All-Marine Photo Contest Deadline Is September 8

Only a small number of photographs have been received in the 1960 Camp Lejeune Photography Contest which closes Sept. 8. Over 10,000 Marine Corps Reservists End Successful Summer Training Program

The success of the 1960 annual summer field training program here, which draws to a close this weekend, was pointed up by Maj. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, Base commanding general, who cited the "can-do spirit, the outstanding morale, and the splendid spirit of cooperation with the Regular components" evidenced throughout the summer by our Marine Corps Reservists. General Wade commended highly the efforts of the Lejeune-based hosting units which included 2nd Division, Force Troops, 2nd Force Service Regiment, Marine Corps Supply Schools, Marine Corps Engineer School and 1st Infantry Training Regiment for their contributions to the reserve training effort.

As in past years, Camp Lejeune leads all Marine Corps installations in the training of Organized Marine Corps Reservists this summer. Nearly 10,000 civilian Marines underwent two-week stints of active duty here starting early in June.

Col. Sam W. Smith, officer in charge of the Reserve Liaison Unit, directed activities of the 30 reserve officers ordered to active duty for the summer and 218 enlisted personnel from regular units based here. This organization attended to the informational services, supply, billeting, transportation and administrative needs of the 67 Organized Marine Corps Reserve units which reported here in six two-week increments.

Technique Of Instruction Competition Is Announced

Regulations for the conduct of the Sixth Annual Technique of Instruction Competition was announced in Marine Corps Bulletin 3590, published at Headquarters Marine Corps last Friday. The competition, sponsored by the Marine Corps Institute and "Leatherneck" magazine, was begun in 1955 to stress the importance of high quality military instruction in the Marine Corps.

Enlisted Marines of the regular establishment are eligible for the contest. The competition is composed of two classes, one for staff NCO's and one for sergeants and below. The two will compete separately but are governed by the same regulations.

Each contestant will deliver a 20-minute presentation on a subject of his own choice. Competitors will be prepared to answer questions during their presentation.

After his 20-minute presentation, the contestant will be given a list from which to choose a general military subject for a five-minute impromptu presentation. Each competitor will be given 20 minutes to prepare for the impromptu presentation.

The judges will select one first-place winner and a runner-up in each category.

Area, regional, and command winners will be sent to the Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., for the semi-finals and finals competition. The finals will be conducted Dec. 8-16, 1960. "Leatherneck" magazine will provide awards for major commands and regional winners and the winners in Washington.

Plans for the Quad-Command contests to determine area, regional and command winners have not yet been promulgated but are expected shortly.

Local Envoys Return From Symposium

The Fifth Annual Staff NCO Symposium has ended. Two of the three Camp Lejeune representatives, Sgt. Maj. B. F. Dutton of the 2nd Division and Sgt. Maj. H. A. Stoneburner of Marine Corps Base, have returned to Camp Lejeune. Sgt. Maj. R. C. Gray of Force Troops took leave immediately after the symposium.

Every one of the almost 200 recommendations submitted by the Marine Corps posts and stations represented was discussed.

Sgt. Maj. Dutton disclosed that of the 20 recommendations submitted from 2nd Division, five were adopted in full; six were included in consolidated recommendations; seven were not included on the agenda due to prior or pending action by Headquarters Marine Corps; one was considered to be a local command problem; and one was disapproved. Sgt. Maj. Stoneburner said the Marine Corps Base recommendations received similar favorable action.

There will be no release of agenda items which were approved or disapproved until Headquarters Marine Corps makes an official public release.

Six Selected For Gold Leaf

The President has approved the report of a selection board that recommended 153 officers of the regular Marine Corps and the Marine Corps Reserve for temporary promotion to major. Six were selected from Camp Lejeune.

William C. Bittick was selected for promotion to major from Marine Corps Base. Division officers selected were: Peter F. C. Cushing Jr. and Jimmy W. Duncan. Grover C. Koontz and Howard L. Barrett Jr. were the Force Troops selections.

The promotion zone for other than limited duty officers terminated with Charles E. Kaiser. The Limited Duty promotion zone terminated with James W. Wilson.

According to an AINav issued Tuesday, Wilford E. Overgard, former football coach here, and all officers senior to him on the list, will be physically examined immediately, the next 36 in January, 1961, and the next 25 during April, 1961. All Limited Duty Officers will be examined currently.

NO CONCERN—The Duke of Denniston shows no concern over the excitement caused by his arrival at Camp Lejeune Tuesday. The "Duke," first official mascot of the 2nd Division, was welcomed to his new home by Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, right, Division commander. The Division Drum and Bugle Corps, left by GySgt. J. E. Rippard, center, provided music for the occasion. See story on page 12. (Photo by Sgt. J. H. Webster)

Navy Builds Heli-Carrier For Marines

The Navy's first built-for-the-purpose helicopter carrier, the USS Iwo Jima, will be christened by the wife of the Marine general who headed the invasion of that island in World War II.

