded as the world's leading evangelist since Sunday.

CMC Authorizes Early Outs For Eligible First-Termers

The Commandant has authorized commanding officers to grant early discharges to those Marines in pay grades E-4 and below whose enlistment expiration date falls between March 1 and July 31, 1962. Dates include any extensions to make up for bad time. Only those Marines are eligible who are serving in their first enlistment stationed in or en route to the continental United States, Hawaii, Alaska or dependencies and trusts of the United States. All early discharges will be affected during March. Six-month trainees are not eligible.

Marines In Debt

Early separation will not be granted to Marines in debt to the government until the debt is dissolved or the original expiration date is due, which ever occurs first.

Requests

Eligible Marines may submit their request for an early out to their commanding officers. A copy of the request will be entered on page eleven of the requestor's Service Record book.

Aliens

Marines serving to qualify for citizenship are reminded that an early out on their part could interfere with obtaining immediate naturalization. Those who do desire to take advantage of the early out will be required to note their understanding of the naturalization factor in their request.

1st Bn. 8th Marines Return From Cruise

Last Monday, more than 1,000 sun-tanned, weary, happy Leathernecks of Battalion Landing Team 1/8 returned to Camp Lejeune after training in the Caribbean area with Amphibious Squadron Five of the Second Fleet. Commanded by Lt. Col. Emil J. Radics, the Marines made the first landing of 1962 for the 2nd Marine Division, with an assault over the beaches of Vieques, Puerto Rico.

The Landing Team's nucleus, was the 1st Bn., 8th Marines reinforced by other Division units, Force Troops, and Marine Corps Base. The Landing team was in the Caribbean area for six weeks while undergoing amphibious training.

Col. Haskins' Space Theme Wins Contest

The space race continues to lend itself to winning ways for Marine lieutenant colonels as Lt. Col. G. J. Haskins, Base Legal Assistance Officer, won the Area One Toastmaster speech contest in Wilmington last Saturday.

The exponent of legal matters capitalized on the present world shattering news of the successful orbital space flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. with a speech titled "Let's Go, America." Haskins compared the hero worship of Charles A. Lindbergh with that of Colonel Glenn.

Colonel Haskins said, "The solo flight of Lindbergh was an individual achievement, whereas Colonel Glenn was an astronaut team member and a functional part of a gigantic army of experts responsible for the success of his space flight."

"The victory of America's first manned orbital space flight was virtually shared by every citizen of our democratic country."

Colonel Haskins said that Glenn's victory was everybody's victory and allowed everybody a happy release of pent-up emotions.

Three local civilian clubs and the Paradise Point Toastmasters Club competed in the contest.

Maj. Ralph E. Brandel, Toastmaster Area One contest chairman, said that Toastmaster Haskins will compete again with 14 North Carolina East Coast Toastmaster Club speakers in Goldsboro next month.

Australian Colonel Visits Infantry Training Regiment

Leftenant Col. D. G. Sharp, Royal Australian Infantry, completed a three-day tour of Camp Lejeune last week observing combat trainees in action at the First Infantry Training Regiment. The colonel arrived here Feb. 28. Colonel Sharp observed all aspects of combat training including an attack on "Combat Town" and a firing demonstration of Marine Infantry Weapons. Capt. B. R. Cummins, Senior Instructor of Tactics for the Regiment, acted as escort officer.

Praises Training

Following his tour Col. Sharp compared Australian training sites with those at Lejeune. "Australian terrain is a little more rugged because of the mountains and jungle-like vegetation but I am impressed with the size and completeness of your training areas. Because of these massive facilities I can well understand why the United States Marine is called the best trained fighting man in the free world."

Australian Embassy

Col. Sharp came to the states in June of 1959 as a Military Attache for the Australian Embassy in Washington, D. C. He acts as a coordinator between the Australian Royal Infantry and the U. S. Marine Corps, arranging training appointments for Australian troops at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, and Vieques, Puerto Rico.

Base Safety Director Wars Against 'Killer Indifference'

Indifference to safety is a killer. Its an attitude responsible for thousands of needless deaths each year in the United States. Here at Camp Lejeune indifference is being curtailed through the efforts of Base Safety Director, William E. Carper and his assistant, Arthur E. Rodriguez. Carper and Rodriguez, armed with safety devices, slogans, and numerous inspections, are constantly campaigning to make safety more than a word at Camp Lejeune.

"Pointing out safety hazards," Carper says, "is not enough. Unless personnel and their dependents aboard the base can be made to realize the terrible consequences of these hazards, safety prevention programs are in vain." Carper's responsibility covers five main areas: traffic, industrial, training, recreation and athletics and miscellaneous, whereas at most military posts and stations, the safety department is responsible for only civilian and industrial installations.

The Base Safety Director's office harbors a stockpile of safety devices he employs in his programs. Equipment includes paint respirators, steel-toed shoes, protective gloves, goggles, aprons and seat belts. Except for the shoes and seat belts, all of the items may be borrowed from the stock room upon request. The safety shoes can be purchased at a reasonable price.

Carper claims that the seat belts are the most important single piece of safety equipment and strongly recommends that all automobile owners have them installed in their cars. Statistics prove that injuries were reduced thirty percent where safety belts were employed. All military police cars at Camp Lejeune are equipped with the belts as are the majority of State Highway patrol vehicles.

Carper believes safety begins with the individual and that it is the responsibility of every individual to impress upon those few "strays" its importance through setting an example.

Garden Yields Antique Car For Force Troops Sergeant

Shopping for a new automobile? Have an economy car in mind? How about one that could get 40-50 miles per gallon in the days when gasoline was nine cents a gallon? If this is the kind of car you want, you're in luck! There's one for sale. But it needs a "few" repairs because it's been resting in the earth for almost four decades.

The car is a Trumbull dating back to 1910-1914. It was uncovered on a farm near Snow Hill, N. C., by Marine Sgt. Leslie P. McLaughlin of "B" Company, 8th Engineer Bn., Force Troops, at Camp Lejeune.

McLaughlin was first told of the car by his mother-in-law, who owns the farm where the car was excavated.

First Owner
According to her, the car was last owned by an old doctor who left it where it was found after it broke down.

"For the past five years," says McLaughlin, "I've known the car was there. I had thought about digging it up several times, and finally got around to it this month."

The 29-year-old Marine sergeant and three of his brothers-in-law set to work uncovering the car Feb. 3.

Big Dig
"With all four of us working two days on two weekends, it took about 80 man-hours to uncover the auto," said McLaughlin.

After the remains of the ancient car were dragged from the excavation by a tractor, it was placed on a tobacco wagon by a hydraulic lift.

"We dug the car up with hand tools," explains McLaughlin, "and

'Weapon Docs' Arrive For Eastern Division Matches

Top Marine Corps ordnance men will be on hand at Camp Lejeune Rifle Range this year when Marine team shooters from posts and stations "east of the Mississippi" move to the firing line to compete in the annual Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol Matches in April. Designated Official Match Armorsers by the Director of Marine Corps Marksmanship, a four-man group of trained and experienced Rifle Team Equipment (RTE) personnel will be responsible for keeping the shooter's weapons match-conditioned.

