Fifth Staff NCO Symposium Opens At Camp Pendleton

Sgt. Maj. of the Marine Corps Francis D. Rauber opened the fifth annual Staff NCO Symposium at Camp Pendleton this week with an address designed to inspire the representatives to present beneficial suggestions for the "whole" Marine Corps. "Let us here this week carefully consider and make only those recommendations that will benefit the Marine Corps as a whole," he said.

His remarks indicated that the Corps' staff NCO's may have to devise other methods of continuing the symposium idea. He stated that the funds necessary to sustain the symposiums may not be available in the future.

He was introduced to the delegates and wives attending by Sgt. Maj. Asa E. Huskey who is assigned G-1 section, HQMC. Sergeant Huskey, symposium coordinator, held that same position at last year's symposium.

In his remarks, Sergeant Huskey

North Meets South In Reserve Training

"North" meets "South" this weekend when the northern-most organized Marine Corps reserve unit, the 10th Engineer Co., Portland, Me., meets the southern-most, 2nd 105mm How. Bn., of Miami, Fla.

The Miami Marine reservists check in to Camp Lejeune Saturday after a week of amphibious training with the Landing Force Training Unit at Little Creek, Va. Purpose of the mid-training period change is to give the Sunshine State cannoners a chance to unlimber their big guns on the firing range of this vast training Base.

Annual summer field training for the first week will close with a twilight parade tomorrow evening on the Hadnot Point parade field. Reviewing officer of the All-Reserve event will be Col. R. D. Strickler, Base Special Services Officer.

Australian Army Officer On Two-Day Tour Of Lejeune

Lt. Col. John F. White of the Australian Army visited Camp Lejeune Monday and Tuesday of this week to observe training of local units. The colonel, a recent graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, is touring several Marine Corps and Army installations before reporting to Washington, D. C., for an assignment with the Australian Military Mission.

Prior to coming to the United States, Colonel White commanded an infantry battalion in Singapore.

After a briefing by the G-3 section of Marine Corps Base and a visit with Base Commander Maj. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, the colonel traveled to First Infantry Training Regiment Monday afternoon to witness training of basic Marines.

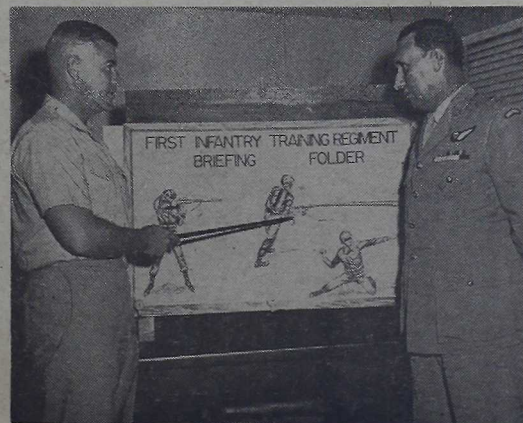

He spent Tuesday morning at the Marine Corps Schools, Montford Point, to observe the training operations there. His primary interest was in viewing the work of Marine Corps Base units rather than the activities of the Fleet Marine Force.

The two-day general orientation visit ended Tuesday morning when the colonel left by plane for Ft. Benning, Ga. Maj. R. E. June of the Operations and Training Section, Marine Corps Base G-3, was Colonel White's escort officer.

Cheer Up, Mother!

Relax, mom. You'll be rid of those muddy hands, crying faces and never-ending antics come September 1, the official date Camp schools open. There'll be a little more peace and quiet around the house, seven hours a day, five days a week, for the next nine months.

According to Base Bulletin 1755, parents have just 15 more days to conclude summer vacations before the bookcases, lunch boxes and shiny red apples lend a gay atmosphere to the living room.

Seniority Is Prime Factor In Promotions

Time-in-grade and time-in-service have emerged as primary factors in selection for promotion in the Staff NCO ranks. However, the ambitious young Marine with outstanding abilities has not been overlooked.

This was the result of a study approved last week by the Commandant of the Marine Corps, General David M. Shoup.

Time-in-grade rates the top position for selection to pay grades E-6 and E-7, while time in service takes precedence for selection to E-8 and E-9.

Promotion boards will be instructed to make not less than 90 per cent of their nominations for selection to pay grade E-7 from those considered eligible in the average or above average time-in-grade group. The average time-in-grade factor for each MOS will be computed by HQMC and furnished to the boards prior to the convening date.

This board may make up to 10 per cent of selections on the basis of superior abilities which fully justify these selections from among Marines with less than average time-in-grade.

In the event the board cannot find a sufficient number of qualified personnel to meet the 90 per cent requirement, it must request the Commandant to increase the authorized percentage of the junior group.

For promotion to pay grade E-6, this percentage factor has been established at 75/25 with the higher percentage coming from those who have average or above average time-in-grade. In this case, the percentage factor was given as a guide only, and the boards would have the authority to deviate from this figure if, in their opinion, such deviation would be in the best interest of the Marine Corps.

Here again, the study stressed that average time-in-grade was not to be confused with the minimum time-in-grade required for promotion.

W. S. Palmer, Col. H. C. Lawrence Jr., master of ceremonies, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. James Mallory.

Mr. Mallory, dean of men at East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C., and head baseball coach, lauded all participants of the tournament as champions in their own right and particularly dwelled on their spirit and loyalty to the tourney and the Marine Corps.

Among honored guests present were Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division; Maj. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, and Brig. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops.

General Wade made the presentations to the champion and runner-up players, while Lejeune Coach Hal Glasgow accepted the coveted All-Marine Championship plaque. The first place team members received All-Marine Corps rings and the second place participants were awarded travel clocks.

After the benediction by Chaplain Palmer, the banquet came to an end, officially ending the 1960 Championship Tournament.

Seabee Conference Plans Unit Training

Representatives of Mobile Construction Battalion-7 met with officers of Base, Division and Force Troops here Tuesday to discuss training of the Seabee unit later this year.

MCB-7, comprised of approximately 15 officers and 350 enlisted men, will undergo six weeks of intensive training here from Oct. 14 to Nov. 18.

Representing the Seabee unit at the conference were Cmdr. J. A. Wright Jr., CEC, USN, a member of the staff of the commander, CBLant; Maj. C. I. Sheehan, Military Training Officer of CBLant; and Lt. (jg) R. M. Engue, CEC, USN, of MCB-7.

All Camp Lejeune commands, as well as the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing at Cherry Point, will provide support for the Seabees during their training stint. Overall coordination of the unit's training will be exercised by the assistant chief of staff, G-3, Marine Corps Base.

Plans for training the unit call for rifle qualification, Field Medical training, Individual and Advanced Combat training and MOS application by specialists. A field problem will be conducted during the closing days of the unit's stay here.

AmTrac Officer Exceeds Vow To Give 16 Pints Of Blood

A man whose life was saved twice by blood transfusions during World War II gave his 24th pint of blood to the American Red Cross blood program here last Tuesday. The donation made Capt. Raymond R. Berling, commanding officer of "A" Co., 2nd AmTrac Bn., Force Troops, a member of the exclusive "Three Gallon Club" of the Red Cross.

