

Units Hit Goal As Fund Drive Starts Rolling

Although the United Fund Campaign is just over one week old, 10 per cent contributions were reported by several units last Friday.

Within the Industrial Relations Division, the Commissary Store and Industrial Relations Department, showed complete participation, while the Infantry Training Regiment has hit the 44 per cent contribution mark.

The campaign provides funds this year for eight different charitable and welfare organizations. Participating agencies are: The American Red Cross; Onslow-Camp Lejeune Chapter for Retarded Children; Camp Lejeune-Onslow County Boy and Girl Scouts; Emergency Relief Fund; Carolinas United Services; Onslow County Hospital Auxiliary; Salvation Army; United Jewish Appeal for Refugee Relief; and the Jacksonville Rescue Squad.

All commanders throughout the Quad-Command are backing the drive to the fullest extent. Key-men have been designated in all units and the drive is receiving good support from everyone and progressing rapidly toward the goal of $80,000 set for Camp Lejeune.

The Red Cross has joined the United Fund this year, thereby eliminating one drive for solicitation of funds.

During last Friday's fire in Tarawa Terrace, the Red Cross demonstrated the kind of aid available to those in need. Both MSgt. Joseph Ramirez and SSgt. Edward Ellis, whose homes were either destroyed or heavily damaged, received financial and beneficial aid from the Red Cross.

"My family and I certainly appreciated the speedy action taken by the Red Cross," said Ramirez. "The water from the hoses did a lot of damage."

Ellis, whose feelings toward the Red Cross were the same, said, "Everything was destroyed by the fire, without the Red Cross, I don't know what we would have done."

Three Congressmen Visit Base Tuesday

Three Congressmen, members of a subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, arrived here last Monday night for a one day visit Tuesday.

The three Congressmen, Porter Hardy Jr., (D-Va.), Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich.), and George Huddleston Jr., (D-Ala.), visited Lejeune to obtain first-hand information on certain new combat and tactical vehicles.

The majority of their work was centered around hearings in Bldg. 1 with limited visits to the Industrial Area and Tank Park. Accompanying the committee is Lt. Gen. John H. Hinrichs, Chief of Ordnance, United States Army.

Other personnel with the committee were Mr. Guerin Tood, Mr. William H. Sandweg, Mr. Sam Freedman, Col. H. A. Miley Jr., Col. J. M. Illig, Col. J. P. Sherden, Lt. Col. Eric Orsini, Lt. Col. John Zakel Jr., Maj. John T. Peterson, 1st Col. Herbert L. Beckington, Maj. Paul E. Sanders, Mr. E. T. Johnson and Col. William M. Smoak Jr.

Division NCO School Moves To Montford Point Quarters

The 2nd Marine Division Non-Commissioned Officers School took on a new look at a new location last week. The school moved from inadequate wooden barracks to newly renovated concrete block barracks at Montford Point. Inside the newly occupied buildings the "new look" took hold. The ceiling is covered in acoustical tile, which distributes sound evenly throughout the classrooms. The new classrooms are air conditioned, and lighting is provided by a modern fluorescent system.

The school, founded about 1947,

Base Colonel Lists Institute Modifications

Col. R. E. Collier, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2/3, Marine Corps Base, and former Director of the Extension School, held a conference of Base S-3 Officers, Education Officers and SNCO's last Friday and discussed problems encountered by the units in carrying out a suitable curriculum of armed forces correspondence schools courses.

The colonel gave a brief background on the recent switchover of certain courses from the Extension Schools to the Marine Corps Institute. Most of the academic courses formerly featured by the Institute have been established by USAFI. MCI has now set up special and professional courses to help Marines to become more efficient in their military occupational specialties.

Colonel Collier stressed the importance of off-duty education and training for the officers. According to Marine Corps Order 1500.14, all Marine officers and enlisted are encouraged to increase their knowledge by correspondence courses.

Officers were encouraged by Colonel Collier to complete courses from the Extension School that will prepare them for entry to either the junior course or the senior course at Quantico.

"Officers," Colonel Collier said, "must maintain themselves at a high degree of efficiency in general military fields so that they may lead the officers and enlisted men in their commands to the high degree of proficiency expected by the Marine Corps."

graduates an average of 1,050 students every year. The present school at Montford Point is staffed with 12 instructors who teach all general military subjects.

Contrary to popular belief, the school is not a "second boot camp," but is a school with a training program designed to instill leadership in all Marine Corps NCO's.

The school is housed in six buildings at Montford Point now that construction work on the classrooms and office space is completed.

The Leadership School headquarters is located in Bldg. 618 and classes conducted in Bldg. 321. Personnel are billeted in Barracks 623 and 621. Unit supply is in Bldg. 255.

The school staff is made up 71 enlisted men and two officers and carries a normal student load of 90 students in two classes of 45 students each.

The school is operated under the cognizance of Division G-3.

Fire Destroys Two Homes; Estimate $15,000 Damage

Damages reported at over $15,000 were inflicted here last week as two separate fires gutted homes in Tarawa Terrace and Midway Park. Base Fire Chief F. J. Schlarp attributed both blazes to carelessness involving children playing with matches or a cigarette lighter.

Thanks Are Offered For Timely Services

The following is a letter received from Mrs. Edward L. Ellis, wife of SSgt. Ellis, whose home was destroyed by fire early Friday morning, Sept. 23.

Sept. 25, 1960

In due appreciation I want to write this letter to Tarawa Terrace housing, Tarawa Terrace Nursery, the Staff Wives Club, and the many others who have contributed to help our family back to a normal life again.

There is always something learned in every situation. In our case, we want to put this thought in mind.

"Never judge or condemn your neighbor, for one day they might be your only means of survival."

My husband and I want to express our deepest thanks to all the people that have stood by us through our moment of need.

Sincerely,
SSgt. and Mrs. Edward Ellis

Prayer Day

A Proclamation by the President of the United States has set Oct. 5 as National Prayer Day for the Peace of the World.

To carry out the President's wishes, special services of Prayers for the Peace of the World will be held at the Protestant and Catholic Chapels at 11:30 a.m., Oct. 5, at Hadnot Point. Chaplain Wendell S. Palmer will conduct the services at the Protestant Chapel.

SOUTHPAW SHARPSHOOTER—Leading WREN (Women's Enlisted Royal Navy) Nora Boon displays her shooting form to Marine LCpl. W. A. Eastman, left, and Pfc O. E. Culpepper at the Royal Marine Training Center Rifle Range on Malta. In competition against American, Royal Marines and Navy-men, the blonde, left-handed sharpshooter more than held her own as she consistently fired among the top five shooters. (See story page 12.)

The first fire broke out in the residence of SSgt. and Mrs. Edward L. Ellis at 1267 Inchon St., Tarawa Terrace, Friday with the alarm being sounded at 7:06 a.m. The second alarm of the week came at 8:09 a.m. Sunday when fire broke out in a bedroom of the home of Sgt. and Mrs. Frederick W. Cabe, 1309 Butler Dr., Midway Park.

Sergeant Ellis' quarters in Tarawa Terrace were completely destroyed, along with all furniture and personal belongings, despite the efforts of Lejeune firemen and neighbors who rallied to assist. Two engine companies, a rescue squad and a forestry pumper from the fire department responded to the blaze.

After consuming the Ellis home, the fire spread to the adjoining residence, 1263 Inchon, occupied

Two Generals Switch Places At Air Station

A joint parade, composed of air and ground elements from both the 2nd Wing and Air Station, will highlight formal ceremonies at Cherry Point tomorrow as Maj. Gen. R. K. Rottet, Commander, Marine Corps Bases, Eastern Area, and Air Station Commander, and Brig. Gen. F. C. Tharin, Commanding General of the 2nd Marine Air Wing, trade commands.

Three regiments of troops, under the command of Brig. Gen. R. L. Kline, Assistant Wing Commander, will present arms as the colors, symbolic of command, are exchanged by the commanding generals. Following the official transfer of commands, the Wing Band will render appropriate musical honors and the troops will pass in review. Ceremonies will then switch skyward as jet, transport and helicopter aircraft render an aerial salute.

The public is being invited to the parade, slated to begin at 3 p.m. Civilian and military dignitaries from various part of North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia will witness the command change.

by MSgt. and Mrs. Joseph Ramirez. Fast action by the fire department held the fire to damage to the attic, but heavy loss was caused by water throughout the quarters.

Structural damages to the two residences were estimated at $10,800, damage to government furniture was $2,400 and personal property losses for the two families exceeded $1,500. Neither family was covered by insurance against fire.

Sunday's early-morning fire in Midway Park was confined to a bedroom, where an estimated $600 damage to government property was reported. Sergeant Cabe estimated personal loss to his family at approximately $100. Sergeant and Mrs. Cabe were asleep in the bedroom when the fire broke out.

