

Stover's 'Dixieland Firemen' At Theater Tonight

Arriving from Las Vegas tonight, Smokey Stover and his Dixieland Band will give two free one-hour performances at the Camp Theater beginning at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. The scheduled movie will follow the final performance at the Camp Theater.

The "Dixielanders" will then invade the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club for a Jazz Concert there.

Riding the crest of the current wave of enthusiasm for old time Dixieland Jazz, the popular Smokey

Stover and Original Firemen have been pleasing the customers at some of America's better rooms for the past year, having recently been featured at such outstanding hotels as the Peabody in Memphis, the Penn-Sheraton in Pittsburgh and the Sharon Jefferson in St. Louis.

A tip-top showcasing of popular old time Dixie favorites laced with modern Dixie stylings of pops, standard and songs known and loved by everyone will highlight the evening.

Smokey Stover and his Firemen guarantee to please. Fans should thrill to the Firemen as they offer old favorites like "The Saints Go Marchin' In," "Basin Street Blues," "South Rampart Street Parade," and "Jazz Me Blues."

With Smokey and his red-hot trumpet will appear Jimmy Granato on the clarinet, Floyd O'Brien on the trombone, Hal "Happy" John Gilliland with the tuba, Hal Benson at the piano, Monty Mountjoy on the drums, plus Jerry Allen—"Mr. Banjo, Himself."

SMOKEY STOVER—Where There's Fire . . . There's Smokey Stover and his Original Firemen. Arriving from Las Vegas, Smokey and his Dixieland Band will appear tonight at the Camp Theater for two one-hour performances beginning at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Afterward they will entertain at the Hadnot Point Staff Club.

Top Division Combat Squad Honored By General Berkeley

The 2nd Marine Division's top combat squad was honored last week by Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, who presented promotions and awards to each member during a formation by the Sixth Marines. General Berkeley, citing the squad's "... outstanding spirit of cooperation and individual leadership ..." presented squad leader B. D. Trevathan with a promotion to sergeant (E-5) and a wrist watch which was the gift of the 2nd Marine Division Association. Besides the award to Sergeant Trevathan, each member of the top-flight squad received promotions, upping them one rank and a 2nd Marine Division Association scroll, commemorating their achievements during last October's Division squad competition.

The combat squad competition, originated by the Marine Corps Association, is normally held on a Corps-wide level. This year, however, due to limitation of travel funds, the competition was limited to local levels only. The 2nd Marine Division Association's watch and scroll awards replaced the recognition given by the Marine Corps Association.

Competition was judged on the principles of individual leadership, camouflage and concealment, leadership and aggressive spirit. Each squad was briefed by its leaders on a simulated combat situation and performed its assigned mission.

Among those of Sergeant Trevathan's squad honored with promotions and scrolls were: Sgt. R. E. Holder, Cpls. J. Luciano, R. E. Fowler, L. L. Campbell, R. L. Caron, R. O. Harding, T. J. O'Donnell, K. G. Taylor, J. Denicola, C. H. DeCoster and L. W. A. Hickman.

Alternate squad members, also honored were L. W. Brault Jr. and T. B. Cooley.

Marine Exchange Operates Radio And Television Shop

The Radio and Television Shop, in its new location at the northeast corner of Bldg. 84, is now operated by the Marine Corps Exchange. Previously operated by a civilian firm as a private concession, the shop offers complete radio and television service plus a new electrical appliance repair service.

The shop is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. Repair service usually takes from two to three days but emergency one-day service is available.

All makes and models of radios, including auto radios, television sets, hi-fi and stereo phonographs and small electrical appliances are serviced. Parts are available for most items for the person wishing to repair his own set.

The manager, Mr. E. A. Guthrie, said that "prices will be considerably lower now because of the reduced overhead possible by exchange operation."

The shop also offers service calls in barracks and quarters on post, at Midway Park, Tarawa Terrace and Geiger and Knox Trailer Parks.

Mailing Rush Expected By Postal Office

The Base Post Office has warned that the deadline for insuring receipt of Christmas mail and parcels before Dec. 25 is drawing near.

Overseas mail and parcels must be sent by air mail but at this date delivery by Christmas still cannot be guaranteed. Mail to western states must be sent prior to December 16 to insure delivery.

The Post Office expects the big rush this year to begin about Dec. 12 and continue until Dec. 22 and requests that personnel try to send their packages before then.

Parcels should be wrapped neatly and tied with string. Do not trust tape or seals to hold the package.

A small post office has also been set up in the Marine Corps Exchange to serve customers. It is located next to the gift wrapping counter and is open during exchange hours.

Helicopter Santa To Visit Children's Christmas Party

The Annual Children's Christmas Party, sponsored by the Base Special Services Office, will be held in Goettge Memorial Field House beginning at 2 p.m. Dec. 17 for all dependent children through the age of 12 at Camp Lejeune. The Christmas Party will begin with the invocation, followed by a Christmas show, "Yuletide Frolics," followed by the presentation of candy, fruits, and nuts to the children.

"Yuletide Frolics" will include a ventriloquist act billed as "Knight And Daye"; a balancing act; a dog act entitled "Putting On The Dog"; a puppet show featuring the "Puppetones," and an act that no show should be without, "Jabbo, the Clown."

The dog show will feature Peyton and Raye, one of the season's most unusual novelty acts. Three of the cutest little Pomeranians you'll ever see enter the act, and from there on the routine turns into a fast and clever acrobatic act. It is the only act of its kind in America today and has played all of the top theaters, supper clubs, hotels, state fairs and live television shows.

Following the Christmas show, Santa Claus will arrive direct from the North Pole by helicopter and give the kids something to talk about for quite a while to come.

All personnel who desire to attend the party are requested to furnish the names and ages of their children to their unit special services office, not later than December 9. A consolidated report will be made by the units to the Base Special Services Office by Dec. 12.

All children attending the party must be accompanied by an adult.

Santa's pilots will be 1st Lts. W. M. Bush and N. Houston, both members of Marine Helicopter Squadron-263 of Marine Aircraft Group-26, New River Air Facility. The pilots were selected due to their previous North Pole flying missions.

With the arrival of Santa Claus at the Field House, parents are reminded to take precautions in keeping their children away from the 'copter landing zone.

FIRE FIGHTERS—Two Marines from Company "A," 1st Battalion, Sixth Marines, fight a Camp Lejeune forest fire caused by machine guns firing tracers on Range F-1. Spreading to Ranges F-3-13 and 14 near the Hubert fire tower, the fire caused little damage to timber as it burned the scrub brush under the trees. The fire began at 11:25 a.m. and was secured at 5:25 p.m. Dec. 5, according to the Base Fire Chief, Mr. F. J. Schlarp. (Photo by Cpl. R. I. Lappeus)

Ahoy, Kids!

Camp Lejeune's Ham Radio Station today picked up a message from Santa at the North Pole. Santa Claus said the toys for the children are finished at his North Pole work shop and that he would be able to visit the children at the Central Exchange on the following days, beginning tomorrow: Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Santa's throne will be awaiting his arrival in the Children's Department.

TAR HEEL TAG—Miss Diane McBain, a Warner Bros. player currently appearing in the "Surf Side 6" television series, flashes a new Tar Heel tag, required equipment on all vehicles after Feb. 15.

1961 North Carolina Tags Go On Sale January 2-3

Christmas spending may have a few Lejeune Marines on the ropes, but if driving is in their new plans for 1961 they'll save a few bucks for a new license tag. They go on sale Jan. 3 in Raleigh and around the state Jan. 2 or 3, depending on branch outlets' observance of the New Year's holiday. The '61, yellow-on-black tags must be in use after Feb. 15, the final expiration date for current plates.

Two Million

Miss Foy Ingram, director of the Motor Vehicles Department's registration division, envisions sales of close to two million '61 tags. She had listed late in November of this year 1.9 million registered vehicles and the count next year isn't expected to fall off any.

North Carolina cars and trucks have been required to be tagged since 1909, the year the Legislature authorized the state's first auto census and subsequent registration.

Early day owners made their own tags of wood, tin and similar material, painting on numbers issued by the Secretary of State. The "do-it-yourself" trend continued until 1913 when the state began supplying tags.

Prison Labor

Since 1930 prison labor has hammered out new plates which in past years have been yellow-and-blue, maroon-and-silver, green-and-white, black-and-white, red-and-white, and silver-and-blue.

They've ranged in size from a real slim-jim tag measuring a scant four and one-half inches by 15 inches issued in 1927, to the current standardized six by 12 plate.

Armed Forces 'Q' Allotment Raise Sought

An all-out drive for a one-third increase in the quarters allowance of all officer and enlisted grades will be launched by the services when Congress convenes, it was announced.

As far as the Services are concerned, this is the No. 1 money bill. All other bills affecting servicemen's living will be subordinated to it.