Order Gives WO Program For FY 1961

The Phase I Warrant Officer Program for appointments to be made in Fiscal Year 1961 has been announced in Marine Corps Order 1040.16. Commanding officers are invited in the order to nominate qualified personnel for appointment as warrant officers.

During Fiscal Year 1961, two programs will be conducted for the appointment of qualified personnel to warrant officer. This order announces the first phase program. During the fall of 1960, the second phase program will be announced.

Among the basic eligibility requirements are:

Possess a GCT score of not less than 110.

Be a reserve officer who has completed his initial period of active duty as an officer and who is presently serving on extended active duty in excess of 90 days but who had less than 14 years of active Naval service on July 1, 1960, or:

Personnel may see their unit first sergeant for further information.

Because of the continued recurrence of malaria which he contracted during the Pacific campaigns, the captain was unable to give his first pint of blood until late in 1952. In May, 1954, while stationed at Quantico, he gave his eighth pint and became the first man to go on the "One Gallon" honor roll at that Base.

Since 1954, Captain Berling has continued his active participation in the Red Cross blood program at duty stations in Hawaii and Buffalo, N. Y. He was officer-in-charge of the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Buffalo until he came to his present assignment a month ago.

The captain served previously at Camp Lejeune in 1949 and 1950, when he was first sergeant of the same company of which he is now commanding officer. His home is in Cincinnati, Ohio, and he is married to the former Maryellen Humig, who also gives to the Red Cross by working as a Gray Lady.

Lejeune PTA Plans Coming Year Activity

A program of activities, including an extensive membership drive, was outlined at the initial meeting last week of the Executive Committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Camp Lejeune Dependents School. The meeting, attended by newly designated committee chairmen, was held at the quarters of the president, Col. Maxie R. Williams.

Informal discussion on the events of the past school year and projected activities of the coming year was held. In addition, Mrs. R. S. Leopold, vice-president, reported on her attendance at the workshop of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers at Raleigh, and Principal G. W. Durr commented on a few of the projected plans for the school year.

In other action, a committee was designated to study and revise the by-laws; and a new committee for educational guidance was formed under the chairmanship of Lt. Col. L. W. Smith. A similar meeting of the committee will be held on Sept. 6 at Colonel Williams' quarters during which committee members will submit estimated budgets and proposed programs.

Onslow County History Will Include Chapter On Lejeune

Camp Lejeune is "Onslow County's biggest industry," according to J. Parsons Brown, author of "History of Onslow County," in a 300-page book complete with photographs to be published late in October. Mr. Brown, 464 College St., in Jacksonville, is well known for his historical knowledge of the county. This book, the first of its kind in Onslow County, is the result of a hobby that began 35 years ago when Mr. Brown began collecting historical data on the county. Some of the articles were published in county newspapers throughout the years.

Background History

The book traces the history of Onslow county from 1706 when three families settled on New River at Old Town Point to the present day. The chapter on Camp Lejeune is filled with historical facts of various places on the base.

The Marine Corps Engineer Schools at Courthouse Bay was the site of the first county courthouse erected in 1731. The book recalls the "Battle of New River" when a "Yankee" gunboat, after a raid on Jacksonville, was fired upon by Confederate artillery on a nearby bluff.

Historical Markers

Nine historical markers, erected by Camp Lejeune in cooperation with the Onslow County Historical Society, now mark the site of these historical spots.

Mr. Brown tells of the "displaced persons", 600 families in all who were left homeless in 1941 when land was purchased for construction of the base. Many of these families had no place to go and no money to move.

"One of the notable visits," said Mr. Brown, "was the visit of Franklin Delano Roosevelt to Camp Lejeune Dec. 18, 1944. He was the first President to visit Onslow county since George Washington."

In compiling the manuscript, Mr. Brown talked to numerous persons but relied mostly on written records to authenticate his work.

MCI Off-Duty Study Course

01a—INTRODUCTION TO PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION. This course familiarizes the student with the keeping of Marine Corps record personnel records and with the elements of office management necessary for efficient personnel procedures. The first course in the personnel and administrative field; it is recommended, but not required, that a student complete this course before enrolling in other courses designed for MCI 0141. PREREQUISITE: Statement from applicant's commanding officer certifying that material furnished by MCI will be made available to the student by his organization. 3 lessons. 8 study hours. Material to be made available by the student's organization. 1. Personnel records and Accounting manual (PRAM). Subject Matter: Introduction to personnel record keeping and organization. Personnel and identification records.

Mutual Aid Votes Dividend Increase

Many Lejeune officers affected by the Navy Mutual Aid Association's vote to pass a $2,500 terminal dividend to the designated beneficiary of any member whose death occurs after Aug. 12, 1960. This dividend is provided at no extra cost and payable in addition to the regular benefit of $7,500. The total death benefit is now $10,000.

Paid-up memberships of less than $7,500, terminated by death, will be increased by 33-1/3 percent. The dividend does not increase the loan or surrender value of memberships.

This action by the Board of Directors is the fifth increase in the terminal dividend since 1954. It was made with the approval of competent actuarial authorities after a review of the Association's reserves and general financial condition.

All regular commissioned warrant officers on active duty, including reserve officers on extended active duty, of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard are eligible for membership.

Officers wishing additional information should contact a non-resident director or write directly to the Navy Mutual Aid Association, Navy Department, Washington 25, D. C.

Relocation

The Base Safety Office has moved from Bldg. 1403 to new offices in Bldg. 1110, site of the Joint Reception Center.

The Safety Office is maintaining for the purpose of educating Camp Lejeune commands in all aspects of safety.

Visual aids, including motion picture projectors and a daylight overhead projector, are available to assist local units in presenting safety lectures.

A large classroom is located in the new building for units which do not have space to present safety lectures. Arrangements to use the room may be made by calling the Safety Office at 7-5725 or 7-5325.

Complete Nursery Service Offered At Tarawa Terrace

The all-new Tarawa Terrace Nursery Service, located in the Tarawa Terrace Shopping Center, will open next Thursday, August 25. Available to all military personnel living in the Camp Lejeune area, the new Nursery Service will offer complete sitting services in a scale not available in the past. The hours of operation will be Mondays, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Tuesdays through Thursdays, 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.; and Fridays, 7:30 a.m. to 1 a.m. Hours on Saturdays will be from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m., and Sundays from 8 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. The new facility is able to accommodate over 100 children.

The Nursery Service is under the control of the Tarawa Terrace Community Association. All new equipment has been purchased for the nursery. This equipment is the most modern and best available. A television set has been installed for the children and a modern phonograph for singing activities. The building is completely air-conditioned and has five modern lavatories for use of the children. The nursery has a new modern kitchen for preparation of the meals with a large eating area.

