

Navy Research Laboratory Scientists Study Snake Bite

Scientists from the U. S. Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory have recently returned from Gainesville and Silver Springs, Fla., where they have been engaged in two collaborative studies on snake bite with researchers at the University of Florida and at the Ross Allen Reptile Institute. Cmdr. R. S. Leopold, MSC USN, the principal investigator, has been engaged in this research study for several years. Full scale participation by Lt. T. W. Merriam, MC, USNR, Dr. J. F. Gennaro of the University of Florida, G. W. Small, JMI, and Capt. G. L. Calvy, MC, USN, has developed during the past year.

Two questions long debated among "experts" in the medical field have been (1) How deep do the fangs of a snake penetrate when they strike an animal or human? (2) What is the best method of treating poisonous snake bites? The Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory investigators used "radioactive" poisonous snakes at the Institute and obtained data which may provide the basis for definitive recommendations for treating poisonous snake bites (North America) that can be properly documented in the medical literature and used by the Armed Forces, as well as "first-aiders."

Knowing the exact depth of the fang penetration will enable the scientists to better evaluate the various methods of treatment and recommend the one method that will be successful in most instances. "It is impossible to develop a whole new treatment," Commander Leopold said, "but we plan to identify and establish the most effective method."

Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory has been selected as one of the two Navy participants in the annual program of the American Medical Association which meets at Miami, Fla., in June, 1966, at which time this data will be reported.

How Do Used Car Dealers Swindle?

How do people get swindled by used car dealers? Here are typical cases illustrating how unscrupulous dealers use fast-talking salesmen, broken promises and even slight-of-hand to prey on trusting customers:

Case No. 1: This victim, a long-time Union Station employee, had never bought anything "on time." He even left his television set in "will-call" until he had made all the payments. He was building his own home at Accokeek, Md., and he didn't want to saddle himself with debt.

When he needed a car, he returned to the used car lot where he had bought his last car. He didn't know the lot management had changed.

"The salesman told me I could have a 1955 Ford for $600," he explained to investigators in the license enforcement branch. "That suited me and he took me in to the big boss. When the boss said that the car sold for $850, I started to walk out. I told him I couldn't possibly pay more than $600. He kept asking me, 'How much have you got, how much can you spend?'"

"I told him I'd give him $100 then and another $300 in a few days. That would leave $200. He said he would take care of that. My wife kept asking him questions. She wanted to know about the payments on the $200. He said they wouldn't be more than $16 a month."

"I came back alone with the $300. He took me in a room where the light was bad and a lot of salesmen were coming in and out. He gave me some papers to sign. He had them all folded over. He just pointed to the bottom and said, 'Sign here.' I told him I couldn't read very well and I thought my wife should look at the papers before I signed them. He repeated what he had said before about the $200 he was taking care of. So I signed.

"I took the copy home and my wife read it. Then she looked at me and said: 'What have you done?'"

What he had done was sign a contract showing he owed $934.50.

The cash price of the car had been upped from $600 to $1,000. Although he had said he didn't want insurance, the contract showed $73 for physical damage and $60.74 for credit life insurance—both for 12 months. The finance charge was listed as $201.76. Instead of having to pay $16 a month as he had been told, he was now committed to paying $44.50 a month for 12 months.

An investigator asked him why he had gone alone to the lot to sign the final papers—considering that he wasn't a quick reader.

"I didn't know they were crooks," he replied.

Commissary

In answer to the many calls received by the Base Commissary, the store managers have issued the following announcement:

The Base Commissary Store will be open for business as usual over the Easter weekend. Open hours are Friday, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The store will be closed Sunday and Monday.

Red Cross Sponsored Art Contest Held For Patients

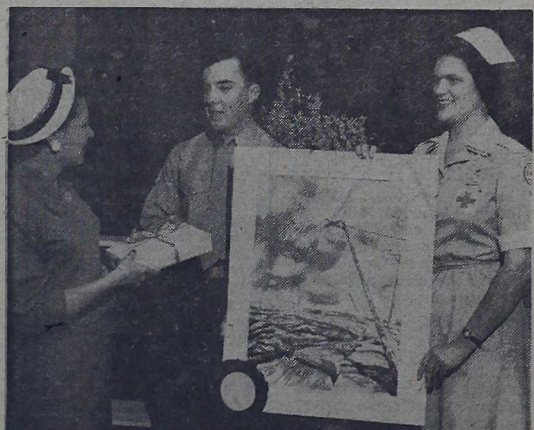

First prize in the art contest at the U. S. Naval Hospital April 7 was awarded to Pfc Dennis L. Johnson, H&S Co., Sixth Marines, by Mrs. Sidney S. Wade for the best original picture entered in the contest. Judges for the contest were Mrs. Wade, Mrs. W. J. Peter Jr., art-instructor, and Sgt. John Makos, illustrator with the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory.

Second prize was awarded to Act. GySgt. William E. Kost, "M" Co., 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines. Pfc Walter Slesky, Cherry Point Air Station, won third place.

The contest was sponsored by the Hospital Red Cross for patients. The project was under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Berckmans and Mrs. David Woll, Red Cross Gray Lady arts and crafts teachers. Pictures had to be original work done by a patient during his hospitalization.

Capt. L. E. Bach, USN, hospital commanding officer, was also present for the awards. He commended the artists for their fine work and their progressive use of leisure time. The contest was followed by a social hour for the patients.

Practical Experience Gained From Unit Instructor Course

"The Unit Instructors Course at Montford Point is designed to train company grade officers and enlisted of the rank E-4 and above in the principles and techniques of military instruction," so reads the brochure. But more than that, gives the student practical experience in the art of instruction. It also gives him the confidence and poise necessary to good instruction.

The officer-in-charge of the Instructor Training Unit which includes the Unit Instructor Course (UIC) and the Formal School Instructor Course (FSIC), is Capt. Rodger Rourke. Chief instructor for the course is 1st Lt. Werner F. Fischer. The other three instructors are 1st Lts. Harvey D. Herford, Edward F. McGrath and David C. Woll. All four instructors are TAD to the school. Lieutenant Mc-Grath is from Force Troops, the others from 2nd Division.

The school is 16 days in duration, the first four are devoted to staff instruction in the technique of military instruction. The remainder of the course is given in practical application.

Each student is required to deliver six closely supervised presentations. The first of these is a "ice-breaker", a five-minute talk to enable the student to get over his initial "stage fright." This talk can be on any subject.

The second presentation is a five minute sales talk. These talks are done in the same manner as a sales pitch, usually about some household item.

The remaining four presentations must be about military subjects. There is one 10-minute talk one 15, and two 30-minute presentations. The first 30-minute speech is assigned by the instructor. All other subjects are of the students own choosing.

Each speech is graded as to volume, pitch, clarity, enthusiasm, body movement, eye contact, etc. The material is graded as to content, purpose, format and the questions from and to the class. Each student is individually critiqued by an instructor.

Each student makes and uses a training aid in one of his speeches. The group also visits the Base Training Aids Library as part of the course.

The normal quota for the school is 30 students. They are assigned TAD from all Quad-Command units and one honor student is chosen from each class. Three Seabees are attending the present class.

The course is not for the large scale instructor but rather for the small unit level, for the men who will instruct in the squad bay and field. An anonymous student perhaps sums up the value of the course, "I never wanted to go to the school but now that I have, I'm glad I did. I believe that my technique of instruction has improved 100 per cent."

Uniform Change

ing uniform on duty and the service dress blue "B" uniform at other times. The jacket to the service dress "B" uniform may be removed while indoors.

When the coat is worn as the outer garment, all ribbons or decorations and medals to which entitled will be worn. When the service jacket is worn as the outer garment, all ribbons consisting of personal decorations awarded to the individual for specific acts of gallantry or for meritorious service, and ribbons for unit citations in which the individual is entitled full will be worn.

Ribbons denoting area campaigns or other medals may be worn with personal decorations at the option of the individual. Where no personal decorations or unit citations exist, all ribbons denoting area campaigns or other medals will be worn.

When the shirt is worn as the outer garment, the wearing of ribbons and medals is optional on the Base and while proceeding to and from the place of residence off the Base. Ribbons must be worn when wearing the uniform on liberty or leave.

The American flag was raised for the first time over the Japanese fortified island of Iwo Jima, on Feb. 23, 1945, when members of the Twenty-eighth Marines planted the Stars and Stripes on the highest point, Mount Suribachi.

Med Marines Escort 47 Orphan Children

Through the years Marines have earned the reputation of being hard-nosed, rough and ready individuals. But when a Marine runs across a group of homeless orphans, that outward appearance changes to one of tender and loving care with a desire to give a small bit of that homelife which is missing.

Such is the case of the men of the 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, under the command of Lt. Col. George Codrea, currently serving in the Mediterranean.

Upon arriving in Naples, Italy, late last month, arrangements were made through local authorities to have children from the Casa Marterna Orphanage visit the USS Pocono, Amphibious Squadron Eight, Flagship, as guests of the Marines.

On hand to greet the 27-seat bus that carried 47 children to the fleet landing were men from H&S Co., 1st Bn., Sixth Marines. As each child debarked a Marine stepped forward to claim his "brother" or "sister" for a day.

Warming quickly to the occasion, the Marines escorted their "family" on a tour of the Pocono. From the bow to the fantail, the mess decks to the bridge, children of all sizes took "command" of the ship and the hearts of their Marine "brothers."

Later, the children, many displaying newly acquired Marine shooting badges, were treated to an hour of cartoons and refreshments on the mess decks.

Upon arriving in Rhodes, Greece, earlier this month, members of the attached 8th Howitzer Platoon held two festive parties for orphaned children of the island.

The first party was held at a boys' orphanage where members of the platoon bearing armloads of toys, soft drinks, candy and one of two cakes baked for the day, were met with a rousing ovation and a stirring rendition of the Marine Corps Hymn sung by 75 Greek boys in their native tongue.

The Camp Lejeune-based Marines quickly circulated among the children with their gifts and the party was soon extended to the play-yard where many of the visitors were busy taking pictures of the excited children or participating in a number of soccer games. After a time, the platoon boarded their vehicles and headed towards the girls' orphanage in another section of Rhodes.

There, amid traditional Greek songs and dances, the Marines again handed out their gifts, but with a renewed inspiration gained from their earlier experience. Many of the platoon "adopted" two or three of the 135 girls for the party, and despite the language barrier all present had a memorable afternoon.

The only sad note of the parties in Naples and Rhodes came at the time they came to a close and "goodbye" had to be said.

Units Are Ready At Midway

Facilities are now available at the Midway Park Housing area for troops and married personnel who have visiting guests at Lejeune, it was announced by Mr. J. T. Heavey, manager, Midway Park.

The facilities include 54 units of interim housing completely set up for housekeeping. The units are furnished with linens, necessary pots and pans, and cleaning equipment. Stoves and refrigerators are also among the available appliances.

Rates for the units are as follows: one bedroom, $3.27 per day; two bedrooms, $4.21 per day; and three bedrooms, $4.99 per day.

The units are in excellent condition for visitors. Necessary arrangements including number of guests expected, time of arrival, etc., should be made by the military personnel involved.

Military personnel making the arrangements should apply by contacting the Joint Reception Center at Base ext. 7-5807, or the Base Housing and Quarters Office at Base ext. 2-2103.

A Marine Corps pilot was the first to intentionally put a sea plane into a tail spin and successfully recover normal flight, a feat considered suicidal until it was done.

