

Rifle Range Opens For 1960 Business

"All ready on the firing line," a phrase familiar to all Marines, is booming once again around the various ranges at the Camp Lejeune Rifle Range. The Range opened 1960 with newly landscaped ranges, a completely re-wired communications system and new butts on the .45 range. The annual requalification trials for Camp Lejeune Marines began Monday when 1200 shooters from the 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, reported to Lt. Col. Robert M. Calland, commanding officer of the Rifle Range Detachment.

Over 100 Marines from all Quad-Command units were assigned TAD last week to help operate the P. A. Service Club, Guard Section, various offices, and butts of all ranges.

Each new range detail reports in on Saturday to be assigned a range, relay target and billeting. Rifles are zeroed in on Monday and the full course is fired on Tuesday and Wednesday, with double strings of rapid fire each day. Thursday is pre-qualification day, and Friday is for record.

In addition to handling Marines from Camp Lejeune, the Rifle Range also provides one week of qualification or requalification trials for all Reserve units who receive their summer training here. Seabees of Mobile Construction Battalion One will also fire the range in March. Two Seabee units that received training here last year fired the range for one week of their six-week training.

National Guard units from North Carolina use the range facilities on selected Sundays with the Range detachment providing the personnel needed to operate the firing line.

Last year, 12,597 Marines fired the M-1 for record with 16,959 qualifying for a percentage of 91.2.

The pistol range handled 5,693 shooters with 5,028 qualifying for about 88.3 per cent. This .45 cal. range is one of the most modern in the Marine Corps. It is a 50-yard, 50-target electrically controlled range with targets being maneuvered from the center of the line.

Colonel Calland, recently appointed commanding officer of the Range Detachment, is an avid collector of individual firearms and edge weapons used by the Marine Corps. Included in the 30 weapons of his collection are "Tower Flint Lock Pistols" that were issued to the first Marine officers in 1665-1670. Prior to his assignment here, Colonel Calland was the commanding officer, Marksmanship Training Unit, San Diego, Calif.

one-half. After finding out exactly how much the seller is charging for the extension of credit you can investigate to find out whether or not it would be cheaper to borrow money from a bank, a small loan company or a credit union in order to pay the seller in cash.

Co-Signer

Sellers and lenders sometimes require that the buyer or borrower have someone else "co-sign" the note. A co-signer is just as liable for the full amount as the principal debtor. If the principal debtor defaults, the seller or lender is not required to proceed against him first, but may at once obtain judgment against the co-signer, cause his property to be seized and sold to pay the judgment, and garnish his bank account and wages.

Check List

Read carefully every paper you are asked to sign. Read it before you sign. Be sure all blank spaces are filled in before you sign. Signing a contract or note containing blanks is little different and may be more serious than signing a blank check.

Total all the charges and compare with "cash" price. Rely on the written word in the contract or note, not on the sales talk. Remember when you sign a promissory note or conditional sale contract you are taking the responsibility for prompt payment. Sickness, accident, loss of your job, these events do not excuse delay in payment. Do not sign anything you do not understand. If the amount is substantial, consult your lawyer. He can be of more help than after you have signed.

The oldest known record of American Marines is the payroll of the ship, Enterprize, which is dated July 1, 1775, and carries the names of Marine Lt. James Watson and 17 enlisted Marines.

CONGRATULATIONS, DAD—Pvt. Andrew J. Blackmon presents his dad with a box of cigars when his father reenlisted for six years last Friday. Act. MSgt. Blackmon is currently serving as Logistics Chief in the G-4 section of Force Troops Headquarters. His son is a member of 2nd Pioneer Battalion, 2nd Division.

Federal Services Drive Has High Participation

The Federal Services Campaign completed the 1960 drive with a total of $32,400 representing an 88 percent contribution from members of the Quad-Command. The 2nd Division led with $13,162 or a 91 percent donation, followed by Marine Corps Base with 90 percent for $10,630. The civilian employees donated $3,580 or 90 percent.

Eighty-two percent was contributed by Marine Corps Air Facility personnel. This represented a monetary value of $1,560 and Force Troops personnel gave $3,464, or 75 per cent.

The 2nd Division reported all four regiments, 2nd Service Battalion and 2nd Pioneer Battalion giving 100 per cent.

Others reporting 100 per cent contributions were 1st Infantry Training Regiment, 2nd FSR, Supply Schools and Engineer Schools from Marine Corps Base. Force Troops also reported three units donating 100 per cent; 4th Dental Co., Headquarters Co., and 2nd ANGLICO.

The drive chairman, Lt. Col. Sam W. Smith, said: "Although we did not realize the total amount collected last year, the campaign can be considered successful as fewer personnel were aboard this time."

SPOT CHECK cars to be

Spot Safety Checks On Autos Begun By MP's

The Provost Marshal's Office has begun spot safety checks of automobiles in the confines of the Camp Lejeune area. Of the first 20 cars checked last Friday, 10 were found to have discrepancies according to Act. Gysgt. Henry Scarber, NCO in charge of the Traffic Investigation Division.

Drivers are being checked for proper registration and drivers' license and in the case of borrowed cars, for proper written permission. One thousand vehicles will be checked before complete percentages are compiled. After that, spot checks will probably continue to be made.

Other items being checked are license plates, horns, mirrors, windshield wipers, windshield glass, rear and side glasses, steering mechanisms, exhaust and mufflers, tires, turn signals, lights, stop lights, braking lights, brake pedals, and the general condition of the vehicle.

Drivers having discrepancies in their automobiles will be required to correct them within three days, otherwise the base tags will be removed.

Only 1957 and earlier model vehicles are being inspected unless a later model automobile appears to be in need of repair.

Corps' Rifle Supremacy Can Only Be Maintained By United Effort

With the opening of the 1960 firing season, it is worthy to note that the National Rifle and Pistol Match results of 1959 showed that Marine Corps shooters won seven rifle matches and eight pistol matches and established nine new National Match records.

The U. S. Army dominated the National Trophy Matches, winning the Rifle Team Match, Individual Rifle and Pistol Matches and the Infantry Trophy Team Match, while the Marine Corps Pistol Team won the National Trophy Pistol Team registered Matches and total level. The Army and Marine Corps shooters resulted in an increase in marksmanship proficiency. It has been placed upon common marksmanship in all units, results are becoming apparellence in competitive marksmanship on the national level is not an end in itself, but the collateral benefits are considerable. The prestige accruing to the individual and his organization, the experience, confidence and knowledge gained through marksmanship competition can be obtained in no other way. For combat. All of these factors develop esprit and confidence, and if the knowledge and experience of the competitive shooter are utilized to the fullest, through training others, the end result will be an increase in the combat efficiency of the average Marine through confidence and unity in the use of his primary arm.

The Marine Corps can maintain its traditional supremacy with the rifle only by a concentrated effort beginning at the lowest unit level to discover latent shooting and instructing talent.

As you get ready to leave for the range this year, don't go with the thought in mind that "I'll get my 190 and let it go at that." Think positively, shoot for the top and be able to say that you, as a Marine, are able to operate your primary weapon competently and accurately.

Payroll Savings Mean Security

Regular investment in Series E savings bonds through the payroll savings plan has proved to be a safe, sure way for individuals to accumulate personal savings and arrive at desired financial goals. Every purchaser of United States Savings Bonds invests not only in the Nation's economic welfare, but also in his own personal security by helping to spread the public debt over a broad base.

In this vein, the President has stated, "To my mind there is no better way of saving, no more effective way of strengthening our power for peace, than to own United States Savings Bonds. To buy these bonds is to express faith in America."

Current pay raises, due to longevity or promotions, offer a timely opportunity for saving. For yourself and the sake of your family, don't absorb your new pay raise completely. Invest part in systematic savings that are safe, sure, and offer a return of four dollars for every three saved in less than nine years.

The Payroll Saver knows that bonds steadily piling up through regular payroll deductions will help secure not only his future, but that of his country.

Autobiography Of U. S. Grant

MR. LINCOLN'S GENERAL, U. S. GRANT, edited and arranged by Roy Meredith and published by E. P. Dutton, is an original picture-and-text book, an illustrated autobiography of one of America's great military leaders from his boyhood in Ohio to his moment of greatest triumph at Appomattox Courthouse in 1864.

