Younger Marines Inclined To Take Advantages For Granted

The biggest question in the mind of the young Marine today as he nears the time to make his decision to reenlist is, "What can the Marine Corps do for me now?" Many are under the impression that a Marine has to be in the Corps for 20 years or be a staff NCO before he can begin receiving benefits. However, the Marine Corps offers many opportunities, privileges and benefits to all ranks, available now and 20 years from now. Privileges Taken for Granted—Every Marine enjoys many privileges which he never thinks about.

Among them are:

- Free Lodging
- Free Meals
- Free Hospitalization
- Free Dental Care
- Free Movies and Recreation

Also there are scores of privileges as a result of the Post Exchange facilities, as 50-cent haircuts and inexpensive cigarettes. Other benefits include 30 days' leave with pay, options, bonuses, and clothing allowances.

Privileges Not Used

- USAFI
- MCI

Also few Marines take advantage of the opportunity to obtain a free college education and a commission as an officer through the

- Naval Academy
- NROTC Program
- Scientific Education Program

Unknown Benefits

• The Dependency Indemnity Compensation law, which generally speaking, provides free insurance.

• In-Service Home Loans (for those planning to buy a home).

• Death Gratuity—6 Months' pay to your dependent upon death with the minimum payment of $800.

• Legal Assistance in the form of free wills, etc.

These are only a few of the things that the Marine Corps can and does do each day, providing opportunities for every Marine.

TOP MAN—SSgt. George L. Doucette of 8th Communications Bn., Force Troops, demonstrates the correct procedure of inspecting a gas mask canister to his commanding officer, Lt. Col. H. H. Hawkins. SSgt. Doucette graduated with first place honors in the Force Troops Atomic, Biological and Chemical Defense School at Camp Geiger last week. He graduated first out of a class of 59 with an average grade of 99.35 per cent. This is the highest mark ever attained by any enlisted man at the Force Troops ABC Defense School. (Photo by SSgt. J. L. Magoun)

HARD CHARGER—Sgt. Edward J. Mechuta, of 2nd Tank Bn., Force Troops, receives a letter of commendation at meritorious mast from Brig. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commanding general of Force Troops. General Chapman awarded the meritorious mast to Sergeant Mechuta for his outstanding performance of duty during the time that he was attending the FMFLant Communications School at Montford Point. Sergeant Mechuta was selected class commander and while holding this duty, he was responsible for the conduct and administrative duties of his class. In addition to attaining a typing speed of 68 words per minute (the requirement is 25), he graduated first in his class with a grade average of 94.5 per cent, the second highest mark in the history of the class.

Future Look Taken Up At Board Meet

Mrs. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., Volunteer chairman, presided at an American Red Cross Volunteer Executive Board meeting at the U. S. Naval Hospital March 8. Chairman and Vice-Chairmen of the Gray Ladies, Staff Aides, Blood Program, First Aid and Water Safety took a comprehensive look at the overall volunteer program and made recommendations for future recruitment, training courses and recognition ceremonies.

Mrs. R. M. Lehman Jr. was presented her badge as a recently enrolled Red Cross Nurse. The nurse who serves her community through the Red Cross has the opportunity to make a unique contribution because of her specialized skills and experience. A nurse who is no longer active may also enroll and continue her contribution to the community and keep abreast of current nursing information, problems and skills. Mrs. Lehman is chairman of the Red Cross Blood Program Volunteers.

NOTE OF THANKS—Members of the Officers Wives Club wish to express their thanks to the above ladies who have guided the club's activities this year. They have been the "top echelon" of responsibility for the varied social and cultural program of OWC. Above, left to right, are Mrs. D. S. Pregnall, first vice-president; Mrs. O. H. Gaver, second vice-president; and Mrs. R. D. Wright, president of OWC.

Wives Club Praises Outgoing 1961 Slate

With the annual Officers Wives Club elections just around the corner, members of OWC wish to express their gratitude to Mrs. R. D. Wright, Mrs. D. S. Pregnall and Mrs. O. H. Gaver who have guided the club's activities this year. While their names have seldom appeared on the active committees of the club, nevertheless, they have been the "top echelon" of responsibility for the varied social and cultural programs. It was due to their efforts that a Cotillion was organized for boys and girls in the sixth through 12th grades this year.

Mrs. Wright, as president of OWC, presides over board meetings including the Sitter Service and Financial Boards. She is always available to assist club officers and committee chairmen with "unsolvable" problems. In addition, she finds time to work on Navy Relief each week, to speak at many group functions and to represent the club at various official and social occasions.

Mrs. Pregnall, first vice-president, is over-all chairman of all OWC social functions such as the Spring Fashion Show being presented next Tuesday, March 21. The myriad of details involved in their planning are invariably laid at her door. Staff aide work, scouting and youth work add to an already busy schedule.

Mrs. O. H. Gaver is second vice-president and has been the organizer of the very popular activity classes given by OWC. She acts as the liaison between the club and the teen-agers in the Cotillion group. In addition, she is currently serving as Chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

Supervised Schedule Offered For Children At Midway Nursery

The Midway Park children's nursery, located next to the Project office in the Midway Park Community Center, offers full-time nursery facilities for working mothers, both military and civilian, who are connected with Camp Lejeune. It also offers part-time or hourly nursery facilities for those mothers who may want to leave their children while shopping, visiting, or doing various errands that take them away from the house.

Normally children from two to seven years of age are accepted, but the Nursery Supervisor is authorized to make exceptions when the overall situation permits. All children receive supervised play under experienced attendants, some fundamental teaching and group exercises. Full-time children also receive two balanced meals (breakfast and lunch) and a two-hour nap period. A television set is available.

The Protestant Women's Guild will hold a meeting Monday evening, March 20, at 7:30 p.m., at the Naval Hospital Chapel. The speaker will be Chaplain W. S. Palmer and the title of his address will be "Walking with Saint Paul."

SPIZZWINKS

Officers Club To Host Yale Choral Group

The Yale University Spizzwinks will appear at the Paradise Point Officers Club next Wednesday, March 22, at 7:30 p.m. Their appearance is part of an annual Spring trip to cities in the South.

The Spizzwinks are not a mythical beast. Rather, they are a society of male singers who were brought together under the common guise of pursuit of scholarship at Yale University, but whose real pursuit in life is "the art of good living" through song.

They were founded in 1913 and over the ensuing years have been a conspicuous force of male harmony in the Eastern United States. Traveling usually in a group of approximately 12 men, they have sung for a large scope of different audiences.

They have no one dominant type of song or style. Their repertoire is comprised of folk songs, familiar and rare, of both American and foreign heritage, show tunes whose wit and originality make them timeless, jazz and popular ballads that have never gone out of style, and, of course, the always expected college songs.

Area Families To Get Better TV Reception

Camp Lejeune families will be assured of better television reception beginning in August due to a $750,000 expansion program started last week by Washington, N. C., television station WITN, Channel 7.

Included in the remodeling project of the station is a 1,521-foot tower to replace the 919-foot structure now in use. Standing 47 feet taller than the Empire State building, the new tower will more than double the signal strength in all areas presently served by the station. It will also extend the coverage area over 15 miles in all directions.

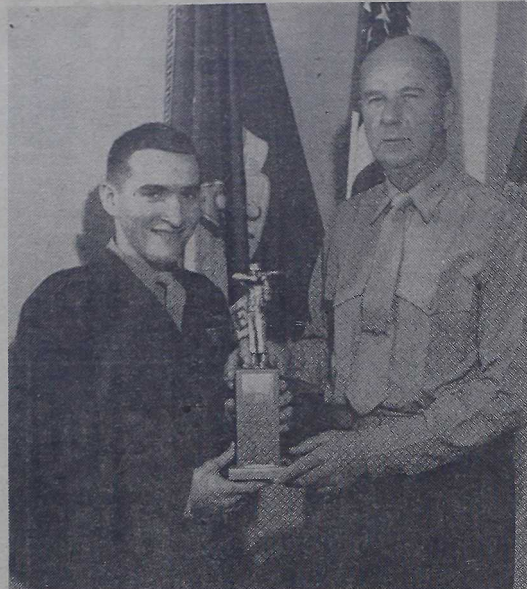

Also being installed are a new 316,000-watt transmitter (the present one will be retained as an auxiliary unit), the latest-model antenna and console Videotape equipment and a new vidicon film chain. Target date for completion of the new installation for the NBC-affiliated station is August 1, according to president and general manager W. R. Roberson Jr.

PMO Warns Drivers Of Towed Vehicles

The Base Provost Marshal, Col. H. G. Lawrence, urges Marine motorists to obey the North Carolina Traffic Laws pertaining to boat trailers and other types of trailers drawn by automobiles or pickup trucks.