Pentagon officials figure that the cost of quarters has gone up about 35 per cent since the last increase which was allowed in 1952, eight years ago. This increase was 14 per cent above rates prevailing in 1949.

The Pentagon strategy is to make a substantial quarters boost the No. 1 "fringe benefit" pitch to Congress this year. Department planners say they would rather have that than an increase in pay, for example.

The Army has been given the job of writing the increased allowance bill and presenting it to Congress. Officials said they have "a long way to go" before it will be ready to send.

Observers thought there was a pretty good chance Congress would pass a quarters bill. The proposal would be helped by the fact that the civilian workers got a raise last year and the military didn't.

A quarters boost would help married men mostly. But some single men benefit and it would automatically mean more dislocation and unused leave pay, both of which include quarters allowances.

HQMC Reports Marine's Role Of Readiness During 1960

The United States Marines Corps during 1960, under the leadership of its 22nd Commandant, Gen. David M. Shoup, continued in its statutory role of the nation's amphibious force-in-readiness. With a strength of 175,000 officers and men, the Corps maintained three combat divisions and three aircraft wings in a state of immediate readiness. To increase combat capabilities, the Commandant ordered the six combat battalion landing teams which had been reduced to cadre status in 1959 due to manpower limitations, brought to operational strength. This will be accomplished through reduction of personnel assigned to training activities, support facilities, security forces and Fleet Marine Force support units. Reduced personnel turnover resulting from the four-year enlistment program also made possible increased efficiency in personnel assignment.

The Marine Corps in 1960, in conjunction with the other services, vigorously sought the answers to the many complicated problems inherent in modernizing our forces to meet the country's need for a ready amphibian team. In the field of research and development, emphasis was placed on refinement of communication, transportation and protective equipment that can be readily air-transported for use in vertical amphibious assault. Continued study was made on projects involving the development of reconnaissance vehicles of all types and improvement of field artillery weapons and missile systems.

To support its mission as the amphibious force-in-readiness, the Marine Corps maintains two Fleet Marine Forces. These forces provide the Navy Fleet commanders with the means of projecting Naval power ashore wherever and whenever required.

One Fleet Marine Force serves with the Navy's Pacific Fleet, the other with the Atlantic Fleet. Principal combat units with the Pacific component during 1960 were: Force Troops, Pacific, Camp Pendleton, Calif., which contains supporting weapons, transportation and service units to support or reinforce a division; three integration ed air-ground teams composed of the 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif., and the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, El Toro, Calif.; the 3rd Marine Division, Okinawa, and the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, Japan; and the 1st Marine Brigade, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

An infantry regiment from the 3rd Marine Division and air elements of the 1st Wing constitute the brigade. In August, a battalion landing team from the 3rd Division was placed aboard ships of the 7th Fleet to provide a Fleet landing force for the Far East. Two squadrons of attack aircraft from the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing were also assigned to operate from carriers of the 7th Fleet. The battalions and squadrons will continue to be assigned on a rotational basis.

The Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, based on the East Coast of the United States, included Force Troops, Atlantic, the 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, and the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing at Cherry Point. A battalion landing team of the 2nd Division provided the landing force for the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean. In addition, a squadron of the 2nd Wing operated from an aircraft carrier of the Sixth Fleet.

Marines with the Corps' other operating forces served aboard major combat ships of the Navy and at Naval and Marine Corps shore installations throughout the world. During 1960, Marines provided security guards at 93 embassies, consulates, and legations, and served in the supporting establishment at Marine posts and stations in the United States.

Augmenting the regular forces in 1960 was a trained Marine Corps Reserve of 248,000. Included in this figure were 208,000 members of the Ready Reserve element, subject to mobilization in an emergency declared by the President. About 45,000 officers and men of the Ready Reserve received pay for participation in periodic drills and summer encampments as members of 225 ground and 36 air units. The remaining Reservists were members of the Standby Reserve, subject to recall only by Congressional action.

Theatre Guild Will Present Shaw Comedy

The Jacksonville Theatre Guild will present George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" tomorrow night and Saturday at the Jacksonville High School auditorium. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

The Guild was formed by a group of Marines and civilians interested in bringing live theatre to Jacksonville. "Pygmalion" is the first production of the group.

Marines in the play, the story of Eliza Doolittle, the little Cockney flower who becomes a lady through a transformation in speech wrought by Prof. Henry Higgins, include Lt. Greg Stone of the 3rd Comm. Bn., who plays Alfred Doolittle, Eliza's father, and Pfc Phil Klein, "K" Co., 3rd Bn., Second Marines, in the role of Freddy.

Director of the play is Sgt. Fred Moore of the Base Informational Services office. SSgt. Dick McChesney, H&S Co., 2nd Service Bn., 2nd Division, is stage manager and in charge of set construction.

Great Books To Begin New Series In '61

The Great Books Discussion Group, sponsored jointly by the Central Library and the Onslow County Public Library, invites all military and civilian personnel to enroll in either the first or second year discussion series beginning in January.

Meetings are held bi-weekly on alternate Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the library in Jacksonville. Membership is free to everyone.

In a Great Books discussion group, the participant finds the excitement and freedom of creative minds at work. He discovers in himself a growing awareness, together with an expanding sense of fellowship in a common tradition of humanity. Great books by Plato, Shakespeare, Thucydides and Dante generate insight into man's eternal questions.

These discussion groups help the participant find the opportunity to create and inhabit a world of ideas. Each member is free to realize the pleasure and the enlarging responsibility of active thought.

Members are urged to enroll early as space is limited. Interested persons may visit or call the Central Library, Bldg. 62, at Camp Lejeune, phone 7-5410, or the Onslow County Public Library, Mill Avenue in Jacksonville, phone Jacksonville 4754.

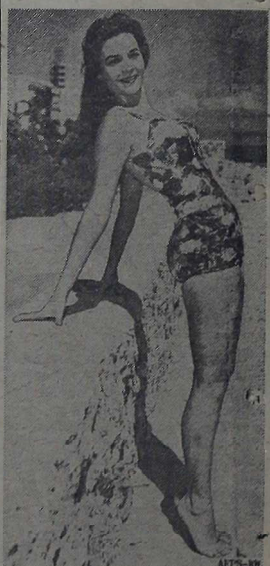

Cabanas

The Beach Cabanas at Onslow Beach will open for the use of military personnel and their dependents on Monday, December 12. There will be no time limit on occupancy periods unless the demand makes it necessary. The rate will be $2.00 per day, and the units are equipped to accommodate six persons. The units are heated, and have all the necessary utensils to accommodate tenants. Reservations can be made by calling Base Special Services on 7-5824. Reservations will be made on a first come, first served basis.

Here's the Answer

NCO's Responsibility Continues After Hours

There has been much written and more said about the "responsibility" of an NCO. There are those Marines who think—wrongly—that their connection with the Corps is ended at the end of the work day and what they do in their off-duty hours is no business of the Marine Corps or of their NCO's.

This is true to a degree, as long as those off-duty actions do not cast any discredit on the Marine Corps or endanger the lives of Marines. The simple fact that there are "working hours" and "off-duty hours" does not mean that an NCO is not responsible for the conduct and well being of the Marines who work under him. This division of time is simply a method of regulating the work flow.

You are a Marine every hour of the day, no matter where you are;

Give, But Keep Cost Sensible

At Christmas, most people remember a verse from the Bible: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." As a result, stores do a great part of their annual business during this season. Gift giving in the Yuletide amounts to millions of dollars. Unfortunately, some people are more "blessed" than others and spend more than they can afford.

The result is sometimes more than a pinched pocketbook. It can cause letters of indebtedness, a bad credit rating and future unhappiness.

Naturally, each of us wants to give as much as possible to those we love, but in the giving, we should remember that it's the thought behind the gift that counts more than the intrinsic value. A gift, however small, that is given with love, is just as appreciated as something extremely expensive.

As military people we don't make a lot of money. Our most valuable asset is our good name. Don't risk losing that by overextending at Christmas or any other time. Make this Christmas a memorable one by staying solvent.

Latest Word

A new era in helicopter transportation was ushered in late last Tuesday afternoon with the first flight of the Boeing-Vertol 107 at the Boeing plant in Morton, Pa. This marked the entrance of the first twin-turbine helicopter into the flight portion of a Federal Aviation Agency commercial certification program.

The result of a completely new concept in helicopter design, the 107 is said to be the fastest, smoothest and most versatile helicopter flying today. The one which flew at Morton was converted recently from an Army YHC-1A for the FAA program.

The conversion has resulted in an uprating of the dynamic system from 1,700 to 2,300 horsepower. A new transmission and a complete new rotor system have been installed to accommodate the increased power of the GE-T58-8 engines. Other conversion changes include a redesigned control system for improved reliability and modification to the airframe to permit quick conversion from airliner to utility configuration.

no matter what you do. And, it is the responsibility of the NCO, as far as is humanly possible, to see that you stay out of trouble and to help protect your rights if you get into trouble.

