

Brotherhood Of Man To Be Marked Here

The 27th Annual Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, is being observed this week, Feb. 21 to 28. President Eisenhower is Honorary Chairman and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is Chairman of the Government Committee.

Respect

In a memorandum to Service Secretaries, the Secretary of Defense wrote that "Brotherhood Week is dedicated to a belief in the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God and is intended to focus attention on our respect for the rights and dignity of the individual in American life. Servicemen and women with diverse backgrounds serve together, united under one flag for one cause and with one loyalty. It is appropriate that Brotherhood Week 1960 be brought to the attention of all military and civilian personnel of the Armed Forces throughout the United States and at stations abroad."

Principles

The National Conference of Christians and Jews has published a list of the principles of brotherhood. The principles state that in regards to personal attitudes, deal with people as individuals, don't generalize about groups of peoples, have friends in all religious, racial and national groups, don't blame others for your own faults and troubles and don't make others scapegoats for the problems of society.

When a bigot is heard, challenge statements quietly with moral principles and facts. Insist that each person be judged as an individual, do not allow generalizations to go unchallenged. Ask proof of prejudiced charges. Point out that religious principles and democratic ideals call for fair play for every person.

Good Examples

In homes, give children good examples by talking about and acting with people as individuals. Children pay more attention to actions than words. Give children love and affection so they will be secure and not aggressive against others.

Give children experience with children of other groups through books, stories, movies, visits, etc., and give them the care for proper mental health which is as important for their happiness as physical well-being.

Amateur Radio Class Now Has 158 Students Enrolled

Quad-Command amateur radio classes are in full swing with 158 prospective amateur radio operators enrolled in the classes being conducted four nights weekly. Classes are presently being conducted Monday through Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. in Bldg. 514 at Montford Point. Transportation by special express bus is available and departs the Camp Bus Station at 6:30 p.m.

The classes now in progress are designed to allow personnel and dependents to complete the necessary study to obtain the Novice license and General Class license. Classes will continue for 10 more weeks with allowance being made for personnel missing instruction due to training exercises. Due to popular demand special instruction is being given on Wednesday nights to communications personnel having the required code speed. This is an accelerated theory course and is still open for communications personnel to enroll in this phase of instruction.

Equipment for Novice use will be installed in the near future and it is hoped to make Camp Lejeune the center of world-wide Novice operations. For further information on amateur radio instruction, call 7-3031.

Amateur radio station W4LEV maintains daily schedules with all Marine Corps Stations Stateside and overseas. Message service is fast and in most cases one to two-day delivery is assured. Messages should be delivered in person to Act. GySgt. Joseph A. Johann and Act. SSgt. Carl R. Yale; to Mapping Officer, Act. SSgt. Jerry E. Bunting; to Instrument Repair Officer, Act. Sgt. David O. Carpentier, and to Electronics Supply Officer, Act. SSgt. Randall W. Lichty.

Act. GySgt. Eugene A. Bowen was selected for Aviation Material Officer from the Marine Corps Air Facility.

Those named from MAG-26 were: to Unit Supply Officer, Act. SSgt. Donald O. O'Dell; to Air Defense Control Officer, SSgt. James H. Welton; to Ground Control Approach Officer, Act. SSgt. Charles W. Paschen, and to Flight Equipment Officer, Act. SSgt. Charles J. Loof Jr.

Jam Session

All modern jazz musicians and vocalists are invited to participate in a jam session at the Central Area Service Club Sunday, Feb. 28, from 3 to 5 p.m. For further information contact Act. Sgt. Moore at 7-5522.

If enough interest is shown and enough musicians participate, this is planned to be a weekly affair.

2nd Division Cook Instigates A 'Do-It-Yourself' Breakfast

How many times have you said to yourself or to another Marine, "I can cook better than this" or "I'd like to cook my own eggs for a change?" If you've voiced such thoughts and you are a member of Hq. Bn., 2nd Marine Division, you have your chance to be "chef for a day" over the holiday weekend.

The "do-it-yourself" breakfast was the order of the day, Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Hq. Bn. messhall, Bldg. 325. Credit for the "cook your own" experiment goes to Act. GySgt. John B. Murphy, chief cook on watch over the weekend.

