NO. 3

Piney Green Garden Plots Are Available

Two hundred thirty garden spaces are now available for all residents of Camp Lejeune's housing areas at the Piney Green garden plots, as reported by Mr. A. P. Olmstead, Quarters and Housing Division.

Gardeners interested in applying for the plots are asked to register with Mrs. Perkins, Bldg. TT-43, who will distribute pamphlets on agriculture including necessary information on worm control, fertilizer requirements and planting times.

The spaces at Piney Green have already been soil-tested. Fifty pounds of 8-8-3 commercial fertilizer is necessary for planting with no lime required.

The plots have been staked off and numbered. Personnel registering who have very large families may be permitted to have two plots.

Pamphlets available to prospective gardeners are Farm and Home Garden Manual, Vegetable Insect Control, and Control of Root Knot in the Vegetable Garden.

Residents who desire to apply for a space are permitted to visit Piney Green and choose the plot by numbers before registering. If, after seeing Mrs. Perkins, space is vacant, it may be assigned. A map is available in the housing office to locate plots. Applicants are reminded that registration will be handled on a first come, first served basis.

For the benefit of those who have never been to Piney Green, the plots are located on Highway 24, approximately one mile from the main gate in the direction of Morehead City.

Invitation Extended By Washington USO

An invitation has been extended to all Marines planning to attend the Presidential Inauguration tomorrow by Mary E. Lucas, Director of the USO in Washington, D. C. Comfortable facilities, available around the clock, have been turned over to the USO for all men and women in the service. The USO Lounge, located near the capitol building, is in the Union Station, Washington 2, D. C. The organization is open day and night, and in the past, has been used as a meeting place for families and sweethearts.

Among the many conveniences there, servicemen may take advantage of the free baggage facilities, and a men's room where uniforms may be changed. Men and women may play ping-pong, watch television, plan sight-seeing through the USO directors, and receive information concerning reasonably priced lodging.

Birthday

The 2nd Marine Division Informational Services Office would like to contact any member of the Division who was born on the day the unit was activated. Any Marine in the 2nd Division who was born on February 1, 1941, is requested to call the Division ISO (7-5680).

For Second Year

Credit Union Shareholders Will Receive Five Per Cent

For the second time in its two-year history, the Marine Federal Credit Union of Camp Lejeune has voted to pay shareholders a five percent dividend. This means that the more than 2200 members of the Credit Union will receive five percent dividends on all shares on record as of Dec. 31, 1960. Last January the union also paid a five percent dividend. Announcement of the dividend payment was made by Col. R. J. Batterton Jr., chairman of the credit union's board of directors, following a meeting of the board Jan. 12.

Colonel Batterton also announced the annual general membership meeting of the credit union will be held at 12 noon Jan. 30 in Bldg. 62, the Central Area Service Club. The meeting is open to all members and potential members, the colonel said.

On the agenda for the meeting will be a report of the status of the organization, and election of members to fill vacancies on the Board of Directors and Credit Committee.

Camp Lejeune's Credit Union is one of the fastest growing organizations in the country. Since its organization in 1959 the savings and loan agency has marked a steady growth in total assets, which now exceed $300,000. Membership has soared to over 2250, an increase of 1330 since Dec. 31, 1959.

The dividend voted by the local credit union exceeds that voted by any other credit union during the same period. Dividends announced at other military installations have ranged from four percent to 4 3/4 percent. The Parris Island newspaper, the BOOT, recently carried the announcement of a four percent dividend payment by the newly-formed Parris Island Credit Union.

ON INAUGURATION EVE:

Years Good Ones For Ike

"Ike" Eisenhower during the past eight years has been a leader, world traveler, fighter for peace, and sportsman.

Today, on the eve of the inauguration of the 35th President of the United States, the past eight years of Ike's service to this country is reviewed.

Placed in a position of trust and confidence by his country, Eisenhower has proved equal to the task. He has demonstrated the leadership required of his office.

Ike has traveled extensively to carry out the nation's policy during the past eight years. During this period Ike has also been called on to carry out missions of personnel diplomacy. Today his prestige is higher than ever.

Ike's comments and personal life have been subject to nationwide coverage in news media. His views have been broadcast to those in communist bondage via Radio Free Europe.

In 1952 Ike traveled to the Korean fighting zone. Perhaps his efforts were rewarded by the signing of the truce agreement ending the Korean "police action" in 1954.

Health Fund Drive Gains Momentum

A unique "Ask 'em one time and one time only" fund drive gained momentum here this week, as the annual National Health Agencies campaign and the Federal Services Joint Crusade began with the appointment of keymen and the distribution of contribution envelopes. Accordingly, military and

Joy Reports To Hospital For Surgery

Tiny Christy Joy Masten reported to Duke University Hospital yesterday for final tests before open-heart surgery which, medical authorities say, has been made immediately necessary by a virus infection.

Joy's examination at the hospital—originally scheduled for January 3—was postponed when an influenza-like virus confined her to bed.

Joy is the three-year-old daughter of former Marine John A. Masten of Kinston, N. C. She suffers from a congenital heart deformity which has rendered her weak and frail and has delayed her growth to that of a six-month-old infant.

As soon as the final diagnostic tests have been completed open-heart surgery will be performed on little Joy. The exact date of the operation has not been set but it is expected to be in the very near future, since doctors believe the virus infection has caused an enlargement of Joy's heart.

The "Joy for Joy" campaign here raised a total of $5,395.35 for the hospital, medical and doctor bills that have been incurred.

All outstanding bills to date have been paid and a total of $2,124.40 of fund money has been used. It is hoped the remainder of the funds will suffice to see the operation completed and little Joy returned to health.

Many cards and letters with donations, prayers and good wishes were received by the funds coordinators, MSgt. Frank S. Hoffman and Mr. Harry T. Jarman, who work in the Freight Traffic Office at Camp Lejeune.

civilian personnel will be asked only once for their contributions to the health agencies drive and only once for the drive to aid the international agencies.

In the Base Order which announced the current campaigns, the Commanding General urged that enthusiastic support be given by commanding officers, organizational chairmen, keymen, and all members of the Armed Forces and federal employees. General Luckey said that this type of support was necessary if "the traditional generosity of military personnel and civilian employees . . . will again be evident."

In the past the drives that were conducted at this base were set up in such a fashion that the keymen had to go to their men again and again until the prescribed money quota was reached. This had a bad morale effect on the men and resulted in a great loss of man hours for keymen and committee members.

The new plan, called the "Miller Plan," provides that everyone will receive one envelope in which he will return his donation. "The donations on the first payday in February (last of January for civilian personnel) will go to the health agencies," Colonel Miller (See FUND DRIVE, Page 2)

Dress Blues Now On Sale At Half Price

Liberty hounds who want to dazzle Lizzie Mae with stunning Leatherneck regalia stand by: The price of dress blues have been cut in half, according to CWO C. W. Keeton, officer in charge of the retail clothing division here.

Part of a Corps-wide slash in wool jersey-type blues, coats have been reduced from $21.45 to $10.75. Warrant Officer Keeton said, and the trousers from $10.10 to $5. The price of the coat includes the belt.

Also, there's good news for recently selected E-7's and E-8's who have been holding their breath to sew on their new chevrons.

Gunner Keeton said that chevrons could be obtained in advance if companies or parent units would screen promotion lists and submit requests for chevrons on DD Form 1149.

Otherwise Marines will have to pay for chevrons.

PRESIDENTIAL COLOR BEARER—Marine Cpl. James R. Aaron, 22, of Birmingham, Ala., holding the famous Marine Corps Battle Color which he normally carries as a member of the Washington Marine Barracks color guard, has been selected to carry the Presidential Color in the Inaugural parade Jan. 20. He will carry the new Commander-in-Chief's flag as part of a joint military color guard which will precede the President in his parade escort.

Washington Area Marines To March In Inauguration Parade

More than 1,800 U. S. Marines will participate in Inaugural ceremonies tomorrow for the new President of the United States, John F. Kennedy. The majority—about 1,300—will pass in review for their new Commander-in-Chief during the massive, four-mile-long Inaugural parade up Pennsylvania Avenue. The United States Marine Band, "The President's Own," will play for the formal swearing-in ceremonies at the Capitol. Sixteen Marines from

Unit Home From Tour At Vieques

The 2nd Battalion, Second Marines, commanded by Lt. Col. F. F. Eubanks Jr., returned to Camp Lejeune Monday from training maneuvers at Vieques, Puerto Rico.

The battalion has been in the Caribbean area since early December.

Forward support elements of the battalion landing team arrived Monday morning off Onslow Beach and unloaded some troops and equipment. The remainder of the battalion offloaded Tuesday morning from the USS CAMBRIA, USS OGLETHORPE and USS YORK COUNTY at Morehead City.