There is nothing personal in this responsibility. It is an obligation laid on the NCO to protect the Marine Corps' effectiveness by keeping as many trained Marines at their jobs as possible. Misconduct on liberty which results in the Marine Corps losing your services for varying periods of time is a luxury the Marine Corps cannot afford. For this reason, the NCO is charged with the responsibility of trying to keep his Marines out of trouble. This may take unusual angles, such as counseling and advising the Marines under you, working with NCO's in other units when both your people are involved, and a little judicious leaning when a good Marine hits a slump.

Marines, like people, are only human and are just as prone to making mistakes as anyone else. It is up to the NCO, as far as possible, to spot the trouble before it happens and to help his Marines as much as possible when they do get into trouble.

This does not mean covering up for misconduct. It does not mean helping a miscreant to "beat the rap." The squaddie "sea lawyers" foul up enough Marines as it is with misinformation and bad advice. The NCO's job is to see that you don't need the services of a "sea lawyer."

Responsibility is a two-edged sword, for the NCO and for the Marine. Like time itself, the responsibility of the NCO goes on and on.

Chaplain's Corner

Beyond this world there are two eternal places, Heaven and Hell. Since the creation of the world many millions of people have died, and all of them have gone either to heaven or to hell. And all those who are yet to die until the end of the world will also go either to heaven or to hell. If we faithfully and constantly serve God, we shall surely go to heaven, but if we are disloyal to Him and give ourselves up to sin, we shall surely be rejected for all eternity.

Suppose there stood before you a rich prince who possessed many millions of dollars, and who said to you: "All those of you who will never again curse, swear, steal, commit impurity, entertain feelings of enmity, in a word, all who are resolved never again to commit a sin, shall receive property to the value of half a million dollars, and besides, a hundred thousand dollars in cash as a donation."—I ask you, would there be even one among you who, in the prospect of a gift so magnificent, would not guard against every sin with the greatest solicitude?

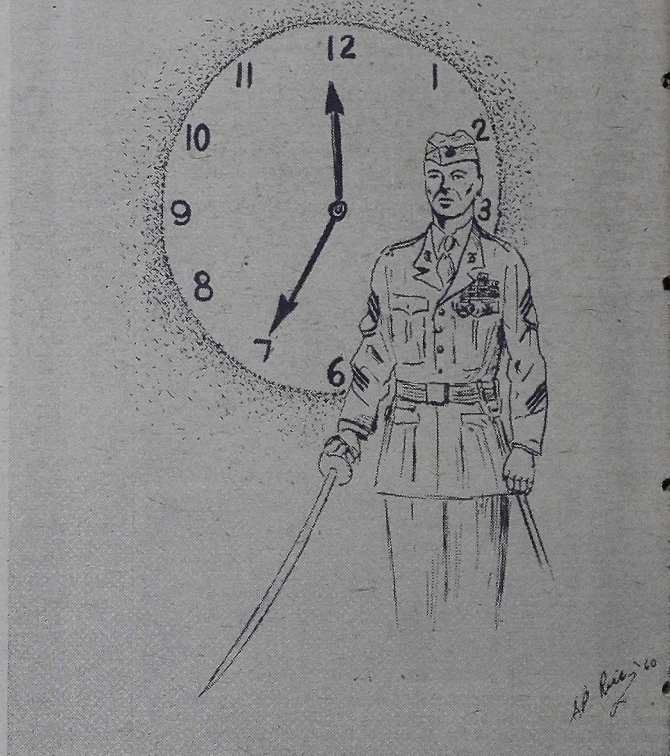

Would not each one say: "It is well worth making even the greatest sacrifice in order to obtain a gift so great; I shall be happy as long as I live, and not only myself but also my children and their descendants for centuries to come."

But God makes another promise; He says to us: "If you serve Me faithfully and fervently, I will give you heaven as a recompense." Now I ask you, which is worth more, a property valued at half a million, together with a hundred thousand dollars—or heaven?

Thank God He does not actually make this offer! I shudder at the prospect of turning my back on Heaven eternally. But, think for a moment; isn't it horrifying how worldly we have all become; and how often each day we turn our back on Him—for much, much less?

—George I. Paulson,
Chaplain, Second Marines.

SEMPER FIDELIS

If You Ask Me:

WHAT UNIFORM CHANGES WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE?

CPL. RUSSELL W. GLADD, Motor Transport, H&S Bn., 2nd FSR — It seems to me that there is one sure way to improve our present uniform. That would be to establish one year around all-purpose uniform. This uniform would have to be similar to our present greens. The color of the material used should be much closer to the officer's. Also, black cordovan shoes would be a big help in making a sharper all-around Marine.

CPL. J. N. PICKARD, H&S Co., H&S Bn., 2nd FSR — In thinking about changes in our uniform, I believe that the best way that we can improve them would be to establish a year around optional uniform. This uniform, I think, should be green in color. The material used should be lighter in weight and closer to the officer's in color. Our present shoes and tropical shirts should be worn with this new optional outfit.

SGT. LEROY DEWISE, Materiel Supply Bn., 2nd FSR — I would like to see it made officially possible for staff NCO's to wear the officer's gabardine shirts wherever the uniform presently calls for the tropical variety. I also think that our present greens should be made of a lighter weight, darker colored material. One other change I would like to see would be the re-establishment of the battle jacket as officially okay for liberty as well as on duty wear.

LCPL. JAMES H. HOLLARS, Truck Co., H&S Bn., 2nd FSR — If we are to change our uniform there seems to be one big improvement that should be made. This would be the establishment of one year around uniform. This uniform should be lighter in weight and closer to the officer's in material color. In addition, the authorization for enlisted men to wear cordovan shoes should be effected.

CPL. RON HOFFER, Support Co., "B," Hq. Bn., MCB — I like our present green uniform as it stands and believe that it should be established as a year around outfit. If black cordovan shoes were okayed, this would make for a really sharp uniform. As far as I am concerned, the present green blouse is not as good looking or comfortable as the older battle jacket. I much prefer to wear it and would like to see it established as officially permissible for on and off Base wear. The rest of our uniforms, I believe, are fine.

CPL. M. L. DRUINHELLER, H&S Co., H&S Bn., 2nd FSR — Our present seasonal uniforms as they stand are good. However, I should like to suggest a change in material to make them better. The summer uniform could be improved on by using gabardine instead of our present material. This would be more comfortable and sharper. With regards to the winter greens, I think that they should be made of material similar to that worn by the officer's.

FIVE BRANDED WOMEN
A story about five Yugoslavian women who are branded for having fraternized with the Nazis during an occupation of their village in World War II. Based on an unpublished novel by Ugo Pirro, the story gets under way with frank dialogue throughout. Silvana Mangano, Barbara Bel Geddes, Van Heflin and Harry Guardino star. (108 min.)

LES MISERABLES
Michael Rennie and Debra Paget star in this 1935 version of Victor Hugo's famed narrative about the rise of a poverty-stricken Frenchman to fame and fortune, though constantly hounded by his past. (118 min.)

JIM THORPE, ALL-AMERICAN
Burt Lancaster stars as the great Carlisle Indian College football hero. (100 min.)

THE STORY OF RUTH
Ziva Rodan stars in this idealistic version of the beautiful Bible story. (Color, 130 min.)

JUNGLE CAT
Walt Disney True-Life Adventure depicting the life and habits of the jaguar who reigns as king of the beasts in the jungles of Brazil. (Color, 107 min.)

THE SHAKEDOWN
A swiftly paced, suspenseful British film with a cops-and-robbers theme, yet which avoids most of the clichés usually found in this type of melodrama. Terence Morgan and Hazel Court star. (88 min.)

THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN
Adapted from a Japanese picture of a couple of seasons back called "The Seven Samurai," this film tells an interesting and intriguing story of a Mexican village which was afforded protection from marauding bandits by a band of seven fighting men. Shot entirely in Mexico, "The Magnificent Seven" is an exceptional western. Yul Brynner, in an unusual role, Steve McQueen, Eli Waller and newcomer Horst Buchholz lead an all-star cast to make this film one of the great western sagas of the year. (Color, 126 min.)

"VOODOO WOMAN" AND "UNDEAD"
A double-bill horror combination. In the first film, Voodoo rites, strange native ceremonies and monstrous creatures give the story its name. In the second, a strange concoction of hypnotism and the supernatural is seen. Marla English and Tom Conway star in the first show, Pamela Duncan and Richard Garland in the second. Pulitzer Prize Play, 'Fiorello' Coming Here

"Fiorello!" the only musical comedy ever to win the Pulitzer Prize, New York Drama Critics' Award and the Antoinette Perry Award, will come to Camp Lejeune for a one-night engagement at the Camp Theater on Jan. 12. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased at the Base Special Services Office or from the Officers Wives Club. Seats are available at $3.25, $2.75, $2.25, and $1.75. All seats are reserved. The public is invited.