According to GySgt. George Ksenics, NCOIC of the group and a match armorer since 1956, a match-conditioned weapon is a rifle or pistol that has been practically rebuilt from scratch — that is, it is worked over in such a way as to assure it functioning with a maximum degree of accuracy.

The other members of the group are SSgt. F. L. Rousseau and Sgt. James W. Spratt. A fourth member, at present unidentified, is due to arrive soon from the RTE shop at the Marine Corps Supply Center, Albany, Ga.

Ksenics and Spratt received their training at the Supply Center in Albany, and along with Sgt. Rousseau have been in the Marine Corp ordnance field for more than a decade.

Additional assistance to the group will be provided by Sgt. W. G. Brisky, who has been in the ordnance field for 18 years. A gunner's mate in the U. S. Navy during World War II, Brisky has worked with match armorsers during the past four Eastern Division Matches.

Ksenics and his men will have their rifle shop in a van parked between "A" and "B" Range, servicing weapons from both ranges simultaneously. The van is equipped with all the tools and machinery required to service the rifles.

"Ordinarily," said Sgt. Spratt, "a normal amount of ordnance problems consist of loose sights, gas cylinders or broken firing pins. Occasionally we confront something more serious like a bent operating rod."

Minor repairs on pistols will be accomplished in the Pistol Range Armory immediately in the rear of the firing line.

"It's going to be work," explains

Spratt, speaking for the group, "but we know what to expect and we believe that we can handle the situation regarding match-conditioned rifle or pistol maintenance."

Exercise

Elements of the 10th Marine Regiment, under the command of Col. Wade H. Hitt, will leave Camp Lejeune on March 9 by truck convoy to participate in the Regimental Field Firing Exercise at Fort Bragg, N. C.

During the three week exercise, the Cannonceers will use the 105mm howitzer and mortar. They are scheduled to return to Camp Lejeune March 23.

Midshipmen To Visit Base March 26-29

Camp Lejeune will be host to 15 NROTC Midshipmen from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute from March 26 to 29 for an orientation visit.

First on their itinerary will be a briefing at Bldg. 1. After the briefing the Midshipmen will begin their busy four-day schedule.

During their stay here the future naval officers will observe units of the 2d Marine Division in field tactics and artillery fire.

Force Troops will put on a special tank fire demonstration for the Midshipmen, and then give them a ride in an amtrac.

At the Infantry Training Regiment, the Middies will observe the individual Marine in training.

The Midshipmen will also participate in pistol firing and observe rifle marksmanship at the rifle range.

One-Owner Used Car

NEEDS MINOR REPAIRS—1910-1914 were good years for cars? This antique Trumbull was built at that time verifying the fact. All but about two inches were covered for almost four decades until Sgt. Leslie P. McLaughlin and three of his brothers-in-law excavated the relic. Four antique dealers are bidding for the car. (Photo by Sgt. Leslie P. McLaughlin)

we only used the mechanical devices to move the car after we were through."

Two antique dealers have already looked the car over and both declare it is in "pretty good" condition, even though it has been buried for more than 37 years.

One of the antique dealers thought the car was a Maxwell dating back to 1898. However, McLaughlin later discounted this theory when he discovered the name Trumbull on a pipe running from the motor block to the radiator.

This evidence was later strengthened when he read the specifications for his find in a book called "Those Wonderful Old Automobiles."

It's A Wonder.
McLaughlin's car, when it is restored, will be propelled by a chain drive. The relic still has the radiator, the drive, the engine, three of its original four fenders (perhaps the doctor's wife accounted for the fourth), one wheel, and the steering wheel.

The chassis is complete and most of the body is still intact.

The original spark plugs are in the four-cylinder motor along with a "Dixie" magneto which gave the car's electrical system "life."

It will probably take somebody quite a while to get that 18 horsepower motor operational enough to reach its original top speed of 25 mph.

McLaughlin has written to the Trumbull Manufacturing Company of Warren, Ohio, to obtain more information on his auto.

Comparison
The nomenclature of the old Trumbull makes the cars of today look like a comparison between a six-foot skiff and the Queen Mary.

The two occupants of the 650 lb. vehicle sat side by side. The wheel base is 80" and the car had a turning radius of 44 feet. Its 2.87 bore and 4.00 stroke made it one of the more "dependable" autos of its time. The water-cooled engine was lubricated by a pump. An Atwater Kent ignition provided "fast starts" for the Trumbull and the transmission worked by friction.

Once the antique is restored, and has all four fenders again, it will probably go on display in some car showroom, or it may fall into the hands of a woman antique collector.

Who knows—40 years from now the same Trumbull may again be excavated from the earth . . . minus a fender.

Alert Company Launches Wide Education Program

"I" Co., 3rd Bn., 6th Marines, launched a company-wide education program here Feb. 20 by administering General Educational Development Tests to 120 non-high school graduates.

The company took the tests while serving as alert company of the 2d Marine Division. 1st Lt. Herbert H. Hawkins, company commanding officer, said

"I" Co., marked the first time a complete alert company of the 2d Marine Division has been established. The company, he stated, establish a precedent and companies might place a GED training period in their training schedule.

If past statistics are any indication, "I" Co. has taken a giant step toward accomplishing its purpose by becoming the best educated company in the division. Sergeant Fleur said that about 85 percent of all Marines given the test passed it. From these figures, it is expected that 102 of the 120 will pass the test. This will mean that all except 18 men of "I" will hold high school completion certificates.

GED tests give military personnel a chance to finish high school by taking a battery of tests designed to measure their educational development since leaving school. Tests cover the fields of English, grammar, literature, mathematics, science and social studies. The given in five testing periods lasting from two to three

Chile Officer Earns Commendations Here

Training with the Marines at Camp Lejeune gives an opportunity for trainees that is impossible to get in Chile," stated 1st Lt. Lorenzo Lindermann of the Chilean Marine Corps.

Lindermann began months' on-the-job training with the Communications Section of the 6th Marines, 1st Marine Division. He explained that the Marine Corps in Chile has only 3,000 men and that the lack of men and equipment needed to conduct field exercises on the same scale as it is here.

One of his training is conducting field exercises. His work is to give him practical experience in military communications of battalion and regimental level.

The 26-year-old lieutenant at the Chilean Navy Academy was a paratrooper where he graduated as a lieutenant in December 1958.

Comparing the two military academies, he stated, "The Chilean Academy is patterned after U. S. Marines. However, the emphasis is mostly on the smallness of the Chilean Marine Corps prevents the formation of large tactical units. Tactics in the Chilean Marine Corps are of company size, but now in the process of increasing their size."

PONDEROSA'S MESS HALL—This is a diagonal view of Field Mess Hall No. 302 in the 1st Infantry Training Regiment's Verona Training Area. Field Mess Is 'Bonanza' For Hungry ITR Trainees

Field Mess Hall 302 at the 1st Infantry Training Regiment's Verona Training Area has attained the reputation of preparing and serving the best food of any field mess in the Armed Forces. Doubt this if you like, but you'll have about 4,000 Marine combat trainees to convince, plus more than 100 instructors who frequent the mess when training in the "Ponderosa" (Verona Training area).

Completed and ready for business in November 1961, the mess hall was constructed entirely by Marines of the 1st Infantry Training Regiment.

