An Editorial

'My Neck Was Crushed, I Couldn't See Nor Hear'

By PFC LANCE B. RUTH

On Feb. 23, I was involved in a very serious automobile accident. Today I feel it is a tribute to the Navy Medical Department here at Camp Lejeune that I am still alive.

My buddies and I were coming back from a long weekend at Washington, D. C., We were very tired and very foolishly traveling at a high rate of speed to get back in time. About five miles outside of Greenville, N. C., our car left the highway and rolled over three times. I was thrown out the back window.

I received a crushed neck and numerous lacerations about the head. Later, most of my hair came out, and I couldn't see nor hear. I was on my back for 45 days just staring at the ceiling—not able to turn my neck, nor talk to my friends. My mother came to see me but I was unconscious. Now I am sorry for the agony and anxiety I caused her.

Let me tell you something: Car wrecks are a terrible thing. They not only cause you considerable and needless pain and suffering, but your parents suffer, too, for they are the ones who receive the telegram.

Today, six months later, I am still under doctors' care. My hair has grown back and I can see and hear again, but I have scars all over me, and my neck still gives me pain. The bad part is injuries such as mine stay with you the rest of your life.

I am not writing this article to derive pity from anyone. I only hope that maybe someone, by reading this article, will be able to avoid an accident this Labor Day weekend.

Third Month Of Med Cruise Ends With Roman Holiday

Camp Lejeune based Leathernecks of the 1st Bn. (Reinf.), Eighth Marines, have completed the third month of their Mediterranean cruise with a goodwill visit to Rome and a seven-day "airbribe" exercise in southern Sardinia. Commanded by Lt. Col. H. C. Reifel, the battalion landing team disembarked from the ships of Amphibious Squadron Two on Aug. 12, in a combined amphibious and helicopter assault landing demonstration of the Marine Corps' vertical development doctrine.

The landing, the fourth such training exercise held by the Eighth Marines since they arrived in the Mediterranean on June 1, followed a six-day good will and sightseeing visit to Rome.

While on a sightseeing tour of Rome, approximately 400 Marines and Navy men attended a special audience with Pope John XXIII at the summer residence—Castel Donatello, 30 miles southwest of

Commissions Now Offered Navy Chiefs

The Navy has instituted a new program designed to fill an urgent need for experienced junior officers. The Secretary of the Navy feels the older chief petty officers in pay grades E-7, E-8 and E-9 are excellent prospects to receive an officer's commission.

Commanding officers are invited to nominate regular Navy chief petty officers of their command who had at least 18 years and six months of active Naval service on July 1, 1960. The nominated men will be considered by a selection board to convene in the early fall, and those chosen will be appointed to the grade of Lieutenant (junior grade) under the Limited Duty Officer Temporary program.

The message from the Secretary of the Navy which announced the new program asks commanding officers to nominate only those men who the commanding officers would desire to have serve under them as commissioned officers.

For further information see BuPers Note 1120.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL

Full Twenty May Be Required Soon

Marines who retire with 19 years, six months' service may not be eligible for full retainer pay, according to AINav 23 received here last week. According to the AINav, a recent decision of the Comptroller General has indicated the questionable legality of crediting a fractional year of six months or more as a full year for basic pay purposes in computing retainer pay, under Title 10 of the U. S. Code.

Until final determination on this matter, personnel who are authorized transfer to the Fleet Reserve and Fleet Marine Corps Reserve on a date based on credit for a fractional year of six months or more for basic pay purposes, will be afforded the option of remaining on active duty to complete a full year of service.

On all applications for transfer to the Fleet Reserve, the following signed statement must be submitted: "I desire transfer to the Fleet Reserve on date based on (blank) years for pay," or "I understand that transfer to the Fleet Reserve on the date requested may result in reduced retainer pay."

Commanding officers of naval personnel authorized transfer to the Fleet Reserve will defer transfer until the completion of full year's service for pay provided the member so desires. For Marine Corps personnel, commanding officers should report by message those desiring deferment and return the authorization for transfer to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve for cancellation and reissue.

Marine Corps Announces Manpower Test Program

The future tactical organization of the Fleet Marine Forces will depend heavily on the results of a four-phase test and evaluation program now in progress, Headquarters Marine Corps disclosed last week. Scheduled troop tests under way in the Fleet Marine Forces are designed to expedite the efficient and orderly assimilation and combat service units, during the period September 1960-May 1961.

Phase III: Test of air support and air defense units, commencing November 1960 and continuing.

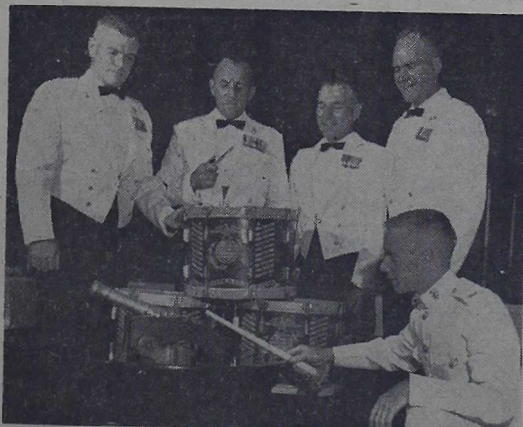

Phase IV: A series of regularly scheduled tests of the division/wing Marine expeditionary force continuing contingent upon determination of optimum structure and composition for this force.

The Commandant, Marine Corps Schools has been assigned responsibility for the overall direction, coordination, and review of the field tests to be conducted by selected Fleet Marine Force units. Scheduled for completion in fiscal year 1962, the program is expected to produce firm results upon which the Corps can base future procurement, reorganization, and training programs.

The four phases of the program are scheduled as follows:

Phase I: Test of basic ground combat units, already in progress and slated for completion in April, 1961.

Phase II: Test of combat support

One will be located at the junction of U.S. 258 and N.C. 41, 19 miles south of Kingston, N.C. and 12 miles north of Richlands, N. C. The other will be located on Hwy. U.S. 117, Wrightsville Beach road, 7 miles North of Wilmington, N.C. Motorists will be directed to the coffee stands by Camp Lejeune's "Tin Soldier" who holds a sign saying "Free Coffee" and "Safety Sam".

Both coffee bars will be open to the public from 5 p.m. Monday afternoon, Sept. 5 through 6:30 a.m. Tuesday morning, Sept. 6.