This big attraction is the musical which sings the praises of Fiorello H. LaGuardia, one of New York's most colorful mayors and one of America's best loved public figures. The touring company appearing here will star Bob Carroll in the title role, Jen Nelson as Thea, Charlotte Fairchild as Marie and Zeme North as Dora.

The critics gave rave reviews when the show opened on Broadway a year ago. Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times said, "Most dynamic musical this season, a comic carnival." The Herald-Tribune's Walter Kerr called "Fiorello" "A beaut—a song and dance jamboree," and from Life magazine, "The most winning ticket on Broadway."

FIORIELLO TO THE RESCUE—Fiorello LaGuardia joins the fight for a decent wage. Officer McDuff looks on as the "Little Flower" (Bob Barroll) advises Dora (Zeme North). The Pulitzer Prize musical "Fiorello" will be presented at the Camp Theater on Jan. 12.

Tommy Dorsey Orchestra Plays O'Club December 31

The never-to-be-forgotten music of Tommy Dorsey will live again when the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, starring Warren Covington, makes its appearance at the Paradise Point Officers Club on New Year's Eve. The orchestra will play from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Like most great artists, "The Sentimental Gentleman," Tommy Dorsey, left behind a legacy for the world consisting of a treasury of memorable music which has been a part of all our lives. For two decades the man with the "sweet" trombone was one of the nation's foremost bandleaders and a dominant figure in the musical world. Many of the greatest bandleaders and vocalists of today are graduates of the Tommy Dorsey orchestra.

Warren Covington, the star and leader of the Tommy Dorsey orchestra, has been involved with music for as long as he can remember—and his earliest recollection of the trombone was Tommy Dorsey. All through the years, Tommy Dorsey has remained as the number one trombonist in Warren's mind. As a youngster, Warren actually learned to play the trombone by standing in front of his radio or record player and playing along with Tommy.

The Tommy Dorsey orchestra starring Warren Covington will be playing many of the hits Tommy made famous on records. In the recording field, Tommy mixed his sweet and swing numbers to please every taste. Year after year he swept the field to become undisputed record king. "Once in a While," "There Are Such Things," "Yes Indeed," and the famous Dorsey theme song, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You" all received distinctive treatment and became smash successes on the strength of the Dorsey arrangements.

THE HADNOT POINT STAFF NCO CLUB will feature Italian Spaghetti and Meatballs Friday night. Dancing to the music of Bob Smith and his orchestra is the program for Saturday and Sunday night, beginning at 8:30 p.m. Game night is Tuesday beginning at 8:30 p.m. Happy Hours on Monday are from 4 until 6 p.m. and on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

THE COURTHOUSE BAY STAFF NCO CLUB features a Happy Hour Saturday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. Sunday the club will serve a sirloin steak dinner along with a beverage hour from 2 to 5 p.m. Happy Hour Monday is from 4 to 6 p.m. A rehearsal dance will be held Wednesday from 8 until 10:30 p.m. with music by the Pentagons.

THE MONTFORD POINT STAFF NCO CLUB features Happy Hour Friday from 4:30 till 6:30 p.m., followed by a Happy Hour dinner special. Saturday the club will feature a dance from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. with music by the Pastels. Sunday a special roast turkey dinner will be served from 5:30 till 7:30 p.m., accompanied by Roy Dixon at the organ. Tuesday Happy Hour is from 4:30 till 6:30 p.m.

1st Battalion, 8th Marines End Six-Month

The 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Eighth Marines, returned to Camp Lejeune last Wednesday after a six-month goodwill and training cruise in the Mediterranean. They brought with them the reputation of being "top guns" in the "airphibious" assault, diplomatic and marksmanship fields.

The battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. H. C. Reifel, and its supporting units which included other elements of the 2nd Division, Force Troops and Marine Helicopter Squadron-262, departed from Camp Lejeune on May 18 to embark aboard the ships of Amphibious Squadron Two, their floating homes for the next six months.

Their mission: maintain their high standards as a "force in readiness" by holding a series of amphibious landing exercises in conjunction with NATO forces and to make positive contributions to President Eisenhower's "People-to-People" Program.

Favored with good weather except for a few rough days in which the Marines earned their "sea legs," the two-week crossing was uneventful and the various units conducted business as usual.

Weapons instruction, physical conditioning and special lectures on the mission and military subjects were held daily along with the normal working routine.

Upon their arrival at Mallorca, Spain, on June 1, the Eighth Marines' unit relieved Lt. Col. George Codrea's 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, as Landing Force, Mediterranean, amphibious arm of the Sixth Fleet.

The Battalion Landing Team (BLT) wasted no time in ironing the "wrinkles" out of itself and the landing plan as three days later, on June 4, the troops debarked and stormed ashore at Alcudia Bay, Spain.

Pleased with the initial showing, the Landing Force commander ordered a "cease fire" and all hands enjoyed a recreation landing on the beach they had just secured.

This second landing had its observers of men, women and children who converged on the beach from the neighboring towns. The Marines learned that a smile and a handshake could overcome language barriers and handled their initial effort as ambassadors very well.

First port of call for the Marines on their "bachelor-party" cruise was Menton, France. From here, many Marines journeyed inland while others wandered along the coast to visit Nice, Cannes and Monaco (the Prince and Princess were out).

Next, the squadron sailed into the harbor of Naples, home of the pizza pie. Here the Marines and Navymen visited the ruins of Pompeii and enjoyed the chair-lift ride hosts' outstanding hospitality, the Marine staff NCO's presented the Royal Marine Sergeants Mess with gift subscriptions to Leatherneck and the Marine Corps Gazette.

The BLT was reunited in the historic port of Rhodes, Greece. While in this duty-free port, many Marines took advantage of the low prices to buy suits and materials of the finest weave at substantial savings.

To match their proficiency in daylight, the reinforced battalion flexed its muscles in a night landing exercise at Alexandroupolis, Greece.

This NATO exercise, held in conjunction with the Greek Army, Navy and Air Force units, featured a night landing by the Hellenic forces who relieved the Marines on the line.

Vice Adm. George W. Anderson, commander, Sixth Fleet, observed the training problem and congratulated the battalion on the "outstanding manner" in which it conducted its phase of the NATO exercise.

The next week was spent in Thessalonika, Greece, and from there the BLT moved into historic Athens. The Acropolis, feature attraction that it is, was almost forgotten when the Marines learned that Jayne Mansfield was in town. Needless to say, the autograph seekers and camera fans had a field day.

Here, too, the Marine marksmen won a tough, close match from the Greek Paratroopers Training Command. This earned the Marine sharpshooters another "well done" from Admiral Anderson.

For their last training exercise of the cruise, the battalion paid its first visit to Turkey. Scores of high-ranking military and civilian officials observed the Marines as they swarmed ashore from amphibious tractors, landing craft and helicopters on the beach near Dikili, Turkey.

Last liberty port, and favorite of the Med cruise, was Barcelona, Spain. Here the battalion split again with half going to Palma to conduct the traditional cake-cutting ceremony on the 185th anniversary of the Corps.

The festivities and fun completed, the battalion steamed to Mallorca, Spain. Here, in a colorful change of command ceremony, Lt. Col. S. N. McLeod, C. 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Second Marines, relieved Colonel Reifel as commander of the Landing Force, Mediterranean.

With a hearty "well done" from Admiral Anderson ringing in their ears and already suffering from the cheerful malady of "going home-itis," members of the battalion cheered and waved to their reliefs as the ships weighed anchor for Morehead City and home.

Lejeune Meets Albany Tomorrow Night; East Coast Championship Race Begins

Following a three-game road trip into Virginia, the Camp Lejeune Marines will return to Goettge Memorial Field House where they will meet the Marine Corps Supply Center cagers tomorrow and Saturday nights. While on the road the locals met Ft. Story, Ft. Eustis and Ft. Lee. Results of these games were received too late for GLOBE deadline and will be recapped in next week's publication. The twin bill against Albany will mark the first Marine Corps competition encountered by Lejeune's squad and will officially open the mythical East Coast Area Championship race. Last year's Coastal title and the All-Marine honors were won by Quantico.

Cagers Score Fourth Win; Beat ServLant

Camp Lejeune won their fourth game of the 1960-61 basketball season with a hotly contested victory over the "White Hats" of Service, Atlantic Fleet, of Norfolk, Va., 9-76, last Thursday at Goettge Memorial Field House.

The victory raised the local cager's season record to four wins against only one loss which came during the West Virginia Tech Tourney at Montgomery, W. Va.