The text, composed of excerpts from Grant's own "Personal Memoirs," is accompanied by more than 300 superb illustrations—photographs (including a number of rare and unpublished Brady's), rare prints, paintings, sketches, drawings, maps—many never before published. They illuminate the highlights of Grant's public and private life, from his years at West Point through all the various stages of his military career.

One of the outstanding features of the book is the section devoted to the Mexican War. This war is often slighted in our history, yet it was an important proving ground for most of the leading field commanders of both sides of the Civil War. In his "Memoirs," Grant covered his experiences in Mexico in detail and Roy Meredith has unearthed a wealth of unusual and fascinating prints, paintings and photographs to illustrate them.

Grant's record of the Civil War years, too, gains a new, richer dimension because of vivid illustrations that picture many of the crucial battles in which he served, among them Belmont, Fort Henry, Fort Donaldson, Shiloh and Vicksburg. The story ends on a triumphant note at Appomattox Courthouse when Grant, carrying out his final assignment as "Mr. Lincoln," accepted the surrender from Lee that officially ended the Civil War.

The editor, a television writer-director whose favorite hobby is Civil War strategy, believes that General Grant was one of the "greatest military strategists who ever lived"—"a great soldier who was terribly maligned during his lifetime by persons with personal hates and jealousies."

Faith In God Will Give Faith In Self

Much of our irritability, our impatience, and our dissatisfactions in life are due to our lack of faith in ourselves. We believe in God generally, but we cannot translate this into confidence in ourselves. A carpenter's son, a physician named Luke, a tax collector named Matthew, a teacher named Paul—because they not only believed in God but also in themselves went out into the hostile Roman world and proclaimed God's message of love.

This self-confidence begins with belief in our living God. This is His world. He hath made us, and we are His. He accepts us as we are. Surely, He wants to cleanse us of our sins, but He takes us as we are: "Just as I am, without one plea." We are not to believe in ourselves just on the basis of what we can become, but just as we are now.

And if we can accept ourselves as we are, realizing our own limitations, as well as our capabilities, we can begin to see God's purpose for us in the everyday circumstances of life. His kingdom is composed not of the famous, but also of the nameless and faithful who believe enough in Him that they believe themselves capable of accomplishing the tasks He sets before them.

Moses complained to God that he could not perform the tremendous job God had placed on his shoulders. But when Moses' faith in God improved, he dared to attempt the impossible. The hope of our world lies in Christian believing enough in God to believe in ourselves as we are, in the work He gives us to do. "We can do all things through Christ who strengthens us."

If You Ask Me:

HAS THE RED CROSS BEEN OF ANY VALUE TO YOU?

PFC WILLIAM T. CARNEY, Supply Co., ASD Bn., 2nd FSR — I haven't had much to do with the Red Cross, but the little experience I have had with them impressed me very much. When I was in boot camp, I was notified that my grandmother who lives in Ohio had a serious heart attack. Through the efforts of the Red Cross, I was able to get transportation home for the emergency. The time involved was unbelievable, since it seemed like almost immediately, arrangements were made for me with no trouble at all. A person doesn't realize what a fine job such organizations can do until they've met face to face with a similar occurrence. From what I hear and see, Red Cross benefits are endless and I might add I don't know what I would've done without their aid.

MRS. JOSEPH WALDRON, 209 Tarawa Boulevard, Tarawa Terrace — It's unfortunate my husband isn't here to answer this question, for I'm sure he could say it much better than I. He's had numerous experiences with the Red Cross and would be able to relate incidents outstandingly well taken care of by these people. When my father-in-law died, they loaned us the money with no trouble at all. They work for the good of people, and about the difficulties involved in life. We made several telephone calls to the Red Cross free of charge. Other things they did for us. Sometimes people worry, but I can say that the Red Cross will be the first place I'll go.

in any predicament or trouble, I wouldn't hesitate to call on this group.

SGT. EDWIN H. GERWIN, Support Co., "B," Hq. Bn. — There's no question as to what kind of work the Red Cross is doing, has been doing, and will continue to do. When I was in Miami, I had some family difficulties and this group helped me in every way possible. They assisted in providing transportation where it was needed, and really "carried the ball" as far as taking care of the majority of my problems. They relieved all worries, eager to help me in every possible way. The Red Cross has an outstanding reputation for being on the job and pitching right in where they're needed. Not only have they helped me, but several of my close buddies.

LANCE CPL. ROBERT N. HARRIS, Service Co., 8th Engineer Bn. — I never had any direct help from the Red Cross, but many of my friends often talk about their experiences with these people. As many times as I've heard people talking about Red Cross, I can truthfully say all of it was commendable. A good buddy of mine had a child who was very sick and, at the time, had no way of getting home. The Red Cross gave him the money needed to get him home in the soonest possible way. He traveled directly and had the generous cooperation from this group with very little "red tape." I hope I am never in need of such help, but if ever I am, the Red Cross will be the first place I'll go.

Rifle Range Opens 1960 Firing Season

BLACKEN SIGHTS—A few of the 1,200 men from 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, 2nd Division, blacken their sights prior to moving to the firing line. The batalion has the honor of being the first unit to fire the range for requalification this year.

MOVING UP—Members of the 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, 2nd Division, move the coaches tower to the firing line prior to the first day's firing at the Rifle Range. The tower is placed in the center of the firing line and manned by the Range Officer and Range NCO. Equipped with the newly installed communications system, the tower can communicate with the butts NCO and various phones on the firing line. It's also equipped with a loud speaker system over which all firing commands are given. All safety precautions are closely observed and any irregularity is immediately noticed. The Range officially opened Monday at 7 a.m. when the 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, started one week of requalifying with their T/O weapons.

CHANGE TARGETS—Rapid fire targets are being inserted by shooters from 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, readying the butts for the start of the days' firing. The butts on all ranges were completely re-modelled, including a new communications system. All 50 targets on the range have new up-rights and target frames. The markers have been repaired, or replaced and repainted for better viewing by the shooter.

READY IN THE BUTTS—Butts NCO Sgt. Max E. Rhoades notifies the tower on the firing line the butts are ready for firing. Before each string of fire the firing line checks with the butts before any command is given.

A HELPING HAND—Lt. Col. Robert M. Before assuming command of the range detachment the colonel was commanding officer of the Marksmanship Training Unit at San Diego, Calif. An avid collector of side arms used by the Marine Corps, Colonel Calland has over 30 pieces in his collection including a Navy Lee 6mm magazine rifle used in the Boxer Rebellion.

Locals Make It Two Straight In Atlantic Fleet Tournament

For the second consecutive year the Atlantic Fleet Tournament winners trophy has been brought to Camp Lejeune as the Marine cagers downed a strong ServLant five Friday afternoon, 93-75, at Cherry Point, N. C. The locals gained the right to play in the finals after defeating DesLant, 97-82; AirLant, 72-64, and crushing MineLant, 104-54, in the tournament semi-finals. Art Andreoli dropped 23 points through the hoop, leading the Marines over Mine-

Lant for the third win of the tourney. Bill Reeves and Leo Elwell also hit in double figures with 13 and 12, respectively.

Joe Tebo, former cager from Boston University, paced the Minemen with 16 tallies.

The Marines grabbed an early 3-0 lead after the first three minutes of play and continued to stretch the lead to a 56-28 half-time margin, hitting 61 per cent from the floor.

It was the Marines all the way in the second half, hitting two points for every one over the Minemen to coast to a rousing 104-54 victory and move in to the finals.

Once Beaten ServLant

ServLant took the floor in the final contest one full game behind the locals after suffering a one-point, 78-77 defeat at the hands of MineLant in the first game of the tourney.

ServLant scored the first tally in the championship game on a lay-up by Bill Brown, but a set-shot by Charlie Morrow of the locals tied it up at 2-all.

Free throws by Morrow and Andreoli pushed the Marines into a 4-2 lead, but a jump shot by ServLant's Shed Mitchell again tied the game at 4-4.

