Final Reserve Increment To Start Training

The 10,000th Marine Corps reservist to train here this summer will arrive this week with the sixth and final major reserve increment. The group began their summer training at Camp Lejeune last June.

Arriving by air, train and bus will be: the 13th Infantry Bn., Washington, D. C.; the 11th Infantry Bn., Cleveland, and the 72nd Rifle Bn., Lima, Ohio; the 9th Rifle Co., Wayne, Ind.; the 24th Rifle Co., London, Conn.; the 52 Rifle Co., New Bedford, Mass.; the 85th Rifle Co., Greensboro, N. C.; the 11th Rifle Co., Columbia, S. C.; the 155mm Howitzer Btry., Trenton, N. C., and two engineer units, the 10th and 11th Engineer Co.'s, Portland, Me., and Kalamazoo, Mich., respectively.

The reserve units will be hosted by organizations of the 2nd Division: Force Troops, FMFLant; 1st R and Marine Corps Supply and Engineer Schools of the Marine Corps Base command.

The 9th Rifle Co. and the 85th Rifle Co. will begin their two-week training here, firing annual rifle qualification at the rifle range. The other nine units begin training immediately in their specialized skills. In the midst of the next training period the 2nd 105mm Howitzer Bn. of Miami, Fla., fresh from a week of amphibious training at Little Creek, Va., will arrive here to complete the live firing phase of their two weeks' annual summer field training.

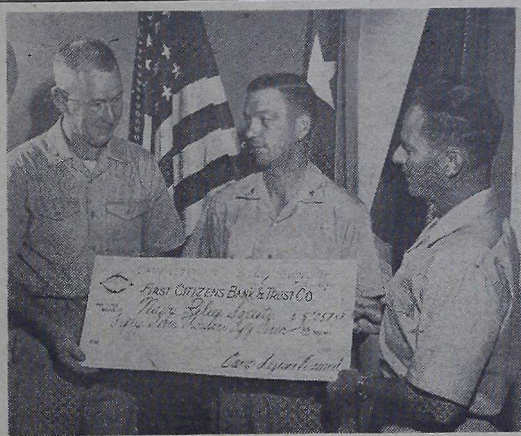

The final unit to be trained here this summer, the 6th Engineer Co., Knoxville, Tenn., will arrive here Aug. 29.

Seabees Schedule Training Conference

A conference to plan the field training of Mobile Construction Battalion Seven, scheduled to be at Camp Lejeune Oct. 10 through Nov. 18, will be held at 8:30 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 16. The Military Training Officer of CB-7, representatives of MCB-7, and representatives of certain Camp Lejeune commands will meet in the conference room of Bldg. 1 to discuss the training program of the Seabees.

MCB-7 will be the fourth Seabee unit to receive combat training at Camp Lejeune and the second this year. MCB-1 was here for six weeks of intensive field work during the spring months of March and April. The six-week training schedule of MCB-7 will be conducted in four phases. Phase one will be a week spent at the Rifle Range for annual requalification firing. Phase two will take the fighting Navy-men to Infantry Training Regiment for two weeks of basic combat training.

Phase three will see the Seabee battalion broken into smaller units for two weeks, some remaining at ITR for advanced infantry training and others going to various Camp Lejeune units for specialized training. The fourth and final phase will be a week-long field command post exercise.

New Combat Town Rapidly Takes Shape At First ITR

A new Combat Town is rapidly taking shape in the training areas of the 1st Infantry Training Regiment. The nine buildings are being constructed on the site of the old "town," which burned to the ground the middle of June. Under the general supervision of Base Maintenance, the project is being

Admiral Wales Bids Farewell To Lejeune

Honors on the Base parade field Monday marked the farewell visit to Fleet Marine Force units at Camp Lejeune of Rear Adm. George H. Wales as Commander, Amphibious Group Two.

On hand for the occasion were Rear Adm. James S. McCain Jr., who will relieve Admiral Wales; Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, 2nd Division commander, and Brig. Gen. L. F. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops.

coordinated by the S-4 section of Infantry Training Regiment. Three members of the 8th Engineer Bn., Force Troops, GySgt. A. P. Chase and SSgt. F. J. Duffy and K. O. Matte, have the immediate supervision of the labor.

The construction is being done by ITR personnel who have completed individual combat training and are awaiting transfer to their duty stations.

Nine permanent buildings will stand in the town when the project is completed. Six will be two-story, 15x15-foot houses, and the others will be one-story, 15x22 feet. Three 40-foot streets and a five-foot alley will separate the buildings.

Tentative Pro-Pay MOS List Announced By Headquarters

Headquarters Marine Corps has announced a tentative list of the 24 most critical MOS's in which P-2 proficiency pay of $60-a-month will be awarded in fiscal 1961. This is about three months ahead of the time it was expected to have been announced. Originally, Headquarters said it would not announce the MOS's in which it planned to award P-2 pro-pay until sometime later this year, probably around October.

Aussie Officer Will Observe Base Training

An officer of the Australian Armed Forces, Lt. Col. White, will arrive at Camp Lejeune Monday morning for a two-day general orientation visit. The colonel, coming to Camp Lejeune from Washington, D. C., will be here to see and be briefed on the general training of Marines at Camp Lejeune.

Marine Corps Base units will be the subjects of Colonel White's observation. He will spend Monday afternoon witnessing the training of basic Marines at the First Infantry Training Regiment.

Tuesday morning, he will be the guest either of Marine Corps Schools, Montford Point, or the Marine Corps Engineer Schools, Courthouse Bay. The colonel is interested in viewing the training of Marine Corps Base units rather than of Fleet Marine Force units.

Upon arrival at the New Bern airport at 10:46 am, Monday, Colonel White will be driven by Marine Corps sedan to Camp Lejeune. After lunch, he will be briefed by Base G-3 and visit with Maj. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, Marine Corps Base commanding general. He will spend the rest of the afternoon in the training areas of 1st ITR.

After spending Tuesday morning at MCSS or MCES, the colonel will be escorted back to New Bern, where he will depart by air at 11:11. Maj. R. E. June of the Operations and Training Section, G-3, Marine Corps Base, will be Colonel White's escort officer.

P-1 pro-pay of $30-a-month is being given to 11,895 Marines in the fiscal year program, which started July 1.

In giving the list of the 25 most critical MOS's, Headquarters cautioned that the list is only a tentative one. It said there is a chance that the list could be revised before the P-2 money is actually given out in January.

The 1,444 Marines due to get the P-2 pro-pay awards in January will be the first to receive the money in the Corps under the proficiency incentive pay program started by the Defense Department early in 1959.

Still unknown, however, is how many Marines in each of the 25 most critical MOS's actually will draw the added money.

When the Marine Corps announced its pro-pay plans for fiscal year 1961 it said it would award P-1 pro-pay in three groups:

Group 1 includes persons in 35 MOS's. Sixty-five per cent of the Marines in these MOS's are drawing the P-1 money.