Mrs. Harry Schmidt is scheduled to officiate at the launching of the Iwo Jima on Sept. 17. Her husband, now retired, commanded the 5th Marine Amphibious Corps which invaded Iwo Jima in 1945.

The keel of the 592-foot ship was laid at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard April 2, 1959. Classified as an amphibious assault ship (LPH), the Iwo Jima will serve as a floating base for Marine helicopters. She will have accommodations for approximately 1,500 combat-equipped troops.

Tony Curtis Will Star In Marine Film

A Universal-International film crew of 140 persons invaded the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego Monday to begin shooting scenes for "The Sixth Man," a production based on the military life of Ira Hayes, Pima Indian who helped raise the flag on Iwo Jima.

Tony Curtis, who will star in the title role, arrived Saturday. His wife, Janet Leigh, accompanied him.

First of the studio people other than those attending preliminary discussions held over the past several months, were Gregory Walcott and Wayne Heffley, who will play the drill instructor roles of Sergeant Kiley and Corporal Johnson, respectively. They arrived early to observe drill instructors.

Hayes rose to fame as one of the survivors of the six-man team which raised the flag atop Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima. The scene was immortalized by Joe Rosenthal, then photographer for the Associated Press.

West, commanding officer, 1st Infantry Training Regiment, move up on the firing line to observe the firing of rifle grenades during the orientation visit last Friday of officers from Marine Corps Base, Force Troops and 2nd Division. The visiting staff officers observed personnel undergoing training at many of the various firing ranges during their visit to ITR. (Photo by Cpl. C. L. Boyd)

MCO Announces Eligibility Of Warrant Officer Program

An opportunity for certain enlisted men and three categories of officers to be nominated for the Warrant Officer Program was outlined recently in Marine Corps Order 1040.16. The order announces the first of two such programs which will be conducted during the 1961 Fiscal Year, and invites commanding officers to nominate qualified personnel. Enlisted personnel eligible for the program must be serving on active duty in pay grades of E-4 or above. They must have had not less than six years' and not more than eight years' active Naval service on July 1, 1960.

A particularly outstanding regular enlisted person serving in the grade of E-4 or above who had at least eight years but not more than 10 years active Naval service on July 1, 1960, may be nominated for warrant officer if a waiver of service requirements is recommended by his commanding officer.

There are openings in 40 MOS fields under the phase one program.

Base Veterinarian

Air Force Major Guardian Of Lejeune Marines' Health

There is at Camp Lejeune an Air Force officer who treats "doggies" for the Marine Corps under the supervision of the Navy. Maj. C. V. Lang, USAF, is Camp Lejeune's Base Veterinarian, working under the direction of the Base Medical Officer. In truth, Major Lang's primary duty is to inspect foods of an animal origin which come to the Commissary Store and to all other non-appropriated fund activities on the Base which sell meat products, activities such as officer and enlisted clubs. However, he also works with the animal facility of the Medical Field Research Laboratory by examining animals, especially dogs, suspected of transmitting diseases to man.

Major Lang entered the Air Force during World War II and flew for four years as a pilot. He saw action in the European campaign, serving as a member of the 15th Air Force in Italy. The Distinguished Flying Cross, the Medal and the Purple Heart are listed among his personal decorations.

After the war, he returned to civilian life, and in 1950 was awarded a degree in Veterinary Medicine from Auburn University. The major came back to active service during the Korean conflict, this time as a member of the Air Force Veterinarian Corps rather than a pilot. In 1958, he received a Master of Arts degree in Veterinary Public Health from the University of Oklahoma, and the same year was assigned to Camp Lejeune, where he has served since.

Because only the Army and the Air Force have a Veterinarian Corps, the Air Force and the Marine Corps have an agreement that the Air Force will furnish two veterinarians to the Marine Corps. The office is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Major Lang's specific duties include: inspector of foods of animal origin for quality and grade; liaison representative with Quartermaster Market Centers (in these two capacities he saved the government approximately $20,000 last fiscal year in discovering and adjusting unfulfilled food contracts); inspector of local food sources; supervisor of personnel assisting in his work; and advisor and professional observer in local incidents of animals suspected of transmitting disease to man.

In addition to this imposing list of duties, Major Lang is the official milk inspection officer of the COMFIVE area, Fifth Naval District, inspector of all milk and dairy products which are used at Camp Lejeune, and bakery inspection officer.

Assisting the major in his tasks are two Marine Corps enlisted men, GySgts. P. F. Inman and T. H. Robinson. They provide all possible aid to the Veterinarian as he performs his many functions.

Major and Mrs. Lang live with their three sons and one daughter in MOQ 3360. His personal records are maintained at area Air Force Headquarters in Montgomery, Ala., but other than that, his work and home are with the Marine Corps.

Reserves

A few pertinent statistics suggest the scope of the reserve training activities here. For instance, Reserve Liaison's 50 M-37 weapons carriers racked up 500,000 miles and consumed 50,000 gallons of gas along the way.

Fifty per cent of the 67 units to train here this summer spent their first days on the rifle range where they expended 450,000 rounds of .30 caliber ammunition.