Regimental Commander, Col. Roy J. Batterton Jr., praised Range Maintenance Chief, GySgt. (E-7) Neil A. Vickery, and cooks, SSgt. (E-5) Paul Yarus and Sgt. (E-4) Paul C. Whitlock for being instrumental in the success of the project.

Prior to the construction of the mess hall, the diet of Trainees and Instructors consisted of "C" rations or food transported from the Regimental Area. Any Marine knows this type food is excellent in quality and quantity, but after splashing through swamps and learning the trade of a "Foot-Slogger", the smell of food cooking can be a morale booster that has to be experienced to be understood.

This is not the only mess hall of its type constructed by the 1st Infantry Training Regiment. There is another one on a smaller scale at the Race Track Training Area where Marines learn house-to-house fighting, crawling under machine-gun fire and use of the hand grenade.

According to Regimental Mess Officer, Capt. Constantine Albans, approximately 2,000 men are fed each meal during the peak of the training cycle.

Responsible for the preparation and serving of food to a number of this large is SSgt. Paul Yarus, non-commissioned officer-in-charge, three cooks and twenty messmen.

At present, "5-in-1" type rations are being served due to bulging warehouses. An unidentified Individual Combat Trainee summed up the difference in this manner: "The average family buys most of their food in cans. The only difference in "5-in-1's" is the color of the can."

Marines are given all the food they want each meal, plus a pack of their favorite brand of cigarettes. Non-smokers have many friends.

Col. Batterton eats at the mess hall frequently and explained, "Mess Hall No. 302 does an amazing job for its size and number of personnel and indoctrinates young Marines to field conditions."

Rhode Island Seabee Unit Observes Anniversary Here

More than 250 Seabees from Mobile Construction Battalion 6 and attached units who arrived here from Davisville, R. I., last week for six weeks of combat training, marked the 20th anniversary of their corps this week with a cake-cutting ceremony at the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range. The cake-cutting honors were rendered by Lt. Cdr. C. W. Calhoun, USN, commanding officer of MCB-6 following a full day of familiarization with M-14 and M-1 rifles and the 45 caliber pistol at the range.

After completing the small arms familiarization course at the range this week, the Seabees will embark for the Infantry Training Regiment facilities where they will undergo two weeks of basic training similar to that experienced by Marine recruits.

During the third and fourth stages of their training here, the Seabees will concentrate on Advanced Infantry techniques and specialized training.

The Seabees are scheduled to round off the final training activities with a joint command post exercise in cooperation with Fleet Marine Force Units.

Girls In Green Observe Fifty Years Of Good-Will

Almost three and one-half million members of Girl Scouts of the United States of America will celebrate their 50th anniversary on Monday, March 12.

Juliette Low organized the first troop of 12 girls in the United States on March 12, 1912. She brought from England the principles of Scouting as set forth by Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scouting movement, and adapted them to the needs of girls in the United States.

Since 1912, almost eighteen and one-half million girls and adults have enjoyed the benefits of Girl Scouting. For 50 years, communities across the nation have been grateful for the influence of Scouting on their young people and for the many service projects carried out by individual councils.

The impact of Girl Scouting is not only local and national. It is international as well. International friendship has been at the core of the movement since its inception. Through the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, American Girl Scouts are linked to their sisters in 50 other member nations. Each year sees the growth of international exchange of persons, including not only girls but adults, who belong to the World Association.

Both national and international Girl Scout programs are based on the code of ethics expressed in the Promise which today is just as valid a motivating force of Scouting as it was in the Movement's early days: "On my honor, I will try to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times, to obey the Girl Scout Laws."

Although they adhere faithfully to the original Promise and Laws of conduct, Girl Scouts have developed a flexible program to meet the needs of a changing world. This combination of stability and adaptability undoubtedly accounts for the tremendous growth of the movement.

The Promise is reflected in the girls' eagerness to serve their community. As they enter upon their golden anniversary year, troops throughout the country are pledging to carry out a project of service to the children and youth of their community. They will be putting into action the second part of the birthday theme, "Honor the Past—Serve the Future."

Our heartfelt birthday congratulations to the 460 Girl Scouts of Camp Lejeune on this their 50th anniversary and best wishes to those of tomorrow.

Chaplain's Corner

A real estate man was standing in front of a vacant store, waiting for a prospective renter, when a bootlegger approached him and said: "I have a quart of old stuff on my hip, if you would like to have it. It's 12 years old, and as good as ever made." The real estate man bought it, and, after taking several good-sized drinks, he was out in front of the place, waving his hat and yelling: "Lookee, lookee, the greatest show ever under a roof is now going on in the inside. The only troupe of pink elephants that ever came out of South Africa. Every known reptile in captivity. Every bird that wears feathers. Every monster that swims the sea. And, the price of admission is a dime, ten cents."

A man came up, handed him a dime, walked in, looked around the vacant room, then came out and said to the "barker": "It so happens I am a policeman. I expect you had better come with me to the station and tell the chief about your show."

The fellow asked permission to go in the room, which was granted, the policeman going with him. When inside he said: "See here, officer, you look like an all right sort of a fellow to me, and I'll tell you what I'm going to do. I am going to give you the best drink of whiskey you have had in years. It is twelve years old, and the real stuff." The officer took two drinks and immediately bought half interest in the show.

Suppose the policeman had been filled with as much of the Spirit of God as he was the spirits of corn. Rather than having a half interest in a non-existent show in an empty building, he would have had an eternal interest in Heaven.

Foundation For The Future . . .

Base Well Kept, Visitor Remarks

Keep it up. Keep up the fine appearance of Camp Lejeune's roads and grounds by keeping trash off them.

Maj. Gen. Theodore J. Conway, commanding general of the 82nd Airborne Division, commented during his visit to Camp Lejeune last month on the outstanding, well-kept appearance of our base. That comment came as the result of the fine job done by so many Marines, dependents and civilians who do their best to maintain our reputation as one of the most beautiful bases in the United States.

There are still those, however, who seem to like to be called litterbugs.

It's a simple matter to keep a candy wrapper in the pocket or an empty cigarette package in the car until they can be discarded in a receptacle rather than to flip them on the ground. But it is not an easy task for a clean-up crew to cover large areas picking up after a few careless individuals.

Litterbugs usually think that their one piece of trash won't make any change in the appearance of the base and that it can't make any difference to them individually, anyway.

Wrong on both counts. It only takes a litterbug here and a litterbug there to deface an area even as large as Camp Lejeune. A few little bits of trash call as much attention to themselves as a whole expanse of clean ground. Litterbugs call attention to themselves, also. Several are finding themselves with suspended driver's licenses or other stiff penalties.

There is no better way to give visitors a good "first impression" of our base or to make our drives and strolls more enjoyable. It takes only a little effort on the part of every individual to have a litter-free base. We have a good start. Keep it up.

If You Ask Me: WHO WAS YOUR FAVORITE CHILDHOOD HERO?

SGT. GARY M. SCHMIDT — I think all children at one time or another have a favorite person they look up to — be it a famous movie star or just the neighborhood policeman. Mine was Hopalong Cassidy. I think I liked him because of his black suit and his white horse and his long fancy saddle. His friend and sidekick, whose name

I don't recall, used to make his westerns seem funny. It wasn't always the knock-down, drag-out sort of thing. The neighborhood kids and I used to go to the movie theaters about 30 miles away just to see Hopalong Cassidy ride from town to town, catching crooks and putting them in the hoosegow.