There was no loss of life in either fire and the only injury was sustained by Sergeant Cabe. He was treated at the Base Dispensary for lacerations of the arm received while breaking a window to get his family to safety.

Prompt assistance to the family in the form of cash, food, clothing and supplies was given the families by local Red Cross and Navy Relief agencies and by friends and neighbors.

Chief Schlarp said his firemen arrived at the Tarawa Terrace fire four minutes after the alarm was received and were on the Midway Park scene in two minutes.

Sergeant Ellis is a member of Communications Co., 8th Comm. Bn. There are five children in the family.

Sergeant and Mrs. Ramirez have four children. He is an instructor at NCO Leadership School, Montford Point.

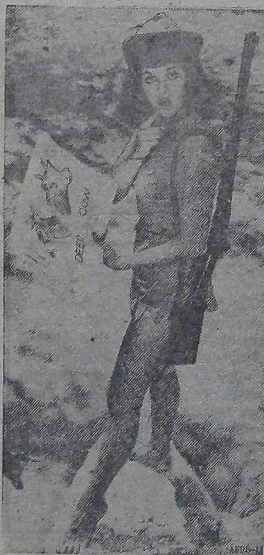

Sergeant Cabe is attached to the Rifle Range Detachment. He and Mrs. Cabe have three children.

Navy Aide For Commandant

Setting a modern-day Marine Corps precedent, Cmdr. Alan Dougall, USN, has assumed duties as Navy aide-de-camp to the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Gen. David M. Shoup.

Commander Dougall may be the first Navy officer ever to be formally appointed aide to a Marine Commandant. Navy and Marine historians indicate, however, records are insufficient to be certain, but they can find no such assignment in contemporary history.

A graduate of the California Maritime Academy, the commander began his naval service in September 1942. All his sea service has been aboard destroyers. He commanded the destroyer USS Picking prior to his present assignment.

During World War II he served aboard the destroyer USS Endicott which participated in Atlantic convoys and the invasion of Southern France. The ship was also responsible for sinking two German gunboats and capturing over 200 survivors.

Commander Dougall participated in the Korean action as executive officer aboard the destroyer USS Richard B. Anderson.

He is a graduate of the General Line School and the Naval War College's Command and Staff Course.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Dougall of 5308 Chesley Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. His wife is the former Lucille E. Wilson of Wichita, Kan.

Collecting Lighters Is Unusual Hobby

SSgt. Donald W. Terry of the Marine Corps Air Facility has a unique hobby. He collects cigarette lighters. A person walking into his home at 2044 South Dr., New River, might wonder if Terry has an addiction to nicotine or a little arson in his soul.

Last Thursday afternoon, Sergeant Terry had 69 different lighters. The following day he received an additional 14 different lighters to add to his collection.

In one year, Sergeant Terry has given away over 100 lighters from his collection which were duplicates.

His collection of lighters ranges in size from one to four inches, from table size to watch-fob type. Styles of lighters go from wind-proof to those shaped like cans, bottles and other designs.

Although Terry has only been collecting the lighters for the past few years he plans to continue until he has the largest and widest variety in existence.

Match Money Lures Second Division Team

The 2nd Division's Rifle and Pistol Team will be aiming for some of the prize money offered in the forthcoming FMFLant Rifle-Pistol Matches to be held at the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range from Oct. 5-7.

When the smoke clears on the Rifle Range Friday, Oct. 7, individual shooters and teams will have some of the $640.00 offered as prize money in the form of medals and trophies.

The Division team will meet competition in the teams from Force Troops, the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Marine Air Groups 26 and 32, and FMFLant headquarters.

The 2nd Division team, led by Capt. James F. Milligan and 1st Lt. Edward D. Ging, will enter the FMFLant matches fresh from an impressive win at the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, last August.

The team took first place in the Rumbold Trophy Match at Perry against some very rugged civilian and military competition. This win gives the 2nd Division the honor of having the only post and station team in the entire Marine Corps to hold a first place in the National Matches at Camp Perry this year.

Spectators are urged to attend the FMFLant matches from Wednesday to Friday during the competition and are especially invited to attend the awards presentation on Friday at 4 p.m.

Fleet Reserve

The next regular meeting of Branch 208 of the Fleet Reserve Association will be held at 8 p.m., Oct. 6, at the Staff NCO Club, Montford Point. All members and Marines with six or more years of service are urged to attend.

here at Camp Lejeune was instrumental in developing an improving on the standard body protective armor used today.

The Lab has been asked to supply a display for the American Legion Convention to be held in October in Miami, Fla. This display will be a part of the Marine Corps display at the convention.

The battle dress for the Marine of the future will include a protective body armor with snaps attached to carry ammunition, grenades and on the back will be attached a pack pocket to carry other items needed by Marines in combat.

The Marine will wear a new type of helmet made of the same material as the protective armor. The helmet will be lighter and give the wearer more protection.

Completing the new look in the Marine's battle dress will be armored shoes. These shoes will protect the infantryman's feet from anti-personnel mines and minimize the injuries which could quite easily blow off the man's foot.

A new type of plastic canteen will be issued to the Marine of the future. This canteen is lighter and will not rattle.

All this equipment is still in the experimental stage except the body armor. It is being tested at the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory and by the Landing Force Development Center.

Episcopal Confirmation Classes Are Scheduled

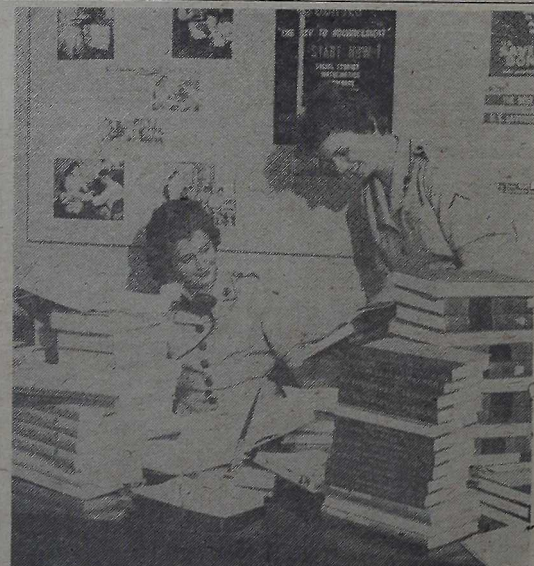

Episcopal Confirmation Classes for young people are being conducted each Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Chapel of Bldg. 67.

The Churchman's Guild (Episcopal) will meet Sunday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m., in the Chapel of Bldg. 67.

Evening Prayer Services with adult instruction and discussion will be followed by a social hour. Those interested in the Episcopal Church and further instructions, are urged to attend these meetings. For further information, contact Chaplain Marrs, 7-5527.

Marine Corps Institute

Off-Duty Education Stud Improves Marine's Valu

Marines today have enormous opportunities to gain knowledge. The Marine Corps Institute, the Extension School at Quantico, USAFI, and college extension divisions are the agencies most responsible for these opportunities.

Taking courses through these agencies can mean professional improvement, future financial profit, a college degree, or just plain personal satisfaction.

But regardless of individual motives, it is becoming more evident each day that for a Marine to really get ahead—to be promoted—to receive good assignments—to loom 10 feet tall in the eyes of the old man—he must do more than work an eight-hour shift at the office, or pull his four on and eight off.

One question promotion boards usually consider is this: "What is the Marine doing to improve himself?" The Marine who persistently seeks to improve himself through correspondence and extension courses will cause those concerned with his performance to look upon him with favor. He is increasing his value to the Corps.

His performance will show that he has initiative. It will indicate that his sole interest lies not in pointing his motor vehicle toward the nearest pub at 4:30 p.m.

And for him, the off-duty scholar, there is also the excitement of discarding the rusty shell formed by corrosion of routine thinking. There is the pleasure of churning up the juices in the cranium to behold new visions, and span mysterious horizons for the very first time.

Anyone interested in taking a course through any off-duty education program can do so by seeing their unit education officer.

A Way To Happiness

"Who is the happy warrior?
Who is he
That every man in arms should wish to be?"

This is the old question of the poet Wordsworth. It is a question worth considering in our day of anxiety, frustration and conflicting values. Who is the happy Marine? The man with the large paycheck and no financial worries? The staff NCO with duty in his hometown? The Marine completing three years, 12 months and 30 days of his enlistment? This is not an idle question, since the founding fathers declared the "pursuit of happiness" one of the unalienable rights endowed by the Creator upon all men.

Is the happy Marine the one who is always griping? How often is it said that the troops are not happy unless they are griping? Those who repeat this statement are not thinking. They are not describing a condition of happiness at all, but a certain typical condition of frustration felt by trained men who have nothing of real importance to do. The truly happy Marine is one who has something important to do, is fully trained to do it, and is actually engaged in it.