Supervisor-in-charge is Mrs. Brenice L. Lollar, wife of GySgt. Leon L. Lollar, Tarawa Terrace. Mrs. Lollar attended a two-year special course in California on the operation of Nursery Services and has managed Trinity Day School, Galveston, Texas, for a period of over two years. Mrs. Riessa Wilson is the assistant supervisor of the nursery. Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Teachers College and attended one year at a University in Canada. She has had 10 years' experience in teaching elementary school prior to coming to Camp Lejeune.

The age group of the children taken in is four months to 10 years. SSGT. Kevin J. Griffin, president of the Tarawa Terrace Community Association, invites all residents of Camp Lejeune to come out to the nursery and see the largest and most complete type of service in the area. Contact the supervisor-in-charge for rates and regulations.

bracket is insufficient from which to select these percentages, the board is authorized to reduce the time-in-grade requirement to insure that existing vacancies are exceeded by at least 15 per cent, to allow for competitive selection. The study pointed out that, although time-in-grade and time-in-service were factors in promotion, they were not the only considerations. Fitness reports, test results, performance on independent duty, assignment as a drill-instructor, or as a recruiter, awards, growth potential, leadership qualifications and the specific requirements within each MOS are additional factors. Physical condition was also stressed as a contributing factor for promotion. Boards will be informed that a high GCT score, in itself, is not a reason to favor a man for promotion.

In summary, the study provides for promotion of those Staff NCO's who have the experience of time-in-grade and time-in-service and who have demonstrated their ability with the proficiency expected of their ranks.

Philadelphia WM Reserves Enjoy Lejeune Summer Tour

"Weighing anchor" last Friday were nine WM reserves and their Navy nurse companion, Lt. Mary DiNardo, from the 2nd Service Battalion, Philadelphia, Pa.

In appreciation for the hospitality they received during their two-week stay, Capt. Rita A. Ciotti presented Capt. E. B. Maroney, WM company commander, with a WM banner, hand sewn by "Acting Betty Ross," Pfc. Pauline R. Webster.

Training in the S-1 section were Captain Ciotti, Sgt. Margaret M. Schafer and GySgt. Marian Spillane, also nicknamed "Mickey."

S-3 representatives included Pfc. Webster and SSgt. Ruth L. Blyne. Sgt. Nellie L. Williams apprenticed in the S-4 office, LCpl. Agnes Dick in the adjutant's office. Learning in the Logistics Supply Control Center were LCpl. Emily A. Armstrong and Pfc. Lorraine Gilman.

A day's schedule consisted of training together in the battalion office during the mornings and individual "on the job" practice in the afternoon.

Efficiency, cooperation and hospitality were the qualities they found most outstanding while working with the personnel at Camp Lejeune. They all admitted being impressed, and even a little depressed, by the heat.

Sergeant Schafer summed it up with, "We would like to extend our thanks to the staff and personnel of Camp Lejeune for the wonderful treatment we received."

U. S. Marine Dan Daly had the rare distinction of twice winning the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military award. He received the first award for service in China in 1900 and 15 years later won the second for action against Haitian bandits. He died in 1937.

Here's the Answer

IT'S A GOOD CAREER—CWO Robert H. Jordan, Materiel Supply and Maintenance Bn., 2nd Force Service Regiment, puts the last of seven Marine Corps recruiting posters on the side of his home-made trailer. Gunner Jordan left Camp Lejeune Monday for a 20-day leave in Massachusetts, and decided to take advantage of an opportunity to spread goodwill for the Corps. (Photo by Sgt. J. D. Weaver)

Varsity Athletes Contribute To Morale Of Lejeune Personnel

Nearly one million dollars* is spent each year by the Camp Lejeune Recreation Fund for the entertainment and recreation of the approximately 70,000 Marines and their dependents stationed here.

Less than five per cent of this huge figure goes to field and maintain major "varsity" teams during the baseball, football, basketball and boxing seasons.

This comparatively small amount of money is small, indeed, when one realizes the purposes of fielding these teams.

Harry Agganis Field, Goettge Memorial Field House and Liversedge Field have been the recreational oases for many servicemen and dependents who could not afford the cost or time required to travel to major cities of North Carolina or other areas to see "a good ball game." In 1959 more than 146,000 spectators watched our varsity teams in action in these oases. These personnel have been able to see some of the finest service teams and athletes in action.

For instance, Camp Lejeune's baseball team—newly-crowned the 1960 All-Marine champions—is considered by many to be comparable to any Class "A" pro team. For a Marine to take his dependents to see a North Carolina Class "A" game, he would have to travel not less than 100 miles.

The men who play, manage and coach the varsity sports are not only athletes—they are first and foremost military men. In addition to their function as morale builders, they perform demanding military duties and stand always ready to move into a combat situation.

These men spend countless extra hours to construct ball teams, good ball teams. They demand no extra pay, no fast promotions. They, and all the personnel of Special Services, work to perform their important function of providing wholesome recreation for the personnel of this important military base.

Military duty and athletics naturally go together. The same prerequisites exist in both lines of endeavor and the same abilities are encouraged and developed, i.e. leadership, loyalty, courage, physical fitness, teamwork, the ability to think clearly and quickly come to a decision, and last but not far from least, discipline.

Coaches, players and fans alike want a winning ball team. However, spectator interest is the main objective behind the fielding of these teams, and is always number one in the minds of the Base Special Services personnel.

Set High Goals For Brotherhood

Comradeship and brotherhood in arms, says the Marine Corps Manual, traditionally exist as a vital characteristic. But what is it that gives vitality and meaning to our brotherhood in arms? Is it that we all wear the same uniform and march together? Or that we recall a common history? Or that we have shared experiences in peace and war? Is brotherhood based merely on a long list of shared experiences?

May I suggest that some of our Marine Corps comradeship is very unwholesome and ignoble. May I suggest that comradeship itself may be a dangerous threat to the honor of the Marine Corps? The comradeship of two planning to go "over the hill" is wrong, as you know. That friendship which works on a scheme to steal an M-1 rifle is also wrong. Likewise, the comradeship of drunkenness, the intimacy of dirty jokes and curses, the sharing of cynical gripes and criticism—all such experiences may build a kind of friendship, but they do not enhance the honor of the Marine Corps. All too often the brotherhood in arms is based on an accumulation of such unwholesome experiences.

Traditionally the brotherhood in arms has given lip-service only to religion and morality. Some military people have even thought that certain immoral and irreligious experiences help to build comradeship, just as long as they are shared, and can be recounted for the benefit of the recruit. Thus an act is wrong only if it is committed by just one person. I am deliberately overstating to make the point clear. Comradeship often seeks to justify irreligion and immorality.

If everybody does it, it must be right. And there are military people who think it proper to let comradeship justify religion and morality. This makes comradeship an end in itself and does violence to religion and morality. My point is that comradeship must be guided by values outside itself. Comradeship must deliberately choose wholesome and noble values. Brotherhood must not be allowed to develop willy-nilly as it will along the line of least resistance. The advice of Jesus to His comrades is fitting: "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you."