Lt. Col. W. C. Noren Has Battalion Helm

Lt. Col. W. C. Noren assumed command of the 2nd Division's 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines, at a Regimental Parade at Camp Lejeune on Aug. 19. He relieved Lt. Col. R. W. Autry, who assumed duties as regimental executive officer.

Holder of the Silver Star and Bronze Star for action against the enemy in Korea, Colonel Noren joined the Division earlier this month from the Armed Forces College, Norfolk, Va.

Enlisting in the Marine Corps in May, 1939, the colonel served aboard the USS California and as a drill instructor at San Diego before receiving his commission in October, 1942.

A native of Milaca, Minn., Colonel Noren is married to the former Miss Mary J. Connole of San Diego. They have five children, Judith, 15, Cynthia, 12, Virginia, 8, Eric, 10, and Lief, 6. They reside at 301 Starling Street, Jacksonville, N. C.

To err is human, but it takes a better excuse the second time.

The next day in the National Trophy Team Match he shot a 247-27v, giving him a high Marine aggregated in the two matches and the General Shepherd Trophy.

In individual long range shooting, Cpl. Jerry B. Tamlin, MTU, San Diego, tied the winner for first place in the 1,000-yard Leech Cup Match with a record-breaking possible 100-18v.

Third place in the Herrick Trophy Team Match went to a regular squad team. Members were MSgt. Jesse A. Davenport, GySgt. Carl Arnold Jr., and Albert F. Adams; SSgt. Albert W. Hauser Jr., Robert Diaz, and Hayden B. Russell Jr., all of Marksmanship Training Unit, San Diego.

Cherry Point Marine Saves Friend's Life

A fast-moving Cherry Point Marine is credited with saving the life of an 18-year-old buddy who was almost crushed to death when a generator toppled over on him.

Pfc Wendell L. McLaughlin, a plane captain with Marine All-Weather Fighter Squadron 531, was working on the squadron's flight line when the generator fell on him, fracturing his hip and pelvis, dislocating his back and causing internal injuries.

Pfc Gomer L. Lewellyn, who was working nearby, raced to the unconscious McLaughlin and raised the generator enough to pull McLaughlin from under it.

Lewellyn then applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. He said that the injured Marine's pulse and breathing had all but ceased, and that his face had begun to turn blue.

By the time an ambulance had arrived, McLaughlin had begun to breathe regularly and his pulse had strengthened. When initial examination revealed that McLaughlin's injuries were too extensive for proper treatment at Cherry Point, he was rushed by helicopter to the U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune.

The story of Shep Fields is the story of popular dance music over the past 12 years. For as he progressed, the trade moved forward and his innovations served as a guide for other men who formed the musical tastes of two nations. "Rippling Rhythm" was the musical innovation that first put Shep on the map as a qualified conductor and musician. While the rhythmic style is older than most of the current band interpretations, it has endured through the years due to Shep's never-ending drive for improvement. Today "Rippling Rhythm" ranks with the most easily recognized business signatures or trademarks in the world.

Proper Honors For Flag, Respect For National Anthem Required Of Military, Civilian Alike

Since April 27, 1805, when Marine Lt. Presley N. O'Bannon raised the American flag over the fortress at Derne, Tripoli, confusion has existed as to the proper method of paying homage to our flag. It is said—probably without reference to fact—that for brushing an annoying fly from his nose while the flag was being raised on that day, a private stand. While ignorance of the law is no excuse, it is a great contributor to disobedience. The purpose of this article is to point up the military courtesy actions required and, if possible, disperse some of the confusion.

What is a salute?

A salute is a gesture expressing greeting, welcome, recognition or courtesy. Types of military salutes include hand, rifle, sword, "Eyes Right" or a simple "good morning," dependent upon the occasion. Salutes are exchanged between military personnel in deference to long-standing custom, the junior saluting first and holding the salute until it is returned by the senior.

What action is required of military personnel in uniform but not in formation during an outdoor flag ceremony?

When a band, drum and bugle corps or bugler performs at Morning or Evening Colors or at other outdoor ceremonies where the flag is displayed, the music may be either the National Anthem, "To the Colors," or "Retreat." In some cases a blast of a whistle may be substituted. Whatever the form, the meaning is the same and the action required is identical.

Military personnel in uniform but not in formation are required to face the flag,

During an outdoor occasion when the National Anthem is played but no flag is presented, what is the correct action for MILITARY personnel in UNIFORM?

A good example of this

When the National Anthem is played, but colors are not presented at occasions such as outdoor sporting events, everyone faces the music. People in civilian clothes stand at attention only, and those in uniform salute.

occasions?

Same, except no salute is required. When the music is played but the flag is not displayed, civilians and military personnel in civilian attire face the music, stand at attention, the men removing their headdress. Military in uniform (see above) salute.

During an INDOOR ceremony at which the flag is NOT displayed, what is the proper procedure when the National Anthem is played?

Military personnel wearing headdress render the appropriate salute. When uncovered, military personnel stand at attention. Civilians and military personnel in civilian clothing stand at attention, the men removing their hats.

Is this procedure followed in an indoor ceremony when the national flag is brought forward, presented to the audience and then retired or posted?

No. Civilians and uncovered military personnel will stand at attention, face the FLAG and SALUTE by placing the right hand over the heart. Military personnel with headdress execute appropriate salute. In cases where no music is played, salute is held until the flag has been retired or is posted.

All vehicles within sight or hearing are required to stop. Persons riding in a passenger car remain seated at attention. Occupants of other types of military vehicles remain seated at attention in the vehicle. The person in charge of the vehicle (other than the driver) gets out of the vehicle and renders the hand salute.

easily be committed to memory for proper action under normal conditions:

(1) Outdoor occasions always call for a salute from military personnel in uniform when a National Anthem (or music substituted thereof, such as "To the Colors") is played, a National Flag is displayed, or a senior officer is encountered;

(2) Indoor occasions never call for a salute from military personnel in uniform unless they are under arms or wearing headdress; and

(3) Civilians and military personnel in civilian attire (hand over heart) only when a National Flag is displayed.

By studying these three points and remembering them, a person can take prideful assurance that he will never be found wanting in military courtesy.

Juniors should salute seniors on every occasion when in uniform.

received a lash for each star and each stripe in the flag.