That brings us to the answer that Wordsworth gave to his own question. The happy warrior is "the generous spirit . . . whose high endeavors are an inward light." The happy Marine is the one whose actions are in accord with the training of his mind, heart and will. This means that the leader of men must take into account the morale and spirit of the men to whom he assigns a task. It also means that the building of high morale and spirit are an important part of leadership. The brusque, cynical leader who takes advantage of his authority will not have happy troops. The leader himself must be a generous spirit whose high endeavors are an inward light. He must match his actions with his convictions. When either actions or convictions are out of balance, then you have a poor leader and an unhappy warrior.

The Bible says, "To him who knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin." We all have high ideals, the Marine Corps has high ideals. If we would be truly happy we must live up to them.

—R. E. Blade,
Base Chaplain.

Transportation officers will be required to fill MSTs monthly space allocations and to speed the departure of all excess passengers by MATS planes. No additional MSTs voyages will be added.

The 2nd Bn., Fifth Marines, sailed aboard the attack transport, USS Lenawee, and the dock landing ship, USS Thomaston, for the South China Seas.

The 1,100-man BLT has put into operation plans to have a combat-ready force afloat in that area at all times.

In Washington, a Navy spokesman said the plan is part of a program for stepped-up readiness due to the general world situation.

The Secretary of the Navy can now settle servicemen's personal property losses up to $2,500. The new ceiling was put into a 1959 law and placed into effect by JAG Notice 5890.

Previously the Secretary could settle claims up to $1,000 only. Claims amounting to greater sums had to be referred to the Congress for action.

In all cases for the claim to be good there must be a major fault on the part of the Navy and the claim filed within two years of the initial loss. The new $2,500 ceiling applies to claims made but not settled before the new law was enacted.

If You Ask Me:

WHOM DID YOU VOTE FOR
AMONG THE THREE CANDI-DATES FOR TOP SQUAD LEAD-ER OF THE MARINE CORPS?

(The GLOBE Inquiring Photographer asked men of the 2nd Division their choice between John Wayne, Aldo Ray, and Jeffrey Hunter for the best squad leader.)

LCPL. JOHN EARLY, Hq. Co., Eighth Marines—Aldo Ray, mainly because of his physical appearance and the fact that he looks good in a uniform. He appears to be a natural-born leader. Being an actor, Aldo is expected to come face to face with people and to project his personality on them. Men like Aldo usually make good leaders. Then too, he is an ex-serviceman and knows what military life is like.

PFC DONALD E. MACAULAY, Hq. Co., Eighth Marines—Jeffrey Hunter gets my vote. I've seen him in a few movies. It's the way he acts that convinces me he would make the best squad leader among the three candidates. It seems like he possesses the qualities to be a good leader. I think he could handle himself in any emergency, and I believe he would be well liked by his men.

SSGT. MORRIS R. CRATER, "L" Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines—My vote goes to John Wayne. Not only is he an honorary officer in the Marine Corps, but due to his greater experience with Marine Corps subjects from the many movies he's made, I think he is qualified to be elected the leader of a mythical Marine Corps infantry squad. He appears to possess definite abilities of leadership and command presence.

LCPL. LINDSAY MCINTOSH, "K" Co., 2nd Bn., Second Marines—I like Jeffrey Hunter. He's a tough man. He appears cool and collected under combat conditions. I don't think he would crack under a heavy strain. With a squad leader like him, you wouldn't mind following his orders. He doesn't pull a lot of phony stuff. Everything he does, he does realistically. What's more, he looks like a Marine.

CPL. MARSHALL YATES, "I" Co., 3rd Bn., Second Marines—My choice is John Wayne. He looks more realistic and more combat conditioned than any of the other candidates. Moreover, he looks like he possesses the spirit behind him. I think he'd have a very effective squad as he would be certain to find ways to induce his men to become more cooperative.

500 AREA (500) — Outdoors at 8 p.m.

SURRENDER, HELL
 Keith Andros portrays an American officer who formed a guerrilla fighting unit in the Philippines which helped to make possible the return of regular American fighting forces to the Philippine mainland. Susan Cabot is the female lead. (93 min.)

THE APARTMENT
 Jack Lemmon stars as the Milquetoast bachelor clerk who lends his key to his apartment to insurance executives for extra marital adventures for social business advancement. Shirley MacLaine lends the female touch and Fred MacMurray secondary support. (Color, 125 min.)

GUNMAN'S WALK
 Van Heflin stars as Tab Hunter's father in this western melodrama. The story concerns a man who allows his son to grow up in his image, only something goes wrong with the image, and the father is forced to take drastic steps to curb his offspring. (88 min., color)

AS THE SEA RAGES
 Cast against a background of the Greek Isles, this one concerns a fisherman whose dream of peace and serenity are violently disturbed by a beautiful woman's presence and her domination by a sinister suitor. Cliff Robertson stars as the fisherman. Maria Schell as the girl and Cameron Mitchell as the evil influence. (83 min.)

WALK TALL
 A western starring Willard Parker. (88 min.)

ULYSSES
 Kirk Douglas stars as Homer's immortal Greek hero. Rossana Podesta plays both his wife, Penelope, and the siren, Circe. Film story stays close to the original Greek classic. (97 min.)

PAY OR DIE
 Ernest Borgnine portrays a famous New York detective who uncovers the early inroads of the Mafia in the U. S. A. (119 min.)

HANNIBAL
 The famed Carthian is portrayed by Victor Mature. The story covers Hannibal's attempt to conquer Rome. Rita Gam provides the romantic interest. (111 min.)

MOUNTAIN ROAD
 James Stewart stars as the commander of an American Force in North China which is obliged to slow the advance of the Japanese Imperial Army. Portrays vividly man's inhumanity to man. (110 min.)

WILD RIDE
 Jack Nicholson stars as a somewhat psychopathic hot-rod addict who wants glory and girls in that order, and will resort to just about any lengths to get them. The film contains much beatnik and violent action. (74 min.)

AMAZING TRANSPARENT MAN
 A science fiction adventure starring Douglas Kennedy. (78 min.)

HIGH POINT
 Tommy Blackman stars in this family drama. (83 min.)

THE ADVENTURES OF HUCK FINN
 Mark Twain's immortal tale of Mississippi River life in the pre-Civil War period is dramatically portrayed by Eddie Hodges, Tony Randall, Archie Moore and a host of other stars. The picture is supposed to tell the story as Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) conceived it. (Color, 147 min.)

THE BELLS ARE RINGING
 A delightful yarn about a timid dream-in-the-sky girl played by Judy Holiday, who works for a telephone answering service, and simply cannot keep from taking a personal interest in all the "clients." Dean Martin portrays a playwright with a superiority complex. (92 min.)

PRISONER OF THE VOLGA
 A pair of beautiful women and a smug band of Cossacks go racing about 19th century Russia in the arms of, or in pursuit of, John Derek, an abusive cavalry officer victimized by his general's indiscretions. Elsa Martinelli and Dawn Adams are the female leads. (90 min.)

CRACK IN THE MIRROR
 Orson Welles and Juliette Greco each play double roles in this story of life's undermining passions, he they murder, envy, deceit or retribution. Generally an effective, well-played and mature film. (105 min.)

Field House Hosts Hoosier Humorist Shriner Oct. 13

"Pops Americana," a musical salute to these United States, with Hoosier humorist Herb Shriner lighting the fuse, will be heard at Goettge Memorial Field House at 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 13. The "Concert Orchestra Americana," under the baton of Gustave Haenschen, as well as balladeer and guitarist George Alexander and the New World Singers, will be featured with Shriner. Alexander will sing seldom heard sailship, riverboat and western songs, into which Herb Shriner will weave his back home humor, as he will do for the entire program of folk songs, or choral selections and a varied collection of musical Americana.

HERB SHRINER

Conductor Haenschen, an authority on the music of this country is well known to the U. S. public for such famed radio hours as "The American Album of Familiar Music" and "Saturday Night Serenade."

The presentation will include monologues by Shriner (a la his Broadway hit, "Inside U. S. A."), which tickled the funnybones of theatre audiences and was described by one critic as being "as contagious as chicken pox in a crowded schoolroom." The one-time "Harmonica Herb" also will produce some virtuoso music with his mouth organ.

Audience participation, in the form of a unique composition written for orchestra and audience, by famed composer Tibor Serly, will be another feature of the concert. "This number not only encourages the folks to sing along—we insist on it. It allows the audience to go home and tell their kids that they sang with a symphony orchestra, and the musicians can only try to live it down," says Herb.

Admission for this outstanding attraction is $1 per person. Tickets for the show will go on sale on Sept. 26 at the Camp Theater, Marine Corps Exchange, Field House, Camp Drive-In Theater, Unit Special Services offices and Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce.