Terming the "cook-in" a battalion "first," Sergeant Murphy said that he had wanted to let the men do this for a long time and the holiday weekend seemed like a good time to try it.

"It's not that I've had complaints about the cooking," said Sergeant Murphy, "I instigated the plan as a morale factor—not because the cooks are on strike, as scuttlebutt had it."

Sergeant Murphy revealed that a few Marines were reluctant to play the role of "bellyrobber" until he explained the situation to them. Then they cheerfully manned the grills with a will—if not skill—that would gladden the heart of Duncan Hines.

As Sergeant Murphy demonstrated the use of the tools of his trade, other cooks aided the Marines in frying their sausages and potatoes.

Was the operation a success? A spot check of the participating Marines revealed that out of ten, there were seven who were wholeheartedly for the idea as a "change," while three men were against it—in no uncertain terms.

Further questioning revealed that none of the three objectors had ever prepared their own meals, while most of the seven favoring the "do-it-yourself" style had previous experience cooking breakfast.

Four of the Marines interviewed commented as follows:

Pvt. James L. Staples, Hq. Co. "I like cooking my own, OK."

Pfc Clifford A. Eaton Jr., 1st Co. "It's a pretty good idea—welcome change."

Pfc Robert J. Muszynski, MP Co. "I'd rather have the cooks do it."

L.Cpl. Lester W. Wadsworth, Serv. Co. "I like it. No one can really cook your eggs just like you want them."

Division Lists 897 Off-Duty Course Pupils

Second Division personnel numbering 897 were enrolled in off-duty correspondence courses during the quarter ending December 31, according to Division Bulletin 1540.

Headquarters Bn. led the field percentage wise with 141 personnel enrolled. The 1st Bn., Sixth Marines were in the runner-up spot with 87 students while third place was held down by 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines with 82 enrollees. Medic Bn. and Service Bn. finished fourth and fifth in the standings with 77 and 71 students, respectively.

The off-duty correspondence courses are available from MC USAFI, Extension School, and other Navy and Army sources. They provide the individual Marine with an excellent opportunity to improve his general educational development and military proficiency.

Latest Marine Corps Institute Courses

Marines who want to learn more about their jobs, and attain higher scores on General Military Subjects test and technical tests are encouraged to enroll in Marine Corps Institute courses at no cost. Complete information can be had at the Base Education Office in the Camp Theater, Bldg. 19, or from unit education officers.

THE INFANTRY NON-COMMISSIONED LEADER, 03.3. Upon completion of this course the student should be a more proficient small-unit leader. The course offers instruction in how to recognize and understand the responsibilities of leadership, leadership traits, and techniques of leadership that can be used in solving leadership problems.

FORWARD OBSERVATION, 08.4. is designed for the NCO and presents the duties and responsibilities of selecting, occupying, and organizing an observation post. Adjustment of artillery fire is also covered in this course.

TRACTOR EQUIPMENT OPERATOR, 13.3. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the operation of engineer equipment. Primarily covered are the best operating procedure under normal and special conditions and information on maintenance. Safety precautions are also covered.

TANK GUNNERY, 18.6 is designed for tank crewmen in grades E-1 through E-5. It enables them to become more proficient in using the tank fire control equipment of the phase IV M48 tank. Also covered are tank armament, machine guns, tank ammunition, the mil formula, and use of binoculars.

INFANTRY WEAPONS ARMORER, 21.3 consists of six lessons. This course teaches the student the assembly, disassembly, nomenclature and function, preventive maintenance and repair of infantry weapons. Shotguns, 12 gauge, M12 and M97, are also covered.

BASIC WAREHOUSING, 30.1a presents the basic principles, methods, and procedures of effective and efficient warehousing practices. The course is comprised of six lessons.

AMMUNITION, GENERAL, 23.1 provides information on the classification, identification, nomenclature, grading, packing, marking and storing of ammunition. Completion of this course offers seven reserve retirement credit points.

Hayride Set For Feb. 27

Members of the Tarawa Terrace Teenage Association are planning for their big mid-winter hayride scheduled for 6 p. m. Saturday.

The girls have been busily working on making this affair one of the most successful of their activities. They have a party planned for the evening which will take place after the hayride is over, complete with dancing, games and refreshments. The party will be held at the Teen Club beginning immediately after the ride.