Group 2 includes Marines in 51 MOS's. The P-1 money is going to 12 1/2 per cent of them.

The third is a special group. In it P-1 awards will be made 100 per cent to drill instructors, DI supervisors, and to 45 linguists in intelligence, interrogator and (See PRO-PAY LIST, Page 10)

Two Selected For Colonel Promotion

The President has approved the report of a selection board that recommended two Camp Lejeune-based lieutenant colonels for temporary promotion to colonel.

Stanley D. Low, Supply Officer, 2nd Division, and Roland E. Carey, commanding officer, 3rd Bn., Second Marines, were among 56 officers selected for promotion to full colonel rank.

The promotion zone terminated with Lt. Col. Joe L. Warren.

Scouts Need Merit Badge Counselors

Paradise Point's Boy Scout Troop 90 needs volunteers to serve as merit badge counselors. They will not be required to instruct but only to test the Scout's proficiency in merit badge requirements. Counselors must have a good knowledge of their subject.

Scouts will arrange appointments at the counselor convenience. Volunteers in any field will be accepted but especially needed are counselors for the following merit badges: agriculture, architecture, art, basketry, bee keeping, citizenship in the nation (Chaplain or legal officer), corn farming, cotton farming, dairying.

Farm home and its planning, farm layout and building arrangements, farm mechanics, farm records and bookkeeping, fingerprinting, fishing, forestry, fruit and nut growing, grasses, legumes and forage crops, hog and pork production, Indian lore, leather work, machinery, masonry, mechanical drawing, metal work.

Division Sgt. Maj. Is Named 11th Marines Representative

Sgt. Maj. Russell O. Baker of the 2nd Marine Division has been named a director of the 1st Marine Division Association, according to a story appearing in the latest issue of the Association's "Old Breed News." Baker has been named organizational representative for the Eleventh Marines with which he served during World War II.

Personnel in the Camp Lejeune area should contact him relative to joining the association and for other pertinent data.

Also, according to the "Old Breed News," retired Marine Lt. Gen. L. "Chesty" Puller was an overwhelming choice to serve as the 1st Division Association's president. The election of new officers highlighted the Association action at the concurrent 1960 FMF reunions held in Washington, D. C., last month.

In the Marine Corps, success comes in cans—failure in cant's.

Illegal Fishing

Some Marine personnel have been fishing off the Atlantic Coastline Railroad bridge in the area of Southwest Creek, near the southern extension of the Camp Geiger Trailer Park just off Highway 17. Because this is a violation of the law, and because of the dangers created by the practice, the Atlantic Coastline Railroad has informed the Base Provost Marshal that anyone fishing from the bridge in the future will be prosecuted for trespassing.

MAG-26 Helicopter Exceeds 1,000 Hrs.

While helping to unload the USS Boxer last week, an HR2S helicopter, from HMR-461, Marine Aircraft Group-26, MCAF, New River, N. C., flew its 1,000th hour, to be the only HR2S in the country to hold such a title.

Lt. Col. James E. Etheridge, commanding officer of HMR-461, was on hand to give his personal greetings to the crew following the trip.

Maj. Joseph Keller was the pilot and Capt. J. T. Hagen was co-pilot. They said the big "bird" flew just as though she had come off the production line.

The giant twin-engine helicopter will undergo a thorough overhaul.

REPAIR SET—The Tash brothers, Cpl. Richard, right and LCpl. James, left, Spt. Co. "B," Hq. Bn., Marine Corps Base, work on an inter-com just as they have worked together since first enlisting in the Marine Corps in June, 1957. Entering on active duty in August, as six-month reservists, the brothers integrated into the regular Marine Corps in January, 1958, and then reenlisted for six years last Thursday. (Photo by SSgt. R. ## Vaccine Curbs Threat Of Polio

Ten years ago, there was considerable apprehension on the part of parents throughout our nation as the summer months approached. Most feared at such a time was the possibility that one member of their family might contract the dread Poliomyelitis infection.

But today—a decade later—the threat of polio has been so greatly reduced that it constitutes nowhere near the threat it once did.

Chief credit for this change in the polio picture is due the Salk Polio Vaccine Program. But, a considerable amount of credit is also due the hundreds of thousands of parents and young adults who, perceiving the protection which the polio vaccine could afford themselves and their children, have willingly cooperated with the polio program.

However, the campaign against polio has by no means been successfully completed. Recent studies of this disease have uncovered new aspects which must be given careful scrutiny and additional attention. Nevertheless, the main battle against the dread polio virus has been won.

What remains is for parents and young adults to familiarize themselves with the latest facts concerning the campaign being waged to prevent infection from polio, and then willingly submit themselves and, in the case of parents, their children to the immunization program.

The fact that not one case of proven polio has been reported this summer by the U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune attests to the active cooperation which has been given to the anti-polio program in this area by Camp Lejeune personnel and their dependents.

Let us keep up this good work, so that the polio threat might be completely eliminated.

Book Explores Space Mystery

On an August morning in 1957 a tear-shaped balloon lifted slowly from the bottom of a mine pit in Minnesota and rose silently into the cloudless sky. Slung beneath it, glittering faintly in the early rays of light, was a foil-draped gondola containing a man. Higher and higher it drifted, piercing the upper atmosphere and halting finally in the thin air of the stratosphere at 102,000 feet. There for over 32 hours the man sat, observing the earth below and the black sky above, the first human to reach the threshold of outer space.

MAN HIGH, now available at the Central Library, is Lt. Col. David G. Simons' personal account of his record-breaking ascent—one that nearly ended in disaster. It was from this flight that he and fellow space scientists drew up many of the requirements for picking the seven astronauts—the men of Project Mercury who will soon pilot a missile into orbit.

Few of us will ever reach outer space, but in this book we can share the experience of the man who cracked the space barrier. He writes of his tenseness before the flight, of the curious detachment he felt when he ascended into that mysterious void where "the darkness lurked above and the bright light of life lay below." Too, we experience the cramping pressure of a skin-tight space suit, the lethargic, intense heat, and the awesome serenity of the stars, then the slashing fear of lightning threatening to turn the Man High capsule into an incinerator.

Man High is the story of what has been hailed as one of the great space adventures of our time—coupling courage with science to unlock some of the wonderful secrets of the universe.

If You Ask Me:

HOW DID THE BOYS LEAGUE HELP YOU THIS YEAR?

REX WOOLDRIDGE, Cubs (Major League)—It taught me to play fair and to become a better sportsman. I also learned the techniques of playing baseball and how to get along better with my teammates. I think being in the Boys League will help me later on, too. I will be able to help younger fellows and take on more responsibility.

RODNEY LAWDER, Senators (Minor League)—I learned all about baseball and how to play it better. I liked playing with a team. Also, I learned how to keep myself from getting angry just because I couldn't reach a base or score a run, and I learned how to hold my feet the right way, get the right grip on a bat and throw properly.

FORREST WOOLDRIDGE, Orioles (Pony League)—It helped me to play with other boys and to make new friends. I learned to play different positions in the Minor League. I think my being in the Pony League will help me make the high school team, and maybe a college team, too. After that I want to go into professional baseball.