The following excerpt from the Motor Vehicle Laws of North Carolina is quoted for the information of all hands: (a) No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent under the conditions then existing.

(b) Except as otherwise provided, it shall be unlawful to operate a towed vehicle in excess of the following speed: Forty-five miles per hour for all vehicles, of whatever kind, which are engaged in towing, drawing, or pushing another vehicle.

Cuban Expert To Speak

Special Consultant for the State Department on Cuba, Mr. Daniel Braddock, will speak on "Inside Cuba Today" at the Paradise Point Officers Club, March 28. Sponsored by the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point Bar Association, the affair will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Formerly charge de affairs of Cuba, Mr. Braddock was the last man attached to the American embassy in Havana to leave after diplomatic relations had been severed with Cuba.

All officers at Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point are invited to attend the event. Secret clearance is required.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. at the club, followed by the speech. Cost of the dinner is three dollars per person. Officers desiring to attend should contact their unit legal officers.

Hadnot Staff Club Installs New Stereo Sound System

Archie's Selection of the Week is now in stereo! The Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club has recently installed a Seeburg stereophonic sound system in its Mirror Room and Dining Room. Twelve stereo speakers are in the Mirror Room and four in the Dining Room. In addition, three stereo headsets are located at the bar for those who like to listen to music without distraction.

Evidence of the enthusiastic response to the new system, according to club manager Arch Rolband, is the increasing number of couples now dancing without a live orchestra.

This system, new in the "juke box" industry, is electronically engineered to produce a "listenable" sound. The maze of wires, speakers, "woofers," "tweeters" and controls all combine to produce the best possible stereophonic sound.

Each week, Rolband selects an artist of the week. Ten new records by this artist are on the record player plus all of the top hit tunes. But in the evenings, the "listenable" and "danceable" music gets

Retired Placement Program Revealed

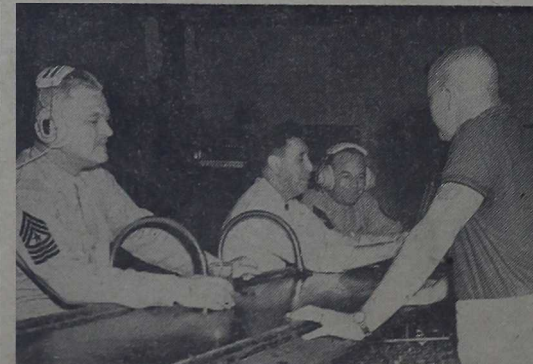

WASHINGTON (NavNews)—The U. S. Department of Labor announces a Post-Military Career Placement Program which is tailored for the individual who is retiring or has retired from his military career, but is still interested in active employment.

Interested personnel should contact either the U. S. Employment Service for the District of Columbia, Professional Office, Solar Bldg., Rm. 705, 100 16th St. N. W., Washington, D. C., or the local office of the Public Employment Service.

the big play. Rolband says the system will be extended upstairs to the Stag Bar in the near future.

Phone Change

The phone number for commercial taxi service at the Camp Bus Station has been changed from 7-5692 to 7-3694, effective immediately. Personnel desiring commercial taxi service should use the new number.

Commanding General Gives Shooting Trophy To Private

The top shooter's award for recruits during 1960 at Parris Island, S. C., was won by Pvt. Robert J. Leonard Jr., serving with Headquarters Bn., Support Co. "B," Marine Corps Base. Private Leonard was awarded the Brig. Gen. Calvin B. Matthews Rifle Trophy last week for having shot a score of 239 out of a possible 250 during his recruit training in March of last year.

Quick Rescue Of Astronauts Now Assured

In a few months, the United States may launch its first man into space. The recovery of this astronaut, far out at sea, will place unprecedented demands upon men, machines and methods.

The responsibility for this complex task has been given to HMR-461 of Marine Aircraft Group-26 based at New River. Commanded by Lt. Col. J. A. Etheridge, the men of HMR-461 have devised methods and equipment to enable them to perform this aquatic rescue.

The Sikorsky HR2S, a twin-engine land based helicopter with the long range and lifting capabilities required for this job, will be used for the recovery.

This week, HMR-461 volunteer, Cpl. R. J. Smith assumed the role of astronaut to allow the pilots and crewman to practice the actual pick-up at sea.

With a crash boat standing by, Corporal Smith bobbed in the hurricane force downdrafts created by the giant rotor blades of the HR2S while the pilots experimented with various helo approaches, hoist procedures, and hook-up equipment for suitability in surf and sea conditions. From these experiments, maximum safety and reliability of rescue procedures are being developed and improved.

The astronaut on his historic flight may rest assured that progress into and thru space will be monitored by proficient helicopter rescue teams along the route of his flight.

Quarters Police

The increasing number of badminton, croquet and other lawn games in front yards of quarters areas tends to present a poor appearance to visitors. Persons engaged in this activity wear down the landscaping and cause barren places. Also, bicycles, toys, etc., tend to add to this scene. Use back yards when possible. Keep garage doors closed. This will insure that our areas remain in the same excellent state of police as the rest of Camp Lejeune.

Amendments Affect Social Security Pay

The Commandant of the Marine Corps stressed the importance of military personnel keeping abreast of the latest developments in Social Security changes. In a recent bulletin, the Commandant emphasized that commanders in particular, keep abreast of all new developments concerning these benefits and the laws under which they are administered.

Probably the most significant change brought about by the recent amendments, according to the Commandant, is the removal of the previous age requirements of 30 years for disability payments. These payments may now be made to any severely or permanently disabled person regardless of age. This new provision is particularly important to those Marines being separated from active duty because of physical disability. They may now qualify for Social Security disability benefits as well as disability retired pay and/or severance pay.

July Reunion Planned For 3rd Division

The Third Marine Division has scheduled four days for its seventh annual reunion at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York, beginning July 20-23.

Robert E. Williams, 1961 chairman of the association's Reunion Committee, said the reunion this year was expanded to four days to allow more time for members' meet.

A special effort was also being made, Williams said, to have members bring their families. Special arrangements and activities were being prepared for the family participation.

One feature of the program will be a moonlight cruise around Manhattan island on Friday, with banquet and dance capping the reunion on Saturday night.

For further information, contact Chairman Williams at his home address: Main Street, Yaphank, N. Y.

Commandant Announces GMST Dates

MOS Testing Requirement Is Abolished

Last week, the GLOBE outlined the new Marine Corps policies for promotion testing. Now, an AlMar bulletin from the Commandant has set specific dates for testing under these new policies in which technical tests are no longer required.

The final testing period for Fiscal Year 1961, referred to as "Charlie-61" in the AlMar, will be held on April 7 for the regular establishments and on April 8 and 9 for the organized reserve. Only General Military Subjects Tests (GMST) will be administered. No deviation from this established testing date will be permitted.

Marines in pay grades E-6 and E-5 who will have 30 months and 29 months in grade, respectively, on or before June 30 of this year will be administered the test. Those in pay grade E-4 who, on or before Aug. 31 will have 19 months in grade and who have not previously passed the GMST will take the test. No one in a disciplinary status on test day will be permitted to take the test.

Purpose of the new policy is to afford greater coordination between individual Marine training and the promotion program. The plan will eliminate technical tests and simplify procedures for administering the test.

Passing score for the test is 65 per cent, based on material supplied with the Enlisted Extension School Courses and the Guidebook for Marines.

Adm. Murphy Visits Camp Relief Society

The Executive Vice-President of the Navy Relief Society, Vice Adm. V. R. Murphy, USN (Ret.), arrived Tuesday for his annual tour of Navy Relief facilities here. Mrs. Murphy accompanied the admiral.

Purpose of the visit was to observe facilities and to visit with personnel engaged in Navy Relief work. After official visits Wednesday morning, the admiral met with volunteer workers at Marston Pavilion to discuss mutual problems affecting the work and methods of improving Camp Lejeune's Society.

In the afternoon, Admiral Murphy met with volunteer chairmen and vice-chairmen. He then conducted interviews with Miss Anne Oates, Camp Lejeune's Executive Secretary and with visiting nurses and the Navy Relief office staff.

Admiral and Mrs. Murphy were dinner guests of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert B. Luckey, Base Commanding General, last night.

Director Of Woman Marines Visits Lejeune Next Week

Col. Margaret M. Henderson, Director of Woman Marines, will visit Woman Marine activities here next week. Woman Sgt. Maj. Bertha Peters will accompany her. The col- is scheduled to arrive at the Marine Corps Air Facility Wednesday evening. She will return to Washington, D. Friday morning. The visit is an annual inspection tour of organizations on the East st. Also included in the Director's itinerary are visits to the units at Norfolk and Cherry Point.