More than 1,200,000 rounds of blank .30 caliber ammunition was used in various training exercises along with some 8,000 artillery shells.

The summer program will close out on Sept. 9.

NAVY AND MARINE CORPS MEDAL—Cpl. Marion Holloway, HMR(L)-262, MAG-26, receives congratulations after being awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal for saving the life of a fellow helicopter crewman. Brig. Gen. Frank Tharin, commanding general of the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, made the presentation in the presence of Col. John R. Bohnet, MAG-26 commanding officer.

SHEP FIELDS

Shep Fields' Rippling Rhythm Orchestra To Play Camp Lejeune Circuit Sept. 14-17

Shep Fields and his famed "Rippling Rhythm Orchestra" will appear at Camp Lejeune from Sept. 14 through 17. First on the orchestra's agenda is an appearance at the Camp Theater, Sept. 14, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The public is invited and admission is free. The orchestra will play the next night at Marston Pavilion from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. The Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club will host the band on Sept. 16, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and the Paradise Point Officers Club on Sept. 17, also from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The band has been featured at every leading hotel theatre, ballroom and location in the nation and has made hundreds of recordings and sold millions.

Shep Fields made his debut in popular music circles while still in high school in Brooklyn, N. Y. Unable to qualify in the school orchestra, Shep had, nevertheless, organized his own dance band and was soon in demand for public appearances throughout the New York City area.

Later Shep's popularity carried him and his band to the mid-west and booking at the Palmer House in Chicago for a two-week trial engagement.

Shep set Chicago on its ear with a new style of music called "Rippling Rhythm" and the two-week trial developed into a 40-week booking—an all-time record at the Palmer House.

After nine months of publicity and air time, Shep and his band departed from Chicago with contracts, booking them a year in advance. Following a commercial on the Blue Network which spread his name and fame around the nation, Shep and his associates were ready for a coast-to-coast tour. "Rippling Rhythm" and Shep Fields were a highly popular combination.

Sneads Ferry Described As The 'Gateway To The South'

Sneads Ferry Gate, one of three entrances to the main area of Camp Lejeune, stands at the southern tip of the Base on the Old Post Road which once connected Suffolk, Va., and Charleston, S. C. Five Marines and a dog named "Sergeant" stand guard at this post through which 1,500 cars pass daily.

Located on the west bank of New River, the gate was named for a ferry which shuttled between the two banks of the river from 1725 until it was replaced by a permanent draw bridge in 1939.

The five sentries and their mascot live in quarters which lie 800 yards west of the bridge. Cpl. Diether Muller, NCO in charge of the gate, and his men speak of their post as the "Gateway to the South."

Food for the men is prepared in Messhall 7, Court-house Bay. The noon and evening meals come to the gate piping hot in insulated containers, while breakfast is on a do-it-yourself basis in their well-stocked kitchen.

The gate personnel are inspected every Friday by the NCO in charge of all Camp Lejeune gates. The men attend weekly training at the Main Gate, have drill, attend classes on general military subjects and Base regulations, and stand the monthly inspection by the Headquarters Bn., Marine Corps Base, commanding officer.

A game of ball or a trip to the river with a fishing pole serve to break up what could otherwise become lonely days for the guardians of the southern entrance to Camp Lejeune.

Largest Marine Corps Laundry Meets American Institutes' Highest Standards

Eleven civilians representing about 137 years of experience supervise 110 employees who process 37,000 pounds of fabric every eight hours. These 11 supervisors help operate Camp Lejeune's Base Laundry—the largest in the Corps.

About 80 per cent of the machinery in the plant, according to Mr. James M. Jarman, laundry manager, is being replaced with modern equipment. Mr. Jarman believes this innovation will considerably improve the quality of the work being processed.

But the work being done at the plant laundry as evidenced by the latest report of the Base Auditing Board meets the highest standards of the American Laundry Institute.

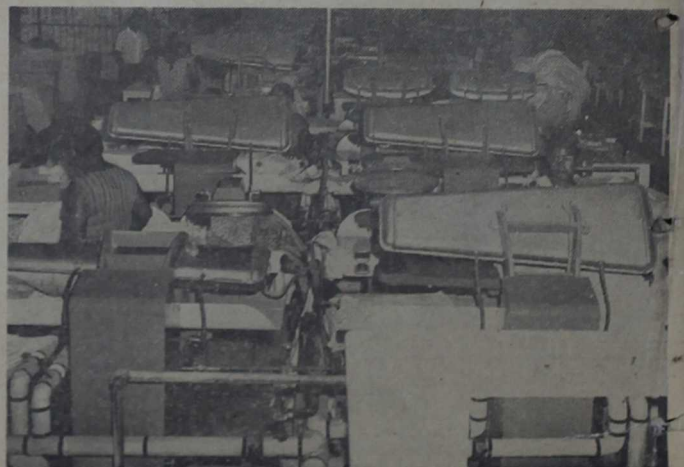

An inspection of the plant by the board, the report states, revealed that the service rendered at the laundry is excellent, and that complete customer satisfaction is the policy of the laundry. The report also states that all office operation is responsible to the needs of the Camp's outlying areas. The report further says that the quality of the finished work is excellent.