The flag O'Bannon used that day had 15 stars and 15 stripes and had been the official ensign of the fledgling United States of America since 1795. It was of the type which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star Spangled Banner."

Today the flag has returned to the original 13 stripes and added 35 new stars to the field of blue, but the confusion about honoring the symbolic bunting and how to pay respect to the "Star Spangled Banner," now the U. S. National Anthem, remains unchanged.

Only recently a Marine walked blissfully within 100 yards of the Bldg. 1 flagpole as the 2nd Division band played the anthem at Morning Colors. Pausing momentarily, he watched the shiny instruments, scratched his head and ambled on. His reason: "But, Sir, I just got discharged."

I. C. Marines Set Up New Grid League

One of the brightest chapters in Camp Lejeune's intramural sports competition will unfold this fall with the formation of the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point Complex Football League.

Representing Camp Lejeune in a nine-team circuit will be a powerful Force Troops eleven and two 2nd Division teams, the 6th Marines, 10th Marines and Group Two. Group Two is composed of Headquarters, Pioneer and Anti-tank Battalions.

Cherry Point will have four entrants in the league; Marine Wing Service Group-27, Marine Air Group-14, Marine Wing Headquarters Group and Marine Corps Air Station. The remaining berth will be filled by the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River.

The new league was organized through the efforts of Maj. B. W. Clarke and Capt. R. G. Hout of 2nd Division Special Services. The task was undertaken when it was determined the Division would not be able to field enough teams to fill its own league due to military commitments.

League Commissioner Hout has announced a 36-game schedule that will give Lejeune pig-skin fans at least two games weekly. All games will be played during off-duty hours to stimulate maximum attendance. Week-night games will be played under the lights of the new intramural gridiron. Liveredge Field will be used on the Saturday mornings that the Base varsity is on the road and for a Marine Corps Birthday attraction.

Cherry Point fans will also see a full schedule of games, while four playing dates are scheduled for New River.

The new loop will use NCAA rules with the exception of 12-minute quarters and unlimited substitution.

Initial league action on September 20 will find Force Troops host Marine Wing Service Group-27 at Lejeune and MAG-14 and MCAS at Cherry Point.

Marines Dominate All Service Teams

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — For the second year in a row the Marine Corps copped the Leech Cup Interservice Tennis Team Championship by taking five out of seven matches from the Air Force at the Army-Navy Country Club here.

The leathernecks quickly eliminated the Navy team in semifinal play with seven wins against no defeats while the Air Force allowed Army only two wins out of seven contests.

Marine Jon Douglas, a member of the Davis Cup team, breezed past Henry Jungle of the Air Force 6-3, 6-0. Douglas then aligned with fellow Davis Cupper, John Cranston to hurdle past the Air Force's Stan Hack Jr. and Jungle in doubles play 6-4, 6-4.

In the singles division, Douglas, Marine Corps top tennis ace, won the Rislley Bowl by again defeating Jungle. Jungle won the first match 6-2 but Douglas came on strong to take three out of the five match finals 6-0, 6-1 and 7-5.

Army MSgt. Bill Millikan, tennis coach at West Point garnered the senior men's singles (over 40 years of age) by outscoring AF Col. Robin Hippenstiel 6-2, 6-1.

'Devilpups' Facing Tight Grid Program

With seven players from last year's squad back on the field, the Camp Lejeune "Devilpups" are facing "... one of the toughest schedules a Lejeune High School team has ever taken on," according to head coach Tom McGhee. The 43 gridders presently participating in drills and scrimmages will be retained on the squad the high school mentor added, "as long as they continue to show up for practice and show an interest in the team."

This year's squad is further advanced along its training schedule, said Coach McGhee, than last

Hq. Co. Wins Unit Match

Headquarters Company won the Headquarters Bn., Marine Corps Base, intramural rifle shoot last Saturday as its four-man Silver Expert team posted a score of 858 over the 60-round National Match course.

Composed of MSgt. G. N. Gobie, GySgt. V. L. Strang, Cpl. R. C. LeClair and Cpl. J. A. Headquarters came in for third honors too, as their Gold Expert team shot an aggregate score of 827.

The Silver Expert team also led in individual scoring as Cpl. Pack held his shots in for top match score of 223.

Col. Roy J. Batterton Jr., commanding officer of Headquarters Battalion, commended all shooters for attending the match and urged them to continue in competitive marksmanship. The colonel also outlined forthcoming battalion intramural shoots, "Our present pains," he said, "call for a pistol match in September and another rifle match during October."

Shooter comments following the match pointed up the offhand position, fired with parade slings, as the most difficult portion of the shoot.

The three top teams were presented engraved pens by the battalion commander following the match.

Destroyer To Be Named For Marine Hero

A guided missile destroyer, scheduled for launching in July, 1961, will be named for a Marine hero. The keel of the USS Berkeley (DDG-15) will be laid Aug. 29. The ship is to be named for Maj. Gen. Randolph C. Berkeley, USMC (Deceased), who won the Medal of Honor for heroism at Vera Cruz in 1914.

This is the second tribute paid to the memory of Gen. Berkeley this year. Last May the 677 enlisted Capehart units under construction here were designated as Berkeley Manor.

Maj. Gen. Berkeley was the father of two Marine sons, Major General James P. Berkeley, commanding general of the 2nd Division, and Colonel Randolph C. Berkeley Jr., stationed at Cherry Point, N.C.

General Berkeley, who at 85 was the oldest living Marine Corps general officer, succumbed to a heart ailment in January, 1960. He is buried at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

In addition to the Medal of Honor, General Berkeley also won the Navy Cross and Navy Distinguished Service Medal for combat actions in the Nicaraguan campaigns in the 1920s.

The General was commissioned in 1898 during the Spanish-American War. He was a Major commanding the 1st Battalion of the 2nd Advanced Base Regiment, when he won the Nation's highest military decoration at Vera Cruz.