CPL. GEORGE J. OCKLEY — My childhood hero was Knute Rockne. He was the football coach for Notre Dame back in the '30's. Even though he was dead before I grew up, I used to read a lot about him. All the kids in my neighborhood looked up to him as a person and tried to model themselves after him. He's the kind of person a boy wants to be when he grows up. He did a lot for making football the great sport it is today. He's famous for bringing new concepts into the game of football, such as the forward pass.

SGT. FRANCIS J. OWENS, JR. — Going back to when I was a small fry, I think my favorite hero and idol was the policeman on the block. I didn't know his name, but he lived just a few blocks away from me and used to play with all the neighborhood children. I think that's why I used to look up to him. He always seemed to have time to talk to us. I feel that just about all children at one time or another want to be a policeman. To me, he represents all that a man should be — honesty, integrity, etc.

PFC JOANN CORRELL — My idol was Gene Autry. This is probably nothing unusual a lot of kids love the cowboy erns heroes. But was just one in a line. I liked him and always dreamt of being a cowboy. Gene was some and I loved singing. My father and I used to read comic books a lot, too. I used to be myself playing opposite Gene movies and he always came to my mind. I think I wasn't the only one who thought this way between the ages of eight and 12 years old.

PFC CAROL HAYES — I think my favorite heroine was Dale Evans. My mother and I used to read comic books a lot, too. I used to be myself playing opposite Gene movies and he always came to my mind. I think I wasn't the only one who thought this way between the ages of eight and 12 years old.

PFC BONNIE LUDINGTON — I was a youngster of 10 or 12 years old when I used to worship LaRue. I thought he was the most handsome of all cowboys. He had black curly hair and his all-black outfit was quite tough. I used to dream of being rescued by LaRue and in the end I would win his horse. All my friends and I used to go to the movies just to see him. We even bought comic books. Most girls of that age had romantic dreams about some kind of western star. I still think he's cute.

Mediterranean Cruise Boast

From sunny Spain to historic Athens—from Naples to Munich, Germany—from Cannes to Paris . . . These travels tell part of the story of the six-month operational tour in the Mediterranean for the men of BLT 3/2 which returned here last month.

Combining hard work and good liberty, the unit—commanded by Lt. Col. Stanley Davis—made visits to 11 cities and conducted five amphibious landing exercises.

Many of the Marines were introduced to Europe for Naples is headquarters for Allied Forces Southern Europe. Its sidewalk cafes, night clubs, beautiful churches and lavish cultural centers offer visitors excellent entertainment and sightseeing opportunities.

in 79 A.D. buried the city under cinders and ashes preserving the ruins with magnificent completeness—down to the fresh colors of wall paintings. Pompeii is famous for its cameos and Marines got a first-hand look at how they are cut during a tour of a cameo factory.

A tour of Capri included stops at the Blue Grotto, Ana Capri, Mt. Salerno, famous beaches and the Villa Jovis. The Villa on the slopes of Mt. Tiberius is the only one of 12 built by Augustus and Tiberius (first emperors of Rome) still preserved in its entirety.

An audience with the Pope and tours of the city's famous churches were included in the visit to Rome. The Marines also saw the Roman Coliseum.

The BLT left Naples Oct. 8. On the 9th, they made a short stop at Malta to pick up a British Royal Marine Commando unit which joined Marines in a landing exercise at Lomba, Libya.

The operation, dubbed Whitebait II, involved a total of 16 U. S. Sixth Fleet ships, 1800 members of BLT 3/2, and 550 British Royal Marines. Vice Adm. David L. McDonald, commander of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, commanded the exercise. The maneuver, planned since early last year, was staged on the same site as Whitebait I held in June, 1959.

Upon completion of the first exercise of the cruise, the battalion returned to Malta to unload the Royal Marines. It then set sail for Spain.

In Spain the BLT was split for the first time—part going to Valencia and part to Alicante.

In Valencia, Marines were given daily tours of the city and its surrounding countryside. People of the "Open City of Orchards" showed a genuine interest in the Marines and the ships they were aboard and crowded the docks to take advantage of daily tours of the ships.

The battalion left Valencia and Alicante Nov. 3, bound for Barcelona—a city known for its bullfighters and Flamenco dancers.

Barcelona's main tour was to Montserrat. The "mountain having teeth", as its name is translated, is the home of the Benedictine Monastery of Montserrat and is accessible only by cable car. It is noted for its statue of Santa Maria de Montserrat, "The Black Virgin", and also for special chocolates and brandy made by the monks.

While at Barcelona, the Marines of BLT 3/2 celebrated the 186th anniversary of the Marine Corps.

On Nov. 16, utilizing the principle of vertical envelopment and across-the-beach assault, the BLT hit the beach at Aranci Bay, Sardinia. The first objective was assailed by the Marines of Co. "L", who were transported ashore by helicopter. Objective Two was taken by Co. "I", coming ashore in tracked landing vehicles, while Co. "K" secured the third objective.

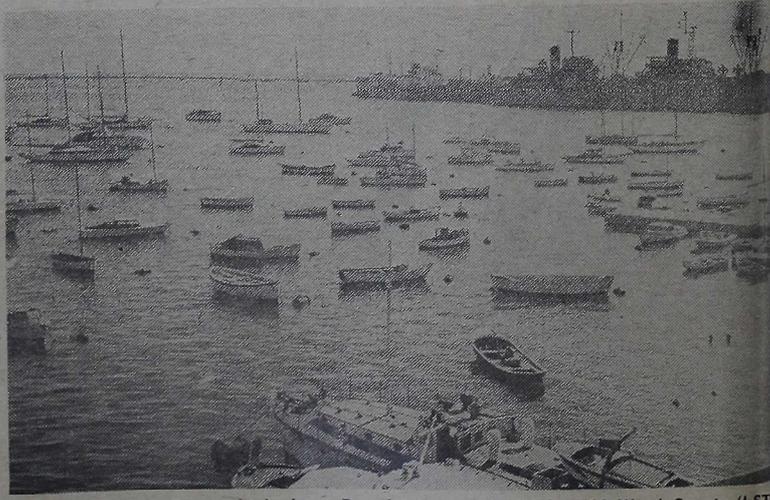

Late November found the battalion making a goodwill visit to Genoa, Italy—an ancient cultural center and now one of Italy's chief seaports.

Old Genoa is filled with narrow streets winding among great renaissance palaces. Famed points of interest include Stagliena, where the body of Mazzini is entombed, the Piazza Aquaverde (Greenwater Plaza) where the famous monument to Columbus stands, the Academy of Fine Arts, and the Palazzo Municipale (City Hall)—noted for its mosaic portraits of Columbus and Marco Polo. Speaking of a tour of the city, Cpl. Thomas W. McAfee, H&S Co., said, "I found it to be interesting and educational."

Genoa the Proud, as the city is called, has mothered many sons who have figured prominently in Italian and world affairs. However, she pays tribute to three above all others: Christoforo Colombo, discoverer of the New World; Nicolo Paganini, child prodigy violinist and composer; and Giuseppe Mazzini, the idealist statesman who struggled for a free and united Italy.

Tours outside of Genoa included a visit to Venice, a two-day trip to Pisa and Florence, and a four-day journey to Munich.