This appraisal was corroborated by a report of the American Laundry Institute which inspects plant work every month. Finally, the Auditing Board reports that the maintenance and the overall cleanliness of the laundry and the equipment is excellent.

In Training Or Combat, Rugged Is The Word For Marine Corps' Mobile 8-Inch Howitzers

"Rear of the piece fall in" is an old familiar cry to any artillery man. Artillery is almost as old as time itself. It has been used in some way or form in every war or conflict as far back as the time of David and Goliath. But down through the years, new developments and improvements have produced more devastating and mobile weapons than ever before.

One of the more recent of these developments in artillery weapons in the Marine Corps is the eight-inch self-propelled howitzers, manned by men of the 2nd 8-inch Howitzer Battery commanded by Maj. J. G. Fox. This battery is part of the 2nd Field Artillery Group, Force Troops, commanded by Col. R. D. Wright.

The Eight-inch Howitzer Battery is composed of three platoons with two guns to a platoon. One platoon is in the Mediterranean at all times.

Each gun section is composed of eight men: section chief, driver, assistant driver and five crew members. Ten officers, 200 enlisted men and four naval personnel comprise the battery.

The self-propelled eight-inch howitzer is a light-armored tracked vehicle mounting an eight-inch howitzer which protrudes through the front wall of the turret. The weapon is designed to provide general artillery support to ground troops and close general support to armored columns.

The howitzer is powered by a 12-cylinder engine and is equipped with an auxiliary generator and engine which furnishes additional power to operate the vehicle's electrical equipment.

The hull is a welded structure divided into four compartments by bulkheads. The turret is mounted on the deck of the turret support compartment which is reinforced to withstand shocks resulting from recoil of the howitzer.

All driving controls are located in the turret. The turret is traversable through an arc of 60 degrees and can be traversed either manually or through the hydraulic traversing system.

Due to the size of the 200-pound projectile, an electrically powered ammunition hoist is provided for loading. It is also equipped with an electrically powered rammer and handcranks for manual operation should power fail.

In fording, the vehicle may be subjected to water varying in depth from only a few inches to depths submerging the vehicle. The normal fording depth is about 48 inches.

The 1st Platoon of the 2nd Eight-inch Howitzer recently held a two-day and one night live firing exercise to further their training in night displacements, camouflage and fire direction control and crew training.

Also included in the training was local defense of the platoon and battery area. The battery is organized into an all-around integrated defense system, assigning primary and secondary sectors of responsibility to each crew-served weapon; preparing the howitzer position to permit direct fire coverage of the entire perimeter; developing fire plans to cover all avenues of approach; effectively locating automatic weapons and rocket launchers; and establishing an effective warning system.

Lejeune Eyes Third Straight LANT Flt Title

Camp Lejeune will be well represented during the 1960 Atlantic Fleet Tournament which is scheduled to get underway at Newport, R. I., Sept. 7.

Gunning for their third consecutive Atlantic Fleet Tournament title, the local team will consist of eight players from the Tenth Marines, 2nd Marine Division, and 11 other Division players, including three members of the All-Marine Championship Lejeune baseball team.

After a successful season with the Lejeune squad, pitchers Charlie Bryan and Ron Belmel and center-fielder Cliff Simpson are expected to add a lot of punch during the title effort.

Quad Champs

The Tenth Marines captured the Division baseball title last month and this month won the Quad-Command Championships held at Agganis Field.

Cliff Simpson, who played centerfield for the Lejeune Marines this year, led the club in the batting department well over the .300 mark. Ron Belmel, who is remembered for his no-hit pitching during the final game of the All-Marine Tournament, picked up eight victories during the season, losing only one, while Charlie Bryan, acquired from Quantico, won seven big games, including one in the All-Marine, and lost only one during 1960.

Lejeune, represented by the 2nd Division, has won the Atlantic Fleet Title four times since 1953 and moved into the runner-up slot during the 1957 season.

Players Close Season With 1960 Banquet

Players, coaches and those affiliated with the 1960 All-Marine Championship team of Camp Lejeune were feted during a banquet held in their honor Monday night at Marston Pavilion.

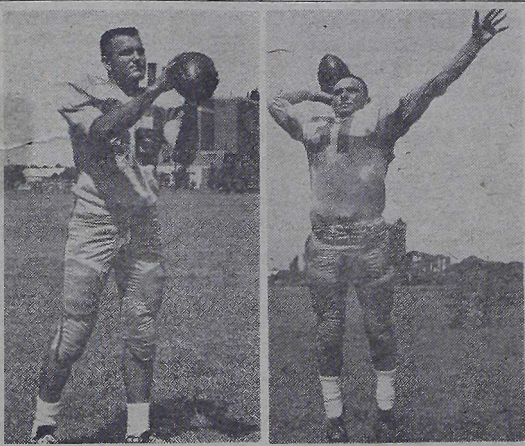

After the invocation by Chaplain J. C. Canty, Division, Base and Force Troops commanders, or representatives, made the appropriate awards to players from their respective commands.