Gen. Luckey And Staff At MCAS Today

Maj. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, Base commander, and members of his staff will visit with Brig. Gen. F. C. Tharin, commanding general of the Marine Corps Air Station at Cherry Point today. Brig. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., Force Troops Commanding General will accompany General Luckey. Staff members in the party are Colonels K. A. Jorgensen, Base Chief of Staff; J. G. Bishop Jr., G-1; R. E. Collier, G-3; W. H. Atkinson, G-4 and W. C. Ward Jr., Base Controllor.

General Luckey and his staff members will meet with their Cherry Point counterparts to discuss and promote better understanding and relationships in areas of mutual interest. A similar joint orientation and visitation program was instituted recently by East Coast FMF commanders. (See page 3.)

Navy Magnificent, Says First Skipper

Maj. Gen. Clayton B. Vogel, first commanding general of the 2nd Marine Division, feels content that former command is in good stead and able to perform in the conditions of the past.

In a recent letter to Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, the present Division commander, General Vogel congratulated him upon the "magnificent appearance" of the Division during Operation Oldtimer. He said "... if called upon to do job it will do an excellent one. I will add more laurels to its already outstanding record. My best wishes to all hands."

FLEET CHAMPS—Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, right, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division, is presented the Atlantic Fleet Basketball Trophies by Maj. Ira P. Norfolk, coach of the Camp Lejeune basketball team. The Lejeune cagers, representing Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, retired the rotating trophy by becoming the first team in the tournament history to capture the Atlantic Fleet crown three consecutive years. The trophies will be forwarded to Lt. Gen. J. C. Burger, commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, for retention at that headquarters. On the left is 1st Lt. BLT 1/2 Lands On Island Of Gulfo De Catania, Sicily

WITH THE SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, GULFO DE CATANIA, SICILY (Delayed)—The calm of this Mediterranean island was interrupted last month when ships of Amphibious Squadron Six began landing the 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Second Marines, under the command of Lt. Col. S. N. McLeod. At 10 a.m., landing craft were seen offshore en route to the beach trailing a line of white foam in the waters of the bay while overhead helicopters of Sub-Unit one HMR (L) 262 commanded by Major Jack Cosley carried combat equipped leathernecks to the Naval Air Facility, Sigonella.

After wading ashore through waist deep water the surface landed Marines quickly boarded trucks and were transported to the airfield where they joined their buddies landed by helicopter and began to establish their bivouac area.

For the five days that followed the landing, the men of the BLT practiced and perfected their air-lift plans and techniques utilizing Navy R5D and R4Q aircraft. Helicopter training was added to give the Marines a change of scenery from sailing the blue Mediterranean to flying the blue skies. From 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily the Marines trained, exercised and engaged in athletics in temperatures that ranged from 70 degrees at noon to 40 degrees at midnight.

This period offered the Battalion Landing Team an opportunity to conduct inspections and to deliver promotion warrants to over 150 men. Among these were Master Sergeant Francis M. Sweeney of the Reconnaissance Battalion, who was promoted to First Sergeant and Henry Kolehmainen who was promoted to Gunnery Sergeant.

The Lejeune-based leathernecks are scheduled to visit Corfu and Patras, Greece, as their next liberty ports. They have already visited ports throughout France, Spain and Italy.

INSTRUCTION—1st Lt. S. A. Esposito gives a class in the use of parachutes before Marines of the 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Second Marines, board a Navy cargo-troop transport plane at the Naval Air Facility, Sicily, during field exercises, which were held last month.

ITR Planners Complete Pl Liaison Visit

Three officers representing the Infantry Training Regiment here made a liaison visit to Parris Island, S. C., last week.

Lt. Cols. Robert G. Howie and John H. Papurca, both battalion commanders, and John F. McMahan Jr., Infantry Training Regiment Plans and Training Officer, were at the recruit depot for three days.

Purpose of the visit was to coordinate training of young Marines who, upon completion of recruit training, come to ITR for advanced infantry training.

Exchanges of visits by similar groups between Parris Island and ITR insure maximum effectiveness of training programs at both bases.

After seeing recruit training outlined by the Recruit Training Regiment Presentation team at the Depot Theater, the visitors toured various facilities devoted to marksmanship training.

At the Depot and Weapons Training Battalion Armories they studied rifle inspection procedures and the employment of armorers on the firing lines. They also saw recruits cleaning their weapons after firing.

The ITR officials visited various recruit training battalions at night to observe recruit free time and after hours inspection methods.

The team also observed youths undergoing physical training, on the obstacle and confidence courses, drilling and various other phases of becoming Marines.

The visitors witnessed a Recruit Final Review ceremony and had a conference with Maj. Gen. Thomas G. Ennis, the Depot commanding general, before returning to Camp Lejeune.

Toastmaster Haskins Wins Area Speech Competition

Maj. G. J. Haskins, Base Legal Assistance Officer, representing the Paradise Point Toastmasters Club, took first place honors in the Area Speech Contest that was held at Owing's Restaurant in Jacksonville last Saturday. Toastmaster Haskins' presentation concerned itself with the education preparedness of young people today.

The question was raised, "Are schools producing a sufficient quantity of graduates to meet the demands of employers seeking qualified personnel?"

As area representative, Major Haskins will move to the next phase of the Toastmasters International Speech Competition when he participates in the Coastal Sub-District Contest. This contest will be hosted by Camp Lejeune at Marston Pavilion on April 29.

Second place in the area contest went to A. A. Krauss of the Jacksonville Club. R. Foran, speaking for the Cherry Point Toastmasters, was the third place selection.

Jacksonville Mayor J. Lewis was among those present at the area contest.

The business portion of the area meeting saw Maj. R. E. Brandel, executive officer of the 2nd Pioneer Battalion, elected to the Area Governorship. He will relieve the present Governor, Cmdr. E. B. Cook, head of the Medical Field Research Lab's Biology Department.

Cox And Cox Assume Duty With Division

Last week two new Marines reported to Headquarters Btry., Tenth Marine Regiment, for duty. Upon examining the Service Record Books of the two new men a series of peculiar coincidents was discovered.

The men are LCpls. John B. Cox Jr. and Kenneth R. Cox and both hail from Kingsport, Tenn. They attended Sullivan High School, in Sullivan Gardens, Tenn., prior to entering the Marine Corps in August, 1958.

Upon enlisting they were given their Service Numbers: 1688000 for John B. and 1688002 for Kenneth R. Following this, they went through boot camp in the same Recruit Training Platoon. After graduation from Recruit Training they entered the same MOS field.

The most interesting fact is, despite all of these coincidents, they are not related. They are just good friends caught in a web of unusual circumstances.

32 Pink Hill High Students Enjoy Day-Long Base Tour

Thirty-two ninth grade students and five chaperones Pink Hill High School, Pink Hill, N. C., visited Camp Lejeune for a one-day tour of the Base and its training facilities March 8. Arrangements for the tour were made by Mr. Edgar J. ... with the Base Informational Services Office at Camp Lejeune.

Marines Help Ease Famine Stricken Kasai

SOLANT AMITY, Feb. 28 (Delayed) — Marines of the SOLANT AMITY took part in an emergency food-lift designed to ease the suffering of thousands of Congolese in famine-stricken Kasai Province in West Africa.

The Marines loaded 20,000 bags of cornmeal and 200 cartons of powdered milk aboard the USS Hermitage, one of two ships assigned to the good will tour, now entering its sixth month of visits to ports in South America and Africa.

All food was loaded aboard the Hermitage at Lome, Togo in South Africa where the Marines set a record—550 tons of cargo loaded in less than three days.

The foodstuffs were ferried to the inland port of Matadi, 76 miles up the Congo river, where combined working parties of Marines, sailors, and Congolese stevedores, transferred the food to boxcars for rail delivery to Kasai Province.

Upon departing Lome, a message received by Rear Adm. Allan L. Reed, Commander South Atlantic Force, from the U. S. Charge d' Affaires in Togo, read in part: "... Congratulations for a magnificent contribution in the fast loading of Congo food relief supplies under extremely difficult conditions and for a smashing exhibition of how Americans can make friends and leave a reservoir of goodwill behind."

Following the food lift, the ships of SOLANT AMITY made a goodwill visit to Pointe Noire, formerly part of French Equatorial Africa.

The Paradise Point Toastmasters will be at 7:30 p.m., March 20, at the Paradise Point Club.

Anyone interested in Toastmasters, contact Capt. Denis R. Horn, phone 0-1525.