Splitting the scoring honors for the "Marines" were stalwarts Jack Sullivan and Derek Dickinson with 22 points each. Sullivan dropped in eight field goals and six free throws, while Dickinson tossed in 11 points each, each half.

ServLant's Bill Brown led the visitors, hitting the basket for 21 markers, while teammate Jim Kelsey followed closely with 19.

Lejeune speedster Dick Bailey saw limited action during the game. Bailey had been previously sidelined with blood poisoning.

Breaking a 6-6 deadlock early in the first period, the Marines moved out in front of ServLant, 34-23, with 10 minutes remaining in the half. A late first half effort by ServLant fell short by three points as the locals closed out the first half after an eight-point upsurge by Sullivan, Whalan and Fred Lentz, at 47-36.

Dickinson and Sullivan continued to lead the Marines in the final half, hitting two baskets each in the opening minutes, increasing the lead to 55-40, before a score by ServLant's Brown and a pair of baskets by teammate Kelsey cut the lead to nine points.

Steadily stretching the advantage, Lejeune led the "White Hats," 72-55, with nine minutes remaining to be played. Scoring five of his second half markers in the following four minutes, Dickinson, along with teammates Whalan, Sturgill and Don McGorty, pushed Lejeune into a 20-point lead, 85-65. A 10-point rally by ServLant's Brown and Bill Werner with five points each failed to upend the Leathernecks as they countered with eight points behind Howie Day and Don Avery, coasting to their 91-76 victory.

Albany, coached this year by Bert Deekel, will be depending on height and speed during their East Coast Title effort. Aided by returnee Angia Cuttaia, high scorer for its team last year, the visitors will be counting on six-foot, five-inch Bill Morse and Deekel for height and an air of scrappy Kentucky brothers, Gerald and Ray McCully, to round out the starting five.

Deekel, who saw action against Lejeune while with Quantico during the 1959-60 season, is a former All-America choice from Chipola Junior College, Florida. Last year Albany compiled an impressive season ledger of 22 wins against only six losses.

Saturday's Victory

During Saturday night's game against Ft. Myer, the local cagers topped the century mark and picked up their fifth season victory against one defeat, 105-78.

Scoring only eight points in the first half, Lejeune's scoring ace, Jack Sullivan, picked up 19 in the second canto to lead the "Marines" in the scoring department with 27 points. Sullivan, continuing his blistering pace at the foul line, hit nine of 10 free throws, while Lejeune as a team dropped 29 of 34 for an impressive 85 per cent.

Jim Wright took scoring honors for the "Colonials," scoring 27 field goals and 13 from the foul line for a total of 21 points. Lejeune returnee Derek Dickinson followed Sullivan with 15 points.

Never Behind

Camp Lejeune was never behind in the contest after overcoming a one-point effort due to a foul early in the game. With seven minutes gone in the first half, the locals had driven of a 23-9 advantage and increased their lead to 53-29 with two minutes remaining to be played in the period. Two tallies via the free throw route by Glen Sturgill sent the Marines from the court at the half leading 55-36.

Second half action was a duplicate of the first half with Lejeune battling any attempt by the visitors to close the gap. With less than two minutes remaining in the game, Howie Day brought a cheer from an otherwise quiet crowd as he moved Lejeune over the 100 mark with two foul shots.

Three Teams Still Unbeaten In Division Basketball Loop

The 2nd Marine Division Intramural Basketball League has completed the second week of play and only three teams remain unbeaten. Service Bn. is leading the Two-Star League with a 4-0 slate, closely followed by 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, with 3-0. The 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines, is the pace-setter in the One-Star League, sporting a 4-0 record.

In the Two-Star League, the Service Bn. cagers scored two victories during the week, blasting Motor Transport Bn., 76-27, and edging Recon Bn., 67-56. The 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, remained a half-game off the pace by defeating 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, 68-65, and Recon, 71-56. Third place 4/10 got back on the victory trail with a 64-46 decision over Motor Transport. In other games, Recon beat Medical Bn., 54-41, and 1/10 took the Medical team, 91-66.

The 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines, maintained their unbeaten record in the One-Star loop by beating Anti-Tank Bn., 73-63, and Pioneer Bn., 79-49. Headquarters Bn. hit the century mark in two games to keep the pressure on 3/6. Early in the week they edged Pioneer Bn. in an overtime thriller, 109-106, and later came back to edge 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, 107-98. The 2nd Bn.,

Tenth Marines, also swept to two victories, edging AT, 71-69, in overtime, and 1/6, 72-52. In the only other scheduled game Pioneer Bn. won from 1/6, 92-74.

Force Troops Honor Players During Dinner

The members of the Force Troops football team were presented jackets for the 1960 season at a colorful banquet held at the Camp Cafeteria Steak House Wednesday evening, Nov. 30.

Brig. Gen. L. F. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops, FMFLant, presented the squad red and gold jackets.

In brief remarks preceding the presentation, General Chapman stated, "There are all kinds of seasons . . . winning seasons and successful seasons. We have had a successful season in every respect." The general stated that the team had "demonstrated teamwork and headwork . . . which was the result of good coaching and good spirit. Winning or losing, our Marines did their best."

"The officers and men are proud of you," the general said. "You have represented them well. I take pleasure in congratulating you on a successful season, the kind that really counts when it's all over."

PL Sergeant Sweeps Tourney Of Champs

Sgt. Joseph M. Powers, a physical training instructor with Recruit Training Regiment at the Parris Island Marine Corps Recruit Depot, sparked the Savannah Bar Bell Club to a sweep of the team championship in the "Tournament of Champions" Saturday, Nov. 26, at Jacksonville, Fla.

Powers gained the runnerup position in the middleweight division and broke a state record at the tourney.

He gained three points in his weight specialty by pressing 245 pounds, snatching 205 pounds and jerking 290 pounds. Joe's press of 245 pounds bettered the Florida state record of 235 for that weight.

Lejeune-Jacksonville Midget Charity Bowl Game Sunday

Camp Lejeune's Boys League All-Star team will meet the Jacksonville Midget All-Stars in the Annual Lejeune-Jacksonville Midget Football Charity Bowl, Sunday at 2 p.m. The bowl game, first of its nature between the two teams, will be played at Jacksonville High School football field. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 16, with all proceeds to be donated to a charity, named at a later date.

Members of the Lejeune squad were selected by individual coaches for their play during the past season, concluded at Liveredge field Sunday.

Participating in the bowl game will be: Bears—Bill Batchelor, Harvey Hoopes, Don Gross, Ed Hine, Gary Burus, and Ken Bosard. Colts—Tommy Moore, Lou Paulson, Billy Clear, Andy Anderson, Butch Barton and Ted Lehan. Rams—Bob Gauthier, Rex Wooldridge, Roger Keagy, Larry Aycock, Chuck Skinner and John Hoopes. Redskins—Tom Stillwell, Bob Mulholland, Jim Cunningham, Forrest Wooldridge, Bob Melia, Billy Wheaton and Joe Rappold.

Coaching the Boys League representatives will be: Joe Rappold of the Redskins, Jim Reed of the Bears, Gordy Moore from the Colts and Bob Oliver, head coach of the Rams.

Jacksonville's Midget All-Stars were runner-up title winners during the State Finals. The local eleven lost to the "Orangemen" of Gastonia, N. C., 27-0, Saturday. It is the fourth second place finish for the Midgets in the last five years.

Hunters

Rod and Gun Club will hold a monthly meeting at Marston Pavilion, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. Due to the transfer of the former president elections will be held. In addition the antlerless deer hunts on Dec. 16 and 17 will be discussed.

All hunters are warned that on Dec. 16 and 17 all deer taken must be brought to Bldg. FC-6 for inspection prior to dressing out. The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission will conduct the inspection, and will aid in the improvement of wildlife conservation at Camp Lejeune.

Williams Scores Knock-Out Highlighting Boxing Smoker

A first-round knock-out highlighted the opening night of the Camp Lejeune Boxing Smoker held at Goettge Memorial Field House Tuesday night. The following night's results were received too late for GLOBE publication and will be recapped in next week's issue. After staggering his opponent, Bill Love of the Division in the early seconds of the first round, heavyweight Hal Williams of Force Troops showered his victim with a variety of power-house punches to the head and body, scoring a knock-out in 45 seconds of the final bout of the evening.

Lightweight Don Hayes, 2nd Marine Division, put on a third round battle to gain the nod from all judges over Don Fultz of Force Troops. After dropping the first round, Hayes began to pick up steam in the second, scoring slightly to the head and body.

After hitting the canvas twice in the first round, game Bill Wilson, 2nd FSR lightweight weight, was saved by the bell. Shaking off the brutal attack, Wilson engaged in a toe-to-toe slug-fest during the next round, before scoring a TKO in 1:13 seconds of the final round over his opponent, Lindsay McIntosh of the Division.