Colonel R. D. Strickler served as the toastmaster for the evening while left and rightfielder Sam Valentine acted as the player-representative for the local nine. Valentine presented coach Hal Glasgow and assistant coach Joe Depemga with awards from the players.

Shortstop Charlie Armstrong was voted "most valuable player" during the 1960 campaign and received the MVP award from Major General Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base. Armstrong hit his 14th home run of the season during the All-Marine Championships and moved into a tie for Lejeune home-run honors with Hal Norton and the late Harry Agganis, each of whom had previously belted 14 circuit clouts during one year. Armstrong set a new record for Camp Lejeune, stealing a total of 48 bases during the year.

Winning 64 ball games during the 1960 season and losing only 19, the Lejeune squad won the East Coast Area Marine Title over Parris Island, and the 1960 All-Marine Championship over San Diego and Hawaii, with a three game sweep.

Bowlers Sought For Second Keg League

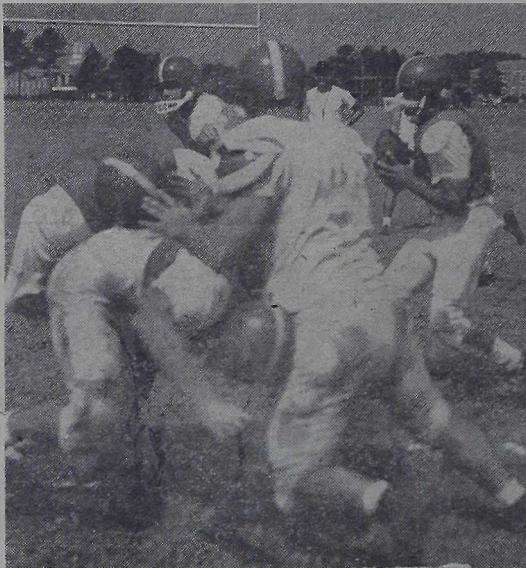

Camp Lejeune's Staff Keglers met last Tuesday at the Staff NCO Club and organized a 12-team winter league.

The league, scheduled to get underway Aug. 30, will last for 35 weeks, with all teams bowling on Tuesday evenings for the first five weeks and then changing to Wednesday nights due to other bowling commitments by many bowlers.

League secretary Dom Anzilotti has announced there will be a special meeting of the keggers in an effort to organize a second handicap league within the Lejeune area. The second league is primarily for those personnel wanting to bowl who are not on another team and also those regular bowlers who wish to bowl more than once a week.

The meeting is scheduled to be held tonight at the Staff NCO Club at Hadnot Point, 7 p.m. and all interested parties are encouraged to sign up individually or as a team.

For further information regarding the new league call Dom Anzilotti, 7-3723, or Jacksonville 3600 after working hours. All league bowling will take place at the Staff Club.

GOOD PROTECTION—A running halfback receives good protection during the scrimmage session Saturday. Coach Horn emphasized running attacks with a few pass plays and pass defense. Grid Coach Satisfied At First Scrimmage Hard hitting, fast running and violent blocking marked the scrimmage field at Camp Lejeune Saturday as the varsity team held their first scrimmage after three weeks of tryouts and conditioning. Coach Dennis Horn said he was very satisfied with the first scrimmage and it gave him a pretty good idea of just what he had to accomplish before the opening game. He feels that the team worked very smoothly on offense and fairly good on defense. The major problem right now seems to be the inconsistent attendance at practice. Due to the slowness of transfers and organizational commitments many players are falling behind the rest of the team on offense plays and different types of defenses.

Coach Horn plans to hold full-till scrimmages on Wednesdays and Saturdays, with conditioning, one-in-one hitting and the running of plays the rest of the work week. Much time will be spent on running and passing defenses off every possible offense the team might encounter this season.

Veterans from last year's grid squad handed out much competition Saturday for a slot on the roster, including Jim Winebrake, a guard of last year's squad. Jim was voted the most valuable lineman while attending Wilkes College during 1957-58. He is trying for an end slot on this year's team.

Halfback Mel Anderson, who was the most improved player and named All-Marine while a member of last year's squad, made it rough for the hopeful candidates trying out for the right halfback slot. Mel is expected to see much action during the playing season.

Another halfback last year, Keith Wilson, is working out in the quarterback position with smooth ball handling and excellent faking. Moose Mossburg stood out during Saturday's scrimmage at the fullback slot showing much power through the line. Moose played two years for the University of Kentucky.

End Ed Long showed much ability and spirit Saturday. Also on the line and putting up quite a struggle for a slot on the team roster were center Barrie Delp, guard Jerry Smythe and tackle Jim Shorter. Delp has experience at Purdue University and played with the 3rd Division last season. Ed Long has two years' experience at Marquette University.