ANDY SILVERTHORN, Athletics (Pony League)—Because I like baseball, I've been playing in the Boys League for five years. I learned a lot during that time, such as the fundamentals of the game and how to use them properly. Also, I learned to work with others and how to cooperate with the umpires. I think playing baseball and other sports helps prevent juvenile delinquency.

Your Vote Plays Important Part

This is a political year, and you as a voter play an important part. This year will see the end of the terms of a President who will have been in office eight years. It will usher in a new man who will take over the responsibilities of the Chief Executive for another eight years.

Therefore, your vote in November cannot be underestimated.

Some persons in the service think it unimportant that they not vote. "What difference could make," they say, "I'll still be under the same military rules and regulations, no matter who is in the White House."

What they don't seem to realize is that the man in the White House can exert quite an influence on a lot of us in uniform. He can promote or veto a military pay raise. He can sign a declaration of war, putting us into action against an enemy. He can, with intelligence and resourcefulness avoid a major conflict.

The President can influence Congress to increase the strength of the armed forces, or suggest they cut our number down below our need. The man your vote puts into the White House is very closely related to us as Marines and Navymen.

Throughout history Americans have cherished their right to vote. Men have fought to achieve their status as voters; women have struggled to gain that privilege. If you pass up the opportunity to cast your ballot, you surrender one of the greatest freedoms we enjoy. To relinquish this part of your heritage is to neglect your role as a good American.

Hardest Battle Is Ourselves

"Our hardest battle is winning a victory over ourselves!"

Are we all willing to say, "God, take my life and make it what it ought to be. Here are all my plans and purposes, Lord. In Thy will." It will be harder for us to defeat our selfish selves than the enemy. It is easier for a young man to master a tank, than it is for him to master his temper. It is harder, sometimes, to face ridicule than a rifle. It is sometimes easier to teach a man to control an airplane than to control his own appetite. The liquor traffic is knocking out a million men a year in industry and military service in this country, merely because we cannot conquer ourselves.

Christianity also gives to a man the light on how to come to a personal victory in his life. It enables him to get victory over himself. Jesus Christ, first of all, helps a man to discover his sins and his shortcomings. Having discovered those sins, you can "cover" them—with the mercy of God. You can come to the cross of Christ and by accepting that sacrifice for your sins, through faith and true repentance, receive His forgiveness and His righteousness.

But a man wants more than a pardon for the sins of yesterday. He, if he is a man at all, wants power over the sins of tomorrow. This, too, Christ can give him. Men did not live at their best if they feel that the end of it all is a "pile of ashes and a skull." They need the warming light of the Christian faith that will enable them to look down into eternity unafraid.

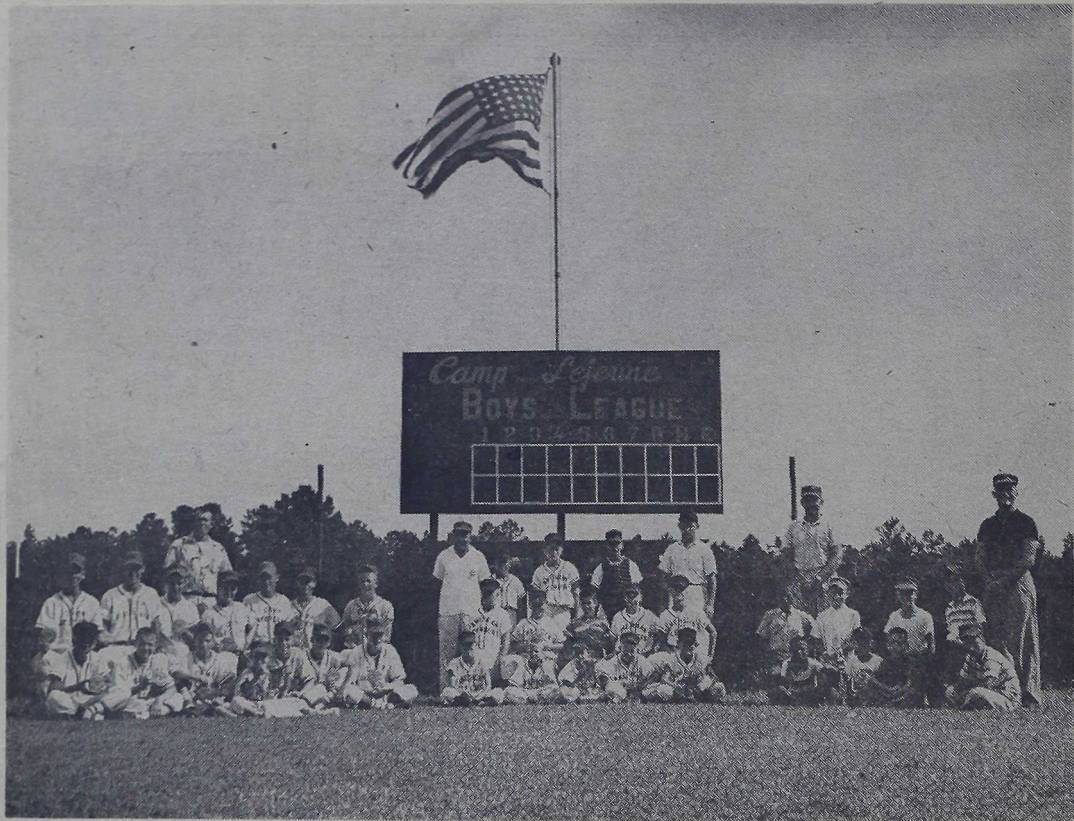

When you laugh at the fellow who kneels beside his bunk to talk to God, you laugh at the greatest thing America has ever found in the way of power. The greatest leaders America has had, have been men who have known how to bend the knee. There will be little use of our giving to preserve freedom of worship if we do not use the freedom to worship.

Stand by God, men, and He will stand by you. Go along with God and then you need fear nothing. As to your own life, whatever strikes it, you can say, "When once my life has been placed in the hollow of Christ's hand, whatever strikes me must strike me there, and this will keep me unafraid."

Modern Marine Corps Taking On New Look

The New Look

Amphibious combat readiness and modernization are two primary objectives of today's Marine Corps. Facing the threat of total war, limited war, and potential enemy nations armed with modern weapons systems, the Marine Corps is conducting an extensive research and development program aimed at insuring Marine Corps readiness to execute amphibious operations under a wide range of combat conditions, nuclear and conventional.

Men and material are geared to the future. Modification and change have become routine. The objective of this activity is to provide today's Marines, and tomorrow's, with the best weapons and equipment U. S. military technology can produce.

Much of the Corps' research and development activity is concentrated at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. Here the Marine Corps Landing Force Development Center tests and evaluates the weapons, equipment and combat techniques which will be used by Leatherneck fighting men in event of war or national emergency.

Some of the items are in an early development stage; others have reached Marine combat units in the field.