HEATING PLANT—This plant makes the steam used by all facilities at Hadnot Point and the Naval Hospital. The building is five stories high and has four boilers which can turn out 400,000 pounds of steam per hour.

MACHINES FOR REPAIR—Mr. Ladson P. Hudson, engineer, sets up a lathe to turn down a part for one of the machines which turns out the steam at the Central Heating Plant.

THE HORSE MARINES—Uniforms and equipment of the Mounted Detachment, Peking Legation Guard, make up this colorful display. The guidon was carried by the detachment at the time of its disbandment in 1939.

Plant Burns 40,000 Keeps Hadnot Point

The Central Heating Plant at Hadnot Point, highest and hottest building at Camp Lejeune, produces 400,000 pounds of steam per hour to keep water hot and Marines and their families warm.

The heating plant has been in operation for 17 years, having opened its boilers for business in April, 1943.

The plant is under the supervision of Mr. Daniel H. Kirk, who has been the plant superintendent since the plant was put into commission. Mr. Kirk, a former lieutenant commander in the United States Merchant Marine, is a graduate of the Maritime Officers Schools, New London, Conn.

Prior to assuming his present position, he served for six years in the Merchant Marine as a second engineering officer on steamships.

The plant has four boilers to carry out its mission of supplying steam for this section of Camp Lejeune. Each boiler is capable of producing 100,000 pounds of steam per hour and has an emergency output of 120,000 pounds per hour for a period of three hours at peak output.

The plant uses approximately 40,000 tons of coal a year, which means about 20 gondola cars of coal a week are delivered to the plant. On a cold winter day, the plant will use about 300 tons of coal to supply Hadnot Point and the Naval Hospital with steam for hot water and heat.

Average cost per day to operate the plant is approximately $3,000. A break-down of this amount shows that $2,500 is spent for fuel and $500 a day is for labor.

Coal is delivered to the plant by rail and is dumped into one of two chutes. One chute goes to the conveyor that carries the coal into the plant. The other chute drops the coal into the yard where a bulldozer pushes the coal up onto the coal dump.

A conveyor takes the coal into the plant and drops it into a 600-ton bunker which is kept full all the time. The coal goes from the bunker down a chute to a coal weighing machine, capable of weighing 200 pounds at a time. This scale can weigh 12 tons an hour based on 24-hour-a-day operation.

From the scale the coal goes into the pulverizing machine which grinds the coal into dust of about the same density as talcum powder. This powdered coal is into the boilers under draft.

Fly ash from the is sucked from the by fans and is blown

TONS OF COAL are delivered each day. Here a bulldozer shows for use when cold weather which has just been unloaded.

Tripoli To Chosin — At Quantico's New

From the "Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli" is now more than a verse in the Marine's Hymn. Visitors to the Marine Corps Museum at Quantico can follow the battles of the Marine Corps from the birth of the Corps at Tun Tavern in Philadelphia to the end of the Korean War.

The museum was opened Sept. 12 and was officially dedicated by a ceremony which was attended by Lt. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Chief of Staff, U. S. Marine Corps, who represented the Commandant at the ceremony.

MCS, Quantico, Va.

Items of particular interest are the Vickers machine gun and the Lewis gun ever made; John Browning's McClean machine gun; the famous Lewis gun which fired the famous aircraft.

Individual sections of the museum show the gun inventors and makers, Lewis and Browning, the weapons designed.

A separate exhibit of Marine Corps Aviation exhibits for this second construction. Marine GySgt. NAS, Brooklyn, N. Y., task of building a model of the Marine Corps has ever used.

THE HALLS OF MONTEZUMA—A Marine officer urges his band of Leathernecks on as they overrun the San Cosmo Gate at Mexico City. This three-dimensional diorama is but one of six detailed miniatures at the museum recording famous campaigns of the Corps. Others include the capture of John Brown; the stand at Bladensburg in 1814; Belleau Woods; Cuzco Well, Cuba; and the assault on Tarawa.

They are opened only for cleaning of the boilers or for repairs. The gigantic boilers are three stories high and the stacks from them are 37 feet high.

The plant is five stories high and makes a prominent landmark visible from almost anywhere in the main area at Hadnot Point, as it is the highest building at Camp Lejeune.

Steam is piped from the plant by insulated pipelines to heat all buildings in the area. Steam is also used by boilers located at each building to furnish hot water.

If the heating plant goes out of operation, especially on a cold day, there would be many blue noses and fingers at Hadnot Point and the Naval Hospital. Also chin whiskers would be difficult to remove early in the morning using cold water.

Steam is measured by meters at the plant and a record is kept on circular graph charts of the amount of steam used in each area. The record chart for the Naval Hospital is located in a small building just outside the fence at the entrance to the hospital.

Mr. Earl L. Goodman, a former Marine and now an engineman at the plant, in addition to maintenance of the boilers, has 36 meters to read every hour on the hour.
One of these meters is the coal scale meter which shows how much coal is used by each boiler per hour.

To keep the plant equipment in good operating condition, a machine shop is maintained inside the building. Mr. Ladson P. Hudson, an engineman, is one of the men who uses the well-equipped shop to repair or make parts to be used in the plant.

A car shakeout machine, which is electrically operated, is used to shake the coal out of the cars. The bottom of the car is opened and the car shakeout machine is lowered onto the top of the car and begins vibrating at high speed. This vibration shakes the coal loose in the car and allows it to fall into the chute under the car.

The museum also contains possibly the most complete technical research library in the world dealing with the development of automatic weapons systems. It includes copies of every patent taken out in this country on ma-to the present.

Open daily to visitors, the museum is located in the

W. K. Romoser, USN, of COMSERVLANT, host for the Norfolk played tournament. Team members are, left to right: Ray Mullane, FMFLant, and Melancthon Reed, James

Dixon, James O'Brien and Richard Meyers, 2nd Marine Division entrants. Mullane and Reed tied for second place with 297. Reed won the sudden death play-off on the second extra hole when Major Mullane three-putted. The aggregate team score was 1,209. AirLant was second with 1,212, and Cru-Lant third, 1,328.

'Goshawks' Trample Lejeune During Annual Shrine Clash

The Camp Lejeune Marines were defeated Saturday night 32-0 by a fast, more experienced Pensacola "Goshawks" team in the seventh annual Shrine Bowl Game at Pensacola, Fla. This marks the second defeat, both shut-outs, suffered by Lejeune since the opening of the classic in 1953. Last season the "Goshawks" downed the Marines 19-0. The series now stands at 5-2 for Lejeune. With both teams using the triple-platoon system and running their offenses off the wing-T, Le-jeune was held to 65 yards on the ground and 42 through the air, while Pensacola racked up 185 rushing and threw for 135.

After a scoreless first quarter the "Goshawks" cracked the Marine defense in the second to score three touchdowns. Navy fullback Bob Cullen crashed over from the one-yard line to end a 49-yard drive in nine plays to make the first score of the game.

Sharp passing by the "Goshawks" highlighted a 10-play series to rack up the second score of the quarter. The Navy hit pay dirt for the third time in the quarter, capitalizing on a fumble by quarterback Keith Wilson on the Lejeune 25-yard line with only five seconds remaining in the first half. "Goshawks" quarterback Paul Grover flipped to Tom Peters at the goal line making the score 20-0. A run for the conversion failed.

Rain started falling late in the first half and continued in spurts through the remainder of the game.

The Marines' most serious threat came late in the third quarter when guard Jerry Smythe intercepted a "Goshawk" pass at midfield, returning it to the 30. Lejeune then drove to the three-yard line where another fumble by quarterback Keith Wilson started the Navy on their first scoring binge in the final period.

The sailors tallied twice in the final period while their stiff defenses held the Marines scoreless.

The first touchdown in the final period was negotiated in 16 plays with a 55-yard pass play from Huehn to Kanuck completing the 97-yard drive. Kanuck grabbed the pigskin on the 24 and out raced two Marine defenders to the end zone.

The final tally of the game was set up by a blocked punt with the ball going out of bounds on the Lejeune 26. John Rolfe went 21 yards on the first play and fullback

Fred Henger plunged over for the touchdown. The sailors' only kicking attempt for point after touchdown failed, putting the final score at 32-0.

Norfolk Downs 'Pups,' 27-0

Devilpups Take On Beaufort In Season's Biggest Clash

Following a "bad luck," 27-0 loss to Norfolk Catholic High School last Friday, the Camp Lejeune Devilpups are currently preparing for their toughest assignment of the 1960 grid season tomorrow night against last year's State Champions, the Beaufort Seadogs. So far this year, the Beaufort squad has been unscored upon, but Coach Tom McGhee's eleven has high hopes of changing all that as they near the end of a hard drill week.