From Diamond to Gridiron

Two members of Lejeune's All-Marine baseball team have swapped their bats and gloves for helmets and pads and are now working out with the team. Jim Green, an All-Star from the 3rd Division's team last season, is trying out for a halfback slot. Another hopeful halfback is Bobby Cooke, who played left halfback last season. Even though getting a late start with the team they are expected to put up much competition to members trying out for halfback.

Lejeune will play five home games this season with the opener against Norfolk set for September 17.

Coach Horn has again emphasized the need for players and anyone interested in trying out for the varsity is urged to contact him in the field house or in his office located under the stands of Harry Agganis Field. Even though the tryouts are finished, any slot on the team is still open to anyone with the ability to fill it.

Cannoneers Capture Quad Command Baseball Honors

Successfully defending their Division title of last month the Cannoneers of the 2nd Marine Division downed a stubborn 8th Comm., Force Troops, nine to win the Camp Lejeune Intramural Baseball Championships at Harry Agganis Field, last week. Coached by Bill Reeves, the Tenth Marines contingent defeated the Force Troops team, 17-7, for the title after defeating Second Force Service Regiment, 20-0, to move into the final game.

The cannoneers had earlier shut out the Marine Corps Air Facility 10-0 to stay in contention for the championship.

Eighth Comm. swamped Headquarters Battalion, 24-5, during their first game of the tourney and followed it up with a 14-5 victory over the Sixth Marines after falling prey to Second Force Service Regiment 8-4 in earlier competition.

The Sixth Marines looked strong after a second day shellacking of Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps Base, 18-0. The Division nine lost the first game of the tournament to the Service Regiment, 8-3, but followed their Headquarters Battalion victory with a 9-0 blanking over Marine Corps Air Facility to present a threat to the front-running teams.

Eighth Comm. put a halt to the Sixth Marines rally with their 14-5 win and eliminated them from further competition.

Eight members of the cannoneer squad have been selected for the Division All-Star Team and will form the nucleus of the baseball squad to represent Camp Lejeune during the Atlantic Fleet Baseball Tournament scheduled to be held at Newport, R. I., beginning Sept. 7.

OWC's 'Welcome Tea' Plans Near Completion

The hum of activity is subsiding as plans are nearing completion for the Officers Wives Club's Welcome Tea to be held Friday, Sept. 9, from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in the Paradise Point Officers Club. Ladies of the committee have decided on an appropriate "Autumn Leaves" theme to open the social season for the OWC.

Knox Hosts Talent At Dance Saturday

Men, women and children of Knox Trailer Park are eligible to enter the big Amateur Show this Saturday evening at 7:30 on the park's Canteen Patio. The show will be held during a feature type dance sponsored by the Community Association.

All kinds of talent will be accepted with the deadline just prior to actual show time. Mrs. Betty Carr is in charge of the show and can be reached at the Community Center. For most outstanding performances will be presented, judging being based on applause by the audience.

Immediately after the talent parade, dancing will be featured.

Kids, Teens, Adults Model Fall Styles Selected From PX

Fall apparel for every member of the family will be shown next Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the Goettge Memorial Field House when the Marine Corps Exchange presents its first free fashion show entitled "Accent On Autumn." Models have been selected from all wives groups at Camp Lejeune with a feature model from the Woman Marine Co.

Under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Haskins and Mrs. P. F. Richardson, varied styles for children and teens as well as sports and casual wear for men and women will be shown. The fashions are coordinated by Mrs. E. J. Crampton and Mrs. D. P. Ostlund. All of the fashions to be modeled were selected from the fall merchandise at the Exchange.

Members of the wives groups are going hand in hand to make this a memorable first event of its kind. Members of the Geiger Wives Club, led by Mrs. R. P. Kellon, president, will distribute favors to those attending the show, while the ladies of Knox Wives Club, under the leadership of Mrs. E. A. Banaszok, will take charge of the "lucky attendance gifts."

'Thrift Shop' Open For Sales, Donations

Formal opening of a new Thrift Shop sponsored by the Camp Lejeune Staff NCO Wives Club was held Tuesday morning in the shop's location at the south end of Toyland, Bldg. 1403. The project is being run similar to an "opportunity shop" and is open to all military and civilian personnel connected with the Base.

The purpose of the shop is to give anyone interested an opportunity to purchase high value goods at low costs. Besides the usual household, clothing, hardware, baby and personal items for sale, the women have announced that the exchange of military uniforms will also be conducted.

To continue for an unlimited time, members of the club will be on hand at the location to receive goods on consignment and to accept all donations. Any person residing on or off station is eligible to donate to the project. Goods should be brought to the shop during days and hours of sale, or a call should be placed to Mrs. John Vegass, Jax 5659, in case donors are unable to stop by at the time of sales. The Thrift Shop is open for business on Tuesdays from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Fridays from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Committee in charge of the new shop are Mesdames Leroy Delano, Donald Patterson, Chester Baldyga, James Crusie and Berwin Jerkins.

Because of the coming Exchange Fashion Show Sept. 1, the Staff Wives will not meet on this date. Women of the club are to be reminded of the bowling meets to begin Sept. 12 at the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club.