For Distinguished Service

If You Ask Me:

HOW DO YOU PLAN TO SPEND YOUR FIRST MARINE CORPS LEAVE?

PVT. MICHAEL KRAMAR, Co. "C," 1st ITR

I plan to go home on leave with my brother who's stationed at Camp Lejeune. Besides helping to paint my mother's apartment, I'll see some of my relatives and take the family out. Then I'll take in some wrestling and boxing bouts, go to the beach, and see the new car displays. But wherever I go and whatever I do, I'll do as a Marine, for that is the way I have been trained.

ever I go and whatever I do, I'll do as a Marine, for that is the way I have been trained.

PFC ROGER W. NOLAN, Co. "C," 1st ITR

I plan to meet old friends, catch up on the sporting season, fish, skin dive and more or less take it easy. I haven't seen my family since the last part of April. I can hardly wait to get home. I'll take some time, too, to study my guidebook and also the fundamentals of radio communications, which field I hope to work in during my time in the Marine Corps.

PVT. RONALD S. HARDING, Co. "C," 1st ITR

The first thing I plan to do is talk to my mother and tell her how the training was, to relieve her fears on that score. Then I'll borrow my father's car and take my girl out. I'll visit my aunts and uncles and then my teachers at school. Also, I'll take in some of the sports events at my school.

PVT. JOSEPH F. LEVINSKI, Co. "C," 1st ITR

First, I'm going to see my girl. My family will probably have a lot of work for me to do. They bought the property next to our house and put in a few lawn. I imagine I'll spend quite a bit of my leave mowing it. But I will still find time to visit New York City where I plan to take in as many sights as possible.

PVT. GEORGE C. BLALOCK, Co. "C," 1st ITR

I'll visit friends in Virginia, and then my alma mater, Johnson C. Smith College at Charlotte, N. C. There I plan to play plenty of tennis and practice football. I'll brush up on my scientific work that I majored in at college, and I'll try to talk some of my friends into joining the Marine Corps as I think they will enjoy the life.

PFC THOMAS N. KERKOVICH, Co. "C," 1st ITR

This leave I'll really enjoy. The last one was rough, as I had just dropped out of the Mar-Cad program and my parents were quite upset about it. First off, I'm going to a wedding of a close friend, and then I'm going to check on my college credits and see if I can apply night college courses to them at my next duty station.

Sergeant Jiggs, seventh in the long and illustrious line of Marine Corps Schools' mascots, died of a heart attack last week in a Frederickburg (Va.) animal hospital. Stationed at Quantico, the bulldog was officially and affectionately known as Sergeant Jiggs VII. He was laid to rest at Butler Stadium on the Marine post. Born Jan. 6, 1955, and presented to the Marine Corps by the Preston Engineering Company of St. Louis, Mo., Jiggs' service record shows that he was enlisted as a private on Nov. 9, 1953. An avid sports fan, Jiggs was a familiar spectator at local football games as he "barked" his Marine team to victory. The Leathernecks' first Jiggs, bulldog son of the famous Rob Roy, was enlisted at Quantico as the first Marine Corps official mascot on Oct. 14, 1922. Since then bulldogs have served as morale boosters at almost every Marine base in the country.

ABC's Of Modern Marines For Role

The mission of the Force Troops Atomic, Biological and Chemical Warfare Defense School is to train Marines from all units at Camp Lejeune in the defensive aspects of atomic, biological and chemical warfare.

Specifically, the school trains assigned unit monitoring teams to operate atomic, biological and chemical detection equipment and to carry out the monitoring duties in the event of ABC warfare. The school also trains personnel to organize and conduct an effective ABC defense program in their own units.

Capt. J. T. Elkins is in charge of the school. He has an instructor staff of three officers and 20 enlisted men. Half of the instructors are assigned from the 2nd Division, since a large portion of the students are Division personnel.

Two of every three classes are attended by enlisted personnel. The other is for officers, mostly of company grade. The enlisted course is three weeks long and the officer course two weeks. Each class had a maximum capacity of 50 students.

During the course of instruction, students receive intensive training in

Onslow Girl Scouts, Brownies Begin Year With

"Good Citizen" can be interchanged with the words "Girl Scout" in the Scouting Laws. A new year of Scouting is beginning here this month with day camps being held by all Girl and Brownie Scout groups in the Camp Lejeune area.

Goals of the day camp are to strengthen and guide children in the community now and to help them take their places in the United States as future citizens. The aim is to accomplish this through fun, growth, doing, learning and remembering. Anything worthwhile is not easy. Any privilege entails a responsibility.

The Onslow Girl Scout Day Camp is held every week, Monday through Thursday at the Knox Scout area. Daily sessions are held during the month of August with 50 girls attending. Mrs. H. S. McLellan Jr., of Jacksonville, is director. Business manager and assistant director is Mrs. Joseph P. Abbott, Tarawa Terrace. Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Knox Trailer Park, is Equipment Committee chairman and leader of Unit III, Intermediates.

Unit I of the Day Camp is made up of third grade Brownies, youngest group. Mrs. Andrew Pachuta, Jacksonville, is the unit leader. Assistant leaders are Mrs. John P. Denman, Mrs. James C. Lewis, and Mrs. Gordon B. Laub. This particular unit is named "Whispering Pines," girls calling themselves "Pine Needles." The group's activities include study on shells, commercial use of shells, use of the "animals" found in the shells, natural clay modeling, bug cage making, name tags, and frequent cook-outs.

Unit II consists of fourth grade Brownies. Mrs. A. D. Summerhill, Swansboro, is the unit leader with the assistance of Mrs. Francis Zimmer, Mrs. Eugene Horton, Mrs. George Gafford, and Mrs. Frank Homlinson. The unit is named "Waterfront Camp." The girls make name tags, bug cages of jar lids, plaster of paris and butterfly nets. They plan on having a nature scavenger hunt for making a museum, they do pine needle weaving of hot dish mats, will learn proper use of knives, make sit-upons of crushed newspapers and enjoy cook-outs.

Unit III is made up of Intermediate Girl Scouts. Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Knox Trailer Park, is the unit leader. Her assistants are Mrs. Milton C. Bayles, Mrs. Louis J. Stack, and Mrs. R. E. June. Identifying name for this group is the "Driftwooders." Projects include lashing, trail work, nature scavenger work, study of animal tracks, name tags, and cook-outs.

There is also a "Pee Wee" unit consisting of seven younger children of the staff. Miss Nancy Babcock, Jacksonville, is in charge.

All units have nature and Scout games and group singing. A flag ceremony is held each day at the Day Camp's "Headquarters," Scout building, in the immediate area with each unit taking turns officiating. A council meeting is held each afternoon with representatives from each unit to have a "pow wow" with the unit leaders.

All units have hung up appropriate identification unit signs. Each group has nosebag lines, lashed wash stand, cup tree and a towel rack. Binder twine is used widely by the campers for lashing equipment.