Overcoming a five-point first quarter defeat with Mitchell dumping in 11 markers, ServLant took a one-point 23-22 edge over the locals.

Halftime Lead

The lead changed hands several times before the Marines, led by Bill Reeves with eight points, out-scored ServLant to hold a nine-point lead, 43-34.

During the second half, ServLant's Mitchell off-set a volley of baskets by the locals with eight tallies to keep the lead down to 10 points, at 65-55, with only seven minutes remaining to be played in

At least eight and possibly ten games will be played between March 7 and 11 as the Lady Leathernecks compete for a chance to play in the All-Woman Marine Corps Tournament at MCAS, El Toro, Calif., March 23.

The Cherry Point Jets will host visiting sextets from Henderson Hall, Washington, D. C., Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C., and the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S. C.

The defending champions are the hardwooders from Quantico and they are presently considered pre-tourney favorites. The girls from Quantico feature Carol Lau, a name everyone will remember before the tourney is over.

Cage Tourney Completed In Force Troops

Second Field Artillery Group cinched top honors in the Force Troops intramural basketball tournament last Friday night by downing the 8th Communication Bn., 89-78, in a razzle-dazzle contest that belied the 11-point difference in the score.

Awards were presented to the first-place cannonneers and the second-place communicators by Col. Parker R. Colmer, Chief of Staff, in the Force Troops gymnasium on Monday, Feb. 29.

Colonel Colmer also presented an individual trophy to Act. Sgt. Frank Cantrell, 8th Engr. Bn., for being the high score, high average score man. The sergeant claimed the award with a seasonal score of 226 and a game average of 20.55 points.

The final game of the Force Troops tourney saw the Cannonneers put up a top-notch defense that spelled the difference in the final scoring. The Communicators could not get past FAG coach Thomas Williams' cagers as they shifted from man-to-man to zone defense with equal agility. No slouches in the scoring department, the bug guns for artillery were Eugene Williams and William Bush, piling up 32 and 18 points respectively to out-point the high scorers for the Communicators, Gene Carpenter and Robert Finn, who rolled up creditable 14 and 13 marker records.

In other action this past week Hq. Co. lost their final game to the courtmen from the 8th Engr. Bn., 87-63. Tuesday evening also saw 2nd Radio's quintet meet defeat at the hands of the ANGLICO hoopers, 59-71.

UP AND A-WAY—EMFLANT's Art Andreoli (12) jumps against an unidentified AirLant player in one of Tuesday's games. Waiting for the result—AirLant's Jim Bettis (25) and Larry Bardshaw of the Marines. The Marines won the game, 72-64.

Approximately six hours after winning the 1960 Atlantic Fleet Tournament at Cherry Point, Friday afternoon, the locals began their final game of the 1960 cage season against Michel AFB, in New York. ## Devilpups Lauded for Sportsmanship

The cheers and tears have long left the Jacksonville High School Gymnasium, site of the 1960 Onslow County Cage Tournament, but the echos of Grantland Rice's famous quote: "It's not the fact that you win or lose, but how you play the game," still lingers within its walls. And so it went with the Devilpups of Camp Lejeune High School's basketball team, who last Saturday night after the completion of the final game between Swansboro and White Oak High Schools, were awarded the Sportsmanship Trophies for displaying the best sportsmanship-like conduct during the tourney.

The Devilpup cagers were defeated in the semi-finals by Swansboro after moving up from the quarter-finals with a 55-50 victory over Dixon High.

The lasses of Lejeune High were eliminated in their first game of the tournament by Dixon, but their sportsmanship-like conduct in that game was enough to win the trophy.

Marilyn Bryant, co-captain of the girls team, and Skip Chapman and Lewis Boynton of the boys squad, accepted the awards on behalf of their teammates from Mr. I. B. Hudson, Superintendent of County Schools.

All Players Voted

An opportunity to vote was given all participants of the tournament and when the votes were counted, it was found that the Devilpups had tallied the most in both departments.

Coach Tom McGee and the students of Camp Lejeune are justly proud of their basketball players of the 1959-60 season for copping the sportsmanship trophies and are equally as proud of Lewis Boynton, who was selected to the Onslow County All-Conference cage team along with Mike Miller and Ernest Wiggins of the Cham-

Jerry Vada, George Mehaffey and Dave Gotkins were the high men for the Volunteers. Vada trailed Andreoli by one point at 27 while Mehaffey tossed in 25. Gotkins, a deadly set shot man dropped seven from near midcourt, piling up 14 markers against the locals.

Volunteers Grab Rebounds

Playing without the services of rebounder, John Rich, the locals suffered on the backboards as the Volunteers picked off 75 per cent of the game's rebounds.

Derek Dickinson opened up a thrilling first quarter with a lay-up to put the locals in the lead, but Mitchell's Fran Hamilton quickly tied it up at 2-all with a set shot from outside.

The Volunteer's edged into a slight lead midway the first canto, but the locals tied it up 19-19 on a set by Charlie Morrow and hook by Bill Reeves.

Behind five points with two minutes remaining in the first canto, the locals pulled to within one point of the Volunteers, 32-31.

The Volunteers broke away in the final minutes of the first half and moved into the dressing room with a 52-45 half-time margin.

Fatigue was the winner of the second half. The locals began falling short on their free throws and missing from the floor, as the Volunteers moved into a 20-point, fourth quarter lead.

A tremendous 13-point effort by Andreoli in the opening minutes of the final canto closed the gap by six points, but that was it as exhaustion took over and the locals just plain ran out of gas.

Mitchell's Jim Hibbits dropped a fast five points through the nets to push the Volunteers over the century mark seconds before the game ended.

Fish And Wildlife Facilities Mark Retirement Selection

An intelligence officer, CWO Charles H. Withey, has used his many years of experience in the field to arrive at the answer to a burning question—where will I retire? Fayetteville, Ark., has won out over all other cities in the United States. Why did the Marine gunner, presently serving on the staff of the commanding general, 2nd Marine Division, select Fayetteville? His reasons read like an intelligence estimate prepared by a civic betterment committee. Some of them are: A 12-year-old son who in furthering his education has to go no further from home than the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville; the geographical location of the city climate—four distinct seasons with altitude which dries the air and tempers the summer heat; small city which is clean, industrious, and with cultural characteristics peculiar to the presence of a university; a favorable tax and cost of living index. All of these reasons are of primary importance to any person thinking of retirement and Warrant Officer Withey has another to add—excellent fishing and hunting accommodations abound in the country surrounding "the ideal city in which to retire."

Wanderer

The fact that the Witheys have no acquaintances in Fayetteville doesn't cause alarm in the household. Since 1919 the Marine officer has been a wanderer and a temporary stranger wherever he has roamed. His travels since that rival Gullivers.

His father was commissioned as American Consul in 1919 and retired from the consular service in 1947. The elder Withey's first assignment took him to Tahiti and there Warrant Officer Withey completed grammar school. He wound up his international civilian education at the University of Western Ontario in Canada in 1923. Between Tahiti and Canada he attended the equivalent of high school and college in Copenhagen, Denmark and Limoges, France.

Duty

Already a globe trotter, the gunner entered the Marine Corps in February, 1930, and almost immediately commenced his travels again. He served with the Asiatic Fleet from 1931 to 1933, with the Scouting Force in the Pacific from 1934 to 1937, a tour of recruiting duty in the States from 1937 until 1940, and a tour of duty at the Recruit Depot, San Diego. World War II erupted while he was serving at the Depot. In 1942 he was transferred to Camp Elliott where he served as Operations Chief for the Training Center. For the next year and a half he established the Individual Combat and Camouflage schools, and taught and lectured in the command and staff officers' school.

First commissioned a second lieutenant as the result of his service with the 1st Marine Division on Peleliu, he also made the prelanding reconnaissance of Okinawa for the 6th Marine Division. Between World War II and the outbreak of the Korean conflict he served at various posts and stations in the United States and with the 3rd Marine Division in Japan.

He was promoted to captain in 1951.

Korea

In Korea the gunner served with the Intelligence section, 1st Marine Division, from 1953 until 1954. Returning to the States in 1954, he reported to the 2nd Division here where he has served with the Intelligence section as combat intelligence and briefing officer.