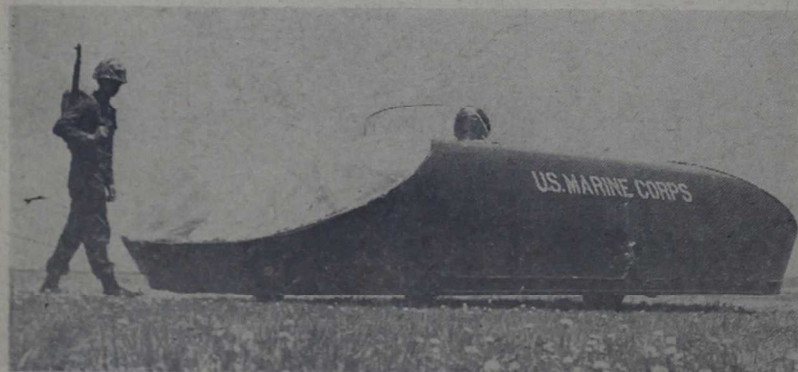

Among the experimental weapons currently undergoing tests at the Landing Force Development Center is a light anti-tank (LAW), which resembles a sawed-off 3.5 rocket launcher.

Another is the new 115mm boosted rocket XM-70. This first automatic field artillery weapon can fire six rounds in two and a half seconds and was developed by the U. S. Army for the Marine Corps.

Other items being tested at the Quantico Development Center are atomic, biological and chemical protective clothing; a ground effect machine which floats on a cushion of compressed air, new battle dress which consists of a dual-purpose load carrying and body armor unit, a laminated fiber glass ballistic helmet and armored footwear to minimize injuries from anti-personnel mines.

Three pieces of battle equipment that have already been tested and which are now or soon will be in operation in the Marine Corps are the ONTOS anti-tank weapon, YRON-1 helicopter and the new M-14 rifle.

Line Boys League Ends Season, Victors Crowned

Reed, emerged the victor in the Pony League after a hard-fought season. In Major League, Pete Heggs' Pirates took first honors. The scrappy youngsters of the Senators, led by Jim Wilt, were champions in the Minor League, but all were champions for having participated.

Saturday's festivities began with a field meet for all boys in the league. Running, jumping and baseball throwing for all age groups before an enthusiastic crowd of parents and friends were included in the meet. The victors were awarded T-shirts, ball gloves, or baseball bats at the end of the meet by Col. G. H. West, ITR commander.

Following the field meet, the three champion teams assembled before the grandstands to receive the fruits of their victory. The trophies for each of the leagues were awarded by Col. H. G. Lawrence Jr., chairman of the Youth Activity Committee. Colonel Lawrence commended the boys on their spirit and determination and expressed his appreciation for the support given to the program by parents and coaches.

Two special awards were given to Mike Reed and Eddie Hunt for their hard work as bat boys for the season. Each boy competing in the league was given a patch to wear on his sweater or jacket. The patches read, "Camp Lejeune Boys League, 1960."

After the awards, the boys and their guests began to fill themselves with baseball's traditional food—hot dogs. Plenty of ice cream and Kool Aid were available to top off the perfect day.

Tired, full and happy, the boys now prepare for the coming football season, and look forward to next year's baseball.

They play for the fun of it, but at the same time they learn the rules of good sportsmanship and citizenship. The Little League field, is where future athletes are made and where tomorrow's leaders learn valuable lessons unobtainable anywhere else.

Hawaii Player Is Rookie In Classic Event

Eighteen years of age, first All-Marine Tournament and first year of service competition complete the picture of the youngest member of all three teams competing in the 10th annual All-Marine Baseball Championships which got underway at Camp Lejeune yesterday.

Private Jerry Henry attached to Security Company, Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor, and outfielder of the Hawaiian Marines baseball team is said to be rookie of this year's event.

Entering the Corps in August of last year, Henry underwent his basic training at San Diego. Upon completion of his training he spent several months at Camp Pendleton.

Over 60 Years' Experience Guides Umpires' Decisions

Sixty-one years of combined officiating and playing experience is being drawn on by umpires during the 10th All-Marine Baseball Championship being held at Agganis Field this week. Heading the quartet of officials is Mr. Clarence Barnhill, a native of near Greenville, N. C. Mr. Barnhill has been officiating organized baseball for over 17 years. After playing semi-pro ball in Greenville for three years, the veteran was umpire and chief in the Coastal Plains League for seven. When not behind the plate calling balls and strikes, Mr. Barnhill operates a tobacco farm between Greenville and New Bern, N. C.

Also a veteran umpire in semi-pro and service baseball and a very familiar face at Harry Agganis Field is Mr. Jim Mallory. A graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he played baseball and football, Mallory played nine years of professional baseball, including four seasons in the Majors

Baseball Vet Nearing Final Playing Days

The old-timer in this year's All-Marine Baseball Tournament is GySgt. David B. Petros of the Lejeune squad. Pete, a veteran of over 15 years of service baseball, has played on every Marine Team on the East Coast. The only team away from the East Coast Pete saw action with was Hawaii in 1952-53.

This is the second All-Marine for Pete, his first was in 1957 when he was a member of the Parris Island Squad, which lost to San Diego.

Three All-Navy Championships Petros also played in three All-Navy Championships, when a member of the Quantico club in 1948-49-50.

Having no definite plans for next season, Pete stated that if he did play it would be his last year of service ball, since he plans on retiring in March of 1962.

Expressing his views on the Tournament, Pete said, "It is the most wonderful thing in playing, and to the team receiving the Championship trophy, it is the biggest thing that could happen all season." He also stated that the excitement and anxiety of every player surrounding this tournament was equal to that of the world series.

Last year Petros was the head baseball coach for Quantico. He is a member of Co. "A", Headquarters Bn., Marines Corps Base.

MR. SMITH

Mr. Smith has been calling the shots behind the plate for 13 years. While attending two years at North Carolina State and completing his education at East Carolina College, Smith was a three-letter man in baseball, basketball and football. Smith, while in the service, was the Athletic Director of the Coast Guard Air Station, Elizabeth City, N. C. Like Mr. Mallory, Smith when not behind the catcher, is affiliated with the Athletic Department of his Alma Mater, ECC, where he is head mentor of the varsity basketball squad.

Rounding out the team of officials for this year's tournament is Mr. Joseph Griffin. A graduate of Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, N. C., Mr. Griffin has been officiating three major sports—baseball, basketball and football—for nearly six years. Mr. Griffin also has six years' playing experience in the Evangeline and Alabama-Florida League while belonging to the Milwaukee-Cleveland chain from 1950-55. A former member of the Marine Corps, Mr. Griffin served over two years during World War II, some of this time at Camp Lejeune. Recently moving from Edenton, N. C., where he began his baseball career, Griffin now resides in Williamston, N. C.