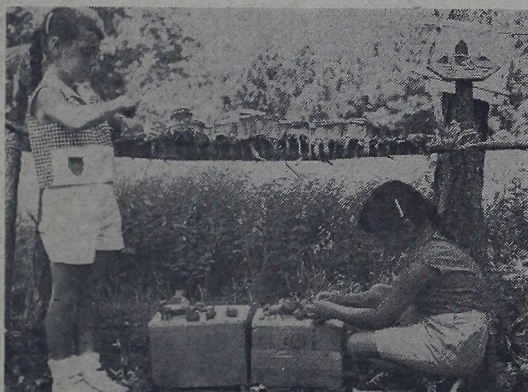

In the past year, over 1,200 girls participated and over 350 volunteers assisted in the Girl Scout program in this area. The mothers of former Scouts and Brownies or of prospective members are encouraged to register their children for this coming year.

Where to Register

Leaders at Marine Corps Air Facility and Geiger Trailer Park ask that all parents wishing to register girls in the program go to the theater building at the Air Facility, Aug. 23, at 1 p.m. Tarawa Terrace, Midway Park and Knox Trailer Park residents are to register at the time of school registration, Aug. 18 and 19. Parents are asked to see the Scout representative at the school. Mothers of girls living at Paradise Point will register in the Scout building (Bldg. 2624) on Aug. 25, 10 a.m., and on Aug. 26, 9 a.m.

Campers are from Onslow County, including Jacksonville, Midway Park, Tarawa Terrace, Knox Trailer Park, Geiger Trailer Park, and Marine Corps Air Facility. Parents furnish the transportation. Day Camp gives the girls who haven't a chance to attend an established camp supervised camping experience.

You can count on them—can they count on you?

INSECT FINDERS—Cindy Horton, left, adds another bug to Unit I's collection as she observes the movements and the form of the insect while Sandy DeMaio prefers working with the clay models. This unit, the "Whispering Pine Needles," as they're called, explores the nearby area for interesting and unusual insects.

Division Takes First Place In FMFLant Softball Action

The 2nd Marine Division All-Stars copped the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Softball Tournament at Camp Lejeune Saturday, defeating the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, 5-1. Earlier in the day, the Air Wing edged the Division, 4-3, to extend the double-elimination tournament to the limit. A clutch pitching performance by Jim Brown paced the Division to the title. Hurling his first game of the tournament, Brown struck out seven batters while scattering four hits over the route for the victory.

Division broke the scoring ice in the initial inning with a single by Laverdier, a sacrifice, and a single by Rose. They added an unearned run in the second on a single by Roberson and a two-base error to take a 2-0 lead.

The Lejeune nine broke the game wide open in the sixth inning with three runs on a walk, singles by Olsen, Rose and Brown, and a sacrifice by Roberson.

The Cherry Pointers' lone run came in the seventh when Barrotti led off with a home run. The Wing proceeded to load the bases with one out, but Brown bore down and retired the side on a pop-up and a strikeout.

In the day's first game between the two clubs, clutch relief pitching and a timely hit by John Watkins gave the Wing a victory over the locals. The ace righthander came on the scene in the fifth after Division had pushed across two runs to tie the score. His two-run single in the sixth provided the winning run and gave him his second victory of the tourney.

To reach the final day's action, the Wing defeated Marine Air Group-32, Beaufort, S. C., on Friday, 3-2.

Ron Beigel Hurls No-Hit Ball For Final Win In Title Drive

Relief pitcher Ron Beigel hurled eight and two-thirds innings of no-hit ball as the Camp Lejeune Marines scored an easy 11-2 victory over the San Diego Marines to win their second consecutive All-Marine Championship Sunday night. Beigel was brought in to relieve starter Frank Nichols, who gave up four consecutive hits and two runs in the first inning. The righthander faced 30 batters, giving up five walks and striking out seven. Trailing 2-0, first baseman Hal Norton closed ed the gap with a solo homer in the third inning and pushed the Lejeune Marines into the lead, 3-2, with his second homer of the game in the fifth frame with a teammate aboard. Lejeune third baseman Jim Green kept the rally alive with a bases-loaded triple and scored later on a single by Beigel to move the locals into the lead, 7-2.

Lejeune second baseman Barry Fullerton was hit by a pitched ball in the seventh frame, and moved to third on a perfect hit-and-run play by catcher Hank Nichols. Nichols then raced to second on an error and both runners scored on a two-out single by veteran left-fielder Dave Petros.

Shortstop Charlie Armstrong ended the scoring for the victors with a two-run home run in the seventh inning. It was Armstrong's 14th homer of the season and places him in a three-way tie for home run honors at Camp Lejeune for one season with Norton, who turned the trick in 1959, and the late Harry Agganis.

In earlier action, Lejeune defeated Hawaii in the classic opener, 7-3, and San Diego handed the Pacific ocean area representatives a 6-3 loss Friday night to eliminate them from the double round-robin tourney.

Ace Righthander

Lejeune's ace righthander Bill Haywood, who was 20-5 during the regular season for the Marines, went the distance in the opening game, scattering seven hits while giving up five base-on-balls and striking out 13 Hawaii batters. Red Zehmer, who started on the mound for Hawaii, suffered the loss.

Lejeune picked up an early two-run lead in the first inning with first baseman Hal Norton stealing home for the second tally and the first stolen base of the tournament. Battling back in the second inning, Hawaii leftfielder Bob Wolfenden opening the inning with a base-on-balls, moved to second on a single by teammate Jim Williams, and scored on an error.

The locals picked up single tallies in both the third and fourth frames to take a 4-1 edge over the visitors. Haywood opened the third inning with a walk, moved to third on a double off the left field wall by shortstop Charlie Armstrong, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Norton. The fourth inning score came on a single by catcher Hank Nichols and back-to-back doubles by rightfielder Sam Valentine and third sacker Jim Green.

Hawaii

Hawaii pulled to within one run of Lejeune when a walk and a pair of two-baggers produced two runs in the fifth frame. Norton slashed a stand-up double in the Lejeune half of the fifth inning but failed to score. With Haywood bearing down in the late innings Lejeune added single runs in each of the sixth, seventh and eighth innings to coast to an easy victory.

While Lejeune enjoyed a two-day rest due to a rained-out game and a bye in the second contest, San Diego eliminated Hawaii from further play, defeating them, 6-3. Ed

HAL NORTON

Hottell went the route for the San Diego nine, allowing seven hits and all three runs in an error-riddled fifth inning when the Hawaii Marines batted around. Bob Blaylock, starting pitcher for Hawaii, who was relieved in the sixth by Jim Williams, suffered the loss.

Held scoreless until the fourth inning, San Diego utilized two singles, a bunt and an error to score one run and added five runs on two hits and four errors in the fifth as they too batted around.

Charlie Bryan, a bit shaky throughout Saturday's third game of the tournament picked up the second win for Lejeune when he held San Diego to only four hits, three of them coming in the sixth inning. Bryan, who hit the second batter of the game, allowed five walks and struck out nine, had men on base in every inning except the fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth.

Jesse Murdock, San Diego first baseman, who slashed a solo homer in the sixth frame over the center field wall, scored the first run of the game on a wild pitch by Bryan.