This Week At Camp Schools

Montford Point School — Signs and arrows advertising "See the strange monster" — "none other like it in captivity" — "dangerous, known to kick, bite and make frightening noises" — led curious youngsters to Mrs. Grubbs' 3rd grade room for April Foolery, when what they viewed through a peephole in a box, was their own image in a mirror and the first "April Fool" of the day. This same 3rd grade is launching a Spring Cleanup Campaign. Each child, by quality of his daily desk-keeping, in a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Messy or Mr. and Mrs. Tidy. Name tags pinned in vacant windows of the two named houses indicate what kind of housekeepers they are. Nobody likes to be the embarrassed guest of the Messy's any longer than it takes to clean up and move to the Tidy's. Third grader Lee Steward composed this original piece:

SPRING

Spring is such a wonderful thing,
That I know,

And every time summer comes,
I hate to see it go.

Chief Berling of the Naval Hospital spoke to the 6th grade about cells and the division of cells for their science project about the human body. He demonstrated the use of the microscope and showed many biopsies taken from the human body.

Stone Street School — No more paper bags at Stone Street! The school cafeteria was opened for the noon meal Tuesday, April 15, with 188 children and 10 adults eating. The food was tasty and the children enjoyed eating in the beautiful new setting. The cafeteria is an additional delight in that it affords a place for meetings.

One of the base MP's captured a box turtle for Miss Edward's class and they have enjoyed watching and studying it along with other types of turtles. They have also studied birds and the various signs of spring.

In connection with their Social Studies, Mrs. Mullins' class took a trip to the Base heating plant. They were interested in how the Base buildings are heated and in the use made of coal. They have also formed a Junior Audubon Club and meetings are held every Friday afternoon. Officers have been elected as follows: President, Mark Stockwell; Vice-President, Peter Vadnais; Secretary, Scott Sherbondy and Program Chairman, Chris Rossi. Each child is making a notebook pertaining to birds.

All Camp Schools will have a school holiday tomorrow, being off Friday, and on Easter Monday. A very Blessed and Happy Easter to everyone!

Egg Hunt

The Paradise Point Sunday School will hold an Easter Egg Hunt Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock at the Camp High School Athletic Field. All Sunday School students in the Paradise Point area are invited to attend.

Father And Son, Mother And Daughter Work Together As 'Family Of Scouts'

Girls and boys serving with the Scouts of America deserve much acclaim, even more so when Scouting activities occupy the interests of an entire family, as is the case of Act. Sgt. and Mrs. James H. Henderson and their two children, of 748 Butler Drive, Midway Park. Mrs. Henderson works with Brownie Troop 292 serving as co-leader. With no previous Girl Scout training, she spends almost all of her spare time helping the Brownies and assisting them in their duties so they may one day become full intermediates and on to senior Scouts. Her daughter, Nancy, who is in the third grade at Montford Point School and a member of Troop 292, enjoys her mother's "helping hands" at the meeting. The traditional pinning ceremony at the investiture service was exchanged by the two.

Sergeant Henderson is the Cubmaster for Pack 490, Midway Park. Also without previous Scout training, he works with the boys at all outdoor and indoor projects and spends his spare time planning with his family ways of improving and advancing Scouts at Midway Park. Before becoming Cubmaster at the park, Sergeant Henderson worked with Troop 190 at Tarawa Terrace. His son, James Jr., is active in the Cub Scouts and is eager to assist and work with his father.

Families Find Abundance Of Literature At Library Week's 'World Of Books' Fair

Books available in a tremendously wide selection, ranging from deluxe leatherbound editions for the collector's library to paperbacks, with many standard hard-cover editions in between were on display last week at the World of Books Fair, Cowell Memorial Auditorium, Jacksonville. In observance of National Library

Week, over 2,000 new books were on display. The show was sponsored by the Central Library, Camp Lejeune, and the Onslow Public Library, Jacksonville.

Books ranged in fiction, games and sports, fine arts, religion, careers, science and health, business, government, military interests, pets, homemaking, home reference, history and travel, gardening, and University of North Carolina Press selections. Feature displays included books by Mark Twain, Bernice Kelly Harris and Glen Rounds.

From a scholar's variety, "James Forte," edited by Cornelius M. D. Thomas, of Wilmington, N. C., was at the head of the list of outstanding illustrated editions pertaining to a 17th Century settlement built on the site of Wilmington. It involves history of the John Locke pen and pencil sketch of the Shapley map with Lancaster map of the Cape Fear River and the Hilton Pamphlet, "James Forte" is available at each of the branch libraries on Base.

Program Committee for the Great Books Discussion were Ruth Heusch, Ginger Wright, Betty Bartley and Lucille West.

CHILDREN'S CORNER—Writer Glen Rounds captures a few young readers' interest in one of his beloved character books at the World of Books Fair held last week at the Cowell Memorial Auditorium, Jacksonville. The Message Of Easter Is Life

Easter! A time for bright new spring clothes. A time for gaily colored eggs and candies. A time to be with our loved ones. These things we think about at Easter but let us not lose sight of the true meaning of this day.

This is the day we commemorate the resurrection from the dead of a Man, a simple carpenter from Galilee. Some 1900 years ago tomorrow, this Man was hanged on a cross atop Calvary. He died there and was buried but three days later He arose from the grave to take His place with His Father.

This Man was the Lord and Saviour of the world, Jesus Christ, the Son of God. On this day, let us give thanks that He did arise from the grave "that we might have everlasting life and that we might have it more abundantly."

And this is the promise that He gave to us, "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live. And whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

As you attend the church of your choice this Sunday, remember His words to us. He gave His life for us, so that we might have this eternal life. Can we rededicate our lives to Him this day?

If You Ask Me:

WHAT DOES EASTER MEAN TO YOU?

MRS. HENRIETTA NORRIS, Box 73, Chiquapin, N. C. — To me, Eastertime means a rebirth of life itself. Patterning the resurrection theme I get a new and beautiful attitude toward living. I'll naturally attend the Easter services with my family with the exception of my husband, who's overseas at Guam. The day surely would be complete if he were here. After church, we'll have an Easter egg hunt for the children in the yard. They look forward to it each year and we enjoy sharing the fun with them. Wearing new spring clothes makes everything look so happy and new.

ACT. SGT. GEORGE P. KASSEN, 8th Comm Bn. — Easter will mean quite a lot to me this year. I plan on going home to Illinois to see my wife and daughter after maneuvers are completed here. We'll all go to church and make it a joint celebration. My wife's parents will be celebrating their anniversary at the same time, so it'll be a big day at home. On a holiday like this, it always means more to be with your family. I've gone to holiday services before on different bases and it just isn't the same when you're away from family and friends.

MRS. R. D. WRIGHT, MOQ 2404 — The religious angle of Easter will be most prominent in my home this Easter as every Easter. We plan to spend the day with family and friends here on base. The day will start with church in the morning, and the usual religious festivities. The Easter Bunny never fails to make his way into our home, too, especially for our six-year-old. We have a family tradition we always keep. If one of the children gets a new pair of shoes, the Easter Bunny buries a nest of eggs in each shoe. Only I hope Mr. Bunny knows enough to watch what he leaves. One year, the shoes were placed on a light with chocolate candy inside!

PFC LEO GARCIA, Comm Co., Hq. Bn. —

Easter denotes a time for reflection for me. Going to church each Sunday is a time of reflection, but on Easter Sunday, it means a little more. Masses and services on this day are very inspirational. The different attitudes toward life and the many problems we have, all come to a standstill for me as I reflect just why things are as they are. I plan to go to D. C. this Easter. I can't say exactly what I'll be doing there, but I'm sure it'll be a very enjoyable day for me.

PFC WILLIAM MARKWOOD, 8th Comm Bn. — I have high hopes of going home for Easter. I'll probably go to church and spend the day with my family and friends. In the service, I find one loses the real meaning to a lot of things. Social and religious contacts are few. There aren't really many opportunities here to celebrate Easter like I'd like to. Being Episcopal, I can remember past Easter Sundays at home in the choir. Even though I can still sing in a choir here, it's different. I suppose I'll just spend the day visiting, and taking it easy at home—if I get there. (Photos by LCpl. L. T. McKean)

Newest and largest of the Pacific Fleet's amphibious assault ships is the Princeton, which began her new role in 1959 after being converted from an anti-submarine carrier. Developed to carry out the vertical envelopment warfare concept of the Marine Corps, the Princeton and her sister ships carry a complement of two-thirds Navy men and the rest Marines. Aboard the Princeton, the Leathernecks are integrated into the air, operations, gunnery, administration and supply departments. Only the engineering and medical departments are all-Navy. The Princeton is now with the 7th Fleet in the Western Pacific after taking part in amphibious operation off Hawaii and California.

Americas' Unity Fulfills A Dream

Seventy years of inter-American unity are commemorated this month during the period President Eisenhower designated as Pan American Week, April 17-23. It was in 1890 that the nations of Latin America created the International Union of the American Republics, thus fulfilling a dream of their great liberator, Simon Bolivar.

Today in the form of the Organization of American States, 21 nations are committed to work for each other's social and economic advancement. As President Eisenhower has stated, "The spiritual, social, political, cultural and economic progress of the peoples of the Hemisphere is necessary for the continuing vitality of the inter-American system."

Looking at our neighbors to the south, it would be fruitless to pretend we did not see problems and misunderstandings. Professional agitators can whip up popular sentiment against "the Colossus of the North" and impractical visionaries and crackpots can distort the truth about this country's policies. We can only be patient and pursue our friendly course; it is beneath the United States to react vindictively to slander.

What is encouraging is that, with our southern neighbors, we have been able to forge the OAS into the healthy and forward-moving organization that it is—a forum where disputes and differences can be dealt with in the light of reason. The past 70 years have been great ones for Latin America; her future lies, like our own, in the way of firm and mutual friendship.

God's Work Is Universal Beauty

There is beauty around you. As you look at the hills, you know that beyond them lies valleys; the clouds in the heavens soon leave and you see the blueness of the skies; the light of the day proves there is a protecting power for you in this world. These things are God's creation but they are His gifts to you. They are enclosed in a vast universe and you are faced with a big challenge as you take your role in this universe.

Dr. Frank Crane said, "Growth is the key that unlocks the universe. Growth is God's plan." Are you taking advantage of opportunities you are offered to advance to a higher status of usefulness or are you contented with your own little world? The universe is large and your job is in accordance with this capacity. You possess the power to search new meanings, to grasp new ideas and to explore and find new ways of living with your fellowmen.

When you sing the hymn, "Lord, We Are Able," do you really mean the words when you repeat them or do you sing them because you like the tune? There is work in the beauty of this earth and it is to keep beauty spread everywhere—beauty for God.

God spoke to me this morning,
As I stood on the bank listening to the brook.
God answered my prayer this morning
When I awoke and found the sun.
God listened to me this evening,
As the stars and moon shone above.
God was so very near today,
As His beauty He did share.

Locals Win Third All-Mar Title; Blaile Paces Players

Joseph W. Balile, who was introduced and tutored in the art of Judo in 1957 by Ernie Cates, came within a fraction of a point of defeating Cates for the All-Marine Judo Championship which was held at Parris Island, April 8 and 9. Blaile led the Camp Lejeune Judo Team to their third consecutive All-Marine title, in as many years of competition, with his first place finish in the under-160 pound class, defeating teammate and top contender Ira Bonar, thereby gaining the right to meet Cates for the Championship.

Cates, 1960 Judo Champ

Cates, the 1959 titles holder and recipient of the Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Memorial Award successfully defended his crown after two very close matches, which he won only by decision.

The first against Dave Garratt, a recruit and member of the Parris Island Judo Team, found Cates definitely on the defense and struggling for his title.