Dependents were not allowed at the docking area when the troops unloaded, but greeted the returning Marines at a special Welcome Home Center, set up in Area 2 Service Club.

The 3rd Bn., Second Marines, commanded by Lt. Col. R. M. Hall, relieved the 2nd Bn., Second Marines, at Vieques.

the Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., will be a part of a special military honor cordon for the President in and near the Capitol rotunda.

An additional 80 Marines from the Barracks, Headquarters Bn., Headquarters Marine Corps, and the 5th Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment District, will participate in an all-service military cordon around the Capitol. The Marine Corps Battle Color will be part of the massed military color guard in the ceremony.

Armed Forces units will not march together as a single division in this year's parade as they did in 1957. Instead, each service will head up one of the five parade divisions containing state units. By established precedence, the Marine Corps will lead the third division, following Service academies in the first and the Army in the second.

Marine Cpl. James R. Aaron, from the Washington Marine Barracks, has been selected to carry the Presidential Color in the joint military color guard which will be part of the President's parade escort. Additionally, 13 other Marines from the Barracks will carry state and territorial flags with the massed colors in the escort.

Lt. Col. Donald L. Mallory, executive officer of the Washington Marine Barracks and commanding officer of the Marine ceremonial battalion, and his staff, will lead the Marine contingents. The combined Marine Band and Marine Drum and Bugle Corps will follow, setting the cadence for a 200-man ceremonial battalion of Marines in dress blues. The Corps' battle color will parade between the two ceremonial companies.

A Woman Marine company of more than 150 women from Headquarters Battalion and Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., will be next in the line of march. It will be commanded by Capt. Patricia A. Watson, commanding officer of the WM Company, Hq. Bn., HQMC. The Woman Marines will wear green uniforms with red scarves.

Representing the Fleet Marine Forces will be the 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines, the stand-by infantry battalion with headquarters at Quantico. Some 750 Marines wearing utility uniforms and carrying their individual weapons and full combat equipment, will pass before the new President. They are commanded by Lt. Col. Derek W. Price, who will lead the battalion in the parade.

Seven Marine "Mighty-Mules" combat vehicles and five mechanical Mules will conclude the Corps' parade representation. Four of the Mules will pull Howtar artillery pieces, two will contain vehicular radios, and one will be combat-loaded with supplies. Four of the Mules will have 106mm recoilless rifles mounted on them and the fifth will be combat-loaded with supplies.

State contingents marching with the Marines in the third division include New York, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Louisiana, Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, and Alabama.

Maj. James C. Gasser, Headquarters Marine Corps, will ride in the parade with other service winners in the recent Freedoms Foundation essay contest. The major, top Marine winner in the competition, will also receive $100 and the George Washington Honor Medal.

Quantico will provide 250 Marines in greens for the all-service street cordon along the parade route. An additional 60 men from the same command will serve as drivers for the Jeeps pulling state floats.

New Embarkation School Opened By Sixth Marines

The Sixth Marines Regimental Embarkation School—the first of its kind—opened here Monday with a class of 24 students ranging in rank from first lieutenant to lance corporal. Previously, all similar schools were on a Division level or higher. Built around a three-and-one-half-week schedule, the school will stress basic ship loading and unloading procedures as well as storage of all equipment used by the modern Marine Corps in its amphibious role.

Col. J. S. Skoczylas, Division G-4, was present at the opening ceremonies and made a short talk emphasizing the importance of properly trained embarkation specialists in today's fast-moving worldwide situation. He pointed out that since the Marine Corps functions primarily as an amphibious force-in-readiness, it is imperative that men be available who know how to load the ships which will carry Marines wherever they are needed.

Other guests at the school's opening were Lt. Col. H. I. Dunlap, Division Embarkation Officer; Lt. Col. R. L. Autrey, executive officer of the Sixth Marines, and Lt. Comdr. E. H. Kicklighter, Regimental Chaplain.

The school is under the direction of 1st Lt. Frank B. Yusup and a staff of six instructors. They are: 1st Lt. W. A. Byrne, 1st Lt. D. M. Waits, MSgt. C. D. Banks, SSgt. R. B. Clark, SSgt. J. J. Witchella and SSgt. M. D. Holloway.

Upon completion of the course, all graduates will be returned to their respective companies to provide trained embarkation personnel on a company level.

Adult Sunday School

A new schedule of Sunday services is being planned for the Montford Point Protestant Chapel which will include Sunday School for adults. The classes will be held from 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. followed by Worship Services from 11 a.m. to 11:45 a.m.

Teachers and helpers for the school are greatly needed. Those who would be willing to offer their assistance a few hours each week are asked to contact Stanley Smith, Lot 2540, Knox Trailer Park, Sunday School superintendent, who will explain duties involved.

Pennsylvania Marines

Mr. William R. Sheehan, USO Director in Jacksonville, would like to have Marines from Lock Haven, Pa., or Clinton County, Pa., contact him at the USO Club in Jacksonville, N. C. Mr. Sheehan is conducting a hometown publicity program.

explained. "Everyone will again receive an envelope on or before the 15th of February for his contributions to the Federal Services Joint Crusade." All envelopes "full or empty" must be collected by the keymen and returned.

There has been no monetary quota set for these joint campaigns but a 100 per cent voluntary participation is being sought. Eighty-eight per cent of Camp Lejeune's personnel participated in last year's drive, which netted a total of $23,496.58 for the Health Agencies campaign and $9,405.89 for the international agencies.

The National Voluntary Health Agencies participating in the campaigns are the American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, National Society for Prevention of Blindness, and United Cerebral Palsy Association.

The international relationship agencies participating in the Federal Services Joint Crusade are the American-Korean Foundation, Crusade for Freedom, and CARE.

Unit commanding officers have appointed assistant chairmen and keymen to conduct the campaigns within the unit. One keyman has been named for approximately each 25 men within the unit.

Veteran Of Pacific Area War Is Assigned As MCB Chaplain

Capt. Francis W. Kelly, Chaplain Corps, USNR, a veteran of eight campaigns with Marines during World War II and Korea, Monday relieved Capt. Joseph C. Canty as Marine Corps Base chaplain. Chaplain Canty has been assigned to the U. S. Naval Hospital, St. Alban's, Long Island, N. Y. Chaplain Kelly began his Naval career Feb. 13, 1942, upon graduation from Chaplain's School at Norfolk, Va. Since then his career has spanned 19 years, 12 of those years with Marine Corps units.

Chaplain Kelly is a native of Philadelphia and graduated from St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook, Pa., May 22, 1937. Prior to Chaplain Kelly's transfer to Camp Lejeune, he was stationed at the New London Submarine Base, New London, Conn.

During World War II, Chaplain Kelly participated in Marine Corps operations at Tulagi, Guadalcanal, Tarawa and Okinawa. The chaplain received the Legion of Merit for his actions with the Second Marine Regiment, 2nd Marine Division, at Tarawa. His commanding officer at Tarawa is the present Commandant of the Marine Corps, then Col. David M. Shoup, USMC.

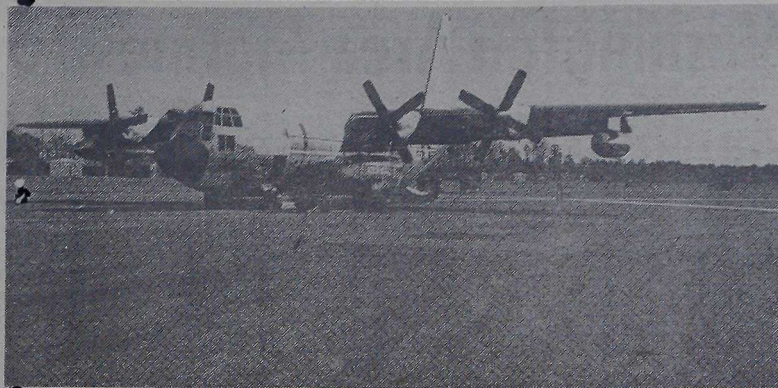

Chaplain Kelly, in addition to the Legion of Merit, holds the Purple Heart, Presidential Unit Citation with four stars, Asiatic Pacific Campaign Medal with four stars, Navy Unit Citation, and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation with four stars.

This will be Chaplain Kelly's first tour of duty at Camp Lejeune, although he was stationed at Cherry Point for a brief period in 1950.

There were over 22,000 Women Reservists in the Marine Corps in World War II.

HERCULES — The Lockheed GV-1 "Hercules" poises on the runway at the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, where it is undergoing combat loading tests conducted by the 2nd Marine Division. The Hercules is being considered as a possible replacement for transport planes now in use by the Corps.