Assistant Coach Hugh Gordon scouted the Beaufort team last week in their game against Havelock. He reported them as "... a larger than usual high school team which works out of the T and likes to run the ends a lot." Coach Gordon also said the Beaufort squad does a great deal of passing and relies on southpaw quarterback Pud Hassell to do the sending.

"Heavier than most in the line," Coach Gordon added, "Beaufort has one guard, 'Tiggie' Potter, who tips the scales at 215."

The Devilpups dumped the state champions 15-7 last year, thus handing them their only defeat of the season. Playing as an independent, as Camp Lejeune does, this didn't, however, affect Beaufort's standing in the state.

Another favoring factor for the Beaufort eleven is their great depth. Seven returnees from their last year's lineup are reported in their starting string.

With all this, mentor McGhee and his squad feel confident they can do a repeat performance of last year's victory. "The boys," McGhee said, "will come out all right as long as they use their heads and play smart football. A big team isn't anything to be scared of if you know how to block and tackle them," he added.

One of the greatest contributing factors to last week's loss to Norfolk was injuries and a few long gains by the opposition.

Mike Smith, defensive ace for the "Pups," was sidelined after the first few plays from scrimmage due to a wrenched knee. The Norfolk squad took advantage of this and ran two of their touchdowns over Smith's vacated position.

Locals, Eagles Play Saturday

The varsity football squad, still licking their wounds from the 32-0 whitewashing they took from the Pensacola "Goshawks" last Saturday night, are undergoing vigorous conditioning and many revisions in preparation for the tilt Saturday morning with the "Screaming Eagles" from Ft. Campbell.

The revisions started with the three-platoon system which, according to Coach Denis Horn, the Marines didn't have the depth to support. A new system depending on two strong teams has been adopted to replace the triple-platoon.

Coach Horn stated he had horses to support two strong, satile teams that are capable playing both offense and defense and allowing for substitutions both teams.

Other revisions include the moving of quarterback Keith Wilson a halfback slot, which he filled the 1959 Lejeune team. Vince (are or Martin Klein will replace Wilson in the field general this Saturday. Cesare has been in that position on the "E Team" which was used for offense only.

Weighing only 147 pounds, Cesare has completed 8 out of 18 passing attempts for a percentage .444, while suffering only one interception. Klein, a fullback on Lejeune squad last season, has one play in a regular game as offensive quarterback this season. So again competition is keen between Cesare and Klein on the scrimmage field for the starting position in the game with the Eagles.

Fort Campbell, although lost their first two games this season will be one of the toughest teams the Marines will face. The Eagles fell to Eastern Kentucky State College in their opening game 7-6 and were routed by Quantico last week end 43-7.

Head Coach Raymond Nutter the Eagles is coming to Lejeune with a very heavy, strong line and a fast, light backfield. Expected use primarily a running offensive attack, the Army will be depending on quarterback Wayne Larson a halfbacks Elmer Frye and Olin Winfrey. Fullback Ed Burkhardt is the power driver of their running offensive attack this season.

The Marines will be counting on their strong forward wall to halt the Eagles' running attack. Expected to see much action with the line are ends Steechi and Losac guards Smythe and Winebrakes tackles Tate, Cherubini and Thornton while Copenhagen and Gree will be used to prevent any aerial threat.

With no serious injuries suffered in the Pensacola game, the Lejeune squad is anticipated to be at full strength for the coming game. All-Marine halfback Mel Anderson and fullback Tom Sacramone are expected to spark the Marine running attack with Cesare and Klein both capable of throwing the long ball. Once again Lejeune will vary their offensive attack on the ground and through the air.

The Lejeune scrimmage field this week is "burning up," as the players prepare for their next home game. Coach Horn stated, "The men are all working hard and they know this is one we really have to go for, and it's going to be a tough one. If we pull together work as a team and really dig in we can come out on top this Saturday. However, it has to be a team effort since no one ball player can win a game," he added.

Lejeune was dropped by the "Screaming Eagles" last season 36-13 in their first meeting with that club. The Quantico squad was the only team that could halt the Army powerhouse last year, disrupting their perfect record by rolling over them 29-7.

The Marines are out to even the slate with the soldiers when the two teams meet on Liversedge Field at 10 a.m. Saturday morning.

Quarterback Club Shown Game Movies

The Camp Lejeune Quarterback Club met Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. in the Camp Cafeteria's Steak House to view movies of last Saturday's game against the Pensacola "Goshawks."

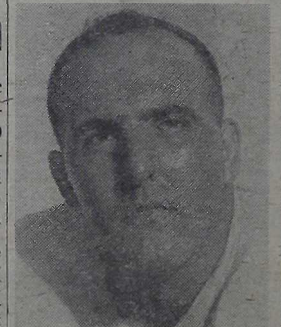

As a result of Saturday's game, John Copenhagen was picked as outstanding back of the week, while Ron Cherubini was selected best lineman.

Copenhagen played high school football at Iola High School, Iola, Kan., from 1953-56 and then worked on the Ft. Scott Junior College gridiron for two more years.

CHERUBINI

Prior to coming to Camp Lejeune he saw action with the Kinser Streaks while stationed with the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa.

Ron Cherubini played football for Rahway High School, Rahway, N. J., where he was selected All-State in 1952. From Rahway he went on to Villanova University where he got four more years of gridiron experience.

Cherubini saw two seasons with the Quantico team where he was selected to the All-Marine squad in 1958.

The Quarterback Club will hold its next meeting at the Steak House Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. All football fans interested in seeing movies of Saturday's game against Ft. Campbell's "Screaming Eagles" are encouraged to attend.

Marine Breaks Jet Speed Record With F4H Phantom

Marine Lt. Col. Thomas H. Miller, flying a F4H Phantom, set a new world's record of 1,216.78 m.p.h. in the 500-kilo-meter world class over the Mojave Desert recently. The flight was made at an altitude of 48,000 feet over a 310-mile triangular course. If recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, this record will exceed the previous record set by Air Force Capt. George A. Edwards Jr. of 816.3 m.p.h. on April 16, 1959, in a RF-101 Voodoo.

JET CHAMP—Marine Lt. Col. Thomas Miller gets a congratulatory kiss from his wife, Ida, after it was announced he had set a new jet aircraft speed record of 1,216.78 m.p.h. over the Mojave Desert. The speed mark was announced after it had been filed with the Federation Aeronautique in Paris.

The Phantom II, scheduled to become operational this year, will be armed with Sparrow III air-to-air missiles and is capable of long range delivery of conventional or nuclear weapons. It is a two-seat twin-jet, all weather fighter capable of better than twice the speed of sound. Powered by two General Electric J-79 engines, each developing more than 16,000 pounds of thrust, the Phantom II can fly on one engine.

Colonel Miller received two Distinguished Flying Crosses (DFC) and seven Air Medals for his part in the Marshall Islands campaign of World War II and was awarded gold stars in lieu of nine additional Air Medals and one more DFC for his 106 combat missions in Korea.

The latest addition to his list of decorations is another DFC.

Collects Toys, Children

"This exemplifies the work of the Traffic Branch, Christmas toy operation was started when the sergeant and families from the Chamber...

...one wishing to donate broken toys or even parts of toys or in his work may do so. ...Levasseur will pick up ...they can be delivered to ...shop in Bldg. 1402. He can be contacted in Bldg. 1011, Freight Traffic Office, extension 7-5772.

According to Sergeant Levasseur, there are approximately 1,000 needy families in the Camp Lejeune and immediate surrounding area to which the collected and repaired toys will be given this year.

In addition to the pile of toys this part-time Santa has in his work shop in Bldg. 1402, he has five more boxes at home in need of repair and paint. At the present time he has no one helping with the project except his wife, Mayetta, two daughters, Jean, 11, Gloria, 13, and his five-year-old son, Terry.

His wife and daughters make clothes for the dolls and repack stuffed animals, while Terry, although still a little young, assists in whatever he can.

Sergeant Levasseur stated that at his previous duty stations, he usually had a group of off-duty Marines who volunteered their assistance. Although he hasn't had any volunteers this year, he feels that there eventually will be some.

There are no special tools needed for the job, just a hammer, screw driver and a pair of pliers and a lot of patience. Each year he tries to get someone to dress as Santa Claus to help pass out the toys. The toys are not gift-wrapped as this cost would be too much for him to bear alone.

Woman Marine Twins Add Double Trouble To Lejeune

In the wake of Hurricane Donna which struck earlier this month, another menace destined to cause havoc and confusion has arrived at Camp Lejeune. Like Donna, the second threat comes from the state of Florida, but this time in the form of Woman Marine twins. Pamela and Sonja Greene reported to Camp Lejeune Sept. 17, after completing 10 weeks of recruit training at Parris Island, S. C.