Following Garratt, Blaile playing the role of the aggressor again forced Cates to struggle to regain his crown.

Blaile, considered by many to have been the finest player at the tournament, studied judo in Okinawa under Matsumoto Sensesi, thought by many to be one of the finest judo instructors in Okinawa.

Blaile To National Matches

The 160 pound class champ will receive an All-Marine Corps Championship ring and will participate in the National AAU Judo Championships to be held at Tampa, Fla. tomorrow and Saturday.

Bonar picked up the All-Marine runner-up spot in the 160 pound class while Joe Casale placed third in the heavyweight class.

Don Ashe, the fourth Lejeune entry was eliminated from further play suffering two defeats after winning his first match in the under 140 pound class on opening day.

Shiro Fukunga, Air Facilities entry in the 160 pound class was eliminated in the semi-finals by Lejeune's Bonar after a magnificently played match.

Biddle Award

Ernie Cates, the current champion, and instructor of judo at Parris Island has been the only player to have received the Biddle award which is to be presented to the overall champion annually.

Marines Split Double-Header, Play Devildogs Here Tonight

The Devildogs of Parris Island have moved into Agganis Field for an all-important three-game series, opening up the East Coast Area All-Marine Title play. Having played last night, the action will continue tonight and tomorrow evening. Too late for publication in GLOBE, the results of Wednesday's game will be recapped in next week's publication. After their opening game was rained out Thursday night, the locals split a twilight doubleheader with the Signalers of Ft. Gordon, 6-3 and 6-8, Friday at Agganis Field, picking up their 16th win and fifth loss of the season.

General Berkeley Tosses First Ball

Righthander Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general of the 2nd Marine Division, was on hand Thursday to toss the first ball to catcher Hank Nichols, officially opening the regular 1960 Camp Lejeune baseball season.

Another righthander, Bill Haywood, took over for the general and proceeded to set the Signalers down in order until torrent rains and an unprecedented hail storm caused the game to be delayed and later called off after four full innings of play.

Twelve batters faced the Marine hurler, but none could get to first base as Haywood threw exactly 44 pitches in the four innings to set them down in order.

Pitchers' Duel

A pitchers' duel was in the making as lefthander Bob Angel of Ft. Gordon gave up two runs on three hits, but struck out eight of the 21 batters to come up to the plate.

Grabbing a one-run lead in the third inning on a two-out home run by shortstop Charlie Armstrong, the locals added another in the fourth when first baseman Howie Heiden loaded the bases with a bunt single and Haywood followed with a walk to force a run across the plate.

Over 2,900 fans, who were chased from the stands of Agganis Field by the cloud burst, will be wondering if the big righthander would have duplicated the World Series game of former Yankee, Don Larsen, but all will agree he was surely on the way. However, that's the way the hail stones bounce, and it was just one-for the books and not for the records.

Beimel Wins Third Game

In the first game of the Friday night twilight double header, the locals jumped off to a three-run lead off the starting and losing pitcher, Dick Hagan, in the second inning, but could not keep the visitors from scoring as they pecked away at starting pitcher Bob Rumer for single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings before Bobby Cooke smashed a three-run homer.

Righthanded fireballer Ron Beimel came in to put out the fire in the sixth inning with the score knotted at 3-all, to pick up his third win of the season against one loss as the locals downed the Signalers, 6-3.

The Signalers jumped back, taking the nightcap on a two-run rally in the ninth inning, 8-6. Trailing 6-3 in the seventh, Gordon's Lou Mrowczynski smashed a three-run homer to tie the game, and was safe on an error in the ninth, crossing the plate for the eighth run after teammate Jim Vinelle singled.

Fullerton Homers

Lejeune second sacker Barry Fullerton hit his second homer of the season as catcher Hank Nichols continued to set the pace in the batting average department, going three for four at the plate including a triple into deep center field.

Bill Haywood suffered his second defeat after relieving Lee Mason, who came on in the third to relieve starter Alex Bright, while Bunk Warren went the distance for Gordon to pick up the win.

Camp Fighters Set For All-Marine Event

Fight fans of the Camp Lejeune area are assured of seeing the best of Marine Corps boxing during the All-Marine Corps Boxing Championships to be hosted here, beginning April 19. Other than our own fighters, a host of other boxers are expected to arrive for the annual event including teams from Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego; Quantico, Va., and the Hawaiian Marines of Fleet Marine Force, Pacific.

Leroy Metz with a 5-2 record will go for the locals in the flyweight division. Metz copped the runner-up honors in the Atlantic Fleet tournament held here last month.

Top contender, Ronnie Cooper has a 7-3 record with the local club and will vie in the bantamweight division. Cooper has proved his potential in the All-Marine event with his earlier victory over Quantico's Jerry Moore.

Also competing as a bantamweight will be Ernest Marshall who holds a 5-2 record with the Lejeune staples.

A big winner for the local team with a 10-2 record is Rocky Fiorentino. Featherweight champ of the 1959 and 60 Atlantic Fleet Bouts, Fiorentino should prove interesting in the classic event.

First Year

Teaming with Rocky in the featherweight class will be Bill Hynson who is in his first year of service competition.

Tommy Zangler, another 1959, 60 Atlantic Fleet Champ will go in the lightweight class for the locals.

Zangler holds a 9-2 record this season and should also provide an interesting match.

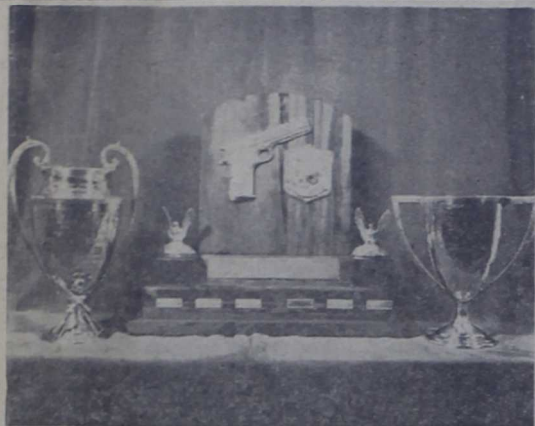

With two wins against no defeats Lee Thomas is entered in the lightweight department while Willie Davis and Tom Hennessy provide the welterweight action.

Davis has won five matches, lost three and captured the runner-up spot in the 1960 Atlantic Fleet Tournament, while Hennessy is a rookie with the Lejeune squad and has no previous record.

Welterweight contenders will face Lejeune's Christ Brown who is undefeated in four outings and holds the 1960 Atlantic Fleet welterweight title.

Five Hundred Shooters Vie For Top Spot

Five hundred Eastern Division Match shooters are setting their sights on the three trophies to be handed out on May 14 following the competition. The three trophies, Elliott, Wirgman and Edson, will be presented by Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, Marine Corps Base commander.

The Elliott Trophy was placed in competition in 1910 when it was donated to the Marine Corps by the officers of the Marine Corps rifle teams of 1909 and 1910 in appreciation of the interest and support of Maj. Gen. George F. Elliott, Commandant of the Marine Corps from 1903 to 1910. General Elliott placed great emphasis on competitive shooting during his tour as Commandant.

Only organizations whose actual male enlisted strength exceeds 600 will be allowed to enter teams to compete for the Elliott Trophy.

Marine divisions are limited to a maximum of six entries. The teams must represent an organized regiment of that division. In addition, not more than two teams may be formed from personnel of the division's separate battalions.

Wirgman Trophy

The Wirgman Trophy was placed in competition in 1926 when it was donated to the Marine Corps by Col. Harold F. Wirgman as a subsidiary prize in the Elliott Trophy match for those entered from posts and stations having limited personnel complement.

Only those organizations whose male enlisted strength does not exceed 600 men may enter a four-man team.

The Edson Trophy, named in honor of the late Maj. Gen. Merritt A. Edson, is a pistol trophy placed in competition in 1956.

Each organization with a quota of three or more pistol competitors must enter a four-man team while organizations with a quota of less than three pistol shooters are encouraged to enter a four-man team.

Lead For General's Trophy Close After Volleyball Play

Second Force Service Regiment, current holder of the Commanding General's Cup for last year's performance of athletics within the Marine Corps Base, made their move toward retaining the award, picking up 12½ points and the Base Volleyball Championship held last week at Goettge Memorial Field House. Marine Corps Engineer School trailed the champs with 12 points and finished second, while Marine Corps Supply Schools were third with 10. Infantry Training Regiment and Headquarters Battalion followed with eight and five points, respectively.

Free Booklet Available For Outdoorsmen

Information that sportsmen look for, and frequently have difficulty finding, fills the unique new publication about North Carolina fishing and hunting that has just come from the Advertising Division, Dept. Conservation and Development, Raleigh, N. C.

The new "Fishing and Hunting in North Carolina" is an adult book by an authority of these sports. Its 68 pages of profusely illustrated text are filled with solid information about what to catch and shoot, and when, where and how. "This is a book written by a dyed-in-the-wool sportsman especially for sportsmen. It was more than two years in preparation. The text is by Chester Davis, outdoor columnist of the Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel, and the illustrations are by outstanding photographers including Jack Dermid, Hugh Morton, John Hemmer and Allan Gould in addition to the staff of the North Carolina Advertising Division.

The book falls into five sections. Hunting is covered from wild boar to small game, and fishing is treated geographically from off-shore to mountains. There are maps of the coast with piers and marinas designated; of favorite trout streams in the mountains, and of fishing access area locations. Also included are fishing records through 1954, and information about fishing contests, managed fishes, fishing and hunting "schools" and shooting preserves and packaged hunts.

2nd Division Champ

Fred Fogg, 2-2 for the season will go in the welterweight class Fogg captured the 1959 Second Division title before joining the local team.

Lucien Green who was defeated during the semi-finals of the All-Marine Championships last year, has a season record of 6-3 and is scheduled for the light middleweight class.

In his first year of service boxing, Ben Gilmore will fight in the middleweight division while Jim Williams also a rookie with the locals provide the light heavyweight entry.

Rounding out the Lejeune entrants are heavyweights Bobby Beckett and Bob Meredith. Beckett scored a knockout against Quantico's heavyweight for his second victory against no defeats while Meredith will be appearing in action for the first time with the local team.

Rifle And Pistol Club

The Rifle and Pistol Club of Camp Lejeune will have a three-gun aggregate match at the Base Pistol Range, beginning at 7 a.m., April 16 and 17.

All members and other persons interested in obtaining classification in the NRA pistol competitions are encouraged to attend. For further information regarding the club contact Capt. Robert Russell, phone 7-7220.

Credit Due

Behind almost every great athlete, businessman or the in show business there has been someone to give them a helping hand.

Ingamar Johannasen, Rocky Marciano and even the great Joe Louis would have never seen the inside of Madison Square Garden if it had not been for his sparring partner.

It is doubtful that our own fighters of Camp Lejeune would be stepping into the ring next week during the All-Marine Boxing Championships without their sparring mate aiding to get them into shape and drawing out their mistake under the watchful eye of the team coach.

While attending a smoker-or championship bout, who would stop to think that behind each winner or loser there had to be a sparring partner?

What would Camp Lejeune's Rocky Fiorentino, Atlantic Fleet Champ, be without Bill Hynson, who goes three rounds with Rocky each and every day of the training period, not out in the gym with hundreds of screaming and cheering fans, but in the training room with only trainers, coaches and other fighters as spectators.

Under the coaching of WO Rex Williams and Act. Sgt. Allen Elkins, the local stables have done a commendable job, winning eight matches while dropping only one and grabbing the runner-up spot in the Atlantic Fleet Tournament held here last month, but let's not forget to give credit where credit is due. Good luck from the GLOBE in the All-Marine Championships.