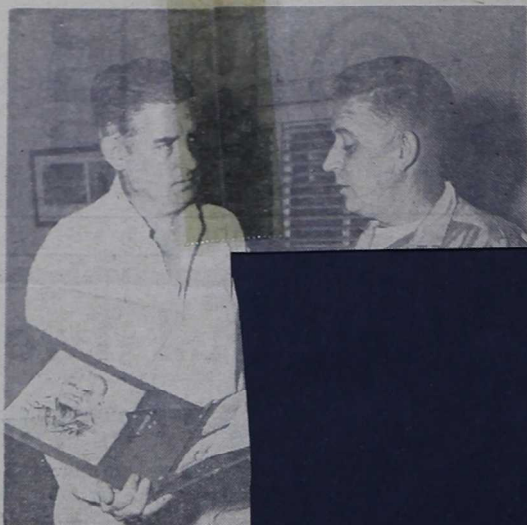

His citation reads in part, "His cool judgement and courage and skill in handling his men in encountering and overcoming the machine gun and rifle fire. . . accounts for the small percentage of losses of Marines under his command."

The Navy's new missile destroyer bearing the General's name will carry more firepower than the combined Navy ships which landed the Marines at Vera Cruz.

The August 18 issue of the GLOBE had an article commemorating the anniversary of the U. S. Naval Dental Corps. In the article, the dental personnel serving with the 2nd Division and Force Troops were not mentioned.

Twenty-four Dental officers, one warrant officer and 40 technicians under the command of Capt. Robert B. Lytle, DC, USN, support the 2nd Division, and 11 Dental officers, one warrant officer and 15 dental technicians under the command of Capt. Harry H. Fridley, DC, USN, support Force Troops.

'SPARKS WILL FLY'

Author Burke Davis Writing Controversial 'Puller' Story

"This will be a highly controversial book," says noted author and historian Burke Davis of his biography on Lt. Gen. Lewis B. "Chesty" Puller, USMC (ret.). "Puller pulls no punches when he talks about the Army, Air Force, Truman, MacArthur, Ridgeway, and other persons he has disagreed with. You can expect the sparks to fly when the book is published next fall."

Mr. Davis visited Camp Lejeune Monday and Tuesday to talk to persons who knew General Puller.

The author has contacted between 150 and 200 men who have known the general, talking to most of them in person. Others responded with information from notices in Marine Corps publications, including the GLOBE, and other military magazines.

He has interviewed General Puller three or four times a week and sometimes as long as 12 hours on Saturday over a period of four months. "Puller would pace up and down the room talking, and I would take notes," Mr. Davis said.

The book will trace the general's career from the time he first entered combat in Haiti at the age of 19 through the present day.

According to Burke Davis, the most informative person yet was MSgt. Orville Jones, General Puller's personal driver during the Korean campaign. Sergeant Jones is now Motor Transport Chief of Service Co., 8th Engineer Bn. Mr. Davis interviewed six officers and enlisted personnel at Camp Lejeune.

Mr. Davis has written many well-known works, including two novels, "The Ragged Ones" and "Whisper My Name," and two children's books, "Robert E. Lee" and "Our Incredible Civil War," to be published in October. Other Civil War books include: "Gray Fox: Robert E. Lee and the Civil War," "The Stuart: The Last Cavalier," "The Called Him Stonewall" and "T Appomattox: Nine April Day 1865," which enjoyed the greatest success of any of his books. He also edited "I Rode With Job Stuart."

The biography of General Puller will be his first book about contemporary military men. He is tentatively planning a biography of Gen. Billy Mitchell next.

After his biography is published, General Puller plans to write a military textbook for junior officers and NCO's on small wars in collaboration with Mr. Davis. The book would be tales of each small war the general has seen, written simply but in military terms. The general believes that this book is necessary because of his theory that small, or limited, wars will be decisive in the future.

Mr. Davis plans to interview Marines at Parris Island after a short trip to Mt. Olive, N. C., to talk to a retired major who knew General Puller. He has already done research at Headquarters Marine Corps and Quantico.

Birds

MSgt. Paul Burkart, of Outside Telephone, is one of the latest to tell us about the mysterious fowl that hang out on Holcomb Blvd., between the Drive-In movie and the Reclamation and Salvage area. Some reporters say they are pheasants, others say bantams, and many callers say they are quail. Acting on fresh tips, the GLOBE has dispatched photographers to the area several times, only to be too late. Can anyone clear up the mystery? If they are chickens, who feeds them?

Snake

Mr. Luther Morton, 65-year-old WW I veteran, killed a 30-pound rattlesnake at his home about 400 yards from the howitzer range at Hubert last Sunday. Mr. Morton shot the snake's head off with a 12 gauge shotgun as it crawled over an oak tree root near his front doorsteps. The snake had 18 rattles and one button. Other rattlesnakes are reported to be in this area. For artillerymen who fear snakes: danger; for those who like snake meat: chow.

Craftsmen

The largest Marine Corps Emblem at the Marine Corps Engineers School was painted in the center of the floor on the carpenter shop by SSgt. Marshall E. Bygnes in June 1959. The emblem is four feet, 11 inches wide and measures five feet, 10 inches from anchor to eagle. Gung Ho! Also at Courthouse Bay, the lost art of wagon wheel making is being revived by MSgt. Jerome J. Sowa of the Combat Engineer School. Sowa got a wheel hub from a farmer and has fashioned spokes and rim to it. After brass is put around the wheel and light fixtures attached, it will be used as the center chandelier at the Courthouse Bay Staff NCO Club.

Take The High Road

If You Ask Me:

GYSGT. WILLIAM M. GERNERT, Hq. Co., MCES — I believe the New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates will battle for the series' title. New York has always been a pinch-playing team and the Pirates are out in front far enough to stay on top. Of the two teams, I believe New York will win the series.

WHO DO YOU THINK WILL BE OPPONENTS FOR THE WORLD SERIES?

MSGT. JEROME J. SOWA, Hq. Co., MCES — Being from Baltimore, I believe the "Birds" have a good chance of winning their first pennant since joining the American League. It will be a fight between New York, Chicago and Baltimore in the American League and Pittsburgh and Milwaukee in the National. I'll pick the "Birds" and Pittsburgh, and if Baltimore wins they will take the World Series.

Latest Word

The number of American servicemen on the unaccounted for list of the Korean War was recently reduced by 61 on the basis of definite evidence of deaths, a Defense Department statement said. But proof is lacking that any of the 391 still missing are alive and in Red prisons.

After completion of the exchange of 1953 the list stood at 944. By June, 1955, this total was reduced to 450, mainly through checks of the U. N. command and U. S. agencies. However, intelligence reports and information from former prisoners of war increased the number to 452.

Despite a provision of the armistice agreement, which brought about the ceasefire in Korea, that each side would help the other in accounting for prisoners of war, whether dead or alive, the Communists have not lived up to the agreement.

Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough (D-Tex.) says he has been assured of early action next year in the House of Representatives on the cold war GI Bill, according to Navy Times. The proposal was held up in the House this year after passing the Senate late last summer. The new GI Bill will have to repeat the whole legislative process again next year since it will be the start of a new session of Congress. Bills do not carry over from session to session.

PFC ROBERT SNYDER, Hq. Co., MCES —

I don't see how any team can overtake the Pirates with the lead they now have and the way they have been playing. In the American League, I'll take the Yankees even though I am an Oriole fan. Unless New York's pitching falters, it will be the Pirates versus the Yankees.

SGT. MARSHALL E. BYGNES, Hq. Bn., MCES — I like underdogs, but in this case, being an armchair forecaster, I'll have to go with the Pirates in the National League and in the American League it's still a toss-up between the Yankee team and the White Sox. My favorite team just doesn't stand a chance this year. But wait 'til next year.

CPL. ROBERT V. BOOS, Hq. Co., MCES — I've always been a Pirate fan so I'll stick with the Pittsburgh club. Pittsburgh has the potentiality for winning the National League flag, while in the American League it is a closer race. I believe the Yankees will emerge as the victors in the American League and the Yankees will battle the Pirates for the series' title. I won't make any predictions on the series, but, of course, I'm pulling for the Pirates.

Efficient Agencies Solve Crime, Confirm Stigma Of Bad Discharge

Efficient, systematic, scientific investigation by local, state and federal law enforcement agencies resulted, last week, in confessions by three young hoodlums in the cold-blooded slaying of a Camp Lejeune Marine. By teamwork and inter-department cooperation, these agencies, the Camp Lejeune Criminal Investigation Division, Lenoir County Sheriff's Office, North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation, Washington Armed Services Police, Washington Metropolitan Police, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, were able to solve the case in only one month.

On July 21, Gysgt. Robert E. Schroeder was shot three times in cold blood because he recognized one of the three thugs who had flagged him down near Kinston, N. C., and then pulled a gun on him.

The youths, one a former Marine undesirably discharged from Camp Lejeune in May of last year, were apprehended by Washington, D. C., Metropolitan Police after robbing a down-town Washington restaurant early on the morning of July 23.

A .45 caliber pistol and a ring found on the three men led to the confessions. District of Columbia police contacted the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation and requested the three bullets taken from Schroeder's body and automobile. Ballistics tests by the Federal Bureau of Investigation confirmed that the gun was the same that had killed the Lejeune Marine.

The month-long investigation was led by Lenoir County Sheriff Clay Broadway with the State Bureau of Investigation and other agencies cooperating.

The futility and utter disregard for human life in this heinous crime certainly confirms the old adage, "Crime Does Not Pay." It also shows the depths to which one can plummet after suffering the shame and humiliation of an undesirable discharge—an almost irrevocable stigma.

Five distinct and separate protectors of our human rights—military, city, county, state and federal law enforcement agencies—combined to bring these criminals to justice.

These agencies do not exist to suppress our freedoms, but rather to protect and make them more valid to us. As guardians of our rights as Americans, we can be thankful that they do exist and that they do exist to protect these rights.

Enthusiasm Fires One's Soul, Life

The ancient Greeks spoke of enthusiasm as "the divine fire of the soul." Dr. Roy L. Smith describes it as the "quality of mind which contributes more to the spirit of triumphant living than any other grace or gift."

To be able to put one's self completely and wholeheartedly into a game is a mark of a champion. To be able to sing or play with abandon is a true characteristic of an artist. To be able to live to the limit is to achieve life at its best.

"He has never found much fun in life because he has never been able to live to the limit and to escape from his caution," said a woman of her husband. "He has missed at least a half dozen chances to make a modest fortune because he was unwilling to take risks. He has never been able to achieve any real success because he has always lived in terror of failure. He has never really been good, because he could not let himself go."

All of us know that there is something glorious in the courage of one who can throw all of his skill, power and dedication in on the side of some splendid cause. Just such a person was Henry Holt, a farmer in one of our Western states, who became interested in the plight of GI babies in Korea. He went to Korea himself, adopted eight of these luckless children into his own home and life and then went on and established a program whereby over 1,000 more of these babies were adopted by American families.

There was something sublime in the way those American Marines on Iwo Jima raised the shot-down colors again amid a hail of shot and shell. They were truly living to the limit. It was this quality of life that Jesus was insisting upon when he said that his disciples, to follow Him, must turn their backs on home, parents, fortune, and fame.

To drag one's feet is to sap one's spirit; to move cautiously is to come to a standstill; to speak always with constraint is to be drowned out by the crowd; to be just a little religious is to be almost irreligious.

And now abideth faith, hope, and charity; these three, but all of them with enthusiasm.

—Chaplain Richard K. Titley, 2nd Division.

Ammunition Storage Dump Could Make Loudest Noise Heard On Carolina Coast

About 640 acres of igloos, butler buildings, inert-sheds, and earth-covered magazines could make one of the loudest noises ever to be heard on the East Central North Carolina coast line. Add them all together and you have the Ammunition Storage Dump at Lejeune.

Warrant Officer Robert E. Pope, officer-in-charge of the dump, says, "All ammunition that is stowed is used for the training of Marine personnel here." Ammunition is ordered by unit commanders on a quarterly basis, one quarter in advance of use. Upon receiving the unit commander's request, the ammo dump submits a requisition to Headquarters Marine Corps and, in return, they request ammunition from various Ammunition Depots throughout the United States and ship it here.

The ammunition dump is laid out so that if a magazine should explode, there is less chance of a chain reaction occurring.

The igloos are of oval shape, the inside dimensions are 25 by 40 feet and 10 feet in height, made of concrete about 12 inches thick and have about a foot of dirt covering the concrete shell, with air ventilation pipes on top that air can circulate around the ammo stacked inside.

Ammunition is stored in the magazines according to explosive potential. A color chart is used to designate type of ammunition in each magazine. A yellow square with white diagonal stripes, chemical ammunition; yellow square with red diagonal stripes, detonators and fuses; red square, fixed ammunition; yellow square, bulk explosives; blue square, smokeless powder, bag charges and semi-fixed ammunition; white square, pyrotechnics and small arms ammo; black square, noncombustible.