All dependents between the ages of 13 and 20 are invited to attend the affair. Couples only will be allowed to join in the fun. The charge being $1 per couple. The girls are asking that the money be in by tomorrow, for final arrangements must be made. The money may be paid to Gail Therrel, Sharon Cardinal, Connie Gilley, or Mary Wilson.

This Week At Camp Schools

Semi-final winners will be competing in the Final Recitation and Spelling Contests at the Tarawa Terrace School Auditorium tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. All interested persons are invited.

Semi-final recitation winners:
Midway Park: Maude Henneberger, first grade; Donald Walters, second grade; Nanette Siegfried, third grade; Teresa Smith, fourth grade; Cynthia Ranson, fifth grade; Thomas Bryan, sixth grade.

Montford Point: Donnor Connor, first grade; Susan Tomlinson, third grade; Gwyn Peterson, fourth grade; Donnie Raub, fifth grade; Raeford Garriss, sixth grade.

Tarawa Terrace: Ricky McElveen, first grade; Lori Patterson, second grade; Jill Coolbrith, third grade; Wendy Markoff, fourth grade; Donna Work, fifth grade; Elaine Britt, sixth grade.

Semi-final Spelling Contest winners:

Montford Point: Reginald Weaver and Arnold Steward, third grade; Jessica Sbrocco and Clifford Kane, fourth grade; Donnie Raub and Brenda Johnson, fifth grade; Ellen Chase and Thomas Armstrong, sixth grade.

The resolution of the Continental Congress in 1775, which authorized the original two battalions of Marines, specified that the personnel selected should be "good seamen or so acquainted with maritime affairs as to be able to serve to advantage at sea."

AIR FACILITY ARRIVAL

Red Cross Blood Bank To Be Established Here

The Camp Lejeune Chapter of the American Red Cross is establishing a blood bank for all personnel stationed at Camp Lejeune. The first donations will be received May 10 and 11 at the Red Cross Mobile-Blood Unit that will visit Lejeune once each quarter for a two-day stay. Headquarters, Marine Corps Base, will publish additional information including location of the mobile unit prior to each visit.

The purpose of the newly formed blood-bank is to assure the military personnel of Camp Lejeune that blood-bank support will be readily available to their immediate families without replacement and without cost. "Immediate families" include those persons eligible for "Q" allotments and is not limited to members living in the household of servicemen. It must be clearly understood, however, that this arrangement does not apply to hospitals which do not participate in the Red Cross Blood Program.

Contrary to popular belief, a blood bank is not something readily available to everyone without cost or obligation. In many places, blood recipients must pay for the blood received or replace it on a "two" for "one" basis. Even the Red Cross, when it provides blood, normally tries to have its blood replaced by relatives and friends of the recipient in order to keep its stock of blood at a high level to meet possible national emergencies.

Regardless of whether or not a serviceman is able to donate blood himself, he is still eligible under this program by virtue of being stationed at Camp Lejeune where the program receives active support on a regular and continuing basis. This protection continues for six months after separation at, or transfer from, Camp Lejeune. This protection also covers the immediate family during the entire period of overseas duty.

To avail yourself of the assistance offered by this program, the serviceman may contact the Red Cross representative here, who will in turn arrange for the blood to be delivered to the needed locality. Should the serviceman not be able to make the arrangements, his family can do so through its local Red Cross office which will obtain confirmation from the Camp Lejeune representative.

The newly formed Red Cross Blood Bank is not designed to change or replace the present blood donor system of the Naval Hospital.

Eligibility and other information may be found in Base Order 6530.3 now being published by Headquarters, Marine Corps Base.

Principles Outlined In Recognition Of Brotherhood Week

The National Conference of Christians and Jews has published a list of brotherhood principles in connection with the 27th Annual Brotherhood Week, which began Sunday.

The principles are believed to be of great interest to Camp Lejeune families since they point out several items of interest concerning the home and children.

Principles Outlined

In homes, the principles state, "Give children good examples by talking about and acting with people as individuals. Children pay more attention to actions than words. Give children love and affection so they will be secure and not aggressive against others."

The list goes on to say, "Give children experience with children of other groups through books, stories, movies, visits, and give them the care for proper mental health which is as important for their happiness as physical well-being."