No-Hitter? . . . We Wonder

Last week we said that there may not be another Gerry Smith on the baseball team this year, but in view of last Thursday night's start by Bill Haywood we may have to retract that statement.

The big righthander and starting pitcher Haywood looked all the way like a major league prospect on the mound as he retired 12 batters in order before the game was called because of heavy rains and an unsuspected hail storm.

Haywood, according to the records, trails only Ron Biemel in the earned run department with 1.85 and 34 innings pitched, giving up 25 hits, while walking only nine and striking out 29; winning three games while losing only one.

A look at last year's records reveal that Gerry Smith on March 30 had won three while losing one, and held an earned run average of 2.16 for 33 and one-third innings pitched. Striking out 37, Smith had given up 30 hits while walking 12 batters.

Further revealed in the records was the fact that by April 22, Smith had upped his record to seven wins against two defeats, while also slightly raising his earned run average to 2.17.

Had Haywood gone all the way last week it is conceivable to say that he could have matched Smith's record by the end of April, and the possibility still remains that he just may do it. We hope so, anyway.

A Quick Look at the Diamond

If shortstop Charlie Armstrong, leftfielder Sam Valentine and third baseman Bobby Cooke keep smashing homers over the fences at Agganis Field, the 14-home-run record set by Harry Agganis and tied by first baseman Hal Norton last year may be shattered this season.

"Play Ball"

From the press box at Agganis Field after the game had been called last Thursday evening we noticed a lone spectator, wrapped up in a poncho, dripping wet, and just as the first section of lights were doused, shouting, "Let's get out on the field (which looked more like Lake Erie than a baseball field) and play ball!" Now that's what we call an avid, die-hard fan.

Quantico Track Meet Seen As Top Field Event Of 1960

QUANTICO, VA., April 6—Entries for the Fourth Marine Corps Schools Relays are rapidly nearing the 600 mark as schools, clubs, and service teams prepare for the first major Eastern outdoor track meet of the season. The April 15-16 carnival will feature such top-notch attractions as Tom Murphy, National AAU champion; Ed Moran, noted miler; Olympic champions Hayes Jones and Josh Culbreth, and "Bo" Robertson, indoor broadjump record holder.

A five-man team of Bob Gutowski, outdoor pole vault record holder; Bob Bantam, shot putter; Bob Manning, sprinter; hurler Carl Brown, and distance man Ed McAlister is scheduled to return from an African tour on the 14th of April. Upon arrival in N. Y. they will be furnished plane tickets to get them to Quantico in time to compete.

Leading the Marines will be Al Cantello, world record holder in the javelin throw, and Alex Breckenridge, American 15 and 30-kilometer run champion. The Leathernecks will also have Ed Collymore, former IC4A champ from Villanova, and Pete Close, who lost the Quantico mile by a step to Moran last year.

Scientists Complete Studies

Scientists from the U. S. Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory have recently returned from Gainesville and Silver Springs, Fla., where they have been engaged in two collaborative studies on snake bite with researchers at the University of Florida and at the Ross Allen Reptile Institute.

Cmdr. R. S. Leopold, MSC, USN, the principal investigator, has been engaged in this research study for several years. Full scale participation by Lt. T. W. Merriam, MC, USNR, Dr. J. F. Gennaro of the University of Florida, G. W. Small, HMI, and Capt. G. L. Calvy, MC, USN, has developed during the past year.

Two questions long debated among "experts" in the medical field have been (1) How deep do the fangs of a snake penetrate when they strike an animal or human? (2) What is the best method of treating poisonous snake bites? The Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory investigators used "radioactive" poisonous snakes at the Institute and obtained data which may provide the basis for definitive recommendations for treating poisonous snake bites (North American) that can be properly documented in the medical literature and used by the Armed Forces, as well as "first-aiders."

Knowing the exact depth of the fang penetration will enable the scientists to better evaluate the various methods of treatment and recommend the one method that will be successful in most instances. "It is impossible to develop a whole new treatment," Commander Leopold said, "but we plan to identify and establish the most effective method."

Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory has been selected as one of the two Navy participants on the annual program of the American Medical Association which meets at Miami, Fla., in June 1960, at which time this data will be reported.

Sky Divers To Appear On TV Show

The Camp Lejeune Marine Sky Divers will appear on Bob Ballard's "Sportsman Almanac" next Friday, April 22, on channel 7. The dives were filmed last Saturday at the Air Facility.

The first jumps were from 3,000 feet with a six-second delay. The next jump was a free fall stabilized position for 15 seconds from 4,000 feet followed by a 7,000-foot jump with a 32-second delay.

The highlight of the day was three men jumping from 7,000 feet with a 32-second delay trailing red smoke flares to enable the cameramen to follow their paths.

The club has jumps scheduled every Saturday at the Air Facility, weather permitting. Spectators and persons interested in joining the club are invited to attend.

First prize in the art contest at the U. S. Naval Hospital April 7 was awarded to Pfc Dennis L. Johnson, H&S Co., Sixth Marines, by Mrs. Sidney

S. Wade for the best original picture entered in the contest. Judges for the contest were Mrs. Wade, Mrs. W. J. Peter Jr., art instructor, and Sgt. John Makos, illustrator with the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory.

Second prize was awarded to Act. GySgt. William E. Kost, "M" Co., 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines. Pfc Walter Steely, Cherry Point Air Station, won third place.

The contest was sponsored by the Hospital Red Cross for patients. The project was under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Berckmans and Mrs. Davil Woll, Red Cross Gray Lady arts and crafts teachers. Pictures had to be original work done by a patient during his hospitalization.

Capt. L. E. Bach, USN, hospital commanding officer, was also present for the awards. He commended the artists for their fine work and their progressive use of leisure time. The contest was followed by a social hour for the patients.

The U. S. Marine Band is credited with having originated the custom of standing at attention during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner," the National Anthem, in 1898. Audiences soon followed suit.

Marines Of NELM Battalion Are Big Brothers For A Day

Through the years Marines have earned the reputation of being hard-nosed, rough and ready individuals. But when a Marine runs across a group of homeless orphans, that outward appearance changes to one of tender and loving care with a desire to give a small bit of that homelife which is missing.

Such is the case of the men of the 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, under the command of Lt. Col. George Codrea, currently serving in the Mediterranean.

Upon arriving in Naples, Italy, late last month, arrangements were made through local authorities to have children from the Casa Marterna Orphanage visit the USS Pocono, Amphibious Squadron Eighth Flagship, as guests of the Marines.

On hand to greet the 27-seat bus that carried 47 children to the fleet landing were men from H&S Co., 1st Bn., Sixth Marines. As each child debarked a Marine stepped forward to claim his "brother" or "sister" for a day.

Warming quickly to the occasion, the Marines escorted their "family" on a tour of the Pocono. From the bow to the fantail, the mess decks to the bridge, children of all sizes took "command" of the ship and the hearts of their Marine "brothers."

Later, the children, many displaying newly acquired Marine shooting badges, were treated to an hour of cartoons and refreshments on the mess decks.

Upon arriving in Rhodes, Greece, earlier this month, members of the attached 8th Howitzer Platoon held two festive parties for orphaned children of the island.

The first party was held at a boys' orphanage where members of the platoon bearing armloads of toys, soft drinks, candy and one or two cakes baked for the day, were met with a rousing ovation and a stirring rendition of the Marine Corps Hymn sung by 75 Greek boys in their native tongue.

The Camp Lejeune-based Marines quickly circulated among the children with their gifts and the party was soon extended to the play-yard where many of the visitors were busy taking pictures of the excited children or participating in a number of soccer games. After a time, the platoon boarded their vehicles and headed towards the girls' orphanage in another section of Rhodes.

There, amid traditional Greek songs and dances, the Marines again handed out their gifts, but with a renewed inspiration gained from their earlier experience. Many of the platoon "adopted" two or three of the 135 girls for the party, and despite the language barrier all present had a memorable afternoon.

The only sad note of the parties in Naples and Rhodes came at the time they came to a close and "goodbye" had to be said. For some, however, it was the beginning of a friendship that will continue to prosper through the mail.

1960 Schedule For Corsair Boat Trips Assigned By Base

The 1960 schedule of unit assignments for the operation of the "Corsair" has been published. The Corsair is the deep sea fishing boat operated by the Base Special Services. The Corsair is docked at Casper Dock in Swansboro and departs the dock at 7 a.m. It returns at approximately 3 p.m. The maximum number of personnel on any scheduled trip is 15, plus a crew of two.

The unit making use of the boat will provide food for members of their party. Units will also furnish their own bait and fishing equipment.

The Corsair is primarily operated for enlisted men. However, units will include in their parties one officer, warrant officer, or staff NCO who will be responsible for the party.

Alcoholic beverages will not be consumed or taken aboard the boat and field shoes or other heavy leather shoes will not be worn on board. Also, fish will not be cleaned on the gunwale of the Corsair.

Dependents will not be permitted the use of the boat from Monday to Friday. Special arrangements for weekend trips may be made by contacting the Base Special Services Officer.

The schedule of unit assignments may be found in Base Order 1710.15.

2nd Heavy Artillery Rocket Battery Fires 'Honest John'

Lt. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, commanding general, FMFLant, fired another successful Honest John rocket from Onslow Beach. The shot was a tactical maneuver in conjunction with LANTPHIBEX 1-60 recently conducted at Camp Lejeune. The rocket, which was fired at 2 p.m., was prepared for firing by the 1st Platoon of the 2nd Heavy Artillery Rocket Battery, under the direction of Capt. Homer Varian Jr., platoon commander, Act. SSgt. Thomas K. Anstaett and Sgt. Ronald L. Foster assisted Lt. John M. Wyser-Pratt in directing the actual assembly of the missile. Act. SSgt. Anstaett is chief of the launcher section and Sgt. Foster heads the assembly section.

OFF AGAIN—Lt. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, commanding general, FMFLant, fired another successful Honest John rocket from Onslow Beach Tuesday, April 5. The 2 p.m. shot was a tactical maneuver in conjunction with LANTPHIBEX 1-60 recently conducted at Camp Lejeune. Members of the 1st Platoon, 2nd Heavy Artillery Rocket Battery, were responsible for readying the rocket for the shot.

Kinston Ho Services D Of Fellowsh

Three hundred and Camp Lejeune Marines participate in an "All Forces Fellowship Sunday" scheduled to be held April 15 in Kinston.

The Marines, all from the Infantry Training Regiment, scheduled to enjoy a full day of activities in the city as guests of Kinston-USO and the Kinston Interfaith Association.

Leaving here at 7:30 a.m., the group will be met by the city of Kinston and escorted to church of their faith for worship services.

After church, the Leatherneers will be the guests of members of the various church congregations for lunch either in private homes or at the churches.

A program of entertainment featuring bands, specialty acts, a talk by Chaplain Frederick Hunt of the Army Chief of Chaplains office will commence at 6 p.m. at the Fairfield Recreation Center. A buffet supper will follow in the Fairfield Gymnasium.

Vesper services at 6 p.m. conclude the day's activities, following which the group will turn to Camp Geiger.

A similar observation, "Millennium Appreciation Day" was held in Kinston in 1958 with a large number of Camp Lejeune Marines participating.

Marine Aircraft Group-26 Versatile Proven In Both War And Peacetime

MAG-26 Flight Tower

The mission of Marine Aircraft Group-26, stationed at the Marine Corps Air Facility, is to provide maximum effectiveness of attached squadrons in the execution of helicopter operations supporting the Fleet Marine Force. This includes transportation of troops and supporting equipment in amphibious landings and ground operations, air-sea rescue, casualty evacuation, observations and numerous related tasks.