TERRAIN MODEL—SSgt. Charles A. Russo of Communication Support Co., 8th Communications Bn., Force Troops, explains the terrain model which he built during 30 hours of off-duty time. The model will be used to instruct troops in tactics and amphibious warfare, along with a tactical map of the terrain model which will be made. Included in the model are all major terrain features used in map-reading instructions for Marines. Sergeant Russo made the model with newspapers, water, screen wire and scrap lumber, employing the basic map colors and combining them to make 10 colors used in painting the map. (Photo by GySgt. J. The ninth graders received this trip for having the largest attendance record at school for the last quarter. A contest was run between the ninth grades in the High School.

During their tour of the Base the students took a bus trip to the Main Gate via the Camp School, Paradise Point, Beath and the tank and gun parks to Central Area Messhall where had a steak dinner along with Marines who were having dinner at the same time.

After the tour of the Main Gate at Hadnot Point, the students visited the Marine Corps Air Facility where they saw helicopters on flight line. A scheduled helicopter demonstration was cancelled due to high winds.

Highlight of the one-day tour of Camp Lejeune was a trip to the First Infantry Training Regiment. Students saw young Marines in action through Leadville, I. Combat Town, which is used to teach the graduate recruits how to fight in towns or built-up areas.

They saw machine guns in action shooting blank ammunition as the instructors fired smoke grenades to simulate a heavy bombardment and booby traps going off.

After the tour, the students boarded their bus for the trip back to Pink Hill under the guidance of their teacher, Mr. Edgar J. Weidner and chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. J. Grady, Mrs. Allen Langston, Mrs. Jimmy W. Stroud.

60 Volunteers Respond For Anemia Case

Sixty Camp Lejeune Marines have volunteered to donate blood to an 18-year-old victim of anemia, in response to a plea published in the GLOBE last week.

The victim is Miss Joyce Haynes of Wilmington, N. C. She requires two pints of blood every six to eight weeks due to the disease.

The volunteers were from the Atlantic Fleet Marine Force Communications School at Montford Point, which is run by the 8th Communications Bn., Force Troops. Eighteen of the men went to Wilmington Saturday to donate the blood.

SSgt. J. J. Merkle, administration chief of the Comm School, headed the drive at the school for blood for the young anemia victim.

In response, 60 men from the school offered to give their blood, but the Community Hospital in Wilmington could only handle 18.

The girl's family is unable to donate blood because of the same disease. Miss Haynes requires type "O" blood.

The Marines left the Montford Point area by special bus and traveled to the Wilmington Community Hospital where they made their donation.

The Marines who donated blood were Pvt. Riffle C. Turner, Pfc James W. Lacourse, Pfc Tommy L. Sutton, Pfc David J. Cronin, Pfc Robert R. Childers, Pfc Kenneth W. Akesson, Pfc Frank J. Grace, Pfc Henry E. Walshe.

LCpl. David D. Thrall, Pfc Frederick L. Pypin, Pvt. William F. Scott, Pvt. Harry A. Herron, Pfc John W. Holcomb, Pfc Richard D. Kaleda, Pfc Thomas A. Lyons, Pfc John E. Grace, and Pvt. Edward G. Snyder.

Beer Can Dropped On Iwo Intact After 16 Years 'Duty'

"It's Lucky when you live in California (or Iwo Jima)," so thought MSgt. S. O. Jones (Ret.) on a February day in 1945 shortly after landing on that island and having a can of beer come floating into his lap. Jones, now employed as a leading man at the Base Ammunition Depot, was a gunnery sergeant then and in charge of an ammunition detail. With the supply of 81mm mortar shells depleted and none yet coming over the beach, an air drop was called for. Transport planes from Saipan were dispatched to parachute the needed ammunition to continue the drive against Japanese resistance on the tiny island. As the planes swung low over the small air strip near Mt. Suribachi, the "gunny" and his men raced to recover the 'chutes and their cargo.

It was then Jones considered himself "lucky." Attached to one of the ammo 'chutes was a can of Lucky Lager beer, a most welcome sight in the heat of battle. Attached to the can was a small tag reading, "Compliments of Air Del Ser VAC." Sources at the Air Facility thought VAC to mean Fifth Amphibious Corps. Not wanting to drink it in front of his men, Jones put the can in his pack. Later he decided to keep it as souvenir if he ever came off the island.

The 8th Ammunition Co., 5th Pioneer Bn., to which Jones was attached was kept on the move. Prior to moving to Hawaii, Jones inserted the beer can into his bed roll where it remained for some 13 years.

From Hawaii, the can traveled with Jones to Japan during the occupation, to Guam and then back to the United States, landing in San Francisco. From there, Jones and his beer can went to San Diego, New Orleans, and then to Columbus, Ohio, on leave where the future Mrs. Jones awaited. There he left the bed roll.

Last year, Jones returned to Ohio and discovered the old bed roll and brought it back with him. Then last week while browsing through his attic at 213 Brentwood in Jacksonville, he again ran across the beer can, the label somewhat faded but with the complimentary tag attached.

The can is not quite full, perhaps due to evaporation, but the fluid is still there. Jones does not know who dropped the can but he is thankful they did.

FMF Commanders Call For Closer Air-Ground Support

The close integration of the Marine Corps' East Coast air-ground teams will be even closer in the future. In a joint letter, the three commanding generals of the FMF commands in the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point complex have called for a program of joint orientation and visitation within the commands. The letter, which was signed by Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, Maj. Gen. R. K. Rottet, and Brig. Gen. L. F. Chapman Jr. pointed out the necessity of working together toward a common goal, and the already existing spirit of fellowship and cooperation which has welded Marine air and ground units into effective teams.

But the commanders recognized that there was room for improvement and outlined a program that would create closer working relationships between the three major commands. Joint Mess Nights, Battalion/Squadron parties, and exchange visits at Change of Command ceremonies were cited as starting points for the program.

Demonstrations by specialist groups such as reconnaissance personnel and the installation of new equipment were also suggested as areas in which subordinate commanders and staff members of the Tri-Command could get together.

The main purpose of the program is to foster greater understanding among members of the commands with each other's organizations, operations, and mutual professional and social interests.

The extent and magnitude of the program is limited only by the ingenuity and imaginations of individual commanders within the organizations.

PTA Dinner

Cottage Lane Art Show Ready For Azalea Event

An informal art show, a theater cafe, music and dancing are the ingredients of one of the most popular features of the North Carolina Azalea Festival to be held in Wilmington April 6-9. The event is the Cottage Lane Art Show. Through the magic of gay and colorful decorations, plus hundreds of varied art exhibits, the lane is transformed into an Old World scene during the Festival.

The 1961 Cottage Lane show will open on Friday morning, April 7, and Queen Azalea XIV will officiate at the ceremony.

A new feature of this year's show will be an observance of the Civil War Centennial with an exhibit of relics from Fort Fisher and the Old Town of Brunswick, where excavations are now underway.

Visitors to Cottage Lane during Festival time will find it lined with drawings, paintings, sculpture and ceramics. The decorations will include mobiles, banners, flags and pennants.

Under the sponsorship of the Wilmington Art Association, Cottage Lane has become one of the most popular informal art shows in the area as well as a favorite of Festival visitors. Attendance at last year's show approached the 50,000 mark.

Art Association officials said the show provides a unique opportunity for artists to publicly show their work without restrictions. There are no judges, awards or entry fees.

The theater cafe in the lane is located in an old carriage house and the entertainment is as informal and as popular as the art exhibits. Dancers, singers and variety acts such as a "musical dog" entertain visitors.

Facility's GCA Unit Reaches Milestone

Marine Air Traffic Control Unit 64, based at the Marine Corps Air Facility, directed its 25,000th Ground Controlled Approach last month. At the radar screen for this milestone was SSgt. Charles S. Gill, a veteran of over 18½ years of Marine Corps service.

Pilot of the aircraft, an OE Observation plane, was Capt. W. L. Cable of VMO-1. He is a native of Brodhead, Ky.

Officer-in-Charge of MATCU-64, which originated in Miami, Fla., is Maj. M. L. Beamon. The unit moved to New River in August, 1958.

The unit's mission is to support a Marine Air Group in the field by providing a positive ground control of aircraft landing under adverse weather conditions. During such periods, the man at the radar scope becomes the "eyes" of the pilot.

Manly Wellman, Carolina Author, Guest At Book Fair

Manly Wade Wellman, noted North Carolina historian and writer of boys' stories, will be guest of the National Library Week Committee at the World of Books Fair in Jacksonville on April 18. Mrs. Wellman will accompany him. The son of a medical officer with the American Board of Foreign Missions, Wellman was born in Portuguese West Africa in Angola. He holds degrees from Columbia University and the University of Wichita. He sold his first story while at Wichita.

After leaving Columbia University, he returned to Wichita and worked as a reporter on the "Eagle" and the "Beacon," Wichita's daily newspapers. In 1946, Wellman won the Ellery Queen Mystery Story Prize, enabling him to complete research on the life of Wade Hampton, Confederate general. The result of this research was "Giant in Gray," a biography of Hampton.