Two butler buildings that house the small arms ammunition are equipped with four 100-foot lightning rods on each corner of the buildings, to deter the possibility of lightning hitting the building and igniting an explosion.

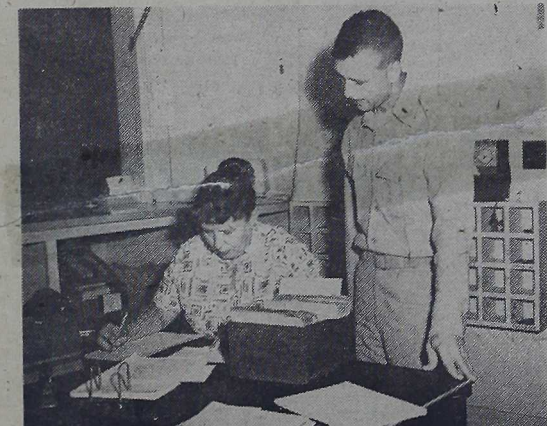

Four of the nine civilians employed at the ammunition dump are retired Marines, MSgt. S. O. Jones (ret.), WO John Wallace (ret.), WO Ernest Griffing (ret.), and TSgt. Lamar E. Brumfield (ret.).

SINGLE IGLOOS—The single earth-covered magazines are made with concrete walls 12 inches thick and have about a foot of dirt over the concrete shell. The single magazines have a barricaded front and are about 200 feet apart.

SMALL ARMS MAGAZINES—All small arms ammunition is stored in the two brick Butler buildings at the dump. On each corner of the buildings is a 100-foot lightning rod to prevent lightning hitting the buildings and igniting an explosion. The rods are placed half the distance from the buildings as their length.

Camp Lejeune's Modern Hostess House Provides Pleasant Lodging For Visitors

Camp Lejeune's modern Georgian-Colonial style Hostess House where friends, relatives and civilian visitors to the base find a pleasant inexpensive place to stay, is a far cry from the modest, frame building first set up at "Tent City" in New River. The present brick building was erected at Hadnot Point in 1944.

From the beginning, the primary purpose of the Hostess House has been to provide meals, lodging, refreshments and recreational facilities at a reasonable cost to visiting friends and relatives of Camp Lejeune Marines.

The staff, civilian and military, maintains 30 guest rooms, a main lounge and cafeteria. During the summer months, the constant flow of people visiting here runs between 60 and 80 persons daily.

A warm smile and a friendly welcome greet everyone registering at the Hostess House. Mrs. R. M. Weaver, Manager-Bookkeeper, receives reservations, checks guests in and out and sees that the all-important records are maintained. She and 1st Lt. Basil M. Long, Treasurer, see that the Hostess House is always ready to accommodate guests.

Mrs. Lillian M. Foster, chief maid, has seen the Hostess House grow from the first frame building to today's attractively furnished "hotel". For 16 years she has been handling her job with quick, quiet efficiency. Each day, after the 10 a.m. check-out time, she and her clean-up squad move into action. Clean sheets, towels, pillows, and blankets are brought in. The rooms are then dusted, swept, mopped and buffed and ready for the new day's visitors.

The air-conditioned rooms cost from $2.50 to $4.00 per day. Because there is always a demand for rooms, reservations should be placed not less than one week in advance. They will be accepted up to 30 days ahead of time. Full deposits are required and cancellations must be received 24 hours in advance or the first day's payment is forfeited.

The Camp Cafeteria now manages the recently remodeled dining room. Mrs. Ann Tutt is Day Supervisor and Mrs. D. L. Reynolds is Manager. Breakfast is served from 7 to 10 a.m. at costs ranging from 35 cents to 65 cents. A Business Men's Luncheon is served daily from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for 60 cents. From 5 to 8 p.m., course dinners, from $1.25 to $1.50 are served. The dining room can accommodate 100 persons.

The rules for guests at the Hostess House are much the same as at any hotel. No pets are allowed in the rooms and no smoking is permitted either for charges or in the dining room. The regulations regarding swimming attire are similar to Base regulations. Shorts and slacks are not permitted. Slacks may be worn.

The Hostess House is administered by a Board of Governors subject to the approval of the Commanding General. Chairman of the Board is Maj. O. R. Walden, Base G-3 section and Range Officer. The board of Governors consists of representatives of Marine Corps Base, 2nd Division, Force Troops.

One feature of the Hostess House well-known to Marines is the Snack Bar. Open from 7 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. daily, and from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. on weekends, the Snack Bar serves sandwiches, soft drinks and other refreshments at inexpensive prices.

Regardless of the length of stay the Hostess House is prepared to make a guest's stay the most comfortable and pleasant possible.

HOSTESS HOUSE—The neatly landscaped grounds of Camp Lejeune's 30-room Hostess House welcome several thousand visitors each year. The air-conditioned rooms cost $2.50 to $4 per night. Reservations are required.

Vigorous conditioning is still the scene on the varsity scrimmage field, as Coach Der is Horn puts his squad through their drills in preparation for the season opener on Sept. 10. Puts Nine On

Varsity Squad

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles giving information concerning the varsity football squad. Force Troops is featured this week.)

Force Troops will be well represented on the varsity football squad this season. Nine members have been selected as a part of the 45-man team. The nine players will fill six of the line slots and three backfield positions.

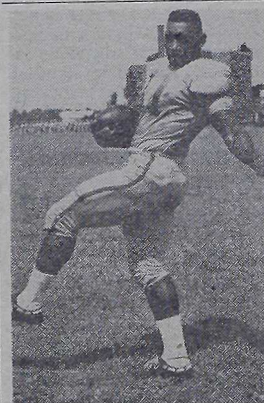

Fullbacks Jack Mossburg, H&S Co., 2nd Tank Bn., and Joe Chalkley of 2nd FSR have been putting up much competition for other hopefuls. Jack was named All-State in 1954-55 while attending North Side High School in Fort Wayne, Ind. Chalkley has two years of service experience as a fullback. He was a member of Hq. Bn., MCB, squad last season and played with the 3rd Marine Division in 1958. Both men are expected to see much action on the gridiron this season.

Halfback Jim Green of MS&M Bn., 2nd FSR, was voted the outstanding player of the year and also a member of the All-Star team of the 3rd Marine Division last season. Jim was hampered with a late start this season while a member of the All-Marine baseball team.