This tour of duty has been the longest period that he has stayed at one post. In 1955 the gunner reverted to warrant officer, grade 4, his permanent rank.

While serving here Warrant Officer Withey has resided in Swansboro with his wife, the former Gladys P. Jacks, of Pine Bluff, Ark., and their son, Howard H. Withey. The much traveled Marine officer retires here March 1 after 30 years' service with the Marine Corps. It is then that he will put his "retirement intelligence estimate" to the practical test in Fayetteville.

the game. With Dan Cavallier hooking both left and right for six straight tallies the Marines widened the margin to 78-59.

Four minutes remained in the game when ServLant's coach sent fresh men into the line-up in an effort to close the gap, but they could do no better than keep up with the locals as Dick Meade, Henry Latimer and Glen Johnson continued the scoring for the Marines, enabling them to hold a 93-75 edge at the buzzer.

Fourth Fleet Title

It was the fourth Atlantic Fleet Championship for the Marines, who hold two legs of the rotating trophy; due to their consecutive wins. The rotating trophy is presented to the team which wins the tourney championship for three consecutive years.

Dan Cavallier was high man for the locals in the final game with 20 points while Shed Mitchell stripped the nets for eight field goals and nine free throws for 25 points to lead ServLant in the scoring column.

The locals played the final game without the services of their fine rebounder, John Rich, 6'6" center, who was sidelined due to an ankle injury.

Major Flores Named 1960 Track Head

Maj. James R. Flores, a former Quantico gridiron star and well-traveled Marine veteran, has been named meet director for the fourth annual Marine Corps Schools Relays to be held at Quantico April 15-16.

In his capacity as meet director, Major Flores will have the monumental task of handling all administrative details concerning the track carnival which will be the first major outdoor meet of this Olympic year.

The prospect of a heavy workload and innumerable responsibilities will be nothing new for the Paso-born Texan who has held many responsible billets in his 13-year career in the Marine Corps.

He was quarterback of the 1947-48-49 Quantico football teams which compiled a three-year 29-game winning streak. In each of those years Quantico won the All-Navy Championship and laid claim to the national service title.

The arm of those great elevens, the major was an All-Marine selection in 1948-49. One of his teammates then was Tony Messina who was assistant coach of Quantico's undefeated team this past season.

Division Inaugurates New Personal Affairs Program

"The only true realist in the Marine Corps is the man whose will drawn and his seabag packed!" Lt. Col. Andrew wrote these words in his book, "The New Breed"—and Lt. Bohrer, Division Personal Affairs officer, is using them as a theme in a newly inaugurated program that concerns every Marine. "With present operational code plans demanding instant deployment, the need for each individual to constantly keep his house in order is self-evident," said the lieutenant. He added, "Regardless of your job—be it rifleman, cook, driver or supply man—you must always remember that as a member of the Fleet Marine Force, you're subject to on a minute's notice, any hour of the day."

Some individuals placed in alert status for immediate deployment are suddenly confronted with difficulties, many of which have easily been avoided through a more thorough application of personal affairs training program. The new program will include such lesson topics as Power of Attorney, Wills, Allotments, Survivor Benefits, Life Insurance, Privileges and in-service Educational Opportunities. The subject of discharges and military justice, specifically concerning the consequences of other than honorable discharges, will be dealt thoroughly.

Lieutenant Bohrer pointed out that there were approximately 600 automobiles registered to military personnel on this Base year. For the single man, the fortune of owning his own car easily turns into a worrisome problem if he were suddenly alerted for movement with the Division Training Program will schedule 2nd Division Marines how they make provisions to cover such situation as this.

The long range program, designed to assist companies and batteries in presenting a successful program which will prepare men for possible deployment, well as to inform them of other opportunities and obligations, complete lesson plans and leaflets are readily available at the Division Special Services Office.

Motor Transport Company Wins Inter-Unit Rifle Match

Motor Transport Co. came out on top in the Expert category during the inter-unit .30 caliber rifle matches conducted Tuesday at the rifle range by Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps Base. The Base Motors team won the match on the basis of its offhand score after ending up in a 894x10 tie with the Headquarters Co.

Gold Team in overall score. Headquarters Co.'s Gold Team was forced into the runner-up spot when their 154 offhand score fell three points short of the Base Motors team.

More than 100 members of Base Headquarters Bn. braved bitter cold 12 o'clock wind during the all-day matches which pitted experts against experts, sharpshooters against sharpshooters, and marksmen against marksmen.

Champion sharpshooter team of the day was the Hq. Co. Gold squad with 875x1000. Support Co. Gold took the marksman division match with an 835x1000.

Runner-up in the sharpshooter category was Support "B" Team, while the Hq. Co. Gold Team took runner-up honors in the marksman match.

The matches were fired over the "B" course, all rounds being fired from the 200-yard line. Each company in the battalion entered at least one four-man team in each qualification category, except the championship Motor Transport Co. which entered only one team due to work commitments. Support Co. had two teams in each category.

Although no official award was provided for the highest individual shooter of the match, Act. SSgt. David S. MacGillivray of the Support Co. "B" marksman team, fired a 236, best individual effort of the day.

Witnessing the matches were Col. Roy J. Batterton Jr., Headquarters Bn. commanding officer, and Col. John A. Witherspoon, battalion executive officer.

The championship team in each category will receive a trophy plaque to be retained by the company. Individual members are scheduled to receive cigarette lighters. The runner-up teams and individuals will also receive awards.

The Motor Transport Co. expert team was made up of Act. Sgt. David W. Lowery, Act. MSgt. William J. Wood, Act. Sgt. John Bryner and Pvt. James H. Seig.

Brigade Units Return From Vieques Area

Leathernecks of the 8th Provisional Marine Brigade returned to Camp Lejeune last Friday, having completed an intensive tour of training in the Caribbean area.

Arriving aboard the USS Boxer, and other amphibious ships of PHIBRON 10, the Marines landed in the Onslow Beach area from helicopters of HMR-264.

While in the Caribbean the Marines staged extensive field maneuvers, employing the Corps' vertical envelopment doctrine of amphibious warfare.

The island of Vieques, Puerto Rico, was the site of the principal exercise.

From January 30 until February 17 the Marine Brigade conducted individual combat training while the amphibious ships exercised at sea.

While in Vieques the Marines practiced the President's People-to-People program, assisting numerous charities and church groups there. They contributed several hundred dollars to the March of Dimes fund at Isabella Segunda, the principal city on the island.

This was the first of a new series of exercises to be conducted through the spring and summer. Designed to provide tests of new techniques in helicopter assault resulting from recent modifications in the amphibious assault ship Boxer and from studies of similar exercises conducted last year, the operation also provided an opportunity to evaluate the traditional Marine air-ground teamwork and the fast amphibious squadron "train together-live together" policy.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE is every man's privilege and Pfc James H. Banks, Spt. Co. "A," Marine Corps Base, is taking advantage of it. ## VTOL Aircraft Will Improve Corps' Landing Technique

VTOL aircraft ranks high on the Marine Corps' want list needed to improve its ability to conduct both nuclear and limited warfare, according to Navy Times.

A look-see at the Corps' research and development program shows that the Marines are going all out to get new things which can land them on the combat scene in the shortest possible time with the most modernized equipment.

Pioneers in the use of helicopter, the Marines are now turning their attention to vertical-take-off-and-land aircraft. VTOL aircraft can rise, hover and settle like helicopters, but they have the advantage of making straight-away flights at approximately the same speed as conventional fixed-wing aircraft.

Another reason why the Marine Corps wants VTOL aircraft for its amphibious forces is that the lifting capacity will be greater than helicopters.

While the Navy started its VTOL research some years ago, most of the VTOL development program is now conducted by the Army. The Marine Corps is looking for a VTOL aircraft which has lifting capacity of four to five tons, with a straight-away speed of 250 miles per hour or better. Its range should be better than 1,000 miles.

In a limited war, most likely to be fought in a far-off country, pilots would be hard pressed to find adequate landing and take-off fields. Most aircraft need a runway of 4,000 feet or more for safe landings and take-offs.