Welterweight Jim Jones of the Division stopped a second round effort by Ron Sullivan, also of the Division and picked up a unanimous decision victory during the fourth bout of the night.

Ray Touart, Division welterweight, pounded his way to a unanimous decision over his opponent, Ross Girard, also a Division boxer. Touart, not fooled by the unorthodox styles of Girard, scored heavily to the head and body during the second and third rounds.

After picking up the first round on points, Division light middleweight Earl Stone slammed a right to the head of his opponent, George Hague, of Marine Corps Base, scoring a TKO in 40 seconds of the second round.

The seventh bout of the evening saw Division's light heavyweight Carlos Tapia score a unanimous decision over Charles Wallace, his opponent, also from the Division. After staggering Wallace with a tremendous right to the head early in the first round, Tapia punched heavily to the head and face, but Wallace recovered from the attack.

Tapia again staggered his opponent with a bruising smash to the head in the second round, but again Wallace was saved by the bell. Wallace began scoring slightly but Tapia wrapped up the final round and the match, counter-punching effectively for the nod from the judges.

'MVP' Honors For '60 Won By Anderson

Halfback Mel Anderson was named "Most Valuable Player" of the 1960 Camp Lejeune Football team. Selection of the honoree came during the annual football banquet held at Marston Pavilion Monday evening, Dec. 5.

Another highlight of the event was the selection of end tackle Bob Ankudovich as "Most Improved Player" of the season.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Col. "A" "E" Dubber. Other honored guests included Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division; Maj. Gen. R. B. Luckey, commanding general, Marine Corps Base; Brig. Gen. L. F. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops; Brig. Gen. O. D. Conoley, assistant Division commander, and Col. J. R. Little Jr., commanding officer, MCAF, New River, N. C.

Outstanding lineman Jim Winebrake was selected as team representative during the affair.

Anderson, in his second year with the Lejeune eleven, was named to the All-Marine squad during 1959 and was also voted most improved player last year. He has been nominated to the 1960 All-Sea Service and All-Service football squads for his outstanding play during the past season. Playing in all but the final contest, the speedy halfback averaged just under seven yards per carry for a total of 469 yards gained.

Basketball Bulletin

Meeting Ft. Story in their first game of a three-game road trip into Virginia, the Marines downed the "Ducks" 85-80, Monday night, picking up their sixth season victory against only one defeat.

Results of Tuesday night's contest against Ft. Eustis and Wednesday's with Ft. Lee will be recapped in the next publication of the GLOBE.

Scoring demon Jack Sullivan paced the locals in the victory with 26 markers and was followed closely by teammate Jack Whalan who stripped the cords for 25.

"Big" 6'9" Bill Pickens and speedster Dick Gailey tied for third place honors in the scoring department with a total of 13 points each, while Pickens swept the boards for 21 rebounds.

It was Lejeune's second game with the "Ducks" for the season. In the initial meeting, the "Marines" swamped the soldiers, 115-87, in Goettge Memorial Field House, behind Sullivan with 34 tallies.

Boys League Ends Season With Banquet

Members of the 1960 Boy's League football teams were feted at a banquet in their honor, Tuesday night, at the Montford Point Staff Club.

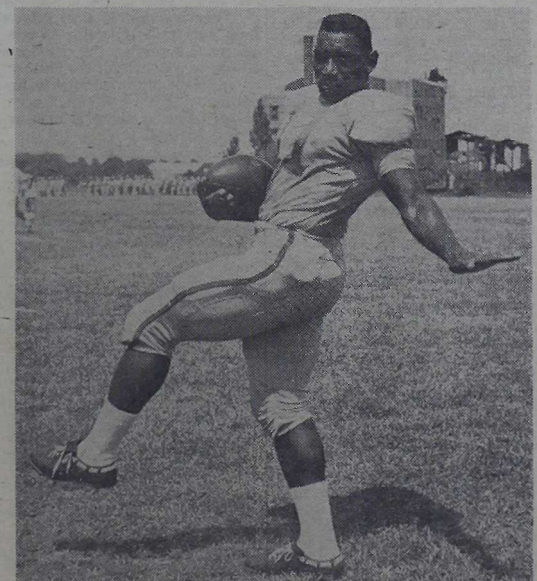

Guest speaker for the occasion was Dennis Horn head mentor of Camp Lejeune's football squad. Coach Horn made the championship trophy presentation and participated in the naming of the Boy's League All-Star Football Team.

Those selected to the team were: Ends, Billy Wheaton and Larry Aycock; Tackles, Bob Gauthier and John Hoopes; Guards, Ken Bossard and Al Kappold; Center Bob Stillwell; Halfback, Forrest Wooldridge and Jim Cunningham; Fullback, Bill Batchelor and Quarterbacks, Rex Wooldridge and Tom Moore.

Also selected during the gala affair were Outstanding Linemen—Bob Stillwell; Outstanding Backfield Man — Bill Batchelor and Most Valuable Player — Forrest Wooldridge.

The curtain came down Sunday on Boy's League play, as a composite team of the Colts and Bears downed the Redskins-Rams combination, 13-6 in a thrill packed contest which was played before a crowd of over 300 spectators.

Trailing 6-0 after an eight yard scoring effort by Redskin-Ram's Forrest Wooldridge, the Colt-Bear combination tied the game on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Billie Clear to Louis Paulson who raced 40-yards for the score. The PAT failed, and the winning team was held in check until late in the second period when they scored as Bill Batchelor stole the ball and ran half the field for the TD. Moore's PAT was good and the game ended at 13-6.

ALL-SERVICE NOMINEE—Halfback Mel Anderson was nominated for a berth on the 1960 All-Sea Service and All-Service football squads for his outstanding offensive play for Lejeune during the 1960 season. Anderson, an All-Marine halfback during 1959, was named "Most Valuable Player" of the 1960 season during the annual football banquet held at Marston Pavilion Monday evening. Sixth Marines Team Gets Grid Award

The undefeated Sixth Marines received the Cherry Point-Camp Lejeune Complex Football Trophy from Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley during ceremonies held by the Sixth Marines at Camp Lejeune last week.

The Sixth compiled a 7-0 record during the season to cop the complex championship and win the trophy which will be retained permanently by the Regiment.

During the season, the Sixth Marines defeated the Tenth Marines, Force Troops, Group Two (a composite team made up from members of the separate battalions attached to the Division), Marine Corps Air Facility, Marine Aircraft Group 14, Marine Wing Service Group 27, and Marine Wing Headquarters Group of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing stationed at Cherry Point.

Attention

There will be a meeting for all interested skeet and trap shooters in the Camp Lejeune area. The meeting is scheduled to take place Monday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at Bldg. 1110, Joint Reception Center, Testing Room.

Civilian Reporter Stymied By New Physical Readiness Tests

(This article was written by Lowell K. Bridwell, staff writer for Scripps Howard News Service after taking the new Marine Corps Physical Readiness Tests at Quantico, Va.)

We may as well face it, this reporter simply isn't combat ready. I have just submitted myself to the new physical fitness test given all Marines, regardless of assignment, who are less than 40 years old. It's a good thing the test instructions didn't say anything about reports or my feelings would have been hurt. I'm not a Marine, but I'm 36 years old, six-three, 185 and in what I thought was good physical condition. This physical readiness test consists of five parts, each of which is to be performed within a specified time.

Jump up and down on a platform, climb a rope, rescue a wounded buddy, crawl and then run over a measured course and jump a ditch, and then take a three-mile stroll.

Ha, a pushover, I thought. These Marines must be getting soft.

But I should have caught the hint when Marine Capt. Bob Rice handed me a cartridge belt with canteen and a .45 automatic hooked in place, strapped a pack on my back and plopped a steel helmet on my head. My knees sagged.

First Test

The first torture test involved stepping up to an 18-inch high platform and stepping down to simulate hill climbing. This was to be done 60 times in three minutes.

After I managed this in the prescribed time, we moved to rope climbing. The rope, with knots every foot, stretched from a beam 20 feet above the ground.

"Just climb up, touch the beam, and come back down without sliding in 30 seconds," Captain Rice instructed. He stoutly denied he was smirking.

I didn't make it. About half way up, the steel helmet weighed a ton, there were rocks in the pack, and I plopped back to the ground.

Oh, well, I haven't climbed a rope since I was a kid, and that was a long time ago.

Zag-Zag

The next event was really my dish, I figured. Just crawl 25 yards, run in a zag-zag pattern, fall to a prone position three times, jump an eight-foot ditch and then assault the "enemy" on a dead run at the end of the 175-yard course. This is in three and one-half minutes.

I finished almost dead instead of at a dead run. And it's a good thing that ditch was simulated or I'd still be sitting in the creek.