Opening Game Rained Out; Tournament Dates Extended

As if we weren't busy enough with brochures, programs, score cards and news releases, what has happened? It rained and forced the first game of the 10th All-Marine Baseball Championships to be postponed until yesterday, which naturally is one day after the GLOBE deadline. Our anxiety to cover the biggest sporting event to come to Lejeune since our assignment to the sports desk, was soon drenched in the constant downpour of Tuesday afternoon. A call from coach Hal Glasgow informed us that the game was cancelled.

This is actually where the fun began, for we had laid out the sports section to include All-Marine coverage on page eight. To be exact, if we didn't dream up something, 29 column inches of this paper would have been white and not too much to read.

When we left our office late in the evening, still seeing rain everywhere, and when we left for Mount Olive, N. C., where the GLOBE is printed, yesterday morning, the cancelled game was to have been played last night. But, of course, this is only a prediction and things would have certainly had to dry out.

In the event the opener did take place last night, we can imagine that you baseball fans saw a fine game with Haywood on the mound for Lejeune and possible starter Chuck Zehmer, who had compiled a season record of six wins against three defeats, hurling for Hawaii.

Victor Rests

The victor of that contest will get a rest as the loser will face Doyle Stout's nine from San Diego tonight in what should also be a fierce battle to hang on or a title shot. No word has been received from coach Stout as to who will be on the hill for the West Coast representatives, but possible starters could be himself with a 19-9 record or Ed Hottell with a 18-2 ledger. While coach Glasgow is counting on plenty of power at the plate from centerfielder and lead-off man Cliff Simpson who is currently leading the team in the base-hit department, sluggers Sam Valentine, Hal Norton, Barry Fullerton and Charlie Armstrong are expected to give the fans something to think over in the championship effort.

West-Coast Shows 60-24 Mark

During the regular 1960 season, the West Coast nine won the 11th Naval District League championship, undefeated with a 13-0 mark while scoring a 60-24 as of July 28. The Hawaii Marines, representing the Far East had a 1960 record of 30 wins and 27 losses.

Camp Lejeune closed out the regular season with a 64-19 record including the East Coast Area Championship.

Glasgow is seeking his second consecutive All-Marine title after two setbacks, one at Lejeune in 1958 and the first in Hawaii. Last year's victory in the annual classic was Lejeune's second, the first being in 1951 when hurler Bob Grim, now with the Kansas City Athletics, led the locals to the title. If Lejeune would win the coveted honors for the second straight year, they will have been the only team to do so other than San Diego, which turned the trick in 1957 and 1958.

This is the fourth season in a row that Glasgow has fielded a team in the annual event with three seasons coming during his coaching at Lejeune.

SAN DIEGO THREATENS—Coach Doyle Stout, left, and top hurler for the San Diego nine with a season record of 19 wins against nine losses, will be counting on Bill Lister, right, to produce the big bat during tonight's game. Lister leads the West Coast nine with 14 home runs, and over 90 RBIs.

Tenth Consecutive Win Ends Successful Season

Although out-hit 7 to 3, the Camp Lejeune Marines closed out a very successful season of 64 victories against only 19 defeats with a 3-1 win over the Saints of Ft. Gordon last Monday night. The final victory of the campaign was the 10th in a row for the locals after their 8-0 shut-out over the Soldiers the previous evening. Right-hander Charlie Bryan went the distance in the contest, scattering seven hits throughout the game while fanning 10 batters and issuing only one base on balls.

Jumping into a 1-0 lead in the third inning, the Saints saw their hopes for revenge of the prior loss dwindle as shortstop Charlie Armstrong opened up the visitor's half of the third with a single, stole second, moved to third on a fly ball by first baseman Hal Norton, and stole home for the tying run.

Rightfielder Sam Valentine reached first on an error in the next inning and took second on an overthrow at first base. He then scored as Bryan was safe on the third miscre of the frame.

With Bryan hurling scoreless ball, the locals scored still another run in the fifth frame as Norton walked, took second on a passed ball, stole third and scored on the second passed ball of the inning to end the scoring.

Other than Armstrong's safety in the third inning, leftfielder Dave Petros and Bryan also collected a hit each for the Marines.

It was a very promising road trip for the Marines as they won five straight, two from Parris Island, 2-1 and 8-1, and three while at Gordon.

It was the seventh victory of the season for Bryan against only one loss. Bryan was transferred to Lejeune and figures to be of great aid during the All-Marine Championships continuing tonight at Harry Agganis Field.

All-Mar Golf Tryout Set For Next Week

Qualifying round for the 1960 All-Marine Golf Championship in September will be held at the Paradise Point Golf Course Aug. 18, 19 and 20. In order to participate in the Championship matches a golfer must have an established handicap of seven or less. All persons interested in the qualifying rounds should sign up in the Pro-shop at the course as soon as possible.

The trials will be 54-hole medal play with the top 10 golfers going to Parris Island, who are hosting the title rounds.

The Pro-Am tournament is scheduled to be held Aug. 17, and will also take place at the Lejeune Golf Course. Entry fee for the tournament is $5 and interested golfers should sign up in the Pro-shop before play begins.

Division Linksters Capture Base Intramural Golf Title

The 2nd Marine Division's Group II golf team captured the Quad-Command golf championship last week with a convincing 15½-8½ victory over the Air Facility No. 1 team here.

The Group II linksters gained the finals by whipping the 2nd FSR 14-10 in a first round match played Tuesday. The Air Facility downed the Division's Tenth Marines, 14½-9½, and the Marine Corps Base Supply School aggregation, 15½-8½, to gain the final round.

2nd FSR wound up the three-day tournament in third place followed by the Tenth Marines and the Air Facility's No. 2 team.

Bill O'Brian paced the Division team to its second consecutive Quad-Command title with an even par 72 in the opening match and a sizzling 70 in the title round. Dick Dixon fashioned rounds of 75 and 77 while Hank Kajdacz carded rounds of 80 and 76. Other members of the winning team were Jack Dibble, Hal Bohrer, Bob Ward, Jim Kruze and Al McCabe. Three members of the runner-up team holed out with identical aggregate 225 scores. Reinhardt Leu, George Greeky, and Jack Cosley fired 74-77-74, 75-74-76, and 75-75, respectively.

'Shark,' Not Buddy Makes For Aquatic 'About Face'

Camp Boys League Sets Football Tryout

One hundred boys have registered for the selection to football teams for the 1960 Boys League. Tryouts will get under way Monday night at 5 p.m. at the league field under the watchful eyes of the coaches, Al Rappold, Jim Reed, Bob Oliver and Bill Dunn, plus their assistants. Each of the four teams will play a 12-game schedule with opening festivities at 12:30 p.m., Sept. 11, with a double-header being played every Sunday beginning at 1 and 3 p.m.

Boys desiring to register may continue to do so by reporting to the club house at the entrance of the Boys League field.

for a skin diving session. Because the water was too rough in their usual Kaneohe Bay diving areas, they anchored in calmer waters near Coconut Island.