Beginning with two squadrons at Cherry Point, it has grown in ensuing years to eight, a Marine Air Base Squadron, Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron, five helicopter squadrons and a Marine Observation Squadron (VMO-1).

The mission of VMO-1 is to provide air support to FMF units by performing visual aerial reconnaissance and observations and miscellaneous air operations.

The aircraft used is an OE-1 aircraft, "a hopped-up version of the civilian Piper Cub." The other aircraft used is an HOK helicopter or "mixmaster."

There are three squadrons of HUS helicopters. The HUS-1 is designed to perform search and attack missions and transportation of personnel and cargo. A squadron of HRS helicopters, and a squadron of HR2S-1 helicopters comprise the remaining two.

Three months after moving to its new home in July, 1954, the group dispatched HMR-261, at that time aboard the USS Saipan in the Caribbean, to the aid of the hurricane stricken people of Jeremie, Haiti. As a result of this operation, the squadron was nominated for the William J. Kossler award for the "greatest achievement in practical application of rotary winged aircraft."

In September, 1955, within an hour's notice, MAG-26 had 12 helicopters on the way to Connecticut to help victims of Hurricane Diane. The civilians were given supplies, injured were flown out and National Guard troops flown in to preserve order.

In July, 1956, light helicopters of HMR Squadrons 261 and 262 lifted a full company of Marine Reconnaissance troops from the Air Facility to the submarine USS Sea Lion. This was the first attempt to utilize this new concept of modern warfare.

The next major rescue operation occurred in October, 1957, when HMR(L)-262 was sent to Valencia, Spain, to help victims of a flood that had taken 50 lives.

During March, 1959, MAG-26 played a major role in PHIBEX 1-58 and in July, 1958, a squadron attached to the USS Wasp in the Mediterranean Sea, was sent to Lebanon where they operated from Beirut International Airport and proved invaluable to ground troops.

In April of last year, a defective weather antenna atop an 85-foot weather tower at the Cape Hatteras weather station had to be replaced. An HR2S-1 and an HRS helped solve the problem about two hours. The HR2S-1 hooked a cable onto the dome of the tower and the direction of the cable carried away the defective equipment, replacing it new gear.

In July, 1959, air elements of supporting HUS squadrons participated in "Operation Inland Seas" in conjunction with the operations of the St. Lawrence Sea.

At the present time, MAG-26 is playing a leading role in "Project Mercury," National Aeronautics and Space Administration launching of a man in space.

Last month all squadrons from MAG-26 participated in LANTPHIBEX 1-60 as part of the Atlantic Fleet's amphibious Striking Force.

The Base itself houses over 1,000 enlisted bachelors in six modern barracks. Officers reside in motel-type quarters. A hangar, the size of a city block, houses offices, work shops, helicopters to be repaired and time of hurricanes, storms and heavy rain most of the aircraft on Base.

An air-conditioned St. Lawrence Dispensary, with complete medical and dental facilities is available. There is also Post Exchange, messhall, an 18,000 square foot gymnasium with a basketball court, four bowling alleys and a spacious swimming pool.

For relaxation, there is a modern service club with game rooms, lounge, complete dining and cooking facilities. For even enjoyment, there is an air-conditioned movie theater and for Sunday worship services, a chapel that seats 400.

A 20,000 square foot supply warehouse, used by both the Navy and Marine Corps keeps the Base well stocked.

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1960

NO. 15

All-Marine Boxing Championships Begin Tuesday

Tropicals Are Uniform Of Day Monday

Base Headquarters has announced summer service uniforms will become the uniform of the day at Camp Lejeune Monday, April 18.

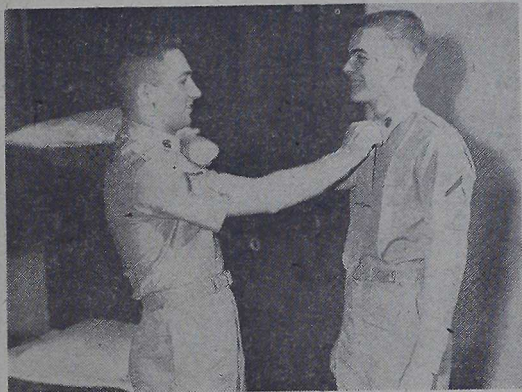

All male officer and enlisted personnel are required to wear long sleeve uniform shirts with tie and a clasp until hot weather, when separate directive will be issued for short sleeve shirts and shirts without tie.

All Base male Marines are required to wear service frame caps except motor transport personnel who operate vehicles other than sedans and pickup trucks. Fleet Marine Force commanders will prescribe appropriate head dress for their personnel.

During the two-week period immediately following Monday's "summer uniform" effective date, area commanders are authorized to prescribe the winter service uniform for personnel on guard and military police duties should the weather warrant such action.

Woman Marine officers and enlisted personnel will wear summer service (M-52) uniforms effective Monday also. Navy nurses will wear the white indoors duty uniform when on duty and at other times, the service dress blue "B" or working gray uniforms are permitted. Waves may wear the gray work-

The long sleeve shirt with tie worn by Occhialini will become the uniform of the day for enlisted men at Camp Lejeune on April 18. Short sleeve shirts and long sleeve shirts without tie will not be authorized until hotter weather. Both Marines are members of Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., MCB. (Photo by Act. Sgt. H. C. Batchelor)

Riseley Pier Dedication Is Scheduled For Tomorrow

Formal dedication ceremonies of Riseley Pier will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. The dedication will be followed by a luncheon at noon in the civilian cafeteria. The pier is named in honor of Lt. Gen. James P. Riseley (Ret.), former Base commander, who is scheduled to arrive here today from his home in New Mexico. His daughter, Mary, will accompany him.

The general's tentative schedule calls for a round of golf this morning and attendance at the baseball game this evening between Camp Lejeune and Parris Island.

Name Plaque

A bronze-letter plaque will be posted at the pier, the inscription reading: "Riseley Pier, Named In Honor of James P. Riseley, Lt. Gen., USMC, Retired, An Avid Sportsman, April 15, 1960."

The pier manager is Robert G. McIntyre. He is assisted by Edward Dieckmann, Hartsell R. Johnson and Frank J. Heidt. All are retired Marines.

General Riseley and his daughter plan to stay at Camp Lejeune until Monday in order to do some fishing, relaxing and visiting with old friends and acquaintances.

Seabee Chief Observes Unit

The Commander, Naval Construction Battalions, Atlantic Fleet, paid a visit to Camp Lejeune this week to observe training here of Mobile Construction Battalion One.

Commodore William C. G. Church, Capt., CEC, USN, arrived here Monday afternoon. He was met on arrival by Col. R. C. Power Jr., Base Plans Officer, who acted as his guide here. Accompanying the commodore to Camp Lejeune was a member of his staff, Marine Maj. Charles I. Sheenhan.

After a brief visit in the office of the Base commanding general, the commodore observed Seabee training with the 8th Comm. Bn., Supply Schools, and Engineer Schools. He also witnessed a night firing demonstration staged by MCB-1 Monday night at Camp Geiger.

Captain Church left Tuesday afternoon for Washington.

Top Corps Boxers Compete Here For All-Marine Titles

Fight fans of the Camp Lejeune area are assured of seeing the best of Marine Corps boxing next week as the local stables host the 1960 All-Marine Boxing Championships at Goettge Memorial Field House, April 19, 20 and 21. Other than our own fighters, a host of other boxers are expected to arrive for the annual event, including teams from the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif., Quantico, Va., and the Hawaiian Marines of Fleet Marine Force, Pacific.

Also scheduled to participate are entrants from the Marine Detachment, USS Newport News, and the Marine Barracks, Naval Air Station, Alameda, Calif.

Col. Harvey Miller, USMC (retired), was named to head the classic as tournament director. Colonel Miller, a journalist, executive, and military man, has been associated with the field of boxing both active and inactive for nearly 54 years.

Bill Conlin, entrant from the USS Newport News, fought in New England Golden Gloves events where he reigned champion during the year of 1957. Later in the same year, Conlin copped the New England AAU Championship in the light middleweight class and represented New England in the National AAU Boxing Tournament.

Alameda, Calif., entry, middleweight Kirby Lirette, has competed in the Louisiana Golden Gloves Tournament, and was also last year's Middleweight Inter-Service Champion, after a third place All-Marine finish.

(See BOXING, Page 8)

Army Exercise Planned Here

On April 21, elements of the 10th Logistic Command, U. S. Army, with 1st Armored Infantry Battalion attached (simulated), will conduct air, land and sea movements at Camp Lejeune. This is in conjunction with the over-all Army exercise, Operation Tar Heel.

The exercise will take place from the Appalachian mountain range to Charleston, S. C. The units participating in the operation are the 2nd Army, 3rd Army, XX Corps, 10th Logistical Command and the 1st Armored Infantry Battalion.

The operation is scheduled to end April 29.

Marine Flying Club Teaches Ground Class

Members of the Camp Lejeune Marine Flying Club met Monday night in Messhall 9. New members joined and plans were made for obtaining additional aircraft and further expansion of the club's activities.

Flight instruction is under way and club officials say instructions will be given weekdays after working hours, Wednesday afternoons, and weekends, except on Easter Sunday. Private and commercial pilots, however, are permitted to check out the club's airplane on Easter Sunday.

Ground school is scheduled to be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the 2nd Force Service Regiment Messhall 9. Instruction this week includes composite navigation, radio navigation and meteorology. Training materials and instruments will be available for use at the school.

Further information about the flying club and its activities may be obtained by calling 7-3829 or by attending the next meeting to be held at 7 p.m. on April 25 at a place to be announced later.

NELM Troops Donate 100 Percent In Red Cross Drive

A dispatch received this week reported the NELM troops of the 2nd Division have contributed 100 per cent in the 1960 American Red Cross Campaign. As of April 8, the drive has collected $23,808.42. The 2nd Division leads in monetary contributions with $9,148.92 for a 68.6 per cent participation. Marine Corps Base has 89.5 per cent and $8,685.91, and Force Troops have donated $1,595.97 for 41.1 per cent.

Civilians

The civilian workers have made the biggest increase in contributions this year over last. They have contributed $1,706.15, or 41 per cent. The Marine Corps Air Facility has donated 59.2 per cent, or $981.47.

In addition to the NELM Marines, Engineer Schools, Rifle Range and Supply Schools were added this week to the group who have contributed 100 per cent to the campaign. The 1st Infantry Training Regiment has donated 98 per cent.

There has been no monetary quota set for the drive. Percentages are based on the number of persons contributing as related to the number on unit rolls.

Membership

The drive now has 19,225 members. Membership is given to those contributing $1 or more in the campaign. The 2nd Division has 7,632 members followed by Marine Corps Base with 6,484. NELM troops have 1,390; civilians, 1,273. Force Troops, 831, and MCAF, 615.

Shooters Start Initial Firing

Over a million rounds of ammunition started on its way to the targets here Monday morning as competitors in the Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol Matches stepped to the firing line to begin their preliminary shooting.

Over 56 tons of 22, .30, .38 and .45 caliber match ammunition was transported to the Camp Lejeune ranges for use during the first leg of the Marine Corps' 1960 Competition-in-Arms Program.

On Friday the 500 shooters completed 30 hours of pre-match schooling under the tutorage of a dozen instructors here from the Marksmanship Training Unit at San Diego, Calif. Preliminary firing for the next four weeks will condition the shooters for the matches, May 9-14.