The Marines are solving this problem by developing SATS—short airfield for tactical support. These reduced runways are 1,500 feet or shorter, and the landing strips consist of aluminum mats.

Special arresting barriers, using nylon tape, will stop planes landing on the SATS fields. In take-offs, the aircraft are boosted by JATO bottles or catapults.

September 27 Designated Armed Forces Voters Day

This is a Presidential election year and the Secretary of Defense has designated Sept. 27 as Armed Forces Voters' Day. Accordingly, the Commandant of the Marine Corps has encouraged commanders to emphasize voting on that day. Since state elections vary as to the procedures for voting by absentee ballot, advance planning is well under way here and at other posts and stations throughout the world for an active voting program.

Five states are lining up Presidential primaries next month and most will allow servicemen to vote via absentee ballot. April 5 will mark the first 1960 election primary which will be held in Wisconsin. Presidential candidates will be nominated and delegates elected to the national convention.

Convention delegates and party officials will be elected on April 12 in Illinois when the Presidential primaries are held. Members of Congress, state and local candidates will be nominated at that time also.

Absentee voting requirements in Illinois are wide and varied. However, the residence requirement is waived for servicemen and their dependents.

Primaries next month will be held on April 19. Absentee voting is allowed in any New Jersey election and servicemen need not register.

Two states, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, will hold primaries on April 26. In Massachusetts, general elections are open to absentee voting, so servicemen and their families are not eligible to appear in person. They must also register, which is permanent, and meet the other requirements which voting officers can provide.

Voting officers have been designated in every unit within the Quad-Command and military personnel should see their voting officer for more details, postcard ballot applications and help in establishing eligibility.

Display Board Lists Costs Of Mess Items

During an inspection tour of mess halls at Engineer School last week Col. W. C. Capehart, commanding officer of the schools, ran across a shipment of metal water pitchers that had just been assembled in one of the mess hall supply rooms. Upon further examination the colonel noticed $5.50 written on the bottom of one and asked if this was the price or the plant account number. Having been assured that it was the actual cost, Colonel Capehart was told that numerous items in the messhalls were having to be constantly replaced as a result of negligence.

In order to impress upon him the importance of each individual's part in putting forth an effort to stop the amount of money being wasted on replacing damaged mess equipment, the colonel expressed his desire for a display board with each item used in messhall operations mounted on it and bearing the actual price.

The board is situated inside the front entrance of messhall BB-7 at Courthouse Bay and stands as a memo to "take care of your mess gear. It means money!"

YOUR MESS GEAR IS MONEY TAKE CARE OF IT

Federal Fund Drive Collects Over $32,000

The Federal Services Campaign completed the 1960 drive with a total of $32,400 representing an 88 percent contribution from members of the Quad-Command:

The 2nd Division led with $13,162 or a 91 per cent donation, followed by the Marine Corps Base with 90 per cent for $10,630. The civilian employees donated $3,580, or 90 per cent.

Eighty-two per cent was contributed by Marine Corps Air Facility personnel. This represented a monetary value of $1,560 and Force Troops personnel gave $3,464, or 75 per cent.

The 2nd Division reported all four regiments, 2nd Service Battalion and 2nd Pioneer Battalion giving 100 per cent.

Others reporting 100 per cent contributions were 1st Infantry Training Regiment, 2nd FSR, Supply Schools and Engineer Schools from Marine Corps Base and Force Troops reported three units donating 100 per cent: 4th Dental Co., Headquarters Co., and 2nd ANGLICO.

The drive chairman, Lt. Col. Sam W. Smith, said: "Although we did not realize the total amount collected last year, the campaign can be considered successful as fewer personnel were on board at this time."

in the contest was Maj. Rodney L. Cron, USAF. Another Air Force man, MSgt. Jesse C. Mason, won second place and $500. In addition, the judges named 50 third-place winners, 50 fourth-place winners, and 38 honorary winners.

Third-place winners will receive $100 and George Washington Honor Medals. Fourth-place winners will receive $50 and George Washington Honor Medals, while honorary winners will receive George Washington Honor Medals.

Winning third-place awards in addition to Sergeant Handelsman were these Marines: Maj. Samuel L. Eddy Jr., MCB, 29 Palms, Calif.; Act. Cpl. Edward L. Haynes, 2nd FA Group, FMFLant, Camp Lejeune; Pfc Thomas D. Johnson, 3rd Marine Division; GySgt. John T. McHugh, 3rd Marine Division; MSgt. James F. Parker, Fort Sill, Okla.; and Lance Cpl. Jean Tinnea, MCB, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Marine Corps fourth-place winners were Pfc Joseph A. La Crosse, NAB, Coronado, San Diego, Calif., and Pfc Harvey M. Lescalleet, 5th MRU, Chicago, Ill.

Honorary Marine winners were Maj. R. Dewees Jr., 1st MAW, and Lt. Col. William F. Frank, MB, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Under terms of this year's competition, Armed Forces contestants submitted letters entitled "My Job: Protecting America's Freedom."

Winning Entry

Here is an extract from Sergeant Handelsman's winning entry: "I have asked myself how one person could protect the freedom of a whole country and found one simple answer: Each American doing his job, upholding the rights granted by the Constitution and Bill of Rights, contributes to a more powerful nation conceived in the individual rights of its sovereign citizens."

Signed Installment Contracts Are Binding

(Editor's Note: This is the last of two articles on installment buying, prepared by Capt. J. B. Beck Jr., Legal Assistance Officer.)

The seller (or finance company) is not limited to repossessing the merchandise, he may disregard this remedy and proceed directly against you on your promise to pay. More important, he can avail himself of the remedy of repossession and also proceed against you in court for any amount still due.

If the papers you signed did not contain a confession of judgment clause, you will receive a summons giving you notice of proceedings in court to obtain a judgment against you and your lawyer can file an answer and raise any defenses which you may have. If the papers you signed authorized a confession of judgment, you may not learn about the entry of judgment against you until a deputy sheriff comes to seize property which you own, in order that it may be sold to pay the judgment, or until your bank account is garnished. Garnishment is a remedy available to the creditor after he has obtained a judgment against you. It is a court proceeding by which he is able to reach money owed you by other persons.

In many states there is no law limiting the amount sellers may charge for extending credit to buyers. Their finance charges of various kinds are not subject to the usury laws, and this is true even though a finance company immediately purchases from the seller the papers signed by the buyer.

It is wise to inquire of the seller of any expensive article the exact difference between the price if cash is paid in full at the outset and the "time" price if credit is to be extended. To compute the total "time" price multiply the amount of a single installment by the number of installments to be paid and add the cash price by more than one-third, sometimes by more than one-half. After finding out exactly how much the seller is charging for the extension of credit you can investigate to find out whether or not it would be cheaper to borrow money from a bank, a small loan company or a credit union in order to pay the seller in cash.

Sellers and lenders sometimes require that the buyer or borrower have someone else "co-sign" the note. A co-signer is just as liable for the full amount as the principal debtor. If the principal debtor defaults, the seller or lender is not required to proceed against him first, but may at once obtain judgment against the co-signer, causing his property to be seized and sold to pay the judgment, and garnishee his bank account and wages.

Check List

Read carefully every paper you are asked to sign. Read it before you sign. Be sure all blank spaces are filled in before you sign. Signing a contract or note containing blanks is little different and may be more serious than signing a blank check.

Total all the charges and compare with "cash" price. Rely on the written word in the contract or note, not on the sales talk. Remember when you sign a promissory note or conditional sale contract you are taking the responsibility for prompt payment. Sickness, accident, loss of your job, these events do not excuse delay in payment. Do not sign anything you do not understand. If the amount is substantial, consult your lawyer. He can be of more help then than after you have signed.

"MARK YOUR TARGETS" is another familiar phrase to Marines now being heard on all ranges at Camp Lejeune. Firing began at 7 a.m. Monday with

Each new range detail reports in on Saturday to be assigned a range, relay target and billeting. Rifles are zeroed in on Monday and the full course is fired on Tuesday and Wednesday, with double strings of rapid fire each day. Thursday is pre-qualification day, and Friday is for record.