Chairmen Named

President Eisenhower is Honorary Chairman and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is Chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. In a memorandum to service secretaries, the Secretary of Defense wrote "Brotherhood Week is dedicated to a belief in the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God and is intended to focus attention on our respect for the rights and dignity of the individual in American life."

The secretary's memorandum went on to say, "Servicemen and women with diverse backgrounds serve together united under one flag for one cause and with one loyalty. It is appropriate that Brotherhood Week, Feb. 21-28, 1960, be brought to the attention of all military and civilian personnel of the Armed Forces throughout the United States and at stations abroad."

Marine Cpl. Charlie D. Merritt of Greenville, S. C., knocked out seven Jap tanks with seven bazooka rockets on Saipan, for which he received the Navy Cross.

Kathy Karch Writes Merit Composition

(Editor's Note: The following story about Girl Scouts and news concerning activities planned for Camp Lejeune Girl Scouts was prepared by Kathy Karch as a requirement for the Girl Scout journalism badge. Kathy is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Frederic J. Karch, who live in MOQ 2402. Such newsworthy unsolicited contributions are always appreciated and will be published when space allows.)

By KATHY KARCH

The Girl Scouts of long ago formed the trails for the Girl Scouts of today. They were prepared for any emergency. They could be trusted by their fellow citizens. They made friends with all of nature. Often a Girl Scout's life was full of hardships, yet she was filled with the joy of knowing she had helped her country and the people in it. The Girl Scout of today has many modern facilities which enable her to perform her duties much faster and efficiently. They also enjoy doing things together as did the Girl Scouts of long ago. They take great pride in showing their friends the proficiency badges they have earned. There are 116 badges available to be earned by the Girl Scout.

The Girl Scouts are divided into three groups. First is Brownies; this time is spent teaching the girl how to get along with her fellow scouts. The next group is Intermediate Girl Scouts; in this period the girl will work together with her fellow troop members to earn her proficiency badges. The third and last group is the Senior Girl Scouts; in this time the Girl Scout learns how to bring out the best of her character and personality while she completes her Senior Scout requirements.

Saturday, March 12, the Girl Scouts of Camp Lejeune are having a parade at the main parade ground to celebrate the 48th anniversary of the Girl Scouts.

Sunday, March 13, is Girl Scout Sunday. At this time the girls of the local troops will attend church of their choice. Aided by a leader they will commune and give thanks together.

From the 3rd of February to the 17th of February the Girl Scouts have been selling Girl Scout cookies. They all thank you for your generosity and co-operation. The proceeds from the cookie sale will provide part of the funds for Camp Trailee, the Girl Scout camp located on the outskirts of Goldsboro. The present plans for attending Camp Trailee are as follows:

Brownies and Intermediate: June

New Gas Station To Be Completed Dec. 1

By the end of 1960, Camp Lejeune will be enjoying the facilities of a new 34-pump gas station which is now under construction. Tentatively scheduled for completion by December 1, the station will provide access for simultaneous dispensing of gasoline to 32 vehicles.

Located just off Holcomb Blvd. across from the main Post Exchange, the area is visible to passers-by who have witnessed the progress of construction during the past few months. To date, all buildings are up and roofing is being completed. All equipment, including gas pumps, is ready to be installed within a few weeks.

19 to July 2. Intermediate and Seniors: July 3 to July 16. Intermediate and Seniors: July 17 to July 30.

The girls may attend Camp Trailee as a troop from Aug. 1 to 6.

The Girl Scouts are looking forward to a rewarding and fun-filled summer.

Easy Credit

no matter what the reason, the seller (or finance company to which he has sold his rights) may repossess the stove, and ordinarily you forfeit all payments which you have made up to that time. This is so in most states no matter how close you may have come to completing the payments.

The contract may allow the seller (or finance company) to resell the stove, apply what he gets from the resale to the cost of repossessing and selling, and hold you for the balance of the price you originally agreed to pay, even though you no longer have the stove. Payments you have already made plus the net proceeds from resale will reduce the amount you owe.

Though the conditional sale contract itself contains your promise to pay the installments of the purchase price, you are usually required to sign also a separate or detachable "note," repeating your promise to pay. This note may be transferred by the seller to a finance company in such a way that the finance company can collect the price from you even though the stove turns out to be defective or otherwise differs from what the seller told you that it would be.