Summer Uniforms Effective April 18

Base Headquarters has announced summer service uniforms will become the uniform of the day at Camp Lejeune on Monday, April 18.

All male officer and enlisted personnel are required to wear long sleeve uniform shirts with tie and tie clasp until hot weather, when a separate directive will be issued for short sleeve shirts and shirts without tie.

Chairman Of Donors Announced

Mrs. Sidney S. Wade, honorary chairman of the Red Cross volunteers, has announced the appointment of Mrs. H. F. Fenstermacher as chairman of volunteers for the newly established blood donor program at Camp Lejeune.

Mrs. Fenstermacher previously served as a Red Cross volunteer in similar capacity in Japan where her husband, Chaplain Fenstermacher, was on duty at NAS, Atsugi.

Volunteers are now being recruited from among wives of military personnel in all grades to perform the various duties necessary in a blood collection program.

Plans call for the bloodmobile to visit this Base every three months with the first visit scheduled for May 10 and 11.

Volunteers are needed to assist with the following duties: registrations, bottle preparation, hostess-guides, donor room assistants, canteen, typists, registered nurses and nurses' aides. Previous blood program experience is not necessary. Those interested are invited to phone Mrs. Fenstermacher at 4-4346 for details.

Commissary

In answer to the many calls received by the Base Commissary, the store managers have issued the following announcement:

The Base Commissary Store will be open for business as usual over the Easter weekend. Open hours are Friday, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The store will be closed Sunday and Monday.

All Base male Marines are required to wear service frame caps except motor transport personnel who operate vehicles other than sedans and pickup trucks. Fleet Marine Force commanders will prescribe appropriate head dress for their personnel.

During the two-week period immediately following Monday's "summer uniform" effective date, area commanders are authorized to prescribe the winter service uniform for personnel on guard and military police duties should the "weather warrant such action."

Woman Marine officers and enlisted personnel will wear summer service (M-52) uniforms effective Monday also. Navy nurses will wear the white indoors duty uniform when on duty and at other times, the service dress blue "B" or working gray uniforms are permitted. Waves may wear the gray working uniform on duty and the service dress blue "B" uniform at other times. The jacket to the service dress "B" uniform may be removed while indoors.

When the coat is worn as the outer garment, all ribbons or decorations and medals to which entitled will be worn. When the service jacket is worn as the outer garment (see UNIFORM CHANGE, Page 12)

Corsair Schedules Released For 1960

The 1960 schedule of unit assignments for the operation of the "Corsair" has been published. The Corsair is the deep sea fishing boat operated by the Base Special Services.

The Corsair is docked at Casper Dock in Swansboro and departs the dock at 7 a.m. It returns at approximately 3 p.m. The maximum number of personnel on any scheduled trip is 15, plus a crew of two.

The unit making use of the boat will provide food for members of their party. Units will also furnish their own bait and fishing equipment.

The Corsair is primarily operated for enlisted men. However, units will include in their parties one officer, warrant officer or staff NCO who will be responsible for the party.

Dependents will not be permitted the use of the boat from Monday to Friday. Special arrangements for weekend trips may be made by contacting the Base Special Services Officer.

The schedule of unit assignments may be found in Base Order 1710.15.

Six courses, one each week, will be offered by a Protestant School of Religion for military personnel and their adult dependents beginning Tuesday evening, 7:30, at the Midway Park Community Building. The courses will be taught by local chaplains and are free of charge.

Courses will include: (1) The Spade and the Scriptures, an introduction to the field of scientific discoveries and their relation to the Bible, Chaplain H. M. Day, instructor; (2) The Life and Teachings of Jesus from the Gospel of Luke, Chaplain Duane Smith, instructor; (3) The Life and Teachings of Paul based on the Book of Acts, Chaplain O. R. Fitzgerald, instructor;

(4) Loving Thy Neighbor as Thyself, an investigation of the principles of love found in the Bible, Chaplain C. W. Howard III, instructor; (5) The Christian in the Modern World, Chaplain W. H. Vinson, instructor; (6) An Introduction to the Unified Curriculum for Sunday Schools.

COMMUNION CHANGE

Due to a conflict in schedules, there will be no communion service at the Tarawa Terrace Protestant Chapel tonight. The service was originally scheduled for 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend the communion service to be held at the Montford Protestant Chapel tonight at 7:30.

CABANA INTERIORS—DT3 and Mrs. Joseph M. Heigle, with their children, Nicky, 2, and Phyllis Ann, 11 months, enjoy the "open house" in the summer cabanas at Onslow Beach. Besides the roomy bunks shown in the background, the cabanas contain everything needed to set up vacation housekeeping—even a can opener. The cabanas will be opened tomorrow for all married military personnel at Lejeune, their dependents and guests. (Photo by Act. Sgt. W. J. Rush)

Flying Club School Held

Members of the Camp Lejeune Marine Flying Club met Monday night in Messhall 9. New members joined and plans were made for obtaining additional aircraft and further expansion of the club's activities.

Flight instruction is under way and club officials say instructions will be given weekdays after working hours, Wednesday afternoons, and weekends, except on Easter Sunday. Private and commercial pilots, however, are permitted to check out the club's airplane on Easter Sunday.

Ground school is scheduled to be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the 2nd Force Service Regiment Messhall 9. Instruction this week includes composite navigation, radio navigation and meteorology. Training materials and instruments will be available for use at the school.

Further information about the flying club and its activities may be obtained by calling 7-3829 or by attending the next meeting to be held at 7 p.m. on April 25 at a place to be announced later.

General Riseley And Daughter To Arrive

Retired Lt. Gen. James P. Riseley, former Base commander, and his daughter, Mary, are expected to arrive here today for the dedication ceremonies tomorrow of the new fishing pier.

The general's tentative schedule calls for some golf playing this morning and the baseball game this evening between the local nine and Parris Island. The formal dedication ceremonies of Riseley Pier will be held tomorrow morning at 10, followed by a luncheon at noon in the civilian cafeteria.

General Riseley and his daughter plan to stay at Camp Lejeune until Monday.

PURPLE HEART IS AWARDED to Act. Sgt. Dale E. Clifton, of the engineering department of MAG-26, by Maj. W. G. Siegfried Sr., executive officer of H&MS-26, MCAF. The award, which came almost nine years after he had been wounded, was for the spring offensive of 1951 against the communists in Central and Southern Korea. Sergeant Clifton is the son of Mrs. J. E. Clifton, of Houston, Texas, and the husband of the former Miss Pauline Change, of Honolulu, Hawaii. (Photo by Sgt. A. J. Cotterell)

Service Unity Exemplified At Quantico

Interservice rivalry will have to bow down to unity at the Marine Base at Quantico, Va. For the past 10 years an Air Force outfit has been doing an important defense job at the Leatherneck site.

The 647th Radar Squadron guard the airplanes within the Washington Air Defense Sector. Part of SAGE (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment), the squadron's main headquarters is at Ft. Lee, Va.

But the installation on the northernmost tip of the base is called Manassas Air Force Station and it relies on the Army, Navy and Marines to help things along.

Food supplies are provided by Marine Corps Schools. Hospital and sick bay facilities are the Navy's job. And the local post exchange is run by the Army, making the small command as unified as can be.

The Manassas crew does its giant-size defense job with little fanfare. In fact, hundreds of Marines stationed at Quantico aren't even aware of the organization, nor are many of the local citizenry.

ONE WAY

One-way traffic is now in effect on "F" Street from River Road toward Main Service Road. Personnel desiring to drive to the Railway Express or Passenger Transportation Offices in Bldg. 233 are required to use "G" Street to the short cross-over street located at the rear of the Bus Station.

ROK Marines Observe Birth

Members of Marine Corps Engineer Schools will pay tribute Friday to Korean officers and enlisted men attending school there by holding a birthday celebration in honor of the 11th Anniversary of the Republic of Korea Marine Corps.

The ROK Marines are Capt. Lee Jung-Mo and Heo Min Hwan, MSgt. Lee Bang-Man, TSgt. Kim Sang-Sue and SSgts. Chang Han-Pub and Kim Young Tak.

Capt. Lee Jung-Mo will cut a birthday cake following a birthday message read by Col. William C. Capehart, MCES commander,

SPORTING THE LATEST IN "POOPY SUITS"—Despite an 80 degree temperature on the MAG-26 flight line, Lt. Col. J. E. Hansen, commanding officer of HMR-263, wears his Mark I exposure suit or "Poopy Suit" as it is commonly known, because of an ocean water temperature below 60 degrees. Maj. R. I. Cover wears the conventional flying suit as he briefs the colonel for an over-water flight to follow. With the water temperature below 60 degrees all aviators must wear a protective suit. The Mark I, an easily donned exposure suit is made expressly for helicopter operations. (Photo by Sgt. A. J. Cotterell)

Quantico WM Becomes First Lady Gunner

Woman Marine Mary E. Thompson became the Corps' only female appointee to the rank of Warrant Officer this year just hours after her arrival March 31 at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., for duty.

A former Act. GySgt. in the Woman Marines, Mary will become Assistant Adjutant for Headquarters Bn. She previously served as secretary for Brig. Gen. John P. Condon at the Paris, France, Headquarters of the U. S. European command.

An active sports enthusiast, Miss Thompson won the All-Marine golf championship in 1956, 1957 and 1958. She first enlisted in the Women Reserves in 1944, was discharged in 1946, and later reenlisted as a member of the regular Marine Corps.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark H. Thompson, 852-N. LeRoy St., Fenton, Mich., Mary attended Toledo (Ohio) University prior to her enlistment in the Corps.

Federal Service Campaign Chairman Expresses Thanks

The commanding general, Marine Corps Base, has received letters of appreciation from both the chairman, North Carolina Committee, Federal Service Campaign for National Health Agencies, and treasurer of the Federal Service Joint Crusade, Mr. John S. Miller Jr., chairman of the Health Committee, stated in his letter acknowledging the contribution of $23,496.58, "It is rewarding to know the personnel on your Base realize the needs of the voluntary agencies and contribute to the health of their community, state and nation. We all have a big job to do, but the cooperation we received from you makes it much easier."

Mr. Leon F. Lundmark, Treasurer for CARE, American-Korean Foundation, and Radio Free Europe, in expressing his thanks to military and civilian personnel at Camp Lejeune for the $9,405.89 contributed to these agencies, stated: "Speaking for all three of our Joint Crusade agencies, the United States Marine Corps under your command has made a wonderful contribution to our three agencies, and we do want to thank you and all concerned with the drive for the very fine contribution."

Blood Donors

Eighteen men from Base and Division units gave a critically ill patient at the James Walker Memorial Hospital in Wilmington another chance for life Monday afternoon.

Responding to an urgent call for fresh, whole "O" type blood, the donors were driven by bus from Camp Lejeune to Wilmington, arriving about an hour and a half after the request was sent out.

Chuck Cabot, Ink Spots To Play Pavilion

Chuck Cabot and his orchestra and the internationally known Ink Spots will appear at Marston Pavilion Wednesday, April 20, for a dance from 8 p.m. until midnight. Preceding the dance, Chuck Cabot will appear in concert at the Camp Theater from 7:45 until 7:45 p.m.

Jesse Atkins and the Echoes will play for dancing at the Pavilion Saturday, April 16, from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Chuck Cabot is not a newcomer to the music profession. He has studied music and played saxophone since the age of eight. His handballing career began as a freshman in college at the University of Southern California and later at UCLA.

During the summer months he played many of the top beach and society dances along the West Coast. His music seems to be arranged just for the dancing public, a sweet-music, danceable band with a definite beat.