Lejeune gained the lead, scoring two runs in the fourth frame with Bryan and centerfielder Cliff Simpson each driving in a run. Murdock's homer tied the game at 2-2 in the sixth and a scoring effort was stopped on a tremendous cut-off play and peg to the plate by second baseman Barry Fullerton to catch a San Diego base runner streaking for home.

The defending champions took a one-run lead in the seventh as Fullerton drove in Norton, who was safe on a fielders' choice, stole second, for his third stolen base of the tournament, and moved to third on an error.

Bryan retired the next nine of 10 batters while Lejeune erupted for five runs in the final frame to nail down their second straight victory.

Coach-hurler Doyle Stout suffered the loss for the West Coast contingent, allowing 10 hits while teammates committed five costly errors, three in the ninth inning.

1960 Grid Tryouts Continue; Several Veterans Returning

Aching backs, sore muscles and tired feet don't seem to stop the hopeful candidates for the 1960 Lejeune varsity football team. With only four weeks remaining until their first game against the Norfolk Tars, Coach Horn is putting his men through vigorous exercises and extreme conditioning. Coach Horn states that they look pretty good but still have a long way to go before the opening game.

The coach plans to cut the hopefuls down to 44 by the last of August. So far over 80 men have showed up for tryouts and, after almost three weeks of training, 54 men are still working out for a slot on the team roster.

Multiple "T" Formation
Coach Horn plans to run his attack out of the multiple type "T" formation. Next week the hopefuls will go more into detail and run through various plays off the "T".

Several members of the '59 team are expected to return this year. Five have reported for practice so far, including Tom Sacramone, who played halfback on last year's squad. This year Tom will help

Force Troops Linksters Eye Fleet Tourney

Golfers within Force Troops units played a 36-hole medal tournament last week for the purpose of selecting entries for the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Golf Tournament at Cherry Point, the week of Aug. 29.

OWN BALL—GySgt. M. A. Sykes received the symbolic ball he has stayed on since taking over the Sixth Marines' Service Club in January. Sergeant Sykes has been commended several times for running an outstanding club, the last time by the Base Exchange Officer, Col. M. D. Henderson, right, Sixth Marines commanding officer, presented Sykes the ball and told him to "stay on it." Sykes' alleys are rated among the best kept in the Camp Lejeune area and hosted the last FMFLant bowling tournament.

Base Archery Club States Purpose, Seeks Members

August 15 marked the first meeting of the steering committee of the proposed Archery Club of Camp Lejeune, at which time the club's constitution and by-laws were written. The next meeting of the club will be held in the Meeting Room of the Montford Point Staff Club on Monday, August 22. All interested personnel should call SSgt. R. E. Cafolla at 0-1521.

The steering committee was selected at the first meeting held, Aug. 10. Subjects under discussion by the committee were membership drives and a name for the club.

The purpose of the club, according to the committee, will be to foster, expand and perpetuate the practice of field archery and the spirit of fellowship among all archers of the Lejeune area; to encourage the use of the bow in the hunting of all legal game, bird and animals; to increase the privileges of bow and arrow hunters, and to conduct a continuous educational program designed to acquaint the public with the bow and arrow and its uses as a practical and humane weapon. Field archery is defined as the use of the bow and arrow in shooting at animated and inanimated objects, at unknown, unannounced and not predetermined distances.

The club needs more active members. There has been said to be over 150 expert archers in the Camp Lejeune area. The committee feels these bowmen should join the club to keep their sport in the mind of the public. Personnel of Lejeune and their dependents, who are interested in archery are encouraged to join the club and make use of the proposed facilities.

Personnel not owning their own equipment are informed that such equipment as bows, arrows, quiver, etc., are available through their unit special services.

Bloodmobile Again Reaches Set Quota

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile last week made another successful visit to Camp Lejeune. Nearly 500 pints of blood were donated by men of the 2nd Division, Force Troops and the Marine Corps Air Facility at Marston Pavilion Aug. 9 and 10.

Approximately 100 prospective donors were turned away during the two days, according to Mr. L. M. Sheriff, local Red Cross Field Director. The largest number were refused the opportunity to give blood because of recent tattoos and recent inoculations.

Unit commanders can give the blood program much assistance if they will first check the prospective donors of their units to see that the men meet the following criteria, as outlined in Base Order 6530.3:

There are no restrictions of sex and race, but the donor must have passed his 18th birthday and weigh more than 110 pounds. The man cannot give his blood more than five times a year, with a normal time lapse of 10 weeks between donations.

Donors who have had Asiatic flu vaccine or poliomyelitic, typhoid or tetanus inoculations may give blood no sooner than 24 hours after receiving the shots. There must be a two weeks' wait after yellow fever and smallpox immunizations and a year's time lapse after receiving rabies vaccine. No man who has been tattooed within the preceding six months may donate.

GLOBE Salutes 2nd Reconnaissance Company

Recon Volunteers Must Possess Outstanding Physical Mental Stamina To Penetrate Deep Into Enemy Lines

"Recon! Recon! We're the best," is the chant one hears when the 2nd Force Reconnaissance Company undertakes and successfully completes one of its many diversified missions. In response to several intelligence acquisition requirements imposed by the reorganization of Fleet Marine Force units for both conventional and helicopter-borne amphibian operations in nuclear and non-nuclear situations, the Commandant of the Marine Corps directed the establishment of the 2nd Force Reconnaissance Company on June 1, 1959 after a year's test and evaluation of a prototype unit with Fleet Marine Force, Pacific.

In order to accomplish its assigned missions, the Force Reconnaissance Company is authorized 14 officers and 147 enlisted Marines, of which 14 officers and 96 enlisted are qualified parachutists. Members of the 2nd Force Recon possess a combination of military capabilities and skills unique in the Armed Forces of the United States. Its four-man reconnaissance teams may be introduced deep into an enemy objective area using either static line or free-fall parachute from carrier-launched aircraft, or by making a buoyant ascent from a submerged submarine and then swim ashore. Reconnaissance men are trained in the conventional skills of scouting and patrolling, in the use of sketching equipment and still and motion picture cameras, and in the operation of each of five types of radios used by the company.

Personnel for the 2nd Force Reconnaissance Company are obtained for the most part, by an annual input of physically qualified men from within Force Troops itself as well as from the 2nd Division. Volunteers are assessed and screened during a two-week period, which affords ample opportunity to observe physical and mental stamina, initiative, motivation and leadership potential.

Such a screening program was concluded in July of this year. The selected replacements are expected back from airborne training at Ft. Benning, Ga., late this month, and join the three reconnaissance platoons for further training during the remainder of the year. A few vacancies are expected during the first half of 1961, and volunteers are welcome at any time.

The 2nd Force Reconnaissance Company conducts training and reconnaissance exercises at Ft. Bragg, N. C., Pisgah National Forest, the U. S. Submarine Base, New London, Conn., the U. S. Submarine Base, St. Thomas, V. I., and elsewhere. Cold weather training in California and swamp training in Florida are among the agenda items for 1961.