Upon their arrival, they reported to the first sergeant. All she could do was throw her hands in the air and burst out with, "Oh, no!"

Pamela and Sonja went to the same school, had the same grades and completed recruit training with the same platoon. Everything they did, they did together. They were what you might say "inseparable."

They joined the Marine Corps on June 17, 1960, after graduating from Englewood High School in Jacksonville, Fla. Pam decided she wanted to go to night school while in the Corps, so Sonja followed and is planning on taking night courses in teaching.

While going to school, they had a part time job working at a local restaurant and dressed alike. Can you imagine paying twice for one meal? The mayor of the town almost did exactly that, until the identification was made of the twins.

In dating, being twins could sometimes be a lot of fun.

Take for instance the time Sonja had a date with one of her school friends. She didn't particularly like him but just couldn't think of standing him up. Since Pam thought he was good-looking, she went out with him instead. The fella never did know the difference until the evening was over when he kissed her good-night!

While in boot camp at Parris Island, the platoon sergeants had a problem. At first, they had to ask, "Which one are you?" Then the girls in the platoon thought of a nickname for the Greene twins—"Pepper" for Pam and "Salt" for Sonja. This was carried with them all the way through recruit training.

During the six weeks of boot camp women recruits are put on a diet if they are overweight. Pam was put on a diet. Because they looked so much alike, Sonja could go through the diet line in place of Pam and no one would be the wiser.

They have done everything together—in civilian life as well as in the military. Only now things are changing. They live in different squadbays as well as work at different offices.

At the present time, Pam works in the Marine Corps Exchange and Sonja at the Training Aids Library.

The twins are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Greene, 2339 Southside Boulevard, Jacksonville, Fla.

DOUBLE TROUBLE—That's the impression the first sergeant of WM Company got when Pvt. Pamela and Sonja Greene, the only Woman Marine twins at Camp Lejeune, reported for duty. Stone Street PTA

A highly successful meeting of the Stone Street Parent-Teachers Association was held at the Stone Street School on Sept. 19, with over 300 persons in attendance. A most informative talk concerning the Camp Lejeune School System was given by Col. R. Quigley, President of the Camp Lejeune School Board. All of the teachers for the current school year at Stone Street School were introduced by the School Principal, Mr. Roberts.

A request was made by the Program Chairman, Col. William Adkinson, for ideas for programs for the coming school year. All members of the Stone Street PTA are encouraged to present suggestions for programs to the Program Committee.

Camp Geiger Wives Install New Officers

The Geiger Wives Club combined a fall accented Welcome Tea and formal installation of officers during ceremonies held last Tuesday afternoon in the Geiger Trailer Park Community Center. President of the club, Mrs. R. P. Kellon, was installed again for a second term by Chaplain L. O. Seegers, Trailer Park Chaplain. Mrs. Kellon then installed the new officers, Mrs. C. A. Smithkamp, vice-president; Mrs. C. Taylor, treasurer; and Mrs. B. Couch Jr., secretary.

Activities Calendar

MCAF OWC

The ladies of the Air Facility Officers Wives Club plan a special fashion show as the feature of a luncheon-meeting next week which will be held at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 5, in the Officers Club. Hostesses will be ladies from CMS-26. Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. R. D. Foster 06-601, or Mrs. T. Smith at x 6113. No reservations will be accepted after noon, Oct. 3.

Camp Lejeune Staff NCO Wives
The Staff Wives will hold their Welcome Tea in the Tarawa Terrace Community Building tonight 8 p.m. All wives are urged to attend and help make this a successful year for the club.

Midway Park Wives
This afternoon, from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., the Midway Park Wives will hold their Welcome Tea in the Community Building.

cluded with a welcome speech by Mrs. Kellon, who afterwards introduced the following special guests for the afternoon: Mr. J. T. Heavey, manager of Midway Park Housing; Mrs. N. T. Claus, Base Quarters and Housing Division; Mrs. Alice Hill and Miss Jane Gagan, USO representatives; Mrs. D. R. Womack, president, Midway Park Wives Club; and Mrs. H. Maltbie, president, Knox Wives Club.

Mrs. C. L. Taylor, newly-installed officer and also chairman of the Tea, arranged the seating according to the ladies' home states. Panama and Bermuda were among those represented.

Mrs. Taylor and her various committees chose decorations in brown, yellow and orange carried out in the fall theme. Pine branches and candles formed the centerpiece for the decorative refreshment table. Punch bowls at either end of the table offered a choice of orange or lime sherbert punch. Dainty sandwiches of date-nut loaf and cream cheese, tea cookies, and assorted cakes were also served.

Following the afternoon's socializing, a short business meeting was conducted to plan for next week's "Lapboard Party." The party will be held during their regularly scheduled weekly get-togethers to begin at 11 a.m., in the Community Building.

NEW OFFICERS—Newly elected officers of the Geiger Wives Club prepare to receive some 75 women at their combined formal installation and Welcome Tea held in the park's Community building last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Wright Is Hostess For Candelight Social

Mrs. R. D. Wright, President of the Officers Wives Club, has been chosen as Senior Hostess for Group VIII's Candelight Luncheon to be held next Thursday morning, Oct. 6, 11:30, in the River Room of the Paradise Point Club. Her committee, consisting of the wives of the 2nd Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, has met several times during the past few weeks in her quarters, MOQ 2040, to complete plans for the occasion.

Mr. John D. Longwell, Division Sales Manager of Gold Seal Vineyards, will be the guest speaker. He will discuss the history of vineyards in America and abroad. Mr.

Longwell plans to show, with the aid of slides, various tips on cooking with wine in everyday menus.

In keeping with the topic of discussion at the luncheon, Mrs. Wright will display appropriate table decor and lead the group in pre-luncheon activity directed toward Mr. Longwell's lecture.

Mrs. Wright and members of her committee are hoping for a gay and informative luncheon. It is asked that reservation be made as early as possible by contacting one of the following ladies before Tuesday, Oct. 4: Mrs. J. G. Fox, 6-6422; Mrs. J. J. Kagan, 6-6630; Mrs. N. E. Anderson, 6-6121; Mrs. M. A. Westphal, Jax 6865; Mrs. R. J. Graham, Jax 5488; Mrs. B. N. Bittner, Jax 3283.

Special attention is given to the change of time. The luncheon is to be held one hour earlier than the usual 12:30 meets.

'O' Group III Plans Oct. 5 Patio Party

The ladies of Group III of the Officers Wives Club will entertain their husbands at an evening Patio Party to be held next Wednesday, Oct. 5, at the Paradise Point Officers Club.

The evening's festivities are scheduled to commence with a social hour at 6 p.m. to enable old and new members and their husbands to get acquainted.

An informal dinner beginning at 7 p.m. will be served out-of-doors. The picnic-style menu will feature braised chicken, potatoes au gratin, tossed salad, dessert and coffee.

Dress for the occasion will be informal. In the event of inclement weather, the party will be continued indoors.

Reservations for the Patio Party are $1.50 per person. Members who have not been contacted by Oct. 3 can make their reservation by calling Mrs. M. F. Williams at 6-6444. No reservations will be accepted after 12 noon on Tuesday, Oct. 4.

Those attending the party are reminded that Paradise Point Siting Service reservations must be made at least 24 hours in advance.

Sub-Groups Formed By Group IV, OWC

To further the opportunities for members of Group IV, Officers Wives Club, to make new friends, five Sub-Groups have been recently organized. A Sub-Group is a small, informal group of wives who have similar hobby interests or reside in one particular area. Newcomers are particularly encouraged and invited to join.

Any member of the "IV's" who would like to obtain help in starting a Sub-Group of a different type than those already organized may contact Mrs. G. G. Chambers, Group Chairman, at Base extension 6-6595.

Further information may be had by telephoning any of the following leaders: Social Group, Tarawa Terrace—Betty Cooper, Jax 4512; Social Group, Jacksonville, MOQ, other areas, Virginia Hill, 6-6307; Bridge Group, Barbara Sue Blasko, Jax 8283; Sewing Circle, Rosa Fernandez, 6-6300; Swimming Group, Gloria Huf, Jax 4670.

Beauty Consultants Demonstrate And Lecture At Midway Park Wives Meeting

"A woman's hair is her crowning glory" played feature importance during last week's meeting of the Midway Park Wives Club when the women arranged for a morning of a demonstration-lecture on the latest fall coiffures. Through the courtesy of Mrs. James Harrington, local beautician, and her assistant, Mrs. William Boykin, nearly 50 ladies were in attendance to receive a two-hour talk on the how, when, and why attention must be given to the correct care for women's grooming, particularly hair and cosmetics.