Chuck Cabot and his nationally famous 12-piece orchestra featuring the Ink Spots will also play at the Paradise Point Officers Club Friday, May 20. Tickets will go on sale tomorrow.

During the summer months he played many of the top beach and society dances along the West Coast. His music seems to be arranged just for the dancing public, a sweet-music, danceable band with a definite beat.

Chuck comes from a musical family. His mother was a pupil of the famous Ignace Paderewski and he has three musical brothers. All of the boys were taught by their mother. At the age of 13, he played solo clarinet in the Los Angeles Junior High School Symphony Orchestra.

Of all the vocal groups whose names are internationally known, the Ink Spots are perhaps the most widely known. They have always had the exceptional ability to spin melodies into memories and bring a song to the lips while tugging at the heart. Many vocal groups are still trying to copy the unique style of the Ink Spots but none can capture the quality and style of the group.

The high quality of this group in sound and appearance has captivated night club audiences and record fans with their infectious, high notes singing supplying the melodic theme.

Marston Pavilion is open to all sergeants and below, their dependents and guests.

League Encourages Skills Of Armed Forces Writers

With the motto, "Help Write America Right," the Armed Forces Writers League has set itself a minimum goal of 5,000 members to become what it hopes will be the largest writers organization in the United States.

The League, founded "to encourage and help service-connected writers to improve their skills of communication," includes in its membership many authors who have achieved professional status.

In addition to its monthly publication, "The Armed Forces Writer," the League offers members such services as manuscript criticism and marketing, discounts on writers' publications, technical bulletins and writing and art contests.

Details about membership in the AFWL may be had by writing the Armed Forces Writers League, Inc., P. O. Box 218, Mary Esther, Fla.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY — A truly adult sophisticated comedy starring David Niven, Mitzi Gaynor and Carl Reiner is the story of an upper middle class Gramercy Park lawyer. (81 min.)

THE PERSUADER — "Talent"—both known and unknown—is discernible in this mediocre plot of violence on the range and the forces of good and evil who struggle against each other. It stars William Talman and James Craig. (83 min.)

BETWEEN HEAVEN AND HELL — The place must be this old earth and what goes on here. (90 min.)

THE FASTEST GUN ALIVE — Though it carries all the basic qualities of a top sagebrusher, it has the additional asset of having some of the most unbearable suspense yet devised for an outdoor. A surprise ending plus Glenn Ford, Jeanne Crain and producer Crawford make this a thoroughly entertaining film. THE MONSTER OF PIEDRAS BLANCAS — Les Tremayne of "Whistler" fame plays in this science-fiction story of a crabman, a scaly creature some seven feet tall and driven to subsist on blood. (73 min.)

JAILHOUSE ROCK — Elvis Presley, B.A. (Before Army) portrays a young singer in his drive to the top. The film is complete with design, women, ex-pops, unscrupulous managers, etc. (92 min.)

GIRL'S TOWN — This is apparently the counterpart of Boy's Town but we can assume there is a difference. (92 min.)

OREGON TRAIL — Fred MacMurray as a newspaper reporter makes the long journey over the famed "trail" amid many humorous and tragic situations with both the settlers and the Indians. He is ably supported by William Bishop and Nina Shipman. (86 min.)

YOUNG STRANGER — The story of a family from the right side of the tracks, which because of the press of the father's business as a motion picture executive, begins to deteriorate, stars James MacArthur as the 16-year-old son who gets into trouble with the police. (85 min.)

CUBAN REBEL GIRLS — The late Errol Flynn and Beverly Aadland and sluggish newsworld footage are set against a background of Fidel Castro and revolution in this web of intrigue and counter-intrigue. (80 min.)

JUSTICE AND CARYL CHESSMAN — This is the story of one of the most famous criminals in history. (60 min.)

What goes on behind the firing line of the Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol Matches presently being conducted at Camp Lejeune's Rifle Range? The administrative and logistic problems which arise when over 500 competitors, representing 47 commands, check in at the range are mountainous.

Upon arriving at the Stone Bay area, here, shooters report to the Eastern Division Administrative Office. Here Act. MSgt. V. I. Heap, temporarily assigned to the office from Force Troops, prepares, with the aid of six assistants, a "case file" on each shooter. The file contains the individual's service record, pay record, health record and a copy of his original orders. His orders must be endorsed, his travel pay liquidated, his pay record forwarded to the Court House Bay Disbursing Office and other administrative duties taken care of. In addition, he is assigned to a barracks. Shooters reporting in from small units, such as a Marine Barracks, are assigned to one of three composite teams made up for the matches.

From the administrative office, competitors check in with supply. Here GySgt. G. A. Sload, supply chief for the rifle range detachment, issues them about $250 worth of shooting equipment and accessories. Match-conditioned rifles and pistols, shooting scopes, camp stools, shooting boxes and shooting jackets are just a few of the main items each marksman receives.

Following check-in, the shooters settle down for 30 hours of schooling under the expert tutorage of 11 instructors from the Marksmanship Training Unit at San Diego, Calif. While some of the competitors have attended this school several times in the past years, the M. T. U. instructors continually fluctuate the scope of their lessons, thus keeping them up to date with latest shooting techniques. Under the direction of Capt. C. E. Caudill, the San Diego teachers cover all phases of shooting. One class, for instance, is entirely devoted to light and its effect on the human eye.

Following school week, the marksmen step up to the firing line to begin four weeks of shooting. During this pre-match shooting, competitors will pull their own targets. On May 4, however, almost 400 2nd Division Marines will report to the range to act as block officers, butt block officer, line scorers and to work the butts.

Throughout the shooting period, Act. MSgt. M. V. Keener and his 15 armorers of the Rifle Range armory will be on hand to repair weapons for the shooters. Over 500 new weapons have been shipped to the range for match use. Sergeant Keener's group must clean and check each firearm prior to issuing it to a shooter. The Rifle Range Armory has been augmented by a four-man team from the Marine Corps Supply Center at Albany, Ga.

Driver Education Course Teaches Experience

Every year, thousands of young drivers receive their licenses and become part of the nation's motorized public. To provide for the high-way safety of these new motorists, courses in drivers' training and "practice" driving have been set up in many high schools.

The Camp High School Drivers' Education class teaches driving experience, a general "know-how" of an automobile's mechanics and roadway manners to an average of 30 students per school year. About 12 students are enrolled for each semester course.

The classes are taught daily, and each student receives about 30 hours of classroom instruction. A minimum of 20 hours are spent as a passenger in the training vehicle, observing fellow students' good and bad driving points. At least six hours actual class driving experience is required for a pupil to pass the course.

In accordance with motor vehicle laws, pupils must be at least 16 years old when applying for the class, or must have reached their 16th birthday prior to driving a vehicle in the class. Most of the pupils completing the course have received their driver's permits immediately afterwards.

In addition to driving lessons, classroom aids such as highway safety films, textbooks, posters, and driving quizzes are employed.

The North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles text and rules are also taught to the pupils.

According to Mr. James Willis, Drivers' Education class instructor, liability insurance laws have allowed a 10 to 15 per cent reduction on insurance rates for graduates of such a class.

Son Of Yankee Executive Calls 1960 Crucial Season

Just what is wrong with the New York Yankees?

This question was put before a young man who is closer to the Yankees' problem than any die-hard Bronx Bomber fan here at Camp Lejeune. He is Pfc Daniel R. Topping Jr., a trainee with "N" Co., 3rd Bn., 1st ITR, and son of Daniel R. Topping Sr., Colonel, USMCR, co-owner and president of the former world champions.

Without reluctance, but with a little hesitation, Dan Topping Jr. graced the GLOBE with an answer to what he termed "a real tough question." This was his answer, which came after a brief mention of the "failing Yanks":

"I don't think anyone can say that a team is failing because of one year loaded with injuries and other bad breaks. This is the season that should tell the story—for if the Yankees finish lower than last year's third place, which is certainly no 'failing,' then something is wrong and will have to be worked out.

"Nine first stringers were hurt and out of the lineup at one time last year. They included Mantle, Skowron, Ford, Duren, Siebern and Kubek. With those guys out, I think there would be trouble."

Grapefruit Record

When asked about the Bomber's record thus far in the Grapefruit Circuit, Topping replied that the results of games played during spring training by major league clubs is certainly "no indication of what will happen during the regular season."

(Ed. The Yankee record at this writing was better than only the Washington Senators. The Yanks had eight wins and 15 losses.)

In closing his statement, the handsome youth of 22 straightened

in his chair and said, emphatically, "I'd like it known that my opinion of Yankee problems and the future of the team is certainly not a professional opinion... right now, the Yankees are my father's business."

Before entering the Marine Corps last December, Topping did a little unofficial scouting while a student at UCLA, and some of his prospects are playing in top minor league teams now, he said. A six-month reservist, he plans to attend either law school or business school when his tour of active service ends, and then go to work for the Yankees.

"I'll start at the bottom in ticket sales and work my way up through advertising, promotion, etc., just like anyone else," he said.

Born in Los Angeles, Topping went to New York at the age of nine and remained there until his sophomore year of high school, when he went back to California to finish high school and college. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in English from UCLA.

An attack of polio prevented the future Yankee from entering a commissioned officer program after college; so he went back to New York and joined a Marine Corps Reserve unit in Brooklyn, before volunteering for active service under the six-month program.

Recruit Leave

Following training at Camp Geiger, Topping will spend his recruit leave in New York and Los Angeles, before returning here for either Advanced Combat Training or on-the-job training in Communications.

As for actual participation in the game of baseball, young Topping never found the time or opportunity in the big crowded cities. He enjoys and is active in golf, tennis and basketball.

The Yankee organization is apparently proud of their Marine members. One of the advertising signs on the right field side of the "House that Ruth Built" reads "Join the Marines."

Riseley Pier

The new Riseley Pier, named in honor of Lt. Gen. James P. Riseley, USMC (Ret.), will be dedicated tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. The pier will be open to all persons who rate Exchange and Commissary privileges. Admission is 40 cents for 24 hours or $1.50 per week and $4 per month. Rental tackle is available for 25 cents.

Devilpups Take Road Trip; Meet Dixon High Tuesday

The Devilpups of Camp Lejeune will put their season record of four wins against two defeats on the line Tuesday when they travel to Dixon High for their seventh game of the season. After defeating the Swansboro Pirates last Monday, 7-1, the Pups dropped one to Smyrna High, 11-5, for their second defeat. Jim McCarvill went all the way for the Pups in Monday night's victory, giving up only four hits while walking two and striking out 15 batters.

The long ball accounted for the victory as standout athlete Al Everett went two for three at the plate, including two triples and a towering sacrifice fly.

In a game played here April 8, Camp Lejeune spotted Dover High three runs in the first inning, then

Flounder, Croakers Now Being Caught At New Fishing Pier

The first good eating fish was caught Wednesday, April 6, at Riseley Pier. A three-quarter pound Virginia mullet was hauled aboard when the tide was about half-way in by Capt. G. J. DeLong of 1st ITR. Captain DeLong pulled the first mullet in about ten o'clock in the morning while fishing just behind the breakers. He was baited with shrimp.

The same day just after dark a grey trout about the same size as the mullet was hooked. Like the mullet it was caught just behind the breakers also on shrimp.

Friday night showed a few flounder and croakers, but as yet in no great numbers.

While these catches were nothing to get overly excited about, they were a pretty good indication that something better is on the way after our cold month of March and late spring.