In addition to handling Marines from Camp Lejeune, the Rifle Range also provides one week of qualification or requalification trials for all Reserve units who receive their summer training here. Seabees of Mobile Construction Battalion One will also fire the range in March. Two Seabee units that received training here last year fired the range for one week of their six-week training.

Last year, 18,597 Marines fired the M-1 for record with 16,959 qualifying for a percentage of 91.2.

The pistol range handled 5,693 shooters with 5,028 qualifying for about 88.3 per cent. This .45 cal. range is one of the most modern in the Marine Corps. It is a 50-yard, 50-target electrically controlled range with targets being maneuvered from the center of the line.

Colonel Calland, recently appointed commanding officer of the Range Detachment, is an avid collector of individual firearms and edge weapons used by the Marine Corps.

Snow Cripples Camp Lejeune

A rare snow storm laid a three-inch blanket of snow and ice over Camp Lejeune yesterday, interrupting work, school schedules and other activities.

By 4:30 last night three minor traffic accidents had been reported. No casualties resulted from the accidents.

All schools on the base were closed for today and commanding officers were authorized to extend liberty through last night and until 1 p.m. today. Civil Service personnel were also authorized time off on an annual leave basis because of storm conditions.

Last night off-duty education courses were cancelled.

With roads heavy with ice, all driving (including that required for distribution of the GLOBE) was ordered held to a minimum. All speed limits on Camp Lejeune were lowered to 25 miles per hour except where posted lower. Motorists were encouraged to use headlights in low visibility and to exercise extreme caution in driving.

Weather forecasters warned of freezing rain throughout last night, today, tonight, and tomorrow.

LT. GEN. J. C. BURGER

Lt. Gen. J. C. Burger, commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, will conduct an inspection tour of Force Troops on March 9 and 10.

Honors will be rendered General Colmer on his arrival Wednesday morning by members of the 8th Engineer Battalion and 2nd Provisional Marine Aggressors. A briefing by the Chief of Staff, Col. P. R. Colmer, will precede the two-day inspection tour.

An inspection of the model squadbay in Bldg. 55 will be followed by inspection of unit displays in the rear of Force Troops headquarters. Commanding officers of the various units will brief the visitors upon the inspection of their displays.

A reception and dinner, in honor of General Burger's visit, is planned for 6:30 p.m., March 9, at the Paradise Point Officers Club.

On March 10 the general will conclude his inspection tour with a visit to unit displays in the Engineer Stockade and a conference with Brig. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commanding general, Force Troops.

General Burger was commanding general of the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune from May, 1956, until October, 1959.

Aviation Recruits Required To Take Combat Training

Effective next May, Marine recruits enlisted for aviation duty will be required to undergo Individual Combat Training at Camp Lejeune or Camp Pendleton, Headquarters Marine Corps announced last week. Since June, 1958, Marines enlisted specifically for aviation duty—about 250 a month—have been assigned directly to Aviation Fundamentals School, Jacksonville, Fla., after boot camp. Marines completing recruit training in April will undergo Individual Combat Training.

All other Marine recruits have been, and will continue to be, required to undergo four weeks of Individual Combat Training on completion of recruit training.

In the phase-in stage of the new set-up, about 200 aviation duty Ma-

Vehicle Spot Safety Checks Begun By Provost Marshal

The Provost Marshal's Office has begun spot safety checks of automobiles in the confines of the Camp Lejeune area. Of the first 20 cars checked last Friday, 10 were found to have discrepancies according to Act. GySgt. Henry Scarber, NCO in charge of Traffic Investigation Division. Drivers are being checked for

Power Cut-Off

There will be an electrical power cut-off from 7 to 8 a.m. Sunday due to the installation of new equipment. The areas to be affected are all of Camp Lejeune except Tarawa Terrace, Camp Geiger, Geiger Trailer Park and the Marine Corps Air Facility. It does include the U. S. Naval Hospital.

24 Camp Lejeune Marines Selected For E-9 Promotion

The names of 24 Camp Lejeune senior NCOs selected for promotion to sergeant major and master gunnery sergeant were announced by Headquarters Marine Corps. Ten of the 24 were named for promotion to sergeant major, 14 to master gunnery sergeant. Certificates of appointment to their new ranks, subject to validation by commanding officers, will be issued by the Commandant of the Marine Corps immediately to all 24 Marines selected. Their appointments will be effective Feb. 24 for pay and seniority. Lineal precedence among those selected will be established by the Commandant at a later date.

The Marines selected for master gunnery sergeant are the first to be appointed to that rank since it was re-established in the new Marine Corps enlisted rank structure.

will be established by the Commandant at a later date.

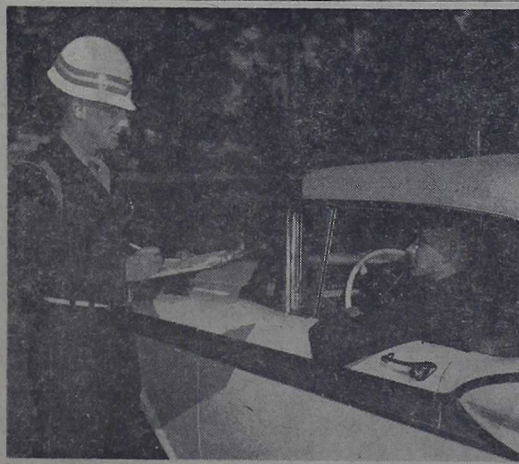

The Marines selected for master gunnery sergeant are the first to be appointed to that rank since it was re-established in the new Marine Corps enlisted rank structure adopted in 1958. The old World War II rank of master gunnery sergeant was abolished in 1946.

Throughout the Marine Corps, 161 Marines were named for promotion to the Corps' top enlisted grade, E-9. They were selected by a board headed by Brig. Gen. Harold D. Hansen. The board convened Feb. 1 and will continue in session to select Marines for promotion to first sergeant and master sergeant.

Eligible for consideration by the board for promotion to sergeant major were all first sergeants with two or more years' service in grade and at least 10 years' total enlisted service. Master sergeants with a minimum of 10 years' total enlisted service were eligible for promotion to master gunnery sergeant.

The first sergeant and master sergeant promotion lists will be published when the board completes its work, probably the latter part of this month.

(See E-9 PROMOTIONS, Page 11)

It's Festival Time Again In Port City

Camp Lejeune families can start making plans now to attend the annual North Carolina Azalea Festival in Wilmington which gets underway March 31 and extends through April 3.

Festival committees are now making preparations for the four-day program with new events and attractions. The schedule includes pageants, parades, an outdoor art exhibit, fireworks, harness racing, street dances, variety shows, formal dances, garden tours and a community worship service.

Stars to Attend

Stars of the stage, screen, radio and television, political and military figures, as well as many other personalities will be special guests and will take part in the events.

An extra attraction this year is the 12th Annual PGA Azalea Open Tournament that will feature top golf stars competing for $17,000 in prize money. The golf tournament is held at Wilmington's Cape Fear Country Club and coincides with the festival dates.

First Day

The opening day of the festival, Thursday, March 31, is when pageants and celebrities begin arriving in Wilmington. Schedules for opening day are a dedication of the Azalea Branch of the Wilmington Post Office, a fireworks display, harness racing, variety show.

Sept. 27 Is Voters' Day Set By DOD

This is a Presidential election year and the Secretary of Defense has designated Sept. 27 as Armed Forces Voters' Day. Accordingly, the Commandant of the Marine Corps has encouraged commanders to emphasize voting on that day.

Since state elections vary as do the procedures for voting by absentee ballot, advance planning is under way here and at other posts and stations throughout the world for an active voting program.

Five states are lining up Presidential primaries next month and most will allow servicemen to vote by absentee ballot. April 5 will mark the first 1960 election primary which will be held in Wisconsin. Presidential candidates will be nominated and delegates elected to the national conventions.

Convention delegates and party officials will be elected on April 12 in Illinois when the Presidential primaries are held. Members of Congress, state and local candidates will be nominated at that time also.

Absentee voting requirements in Illinois are wide and varied. However, the residence requirement is waived for servicemen and their dependents.