Hercules Transport Plane Given Test At Air Facility

The muscles of the mighty CV-1 Hercules, a medium-range cargo transport plane, were tested for strength and endurance recently by units of the 2nd Division and the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing. Built by Lockheed, the big four-engined aircraft was flown to the nearby New River Air Facility where pieces of every type of equipment needed by Marine assault troops were test-loaded into the plane. This was done to facilitate studies which will decide if the aircraft is suitable for use in the Marine Corps.

Officers supervising the project were: Maj. L. V. M. Wickham, Capt. H. J. Bond, Maj. J. R. Arnaud of the 2nd Marine Division; Maj. J. W. Shank and Maj. R. C. Wesley of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing.

All tests were designed to determine the amount of combat equipment, both by size and weight, which can be carried by the Hercules should the need arise. The tests also had a secondary purpose—give crewmen a chance to familiarize themselves with loading procedures.

The large aircraft is powered by four turbo-prop engines which give it a cruising speed of 310 knots at 21,000 feet carrying a gross weight of 120,000. An idea of the Hercules' capacity can be seen by the fact that a two and one-half ton truck with dunnage, towing a 105mm howitzer, plus 20 infantrymen weighs in at about 25,000 pounds. The plane could carry such a load from coast to coast in seven hours and have enough fuel left for an additional three hours of flight.

The Hercules was flown to the New River Air Facility from Paudox River, Md., where Marines have been putting it to various tests for the past 60 days in order to provide data on its flight characteristics. Among its other capabilities, the Hercules has proved adept for use as an air-to-air refueling station in tests with aircraft of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, stationed at Cherry Point, N. C.

Loading tests were conducted at New River using equipment provided by the Sixth and Tenth Regiments plus the 2nd Anti-Tank, Motor Transport, Service and Headquarters Bns., all of the 2nd Division.

One test involved placing three of the Marine Corps Mighty Mites with trailers, and two mechanical mules—each carrying a 106mm rifle—aboard.

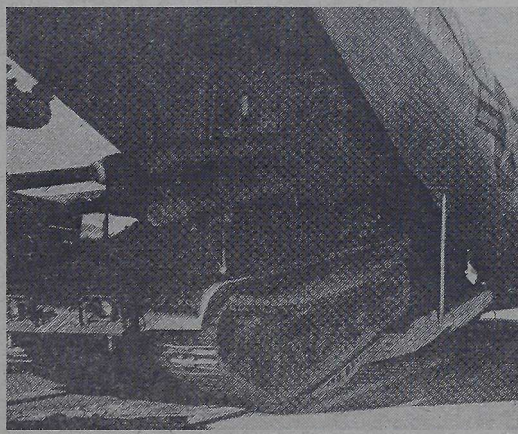

A spectacular feat performed by the Hercules during the New River tests occurred when two of the Marine Corps' well-known nine-ton Ontos, a six-gunned anti-tank vehicle, were swallowed into its vast cargo compartment. Hercules can carry both—plus their crews—200 miles.

Fund Active In Prevention Of Blindness

One of the many agencies which carries on extensive programs to benefit men, women and children in this area is the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. During 1960, through the North Carolina Committee, the public was alerted to the possibilities of preventing blindness by early detection, followed by sound professional care. H. G. Willis of Jacksonville (phone 4516) is the local civilian representative.

Educational programs featured talks and film showings on prevention of eye trouble and blindness in the counties of Buncombe, Craven, Cumberland, Guilford, Onslow, Rowan and Wayne.

Last year, more than 1,000 citizens of this state became newly blind. To combat needless loss of sight, the slogan, "Half of All Blindness Is Needless and Preventable" was widely used in the intensified eye-health education campaign waged during September. The North Carolina Committee carried on an energetic program of sight conservation in cooperation with local industry through the medium of the Wise Owl Club incentive program sponsored by the National Society. Nearly $176,000 in compensation payments was saved through these club chapters in North Carolina.

SWALLOWED—A nine-ton ONTOS, six-gunned Marine Corps anti-tank vehicle, disappears into the maw of the Lockheed CV-1 Hercules during tests held at Marine Corps Air Facility, New River. Various pieces of combat equipment were loaded aboard the aircraft to determine its suitability as a cargo carrier for the Corps.

Second Division Company On African Goodwill Tour

Operation SOLANT AMITY, the Navy and Marine Corps' goodwill tour to Africa and South America, swung into high gear early this month as the Landing Force arrived at Liberia, on the Atlantic coast of Africa. Commanded by Maj. H. Richard Kurth Jr., Operation SOLANT AMITY's Marine Landing Force is visiting Liberia as part of the four to six-month goodwill tour that will take them to several South American and numerous African ports.

The nucleus of the Landing Force is "G" Co., 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, 2nd Division, commanded by Capt. K. J. Skipper. Combined with units of the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, as well as helicopters from the Marine Corps Air Facility, the force is a light, versatile and highly mobile unit capable of accomplishing a variety of tasks.

In this instance, the "task" is a pleasant one. In accordance with President Eisenhower's "People-to-People" policy, the Landing Force will visit many countries, demonstrating the American way of life. In exchange, the Marines will be learning the customs and traditions of the countries they are visiting.

Highlighting the first days of the Liberian visit were two parades and a demonstration by "G" Company's drill team. The 5,000 parade observers also watched the helicopters conduct fly-overs.

Thousands of spectators were on hand Monday, Jan. 9, as the Marines participated in an amphibious landing, coming ashore by helicopters, amphibious tractors and a naval landing craft.

The ships of SOLANT AMITY are under the control of the commander, South Atlantic Fleet. Tentatively, the ships are expected to take the sailors and Marines down along the west coast of Africa, around Cape Horn, then up Africa's east coast, visiting many ports along the way. As a finale, they are scheduled to go through the Suez Canal, then from North Africa to the United States.

The Marine members of SOLANT AMITY departed Morehead City Nov. 30.

HELPING HAND

Off-Duty Education Study Improves Marine's Value

It is everyone's personal responsibility to keep improving themselves even after the compulsory part of their education has been satisfied.

The Marine who is continually seeking ways to better himself through any of the media offered, will discover the value of self-satisfaction and the importance of being judged favorably by those who are in a position to judge.

Promotion boards usually seem to be concerned with what a Marine is doing to improve himself, for they realize that in stepping in this direction he is increasing his value to the Corps as well as himself. His performance will show that he has initiative and is capable of handling responsibilities.

The General Electric Trophy was presented at New Orleans last week to a pair of jet pilots who claimed world speed records for the Navy in two individual events last September. The award has been made annually since 1953 for significant contributions to progress in military aviation.

Sharing the trophy are Marine Lt. Col. Thomas H. Miller, who piloted the Navy's McDonnell F4H-1 "Phantom II" to a speed of 1,216 mph around a 500-kilometer triangular closed course, and Cmdr. John F. "Jeff" Davis, who flew the same type plane around a 100-kilometer closed course at a record of 1,390 mph.

The award was made by J. D. Wethe, manager of marketing and General Electric's large Jet Engine Department, at a meeting of the Navy League of the United States at the Hotel Roosevelt.

With this in mind the Corps has made it possible for every Marine to gain further instruction in different fields. The Lejeune Marine is blessed four-fold in this respect. Enormous opportunities are available to him through: The Marine Corps Institute, the Extension School at Quantico; The United States Armed Forces Institute; and through East Carolina College.

East Carolina College, which holds evening classes from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Camp High School, has just started registration for its spring semester. Classes are held every evening, Monday through Thursday. Credits can be gained in three and five-hour courses. Each course meets only one night a week during the fall, winter, and spring semesters, and two nights a week, Tuesday and Thursday, during the summer session. The courses are supervised by qualified teachers, having a graduate degree in the course being taught.

The Corps has taken further steps to make this opportunity even more easily available for every enterprising Marine. Transportation by Marine Corps buses, will depart the Bus Depot at 6 p.m. and will return at approximately 10 p.m. Also, if the costs of these courses has worried you, the Marine Corps will pay 75 per cent of the tuition for personnel in the regular Marine Corps, or reservists on active duty.

If You Ask Me:

WHAT IS YOUR CHOICE OF AN IDEAL DUTY STATION—AND WHY?

HN ELISEO ROYBAL JR., Base Dispensary — I would like a duty station somewhere in the Orient.

main concern when sizing up duty stations is right here at the Orient is that I've seen a number of military installations on both the East and West Coasts. I'd like to go abroad before my tour of duty is over.