Two members, SSgt. F. D. Bennett and LCpl. J. D. Douglas, went into the water with their face masks to make qualification dives. From the surface, Douglas spotted a shark about 10 feet below him. Keeping his eyes on the killer below, he reached over and tapped his fellow skin diver, to warn him of the shark below.

Getting no response from his tapping, Douglas turned his head and found that instead of Bennett, it was another five-and-a-half foot tiger shark next to him.

Both the swimmer and the shark were shocked. Douglas did an aquatic about-face and headed for the boat while the shark made even better time in vacating the area in the opposite direction.

Two Lejeune Teams After FMFLant Title

The 1960 FMFLant softball tournament got underway Monday. Vying for the crown and a spot in the Atlantic Fleet Tournament in Norfolk are all-star aggregations from MAG-32, Beaufort, S. C.; 2nd MAW, Cherry Point, N. C.; Force Troops, and 2nd Division from Lejeune.

First day action saw the 2nd Division assume the favorite's role in the double-elimination affair by edging the defending champion, 2nd MAW, with a come-from-behind, 4-2 victory. In the second game, MAG-32 swept past Force Troops, 5-2.

The Cherry Pointers took a quick lead in the first inning by touching Enderle for two unearned runs on two errors, a walk, and a two-out single by Johnson. The lanky right-hander proved rough on the Wing, scattering only three hits over the rest of the route.

The Division put together four runs in the third to ice the contest. The big right-hander shut out the Division on one hit the rest of the way, but the damage had been done.

MAG-32 jumped on Force Troops hurler, Herm Keeton, for three runs in the third inning on a single, a walk, a two-run error, and a triple by opposing hurler Don Eaton.

Force Troops rallied for two runs in the top of the fourth on a single, two doubles and a perfectly executed squeeze by Harris. Eaton was equal to the task, shutting the door on the Lejeune entrant the rest of the way.

Final Week On Tap For Staff Keglers

With one week remaining in the split league, Falstaff swept three points from Herb Sunshine to move into first place in the high six division.

D&E Car Exchange defeated National Bohemian, 3-1, and Stiles Van & Storage dropped Budweiser by the same score.

After a three-way tie in the low six league last week, this week's play sees Rock-N-Roll Drive-In in the driver's seat after a four-point sweep over the Brown Baggers. Courthouse Bay Staff Club blanked New River Pharmacy and Pioneer American Insurance Co. downed Gulfpride Service, 3-1.

Individual highs went to: Falstaff—Carl Treßler, 217 and Paul Vasko, 576; Herb Sunshine—Art Bloss, 237 and Lew Nicoletta, 580; D&E Car Exchange—Jake Pugh, 179 and Dom Anzilotti, 484; National Bohemian—Frank Conneen, 169 and P. A. Davis, 486; Stiles Van & Storage—Willie McCabe, 180-577, and Budweiser—Jim Wells, 169-474.

Rock-N-Roll Drive-In—Frank Szafranski, 211-542; Brown Bagger—Hoppy Hopkins, 200-493; Pioneer American Insurance—Moon Mooney, 784 and William Myers, 502; Gulfpride Service—Lee Blanding, 199-490; Courthouse Bay Staff Club—Marv Cook, 240-558; New River Pharmacy—Moe Wulf, 143-410.

Base Regulations Outline School Bus Passing Laws

The opening of school in September will bring back to the highways many buses which have had a summer's rest. Hundreds of children will be riding the buses, children whose lives are often in the hands of motorists. Statutes of the State of North Carolina and Camp Lejeune traffic regulations plainly forbid the passing of a school bus, church bus or Sunday school bus which is stopped and engaged in loading or unloading passengers. Anyone convicted of violating these statutes can be fined as much as $50 or be imprisoned for as long as 30 days.

The only exception to the rule of coming to a complete stop behind a bus which is receiving or discharging passengers is made when the highway is divided into roadways by an intervening space or physical barrier, such as Holcomb Boulevard. If this is the case, the car need not stop upon meeting or passing a bus which has stopped in the roadway across the dividing space.

North Carolina law provides that school and passenger buses must come to a complete stop at all railroad crossings. The law does not require the motorist to stop also, but drivers are urged to first determine that there are no passengers loading or unloading before passing the stopped bus.

The provisions of these statutes apply only if the school, church, privately-owned or Sunday school bus bears upon the front and rear a plainly visible sign with the words "School Bus," "Church Bus" or "Sunday School Bus" in letters not less than five inches in height.

However, Camp Lejeune drivers are reminded that Base regulations regarding stopping behind buses apply not only to school or church buses but to all buses on the reservation.

Mass Jump Marks Recon Ceremonies

Second Force Reconnaissance Co. staged an elaborate change of command ceremony at the Air Facility Aug. 8 as Maj. David M. Twomey relieved Capt. P. X. Kelley as commanding officer of the unit.

The ceremony began with a jump by the Pathfinder Team whose purpose it was to mark the drop zone for the mass jump. The Recon Company was then formed in company formation with full jumping gear, and was presented to Brig. Gen. Leonard C. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops.

General Chapman trooped the line and after the passing of the company guidon from Captain Kelley to Major Twomey, the command to "load aircraft" was given. One TF plane and three R4Q's were employed in the mass jump.

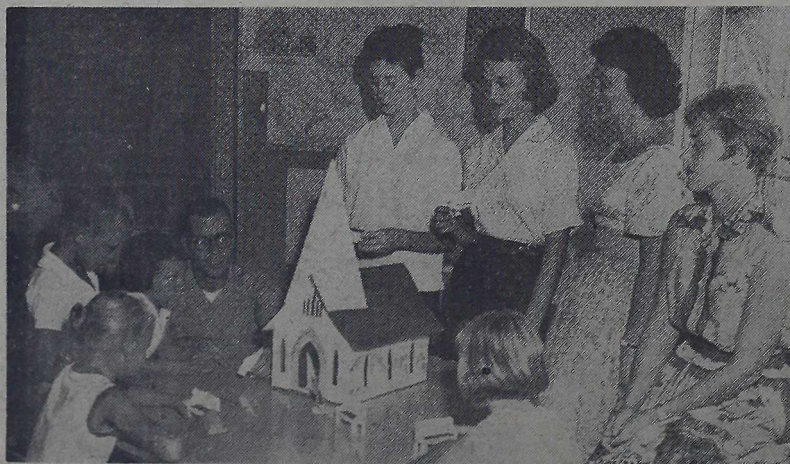

Major Twomey and Captain Kelley jumped from the TF while the entire Recon Company jumped from the three R4Q's. The Force Troops Drum and Bugle Corps played the "Marine Corps Hymn" as the jumpers floated to the deck. Two members of the company, SSgt. Satterthwaite and SSgt. A. Mobely jumped with dress blues to mark their 50th jump as members of the company.

Captain Kelley has attended the Airborne Course at Ft. Benning, Ga., and Pathfinder School, also at Ft. Benning. Prior to coming to Camp Lejeune, Captain Kelley was assigned to "C" Co., Hq. Bn., HQMC, as aerial assistant. Captain Kelley's new assignment takes him to London, England, for duty with the Royal Marines.