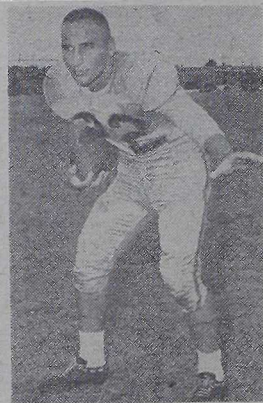

Center Dave Gann of 2nd Heavy Artillery Rocket Battery will make his debut in service ball this season. Dave has two years experience at center with Wilbur High School, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Guards Sid Mentzer, 2nd 155mm Gun Btry., 2nd FAG, Norm Hawler, Hq. Co., 8th Engr. Bn., and J. C. Ernest of 2nd Heavy Artillery Rocket Battery are adding much needed depth to the line. All three men have service experience in intramural competition.

Ends Bob Ankudovich, 2nd 155mm Howitzer Btry., and Mel Bray of Co. "C," 2nd Tank Bn., are part of the reason the end position is expected to be the strong point of the squad. Both men played intramural football with Force Troops last season.

Playing Slots

Competition is keen on the Lejeune scrimmage field as the veterans from last season battle it out with the rookies for the number one slot on the roster. With only two weeks before the first game left to prove themselves two linemen and two halfbacks are showing what it takes to make the team.

Tom Sacramone, a veteran of last year's squad, is running from the halfback slot again this year. Tom attended Southern Connecticut State College and was named All-State Small College. His service experience started with the Quantico club in 1958.

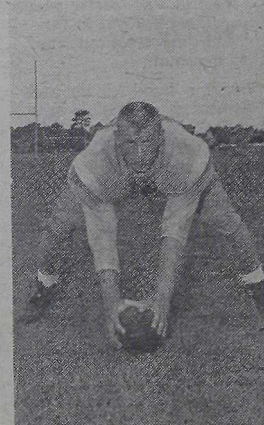

Mel Anderson was voted All-Marine and the Most Improved Player on the Lejeune squad last season. Mel is displaying much speed both on offense and defense. He got his start in football while attending Campbell High School, Campbell, Ohio, and made the All-Steel Valley Conference in 1954-55.

Ed Craig is starting his first year of service ball this season. This is also his first time in the center position. A guard both in high school and college he is showing much ability at the center post.

Lee Russ has two years' experience with the Marine Royals while attached to the 3rd Marine Division. Lee was a member of the Senior All-Star Game last season. He got his gridiron start with Auburndale High School, Fla., playing end and tackle. Lee was voted to the all-conference in 1957.

Division All-Stars Fail

In LANTFLT Title Play

The 2nd Marine Division All-Stars, representing Fleet Marine Force Atlantic, failed in their quest for the Atlantic Fleet Softball Championship at Norfolk last week. Division started off on the right track defeating PhilLant, 5-4, in first round action. From then on the local nine found it tough sledding in the tournament was the stickwork of Bob Alley, who went five for eight in the three games.

In the opening game Division edged PhilLant by pushing across the winning run in the final inning. A pinch single by McNaughton, a sacrifice, and a single by Banning got the clincher across. Jim Brown started on the hill for the Lejeune nine, but the win went to John Watkins who came on the scene in the fifth. Brown aided the cause with a big home run.

Second day action saw the Division drop into the losers bracket when they lost a 3-0 verdict to ServLant, the eventual winners of the tournament.

Brown and Watkins combined to pitch a four-hitter but inability to hit in the clutch proved costly to the locals. Twice they advanced runners to second and third with none out, but were unable to punch across. In all, they stranded Losses to Cherry Point and Parris Island cost the Camp Lejeune Raiders the 1960 East Coast Woman Marine Softball Championship despite a decisive, 8-4, victory over HQMC, Henderson Hall. The crown went to the Quantico "Virginians," who won all three of their tournament tilts. Competing in the nine-games series, the Raiders took on the Cherry Point Jets for a hard-fought 10-inning bout.

Camp Lejeune led Cherry Point going in to the bottom of the seventh. The Jets, however, managed to get one run across the plate, thus tying it up and pushing the game into extra innings.

Raiders held their opponent scoreless until the 10th when they broke it up with two singles, a double, pushing their lead to five runs. Final score: 8-5, Cherry Point 8. Henderson saw HQMCexception of the center. Tackle Don Sydlit and Charlie Raybur are the key men in the line for Elon. Both veterans from last season, they are expected to see much action again this season.

After three full-tilt scrimmages Coach Horn's team is shaping up to a well conditioned team. The coach was very satisfied with last Saturday's scrimmage, which consisted primarily of off-tackle offensive plays and line backing on defense. Both ends showed considerable strength both on offense and defense. They are expected to be the strong point of the team this season. According to Coach Horn much improvement was seen over the first scrimmage on pass defense; however, much more work will have to be devoted to this phase of defense before the regular season.

Strengthen Offense

Various changes in positions are being made by the coaches to find the defensive specialists. A player who is fair on both offense and defense is being used primarily on defense. This plan will strengthen the offensive attack as well.

Left guard J. C. Ernest suffered the only injury Saturday. Laid up with two fractured ribs, he will be on the sidelines during the scrimmage with Elon. He is, however, expected to be ready for the opening game. Ernest was a standout with the 2nd FAG, Force Troops team last season.

In preparation for the scrimmage Saturday which will be played under game conditions, with the exception of kicking, Coach Horn is again stressing pass defense and line backing.

Cut to 48

The squad was narrowed down to approximately 48 players Monday as a result of the conference held by Coach Horn and his assistants following the scrimmages Saturday. The final cut is expected to be made the first part of next week, bringing the squad down to approximately 45, which the coach plans to carry for the season. Competition is keen for a slot on the roster, as no position is definitely filled thus far.

Two Losses Cost Raiders

East Coast Championship

Losses to Cherry Point and Parris Island cost the Camp Lejeune Raiders the 1960 East Coast Woman Marine Softball Championship despite a decisive, 8-4, victory over HQMC, Henderson Hall. The crown went to the Quantico "Virginians," who won all three of their tournament tilts. Competing in the nine-games series, the Raiders took on the Cherry Point Jets for a hard-fought 10-inning bout.

Camp Lejeune led Cherry Point going in to the bottom of the seventh. The Jets, however, managed to get one run across the plate, thus tying it up and pushing the game into extra innings.