Encouraged by Irving Crump, editor of "Boys Life," he wrote his first book for boys, "The Sleuth Patrol." It was chosen as Junior Literary Guild Selection as was his subsequent boys' books, "The Mystery of Lost Valley" and "The Last Mammoth."

Wellman lists North Carolina—its history, folklore, mountain people and ballads—as his greatest hobby.

Three of his books about North Carolina, all published by the University of North Carolina Press, will be on display at the Book Fair: "Dead and Gone," "The Life and Times of Sir Archie: The Story of America's Greatest Thoroughbred," and "County of Warren, North Carolina, 1586-1917."

Among Wellman's books on the Civil War are "Appomattox Road," "Ghost Battalion," "Rebel Mail Runner," "Ride Rebels," "Harper's Ferry," and "Rebel Songster."

Mr. and Mrs. Wellman now reside in Chapel Hill, N. C.

Patrick Henry A-Sub Breaks Cruise Record

The nuclear submarine Patrick Henry has set a new world underwater cruising record of 66 days, 22 hours, bettering by 12 hours the old record held by her sister sub, the George Washington.

The Patrick Henry's cruise began at Charleston, S. C., and ended when she tied up alongside the depot ship Proteus in Holy Loch, Scotland. She is the first submarine to arrive in the Loch under a recent U. S.-British agreement.

Commanded by Capt. Harold E. Shear, the Patrick Henry carried 13 officers, 122 enlisted men and five civilians representing manufacturers of some of her equipment. She also carried a full complement of 16 Polaris missiles.

Captain Shear said the ship had encountered no problems. "We could have remained submerged a good many weeks more.

"I think the George Washington and the Patrick Henry in these first two highly successful patrols have demonstrated the value of this Polaris weapons system beyond a doubt," the captain said.

Nick Outrakis, in clown costume, is one of two 2nd Tank Bn., Force Troops, Marines who helped bring happiness into the lives of the children who live inside the "big fence" at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, while they were stationed at the Naval Base. Sergeant Outrakis was one of the first of a Wigby clan that sprung from the Marine personnel based at Gitmo to entertain children of servicemen in a "Captain Kangaroo" type television program. He carried on the role for almost seven months until he was transferred back to Camp Lejeune, being relieved by Marine Cpl. Walter J. Garwood, who played the part of "Cousin Wigby." Corporal Garwood is pictured in an article, "Guantanamo: Keystone of the Caribbean," in the March issue of the National Geographic Magazine. (Official Navy Photo)

Gunny And Police Detail Not Pfc's Idea Of Spring

Spring, as the songs says, is bustin' out all over.' The buds are appearing on trees, the grass is greening and the tendency is to sit back a little, relax and breathe deeply.

It's that time of the year when seniors eye the golf course enviously and the younger Marine seeks diligently for ways to avoid the gunnery sergeant and police details.

Spring is traditionally the rebirth of the world, the beginning cycle of new life that sustains our life. Around here, many Marines have figuratively beaten their swords into plowshares so they can replenish the family larder with loot from garden plots.

In some religions, spring heralds a spiritual rebirth and millions of people throughout the world reaffirm their faith in the Almighty.

This is truly the most wonderful time of the year. The world takes on new beauty, boat owners and fishermen become edgy and fidgety, and, of course, the young man's fancy turns mightily.

Nights are more balmy and couples, hand in hand, walk the quiet paths for happy moments.

Spring is also the season of memories.

Spring, to put it bluntly, is just plain wonderful. Normally, we write about the Corps and things which pertain to Marines, but this week we, too, feel a bit of spring fever.

Actually, spring is still five days away, but with our recent weather how can you tell?

Relax.
Enjoy it.
We are.

Law Against Pep Pills To Be Enforced

A narcotics expert with the State Bureau of Investigation has said and not timidly, that the illegal use of narcotic drugs is on the rise in North Carolina.

Agent Haywood Starling, who knows his "bennies" and "goofballs" like few other enforcement officers, said in a recent speech that the increase is "greatly disturbing."

We don't wonder, having read somewhere of the weird effect produced by indiscriminate pill gobbling, especially in drivers.

Under the influence of barbiturates or amphetamines, drivers can mysteriously see things that aren't there or not see things that are there. In either case they are obvious candidates for an accident. And accidents we can do without.

Equally disturbing is the apparent lack of any notoriety accompanying habitual pill swallowing, despite known and proven dangers. In fact, use of "pep pills" for kicks seems to have added new luster and sophistication to the kind of life we call modern living.

We call it nuts.

And meanwhile we are running a daily risk in sharing the highways with jazzed up drivers, and this we don't like either.

One solution is to sharply prosecute those who persist in taking illegally procured drugs and then driving. We have the laws, and while convictions, admittedly, might be hard won it would serve notice that traffic laws are not to be flouted.

Sensible drivers who, because of medical necessity, might be taking pills should follow their doctor's recommendations carefully before doing any driving.

If You Ask Me:

1ST LT. WARREN W. HAMMOND—The permanent facilities are adequate and properly employed. I would like to see improvements in the parking space, however. It is overflowing now, so what will it be like when there are more people coming on the base. A picnic area is also needed for those who feel inclined. I think the beach area should have more recreational facilities to include sports such as volleyball and badminton. In order to provide this, there would have to be a branch of Special Services located somewhere at the beach. It would be nice if they could set up a place where you could check out equipment at the beach and return it before you leave.

MSGT. K. E. NOLAND—I believe by subdividing the swimming area at each section of the beach it would permit adults an area for swimming without worrying about their children being in the way. Because of the heavy waves and current of the ocean, small children can easily be overtaken. They should be permitted to swim in only so much of the roped-off area. That way their parents wouldn't have to worry where they are. The adults could then enjoy themselves. This would also assist the lifeguards in the performance of their duties. This would especially be desirable on weekends and holidays.

WHAT IMPROVEMENTS DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE MADE AT ONSLOW BEACH THIS SUMMER?

LCPL. CHARLES F. EDGE—First of all, it would be nice if there was some kind of a patio going from the club to the water. You cannot take your drinks out of the club and with the days as warm as they are in the summer it would be more enjoyable if you could sit outside and take in the sun while drinking. There could be tables with umbrellas over them for those who desire it. Another thing is the beach itself is in a bad location. You have to cross military ground and for civilians that isn't such a good idea. Transportation should also be improved. The buses are so crowded that you have to wait around for the next one, and by that time half the afternoon is over. More buses should be provided or else they should make their runs closer together.

HM3 SUSIE FEUSSE—One improvement I can think of is the restrictions at the beach. There should be fewer rules for those people who qualify as good swimmers than those who can't swim very well. There should be a wider area for swimming. Even if you are an excellent swimmer you are not allowed to go past the roped-off section. In that case, they should widen it for those who like to swim farther out. Besides that, it is too crowded with such a small area roped off. Another thing is that it should be kept cleaner, especially around the concrete area of the club. A rule should be brought out for people throwing trash on the ground.

SSGT. LEON P. LEBLOND—First and most important would be to build a wading pool for the smaller children. The surf and undertow are much too strong for youngsters. Next, I would like to see more recreational facilities, such as umbrellas, beach balls, recreational equipment. An area should be provided to utilize this equipment so as not to bother the people using the beach. The fishing pier was enjoyed by a lot of Marines and their dependents. It would be nice if they could build another pier or rebuild Riseley pier for those who like to fish.

A Marine, Sgt. Gerald R. Brimacombe, of Seattle, Wash., has won first prize in the Portrait and Personality category of the military division of the News Pictures of the Year competition, sponsored by the University of Missouri and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The Marine Corps is again telling its members that it is a good idea to check into whether it's wise to keep in force waivers of premiums on National Service Life Insurance and U. S. Government Life Insurance policies. It is legal to retain the waiver and in some cases it may be the best thing to do. However, in most cases, keeping these waivers in effect may well result in losses to beneficiaries which are far greater than the money saved by not paying the insurance premiums.

Chaplain's Corner

In "Quiet Talks on John's Gospel" by S. D. Gordon, we find the following statement: "We are reaching highest when we are stooping lowest to help some one up." This is the main teaching of Christ. We always find Him thinking of others and their needs. His life was that of bringing help to the needy.

Many times we are called on to give aid to those less fortunate than ourselves. Jesus in talking to those desiring to do right said, "In as much as you have done it to least of my children you have done it unto me." Help given in the right attitude is showing forth the love of God. The world today is full of people in need. An old saying I like to remember when I get to feeling sorry for myself helps a great deal, "I used to complain because I had no shoes, until I met a man with no feet." If we but look around we can always find others less fortunate than ourselves. If we wish we can share our blessing with others. These can be spiritual or material. Share God with others by your daily living. Many people would rather see a sermon rather than to hear one. None should be neglected, their need, even though small to us is large to them. Share your blessings with the needy. You will receive a greater blessing in sharing with others. Look around—there are many areas of service open to you. You will see the needy.