Major Twomey came to 2nd Recon from Quantico, Va., where he attended the Junior Course during Fiscal Year 60. Prior to Junior School, Major Twomey was assigned to Hq. Bn., HQMC. Major Twomey is a graduate of the Jump Course and the Airborne Course at Ft. Benning. Major Twomey saw service in Korea from March, 1952, to July, 1953. Among his awards are the Navy and Marine Corps medal and the Bronze Star with Combat "V" and one star.

PTA

Parents registering their children for the coming school year are reminded that tables will be set up for membership for PTA. Fee for year—50 cents. ## Mrs. John Oliver Displays Top Originality In Midway Park Wives' Crazy Hat Show

Clothes pins, lamp shades, bird cages, even a shotgun set the fashion stage last Thursday morning when ladies of the Midway Park Wives Club compared their unique creativity at a "Crazy Hat Party" held during their weekly meeting at the park's Community Building. Modeling headpieces of the incomparable "women's imagination," the wives promenaded in a circle led by Mrs. D. R. Womack, president. After a short "pass in review" in front of the judges, 11 finalists were selected for categories of most "explosive," most "chick," most original, and seven for hats "most suitable for each day of the week."

Guests for the meeting, also acting as judges, were Chaplain W. H. Vinson, Midway Park's chaplain, and Mr. J. T. Heavey, housing manager. Chaplain Vinson gave a brief talk to the ladies before presenting the gifts after which Mrs. John Oliver received top award for "most original." Mrs. Oliver modeled an unusually striking hat made from a terry-cloth towel in a swirl arrangement. Clipped onto the towel placed in tiers were 50 clothes pins. Topping off this winning number, Mrs. Oliver chose a cluster of red roses to form a 12-inch crown. She was presented with a four-piece jewelry set encased in a blue brocade handbag.

Other 10 winners in the contest were Mrs. J. Henderson, most "explosive," wearing a Davy Crockett lampshade under a shotgun; Mrs. T. James, most "chick," birdcage; Mrs. B. Barnhill, Sunday hat, laces, ruffles, and balloons; Mrs. M. Jones, Monday hat, laundry, clothes line, pins; Mrs. H. Reed, Tuesday hat, cooking theme of vegetables, utensils; Mrs. M. Bradley, Wednesday hat, recreation miniatures; Miss Linda Turner, Thursday hat,

The members also plan to discuss their coming Executive Board election to be held in September. Refreshments will be served during the meeting. The usual free nursery will be available for all Geiger mothers attending the get-together.

A Card Party, on August 23, and Covered Dish Luncheon August 30, fills the Geiger Wives agenda calendar for this month. All women in the area are encouraged to attend.

Duane Carter Safety Films Seen By 7000

Highway safety lectures were given to about 7000 Lejeune Marines here last Thursday and Friday by Duane Carter, famed Indianapolis "500" race driver.

The Champion Safety lectures feature famous race drivers, such as Carter, who drew heavily from their racing experience to illustrate three basic points of safe driving: mental alertness, courtesy, and good car condition.

The hard-hitting talks were accompanied by a 27-minute sound color film made during the 1959 "500" race to demonstrate safe driving points.

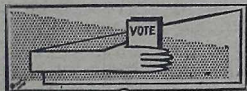

This unique approach to the serious problem of highway safety was developed five years ago to augment the work of driver education teachers in secondary schools throughout the country.

Mr. Carter has competed in the Indianapolis "500" 10 times during his 25-year racing career. He has never won the "500," but has finished in the top 10 at various times.

In last year's race Carter finished in the No. 12 spot after a spin-out on his 42nd lap. Carter said he came into the northeast turn with two other cars and was too high on the track for the speed he was going.

He said that speed is the most important thing in his business, but it should be kept on a race track and off the highways.

Planned trips, adequate rest periods, highway courtesy, car condition checks and observing speed limits were cited by Carter as rules for enjoyable trips and personal safety.

Bloodmobile Collects Over 250 Pints During First Day

More than 250 men of 2nd Division, Force Troops and the Marine Corps Air Facility gave a pint of their blood Tuesday during the first day of the second visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Camp Lejeune. Red Cross officials were optimistic that an even larger number of donors would line up and bare their arms Wednesday, the second and final day of the program, to bring the total number of pints to more than 500.

The Bloodmobile, operating out of the Charlotte Blood Bank, made its first visit to Camp Lejeune May 10 and 11 of this year under a new program set up by Mr. L. M. Sherriff, Red Cross Field Director at Camp Lejeune. The quarterly, two-day visit of the Bloodmobile is expected to net well over 500 pints of blood each time.

A blood bank is not always open with blood for anyone at anytime without cost or obligation. Persons getting transfusion must sometimes pay for the blood, or replace it on a two-for-one basis.

Through the program instituted by Mr. Sherriff, Camp Lejeune personnel and their immediate families may now receive blood in any emergency, even though the individual Marine was not able to donate blood himself. Because the program receives active support on a regular, four-times-a-year basis, the man and his family are protected as long as he is a member of a Camp Lejeune command, during the entire period of an overseas tour from Camp Lejeune, or six months after he is separated at or transferred from Camp Lejeune.

Another reason for Camp Lejeune personnel to stay away from tattoo shops was pointed up during the Bloodmobile visit. Of the 50 rejected donors, the largest number were not allowed to give their blood because they had been tattooed within the past six months.

The "immediate family" which is eligible to receive blood under the present Camp Lejeune program includes all members of the man's family who are eligible for "Q" allotments, and is not restricted to members living in the household of the man. For example, should a Marine's father, living in Boston, need emergency blood, the Marine needs only to contact the Red Cross there.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE

'Operation Navplion' Ends, Marines Surprise Orphans

"Operation Navplion," conducted by Lt. Col. H. C. Reifel's 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Eighth Marines, ended at Navplion, Greece July 27 highlighted by the night evacuation of a company by helicopter and a surprise party for the less fortunate children of the area. The six-day amphibious exercise, launched from the ships of Amphibious Squadron Two, was designed to test the capability of the task force to put the Marines and their equipment ashore under simulated combat conditions.

In addition to perfecting across-the-beach and vertical assaults, the operation afforded excellent opportunities to engage in tank-infantry and small-unit tactics.

Prior to the landing, the 1st Reconnaissance Platoon disembarked in rubber boats to make a pre-dawn reconnaissance of the beach, clear obstructions and obtain intelligence information.

At H-hour minus one on D-day, June 20, helicopters of Marine Transport Squadron 262 landed a reinforced company in a diversionary "vertical envelopment" in the steep, rocky hills overlooking the air field and landing beach.

At H-hour, the assault elements hit the beach in landing craft and amphibian tractors and despite the 105-degree weather and rugged terrain, the Camp Lejeune-based Marines quickly deployed inland to seize their assigned objectives.

Closely following the assault waves, the supporting weapons, equipment and personnel of the Battalion Landing Team were put ashore. These included: tanks, ON-TOS, 8" self-propelled guns, bulldozers, cranes, trucks and other "tools of the trade."