Primaries next month will be held on April 19 in New Jersey. Absentee voting is allowed in any New Jersey election and servicemen need not register.

Two states, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, will hold primaries on April 26. In Massachusetts, only general elections are open to absentee voting, so servicemen and their families are not eligible unless they can appear in person. They must also register, which is permanent, and meet the other requirements which voting officers can provide.

Voting officers have been designated in every unit within the Quad-Command.

the girls. There was also an International Display.

Monday, Brownie Troop 198 observed the world organization of Girl Scouts with an international program of displays, costumes, songs, and games.

Bills For Dentacare Fight Losing Battle

The outlook is bleak for any Defense Department action on independent dental care and "any program for giving dental care to military dependents is a 'dead duck' for the time being."

That's what Navy Times reported Saturday as being quoted from a top DOD spokesman.

The official reportedly went on to say that it may even take another war for Congress to instigate a dentacare program and that free dental care is completely out of the question during this election year.

Bills Sponsored

There has been much talk about a dentacare program for several years, but very little action. The Defense Department, however, has been studying the possibilities of such a program. Representatives Melvin Price and John H. Dent have sponsored two military dentacare bills, although no action has been taken on either bill.

Navy Times said one of the major obstacles has been continued opposition from the American Dental Association. Other "road blocks" are said to be the small

Provost Marshal Reveals Dates, Places For Annual Animal Vaccination Program

The annual rabies vaccination and registration program will be conducted during the quarterly quarantine period for pets, March 15 through March 21, inclusive. This program applies to the owners of all dogs and cats harbored within the geographical limits of Camp Lejeune, including all housing areas. Any licensed veterinarian may give the necessary immunization, but for the convenience of pet owners, arrangements have been made for a veterinarian to be at Tarawa Terrace Shopping Center (Building next to the drug store), March 15 and 16; Paradise Point, Bldg. 2626, March 17; Midway Park Fire House, March 18; Knox Trailer Park, Bldg. D-33, March 19; and at the Geiger Trailer Park Community Center, March 21. Daily hours at all the vaccination stations will be from 1 to 3 p.m. The cost of inoculations will be $2 for each animal.

Dogs need not be immunized against rabies until they are six months old; cats and other mammals must be vaccinated annually. Registration of pets will be at the office of the Base Provost Marshal or at the established vaccination stations where the

Hawaiian Revue

Hawaii's Ambassador of Good Will, Hilo Hattie and her Hawaiian Revue, featuring Carlyle Nelson and his orchestra, will appear at the Commissioned Officer's Mess at the Paradise Point Officer's Club April 1.

Tickets are now on sale at the club's front desk. The price is $4.25 per person and includes a Hawaiian buffet and a Vanda Orchid for the ladies. Hawaiian costumes are encouraged.

THE EFFORT to educate the masses, I'm speaking of the modern jazz session this past Sunday, was quite a "swinging affair." Although there were those who did not fully appreciate the progressive stylings played, for the most part, the audience was content to sit and absorb the subtle syncopation. My apologies to the vocalists present for not having a PA system there.

You are invited to come again this Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m., a mike will be available. The music last Sunday ranged from the harmony of Dave Pell arrangements to the mambo beat of Perez Prado. A thank you to those musicians present and a hearty invitation to return again Sunday.

"ACT ONE" by Moss Hart, although out for some time now, is a book I heartily recommend to anyone even remotely interested in the theater. Mr. Hart discusses his early struggles to gain a toe-hold in the theater in a vivid and absorbing manner.

FRED WARING started his musical career on that lowliest of instruments, the banjo, with a four-man banjo band.

"DIEGO-BOUND" thespians may want to look into the Old Globe

Workshop started there... classes are free and depot Marines are invited.

THOSE OF YOU who may have missed "Shame" when first released in 1953, be sure and see it now. It's seven years old now but still packs quite a punch.

MAKE PLANS now to see Sal Salvador and his Jazz Quartet March 26... jazz fans will not want to miss this one.

SUNDAY SHOWCASE will present "The Iron Horse Story" on TV Sunday, March 6. The starring role of "M-Squad" is the story of the Pima Indian who helped to raise the flag on two Jima and who died of alcoholism four years ago has brought about a dispute... Universal International threatens legal action against NBC... The family gave them portrayal rights.

SAL SALVADOR

Sal Salvador and his Jazz Quartet will appear at the Camp Theater March 26 at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Tickets will go on sale March 7. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12.

Award-Winning Camp Lejeune Bakery Rated Among Outstanding Of Se

The Camp Lejeune Bakery, winner of the Marine Corps monthly Top Bakery Award for the past three months, produces an average of 6,000 loaves of bread a day. In addition, about 1,000 dozen donuts are baked each day.

The bakery supplies service for all mess halls in the Quad-Command area plus Cherry Point mess halls. From 600 to 900 loaves of bread are sold in the commissary each day.

The bakery is under the supervision of Capt. L. E. Powell and is manned by 30 skilled bakers, most of them school trained and many of them with pre-service experience.

Four different kinds of bread are baked at the bakery: white, rye, whole wheat and French bread.

About 5,000 pounds of flour is used to bake 6,000 loaves of bread. Other ingredients used are well into the hundreds of pounds: shortening, 250 pounds; salt, 100; yeast, 100; sugar, 250; malt, 50; yeast food, 25; mold inhibitor, 25, and dry skimmed milk, 300 pounds.

An average loaf of bread is sent to the American Institute of Baking in Chicago each month for evaluation. The loaves are tested for color, symmetrical form, evenness of bake, character of crust, breakages and shredding, and other points such as aroma, taste and chewability.

Camp Lejeune's bread has for several years rated among the leaders in the bakery field, both military and civilian, that have been checked by the Institute.

The bakery begins operation about 2 a.m. when the first man arrives to start the baking process and continues until the last loaf is wrapped and put aboard the trucks for delivery to the mess halls.

EACH LOAF of bread has to be individually twisted by hand before it is put into the ovens. Pfc William Helmick is laying out the twisted bread in preparation for the ovens. Loading the bread into the baking racks is Lance Cpl. William Alexander. (Photo by Act. SSgt. R. D. Fennell)

RE-MIXED DOUGH is being removed from large mixing machine in the Post Bakery. Sgt. Frederick Barnsdale. Part of each run of dough is mixed and then taken out to be fermented. That, it is then added to the rest of the dough and re-mixed to a smooth texture. (Photo by Act. SSgt. R. D. Fennell)

THE FINISHED PRODUCT comes off the line under the supervision of Act. SSgt. A. A. Davey and Act. Cpl. J. B. Scott. From here, the bread will be boxed and loaded on trucks for delivery to Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point mess halls and to the Commissary. (Photo by Act. SSgt. R. D. Fennell)

Raiders Top Henderson Hall After Losing To Quantico

After losing to Quantico, 67-45, Saturday afternoon at the Field House, the Red Raiders of Camp Lejeune bounced back Sunday to defeat the Woman Marines of Henderson Hall, Arlington, Va., 67-43. Carol Lau, scoring ace from Quantico, was the big scorer with 35 points and 21 of them coming in the final half. Marine Paradis was the leading scorer for the Raiders with eight field goals and nine free throws for a total of 25 points.

Trailing by only seven points in the first half, the locals could not stop the Virginians as they outscored the Raiders 39-24 and rolled to an easy 67-45 victory.

Second Game

Marie Paradis led the locals in their win over Henderson Hall with 26 tallies and was followed by Connie Casey with 18 and "Barb" Meyers with 17. Henderson Hall's Pranger was the leading scorer for the visitors with 23 markers.

The Raiders went into the final half leading the visitors 30-18 and could not be contained as they outpointed their opponents 37-25, avenging their earlier weekend loss.

The Red Raiders now are enjoying a 12-8 season with two games remaining to be played against Charleston Air Force Base at the Field House this Saturday and Sunday afternoons to close out their season.

pad will get the stainless steel or chrome spoons as shiny as if they were new.

With bucktails, feathers and saran or nylon lures, you'll find a bath in strong detergent will get them sparkling new. Even rust spots will come off (except on feathers) and then all you've got to do is touch up the heads with some of the dope you've used on the plugs.