Four Women Receive Navy Relief Pins

Four Lejeune volunteer Navy Relief workers turned in 1400 hours of volunteer service to earn their 600 and 100-hour service pins this week. In recognition of their volunteer service, an award ceremony was held Tuesday morning, in the office of Maj. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base.

General Wade presented 600-hour pins to Mrs. Helen Hawkins and Mrs. Eva Lee Pearson; and 100-hour pins to Mrs. Mildred Halton and Mrs. Marjorie Stockton.

Guests at the ceremony included Mrs. O. M. Conoley, chairman of volunteer women for the Navy Relief; and Mrs. E. W. Killian. Because of special recognition for 600 hours of volunteer work, husbands of Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Pearson were invited to attend the ceremony. Lt. Col. H. H. Hawkins is commanding officer, 8th Communication Bn., Force Troops, and Maj. Thomas W. Pearson is with the Base Material Battalion.

Mrs. Hawkins earned her 600-hour pin working as a receptionist and interviewer.

Rattlesnake Bites Marine In Tarawa Terrace Yard

Rattlesnakes do not confine their activities only to wooded areas. Last Monday evening, SSgt. James E. Burchan, Service Co., 8th Engr. Bn., Force Troops, was bitten by a rattlesnake while in his yard at 834 Inchon St., Tarawa Terrace. Sergeant Burchan left his house at about 9 p.m. to get an item from his automobile parked in the parking lot. Returning from the lot, the snake bit him on the big toe of his left foot. The snake was in grass about four to six inches high. Sergeant Burchan is fully recovered following medical treatment. The snake is still at large.

Parents are cautioned to keep children out of wooded areas and tall grass, especially at night. Also proper care of lawns and frequent mowing will afford little place for snakes to rest. During this hot weather, snakes are constantly looking for cool places. Proper precautions should be taken to insure that children and adults alike, do not wander near places where these reptiles are likely to be.

plans. He announced the proposed FY 61 staff NCO promotion figures, which are: 60 to sergeant major; 150 to master gunnery sergeant; 250 to first sergeant; 750 to master sergeant; 2,400 to gunnery sergeant; 3,900 to staff sergeant (E-6), and 5,000 to sergeant (E-5).

He went on to clarify the position of Headquarters Marine Corps concerning processing a request for a "Twilight Cruise."

Although no Marine Corps directive specifically covers this subject, "it is the Commandant's desire that every effort be made to honor such requests if at all possible," said the sergeant major. However, he stated that there are certain requirements which must be met before a request for transfer of this type receives favorable consideration.

These he listed as: a valid military requirement for the MOS and rank of the Marine at the station requested; personnel requesting the transfer must not be in receipt of overseas orders or have a control date which indicates that overseas orders would be received prior to transfer to FMCR; applicants must have served a minimum of one year, preferably two, at the present duty station prior to transfer; requests for Recruiting Duty (Bravo Billets), or duty with NROTC Units or Inspector-Instructor Staffs will not be approved for the "Twilight Cruise."

After the remarks by the coordinator, the representatives were divided into five discussion groups. They were given instructions on the conduct and organization for business, and the fifth annual staff NCO symposium was officially under way.

Staff Aide Service Adds 12 Women To Program

At ceremonies held at the U. S. Naval Hospital yesterday afternoon, 12 women of Camp Lejeune received graduation pins and certificates for successful completion of eight hours' training in Staff Aides Service. Capt. L. E. Bach, USN, commanding officer, USNH, presented the certificates, while Cmdr. Alice R. Reilly performed the pinning. Mrs. L. F. Chapman Jr., acting volunteer chairman of Red Cross Volunteers, headed the formal capping ceremony. The aides are supervised by Mrs. Albert Lucas, chairman, with assistance from Mrs. R. E. Smith, co-chairman.

Women graduating were Mrs. Morton H. Beckley, Mrs. Bruce W. Clarke, Mrs. John P. Doherty, Mrs. James G. Hallet, Mrs. Robert G. Hout, Mrs. Robert Howie, Mrs. Dan H. Johnson, Mrs. Roy M. Marks, Mrs. James Neese, Mrs. R. E. Roe Jr., Mrs. Clark Ruse and Mrs. Richard Smith.

Purpose of the Staff Aide Service is to provide trained volunteers in the day-by-day operations of chapters, field directors' offices, hospitals, institutions, and agencies. Well-trained Staff Aides are versatile; they are able to give a wide variety of services and to interpret Red Cross policy.

At the Base hospital, Staff Aides are presently being used in dependent clinics where they serve as receptionists, answer telephones, make appointments and register out-going patients. Staff Aides who are college students or Junior Red Cross members and are therefore unable to give service regularly throughout the year can give invaluable assistance on short-term projects, such as the fund campaign, bloodmobile visit or the Christmas-on-the-high-seas program.

Men, women, boys and girls may become Staff Aides if they are willing to volunteer at least the number managed by the Exchange. An enlarged selection of women's clothes in the new autumn reds, light sea greens, and pale mustard yellows will be featured in the showing. The kitten soft sweaters, matching skirts and pastel blouses will interest the ladies, both young and old. The men of the families will like the new sport shirts and slacks for fall off-duty hours.

The Exchange has the aid of Mrs. Cynthia Ostlund, chief of its decorating staff, to choose the outfits. Mrs. Ostlund, and women from all of the wives' groups on the base are cooperating to make this the most successful showing possible.

Several of the ladies modeling in this show have done professional modeling before and have the titles to prove it. Examples are Mrs. W. J. McGrath, Miss Washington, D. C., 1958; Mrs. R. D. Kristof, Marine Corps Reserve Queen 1956; and Mrs. P. F. Richardson, Miss National Press Photographer's Association 1958.

Other models will be selected from the wives' clubs, and the Woman Marine Company.

Gifts, free refreshments, and favors for everyone will help to make this an evening nobody will want to miss. Everyone is invited, gentlemen included.

FASHION QUEENS—Four lovely women of Camp Lejeune take a minute's break between modeling rehearsals for the coming Fall Fashion Show to be held Sept. 1 in Goettge Memorial Field House. Sponsored by the Marine Corps Exchange, over 50

Geiger Wives Plan Domestic Program To Highlight Meet

With a feature attraction scheduled on the programs each week for the Wives Club of Geiger Park, the women are presently working on highlights for the gatherings to bring out various domestic talents of their members.

Under the supervision of Mrs. R. P. Kellon, president, each member is to reveal her knowledge of good taste and attractive display of foods at next week's "Covered Dish Luncheon" to be held at the regular time Aug. 23, in the Park's Community Building.

Officers of the club have announced that the luncheon will be held on the patio of the center next week instead of the main auditorium. This will give the women an opportunity to hostess a strictly informal afternoon discussion regarding the usual linen, china and silver. As extras to the food brought by the women, soft drinks and bread will be furnished at the center.

A free nursery will be available in the game room of the building.