Force Troops Team Wins FMF Roll-Off

Force Troops, host of the 1960 Atlantic Fleet Bowling Championships, which ended here yesterday, blasted 2,872 total pins to capture first place in the annual keg match. Other entries in the roll-off were 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C.; 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, N. C.; Marine Air Group-26, Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N. C.; Marine Air Group-32, Beaufort, S. C., and Headquarters, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Norfolk, Va.

Marine Air Group-32 edged third place Marine Air Group-26 for the runner-up spot, while the 2nd Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and the 2nd Marine Air Wing, finished fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

Bob Fenske of Marine Air Group-26 took high series during the tournament with a 631, while Gene Hovie of the 2nd Marine Air Wing rolled a 243 for high game honors.

The tournament opened Monday and during the first day's action, Force Troops rolled over last year's champions, the 2nd Marine Division, 4-0, while shutting out the 2nd Marine Air Wing to move into an early tournament lead.

Drop One Point

Stretching their lead, the champs downed Marine Air Group-32, 4-0, in the first series of the second day's play and dropped one point during their 3-1 victory over Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic.

The final day's action saw Force Troops overpower Marine Air Group-26, 4-0, to finish eight points ahead of second place Marine Air Group-32.

Comprising the Championship club were Richard K. Bell, Eugene Bressette, Paul Vasko, Edward J. McLain, Bob Yetter, and Al Jukoski. Rolling for the runners-up were Bill Anderson, Bernie Lee, Bob Switzer, Dan Cieliez, Don Wellman and "T" "R" Watson.

Ten top keggers who participated in the tournament were selected and will represent Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, during the Atlantic Fleet Bowling Tournament to be held at Norfolk, Va., scheduled later this month.

Those selected were Bob Switzer, Bill Anderson and Don Wellman from Marine Air Group-32, Richard Bell, Paul Vasko, Edward McLain, Bob Yetter and Al Jukoski of Force Troops, Bob Fenske of Marine Air Group-26, and John Sullivan of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic.

Averages

Individual high averages went to: Force Troops—Al Jukoski, 194 and Richard Bell, 190; Marine Air Group-26—Bob Fenske, 180 and J. A. Brewer, 176; Marine Air Group-32—Bob Switzer, 183 and Don Wellman, 181; 2nd Marine Division—Bob Hutchens, 177 and J. T. Ashe-well, 176; Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic—John Sullivan, 185 and R. V. Moe, 175; 2nd Marine Air Wing—Gene Hovie, 175 and Grumbles also at 175.

Parris Island Sets Dates For Tri-State Golf

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., April 8 —The Seventh Annual Tri-State Golf Tournament, which attracts the cream of military linksters throughout the Carolinas and Georgia, is scheduled for April 21-22 at this East Coast Marine Corps Recruit Depot's Golf Course.

Last year, as in 1958, Shaw Air Force Base won the team title, while team captain, 1st Lt. Hillman Robbins, former National Amateur Champion, copped the low medalist honors with a 145 for the 36-hole tourney.

Robbins, now separated from service, defeated Act. Gysgt. Bill Beverly in a sudden-death playoff for the medalist title. Beverly, like Robbins, will be unable to compete this year due to a transfer last fall.

CWO Red Garrison, last year's All Marine Senior Champion and winner of the recent Parris Island Pro-Am Golf Tournament, walked off with the Senior Division title by posting a score of 151.

Attention Keglers

The Staff NCO Bowling League held an important meeting yesterday evening to determine plans for the scheduled summer league play.

Secretary-Treasurer Don Anzillotti has indicated that the league is expected to continue for approximately 16 weeks. Anyone interested in further information about the league is requested to contact Anzillotti at 7-3723 or Jacksonville 3666.

OWC Luncheon Brings Fun, Talent As Wives Try Out Milliners' Arts

Group VIII of the Officers Wives Club held one of the most original displays of millinery handicraft seen at Camp Lejeune during their "Crazy Hat Luncheon" last Thursday at the Paradise Point Club. Chapeaux featuring tissue flowers, inverted baskets, Easter bunnies on nests of gaily colored eggs, hats of newspaper, a bubble-blowing elephant atop a wicker hat, a live, singing parakeet in a cage—these were some of the unusual hats created by group members. Award for the prettiest hat went to Mrs. W. L. Gore, who wore a beautiful chapeau of pink tulle with a crown of live azaleas and camellias in varying shades of pink and white. Mrs. R. H. Schultz took second place with her "Busy as a Bee" hat of yellow tulle topped with an industrious bee.

Mrs. K. G. Peterson won first prize for the most unusual creations with her hat, which featured a loaf of bread with a knife jutting out of it and a brown jug. Second place in that group was awarded to Mrs. J. B. Walker for her "Top Brass" hat, a large brass bucket trimmed with brass buttons. Brig. Gen. L. F. Chapman Jr., and Col. P. R. Colmer judged the members' chapeaux.

Community Council Meets At Midway

The Midway Park Community Council met Monday evening at the Community Center. Mrs. J. H. Henderson, of the Midway Park Wives' Club, has been elected to the Council.

Park residents now have their own softball team. Those living in the area are encouraged to support the "Midway Park Sox" team. Recreational equipment is available to Midway Park residents. Check-out times will be announced in future issues of the GLOBE.

All are invited to attend "Fun Night" tonight beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Midway Park Cafeteria.

Craft Meeting Set

The Knox Wives Club will meet Monday at 1 p.m. in the Knox Chapel.

All residents of Knox Trailer Park are cordially invited to attend the craft meeting. Project for the day will be the making of cheery pot dish mats of crepe-paper raffia.

The Knox Wives group meets every Monday at 1 p.m. Nursery facilities are available each week for those desiring to use them, and will be set up in Bldg. D-38.

PROTESTANT WOMEN

The Protestant Women's Guild will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. D. McCurry, MOQ 2515. Mrs. H. S. Fenstermacher will lead the devotions, and Mrs. McCurry will act as hostess for the meeting.

All Protestant women of the area are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Staff Wives Meet; Plan Spring Events

The Camp Lejeune Staff NCO Wives Club held their regular business meeting last Thursday evening at the Tarawa Terrace Community Building.

High among their plans is an Easter egg hunt, scheduled for 2 to 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the Tarawa Terrace Community Building. The Staff Wives have volunteered to assist the Community Council in conducting the egg hunt, which has been divided into age groups of 2-4 years, 5-7 years and 8-10 years.

The Staff Wives are also planning their annual Birthday Party, set for May 19. Definite arrangements have not as yet been completed; however, Peggy Vegass and Rita Remel will head the decorating committee.

A Navy Relief Course began Tuesday for the Staff NCO Wives. Club members have been doing needlework for the Society, which is made up of volunteer workers.

New Members

New members of the Camp Lejeune Staff Wives Club are Florence Curtis, Jackie Wilde, Dorothy Kane, Maurice Emmons, Anyce McConnell, Jodie Heap, Sally Fernandez, Riessa Wilson, Joan Wallace, Anita Burzumato, Jean Hall, Alice Behrends and Leona Livingstone.

Last Thursday's guest list at the meeting included Bernice Lollar, Marilyn Bishop, Betty Krache, Martha Emeg and Cecile Hickey.

Kitty Jerkins, Dee Johnson, Marge Coconis, Betty Desjardens and Ramona Bayles acted as hostesses for the evening.

Refreshments, consisting of assorted sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, nuts, mints, punch and coffee, were served around an "Easter Bunny" centerpiece.

Sky Divers Perform For TV Cameras

The Camp Lejeune Marine Sky Divers will appear on Bob Ballard's "Sportsman Almana c" next Friday, April 22, on channel 7. The dives were filmed last Saturday at the Air Facility.

The first jumps were from 3,000 feet with a six-second delay. The next jump was a free fall stabilized position for 15 seconds from 4,000 feet followed by a 7,000-foot jump with a 32-second delay.

The highlight of the day was three men jumping from 7,000 feet with a 32-second delay trailing red smoke flares to enable the camera men to follow their paths.

The club has jumps scheduled every Saturday at the Air Facility, weather permitting. Spectators and persons interested in joining the club are invited to attend.

6' 2" Diamondback Killed During Operation Clean-Up

A clean-up detail policing the Camp Lejeune areas following Operation LANTPHIBEX 1-60 came face to "face" with an aggressor who probably wanted no part of either Blue or Red forces in the exercise. And it's 8-to-5 neither force wanted to become familiar with this well-camouflaged "aggressor."

The "aggressor" was a six-foot, two-inch diamond-back rattlesnake which warm spring weather had lured from its winter nest. Lack of a speedy withdrawal cost the slinky aggressor its life as, apparently enamored with a larger companion snake, the rattler was caught by surprise.

Pfc Samuel R. Freeman, "L" Co, 3rd Bn., 6th Marines, took advantage of this to locate a "big stick" and rain blows upon the serpent, whose fangs measure some two inches in length, while the second snake beat a hasty retreat during the confusion.

Freeman allowed that due to the big rattler's 10 buttons (buttons were used by Red forces to signify rank) it could have "pulled rank" on any Red aggressor who ran across its route of advance. The first reported this spring, the big snake's head was as large as a man's hand.

Freeman, whose home is in Black Mountain, N. C., is a snake exterminator of long standing. He says that this one represents his biggest kill to date.

"As usual, the one that got away was the larger of the two," said Freeman.

Asked if he would make another try in the same area for the "escapee," Freeman answered, "Maybe. If I could find someone who'd buy it. There's no sense in looking for trouble for nothing."

What happened to the dispatched reptile? Freeman and a companion plan to skin it and cure the skin for possible use as a belt or billfold.

All personnel who might stray off the beaten path in Lejeune's wooded areas are urged to be es pecially watchful for these cold-blooded serpents. Having hibernated during the winter months, warm weather, hunger and a young snake's fancy causes them to be extremely active.

UNINVITED AGGRESSOR — Pfc Samuel R. Freeman, "L" Co, 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines, holds aloft the 6' 2" diamond-back rattlesnake he killed Thursday afternoon while on police detail north of the Industrial Area of Camp Lejeune. While Freeman was dispatching the 10-button rattler, a second and even-larger one beat a hasty retreat. (Photo by Act. Sgt. H. L. Shipp)

Guest House Available At Midway Park

Facilities are now available at the Midway Park Housing area for troops and married personnel who have visiting guests at Lejeune, it was announced by Mr. J. T. Heavey, manager, Midway Park.

The facilities include 45 units of interim housing completely set up for housekeeping. The units are furnished with linens, necessary pots and pans, and cleaning equipment. Stoves and refrigerators are also among the available appliances.

Rates for the units are as follows: one bedroom, $3.27 per day; two bedrooms, $4.21 per day, and three bedrooms, $4.99 per day.

The units are in excellent condition for visitors. Necessary arrangements including number of guests expected, time of arrival, etc. should be made by the military person involved.

Military personnel making the arrangements should apply by contacting the Joint Reception Center at Base ext. 7-5807 or the Base Housing and Quarters Office at Base ext. 2-2103.

Four Selected For Scientific College Study

Four Camp Lejeune Marines have been selected for the Navy's Enlisted Scientific Education Program. These men who desire enrollment in the program will be ordered to a college preparatory course at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., or at Bainbridge, Md., in June, 1960.

Upon successful completion of the college preparatory course, selectees will be ordered to college in September, 1960. The next annual program will be announced by a Marine Corps order in July, 1960.

Those selected are Pfc James S. Bacon, 8th Comm. Bn., Force Troops; LCpl. Robert S. Huber, 2nd Pioneer Bn., 2nd Division; Pfc Laurence A. Peebles, Hq. Co., Tenth Marines, and Cpl. Ido E. Pistelli, MP Co., Hq. Bn., Marine Corps Base.