CPL. LESTER A. GORDON, Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., MCB — My choice of an ideal duty station is right here at Camp Lejeune. I have already been overseas. Yet, I prefer this Base because of the numerous helpful, educational and recreational facilities here. Liberty off the Base in the immediate vicinity is not the best, but I feel the Marine Corps comes first, liberty second. I have very few criticisms about Camp Lejeune.

PFC I. F. STEINER, Motor Transport Co., Hq. Bn., MCB — With the Marine Corps, my choice for an ideal duty station is Okinawa.

the complete opposite. If I were an old man, maybe I'd be happy with staying in the States, but I've got a long life to live yet, and I intend to see as much as I can. This duty station could offer more than any choice of duty in the Marine Corps.

DR. LAWRENCE JOSEPH, Lt., USN, Base Dental Department — Any station that has the facilities with which I can perform my job and keep my family happy while doing it is ideal to me.

I really have no preference for a particular duty station. In dentistry, efficient doctors and surgeons are needed at any military base around the world. It wouldn't make a great difference to me where I were stationed as long as I'd be able to carry on the duties of my field. However, being a married man and having a family to take care of, I am naturally concerned with good housing, benefits and well-being for them.

LCPL. CYNTHIA D'ABREU, Woman Marine Co., Hq. Bn., MCB — My choice probably sounds like the dream of every Camp Lejeune Woman Marine—California, West Coast duty.

Being from New York and having done a good bit of traveling on the East Coast, my hopes for a transfer to California is even stronger. I suppose I'm influenced by all the talk about enchanting scenery, excitement, and good liberty there. From what I hear, and the advantages of serving at San Diego, Camp Pendleton and El Toro are tremendous for Woman Marines. Besides the fact that the sights are numerous, I like the feeling of serving with the WM's in a large capacity—and California spells big to me!

Chaplain's Corner

In the 12th chapter of Hebrews we read the familiar words: "Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith." Looking unto Jesus is getting to be considered old-fashioned. It is accepted in theory but practically it is ignored. We have come a long way since the depression days when we prayed: "Give us this day our daily bread" and really meant it. Things have changed; we live in peace and prosperity. We feel that we don't need God. Then some tragedy strikes and we are confronted with the reality that "Man shall not live by bread alone" and that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things he possesses."

We have not outgrown our need for divine nurture even though we think we can get along without God. George Washington didn't think so when he knelt in the snows of Valley Forge and asked for the help of God to carry on an unequal military struggle for independence; nor did the allied forces at Dunkirk think they had outgrown their need for God, nor does our own Congress as it opens each session with prayer. But faith is not a foxhole for our protection in the hour of crisis; rather, it is the way we travel seven days a week. We sometimes try to assume an attitude of sophistication; we are self made men; our heads are crammed full of learning; our possessions testify to our material success. But within many hearts there is a spiritual vacuum because our spiritual development has not kept pace with our technical strides. May we learn to enjoy the things we have, but at the same time recognize that we are created for fellowship with God, and until we are "looking unto Jesus" we are not really living.

—W. Norman MacFarlane, Chaplain, Hq. Bn., 2nd Division.

Library News

New Books

These books are available at the Central Library, Bldg. -62, or through request from area branches at Montford Point, Courthouse Bay, Rifle Range and the Tenth Marines. Books may be reserved by telephone.

VICTORY IN THE PACIFIC, 1945 by Samuel Eliot Morison. In this, the concluding narrative volume of his series, Admiral Morison describes the famous campaigns for the capture of Iwo Jima and Okinawa, in which he participated. The details of these operations are described vividly, even passionately, with nothing spared as to the grim consequences of the kamikaze suicide crashes by enemy planes on the radar picket destroyers and other ships.

THE PRIMAL YOKE by Tom Lea is the story of Hank Spurling, a Marine hero of the war in the Pacific, who returned to the Cloudrock Mountains expecting to join his father, Ingo, and to resume his longed-for life as a guide—as far from coconut and as close to spruce as he can get.

Johnny Long Coming Here February 1-5

Johnny Long, "Young America's Favorite," was born on a farm in Newell, N. C. At five Johnny began studying violin, and at six the famous "pig incident" occurred. It seems that an over-hungry pig bit Johnny on the left hand, severing the tendons of a few fingers. Johnny's teacher was afraid the hand might be some time in healing, and perhaps never the same. He re-strung his violin.

Now Johnny bows with the left hand and his fingering is played with the right. This only "backward" or south-pawed violinist, who is famous will make his appearance with his orchestra for two performances at the Camp Theater Feb. 2, at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.; Marston Pavilion (for the staff NCO dance) Feb. 3, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.; the Paradise Point Officers Club, Feb. 4 to play for the Military Sweetheart Ball, and at Marston Pavilion, Feb. 5, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

At the age of 10, Johnny did concert work and continued until he was 16. At 17, he entered Duke University. Shortly afterward, Johnny and 11 freshmen organized a cooperative band, calling themselves "The Freshmen Orchestra." The next year they were "The Duke Sophomores." Then the "Duke Juniors," finally the "Duke Collegians."

After their graduation, in June, 1935, the band began taking professional dates. Hal Kemp and his manager arranged for them to be booked through their agency. The going was tough, but Johnny rose steadily to the top.

Johnny adheres to his old policy—keep the concerts in the concert halls and theaters, but give ballroom fans something they can dance to.

Employing fix saxs, five brasses and five rhythms, the Long crew sports a rhythmic style and danceable beat that has kept him a favorite of the younger dancers.

Lenny Wiggins and the "Rockers" will play for a dance to be held at Marston Pavilion Saturday, Jan. 21, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. The dance is for sergeants (E-4) and below, their dependents and guests, and is for couples only.

CARRY ON NURSE
A rollicking English farce. (103 min.)
BACK TO THE WALL
A suspenseful drama. (103 min.)
GIGI
Leslie Caron stars as a carefree young French girl who, all of a sudden, grows up. This musical was adapted from the famous Madame Colette best-selling novel by the same name. The rest of the cast includes Louis Jourdan, Maurice Chevalier and Hermine Gengold. To name a few. (Color, 116 min.)

NIGHT FIGHTERS
Robert Mitchum creates the role of a dreamer and poet who by accident of good fellowship is drawn into membership in a local Irish Republican Army unit and spends the remainder of the picture regretting it. Anne Heywood and Dan O'Herlihy have the supporting roles. (94 min.)
I'M ALL RIGHT JACK
Although checked by several hilarious moments and a near-slapstick scene or two, "I'm All Right Jack" is primarily a serious, sharp witted comedy which trusts labor and management at each other's throats and then exposes them both for what they are at their worst. Ian Carmichael writes a rather dim-witted but honest young man whose spirited outlook propels him to heroic proportions. Clive Brook stars. Peter Sellers' top-billed but his clipped speech and cranky compositly help him steal every scene he's in. Liz Fraser plays Sellers' well proportioned daughter. (115 min.)

JAZZ BOAT
Anthony Newley portrays an electrician who becomes involved with a gang of hoodlums after repairing the alarm system of a jewelry store. He makes the mistake of passing on a notorious thief and the gang forces him to participate in breaking into a jewel shop. He manages to escape with the loot and the gang pursues him. Anne Aubrey has the feminine lead. (120 min.)

HELL BENT FOR LEATHER
A case of mistaken identity sets the pace for an unusual "chase" to hold the interest from start to finish in this new-look musical. The cast includes Farr, Stephen McNally and Jan Merlin lead support to the much decorated World War II hero. (99 min.)

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS
The late Cecil B. De Mille among his numerous other accomplishments performed a great service to western culture in presenting for the second time in this century a near-flawless film account of the Biblical Exodus. The first film was one of the great epics of the silent film era. The second certainly rates top-billing among those of the present era. Charlton Heston's portrayal of Moses, John Derek as Joshua, Yule Brynner as the Pharaoh cannot be equalled. (Color, 219 min.)

SADDLE THE WIND
Robert Taylor portrays a western farmer disappointed in love who opposes his immature brother's determination to take a girl of bad reputation as his wife. Julie London plays the girl who realizes none-to-late that she has married a juvenile. Her husband played by John Cassavetes concludes in the end that big brother knew best. (Color, 93 min.)

THE YOUNG PHILADELPHIANS
Paul Newman has the male lead in this story of a young man's fight to reach the top in the law profession despite his humble birth. The young man's career is carved against the luxurious setting of Philadelphia homes of wealth and law offices of distinction. He is a fighter against attempts to patronize him on the one hand and his own desire to force his head on the other. Barbara Rush has the feminine lead. (129 min.)

ONE FOOT IN HELL
For once in his screen career Alan Ladd has an unusual partner. Actually both his feet, his heart, his soul and his trigger finger are bound for Hades in this brutal film. To put it mildly, it is a 90 minute exercise in maniacal murder. Don Murray and Dolores Michael provide the love interest. But neither these nor the others characters in the story would likely be recommended for good citizenship awards. (Color, 100 min.)