All wives of Staff NCOs are urged to attend the meetings every first and third Thursday of the month, 7:30 p.m., in the Tarawa Terrace Community Center.

Activities

OWC — Group IV standing members and prospective members of the Officers Wives Club will feature their "Swim and Brunch" party tomorrow morning at the Paradise Point Officers Club. The pool will be opened at 9 a.m. Brunch will be served at 10:30 a.m. in the River Room of the club. Of special interest to Group IV wives at this event is the answer to the question, "Will the 'IV' make its debut?" In all probability, the 'IV' will be ready for sale!

Group VIII

Mrs. A. J. Barrett and the wives of Headquarters Bn., Force Troops, have planned a luncheon for this group next Thursday, 12:15 p.m., in the River Room of the Paradise Point Club. Guest speaker will be Col. D. S. Pregall, Chief of Staff, Force Troops, whose topic will be, "What Every Wife Should Know About Force Troops". In addition, Mrs. R. D. Wright, OWC president, will explain Force Troops wives' part in the Officers Wives Club.

MCAF Special Services Officer Conducts Ceramics Demonstration To Wives Club

Delicately formed earthenware and pottery covered the head table last Tuesday morning when approximately 30 women of the Midway Park Wives Club were on hand in the Community Center to receive a detailed demonstration on the art of Ceramics. Conducted by Capt. R. M. Dalbey, Special Services Officer, MCAF, a complete step-by-step examination of the stages and procedures of this work was presented to the group.

Refreshments were served to the guests following the demonstration with Mrs. D. R. Womack, president, and Mrs. C. Anderson, vice-president, as hostesses.

Plans were discussed for the group's "Covered Dish Luncheon" to highlight next week's meeting, 10 a.m., Thursday, in the center.

Duke Of Denniston Reports As Second Division Mascot

A bit of English royalty joined the ranks of the 2nd Division last Tuesday. The Duke of Denniston reported to Camp Lejeune on direct orders from the Commandant of the Marine Corps—and in ceremonies befitting the nobility of the newcomer, the red carpet was rolled out for his arrival. The 2nd Division Drum and Bugle Corps, and Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, Division commander, were on hand to welcome His Lordship aboard.

The Division's newest Devil dog is no ordinary Marine. He is in fact a dog but no ordinary canine either. The "Duke" is a 17-month-old English bulldog who once belonged to the Governor of Iowa. Governor Herschel C. Loveless, of the Hawkeye State, presented the Duke of Denniston to former Marine Guy Cabaldon, a World War II hero.

Cabaldon, who visited Camp Lejeune recently in connection with a movie based on his Marine Corps exploits, in turn gave the dog to General David M. Shoup with the expressed desire that the "Duke" be assigned to his old outfit. The Commandant directed the pedigreed recruit to report immediately to the 2nd Division for duty as its first official mascot.

Although used to treatment in keeping with his royal title, the "Duke" will rate no special favors from his comrades-in-arms. He will be administratively processed into his new outfit as plain Private Denniston and his future rank, status and general well-being will be based upon merit and good behavior. He will be well cared for by Division Special Services and make such formations and public appearances as his mascot duties call for.

The "Duke" is the 2nd Division's first official mascot but he does have an unofficial predecessor and a tradition to maintain.

Most World War II veterans of the Pacific will remember Siwash, the famous fighting duck which accompanied the 2nd Division on several combat operations.

The beer-loving fowl landed with the Division at Tarawa and won a beak-to-beak engagement with a solidly entrenched Japanese rooster. Siwash was later wounded by shrapnel, recovered and died of natural causes.

While the Division's new mascot isn't expected to see combat, his training and appearance will keep him busy and in shape. It won't take the Marines long to come up with a suitable name for M'Lord Denniston, now private, USMC.

Fence

The sentries at Triangle Outpost have constructed a fence along the road at the edge of the grounds surrounding their quonset hut living quarters. Using improvised materials and white paint, the sentries have made a fence that should present a sharp appearance to civilian visitors and guests of Marines using the "back gate." Good work.

Still

A still has been located at Camp Lejeune, but the Provost Marshal isn't likely to move in. The still is operated by Mr. Leon A. Justice, who is the Utilities Chemist at the Base Water Plant. Mr. Justice uses the apparatus to make distilled water to put in the steam pipes that heat barracks in winter. The distilled water prevents rust and corrosion in the pipes. Justice admits that the still can be used for other purposes, but it would be unwise—in more ways than one.

Wrong Man

The hillbilly still owner was brought before the judge to stand trial.
Judge: What's your name?
Defendant: Joshua, your honor.

Judge: Are you the Joshua that commanded the sun to stand still?
Defendant: No, your honor, I'm the Joshua that made the moonshine.

Tate

For some real 03-tough kind of action, catch the "Tate" tv series on Wednesdays at 9:30 p.m. on NBC stations. The trouble with Tate is that they didn't have a GI bill after the Civil War. He got to be a gunfighter, he says, "because of hard times, hard men, the war, and his bad arm." Tate subsists on sow belly, corn pone and black-eyed peas. He wears a poncho like a fire team leader, and prefers to sleep in a barn than a bed. Tate is both humble and soft-spoken, and he seems to feel real bad about gunning down an average of five men every week.