Chaplain H. M. Grubbs.

Marine Enemy Aggressors Accomplish

By SSGT. MIKE PITTS
Division Correspondent

"How does it feel to be the enemy?" The question was asked of Capt. Francis C. Cushing Jr., commanding officer of "I" Co., 3rd Bn. (Reinf.), Eighth Marines, on the island of Vieques, Puerto Rico. Captain Cushing's company acted as "aggressor" forces opposing the landing of the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade during ing LANTPHIBEX 1-61. The exercise on Vieques lasted from the 25th to the 28th of February.

"It's not too different from any other exercise," Captain Cushing said. "The big thing, I suppose, is in the number of men now assigned to my company. In all other respects we are training and preparing for the problem as we would for any other."

In a normal operation the company would number about 195 men. For PHIBEX, the strength of "I" Company was 233. This included communications, motor transport, Force Troops and Navy personnel.

"I" Company landed on Vieques on the 15th of February, 10 days before the exercise was to begin.

First Sgt. Frank N. Langin explained the reason for the early arrival.

"We need a head start in scouting the island, setting up our defensive positions, and getting in good shape to oppose the landing," he said. "During the problem our boys will do plenty of running and climbing hills. We have an awful lot of ground to cover."

Each of the reinforced rifle platoons opposed a Battalion Landing Team during the exercise, and that meant scattering the men out pretty thin.

"For purposes of the problem," Captain Cushing said, "Each of my men will simulate being able to evaluate a situation, and act accordingly."

"We are slated to lose the exercise," he said. "But that doesn't mean we won't give it our best effort. We want to make the exercise as realistic as possible. We can get as much training as possible."

Captain Cushing further explained the exercise.

"The mornings are devoted to the positions in each platoon's area. In the afternoon we have physical training. The men are getting plenty of physical training. They like to do, rather than being explained, and this type of training is high."

On D-Day, "I" Company's position on Red Beach, awaiting Battalion Landing Team 1, was dark when a flare went up, lining the approaching amphibious landing craft to start.

Artillery simulators began firing, and the "aggressor" troops fired back as realistic as any practical situation. Quickly the landing force eventually take them across the island. Aggressor forces were routed if they withdrew to form new defenses.

This same situation was repeated. Company's 2nd Platoon opposed Battalion Landing Team 2, there hours later at Green Beach, where "made things tough" for BLT 2.

This was the trend of the exercise constantly utilizing hit and run tactics. By pushing forward, forcing the enemy to retreat, the Marines achieved realistic problems to the three Battalion Landing Teams. The quiet serenity of the exercise was broken by the sound of gunfire as another "aggressor" platoon landed through Marine lines.

On the third day of the exercise, the Marines held Hill 103 and its surrounding terrain. The objective of Battalion Landing Team 3 was to capture the hill known as the "Cerro Negro" and the objective of Battalion Landing Team 4 was to capture the hill known as the "Cerro Negro".

NEW POSITION—1st Lt. James M. Heblep, second from right, "aggressor" commander of the 1st Platoon of "I" Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, shows SSgt. John Dun, platoon sergeant, the next position the "aggressors" will occupy during operation LANTPHIBEX 1-61. Waiting for further orders are the radio operator, Pfc Arthur B. Schobert, and the driver, LCpl. William E. Kelly.

THE BEGINNING—Mrs. Dorothy Byrd pours the ceramics mixture into a mold held together by strips of rubber. The mixture is composed of Tennessee and Kentucky clay, California feldspar and chemical compound. This is the first step in ceramics.

CERAMICS SHOP—Ceramics enthusiasts are engaged in the various processes, from molding to final painting, in creating the finished ceramics ware.

Ceramics Popular Here

The art of ceramics, and it is definitely an art, is one of the more popular forms of off-duty recreation for Marines and dependents at Camp Lejeune. From 75 to 100 persons a day use the facilities of the two ceramics shops here, one at Hadnot Point, the other at the Marine Corps Air Facility.

Dozens of art objects are completed weekly by patrons of the two shops. Some pursue this hobby merely as a past-time while others use it as a means of expressing creative talents. Many of these people use the facilities to produce attractive, personalized Christmas gifts at only a fraction of the normal retail cost. A 17-inch Chinese figurine, normally selling from $35 to $40 in a retail store, can be molded at the Ceramics Shop for as little as three dollars, including the costs of paint and glaze.

The shop has proved useful in other ways also. When the cups used by the Industrial Area Guard had to be returned to the messhall, the "coffee-hounds" were at a loss until they found that one of their members was a ceramics enthusiast. Sgt. Robert P. Aikins decided to make his own cup when he found he was without one. He was besieged with requests to make more. A collection for materials was taken, the result—54 personalized cups—one for each man in the guard section.

This type of cup made by Sergeant Aikins is one of the most popular items for beginning sculptors. They are usually white with a gold painted Marine Corps emblem and the owner's name or initials.

Another popular and simple item for the beginner is the ash tray. Ash trays in all colors, sizes, shapes and glazes are always in evidence in the shop.

An explanation of the art of ceramics may seem simple and without merit as a work of art but many hours and much patience is required even before the piece is ready for painting. This is an art in itself, and then the painting, using one of many techniques, brings out the artist's abilities and talents.

A mold made of plaster or paris is used to first cast the ceramics. The molds are in two sections and held tightly together by large strips of rubber to prevent leaking and insure against an irregular shape.

GREEN WARE—Mrs. Joan Nivert works on a piece of green ware (ceramics before firing). This process involves moving all mold markings from the piece.

The platoon was well dug in, and from their high perch could see the BLT slowly making its way towards them.

"Since this is to be our final defensive position, we are going to give them a good fight for it," said 1st Lt. James M. Hezlep, platoon commander.

For eight hours the 1st Platoon held, until finally the umpires decided the BLT had enough firepower to capture the hill. The "aggressors" were once again forced to retire.

But in the platoon assembly area after the "battle" a casual observer would never believe they were the "losers." Tired, dirty, many of them bleary-eyed from lack of sleep, the men laughed and joked, proud of their accomplishments.

"Did you see the umpires hold them up?" one of them asked. "How about that firepower we put out?" another added. "And we sure made that climb a long one for them," a third said.

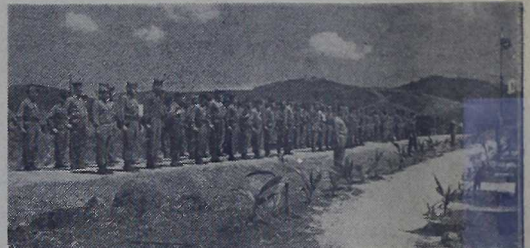

At 10 o'clock that third night the "aggressors" secured. They had to board ships early in the morning for the trip back to the States.

According to the script, "I" Company, 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, lost the "battle" for the island of Vieques. But Captain Cushing had this to say.

"On paper we may have lost, but try to tell any of my men that. To them, the victory was all ours."

The mission of "I" Company was to provide realism for the exercise, and in that way better train 2nd Division units. From all reports, and for all intents and purposes, this can be summed up in these two well-known words:

"Mission accomplished."

AGGRESSOR COMPANY—"I" Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, the "aggressor" company for operation LANTPHIBEX 1-61, forms for inspection in their company area on the island of Vieques.

PATROL—The 3rd squad of the 1st Platoon of "I" Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, climbs one of the hills overlooking Camp Garcia on Vieques, Puerto Rico. This same scene was repeated many times during operation LANTPHIBEX 1-61, as the "aggressor" company "took the high ground" in preparation to opposing the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade during the three-day exercise.

BREAK—Four members of "I" Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, take advantage of a break in the "battle" during LANTPHIBEX 1-61 to eat their "box lunches" of "C" rations. Breaks such as these were infrequent for the "aggressors" as the 4th MEB pushed the "enemy" across the island of Vieques.

Art Hobby At Lejeune

The mold in place, slip—the ceramic clay in liquid form—is poured into the mold. This clay is composed of Tennessee and Kentucky clay, California tile and a chemical compound to keep the clay properties freely mingled in a smooth liquid state.

Once the slip is poured, it is allowed to dry for approximately two hours or until the shell is about 3/16 of an inch thick. It is then removed from the mold, carefully and delicately and most markings are removed. The form is then in a soft, pliable state similar to rubber.