Pfc William A. McHorney, "I" Btry., 3d Bn., 10th Marines, who took the Munich tour, said, "It is the most fabulous place I have seen in my life. The people are very friendly and seem to be able to work, play and generally enjoy grand opening of the first permanent USO Club in Greece. Those in attendance at the Athens opening included Lt. Col. Davis, Capt. N. P. Watkins, USN, Commander of Amphibious Squadron Two; the captains of each of the squadron's ships; and Crown Prince Constantine of Greece who cut the red, white and blue tape to signify official opening of the serviceman's "home away from home."

The following day, the "Chiltoonaires", an instrumental and vocal group of five BLT Marines and four sailors from the attack transport USS CHILTON, performed at Pipka Hospital, bringing Christmas cheer to more than 100 young Greek polio victims.

While in Athens, more than 100 volunteers from "K", "M" and H&S Co., used their free time to help two elementary schools in Koropi, Greece, prepare for the new year. The Marines scraped, planed, sanded and revarnished 295 desks and refinished 12 blackboards.

Throughout the remainder of their stay, the NELS Marines held a variety of Christmas parties aboard their ships for youngsters from nearby Greek orphanages. Groups of children, ranging from six to 14 years in age, were brought aboard each of the ships and were treated to dinner, ice cream, cake and soft drinks. Each group received Christmas presents from members of the battalion.

On Christmas day, many of the Marines took advantage of a lull in activity by touring the city. They went to the Acropolis, Temple of Athena, Temple of Propylea, Theater of Dionysos, and the theater of Herodotus Atticus. Several members of the BLT were able to spend Christmas with their parents and relatives.

Pfc Gaetano Stassi, H&S Co., returned to his birthplace in Sicily to spend Christmas with his father and sister whom he hadn't seen for more than 10 years.

Pfc Thomas M. Hartley, H&S Co., was reunited with his father and mother after being separated from them for two years. Hartley's father is a major in the Air Force, based in Rome.

LCpl. Pellegrino Iasiello spent Christmas with his aunt and uncle. He hadn't seen them since he came to the United States in 1951.

For New Year's the battalion was split once again with part of the unit going to Messina, Sicily, and the remainder going to Reggio di Calabria, Italy.

The first landing of the new year for the battalion was conducted at Ptilos, Greece, on Jan. 8. The "touchdown" landing consisted of unloading the Marines on the beach and immediately reloading them aboard the landing craft and returning them to their ships.

While in Ptilos the battalion presented chemistry and physics sets to the local high school to aid the school's science courses.

The BLT's last port of call was Cannes on the French Riviera. Cannes—famed for its annual film festival—features miles of blinding white sandy beaches, wealthy resorts and glittering gambling casinos. Less than an hour's journey from the coast are Alpine peaks—providing coolness in summer and snow-sports in winter.

Guided tours to Paris, Monte Carlo, the Alps, and the Riviera itself were provided for the Marines.

"Outstanding," is what Charles A. Bellman, chief hospital corpsman assigned to H&S Co., said about the tour of the Riviera. In addition to visiting the cities of Nice, Eze, Cannes, Villa France and Grasse (France's perfume manufacturing center), Chief Bellman and the Marines with him stopped at the casino in Monte Carlo, the Cathedral of Monaco, and the medieval walled city of St. John of Venice.

Pfc Samuel G. Williams, H&S Co., said the four-day excursion to Paris had made him "a confirmed Frenchman. I would like to visit that city again."

Major points of interest covered by the tour included the world-famous Eiffel Tower, Arc de Triomphe, Versailles, tomb of Napoleon, Cathedral of Notre Dame, and the Folies Bergere.

The tour to the Alps was considered to be "very good" by 1st Lt. Michael O'Connor, platoon leader of H&S Co.'s 81mm Howitzer platoon. "There was skiing each day and ice skating and dancing at night," he reported.

The battalion conducted its final landing on Feb. 4 at Porto Scudo. The BLT joined forces with the 3d Bn. (Reinforced), 8th Marines, 3/2's relief as Landing Force Mediterranean.

GENOA — The home of Christopher Columbus near the gates to the old walled city of Genoa, was one of the many interesting stops made by the Marines during their tour of the ancient city. Columbus was born in Genoa in 1451.

3/2's "K" and "M" companies assaulted the beach and secured primary objectives. They then took positions to protect the exposed flank of the landing forces and to screen subsequent landing waves of BLT 3/8. At the same time, Co. "L", 3/2, stormed their main objective high in the hills to the north from helicopters. After the objective had been secured they marched southward to join 3/8's armored column which was working its way northward.

With direct artillery support from mortars and howitzers, the joint landing forces easily captured the ensuing objectives of the operation. MEDLANDEX 1-62, as the operation was called, was commanded by Col. A. L. Booth, commanding officer, 2d Marine Regiment.

GLOBE SPORTS

TOP SCORER—Pfc Andrew F. Downie, left, receives the High Individual Scorer trophy for Force Troops Intramural Basketball League play for 1961-62 from Col. L. A. Ennis, Force Troops' Deputy Commander. He scored 453 points during league play for an average of 29 points per game. Downie, a member of Communications Co., 8th Comm. Bn., Force Troops, was a member of Columbia College's basketball squad before entering the Marine Corps. He received the trophy during formal ceremonies held on February 28.

Force Troops High Scorer Leads 8th Comm. To Title

Last week, a North Tarrytown, N. Y., lad became the second member of the 8th Comm. Bn., Force Troops, basketball team to cop top honors for high scoring in the Force Troops Intramural Basketball League. The high-scoring cager is LCpl. Andy Downie of Communications Company, who averaged 29 points a game for his team this season. The 22-year-old Marine has been playing basketball for more than nine years. He played for Columbia University in New York City for two years before entering the Marine Corps in 1959.

Downie, a 6'3" forward, plans to return to Columbia after his enlistment is up and continue gaining cage experience.

During last year's action in the intramural league, Downie racked up an average of 22 points a game but was beaten out of top honors by high-scoring LCpl. R. J. Ankudovich who averaged 26 points for nine games.

Ankudovich has since left the Marine Corps and accepted a scholarship to play for Elon College of North Carolina.

In addition to the trophy Downie received for his high scoring, he received one for being a member of the Communications Battalion's team which took top honors for Force Troops Intramural Basketball League play.

Downie, a radio operator in communications company, has four other trophies for decorating his future den. Two in baseball, and in addition to his two other basketball trophies he has a third for being on Communications Battalion's winning team last year.

The only comment Downie had about taking the high-scoring honors was, "I'm happy"

Pete Close Finishes Fourth In Knights Of Columbus Meet

The 43rd Annual Knights of Columbus Indoor Athletic Meet took place on March 2, at Madison Square Garden in New York City before a crowd of 11,500. Camp Lejeune trackmen competed against the world's best in the mile run, high pole vault. In the Columbian Mile Run, Camp Lejeune's Lt. Pete Close remained the pace setter, Tom O'Hara of Loyola University, until the last quarter of a mile began to tire and was unable to stay with the leader. O'Hara was the winner, hitting the tape in 4:05.6 with Close finishing in fourth place with a 4:11.6 clocking.