The note usually provides that upon default in paying any installment, the entire balance may be immediately due and payable. The note usually does not give you the right to save finance charges in advance of the date due.

The conditional sale contract or the "note," or both, usually contain a clause permitting judgment to be entered against you in court for the unpaid balance of the purchase price. This judgment may be entered without your having been served with a summons or otherwise given notice, and without any hearing or trial whatever. The language of such a clause authorizes any attorney to "confess" judgment in your name not only for the amount of your obligations, but ordinarily for attorneys' fees and costs of collection as well. Collection by this method will usually add $15 to any bill, no matter how small, and may add more than $100, depending upon the amount of the unpaid balance of the note or contract.

Sometimes such clauses authorize the confession of judgment against you only after your failure to make a payment when due. Often they authorize it at any time after you sign, even before any installment is due. The confession of judgment clause is not required to be on a separate sheet of paper or separately signed. Only by reading carefully the conditional sale contract and note can you determine whether such a clause is included and what it provides.

Next week's article, on Installment Buying, will discuss how the seller enforces collection and the alternatives to installment buying.

Leadership Helps Build Character

The spirit of comradeship and brotherhood in arms which has traditionally existed throughout the ranks of the Marine Corps must be fostered and kept alive and made the moving force of all Marine Corps organizations.

The relationship between officers and enlisted men should in no sense be that of superior and inferior nor that of master and servant, but rather that of teacher and scholar. In fact, it should partake of the nature of the relation between father and son, to the extent that officers, especially commanding officers, are responsible for the physical, mental, and moral welfare, as well as the discipline and military training of the young men under their command who are serving the nation in the Marine Corps.

The recognition of this responsibility on the part of officers is vital to the well-being of the Marine Corps. It is especially so, for the reason that so large a proportion of the men enlisting are under 21 years of age. These men are in the formative period of their lives, and officers owe it to them, to their parents, and to the nation, that when discharged from the service they should be far better men physically, mentally, and morally than they were when they enlisted.

To accomplish this task successfully, a constant effort must be made by all officers to fill each day with useful and interesting instructions and wholesome recreation for the men. This effort must be intelligent and not perfunctory, the object being not only to eliminate idleness, but to train and cultivate the bodies, the minds, and the spirit of the men.

It will be necessary for officers not only to devote their close attention to the many questions affecting the comfort, health, morals, religious guidance, military training and discipline of the men under their command, but also actively to enlist the interest of their men in building up and maintaining their bodies in the finest physical condition; to encourage them to improve their professional knowledge and to make every effort by means of historical, educational and patriotic addresses to cultivate in their hearts a deep abiding love of the Corps and country.

Finally, it must be kept in mind that the young American responds quickly and readily to the exhibitions of qualities of leadership on the part of his officers. Some of those qualities are industry, energy, initiative, determination, enthusiasm, firmness, kindness, justness, self-control, unselfishness, honor and courage. Every officer should endeavor by all means in his power to make himself the possessor of these qualities and thereby to fit himself to be a real leader of men. The Answer To Man's Dilemma "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." So declared the ancient prophet of God. One of the greatest needs of the world today, free and otherwise, is a return to that kind of righteousness.

Down through the centuries, man has proven himself to be a very capable creature. He possesses a profound ability to invent new things and to make great accomplishments. And yet, in spite of this, he is plagued by limitations, which if not overcome, can destroy him as well as the world.

He is able to launch satellites into orbit, but is unable to launch himself completely into an orbit of righteousness, honesty, unselfishness and Godly living. He is able to check and conquer disease, but is unable to impede the spread of oral and spiritual decay. He is able to push back the frontiers of scientific research and discovery, but is unable to conquer the simmering intolerance and hatred in the human heart. He is able to make numerous contributions to gracious living, but is unable to bring the peoples of the world together in a spirit of peace and love and mutual understanding. The things that he is unable to do are the very things that need most desperately to be done in the world today.