LETS MAKE LOVE
French actor Yves Montand plays a billionaire playboy who wants to be loved for himself alone and not for his money and power. When he and Tony Randall spy on an off-Broadway show that is supposed to lampoon Montand, he and his review partners, they meet Marilyn Monroe, the star of the show. Montand falls in love with her and then tries to win her heart by showing off his playboy as a performer. To accomplish this he hires three famous entertainers to teach him the ropes. (Color, 113 min.)

500 AREA (500) — Outdoors at 8 p.m.
CAMP GEIGER OUTDOOR (CGO) — One-half hour after sundown.
AIR FACILITY, NEW RIVER (AF) — Indoors, 6 and 8 p.m.
CAMP GEIGER TRAILER PARK (TP) — Indoors at Community Center, 7:30 p.m.
DRIVE-IN (DI) — Begins at 7 p.m.

KIDNAPPED
John MacArthur and Peter Finch escape from the clutches of a rascally ship captain hired by MacArthur's villainous uncle to kidnap his nephew and sell him in the Carolinas as a slave. Returning to his home in Scotland the pair are pursued by British soldiers. But they manage to shake off the soldiers and eventually get even with MacArthur's uncle. (Color, 103 min.)
TEACHER'S PET
The late Clark Gable is seen in this film as city editor of a major metropolitan newspaper. Gable a hard-driving, self-taught newspaper man grows impatient with schools of journalism and other new-fangled notions, but not indifferent to his pretty night school journalism teacher, played by Doris Day. Doris is the daughter of a journalist, a idol of Clark's, and is interested in Clark, first as a promising student, later as a potential lover, finally as a husband. But this last interest, Clark is in no big hurry to allow to come to pass. Gig Young and Mamie Van Doren are also featured in the film. (Color, 121 min.)

THE BROTHERS KARAMAZOV
Mid-Eighteenth Century Russia comes to life on the screen in this narrative about a bizarre well-to-do country family. Yule Brynner stars as one of four brothers who are at odds with their eccentric father, played by Lee J. Cobb. Cobb, it seems, doesn't appear to understand his sons, nor they him. You can't really blame them either, after seeing the old man carry on like a twenty-year-old playboy, and a notorious one at that. The story is a powerful moral. It you can manage to figure out what it is. Claire Bloom and Maria Schell supply the love interest. (Color, 148 min.)

FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE
Mike, played by Danny Bravo, is a 12-year-old Indian boy who wants to see a new church built at his impoverished New Mexican pueblo as badly as do the people who are against it. Arthur Shields and Richard Basehart, Mike, an orphan played to Shields, who is critically ill and expected to die within the year. The boy also nurses sick animals back to health in his spare time. In short, he is what every nice boy should be. Stu Erwin and cowboy star Rex Allen lend support. (Color, 94 min.)

INHERIT THE WIND
Based on the true story of the State of Tennessee against John T. Scopes, a biology teacher who taught Darwin's theory of evolution in defiance of the law. "Inherit the Wind" depicts the highlights of that famous trial of 35 years ago. Spencer Tracy portrays Henry Drummond who in reality is supposed to be the famed defense attorney Clarence Darrow. Fredric March carries the role of Matthew Harrison Brady who in the actual trial was the noted politician and statesman, William Jennings Bryan. Dick York plays the accused teacher. The film contains many situations, personal, and emotional. Gene Kelly and Florence Eldridge provide the Chit-chat supporting roles. (27 min.)

THE 39 STEPS
The setting is 1930 on a sunny afternoon in a British Park. Kenneth More discovers that baby carriage contains not a gurgling infant but a gun. It develops that More is wanted for murder and about all he's certain of at the moment is that a frantically-whispered "39 Steps" will lead him to a lonely village in the Scottish Highlands. Subsequent sentences bring More into forceful encounters with a host of interesting characters. (Color, 103 min.)

Camp Lejeune At Night For Studious Marines, D

COLLEGE CAMPUS—Not just Marines, but dependents and civilians are leaving the Camp Lejeune High School after a class conducted by the East Carolina College in the Base Off-Duty Education Program. Left to right are Capt. Bobby E. Clarke, Marine Corps Supply School; LCpl. Alfred J. Spinner, Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., 2nd Division; Mrs. Howard Gress, dependent wife, 507 New River Drive, and Jack Lewis, Front Street Extension, Beaufort, N. C.

Camp Lejeune takes on the look of a college campus four nights each week when local servicemen, dependents and civilians attend college courses at the Base High School.

These college courses are extension courses from East Carolina College at Greenville, N. C., and are taught by instructors with graduate degrees in the courses being instructed.

Students for these courses fall into four categories, officer, enlisted, dependents and local civilians who desire to further their education by taking night study courses.

Graduate Courses

This college education program gives the undergraduate and the college graduate a chance to work for higher degrees in their chosen fields. Graduate courses are offered on a quarterly basis with classes in the fall, winter, spring and summer.

Undergraduate courses are offered on a semester basis with classes in the fall, spring and summer.

Each class meets one night a week, either Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday during the fall, winter and spring terms and two nights a week, Tuesday and Thursday, during the summer classes.

Two members of the staff of the Base Education Office, 1st Lt. Jo Anne Kilday and SSgt. Thomas W. Rafferty, in cooperation with Dr. Ralph Brimley, Director of Extension Courses of East Carolina College, were instrumental in setting up the current off-duty college education program here.

REGISTRATION FOR COLLEGE—All military personnel, dependents and civilians are eligible for registration for East Carolina College Extension Courses which are being conducted at the Base High School four nights each week. Mrs. Susan M. Hawkins, Education Counselor, registers Jerry B. Moore, HN, USN, USNH, for an extension course to further his college education.

EDUCATION PLANNING—Like any project, off-duty education takes plenty of planning before the classes can begin. SSgt. Thomas W. Rafferty, 1st Lt. Jo Anne Kilday of the Base Education Office and Dr. Ralph Brimley, Director of Extension Courses, East Carolina College, discuss plans for setting up off-duty education at Camp Lejeune.

Tuition
Tuition for these courses is $7 per credit hour. The Marine Corps' off-duty education program pays 75 per cent of the tuition for reservists and other branches. Officers on active duty for a period of two years or more must pay the full cost. Under this education program monthly pay can receive the five-quarter hour course for the three-quarter hour course. This does not include textbooks and other materials which must be purchased by the individual.

Credits
Credits for the successful completion of extension courses from East Carolina College are three quarter hours, either five per course and these credits are transferred to colleges or universities. A limit of two subjects per semester is set to make a larger variety of courses available. Exceptions to these limitations are working toward the college degree; they can fulfill their military duties and take three courses; staff NCOs who have an average in the past and feel they can handle the off-duty duties and do justice to the Base. Registration for these courses is

Try-Out Dates Released For Baseball Club

Camp Lejeune's 1961 baseball screening sessions get under way Feb. 13 with candidates reporting to Goettge Memorial Field House at 2 p.m. The sessions will be as last year's with the pitchers and catchers reporting Monday, February 13, and infielders and outfielders the following week.

Candidates must be equipped with sweat shirts, gym shoes, towels and gloves from their unit special services.

It has been reported by Base Special Services that as yet, a head mentor for the coming diamond season has not been selected. It has been announced, however, that last year's assistant coach, Joe "Doc" Depompa, will be with this year's squad.

Camp Lejeune is expected to form the nucleus of their team around eight returnees from last year's team. Returning to the squad this year will be: shortstop Charlie Armstrong, outfielders Dave Petros and Howie Heiden, utility infielder Earl Williams; and pitchers Ron Beimel, Bob Williams, Alex Bright and Frank Nichols.

Armstrong led the club, last year, in the home run department with 14. His home run effort tied that of Harry Agganis in 1951 and teammate Hal Norton in 1959 for Agganis Field honors.

Also highlighting those returnees will be Beimel, who will be remembered after his eight and two-third innings of no-hit ball during last year's All-Marine playoffs, enabling Lejeune to sweep the title for the second consecutive season.

Adding to the returning lettermen, Lejeune has acquired infielder Larry Durban, pitcher Fred Townsend and a right fielder, who all played with the Parris Island Marines last year.

During the 1960 season, Camp Lejeune won 67 games while losing only 19.

Lady Golfers Hold Tourney

Carrie Luckey scored four 5's to take "A" Flight during the Woman's Golf Association's weekly tournament held at the Paradise Point Golf Course, last week.

Also scoring four 5's during the "Poker Hand" match, Pat Dubber took "B" Flight while four 4's netted Della Koyiades first place in "C" Flight.