The Invitational High Jump turned out to be a duel between Lejeune's Lt. Bob Gardner and Boston University's John Thomas. Both competitors cleared 6'6" with their first attempt. Thomas cleared 6'8" on his next jump while Gardner missed on his first two tries but came back to clear the bar on his last try. They both failed to make 6'10" on their first attempts, then Thomas on his second try came back to make a perfect jump clearing the bar. Gardner knocked the bar off its uprights with his trailing left leg on the second and last attempts, which eliminated him from the event. Thomas failed to clear 7' but took first place. Gardner took second with his 6'8".

Bobsledders Take First At Lake Placid

The bobsled champions from the 2d Marine Division have done it again! Last week Cpls. Gary Sheffield and Jerry Tennant slid through a heavy snow storm on Lake Placid's Mount Van Hoevenberg one mile run to take the North American two-man championships.

The two men, both members of the 2d Marine Division Security Platoon are the current U. S. champions, and earlier this year, made the best showing of any North American entry in the two man World Bobsled championships, but finished a disappointing fourth behind two Italian and one West German entries at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany last January.

In last week's race, with Jerry Tennant riding as brake man, Sheffield did the four heats in 5:12.9 to beat Larry McKillip, undefeated in 11 earlier races this year.

McKillip later won the four-man bob on the only American made sled in the field, and set a new course record of 4:36.67.

Last week's time was slower than their fourth place finish in the world's championships. In the January race, Sheffield and Tennant's total elapsed time for the four heats was 5:09.45.

These two Marines have made the best showing of any United States team in the last four years with their high finishes in two man competition in 1961 and this year.

Boys League Plans Gala Season Opener

With spring in the air and opening day not far away, Camp Lejeune's Boys League will hold an important meeting tonight at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held in the League clubhouse located at the entrance of Tarawa Terrace No. 1 and all managers, coaches and prospective umpires are urged to attend.

Registration of young boys who desire to play baseball continues at the Boys League clubhouse from 4 to 6 p.m. today and Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. Parents must register their sons during these hours by signing a player's certificate.

It is planned to open the summer baseball season on April 7 with a full schedule in all three leagues. The opening day ceremonies will be published after final arrangements are completed.

Relays on Friday and Saturday defeated the Cleveland Knights of Columbus on Saturday.

Quantico's John Uelses, still feeling the after effects of the virus, copped first place in the pole vault at 15'4" on the basis of fewer misses. Also clearing 15'4" were Villanova's Rolando Cruz, the University of Maryland's John Belitza and Henry Wadsworth of the United States Army, finishing 2-3-4 in that order on the basis of fewer misses. Lt. Mel Schwarz of Camp Lejeune was only able to clear 15 feet due to a sore ankle.

The Camp Lejeune trackmen will compete in the Chicago Daily News

Pups Finish Season With Tourney Loss

Coach Hugh Gordon's Lejeune High "Devilpups," who were marked as the "dark horse" candidate in the Onslow County Basketball Championship, were trounced by nearby Swansboro, 53-29, in the semi-final round to eliminate them from a chance for tourney honors last Thursday night at the Jacksonville High School Gym.

In the opening round of the championship tournament, Lejeune High overcame a stall through the first half, to edge pint-sized Richlands, 44-35, and to move the Devilpups into the semi-final rounds where they lost to Swansboro, the County defending champions.

In the Lejeune-Richlands game, Devilpup's Jim Barrett and Dick Dube were the only Lejeune men to hit in double figures. After battling for a first half deadlock at 21-21, Barrett and Dube connected regularly to move out in front 29-25, at the end of the third quarter. In the last stanza, Barrett, who ended up as high scorer in the game with 12 points, continued leading the Devilpups on to victory with his shooting.

The Pups put the game on ice with only two minutes left in the contest with Dube, who had 10 points for the night and Dan Paetow, who was held to eight, hitting with back to back baskets to push the Lejeune lead to 38-31 in the low scoring contest.

Swansboro Tops Locals

For their last tourney try for the year, the Devilpups put on an ice cold demonstration, hitting for four baskets out of 29 attempts in the first quarter, and were smashed by the defending champion Swansboro "Pirates" 54-29. Not only were they cold in the first stanza, but they duplicated themselves in the third quarter hitting for a mere two of 16 attempts.

Their bad shooting showed the difference in the score as the Pirates, who were unbeaten in league competition this year, outscored the Devilpups from the floor, 19 to 10 and from the foul line, 15-9.

Barrett was again high scorer for the Devilpups with 10 points.

MCS. QUANTICO 3—The Quantico Lejeune "Devildogs" today, 70-66, All-Marine Basketball Championships.

Quantico led through game, except for a late second half surge when Diego went in front, 44-40. Bob Cleary hit a jump shot to tie the score and Dick Markowitz scored two baskets. Quantico's 6-foot-5 center scored 27 points for the victory.

Sports in short

No Fights Tonight

Another cancellation and another idle Thursday evening for the Lejeune Boxing Team. It seems that the local pugilists cannot even buy opponents. The cancellation of Friday night's bout with Charleston Air Force Base is the seventh cancellation of the season and the eighth at home. There will be no more boxing at Camp Lejeune until after the All-Marine Championships begin on April 4. It is too bad since boxing seems to be the largest sport in attendance aboard the base, topped by football. Charleston's withdrawal from the scheduled bouts was due to a flu epidemic there.

All-Marine Champions

The Quantico Leathernecks performed the expected Saturday night as they downed the San Diego Marines, 71-60, to capture the All-Marine Basketball Championship. Markowitz, the former George Washington University, was high man of the game with 27 points for Quantico. High man for San Diego was Cozell Walker with 18 points.

The starting five from both San Diego and Quantico are Al Sallee and Dick Hall, Quantico's bench strength, named to the Marine All-Star team that will play in the national AAU tourney in Denver later this month.

Football, Already?

Thirty-four Middies from last year's club including freshmen, took to the field last Monday for the first of a series of trials for the Navy football team. Among some of the newcomers to the team are three backs from last year's Plebe team. They are Roger Stauback at quarterback, Bill Donnelly at fullback and Darryl Hill at halfback. In his last game for the '61 season, scooted 95 yards on a kickoff return against the Maryland freshman

Hill, a 6-foot, 186-pound speedster from Washington, is expected to be the first Negro to play varsity ball at the Naval Academy.

Spring Is Here

With the advent of warm weather, out comes the all-glove from the bottom of the foot-locker and out comes the can of saddle soap. It's time once again to limber up those lazy winter legs and arms by shagging a few balls in front of the barracks. No matter who the initial is, at one time or another during the summer months, he is bound to get the itch to grab a glove or a baseball bat and get with the program.

Tough Luck

It is known that there are many good ball players at the base who, because of their job responsibilities, cannot try out for the team. There is nothing that can be done about it, except say to these fellows, "Tough Luck", maybe next year."

Lejeune's first home game during the regular season will be April 29, against Ft. Meade. It would really be a boost to the ballplayers if we could pack Harry's Field for them. It is a Sunday night and an easy way to get out into the spring air.

Lejeune Team Sends Champs to Eastern Regional Match

Members of Camp Lejeune's Judo Club have been selected to compete for the Eastern Regional Judo Championship for Philadelphia, Pa., on March 11. Both members of the 12 winners of the Southern AAU Judo Championships held at Parris Island on Feb. 24. They are LCpl. Joe Longe, who took the 160-lb. championship in the white belt class, and Sgt. Ernest Smith, who took the "All-Kyu" championship title. The Kyu champ is the winner of a match between the white belt division and the brown belt division champion. Smith was the 180-lb. champ in the brown belt match.