The answer to man's dilemma, lies not in himself, nor in his vast wisdom, nor in his great ability, but rather in the latent powers of a spiritual awakening. If he would find the answer, his path must lead back through the years, until he finds himself kneeling at the foot of an ancient cross. And there, in the dust of his earthly limitations, he must come to know, in a life-changing way, the Christ of that Cross; the Christ who said, "I come that you might have life, and that you might have it in abundance." This is the only way that one can return to and possess that kind of righteousness, which not only exalts a nation, but its people as well. The hope of the world today is Jesus Christ, living not in ancient Palestine, but rather in the hearts of modern men.

—Division Chaplain N. Philip Johnson.

First Impressions May Be Lasting

First impressions may not be reliable, but they are often difficult to shake.

Few people have completely unbiased or neutral attitudes toward their fellow man. People like to classify other people, to put them in what they consider the proper niche. If they do not know you personally, it is only natural that they will form an opinion of you by your actions.

You may be a staff NCO, but do you act like one? No one begrudges an occasional display of high spirits but it is still possible to show the dignity that one's uniform and rank require. This is particularly true of men who contemplate going up for a higher rank. The time to start acting like a staff NCO is not after you make it, but before. Such actions may be the deciding factor when your superiors must decide whether or not you should be recommended to take an examination for advancement in rank.

If You Ask Me:

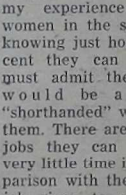

WHAT ARE YOUR VIEWPOINTS ON A WOMAN'S PLACE IN THE ARMED FORCES?

PFC EMIL KACZUR, Ordnance Maintenance Co., MSM Bn. — "There's a time and place for everything," as the old saying goes, and the saying does apply to women in the service. Don't misunderstand me when I make such a statement, because I know our women contribute quite a lot to Marine Corps working hours. But what I'm trying to point out is that the men could probably do the work just as well. I can see women on active duty in the Armed Forces in time of war, when men would be needed to help win a war. Then the women would definitely be a bigger help and it could be said that they're really necessary.

ACT. SGT. ULYSSES WYNN, "D" Co., 8th Motor Transport Bn., Force Troops—From my experience with women in the service, knowing just how efficient they can be, I must admit the men would be a little "shorthanded" without them. There are many jobs they can do in very little time in comparison with the same job given to a man. From what I've seen, they do their work—and do it well. As long as this is so, there's a definite need for them in any branch of the military. Some people say that "a woman's place is in the home," but if she can be helpful elsewhere and, in this case, doesn't mind all that's involved with service life, she's welcome.

MRS. ELTON WILLIAMS, Hubert, N. C.—I think having women in the Armed Forces is a very good thing. This kind of life has always attracted me, as I once planned to enlist myself. My sister joined and from what she tells me along with what I see and hear at Camp Lejeune, the gaining comes on both sides. Girls can get a lot out of just a few years in, and, too, the different branches of service gain by having these girls as a working part of their outfit. There are certain jobs that require women. They have that certain knack for office work that's needed in the military. Of course, there are other jobs, too, where women come in handy. I'm amazed at the type of work the Woman Marines do here on Base; so many different and unusual jobs a person wouldn't think a woman could handle. There's no two ways about it. Women in the Armed Forces are doing a fine job.

LANCE CPL. HECTOR CANFIELD, 2nd Landing Support Co. — My opinion of women in the service? Well, I haven't really given it much thought before, but I suppose it's a good idea. Women seem to be in everything nowadays. As long as they could be helpful to us men, there's no reason why we should be against it. It's nice to see women around, anyway. They brighten things up in any line of work. They've been in the service for a long time now. This sort of proves they're needed or at least they're doing something to benefit the service. Much as there may be those who have no use for women in the Armed Forces, it'll just have to be accepted. The line drawn before insofar as a man's job and a woman's job seems to be gone. Now, women are doing things they've never thought capable of. Same goes for service life. The number of jobs they're qualified to do is beyond me, but they are qualified, so why not put these qualifications to use?

PFC ROGER ROBILLARD, Force Troops, ISO — In my opinion, women are an asset to the service. They are of value in the offices where they work for they help relieve the monotony and tension that would be created in an office full of men. They are of value, too, because they seem to provide that proverbial woman's touch. Whether it's their never-ending patience or what, an office runs more smoothly when women are around. They take their job more seriously than some of the men, and as a result of this, you can depend on them.