The next "event" called for me to run 50 yards in a zig-zag pattern, pick up Captain Rice, throw him over my shoulder and race 50 yards back to the starting point in 42 seconds.

I ran the first 50 yards and this Captain Rice looked as big as a giant. But I tossed him over my shoulder and headed back.

Knees Buckle

With 10 yards and five seconds to go, my knees turned to rubber. Captain Rice went sailing toward the finish line and I wound up flat on my face. If he really had been a wounded buddy, he would have been one dead Marine. As it is, he simply is nursing miscellaneous bruises and abrasions.

Well, anyway, we were at the last event—the three-mile stroll. I was getting rightfully suspicious.

The stroll, it turns out, started out on a nice flat field at a rapid walk. But just as I was beginning to think this wasn't going to be so bad, Captain Rice turned off onto a gravel road with hills ahead and gleefully suggested:

"Now, let's run awhile."

The tale of that half-walk, half-run, three-mile stroll is now nothing but a painful memory. I finished in just two minutes under the prescribed 36-minute limit.

Never again will I doubt the combat readiness of a Marine.

Honey, turn the television knob. I'm too tired to get up.

Staff Aides, Gray Ladies Graduated

A graduation and recognition ceremony was held for Red Cross Volunteer Gray Ladies and Staff Aides last Tuesday evening in the Red Cross Recreation Hall at the U. S. Naval Hospital. The women were first welcomed by Capt. L. E. Bach, commanding officer, USNH, who then introduced Maj. Gen. Robert B. Luckey, commanding general, Marine Corps Base.

Presiding was Mrs. D. F. Chapman Jr., Chairman of Volunteer Services, Mrs. J. A. Witherspoon, Gray Lady Chairman, and Mrs. W. F. Lucas, Staff Aide Chairman, capped the graduates. Pins were presented by Cmdr. Alice Reilly, Chief Nurse.

Certificates were presented by Captain Bach, after which Miss Reilly presented Service Bars to the following Gray Ladies who had accomplished a year of service or a minimum of 100 hours' service: Mrs. C. L. Keister, Mrs. B. Jordan, Mrs. J. R. Neede, Mrs. S. E. Wainwright and Mrs. J. A. Witherspoon. Mrs. T. B. Koonce was presented a chevron for having completed her fourth year of Red Cross Service.

Special recognition was given to Wilmington Gray Ladies who also volunteer their time at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune. These women will be presented their service bars at the annual chapter meeting in Wilmington this month.

To complete the commendations, a 250-hour certificate was presented to Mrs. A. F. Lucas, Staff Aide Chairman, by Mrs. James Strickland, Chairman of the Onslow County Chapter, in special recognition for a job well done. An informal reception followed the ceremony.

Gray Lady graduates were: Mesdames R. L. Bird, D. A. Booth, J. J. Cartey, L. L. Croom, J. C. Feagan, J. E. Henshaw, J. A. Jenkins, J. F. Jones, J. A. Kinniburgh, G. C. Koontz, C. R. Larouche, J. W. Lilley, J. McGuire, R. Miner, R. D. Mulcahy, P. J. O'Connell, W. H. Parker, G. Pearce and J. A. Witherspoon.

Staff Aide graduates were: Mesdames L. A. Ennis, J. R. Haynes, A. G. Kohler, C. F. McKiever, W. W. Patee, H. C. Reed, and S. W. Smith.

Remote Radio Speeds Free Calls Home

Got a message you'd like to send back home, overseas or wherever? Free, too! Some will more than likely be a little skeptical about the whole situation but it's really true, compliments of Camp Lejeune's Amateur Radio Station W4LEV.

The sending of radio messages by military personnel back home and overseas free of cost is not a new idea; as a matter of fact it started here with the opening of the station last year.

Until recently anyone desiring to send a message by radio-gram (unauthorized definition) had to either appear in person at the station or call it in. Both methods are ancient compared to the new system. The station purchased a small remote radio apparatus and has been setting up operations in the front entrance of the Main PX and other buildings aboard the base that play host to a great deal of shopping and business traffic. This new venture has helped the station to enlighten personnel as to the advantages that may be derived from its existence and made it convenient for all in the process.

Just for the record, here's what happens: You step up to the radio operator; you can't miss him, for there will most likely be a radio and mike in front of him. Give the gentleman your name and address, the name and address of the person to receive the message; and then—most important of all—the message. He in turn will call back to W4LEV where another operator will be standing by to receive your message. Here's where it gets fuzzy. Your message is then relayed from ham radio operator to operator until it reaches the city, town, village or whatever of the designated recipient. The operator in that particular locale contacts the party by phone, if there is one, and if not, by foot.

SEND A MESSAGE HOME—Camp Lejeune's amateur radio station W4LEV has revolutionized its "Send A Message Home" service. The station purchased a remote radio apparatus and has been extending its services from various buildings at Camp Lejeune. Here, Sgt. Marion O. Salyer, radio operator for the station, calls a message into W4LEV while Lt. J. G. Burch writes a message to be sent to the Virgin Islands. The service is free to all military personnel. JUST LIKE A MODEL was the comment of Camp Lejeune Flying Club members working on one of the club's planes. The plane has been towed to Bldg. 1815 in the industrial area for new fabric. The Aeronca Champion is one of two planes owned by the club at present. "Extremely tentative" plans call for purchase of a new aircraft in the near future.

Flying Club's Wings Clipped; Members Undertake Repairs

The Camp Lejeune Flying Club is a wingless angel this week. Both the club's aircraft are on the ground, one for an engine overhaul and the other to have the fuselage recovered. Club officials said both planes should be flying again by the end of the week. A baker's dozen of pilots and students began working on the Aeronca Champion Sunday after the

'Victory At Sea' To Return To TV Screen

"Victory At Sea", winner of every major award in the television industry, will return as a 90-minute special over NBC-TV on Dec. 29.

This naval history of World War Two made its original showing as a 26-installment series in 1952-53. It then became a two-hour motion picture theatre production. It has been shown by many independent stations around the country and also in England, Australia, Canada, Mexico, Belgium, Finland, Cuba and Japan.

The Richard Rodgers score is being re-recorded with Robert Russell Bennett conducting. Richard Hanser, co-author of the original narration has adapted the script for the new version with actor Alexander Scourby as narrator.

The 90-minute version will bring to television audience the best of results of a five-year search all over the world for combat films and related material in army, navy and air force archives of many nations.

club's instructor, GySgt. D. R. Wells, grounded the plane because of a burnt valve.

The club had planned on putting new fabric on the plane for some time and decided to do the work while the new value was being installed.

After stripping the fabric from the plane, it was decided to replace the wooden formers and longerons. One thing led to another and the aircraft was completely stripped. The club members decided on the spot to completely rebuild the aircraft, refurbish the cockpit and rearrange the instrument panel.

First Sgt. H. D. Dorsett, the club vice-president, said the club plans to trade in the Aeronca in on a new aircraft, giving this as one reason for the rebuilding job.

"We hope to get a Piper Colt," Dorsett said. The Colt, a new, two-place aircraft, was introduced to the low-priced aircraft field last month. The plane resembles the Piper Tri-Pacer and has a cruising speed of 115 miles per hour.

The purchase of the new plane is "extremely tentative," according to club officers.

Other future plans call for moving from the present field on Piney Green Road but a site for a new field has not been announced. Requests have been made for permission to fly from the Marine Corps Air Facility at New River or for an area at Marine Corps Base. It is not expected that the club will be able to use the Air Facility due to the heavy military traffic and existing regulations concerning flying clubs operating from such facilities.

The request for space on Marine Corps Base to build a field is under study.

The club hopes to increase the number of planes by late summer. In order to do this, club officials say they need more flight instructors to handle the growing number of student pilots. At present, the club has only one instructor, GySgt. Wells.

Quarantine

There will be a dog and cat quarantine from Dec. 9 through 15, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily. These animals must be in their quarters at this time or on a positive leash. All loose animals will be picked up by dog catcher.

Mrs. L. F. Chapman To Lead Volunteers

News of the acceptance of the post of On-Base Chairman of the American Red Cross volunteers for Camp Lejeune by Mrs. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., wife of Brigadier General Chapman, Force Troops commanding general, was received with enthusiasm here this week. After consultation with other local Red Cross leaders, L. M. Sherriff, Red Cross Field Director, made the appointment of recognition for Mrs. Chapman's outstanding service to the American Red Cross and to take advantage of her ability as a leader. Sherriff said this week, "Herejeune and Onslow County Red Cross volunteer programs." Mrs. Chapman said, upon learning of the appointment, "I consider being appointed to this position a high honor, and I am looking forward to working with the local volunteers in continuing and striving to improve the tremendous work that is being done here at Camp Lejeune."