Top honors went to Marge Bolton in "D" Flight. The winner also scored four 5's for the win.

MCB Headquarters Battalion Plans Intra-Unit Pistol Match

Headquarters Marine Corps has emphasized the importance of individual participation in competitive shooting and established a policy for a continuing competition-in-arms, in a recent order. An intra-unit pistol match will be conducted by Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps Base. The match is scheduled to be held Saturday, Jan. 21, at Range Fox Trot Eleven.

AmTrac Five Blast Anglico

Second Amphibious Tractor Battalion literally "ran away with the ball" as they romped over 2nd ANGLICO with a score of 64-33, once again proving that they are the team to watch as the Force Troops Bowling League continues action. In another contest, 2nd Tank Battalion edged out 8th Motor Transport Battalion by a score of 70-62.

Bowling Results

Second Composite Radio suffered its first defeat of the season in a 3-1 decision over 2nd Anglico as action continued in the Force Troops Bowling League last week. However, their 15-1 league standing still places them well in front of their nearest competitors, 8th Communications Battalion, 8th Engineer Battalion, and 2nd Separate Surgical Battalion with 10-2, 9-3 and 8-4 records respectively.

Professional Wrestling Here Features Three Ring Events

For the first time in its history, Camp Lejeune will feature professional wrestling. Base Special Services will present top drawing grapplers at Goettge Memorial Field House Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. Ringside seats for this unique entertainment will be $1, while all others will be 50 cents. Four hundred ringside seats have been made available and will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Tickets are now on sale at the field house, unit special services offices and the main exchange.

Opening up the evening, Jack Curtis from Vicksburg, Miss., will oppose ten-year veteran Mark Stone. Stone, 5'8", but weighing a solid 230 pounds, depends on rough tactics exclusively while his opponent, slightly lighter at 219, utilizes speed and is reported as appealing to the female fans.

The final match of the night will be a tag-team match starring teammates Ray Villmer of Tampa, Fla., and Sandy Scott from Canada against Mike Padiouis, former all-America tackle from the University of Tennessee and Waldo Von Erich of Berlin, Germany.

Breaking into the middle of the men's bouts will be the woman's event featuring the "Amazing" Judy Grable of Miami, Fla., and Mexico's Rita Cortez.

One of the most talked about female wrestlers in the country today, Miss Grable, often called the "Sunkist Girl," stands 5'6", tips the scales at 136 pounds and is a blue-eyed blonde.

She is known by many wrestling fans as the "Barefoot Contessa" due to her wrestling without shoes. Judy's ring tactics are considered as amazing—she is reported to use her legs to great advantage with such holds as Flying head Scissors, many fancy combinations of cartwheels and drop kicks, finishing off her opponents with a hold she discovered and titled "The Kangaroo Flip."

She is considered a "Feminine Antoni (Argentine) Rocca," and claims her greatest ambition is to capture the World Title and Diamond Championship Belt, now held by the present champion, the "Fabulous Moolah."

Grable's opponent, Rita Cortez, is from Mexico City, Mexico, and also hopes to garner the world's championship. Rita, being of Spanish origin, is said to be descendent of the famous explorer of yesterday. Like him, she is exploring too, such as the lady wrestlers of today. By solving her ways and means in the ring, she has become the number one female wrestler in Mexico.

Rita, like all lady grapplers, also the men, has a pet hold that she calls the "Mexican Bourne." Spectators will be able to detect this hold, when they see her opponents bounding off the canvas and on many occasions bouncing out of the ring.

Local Cagers Return Home Against Eustis

Returning from a highly successful road trip, the Camp Lejeune basketball quintet met Ft. Gordon Provost in a two-game set Tuesday and Wednesday nights before traveling to Virginia for a pair against Quantico, tomorrow and Saturday.

The local cagers will return to Lejeune where they will meet Fort Eustis and Mitchel Air Force Base during a three-game home stand, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, respectively.

Results of the Fort Gordon contests were received too late for GLOBE deadline, but will be re-capped in next week's issue.

While on their latest road trip the Marines extended their season record to 18 victories against only five losses. It was four consecutive victories for the locals as they defeated Langley Air Force Base, 83-58, and followed up with an 89-81 win over AirLANT, an 82-73 victory over ServLANT and a 102-80 triumph over DesLANT.

While at Quantico, the Marines will be out to even the score after the Virginians defeated Lejeune 89-72 and 80-79 earlier this season at home.

Rod And Gun Club Selects '60 President

The Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club's regular monthly meeting Jan. 10 at Marston Pavilion sent 60 members to the swamps in 20-degree weather on their third annual racoon hunt.

Preceding the hunt, Maj. C. E. Westbrook was installed as the club's new president at a short business meeting. He replaced Maj. O. R. Waldrop, who was transferred to Marine Barracks, Brooklyn Navy Yard. Major Westbrook's extensive experience in hunting and wildlife conservation dates back to 1948-50 when he served as a huntmaster and member of the former Camp Fishing and Hunting Committee.

The group netted three large racoons for their efforts. The prizes for the first and for the largest racoon caught that night were awarded to Mr. Billy Midgett, owner of the hounds, sponsored by SSgt. C. R. Horton. Second place was taken by Mr. Elbert Kennedy, whose hounds were sponsored by Capt. B. E. Clark.

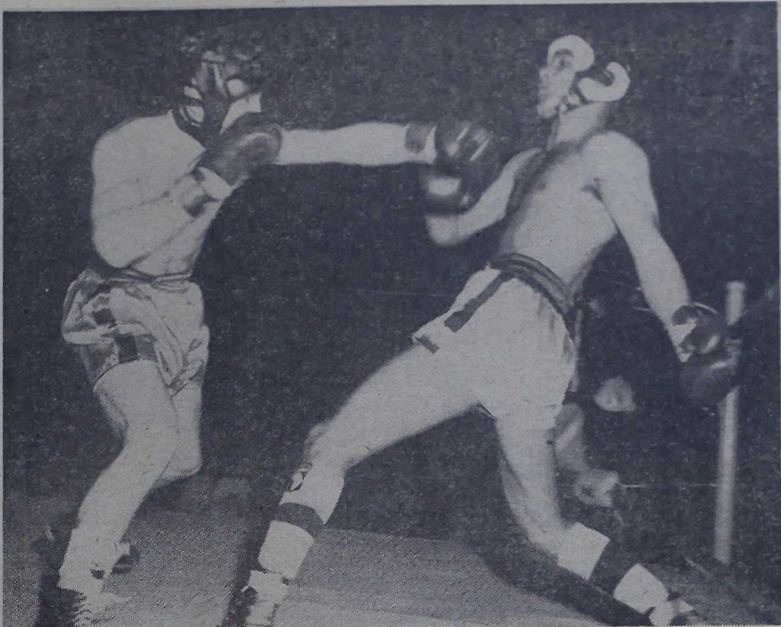

MAJOR WESTBROOK

Food and refreshments were served around a huge bon-fire in the French Creek area as members discussed the mystery of the trail some of the hounds refused to give up in spite of the weather and repeated calls from their masters.

Due to the success of this hunt and the many requests for another, the Rod and Gun club will schedule another racoon hunt soon.

Since the weather is of prime consideration, short notice will be given when the hunt will go. Those interested should notify either Major Westbrook, ext. 7-5468, or Captain Clark, ext. 9-8161.

Fort Campbell's 'Screaming Eagles' Hand Local Scrappers Trouble During Opener

Power-packed with punch, speed and mostly experience, the Ft. Campbell scrappers defeated Camp Lejeune's boxing stable 8-2 last Wednesday evening at Goettge Memorial Field House. It was the season's opener for Lejeune. The "Marines" will meet Ft. Campbell in a return match in Kentucky next Thursday. Camp Lejeune's next scheduled home match will be against the "Soldiers" of Ft. Bragg, N. C., Feb. 2. Ring time for the event will be 8:15 p.m. Before an estimated crowd of 3,800 fans, Lejeune's ace-in-the-hole, middleweight Ray Phillips snapped a seven-bout win streak when he scored a unanimous decision over Campbell's Al Brown.

Moving in on Brown early in the first round, the Olympic scrapper scored heavily to the head and body with both hands in the final two rounds to gain the nod from all three judges.

Light heavyweight O. M. Henry picked up Lejeune's only other win of the evening with a surprising upset over D. W. Carter, the European Champion of 1960.

After an even and speedy first round, Campbell's flyweight Bob Carmody tallied enough points in the remaining rounds to score a unanimous decision over Doug Blankenship during the evening's opening bout.

◆ A well-placed pair of rights and lefts rendered Blankenship groggy in the second round, while the third was highlighted by a terrific smash to the head by Carmody.