Concentration was placed on the art of make-up application when two members of the club volunteered their time prior to the meeting to receive shampoos and facials. By doing this, the group viewed the before and after stages of important technical points stressing the "new look."

Following the program, a question-and-answer period was held on the proper hair setting, styling, hair conditioning, complexion care, good grooming and general cosmetic problems of the women.

Mrs. D. R. Womack, president of the group, conducted a short business meeting before the demonstration-lecture.

Coffee Date

The Junior Officers Wives group of the Officers Wives Club will open the fall season next Friday, Oct. 7, 10 a.m., in the River Room of the Paradise Point Officers Club.

This first meeting, "The Coffee 'n' Confusion Campaign Kick-Off," will inform the members of the voting laws and requirements of the states represented in the club. A speaker will be available to acquaint the ladies with absentee ballot procedures and answer questions. Seating will be arranged according to states with banners to lend a convention atmosphere. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Students Will Have Mobile Bakery Soon

Ever see a bakery on wheels? There is one being constructed for the Bakers Section, Cooks and Bakers School, at Montford Point here.

Last week the 8th Engineers of Force Troops began the task of clearing the site for the construction of the mobile bakery which when completed will be utilized to give the students in the bakery school a first hand knowledge of field baking. When the bakery is ready for use it will be operated by students under the supervision of MSgt. Hillard H. Frie of the bakery section.

This will be the first mobile bakery to be put into use purely for instructional purposes. There are three other mobile bakeries in use, one in each Marine Division and one in stock at the Supply Center, Albany, Ga.

According to MSgt. Frie, the bakery unit when completed will also use M-1942 (portable) bakery equipment. The bakery plant, trailer mounted, consists of two mobile ovens which are pulled by two and one-half ton trucks and one mixing and make-up machine trailer which is pulled by a five-ton cargo truck.

The mixing and make-up machine trailer consists of a mixer, divider and moulding machine. Each unit has its own specific job to do. The ingredients are put into the mixer where they are blended together into dough and then passed to the divider. Here the dough is sealed into a specified amount by weight, then into the moulder to be formed into loaves of bread.

The mobile bakery plant site is being constructed as a semi-permanent building with a tent erected over the concrete slab housing the equipment. It is anticipated the unit will be ready for student instruction sometime in October.

Unit Shooting Action Begins

The schedule for Intramural Small Bore Rifle and Pistol Competition for Marine Corps Base Units for the fourth quarter of calendar year 1960 has been announced in Base Bulletin 3591 of Sept. 23.

There will be five teams participating in the competition which will begin Oct. 26.

Base units entering teams in the intramural competition will be Hq. Bn., MCES, MCSS, 1st ITR, and 2nd FSR. The teams will be designated as numbers one through five, respectively.

Practice firing will be conducted at the D-6 Indoor Range from 1 to 6 p.m. Team 2 will have the practice range on Oct. 12; team 3, Nov. 9; team 4, Dec. 14; and team 5 on Dec. 28.

Rifle competition firing matches will be held on Oct. 26, Nov. 2, and Dec. 7. Pistol competition will be on Oct. 19, Nov. 16 and Dec. 21.

The Commanding General's Rotating Rifle and Pistol Trophy will be awarded to the winning team.

FOR SURVIVAL—Helicopters now carry survival kits, thanks to SSgt. Stephen H. Sanderson, who, after his 'copter crashed in a swamp off Swansboro, decided to design one.

Survival Kit For Helicopters Prepared By MAG-26 Sgt

The crews of Marine helicopters now have a survival kit installed in each helicopter, thanks to the efforts of SSgt. Stephen H. Sanderson, Marine Aircraft Group 26. Sergeant Sanderson was crew chief in a helicopter from HMR-263 when the 'copter was forced down in November, 1958. The 'copter was on a routine flight and was returning to its base when it ran into a snow storm and was forced down in the swamps just off Swansboro.

The crew had to spend the night in the swamp and wait until a motor convoy could reach them the next morning. This accident and the cold night that followed made the sergeant realize the importance of a survival kit to the crew of a downed helicopter.

He gave the problem some thought and came up with the survival kit that has been adopted by the Marine Corps and ordered installed as a part of the equipment for each helicopter.

His commanding officer, Col. B. McCutchen, ordered the kit to be used in all the helicopters in his unit.

Sergeant Sanderson sent his recommendation to the Commanding General of the Marine Corps and his survival kit was adopted last August. He received a letter of commendation for his idea.

Survival kits contain 19 items: a carrying case, one half of a parachute canopy, one knife with five-inch blade, one pocket knife, four cans of rations, one can of heat, and one bottle of insect repellent. One PSK-2 kit (pilot's survival kit), instruction packet containing a local area road map, instructions on use of the parachute canopy, and coded forms for signaling from ground to air is also included in the kit.

A poncho, red on one side and black on the other, to be used for protection against the elements and for signaling. Two day-night distress signal flares, 50 feet nylon shroud line, a can of sun burn ointment, a two-cell flashlight with four batteries, a fishing kit, one water storage bag, an axe and a saw and a packet of water repellent matches completes the helicopter survival kit.

Due to the efforts of Sergeant Sanderson, the crew of any Marine helicopter that is forced down will have a better chance of survival because of the kit.

'Technique Of Instruction' Competition Now Being Held

Technique of Instruction competition is now being held by all units of the three commands based at Camp Lejeune to determine winners to compete in the finals to be held later in the year. The Technique of Instruction competition is divided into two groups, FMF and non-FMF commands. The competition by commands is broken into two categories, one for staff non-commissioned officers to include staff sergeant E-5, the other for sergeants and below.

Each competitor will present two periods of instruction. One instruction period will be a prepared and rehearsed 20-minute presentation on any military subject of his liking. The other must be a five-minute impromptu talk on a specific subject from a general subject area and drawn by chance by the competitor.

Competitors will be judged by a panel of officers, preferably those who have completed a course of instruction in instructor orientation or have had previous instructor experience. The judges will mark each competitor on the individual's characteristics of good military instruction.

Each of the categories will compete independently of the other but are subject to the same rules. In the event a winner in either category is unable to compete in the finals, the runner-up will assume his position. Promotion or demotion between categories disqualifies a competitor.

Any person desiring to enter in the Technique of Instruction competition should contact his unit S-3 office or training office. More details on the date the finals are to be held and judge assignments will be published in the next issue.

Judges for the finalists in the FMF commands have been selected but names of unit participants have not been submitted to the command's headquarters. There have been no judges selected to mark the competitors in the Marine Corps Base finals as yet and unit winners' names have not been submitted to G-3.

Camp Lejeune will be the host for the area finalists to select the competitors to journey to Washington, D. C., to compete in the East Coast Regional Finals.

Admiral Cassady Trophy Won By Marines At Malta Matches Against Royal Marines

The 1st Battalion, Eighth Marines, Rifle and Pistol Team defeated their British opponents by 89 points to retain possession of the Admiral Cassady Trophy for the Sixth Fleet in the 1960 Match held at the Royal Marine Training Center at Malta recently. The British team, composed of Royal Navy and Marine shooters, surprised the Americans by capturing the high-individual rifle and pistol honors while taking the worst of the 1552 to 1463 composite score.

Maj. E. E. Kaufer, battalion executive officer, accepted the trophy on behalf of his team and the Sixth Fleet. The presentation was made by Rear Adm. F. R. Dryer, Mediterranean Flotilla commander, during colorful ceremonies at the Royal Marine Training Center.

Bucking a gusty three o'clock wind and firing at a half-bull on the difficult, two-color, sand-and-sky targets, the American Marines jumped off to an early lead and were never headed.

The 2nd Division Marines agreed to fire their M-1 rifles using "Kentucky windage," as the British English have no windage adjustments. This rule and the contrary wind contributed heavily to the comparatively low scores registered by both teams in the events.

Both teams had their share of rosters. In addition to the Governor of Malta, His Excellency Guy Grantham, and Naval dignitaries of both nations, two companies of Marines from the attack transport USS Chilton and families and friends of the shooters turned out to lend their moral support and observe the festivities.

Earlier in the week, the preliminary firing had scarcely begun when the wiley Royal Marines uncorked their "secret weapon" in the form of an attractive blonde, southpaw sharpshooter named Nora Boon.

Nora's charming wit and personality, not to mention her marksmanship, quickly drew the admiration of the American team who promptly nicknamed her "Daniel" and voted her, "The Girl We'd Like Most to Pull Targets With."

Always noted for their hospitality, the British servicemen and their families once again proved themselves gracious hosts as they rolled out the "red carpet" for their guests.

After the day's firing was completed, sightseeing trips and numerous parties were arranged and every effort was made to assure that the American Marines did not lack for comfort or entertainment.

In the spirit of camaraderie that has prevailed between the two Corps, the American and Royal Marines exchanged sea stories, photographs, shooting medals, lighters and utility caps and berets.