Mrs. Chapman has been active as a volunteer for the American Red Cross since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

A few days after the attack, Mrs. Chapman joined the American National Red Cross as a volunteer worker. Her first duty was preparing bandages at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu, which had been taken over by the U. S. Army as a hospital.

Volunteer workers at the hospital reported to work with a military pass, a gas mask and a white veil during the early days of the war.

Mrs. Chapman, after intensive training, received her diploma as a Gray Lady in 1949. Since, she has served as a Gray Lady in U. S. Naval Hospitals at Quantico, Camp Pendleton, Yokosuka, Japan, and Camp Lejeune.

She was awarded a certificate for more than 250 hours of service with the Gray Lady Corps at Quantico from the American National Red Cross in 1952.

In addition to her service with the Red Cross, Mrs. Chapman served as chairman of Marine Wives Volunteers at the Soldiers, Sailors, Marines, and Airmen's Club at Washington, D. C. She was a member of the executive board in 1957 and 1958.

MRS. L. F. CHAPMAN JR.

Before we have had only an honorary chairman to coordinate local volunteer work."

Mrs. Chapman will coordinate the work of all Red Cross volunteers in the Camp Lejeune area. Local volunteers work as Gray Ladies, help with the blood programs, and work as trained staff aides and receptionists in the clinics at the U. S. Naval Hospital here. The staff does volunteer program has been instituted within the past year.

Cub Scouts Facilitate Sitting Service; Complete Holiday Schedule Announced

The Sitting Service at Paradise Point is run for the enjoyment of children from eight months to 10 years of age and has just completed renovation work designed for the comfort of the boys and girls. Adding to this enjoyment, the Cub Scouts of Pack 90, Den 8, have completed and have formally presented one of their five-foot-high cardboard houses, intended to service the many children expected during the holidays.

Holiday Schedule
For the convenience of the Christmas shopper, the Sitting Service announces the following schedule for the holiday season:

Saturday, Dec. 10, 17, open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sunday, Dec. 11, 18, open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sunday, Dec. 12, 19, open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sunday, Dec. 25, 26, for church services only, 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 31, open 12 noon until the Paradise Point Officers Club closes; and Sunday, Jan. 1, open for church services, 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and open for evening buffet at the Officers Club.

As a reminder, some of the wives are planning large private parties over the holidays. The Sitting Service would appreciate notification by calling Mrs. Wooten, 6-6723, so plans may be formulated for more attendants on such evenings.

WANNA PLAY?—Little Cathy Stevens and Breen Miller extend a hearty welcome to all their friends to join them for an afternoon at the Paradise Point Sitting Service. The children choose the service's new cardboard house, said to be "guaranteed to bring kids from all over the neighborhood." The house was recently donated to the service by the Cub Scouts of Pack 90, Den 8. Scouts present during the "open house" are John Bartley, left, and Allan Antley. (Photo by Pfc P. W. Freeland)

Tarawa Students To Give Yule Program At School Tomorrow

A detailed program elaborating on the "Christmas Customs and Carols of Many Countries" will be presented by students of the Tarawa Terrace School tomorrow night, at 7:30, in their school auditorium. Under the direction of Mrs. Raymond G. Preston, music instructor, each grade, one to seven, will represent a country's symbolic Yuletide custom. This will be shown through songs, animations, skits, readings and solos.

The seven countries depicted during the program will be Germany, expressed with a Christmas tree; England, Yule log and Was-sailing; Sweden, celebration of St. Lucia's Day; Holland, preparations for St. Nicholas and the significant "White Horse"; Mexico, breaking of the "Pinata"; Switzerland, visit of Christkindli; and France, the distribution of gifts to the poor by contributions to the figure of Melchior.

Assisting with the program are Misses Winnie Stuart and Kate Trivette, pianists; Mrs. Anna D. Walsh, scenery, properties, program cover design, and Mrs. Robert B. McFarlane, in charge of research for customs, songs, clothing, carols, etc. Miss Jean McBeth, sixth grade, submitted the idea used for the program cover design consisting of bells, holly and ribbon artistically balanced atop a music staff.

This Friday's program is being held during the regular meeting time for the Tarawa Terrace Parent-Teachers Association.

Caribbean Unit To Return Tomorrow

The USS TERREBONNE PARISH, bearing the last troops of the 8th Marine Expeditionary Unit, is scheduled to dock at Morehead City tomorrow morning.

The late arriving Marines, members of "M" Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, had remained in the Caribbean area for additional training and recreation after the main body of troops returned to Camp Lejeune last week.

Although dependents will not be allowed in the docking area at Morehead City during the unloading operation, a "welcome home" center has been set up in Bldg. 411, at Camp Lejeune, to provide a central meeting place for the returning Marines and their dependents. Further information concerning the exact time of arrival of the troops in the Camp Lejeune area may be had by calling the Marine Corps Base, extension 7-5137.

Enlisted Structure Changes Undergoing Study At HQMC

The Commandant has approved four basic recommendations submitted by the Weller Board for changes in the enlisted structure. The recommendations are now under study at Headquarters by the G-1 section, but no changes should be expected for some time. The basic recommendation, as

Nineteen-Six Retirements To Continue

Rumors concerning a loss of fogies by Marines entering the Fleet Reserve on 19 and six instead of 20 years were laid to rest by the Comptroller General last week. Marines entering the Fleet Reserve with 19 and six will receive the same pay as those entering on a full 20 years.

This system has been in use for a long time, but recently the Navy thought the Comptroller might stop the practice. As a result, men were discouraged from going into the Fleet Reserve if they had less than the full 20 year's service.

At the same time, the Comptroller was asked for a decision on the matter.

The reply was that the present system would continue in use. That 19 and six counts as 20 years' service for both percentage and rate of pay.

Mast Awarded To Recruiting Officer

The 2nd Marine Division's Career Advisory Officer, Major Carl B. Thompson Jr. was awarded a Meritorious Mast by Major General J. P. Berkeley last week for his success in raising the Division's reenlistment rate from eight to 40.7 per cent. This figure represents men reenlisting for the first time, which is an all time high for the 2nd Marines Division.

In a Letter of Appreciation presented by General Berkeley, 2nd Marine Division Commander, Maj. Thompson was cited for his guidance and direction of the Division's reenlistment program in which the reenlistment rate rose from eight percent to more than 40 per cent in a period of ten months. General Berkeley also commended Major Thompson's professional competence and wishes him continued success in the reenlistment program.

CLEAN SWEEP—Showing how they swept the top three spots in the 2nd Marine Division's NCO Leadership School are 5Sgts. Daniel L. Siemon, Stanley M. Vold and Carl L. Bailey, all of the 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines. The three sergeants finished the course first, second and third, respectively, out of a class of 37. Leadership school officials say this is the first time any battalion has scored a clean sweep of the top three places in class standings.

1. Devise a new battery of classification tests to measure eight basic aptitudes.
2. Install a five-digit military occupational speciality number.
3. Reorganize and consolidate current 37 occupational fields into a lesser number of occupational groups.
4. Improve the procedures for assignment of personnel in all skills.

No details have been announced as yet by Headquarters about any of the recommended changes. A great deal of planning and more study will be required before any changes can be made.

The object of the new battery of classification tests is to identify the individual Marine's skills in eight areas which can be related to eight basic types of jobs within the Marine Corps. None of these job types or skill areas have been identified by Headquarters Marine Corps.

The change in the MOS to a five-digit number would provide information now shown in the four-digit number as well as the category "B" designation and some other refinements.

The proposed new MOS would use the first three numbers to give information now found in the present MOS. The fourth and fifth numbers would be added information on special skills within the basic MOS and would include the current category "B" designation.

Another suggested change was reorganization of the present 37 occupational fields into 15 occupational groups. One reason given for this recommendation was a desire to equalize promotion chances, particularly to the grade of master gunnery sergeant (E-9) among the present occupational fields.

The grouping, it was said, would give NCO's who go up to master gunnery sergeant, broader experience in their occupational fields before they are promoted to the point where they will have to supervise Marines outside their immediate occupational fields.

Improvement of the skill control would entail a change in detailing procedures. It would also involve standardization of various personnel forms and procedures so that the management system can take advantage of data processing installations now used by the Marine Corps.

Son Of Local Sgt. Receives First Honors

A Camp Lejeune youth, Eugene Mask, has been awarded first honors in the Alphonsus Honor Society at Father Judge Mission Seminary, Monroe, Va. He is the son of SSGT. and Mrs. Hollis Mask of 2399 Tarawa Blvd., Tarawa Terrace.

Young Mask began his studies for the priesthood this past September after graduating from Maysville Elementary School, Maysville, N. C. He is now in his freshman year of high school.

First honors in the society is granted to those students who maintain an average of 90 per cent or above.

Father Judge Mission Seminary is the preparatory seminary for young men who are studying to become priests in the religious congregation known as the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity.