Campbell's Johnny Joiner fought off a first-round effort to defeat Ronnie Cooper and pick up the second victory of the evening for the "Screaming Eagles."

Battling strong during the infighting, Cooper held a slight first round advantage, but saw the hole close up as Joiner hammered continuously to the head and face in the remaining rounds.

Third Event
Following a comparatively light first round, Campbell's featherweight Charlie Taylor tallied enough points in the second round and fought off a third round spurge by Bill Hyson to decision the local fighter in the third event.

The fourth bout of the evening saw Lejeune's Ernest Dawson score early in the first round against Milton Brooks. Seemingly on his way to the first Lejeune victory, Dawson appeared to tire early in the second round with Brooks scoring all the way in the third for the unanimous decision win.

Jim Carter scored an unpopular unanimous decision over Lejeune's light welterweight Willie Davis in the fifth contest. With Carter scoring hard to the body, Davis countered effectively to stave off a first round battering.

Carter stunned Davis with a smashing left to the jaw, but the game scrapper, apparently dazed by the blow, countered and held on until the bell.

It was Carter all the way in the final round, as the All-Army runner-up continued his assault until the final bell.

No Match

Lejeune's welterweight Bill Weir proved no match for Ray Owens, third Army champ and participant in the Florida AAU, as the experienced scrapper picked up a split decision for the sixth straight Campbell victory.

Following two even rounds, condition proved its point as Owens utilized reserve strength, scoring heavily to the head and body for the victory.

◆ Martin Mack, USAREUR champanion of 1957-58-59, kept the win streak moving, scoring a unanimous decision over Lejeune's light middleweight, L. L. Martin.

Mack, outreaching Martin by several inches, scored well with a long left like clockwork, gaining the nod from the judges after all three rounds.

Following Lejeune's two victories, Campbell's heavyweight Jim Johnson dowsed hopes of a third win, defeating Bill Love during the final match of the evening.

Johnson racked up points in the second and third rounds with the "Big Punch" which Love seemed to avoid in the first.

Mobley Rolls 237 Game In Staff League

One shutout was registered during the Wednesday night Staff NCO bowling as Quality Cleaners blanked Courthouse Bay. In other action, Mae's Bar downed New River Pharmacy, 3-1; National Boh took three from Herb Sunshine, Budweiser dropped Stiles Van & Storage, 3-1, D&E Car Exchange stopped Wainwright Transfer, 3-1, and Gulfprice Service split with Myers Team.

Thursday Night's Staff League

During the Thursday night Staff League, ABC Cleaners blanked Ballantine, Myers Team defeated Baysden Furniture, 3-1, Falstaff won over A-1 Cleaners, 3-1; Marinelli Insurance defeated Tarawa Terrace, 3-1, and Waterway split with Liberal Credit.

New River Newcomers

New River Newcomers Bowling League saw the Rolling Pins take four from the last place Heidi-Hi's to move into third place. In the other contest the Alley Dusters held the Pinsters to a tie, 2-2.

His and Hers League (Staff)

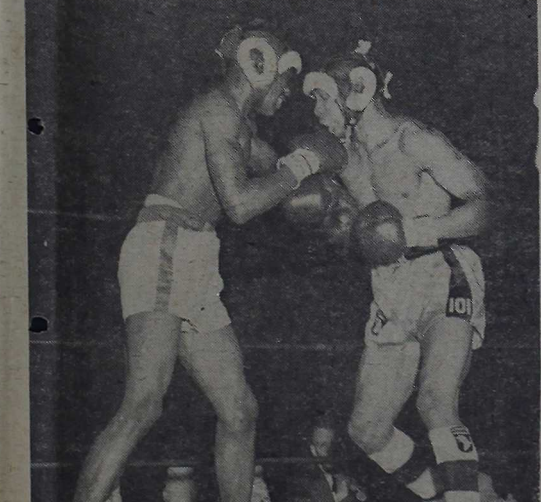

Stutts Body Shop and WJNC scored shutouts over No. 2 Team and Marine Chevrolet, respectively, highlighting the His and Hers League. In other play, Major Appliance dropped Western Auto, 3-1; Southern Cleaners downed New River Cleaners, 3-1, and the Whistle-N-Pig Drive-In defeated Hoyt's Bar and Grill, also 3-1.

Paradise Point (Women's)

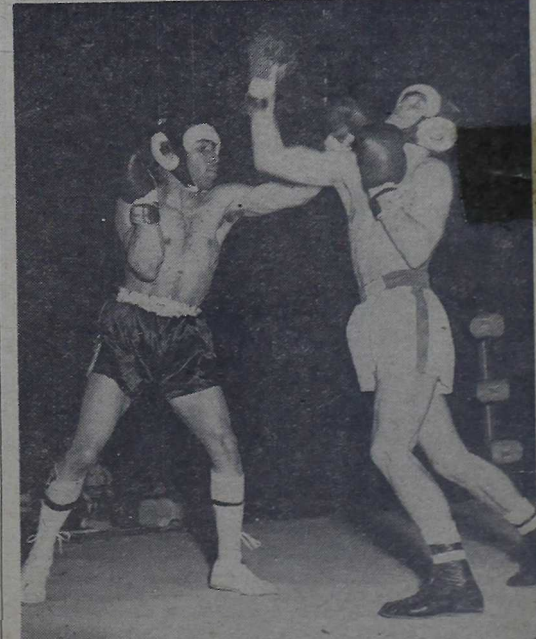

It was three shutouts in the Paradise Point Women's Bowling League as the Gutterbusters, the Blanks, and the Safety Pins blanked the Pin Poppers, Sun Shine Gals and the Underdogs, respectively. In other action, the Guidons downed the Bowleggers, 3-1; the Lacy Aces defeated the Echoes, 3-1, and the Exploders lost to Navmars also by 3-1.

Officers Bowling League

In the Officers Bowling League, Force Troops blanked Engineer School; Luckey Five downed Sin Cuidados, 3-1; Salty Warriors over MCCC, 3-1; Second Motors stopped Automatics, 3-1; the Pioneers shut out the Serpents, the Medics took four from the Wrench Twisters, and the Shufflers, Mocates, Blockbusters and Molars split with two each.

More Bonus Money Offered On Long Term Reenlistment

Monetary benefits accruing to career Marines are not fully understood, correspondence received at Headquarters Marine Corps indicates. Based on the contents of the letters received, it is apparent many reenlistees are not fully informed of the immediate benefit of reenlistment bonuses and loss of money by individuals who repeatedly reenlist for short terms. The loss is particularly felt by those individuals who complete a short term enlistment and then extend. Under the Career Compensation Act of 1949, military personnel are authorized reenlistment bonuses up to $2,000 for 20 years of obligated service. Payment is made on a cumulative basis and no bonus payments are authorized for service obligated beyond 20 years under Section 208 of the Act. Reenlistment bonuses are computed under a sliding scale. Each time a Marine reenlists it lessens the potential of bonus pay he will receive for his next reenlistment. The scale regulates payment as follows:

- First reenlistment — One month's base pay for each year of reenlistment.
- Second reenlistment — 20 days base pay for each year of reenlistment.
- Third reenlistment — 10 days base pay for each year of reenlistment.
- Fourth and all subsequent reenlistments — 5 days base pay for each year of reenlistment.

With this method of payment, it is easy to realize the consequences that can arise from repeated short term reenlistments. As an example, follow the reenlistments of a career Marine who intends to serve 20 years. Upon completion of his initial four year tour, the Marine, as a Cpl E-4 extends for two years and collects a bonus of $320.00, or one month base pay for each year of the extension. When the extension expires, the Marine reenlists for two years as a Sgt. E-5 and is paid a bonus of $273.34 — 20 days base pay for each year of reenlistment.

As a Sgt. E-5 over 6 years, the Marine once again reenlists for two years and collects a bonus of $140.00 — 10 days base pay for each year of reenlistment. As a SSgt. E-6 over 8 years, our Marine finally decides to a "big kill" by reenlisting for six years. The "big kill" amounts to $245.00 — only five days base pay for each year of reenlistment. Upon completion of the six year reenlistment, the Marine reenlists, as a GySgt. E-7, for four years in order to complete his "20". The bonus received is $206.67 — again paid at the rate of five days base pay for each year of reenlistment. Now, the Marine has obligated himself to 20 years service and, due to the short term reenlistments early in his career, he finds that he has not collected, and cannot collect his full $2,000 in bonuses — $814.99 short of the $2000 he could have had with better planning.

After General Chapman administered the oath of enlistment, Sergeant Kline commented, "There's nothing like being a Marine." Col. Williams Takes Over Assn. Duties

Col. Maxie R. Williams, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, has replaced Maj. J. M. Terry, Assistant G-4, as 2nd Marine Division Association Liaison Officer.