New Terrace Nursery Open 1 P.M. Today

The grand opening of the Tarawa Terrace Nursery Service will be held at 1 p.m. today. All residents of the Camp Lejeune area are invited to attend and see the most complete nursery service in the area.

The supervisor in charge, Mrs. Brenice Lollar, and the assistant supervisor, Mrs. Wilson, with the help of the regular attendants, will personally escort the visitors through the nursery, explaining the different programs offered.

Although the hours of operation normally begin at 7:30 a.m., due to the many requests from parents that must start work early, the nursery will open at 7 a.m. This will enable people who must be at work by 7:30 a.m. an opportunity to utilize the service.

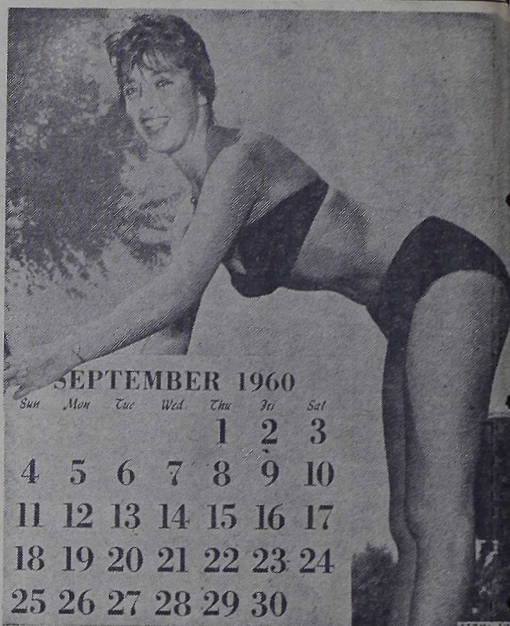

It is the desire of the nursery employees to develop a close relationship between themselves and the parents so they may better understand the children. The children will be divided into age groups so that fundamentals may be taught to enhance their idle hours.

On Sunday mornings the nursery will offer free service during church services. The rates of the nursery are: hourly, 30 cents for one child, 10 cents for each additional child from the same family; daily, $2.50 for the first child and 75 cents for each additional child from the same family, with a maximum of $4.75 for the family.

Mission, Maneuvers Mark Air Facility Achievements

A mission to Africa, a mile-stone in helicopter landing, a commendation and a change in command highlighted this week's news of Marine Corps Air Facility units. Marine Helicopter Transport Squadron HMR(L)-264, MAG-26, returned after a one-month cruise aboard the USS Wasp which carried them through the South Atlantic and to Dakar in Senegal and Federation in Mali. The pilots and 32 enlisted men were commanded by Maj. L. F. Childers.

DI Screening Team Will Arrive Sept. 5

A drill instructor screening team from the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, will arrive at Camp Lejeune Monday, Sept. 5. The team, headed by Lt. Col. Wesley R. Christie, will be here for five days to interview and screen local prospects for entrance into the Parris Island Drill Instructor School.

The members of the team include Capt. George P. Slade, Lt. Ronald M. Backus, a Navy psychiatrist, 1st Sgt. Charles H. Shields and MSgt. George A. DeLuca.

All Camp Lejeune personnel eligible for drill instructor screening will report to Bldg. 1110 at 7:45 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 6, in the uniform of the day and with service record books and health records. The quota for DI School from Marine Corps Base is 309 for the year 1960.

Helo-Landing

Lt. James D. Strickland, squadron pilot with HMR(L)-263, carried the first piece of a 30-pound call in honor of the 18,000th helo-landing aboard the USS Boxer. Capt. Bobby T. Laid was aircraft commander, and Lieutenant Strickland was the co-pilot.

Compiling a remarkable safety record, the Marine pilots had but one accident in the 18,000 landings.

Attending the ceremonies were Lt. Col. E. O. Reed, commanding officer of HMR(L)-263, Navy Capt. H. J. Kossler, commander, Amphibious Squadron 10, and Col. D. A. Bangert, commanding officer of the 12th Provisional Marine Brigade.

Commendation

HMR(L)-263 also received hearty vote of thanks from the commander of Mine Division 41 for assistance during their stay at the Naval Air Station, Oceana, Va.

During exercises it became imperative to evacuate mines from certain areas and two helicopters from HMR(L)-263 were called upon to perform the task.

In gratitude, the commander of Mine Squadron 41 wrote, "This assistance was immediately supplied in a manner that most certainly exemplifies the 'can-do' spirit of the Marines Corps."

Command Change

First Sgt. Walter F. Mortimer, former Maintenance Chief of HMR(L)-263, assumed the duties of sergeant major of MABS-26 in an informal change of command ceremony. He relieved 1st Sgt. Phillip K. Mackert who has been reassigned to MCAF, Beaufort, S. C.