Raiders held their opponent scoreless until the 10th when they broke it up with two singles, a double, pushing their lead to five runs. Final score: 8-5, Cherry Point 8. Henderson saw HQMC-

Henderson Hall drop from the rolls as Camp Lejeune's Raiders added nine walks to 10 hits to win 8-4.

Lejeune came from behind in the bottom of the sixth and put five runs across the plate. A bunt single by Dee Alexander and a base hit by Dee Walters paced the winners that inning as Henderson Hall's infield fell apart and relinquished three times.

The Raiders from Camp Lejeune fell out in the fifth game when they dropped a 5-4 squeaker to Parris Island. The heavy-hitting South Carolinians could not be contained as they banged nine hits off pitchers Bernie Young and Linda Shook.

Ticks Can Become Serious Problem For Outdoorsmen

Mothers of families living in Camp Lejeune's housing areas, patrons of the golf courses and shooters at the Rifle Range share a common summertime problem, a problem which annoys, causes pain, and can kill. The problem is the tick. Capt. K. L. Knight, USN, head of the Entomology Division of the Medical Field Research Lab., has released to the GLOBE information concerning ticks found in the Lejeune area and methods of treatment should the ticks become a nuisance.

The tick principally found attacking man in the Camp Lejeune area, according to Captain Knight, is the Lone Star Tick. This tick is readily identifiable in the female adult stage by a distinct white spot in the middle of the back. However, the smaller male lacks this spot and is not readily distinguishable from other ticks.

The Lone Star Tick feeds upon a wide variety of animals and as a result is extremely numerous at Camp Lejeune because of the wide variety and large number of animals here.

Although found everywhere in weeds, underbrush and wooded areas, the tick is encountered most often along the edges of paths and trails. Here, the tick clings to vegetation, waiting the passage of an animal or of man. Whenever brushed by any passing animal or man, they transfer immediately to the living object. The transfer usually occurs 18 inches or less from the ground. Following transfer, the tick seeks exposed skin and very shortly begins to feed.

The Lone Star Tick requires about 120 days in which to complete its life cycle. From four to six days are required for the adult to complete its blood meal. The female becomes greatly swollen during this period. The male becomes only slightly enlarged.

Adult ticks are found on animals beginning about the middle of December, the males being found first. By early March, both males and females are numerous on animals and shortly afterward begin to attack humans. Their abundance picks up rapidly thereafter and they constitute a serious nuisance to man until about the first of August.

Fortunately, in view of the high tick abundance here, the incidence of tick-borne diseases in the Camp Lejeune area is extremely low. Nonetheless, the diseases carried are sufficiently incapacitating to make it necessary for everyone to take fullest precautions against ticks.

If a tick is found attached to the body, it should be removed immediately. It is most easily and quickly taken off by gently pulling with a pair of slender-tipped forceps placed parallel to the skin and as close to the base of the mouthparts as possible, pulling straight away with a steady sustained pull.

Occasionally, the mouthparts will be left in the bite. All bite areas should be swabbed with an appropriate antiseptic. A silver nitrate pencil which can be purchased at any drug store is convenient for outdoor use.

Camp Lejeune Workshop For Teachers Ends

The special pre-school workshop for teachers in the Camp Lejeune school system which began Aug. 25 ended yesterday.

New, More Rigid Base Pet Regulations Now In Effect

New, more rigid regulations governing the possession of pets by Camp Lejeune personnel have been issued in a change to Base Order 11101.30. The order specifically prohibits the introduction or possession on the Base of pets, other than dogs, house cats, tropical fish and birds of the house-caged type, without the authorization of the Base commanding general.

All dogs and cats kept on the Base will be registered with the Records and Identification Section of the Base Provost Marshal's Office. The registration will include the owner's name and address and the description, name and age of the pet. A metal temporary tag will be issued to dogs less than six months old and house cats less than four months old. The tag will be valid until the minimum age for rabies inoculation.

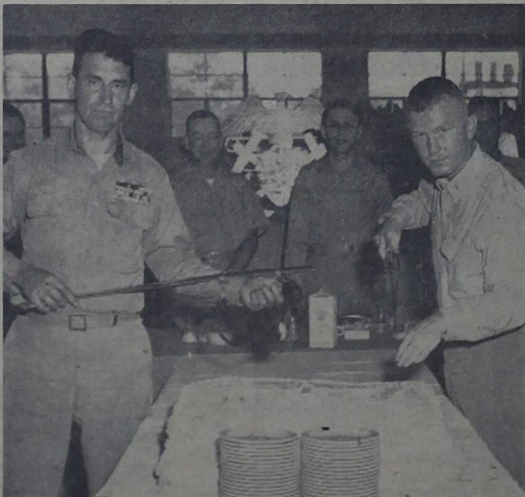

A certificate of immunization and a metal tag stamped by the Provost Marshal's Office must be in the possession of owners of dogs six months old or older and house cats four months old or older. Dogs and house cats must wear a collar or harness bearing the metal temporary tag or the registered immunization tag.

All house-caged birds such as parrots or parakeets housed or sheltered within the geographical boundaries of Camp Lejeune shall be registered with the Base Provost Marshal. The owners of any of these types of birds will notify the Base Medical Officer upon the death or apparent illness of their bird, and shall submit the bird for examination, reporting all the human contacts made with the bird.

Dogs and house cats will be given rabies immunizations under these conditions. All dogs six months of age or older kept on the Base will be immunized with chick-embryo origin rabies vaccine by a licensed graduate veterinarian. Dogs immunized need not be revaccinated for three years, except when, in the opinion of the Base Medical Officer, the danger of an epidemic of rabies exists.

All house cats four months of age or older must also be immunized against rabies by a licensed graduate veterinarian. The cats must be revaccinated annually except in the event of the threat of a rabies epidemic.

MAG-26 Helicopter Saves Sailor's Life

A specially rigged helicopter from HMR(L)-263, MAG 26, saved the life of an injured sailor recently at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The sailor, while swimming in the bay off Leward point, fractured his spine.

Across the bay, a plane waited to fly the man to the U. S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md., but the rough waters made any type of rescue other than from the air almost impossible.

The helicopter was summoned to the scene. Its specially outfitted stryker frame and crutchfilled tongs with attached 30-pound weights had the sailor out of the water and across the bay to the plane within minutes.