Dental Corps To Celebrate 48th Anniversary Monday

The 56 Dental officers, 88 Dental technicians and three Dental Service warrant officers of Camp Lejeune will join Dental Corps members throughout the world Monday, August 22, in celebrating the 48th anniversary of their Corps. On the eve of the anniversary, Rear Adm. Bartholomew W. Hogan, Surgeon General of the Navy, wrote: "During the past year the Dental Corps contributed immeasurably to the health and morale of Navy and Marine Corps personnel."

Authorization

The Dental Corps was authorized by the Naval Appropriation Act of August 22, 1912, which provided for the appointment of 30 assistant dental surgeons. By the close of the first World War, the Dental Corps had expanded to include over 500 officers. During World War II, the total of active dental officers rose to an all-time high of more than 7000.

Today, approximately 1,700 regular and reserve dental officers are stationed in over 450 Naval dental facilities. The facilities vary from one dental operating room to clinics having 50 or more dental operating rooms.

High Standards

About 70 Medical Service and Dental Service warrant officers and 2,900 dental technicians are required in a team effort to support the dental officers in establishing and maintaining a high standard of dental care for the Navy and Marine Corps.

In the local dental departments, Capt. C. T. Pridgeon, USN, is Dental officer at the main dispensary, Bldg. 15, and Capt. J. P. Jarabak heads the dental staff at the U. S. Naval Hospital.

"Steady growth and outstanding professional advancement have characterized the development of dental care within the Navy," the Surgeon General declared in his statement.

New GLOBE Editor At Helm This Week

Assignment of a new editor of the Camp Lejeune GLOBE was announced this week by the Base Informational Services Officer.

GySgt. Joel S. Ferguson has been assigned to the top enlisted post on the paper, relieving GySgt. Thomas Donaldson as of this week's publication.

Sergeant Donaldson will assume Ferguson's former duties as Informational Services Press Chief and assistant NCOinC of the Informational Services section, after a brief leave.

Sergeant Ferguson joined the Base ISO in September 1959, after a tour of recruiting duty in Raleigh, N. C. He is a veteran of 14 years of Marine Corps service.

Sgt. Donaldson assumed duties as GLOBE editor upon reporting to the Base last October. He served for one year as a reporter-photographer for the Air Facility, New River, before reporting here.

Two Division Units Affected By BLT Re-Establishment

Two 2nd Division battalions, in a cadre status since March of last year, have been included in a Corps-wide plan, announced last week, to re-establish six battalion landing teams. The Division units affected are the 2nd Bn., Second Marine, which will remain at Camp Lejeune, and the 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines, which will be a "stand-by" infantry battalion with headquarters at Quantico, Va.

The 2nd Bn., Second Marines, will be reactivated as a battalion landing team commencing on Sept. 1. The unit is commanded by Lt. Col. F. F. Eubanks Jr. It will include reinforcing units of artillery from the Tenth Marines, pioneer personnel from the 2nd Pioneer Bn., and anti-tank personnel from the 2nd Anti-Tank Bn., all units of the 2nd Division.

The 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines, newly reactivated, will be composed of Marines from Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., and the Marine Barracks, 8th and Eye Streets, Washington, D. C. These Marines will continue to carry out their regular duties there. Most are now serving in training billets with the remainder performing administrative, security, ceremonial, and similar support-type duties. The battalion will be ready to move out on eight days' notice as an organic unit of the 2nd Division. Reinforcing elements of artillery, pioneers, and anti-tank will be formed within the Division later this year at Camp Lejeune.

Personnel now serving in the 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines, cadre unit will be reassigned within the Division.

The remaining four battalion landing teams will be re-establishing between now and June 30, 1961—one in the 3rd Division on Okinawa, one in the 1st Marine Brigade in Hawaii, and two in the 1st Division at Camp Pendleton.

The reestablishment of the battalions was announced by Gen. David M. Shoup, Commandant of the Marine Corps, earlier this year. He stated that the reactivation of the six units at this time was made possible by a reduction in the number of Marines assigned to the Corps training base, supporting establishment, security forces, and Fleet Marine Force support units. Local personnel turnover resulting from the four-year enlistment program was cited as another reason.

In announcing plans for the reestablishment, General Shoup reiterated his position outlined earlier this year before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee regarding the strength of the Marine Corps. "With 175,000 Marines, we can carry out all our assigned missions except that of mobilization in the event of general war," said the Commandant. "But a strength of 200,000 would be mandatory to accomplish the mobilization, training and support so necessary in the event of such a war."

Power Cut-Off

There will be a power outage for the Paradise Point area from 11 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 22, to 5 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 23, for the purpose of changing oil in the substation which serves that area.

School Begins September 1, Obey All School Bus Laws

Twenty-one school buses will be back on the highways of Camp Lejeune September 1 as another school year begins. Statistics show that many children have been killed in the past while boarding or leaving the buses which transport them to their schools. Because of this fact, strict laws have been enacted to govern the passing of school buses engaged in loading and unloading passengers. In the state of North Carolina, anyone convicted of violating the statutes stands to be fined as much as $50 or imprisoned for as much as 30 days.

There is one exception to the rule of coming to a complete stop when the bus is receiving or discharging passengers. This exception is made when the highway is divided into two roadways by an intervening space or physical barrier.

If this is the case, the car approaching in the separate lane opposite the bus need not stop. Passenger loading points are so set up to ensure that children do not have to cross the opposite roadway when approaching or leaving the bus.

North Carolina law provides that school buses must come to a complete stop at all railroad crossings. The law does not require the motorist to stop also, but drivers are urged to first determine that there are no passengers loading or unloading before passing the stopped bus.

The provisions of these statutes apply only if the school, church or Sunday school bus bears upon the front and rear a plainly visible sign with the words "School Bus," "Church Bus" or "Sunday School Bus" in letters not less than five inches in height.

Camp Lejeune drivers are reminded that Base regulations regarding stopping behind buses apply not only to school or church buses, but to all buses on the reservation.

Eleven Division Men Recruiters On Leave

In some circles there's a saying that goes "seven come eleven." Down in the 2nd Division's 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, they have changed the old adage to "eleven come twenty-two."

Eleven men from the battalion's "C" Company provided enlistees for their local recruiters while home on leave from a recent Mediterranean cruise. They all received five extra days at home for their efforts. The part-time recruiters are: L CPLs. Joseph J. Zampano, James T. Mulhair and Paul E. Albee; Pfc's Paul F. Noonan, James M. Baumgardner, Robert G. May, Allen Hunt, Francis G. McCusker, Louis J. Kubic, Philip Porcarro, and Max R. Mitchell.

All of the Marine salesmen stated the incentive of five extra days at home made them undertake the recruiting task. One attended his high school's graduation exercises, found a friend who didn't have a job lined up and sold him on the Marine Corps.

PASSING PROPERLY—Because there is a physical separation of the traffic lanes on this highway, the car approaching in the opposite lane need not stop while the school bus is loading or unloading passengers, according to a North Carolina State law.