The clay form is now greenware, that is, unfired or baked. The form is then put into a kiln heated to a temperature of 1873 degrees and baked for about five hours. After cooling, the piece is then ready for painting or glazing. It can be used in this state if no decorations are desired. It can also be glazed before the first firing. This is called underglazing.

Now the artist's imagination and talent comes into play. He can use a wide variety of paints and glazes and many different methods. Brushes are certainly the most common but many ceramic artists discover unusual and beautiful effects with sponges.

After painting, the form is ready to be fired again. This time at the same heat for about the same length of time. The finished piece of art is called bisque. An overglaze may be applied after firing. This is usually done with gold, platinum, lustre or china paint.

For the novice, a beginner's class is taught in a four-week cycle at the Hadnot Point shop. These classes begin on the first Thursday of each month and continue for each succeeding Thursday throughout the month. Beginning at 6:30 p.m., the beginner's class deals with the fundamentals of the art, enabling the student to produce some very interesting and artistic forms.

Advanced classes are held Friday evenings at 6:30 p.m. These classes are continuous and deal with the decorating phase of ceramics. GySgt. Marc Bonn is instructor for both classes.

Qualified instructors are always on hand to instruct, assist and answer questions in this popular off-duty art. With SSgt. Galen A. Moore, NCOIC of the shop, MSgt. Milo J. Tyler and SSgt. Albert C. Webster devote many hours to helping others become versed in this fascinating art.

At the Air Facility, the NCOIC, SSgt. M. J. Ray and his assistant, Cpl. J. J. Browning, are on hand to give the same type of assistance.

SPONGE TECHNIQUE—GySgt. Marc Bonn, ceramics instructor, demonstrates a method using sponges to paint trees and birds on a ceramic plate.

Jean Nolik fettles (or cleans) the green piece. This process uses sand screen to remove the excess glaze.

FINISHED PRODUCT—SSgt. Galen H. Moore, NCOIC of the Base Ceramics Shop, places a completed figurine on the shelf after firing, the process which bakes the glaze at temperature of 1,873 degrees.

FROM THE MOLD—Mrs. Dorthea Bonn removes a vase from a mold. In this phase of the process, known as the shell, the ceramic material is in a soft, pliable state similar to rubber. It must now dry and then be fired.

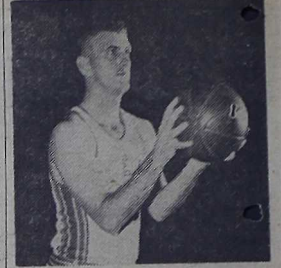

Boxers Top Eustis Here By 5-1 Count

Lejeune's Boxing Team resumed its winning ways last Thursday night at Goettge Memorial field house against Ft. Eustis as they rocked the soldiers 5-1 in a six-bout match. The victory against Ft. Eustis got Lejeune back in the win column after the setback suffered at the hands of the Norfolk Tars at Norfolk on March 3.

Sixth Marines Cop Division V'Ball Crown

A tall and talented Sixth Marines team is the volleyball champion of the 2nd Marine Division. The infantrymen swept through a week-long double-elimination tournament, besting the Tenth Marines for the title, 15-12 and 13-9.

On the way to the championship the Sixth Marines defeated the Eighth Marines, 15-11, 15-2, the Second Marines 15-10, Tenth Marines 14-12, 14-16 and 15-4.

JACK SULLIVAN

Lejeune Ace Selected For All-Marine Team

High-scoring Jack Sullivan, the ace of the 1960-61 Camp Lejeune basketball team, has been picked as a member of this year's All-Marine Team, which will compete in the Inter-service and National AAU Championship Tournaments.

Sullivan scored a total of 1,461 points this season for an average of 31.3 points per game for 45 games. Sullivan will join other selectees from major Marine Corps cage teams in augmenting the All-Marine Championship Hawaii Marines as Marine Corps representatives in the two upcoming tournaments.

From Washington, D. C., the 6'4" corner man was named to the High School All-America Team and selected as most valuable player in the Nation's Capital in 1953 while attending St. Anthony's High School.

Sullivan gained his college experience at Mount Saint Mary's College, Washington, D. C., and joined the Lejeune quintet from Quantico, Va., where after his first season of service ball, he was selected to the All-Marine Team, the Pan American Team, All-Service Team and the 1959-60 Olympic Team.

Leading Camp Lejeune to a 34-10 record this year and the Atlantic Fleet Basketball title, Sullivan was easily the team's most valuable player as he led Lejeune in every major offensive department. In addition, Sullivan three times during the past season broke a 10-year-old scoring record at Camp Lejeune's Goettge Memorial Field House. Sullivan scored 47, 53, and 53 points on three different occasions to smash the mark of former Philadelphia Warrior Dave Beck, who set the old record of 42 points during the 1951 season.

The All-Marine team joins other major service teams in the Inter-service tourney, which started March 14, at Lowery Air Force Base, Colorado. The AAU tournament is scheduled to start March 20, at Denver Colorado.

Marines Sail Early Regatta Against Navy

Marines will meet the Navy on their own ground Saturday when two four-boat teams race each other on New River. Starting time for the early season regatta is 2 p.m., but the course will not be decided until just before race time.

R. A. Dent, who sailed for the Naval Academy, is the Marine favored to cross the finish line first, but Navy team captain, H. R. Noer, feels the Navy will win the race on points.

The captain of the Marine team, G. H. West, said, "The confidence of the Hospital sailors is misplaced. The Marines will win."

This first race of the season will sharpen the Camp Lejeune Marines who are to race against a Cherry Point team at the end of the month.

Force Troops Nine Holding Daily Tryouts

Approximately 75 Force Troops baseballers are busy this week trying out for the Force Troops baseball team. Over 30 pitchers and catchers reported for workouts last week at the Force Troops gymnasium. The workouts were held inside due to cold weather conditions.

The coach for the team will be SSgt. Bill Bradley, who coached the 8th Communications Bn. team to the top position in the Intramural League last year.

"The only thing that has caused me to have concern over the formation of a team is the weather. We have had to try-out inside, because of the cold and this places some limitations on the abilities of certain players," Coach Bradley said.

All efforts are being made to field the best team possible. Several "cuts" have been picked up from the Camp Lejeune baseball team. It is expected that these men will add a great deal of strength to the team.

The players now trying out will be whittled down to a 20-man squad, which will participate in the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point Complex Baseball League, which commences play April 15.

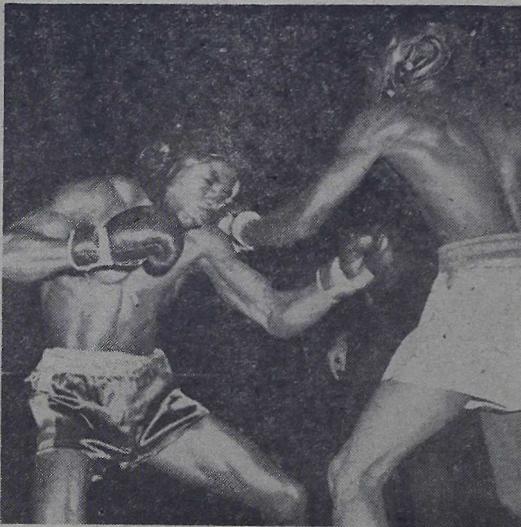

Personnel are trying out for the team from 2nd FAG, 8th Comm Bn., 8th Motors, Headquarters Co., Force Troops, 2nd Anglico, 2nd Composite Radio Co., 2nd Bridge Co., and 2nd FSR.

Lady Golfers Divide Low Scoring Honors

Two lady golfers tied for low score in the "Blind Hole" Tourney held by the Camp Lejeune Women's Golf Association Tuesday, March 7, at the Paradise Point course.

Mary Childers and Ninoka Midkiff shot identical scores of 33 to take top honors in their respective flights. Mrs. Childers led "A" Flight, while Mrs. Midkiff took top spot in Flight "B."

Other winners were Della Koyides, "C," 34½, and Bobbie Florie, "D" Flight, 46. The winner for least number of putts in the tournament was Dottie Marsh.

NEW ALLEYS—The sport of kegling comes to Marines at Camp Geiger with a solid strike as the Grand Opening of their new four-lane Bowling Alley was held Wednesday, March 8. Rolling the first balls down the hardwood are, left to right, Maj. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, commanding general, Marine Corps Base; Col. Gordon H. West, commanding officer, First Infantry Training Regiment; Col. Richard D. Strickler, Base Special Services Officer, and Col. John R. Little, commanding officer, Marine Corps Air Facility.

The matches last Thursday turned out to be little more than a warm-up for the Quantico fights, which were held here last night. The fights last night were held too late for results to be published in this week's GLOBE.

Last week's matches got underway on a winning note for the Lejeune team as D. A. Blankenship used a long reach and an aggressive attack to take a unanimous decision over Eustis' Arthur Smith in the 112-lb. contest.