Prior to their departure, the American contingent presented British counterparts at the Sergeant's Mess with a gift subscription to Leatherneck and the Marine Corps Gazette.

INDIAN SUMMERING—October's the month of beautiful changing scenery, but may our Calendar Girl, scenic Carolyn Scutti, stay just the way she is for many a month. And that's quite possible because she's ornamenting a sea wall at Miami Beach, Fla.

Medics Study Burn Effects

The First International Congress on Research in Burns was held at the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md., Sept. 19-22, 1960, and was attended by investigators from 21 different nations.

Navy Medical Field Research Laboratory experience in the investigation of burn shock was reported and pointed to a primary effect on heart muscle immediately following burn as indicated by decrease in the work output of the heart. This was always noted before any changes of blood volume could be detected. The beneficial effect of administration of digitalis preparations provides further evidence of the importance of heart muscle (myocardial) failure as a factor in burn shock and suggests the possible usefulness of digitalis in the treatment of burn shock and the prevention of pulmonary edema.

A U. S. Public Health Service team reported its studies on burns conducted in Peru and emphasized the usefulness of a simple preparation, i.e., one-half teaspoon each of table salt and baking soda in a quart of water, administered by mouth, as an early treatment measure in severe burns. In fact, this solution produced results superior to colloids, plasma, etc.

The Research Laboratory is accelerating its activity in research on burns in its Division of Physiology headed by Lt. Comdr. J. J. Martorano, MSC, USN.

Meeting

The Camp Kindergarten Parent-Teachers group will meet at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 5, in the Stone Street cafeteria. All parents of kindergarten children are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served and an interesting program has been planned.

Staff NCO Keg League Tightens; Two Teams Tie For Second Place

Sporting a 12-4 won-loss record, Mae's keggers moved into undisputed first place in the Staff NCO Bowling League here last week. Following close behind with 11-5 records, however, were Gulfpride Service and Herb Sunshine. In their Wednesday night clash Mae's took three from the New River Pharmacy team with Bob Hall rolling 200 and 538 scores for winning team honors. Laird Silvasy led the Pharmacy five as he posted a 174 game and a 2 series. Herb Sunshine split.

It was Budweiser 3, Stiles Van & Storage 1, as Bob Lippmann led the Budweiser bowlers with 188 and 536 tallies and Ken Therrel took honors for the losers posting 190 and 535 scores.

Quality Cleaners' "J" "T" Watts led his team with scores of 216 and 545 as they blanked the Courthouse Bay Staff NCOs. Joe Kratoski was high roller for the Courthouse Bay five with 177 and 469 tallies.

Al Eisenhower led the D&E Car Exchange five as they blanked

Wainwright Transfer. Eisenhower rolled a high game of 213 and a high series of 546 for the Exchange team while Smokey Greenwood and Holly Boltseridge shared honors for the Transfer keggers with scores of 188 and 524 respectively.

Time Change

The tee-off time for the 1960 Burger Bucket, Home and Home tournament has been changed to 9 a.m. at the Cherry Point Golf Course.

The classic was originally scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Intramural Teams Start Action Here

Cool weather and crowds at Cherry Point New River ushered in the Cherry Point-Camp Lejeune intramural football season Thursday as the Sixth Marines roared in on the Air Facility 30-0, and the 2nd Marine Air Headquarters and Tenth Marines played to a 0-0 standstill.

At Cherry Point the Cannon and Cherry Point displayed defensive games as opening jitters caused numerous fumbles. The first half was played near the 50-yard line with the Tenth Marines mounting the only offensive threat midway through the quarter. Taking a Cherry Point at the Point 48-yard artillerymen moved to the only to be stymied by the Red Raider defense.

The longest run of the night for the Cherry Point eleven came in the third quarter when Bob Hunter intercepted a Tenth Marines pass and scampered back 30 yards. Easel Ware and Tony Tiberibo carried the brunt of the Cherry Point running attack. Joe Muluski and Vic McCracken shouldered the Cannon's offensive guns.

The Sixth Marines wore down a game but outmanned Air Facility team that couldn't get started. Playing before an enthusiastic opening game crowd on their home field, the Air Facility fell behind 12-0 at the end of the first half. Ray Phillips, bruising fullback for the Sixth Marines, bulled his way 16 yards for the first score early in the opening stanza and quarterback Lloyd Fletcher found end Dallas Hampton for a 35-yard scoring play in the second quarter.

Bill Bryant, Tom Basanno and Dave Holtsclaw garnered six pointers in the second half scoring on 30, 16 and 4-yard scampers. George Canty, massive Sixth Marines tackle, anchored a solid defensive unit that held the Air Facility in check throughout the game.

The 2nd Division's Group II eleven and Force Troops' defending quad-command champions opened their season Tuesday night at the Camp Lejeune intramural field while at Cherry Point, Wing Service Group-27 hosted MAG-14. Results were not available at GLOBE presstime.

Eighty Golfers In 'O' Match

More than 80 golfers have signed up for the Commissioned Officers' Golf Tournament which began yesterday. Officials have announced that pairings are presently posted in the Officers' Club House.

According to tournament rules the first round of the medal play must be played prior to Oct. 5.

Entry fee for the tournament, which must be paid in the Club House Pro Shop before the first round is played, will go to purchase trophies for the tournament winners.

Consisting of three flights originally, the losers of the first round will compose three additional flights for a total of six for the tournament.

The classic is expected to last five weeks.

Local Marines Take Regatta

Camp Lejeune sailors "tackled" their way to the 1960 All-Marine East Coast Sailing championships here last week as they made a near clean sweep of the annual regatta.

Skipping rebel-class boats the Lejeune team won three of the four scheduled races, the only winning outsider being 1st Lt. L. L. Smith of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, Cherry Point.

Last year's regatta champion, 1st Lt. R. A. Dent of the 2nd Division, sailed his way to the coveted first slot again as he took both the first and second heats run on Friday.

In Saturday's first race, Navy Lt. L. G. Pope of Base Dental utilized the prevailing 15-20 knot winds to his advantage and copped first place in that sprint. Lieutenant Pope's sailing ability also placed him second overall in the regatta.

The final race of the classic, a gruelling two-hour run, was won by Lieutenant Smith of Cherry Point.

Second place in the team aggregate went to Cherry Point with Quantico following in third place. Last year Quantico, with Lieutenant Dent skipping one of their craft, won the championship.

Individual trophies were presented by Col. K. A. Jorgensen, Marine Corps Base chief of staff, following the final race Saturday afternoon.

Archery Club

There will be a meeting of the proposed Camp Lejeune Archery Club Monday night at 7:30 in the Montford Point Staff NCO Club.

Included in the agenda will be an election of officers and discussions on the construction of a field course for use by the club. A deer hunt, to be conducted on Saturday, Oct. 8, will also be planned.

All Camp Lejeune personnel interested in bow hunting and field archery are urged to attend.

Redskins Leading League; Ramble Over Colts, 12-0

Boys League football action Sunday saw the still undefeated Redskins down the Colts 12-0, while the hard-charging Rams squeaked past the Bears, 13-7. In the afternoon's first tilt the Redskins, led by the long runs of Jim Cunningham and Ernest Wooldridge, downed the Colts in a hard fought game that saw the Colts push to the two-yard line but fail to score.

In the two, the Redskins, led by the fine defensive play of Bill Cain, Tom Stillwell, Bob Amelia and Joe Rappold, threw the Colts back to the Redskin 30.

Taking over the ball the Redskins' Jim Cunningham sliced off tackle for 60 yards and was downed on the Colts' 10-yard marker.

After losing ground on three plays the Redskins' Mulholland passed to Tim Smith in the end zone for the first TD.

Early in the fourth quarter, Wooldridge reeled off his own right tackle and outran the Colt secondary for 60 yards and the second touchdown of the game.

With the exception of the long drive registered by the Redskins, the two teams played a very close game with Clear, Paulson and Moore leading the Colts' defense and knocking down many Redskins passes.

In the second game of the afternoon the Bears drove over the first score when Bill Batchelor went off his own left end from the two-yard marker. After running their extra point, the Bears led 7-0.

The game remained in this status until late in the third quarter when the Rams pulled off some razzle-dazzle in their backfield which wound up with a long pass to Aycock on the 40-yard line. He caught the pigskin on a dead run and scampered for the Rams' first TD. Keagy's try for the extra point failed and the Bears still led 7-6.

Then, with less than two minutes remaining in the clash, the Rams drove from their own 23-yard marker for a TD. Long gains were the highlight of the drive as McLean and Parker lugged the mail for several sprints and Rex Wooldridge lobbed a long pass to Stillwell on the Bears' 23. Keagy then scampered off tackle for 18 yards and the score.