Lejeune Club Begins Judo Class

The Camp Lejeune Judo Club has begun its first class to 10-15 members at 8:30 p.m. in Bldg. No. 28. Registration is necessary.

The class will be held every Tuesday night in the gymnasium (training arena) and is located in the same building as the snack bar for the outdoor movie.

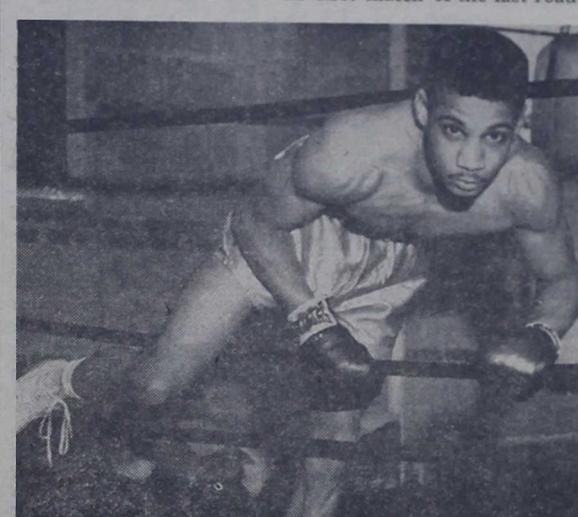

Membership is open to all personnel and dependents of age or older.

The Lejeune club is officially recognized by the Judo Kodokan in the Black Belt Association and the Amateur Athletic Union.

For further information contact the club at 346-6805.

Local Boxers Try For Repeat In Atlantic Fleet Tournament

Coach Matt Hardimann's boxing squad goes on the road this weekend for their last two engagements before returning to Lejeune for the All-Marine Boxing Championships, to begin April 4. The local sluggers were scheduled to meet the Airmen from Charleston Air Force Base tonight in the field house, but an epidemic of the flu at their South Carolina base forced its cancellation. In their first match of the last road trip of the year, Matt Hardimann and company invade Roanoke, Va., for bouts with the Roanoke Police Athletic League on Monday, March 12.

MILITARY AAU FINALIST—Lejeune's light-welterweight Leander Moore, who dropped a decision in the Military AAU bouts to last year's Interservice Champion Leslie Norris, now fighting for the U. S. Army, Korea, will be setting his sights for the 139-lb. All-Marine Crown later this month. Moore, last year's Atlantic Fleet champion, is ineligible for this year's title because he is not a member of the FMF.

and company invade Roanoke, Va., for bouts with the Roanoke Police Athletic League on Monday, March 12.

On the following Monday evening, the local sluggers will defend their Atlantic Fleet title in Norfolk.

Only Two Eligible

For the Atlantic Fleet Championships, six of last year's Lejeune titlists will be with the team, but only two will be out to regain their titles.

Ron Cooper, who gained the 119-lb. title, and Tommy Hennessy, the 147-lb. champ, are the only champs eligible from Lejeune. Of the other local title-holders in the Atlantic Fleet Tourney, Percy Price, Ray Phillips and Leander Moroe are ineligible because they are not members of an FMF unit, and Ernie Dawson, who has been assistant coach this season.

Action Last Week

In last week's Military AAU bouts in Washington, D. C., Ron Cooper dropped a decision to Bob Carmody from the U. S. Army in Korea. Although Cooper went the distance with Carmody, he was completely outclassed against the two-time Interservice champion.

In the only other Lejeune final, Leander Moore also dropped a unanimous decision to last year's Interservice 139-lb. champion, Leslie Norris of the U. S. Army in Europe.

Division Cagers Advance In Area-Wide Tournament

The race to the top of the Camp Lejeune Intramural Basketball Championship began Monday night at the Goettge Memorial Fieldhouse with the Marines from 1st Battalion, 10th Marines, outlasting 8th Communications Battalion, 78-61, to move into the semi-final round of the tourney. In Monday night's game at the fieldhouse, 1st Bn. maintained a lead throughout the entire game to post the victory, although 8th Comm. threatened intermittently. The Division team broke into the scoring column on a lay-up by Gary Harrell, and increased their marginal lead to 14-8 with only six minutes gone in the first half.

After 12 minutes had passed in the first half, the Force Troops champions started to challenge for the lead and moved to within four points of the 10th Marine cagers, 26-22. Three quick baskets squashed the early threat, and 1st Bn., 10th Marines again moved away, 32-24.

At the end of the first half, 1st Bn., 10th Marines, had moved into a 37-26 commanding lead.

With only ten minutes to go in the game, the cagers from 8th Comm. Bn., started to move once again, but the closest they could get to 10th Marines was seven points with six minutes to go.

The "communicators" cooled off allowing the Division cagers to increase their margin to 12 points with only five minutes remaining in the contest.

Bob Lowery was high man in the game with 20 points for 1st Bn., 10th Marines.

For the losing 8th Comm. Bn., Andy Downie was high with 19 points.

The championship tournament entered its second day of competition Tuesday night with the U. S. Naval Hospital, champions of Marine Corps Base meeting the runner-up in the Force Troops loop in the first game and the 1st Bn., 2d Marines, Division champs meeting the Air Facility All-Stars in the night-cap.

Dan Paetow Selected To All-Star Five

Lejeune High's high-scoring, 6-foot-5 center Dan Paetow was selected to the All-Onslow County Basketball team last Saturday night. The selection was made at the conclusion of the game between Swansboro and Dixon High Schools, in which the neighboring Swansboro Pirates copped their sixth straight County Championship by downing Dixon, 79-44.

Only Lejeune Entry

Along with Paetow on the County's top five cagers were Jim Corbett, who was voted the Most Valuable Player in the high school tourney and Ernie Wiggins from the champion Swansboro squad and Bill Banks and Kern Everett, both of Dixon. Wiggins, Banks and Everett are all repeaters to the All-County squad.

Second Half Spark

Paetow, who did not come to life on the court until the second half of the season paced the Devil-pup cagers throughout the second part of the season and guided them into the Championship Tourney.

Wildlife Club Plans Clubhouse Overhaul

Whisenhunt Retires; Service Spans 22 Years, Two Wars

A 22-year Marine Corps career marked by two wars ended here Feb. 28 for GySgt. James A. Whisenhunt upon his transfer to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. The veteran Marine infantryman was presented his orders to inactive duty by his battalion commander, Lt. Col. Ross T. Dwyer Jr., commanding officer, 2d Battalion, 5th Marines, 2d Marine Division.

At the time of his retirement Sergeant Whisenhunt was a member of the 2d Battalion's Headquarters and Service Company and was attached to the Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, where he had served as gunnery sergeant of Company "U" since last August.

Since beginning his military career with the Marine Corps on Aug. 13, 1940, he has come to call Camp Lejeune his second home. He has been stationed here on four separate occasions for a total of about nine of his 21½ years active duty.

During World War II he participated in the landings at Guadalcanal, Cape Gloucester, and Peleliu while serving with "T" Company, 3d Battalion, 5th Marines, of the 1st Marine Division. He was wounded during the operations on both Cape Gloucester and Peleliu.