Ernie Dawson kept Lejeune a winner as he downed Moses Taylor in the 132-lb. match. Dawson fought a good strong fight all the way to take the nod from all three judges. Taylor gave it all he had in the first two rounds but weakened in the third under a withering attack by Dawson and ended up the fight hanging on gamely.

No Contest

The welterweight fight turned out to be no contest as Tom Hennessey outclassed Eustis' Andrew Smith all the way. The fight was stopped in the third with Smith a badly beaten fighter. Hennessey was awarded a TKO to rack up the only stopper of the night.

Ray Phillips continued his winning ways for Lejeune as he took a unanimous decision over Saul Bridges. Phillips gained his fourth straight win of the season without a loss. Phillips used stronger infighting and hard shots to the head of Bridges to gain the nod as both men showed plenty of ring savvy.

Losing Fight

Ft. Eustis' Bill Dunlap copped the only match of the evening for the soldiers as he took a split decision over Lejeune's Hank Love in the light heavyweight fight. The fight was even most of the way but Dunlap fought more deliberately, scoring evenly over the whole route to take a narrow decision.

P. J. Price, Jr., national AAU heavyweight champion and a member of last year's Olympic fight team, made his debut for Camp Lejeune against Eustis' Taylor Perry a winning one as he took a unanimous decision over the Army man. Perry made a game fight of it, but was simply outclassed by the Lejeune heavyweight, as Price made the right moves to take the decision.

WINNING COMBINATION—Team Capt. Bob Lippmann, using various team members, put together winning combination for the Marine Corps Supply Schools bowling team as the Sappymen won the Marine Corps Base single-elimination intramural

Cage Season Finale To Begin Monday

The final basketball action of the local season gets underway at Goettge Memorial Field House Monday as the 2nd Marine Division hosts the annual Fleet Marine Force Atlantic cage tournament. All-star aggregations representing the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point, Marine Aircraft Group-32, Beaufort, S. C., Marine Aircraft Group-26, New River, and Camp Lejeune's Force Troops and 2nd Marine Division will vie for the title.

The defending champion 2nd Division squad has been tabbed the pre-tourney favorite in the double-elimination affair. The local team will be led by the high-scoring duo of Ray White and Tony Santio from Lejeune champion 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines. Col. Saunders, high scorer from Division champion 3rd Bn., Tenth Marines, and Erv Kinsey, 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, are also slated for starting roles. Co-coaches for the Division entry are Lts. Charlie Byrd and Bill McGrath.

Force Troops will feature a high-scoring five with plenty of height in the front court. Bill Coughlin, who stands 6'2", and 6'3" A. F. Downie, both from 8th Comm., will open at the forward spots. These two combined for a 46-point average during the regular season. Big man for the Force Troops entry will be 6'7" Bob Ankudovich, who hit for 28 per game for 2nd Field Artillery Group. The team will be coached by SSgt. Bill Bradley, who led 8th Comm during the season.

Shortest of the three local entries will be the MAG-26 five from New River. Charlie Short, most valuable player in the Air Facility Intramural League, is expected to spark the team. Also on the squad are Larry Peters, who hit for 29 points in the Lejeune tourney, and Wil Clark, who averaged 27 per game during regular season intramural play. Coaching the team is Lt. Ed Hayes.

The schedule announced today by Tournament Director Capt. Bob Hout finds games at 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., Monday through Wednesday. A single game will be played Thursday evening with the championship final on tap at 1 p.m., Friday. The pairings will be drawn Monday.

The public is invited to attend all games.

MCSS Wins Base 'Murals' Bowling Title

The Marine Corps Base single-elimination Intramural Bowling Championship Tournament came to a close March 9, as Marine Corps Supply Schools downed Headquarters Battalion Team No. 2, two out of three games for the Base championship.

Marine Corps Supply Schools and Headquarters Battalion Team No. 2 will represent Marine Corps Base against all other commands in the Camp Lejeune Bowling Tournament, which gets underway March 20.

The Base intramural tournament began March 6, with eight teams entered in the roll-off. The first day's action saw 2nd Force Service Regiment Team No. 1 winning all three games from Headquarters Battalion Team No. 1, and eliminating them from future play. Marine Corps Supply Schools met 2nd Force Service Regiment Team No. 2 the same day and took a clean sweep. Headquarters Battalion Team No. 2 met head-on with Marine Corps Engineer School and eliminated them from the tournament.

On the second day of competition, Marine Corps Supply School downed 2nd FSR Team No. 1 in three good and very close games. The two teams not playing on the first day met in the afternoon of the second day and the U. S. Naval Hospital dropped the keggers from the Infantry Training Regiment, knocking them out of the tournament.

On the third day only two teams saw action, each already having one win under their belt. Headquarters Battalion Team No. 2 met the doctors from the U. S. Naval Hospital. Headquarters Battalion won the match and the right to meet the MCSS squad for the championship on the final day.

MCSS won the first game by eight pins and Headquarters Battalion Team No. 2 had to take the second game to stay alive. The two teams stayed close in the second game until the fifth frame when Headquarters Battalion came alive and went on to win the game by 45 pins. Each team now had their backs to the wall with the third and deciding game on tap. All the way through the third and final game it stayed close but MCSS edged out their opponents by 20 pins in the last frame to win the match and the championship.

Sailing Instructors

Base Special Services needs Marines, Sgt. (E-4) or below, who are familiar with Rebel Class sailboats and are interested in teaching classes on the art of sailing. Interested personnel who feel they can qualify should contact WO McIntyre at 7-5881 or SSgt. H. Honey at the Wallace Creek Boathouse, phone 7-3680.

The Camp Lejeune Archery Club will hold its monthly meeting March 20, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the crafts room of the Midway Park Community Center.

A social hour with refreshments will follow the monthly business meeting, according to club president C. E. Beyer. All persons interested in archery or information about the club are invited to attend the meeting.

New Bowling Alley Set For ITR Marines

After long years of going without bowling, the kegling sport finally came to the Marines of Camp Geiger with a solid strike as the grand opening of their new four-lane bowling alley was held Wednesday, March 8.

Attending the opening and rolling the first balls down the hardwood for the official opening was Maj. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, commanding general, Marine Corps Base; Col. Gordon H. West, commanding officer, 1st Infantry Training Regiment; Col. John R. Little, commanding officer, Marine Corps Air Facility; and Col. Richard D. Strickler, Base Special Services Officer. A light refreshment of coffee and cake was served after the grand opening.

Fifteen separate intramural teams have signed up for competition and league schedules will begin next week.

On weekends the alleys will be reserved exclusively for student Marines undergoing combat training at Geiger.

Troops Units Set For Loop Softball Play

Softball teams representing 10 units have joined the Force Troops Intramural Softball League, which commences play April 13.

Prior plans to form a Force Troops Intramural Baseball League have been dropped due to the lack of teams. However, this is expected to permit more men to participate in the softball play.

Records Topple As Staff CO's Hit Record Highs

Last week's bowling highlights centered around the Thursday night Staff NCO's Handicap league as keggers exploded set four new records for the league. Setting two of the records was Smokey Greenwood, as he shot a 245 for High Individual game honors and the high game, with handicap, the league with a 267. High es with handicap belongs to Joe DeFabio, as he racked a total pin count of 710. High individual series was broken last week by Roseman's five as they shot 3,128. Also in last week's on, 18 games over the 200 mark recorded and three series over went in the record books.

Boxing Team Set For FMF Lant Tourney

Eleven members of Camp Lejeune's boxing stable have been selected to represent Camp Lejeune in the FMFLant Boxing Tournament at Newport, R. I., March 20.

Leading the way for the locals will be middleweight Ray Phillips and heavyweight P. J. Price, Jr. Phillips has had an outstanding season this year with four straight wins without a loss to his credit. Price, national AAU heavyweight champ, and Olympic member in 1960, recently joined the local team from Quantico.

Other fighters selected and their weight classes are: 112-lb. class, D. A. Blankenship; 119-lb. class, Ron Cooper; T. Zangla and alternate Bill Hynson, 125-lb.; 132-lb., Ernie Dawson; 139-lb., Willie Davis; Tom Hennessey in the 147-lb. group; 165-lb., O. M. Henry, and light heavyweight, H. K. Love.

The Lejeune stable will return home, after meeting Fort Eustis, for the season's final home game before the All-Marine Tournament. To put the lid on the home season schedule, the locals will meet Norfolk's AirLant/NAS team in a return bout on March 30. Norfolk previously downed the Lejeune team 10-0 at Norfolk. Lejeune will be seeking to even things with the TARS after being what the Lejeune boxing staff called "home-ered" by the sailors at Norfolk.