By the second day of the campaign, field kitchens were set up and all hands enjoyed three-day hot meals.

Resembling giant bees gathering nectar, the Marine helicopters flew constantly between ship and shore with their precious cargo of water, food, weapons and ammunition in an aerial supply and resupply of the Battalion Landing Team.

At 8:30 p.m., June 26, Capt. L. H. Joy's "D" Company was called upon to repel an "enemy" landing force on Red Beach. Helicopters were signalled into "D" Company's mountainous perimeter by Pathfinderers who had parachuted in just minutes earlier.

The company was hell-lifted successfully to the beach where they quickly disposed of the "aggressor" troops.

Pleased with the overall showing of his men under the adverse conditions, Colonel Reifel ordered short break in training for a beach party while he and several members of his command flew to Navplion where they gave a party to the less fortunate children of the area.

The party, complete with ice cream, doughnuts, candy, and kites was prepared in conjunction with Navplion's Director of Welfare.

Between 150 and 200 children of all ages were on hand to greet the Marines and the biggest hit of the day were the helicopters. Upon request, the pilots put their aerobically steered through a spectacular "dance" to the delight of the children and the townspeople.

Next, the Marines showed the children how to assemble and fly the kites that were distributed under the auspices of the Sixth Fleet and the Navy League.

After bidding good farewells, the Marines boarded the planes and returned to the business at hand, conducting mountain warfare training.

This is the third amphibious landing made by the 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Eighth Marines, since their arrival on June 1 in the Mediterranean where they are serving the amphibious arm of the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

Once all men and materials are reembarbed, the ships of Amphibious Squadron Two will steam for Tarranto, Italy, for five days of liberty and recreation.

Three Jailed In Camp Lejeune Pistol Theft

Two former Camp Lejeune Marines, Leo Joseph Rick and James Henry Miller, and an ex-convict, Ronald Edward Ross, were arrested Aug. 3 by the FBI and Carolina Beach police for theft of 85 pistols from Bldg. 1317 of the Camp Lejeune Industrial Area during the weekend of May 13-15. The men were apprehended at Carolina Beach after Rick attempted to sell one of the 45's. All of the pistols were recovered.

The three are being held on charges of stealing government property and concealing and retaining stolen government property. They are now in the New Hanover County Jail, awaiting trial in Federal Court after waiving preliminary examinations before U. S. Commissioner Charles W. Sumner.

Miller was stationed at Montford Point before he was released from the Marine Corps on Aug. 29, 1959. Rick was discharged in June of this year and was a member of the Ordnance Maintenance Platoon, 2nd Force Service Regiment, before discharge. Both men have made written confessions and are being held under $5,000 bond. Ross is being held under a $1,000 bond.

General Puller

Mr. Burke Davis, well-known North Carolina author, will visit Camp Lejeune Aug. 29 to interview men who have served with Lt. Gen. Lewis B. "Chesty" Puller, USMC (ret.). Mr. Burke is compiling a biography of General Puller and desires to talk with men who served with or knew him. Anyone having information, anecdotes, etc. regarding the general is requested to call the Information Services Office, phone 7-5655.

being taken from five buildings at Camp Geiger which have been surveyed and are now being razed. As the workers tear down the buildings, the lumber is taken to the construction site where another party of ITR personnel use it to erect the new buildings.

Combat Town is to teach Marines at ITR the fundamentals of street fighting and door-to-door and house-to-house combat. The new village will enable the trainees to recreate as realistically as possible an actual combat situation.

Prior to making their assault on the town, ITR personnel have been fully indoctrinated for nearly four weeks in all aspects of individual combat training. During the first week, the men are taught such basic subjects as combat formations, hand and arm signals, and use of the rifle in combat situations.

The more advanced second week presents instruction and practice in infiltration techniques, compass reading, patrolling, individual movement at night, demolition and booby traps, field fortifications, infiltration course, hand and rifle grenades, land mines, reconnaissance patrols and classified information.

During the third week, the Marines receive more specialized training in many subjects already studied. They are introduced to more complex fighting situations, courses with titles such as: the fire team as security, the fire team in an attack, the fire team in defense, night combat, construction of obstacles, squad fire and maneuvers, and close combat.

The intensive training comes to a climax during the fourth week, when the Marines are led in attacks on fortified positions and the assault on Combat Town.

Private Vehicle 'Road-o' First Staged In 2nd Division

The 2nd Bn., Second Marines, still carries the name of three Marines on its rolls thanks to its ambitious traffic safety program. The safety conscious unit, commanded by Col. F. F. Eubanks Jr., hasn't stopped or even slowed in its drive to prevent traffic accidents. It started just before the 4th of July weekend last month. The accident rate was mounting instead of decreasing, and a new approach was tried by the 2nd Battalion to cope with the weekend traffic accident problem.

With the Labor Day weekend approaching, the battalion is continuing its automobile inspection program and Aug. 3 held what is believed to be first privately owned automobile Road-o ever staged in the 2nd Division.

The Battalion's motor transport personnel personally inspected each privately owned vehicle for defects which might have developed since the last Base inspection or even been overlooked by the owner. It was the contention of the unit's safety officer, 1st Lt. W. R. Hillsman, that an impartial inspector might find defects that could conceivably save a life.

All privately owned vehicles within the battalion were pulled at the parking lot and inspected meticulously. Engine, clutch, brakes, steering, exhaust and muffler, tires, accessories, horn, lights, glass, generator fan belt were all rated as satisfactory or unsatisfactory. Any unsatisfactory on any of the items automatically deadlined the vehicle until the discrepancies were corrected.

A record of the safety check maintained by all companies in the battalion, and after all vehicles had been checked three failed the inspection. To point out the unbiased theme of the inspection, one of the vehicles that failed to measure up to present safety standards was owned by a member of the inspection team. Overnight all three vehicles were put in mechanically safe operation.

As thorough as the vehicle inspection program was, there were still Marines in the battalion maintained that not only did vehicles have to be safe but the operator should be made conscious of his capabilities as a driver. Safety lectures had helped but a practical test had to be devised to point out a driver's weaknesses.

Truck road-o's have been standard used to select outstanding truck drivers. Why not privately owned vehicle road-o? Second Battalion motor transport personnel set up a course patterned after a standard truck road-o. Five events were included; parking, maneuvering, backing, strait line driving, and braking. The event was held at the Base Field House parking lot.

When the brakes had stopped squealing, and each contestant had proven how good a driver he was (it was surprising how close the race for top honors was) Pfc B. F. Tracey had negotiated the course with fewer errors and was awarded the top prize of a 96-hour pass. Runner up was Pfc H. L. Seaver who won a 71-hour pass.

The inspection of privately owned vehicles is continuing and everyone within the battalion from the commander down to the company clerks has his vehicle inspected monthly. The aim of the battalion is not to go with just certain weekend accident free, but to rack up an entire year without an accident.