Eight years later he was again serving with "T" Company, 3d Battalion, 5th Marines—this time in action against communist forces in Korea.

Although Sergeant Whisenhunt did spend a good part of his career at Camp Lejeune, his Marine Corps service enabled him to see much of the world. His far-flung travels have taken him to Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Korea, Indonesia, and New Guinea. On two assignments in the Mediterranean area he visited France, Italy, Greece, Spain, Sicily, Turkey, and Algeria.

Sergeant Whisenhunt is married to the former Miss Clara Stevens of Jersey City, N. J. He and his wife have purchased their permanent home in Wilmington, N. C., at 201 Pinecrest Parkway.

Palestine Will Be Topic At Officers Wives Club

"Palestine Today" will be the program presented to the International Wives group on Friday, March 16, at 10 a.m. in the River Room of the Paradise Point Club. Col. and Mrs. Robert W. Rickert will be the guest speakers. Colonel Rickert recently returned from a three-year tour as Deputy Chief of Mission with the U. N. Truce

Supervision Organization in Palestine and he also served as Senior United States Military Observer with the UNTSO there.

The Rickerts had many experiences while in the Palestine area. They lived in the American Colony Hotel, which was a converted Turkish palace in Jerusalem on the Jordan side. They occupied a suite in the hotel which was formerly the third wife's quarters in the harem. They had the opportunity to meet many Arab and Jewish officials socially and at the diplomatic level, which gave them a well-rounded look at the Palestine situation. Col. Rickert will discuss some of these experiences and also give an impartial observer's view of the Arab-Israeli problems.

Mrs. Rickert will present a display of curios from the Middle East. Included among them will be Hebron glass, Palestine pottery, linens embroidered by Arab refugees and copper bowls. Also on display will be the kaffieh and eagal, parts of the Jordanian officers' uniform bestowed upon Col Rickert when he was made an honorary officer in the Jordanian Army.

Assisting with the program will be mesdames O. H. Gaves, G. G. Chambers, Jr., A. Caputo and J. T. McDaniel. For reservations call Mrs. J. T. McDaniel, Ext. 6-6514; Mrs. A. Caputo, Ext. 6-6526; or Mrs. J. S. Perrin, MCAF Ext. 592.

Twisting their way to the first place trophies were Shirley Capek and Kenny Barnes. Runners-up were Margaret Lucht and Jerry Forchilli.

Jose Greco's Spanish Dancing Troupe To Appear At Camp Lejeune March 30

When Jose Greco and his company of Spanish dancers, singers, and musicians come to the Camp Theater on March 30 at 8:30 p.m. they will bring to concert-goers a sampling of the infinite variety of dances that come under the heading of Spanish Choreography. As Senor Greco explains, "Spanish dance is an all-inclusive term and one which people tend to associate with the fiery flamenco or with the gypsy dances. However, the Spanish dance consists of three separate categories: the flamenco, the classical Spanish dance, and, of course, the regional dances which spring from the different backgrounds in various parts of the country.

"Careful programming of these different influences on the Spanish dance is the keynote of a successful presentation," he adds.

Program
In order to represent the exceedingly wide scope, in both design and mood, of the Spanish dance, Senor Greco has carefully chosen a program that is made up of samples from the entire range of Spain's terpsichorean heritage. There are dances of sadness as well as those of almost boisterous humor, satire and pantomime. The smoldering Flamenco fires are offset by the spontaneous gaiety of the popular "jotas."

In all, Senor Greco has sought to provide the widest range of mood, tempo, pattern and character in the current program—an endeavor that would be well nigh impossible with any smaller or less perfected company than the Greco troupe, which comprises upwards of 30 artists.

Tours

Following a triumphant tour of the northern countries of Europe in 1950, the Spanish and British governments united in sponsoring Greco's first appearance in London at Covent Garden. Those who saw him were so impressed that they arranged for a month's engagement at Sadler's Wells Theatre during the Festival of Britain. Now in America, Jose Greco has been accorded a tumult of welcome such as to make ballet and theatre history. His transcontinental tours of the U. S. and Canada have been spectacularly successful. He holds the distinction of being the first artist to have ever been booked for the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria for two engagements within a six-month period. In addition, Greco and his troupe have appeared at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, the Hollywood Bowl, the Staller-Hilton in Los Angeles, Lewisohn Stadium in New York and the Caribe-Hilton in San Juan, Puerto Rico. He has played on Broadway to "standing room only" houses and has been seen on television on the Ed Sullivan Show, "Omnibus," and the "Big Party" and appeared in Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days" and 20th Century Fox's "Holiday for Lovers." He and his dancers recently filmed "Dances of Spain" for Walt Disney.

On the subject of his own dancing, which has caused many an aficionado to marvel at Greco's stamina and endurance, the dancer observes, "Physical ability is quite essential, but it is worthless without sentiment. If you haven't got the true feeling for it, it ceases to be an art — it becomes simply sport." Greco further stated that "acrobatics are not enough."

Information concerning admission and ticket sales will be published in forthcoming GLOBE issues.

DELUXE SERVICE—Staff NCO's are served meals "Waldorf Astoria style" by student stewards at the Montford Point Stewards' School. The lucky recipients of the first class food service are, from left: GySgt. Marion Lepczyk, GySgt. Robert T. Carver, SSgt. John Ledee, GySgt. Carle E. Lambert, and GySgt. Alfred G. Steward's School Features Experts; Widening Waists

Staff NCOs instructing at the various Montford Schools have reported a startling increase in waist problem attributed to MSgt. Grant V. Pace, chief of the Montford Point Food Service School. Pace heads to 16 week school for Marine Corps stewards featuring instruction in the art of preparing and serving everything from boiled eggs to the latest entry on any connoisseur's menu.

Graduates are assigned to officer's messes and quarters. The students prepare and serve meals to the Staff NCO's as a part of their training program. With the exception of the waist line factor no complaints have been filed.

Sgt. Pace is quick to credit the initiative and talent of his staff for the success of the school.

MSgt. Willie Kensey, Pace's assistant, is a dining room decorating specialist. He decorates the table with a multiple of art pieces made from drift wood as well as the walls of the dining room; result is something akin to that found in dining rooms of exclusive hotels across the nation.

Kensey says that "a be outstanding in quantity yet be soured, mosphere doesn't co. Students are constantly of this in their training."

Cpl. James A. Webb in the preparation of m sauces and gravies. Vegeting is handled exclusively by Carl Mobley. GySgt. T. Gibbs is responsible for administrative procedures in the room.

A modest crowd, when gives the credit to his point right back.

Sgt. Pace has been in the field for almost two years, nine of which were spent in Genoa, Italy, as the steward for former command Gen. Thomas Holcomb, and Lemuel C. Shepherd.

One prized moment of his Marine Corps steward career was engraved personal invitation from former president Dwight D. Eisenhower to attend his inauguration ceremony, the president in Kaneohe, Hawaii in 1952.

"Usually there's no delicacies served when I'm like the Chief Executive," Pace said, "but all he wanted was something 'nice to eat'—President got his favorite and guava jelly."

In talking about the school, Pace said the stewards' school is a training ground for stewards with military training.

GySgt. Robert T. Carver, frequent visitor to the school, summed up the training as "the school's talent and a guinea pig never good!"