Upon assuming this additional duty position, Colonel Williams announced that regular membership in the 2nd Marine Division is open to all personnel at Camp Lejeune including those within the 2nd Division, Force Troops and Marine Corps Base.

Major Terry

Officers, staff NCO's and younger Marines are banded together by joining this organization. The Association offers many advantages to all Leathernecks for an annual fee of only $3 and lifetime memberships can be obtained for $50, said Colonel Williams.

The colonel wants to remind all hands that as a member, you honor or men of the 2nd Division who have given their lives in defense of the nation, and celebrate with appropriate ceremonies outstanding deeds performed by the Division.

Colonel Williams

Fellowship with those in the service and those who have returned to civilian life is fostered by conventions and widespread interest in the principles of American Freedom and Democracy.

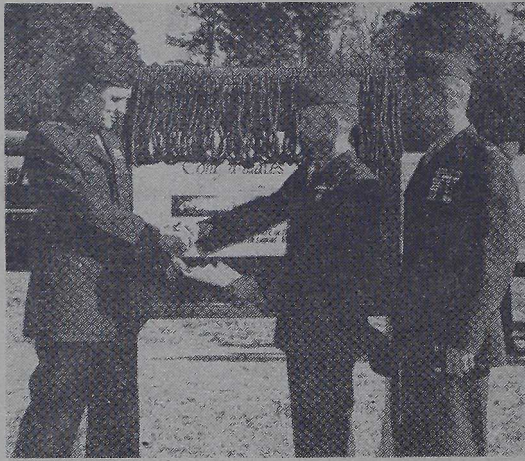

The Association assembles once a year at a nation-wide convention. This year, the 12th Annual Reunion will be held at Madison, Wis., on July 21-23.

A married Marine may join the Association and not feel as if his family has been left out of the deal. Wives, mothers, fathers, sons, and daughters of persons eligible for regular membership, are eligible for Associate Membership.

GLOBE Pin-Up

LOVELY LASS—Many a passer-by turns his head when captivated by the beauty of the young girl, Nina Shipman, relaxing in the sun. Nina's appearing in the 20th Century Fox release "Blue Denim."

PLAQUE—Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, left, congratulates SSGt. Lester H. Buchanan, reenlistment NCO of the Sixth Marines which won the Commanding General's plaque awarded to the regiment with the highest reenlistment rate within the 2nd Marine Division. Sergeant Buchanan accounted for 53 Marines reenlisting or extending.

Sixth Shipovers Soar! Sharp SSgt. Supervises

The 6th Marine Regiment topped all other 2nd Marine Division units and was named the first winner of the Commanding General's Reenlistment Award. Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, who originated the trophy to stimulate interest in the 2nd Division's continuous reenlistment drive, presented the award to Col. M. D. Henderson.

Civic Group Visits MCAF, Air Group-26

Thirty-three members of the Greater Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce were guests last Sunday of the Marine Corps Air Facility and Marine Aircraft Group-26 at an open house in observance of the 50th Anniversary of Naval Aviation. This is the first of a series of like programs planned throughout the year.

The Chamber members were welcomed to the station by Col. John R. Little, commanding officer of the Air Facility, and Col. Paul T. Johnson, MAG-26 commanding officer. They were briefed on the functions and operating procedures of both commands and viewed a film on the vertical assault tactics used by the Marine Corps.

Accompanied by officers of MAG-26 and MCAF, the group witnessed an actual demonstration of Ground Controlled Approach procedures. The conversation between the pilot of the twin-engine Beechcraft and the GCA controllers was heard through a loudspeaker. Following the first landing, another GCA was made while Chamber members observed radar equipment in the GCA vans.

Following a coffee break and a briefing on MAG-26's role in Project Mercury, the group observed a demonstration of the HUS helicopter flight capabilities. A paratrooper by members of a Pathfinder team, originally scheduled, was cancelled due to high winds.

A demonstration of search and rescue procedures by an HOK type helicopter from VMO-1 picked up a man from a raft and then the large HRS helicopter and the smaller HUS type attempted a Mercury Capsule pick-up.

The motor fuel used in the Iwo Jima campaign would have filled a train of tank cars 238 miles long, and the lubricating oil would have filled an additional 125 box cars.

Colonel Henderson, commanding officer of the Sixth Marines, accepted the huge plaque on behalf of the entire regiment and commended the efforts of his reenlistment NCOs. The Sixth Marines reenlistment rate during the final quarter of 1960 increased some 60 per cent over their third quarter effort.

General Berkeley also presented a Letter of Commendation to SSGt. Lester N. Buchanan. The letter praised Sergeant Buchanan for his "tireless efforts" in accounting personally for 11 reenlistments and 42 extensions. Sergeant Buchanan was formerly the reenlistment NCO for the 2nd Battalion, Sixth Marines. Although he was transferred to Quantico, Va., early in January, he returned to Camp Lejeune to receive his commendation and take part in the ceremonies.

The Commanding General's Reenlistment Award presentation will be made at the end of each calendar quarter. It will be presented to the Division unit which achieves the highest reenlistment percentage.

The Sixth Marines festooned the plaque with 82 French Fourragere, their distinguished decoration won in World War I. Each Fourragere stands for a man who reenlisted or extended during the last quarter. They will display the trophy in their regimental mess hall.

At the conclusion of the award ceremonies, the 2nd Battalion, Sixth Marines, vividly demonstrated one of the advantages of a Marine Corps career. Two hundred men stepped forward from the battalion formation and were promoted to higher rank. Lt. Col. Duane W. Faw, commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion, presented the promotion warrants in the largest mass promotion held by a battalion of the 2nd Marine Division.

Division Oldtimers Recall Iceland 'Polar Bear' Duty

The Tenth Marines can boast of two oldtimers who wore "polar bears" when the 2nd Marine Division was in its infancy. The "polar bears" were shoulder patches worn in WWII by Marines who served in Iceland with the 1st Marine Brigade from June, 1941, to March, 1942. The two "oldtimers," Maj. Evieco Ragsdale, S-4, Tenth Marines, and Capt. Harris I. Hart Jr., Tenth Marines' adjutant, were enlisted members of the brigade when it was formed.

The "polar bear" 1st Brigade was the first American unit sent overseas as a result of WWII. It was composed of the Sixth Marines, the 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, and elements of the 2nd Tank, Medical and Service Battalions.

Major Ragsdale earned his "polar bear" patch as a staff sergeant in "D" Btry., 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines. Although the major has been around artillery a long time, his current tour is his first return to the Tenth Marines since 1942.

He first learned about artillery while serving in "D" Btry., 18th Field Artillery, U. S. Army, at Ft. Sill, Okla. At that time the 18th Field Artillery used horses to draw their artillery pieces. Major Ragsdale says he joined the Marine Corps to get away from horses.

When he joined the Tenth Marines, the major says the Marine Corps was short of gasoline so they hitched him to a gun. He recalls that a five-man team hauled each 75mm pack howitzer.

The 10th Marines became part of the 2nd Marine Division when it was activated on Feb. 1, 1941, at Camp Elliott, Calif. Major Ragsdale remembers that his battery commander was Capt. James Roosevelt, son of the late President. The executive officer of the 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines was the famous movie director, William S. Van Dyke III.

When the 2nd Battalion packed and sailed from California through the Panama Canal, the "scoop" was that they were headed for the tropical island of Martinique. They stopped at Charleston, S. C., just long enough to pick up an issue of cold weather clothing, then they were off to Iceland.

In March, 1942, when the 1st Brigade left Iceland, Major Ragsdale returned to Camp Elliott in time to ship out for another cruise—this time to another extreme of the weather cycle—British Samoa in the South Seas!

Captain Hart received his "polar bear" when he was a corporal with the 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines. The captain still has a leave paper which the H&S Company commander signed in May, 1941, permitting him to go home and get married. The company commander was Capt. David M. Shoup.

Captain Hart was one of the first Marines to go ashore in Iceland. In the advance detail which had to set up camp for the rest of the Brigade, he was first billeted with the 366th Royal Field Artillery, a British unit.

BEAR PATCH—Maj. Evieco Ragsdale, left, S-4, Tenth Marines, and Capt. Harris I. Hart Jr., Tenth Marines' adjutant, recall the time they both wore a "polar bear" patch on their uniforms almost 20 years ago when both were members of the 1st Marine Brigade. The Brigade was the first American unit sent overseas during World War II. Major Ragsdale and Captain Hart were both enlisted men in the Tenth Marines and Sixth Marines, respectively, during the time the Brigade served a tour of duty in Iceland.