When it comes to leaders and snelled hooks I make a point of discarding the ones that have a worn look about them. For the few cents involved, I feel it's best to get new leaders to replace the worn out ones.

Boots, waders, foul weather gear, parkas and the like should be always hung or stowed in a dry cool place. Keep them away from heat for it ruins rubber material.

A good way to check for leaks in boots and waders is to put a flashlight inside them in a dark closet or room. The light will show up even the smallest pinhole. Waders I usually patch myself but holes in the rubber parts of boots I have patched at the filling station.

There are, of course, many other odd jobs, such as cleaning your flashlights, sharpening the gaffs, and cleaning sand spikes which I have overlooked. But once you start cleaning your equipment you seldom leave any items undone, I hope.

Fly lines are very expensive and those used in salt water should be thoroughly washed in fresh water before stowing them for the winter. They should be coiled loosely and stowed in a moderate temperature. Extreme temperature changes, such as bringing them in from a cold garage to a warm room, may cause them to become sticky and even crack. Braided nylon or monofilament lines require little attention. But if the line seems to have worn spots, it is best to discard it rather than lose a prize fish.

If you only fish for small salt water species, it would be wise to simply reverse your line on the reel, thus putting unused portions of line up front where it will be used.

Plugs, spoons, metal squids, bucktails, trolling feathers, and saran jigs usually look awful at the end of the fishing season. Plugs are chipped, hooks are rusty and bucktails and feathers are dirty.

The best best with plugs is to take a part of wire cutters and cut off the rusty treble hooks, then take some fine steel wool and clean up the body of the plug. The steel wool will remove all rust and loose varnish.

After letting the plug thoroughly dry, touch up the paint job with dope. It's available at most any hobby shop; five and dime store, or toyland on the Base. Then give the plug a light plastic. After it's dry you can easily screw in or slip on new treble or double hooks, and your plug is as good as new.

With spoons, it's best to strip them down and clean them in the same manner as plugs. Invariably the hooks will be rusty, and the small nut and bolt holding the hooks in place will be rusty, too. It's to your advantage to replace all of these parts. A steel wool

$350 Million Spent Yearly On Popular American Sport

NEW YORK (AFPS)—Baseball, basketball and football are the headline-making sports. But are they the most popular? Bowling, a sport the serviceman and his family can enjoy together, has an active following of 20 million Americans. These 20 million spend about $350 million a year on bowling, an amount 10 times more than the total major leagues' gate receipts last year. On any given night year-around some of these bowlers will go to 7,500 U. S. bowling alleys.

In almost every industry, on almost every base or post, leagues are having competitive fun at a sport that some officials believe was born in a third century Christian rite.

Its purpose then wasn't as pleasure. The pins represented heathens and if a hit was scored it meant the thrower was leading a clean and pure life. He was, it was said, capable of slaying the heathen.

By the Middle Ages, bowling was established as a popular game—matches often becoming a part of a wedding celebration. Even the groom deserted his bride for a game of "Bowls" as it was called then.

Later bowling caught on so that King Edward III, fearing it might replace archery in the hearts of Englishmen, issued a proclamation in 1366 against this "dishonorable, useless and unprofitable game." But bowling didn't stay suppressed for too long.

In fact, history records that bowling played a part in the defeat of the mighty Spanish Armada. When Sir Francis Drake, an ardent bowler, was informed of the approach of the Armada, he replied, "There is time, both to win the game and beat the Spaniards," and continued bowling.

This was part of Drake's plan to hold off until the Spanish fleet became jammed in the narrowest part of the English Channel. This bit of strategy resulted in the crushing defeat of the Armada.

Corps Private On Top After 3rd Tourney

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 23

—Despite a troublesome back ailment that hampered his early efforts, Marine Corps Recruit Depot golf stalwart Phil Rodgers closed out his brief three-tournament outing on the Winter PGA Tour Feb. 14 in Phoenix, Ariz., with his third consecutive amateur championship.

The stocky Leatherneck linkster cruised through his four-round tour of the demanding Phoenix Country Club course with a total of 286 to lead the runner-up amateur, Dick Hopwood, of the host Phoenix Country Club, by a comfortable six-stroke margin.

Fighting a stiff back for most of the first round, Rodgers skied to a four-over-par 75 in his first official tour of the narrow 6,585-yard course, but battled back with individual rounds of 72-68-71 in his remaining three outings to finish only two-over for the 72 holes.

The young La Jolla's initial round marked the first time in his three 1960 PGA showings—including the Los Angeles and San Diego Opens—that he had moved out of range of the tourney's over-all leader before the end of the third round.

Marines Nip Boxers From Langley-Ft. Eustis Teams

Lejeune's boxing team edged out a win over the combined fighters of Fort Eustis Army and Langley Air Force bases last Friday night. The match, considered by many to be the best of the season, saw the locals emerge the victors with a 7-5 margin. In actual bouts, the two teams tied, winning six each.

The deciding factor of the evening was a default awarded to Rocky Fiorentino.

Starting off the the evening's fights, lightweight Leroy Metz won a unanimous decision over Andrew Yates of Langley AFB to spark the wins of the Marines.

Lightweight Lowell O. Thomas, a 2nd Division fighter, came up with a TKO over George White of Langley AFB to win in the second round.

Three rounds of hard hitting clinched a unanimous decision for Willie Davis, also of the 2nd Division. Davis' opponent was James Calhoun, a lightweight of Ft. Eustis.

Local KO's

C. W. Brown, 2nd Division, thrilled the fans as he won the first knock-out of the evening in the first round. His canvas-clutching ringmate was James Calhoun of Ft. Eustis.

Luchion Green followed Brown's example soon after with another KO over Langley's Thomas Davis in the second round. Henry Hooper's unanimous decision over Saul Bridges, Ft. Eustis, rounded out the evening's victories for the home team.

Close Loss

Marine coaches rated Tom Zangla's match with Walter Winfrey as one of the best of the evening. Weakened by a slam in the face early in the fight, Zangla recovered and gave his Eustis opponent a run for his money. Winfrey was awarded a split decision.

Other losses included Harry Hill to Joseph Harris, Ft. Eustis, by TKO; Fred Fogg to Billy Littlejohn, Ft. Eustis, by unanimous decision; Jim Williams to Roger Wakefield, Ft. Eustis, by unanimous decision; Walter Brown to Willie Farmer, Langley AFB, by unanimous decision, and Bobby Meredith to Fred Martin, Langley AFB, by unanimous decision.

BATTLING LOSER—Lejeune's Tom Zangla, left, appears dazed as he falters from a punch by Walter Winfrey, Ft. Eustis, in Friday night's matches. The wiry, lightweight Zangla managed to hold on throughout the remainder of the fight to allow his opponent only the narrow victory of a split decision. (Photo by Lance Cpl. T. J. Mikalajunas.)

He explained that all Division associations hold a joint meeting every five years to give Marines who served with more than one Division an opportunity to renew wartime friendships.

People-To-People Article Writing Contest

A distinguished panel of judges will pick the winners of the $500 People-to-People article writing contest, it was announced by the joint sponsors, the Army-Navy-Air Force Register and the Armed Forces Writers League.

Selected judges are Mr. David Brinkley, National Broadcasting Co. (TV) news commentator; Mr. Edward Edstrom, Hearst newspaper representative and president of the National Press Club; and Dr. Raymond W. Miller, director of public relations Research Associates, Inc.

Supporting President Eisenhower's People-to-People program, it pays a total of $500 prize money, with a $250 first prize to the best article on "What I Did to Make Friends for the U. S." Entries must not exceed 1,500 words.

The articles should clearly show what each contestant did to win friends for the United States while serving overseas—or at home—but big items are not necessary, it was explained. Rather, what is needed are the smaller isolated instances that give people of other countries an idea of what the United States is like and what it stands for.

Everyone who ever wore a U. S. armed service uniform, civilian employees of the Defense Department, members of the Armed Forces Writers League and the families of any of these categories are eligible to compete, contest authorities said.

The contest closes April 10. Entries should be mailed to Contest Editor, Army-Navy-Air Force Register, 2020 M Street N.W., Washington, D. C.