ACT. SSGT. PAUL D. THOMPSON, H&S Co., 1st Bn., Eighth Marines — I have absolutely no contact with women where I work, so I can't voice an opinion as well as someone who actually knows what they're capable of doing, but I'll say one thing: The way I understand, a large part of their assignments entail typing work. This is a very good thing, as far as I'm concerned. I can't speak for the other branches, but as far as the Corps goes, a Marine has no place behind a typewriter in the first place. His primary purpose is not using his fingers and sitting behind a carb all day long. If a woman can do it and measure up to the standards of her respective service, I'm very much in favor of seeing her in uniform.

Rod & Gun

By ACT. GYSGT. HELEN BRUSACK
Phone 7-5888

(Editor's note: This is the second of a series of articles on maintenance of salt water fishing gear.)

When resetting the reel seat or ferrules, I'd suggest using one of the newer adhesives that come in a tube and take up to 24 hours to dry. When these adhesives dry, they stay put and you'll have no loose fixtures to worry about. Many old-timers prefer the stick type ferrule cement, but this has a tendency to dry out and cause the reel seat to come loose at the most inopportune time. To rewind the rod, first apply two coats of color preserver where your winding will go, then affix your guide to the rod with an elastic band, and wind your nylon thread on the guide. Then apply several more coats of color preserver on top of the windings, and it will cause the two coats underneath to fuse with the coats on top, building a hard through-and-through bond of preserver that will prolong the life of the winding underneath.

After you finish winding and applying preservers, it's best to let the preserver harden for at least a day. Although it may seem hard to your touch after a couple of hours, it really takes a lot longer to become thoroughly hardened. Now that the rod is ready for a coat of varnish, don't go taking a cold can of varnish out of the garage and expect to come up with a nice job. To do a really professional job, get yourself a small can of fine quality varnish and heat it in a pan of water before starting to apply it. Once it is warm you'll find that it may be spread very easily, and it dries nice and smooth. You can use a fine camel hair brush if you prefer, but most people apply it with their fingers, which gives just as neat if not a neater job than a brush.

Another thing to keep in mind when varnishing a rod is not to shake the varnish or stir it too vigorously. Shaking or stirring will often cause a lot of bubbles, which you'll have trouble removing when you apply the varnish. If the bubbles aren't removed they'll end up drying as such, thus spoiling all your hours of work.

When varnishing, always remember that several thin coats are far better than one or two heavy coats. After each coat it's best to rub the varnish down with a very fine grade of steel wool, and then repeat until you have several layers of nice, thin, smooth varnish on the rod.

Another major tackle item is the reel. If you're inexperienced on tearing down a reel it might be wise to send it back to the manufacturer for repairs and replacement of worn parts. The thing you can do to keep your reels in tip-top condition is to keep them properly clean and lubricated. A grain of sand can cause untold damage.

Cleaning can be accomplished by removing the side plates of either the spinning or conventional reel and completely washing out the insides with either white gasoline or kerosene. I use a small brush to get all the scum, grease and sand out of my reels. The white gasoline will clean out all the dirt and grime from the gears of the reel.

After cleaning the reel as clean as you can, apply a good quality grease to all the gears and thoroughly oil all the bearings and whatever oil cups the reel may have. Don't make a mistake of applying too much grease or oil. A light covering is perfect, but the reel should be lubed often during fishing season.

Wildlife Commission Lessens State Boating Law Confusion

RALEIGH—On June 17, 1959, the North Carolina General Assembly passed into law the Motorboat Safety Act.

If you own a boat powered by machinery of more than 10 horsepower and operate it in North Carolina water, you must have it registered with and numbered by the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission in Raleigh. Further, your boat must be equipped and operated in accordance with this law. The only exemptions to the numbering provisions of this act are vessels which are documented or those owned by the Federal Government or a state or used as ships' lifeboats.

Considerable confusion has arisen covering boats now or previously numbered by the U. S. Coast Guard; all Coast Guard numbers in North Carolina are now obsolete and must be replaced by numbers assigned by the Wildlife Resources Commission. The Coast Guard is changing its numbering system nationwide so the numbers in North Carolina would have had to be replaced by new ones even if there were no state law.

Obtaining Your Number

Your first responsibility, if you own a boat powered by a motor of more than 10 horsepower (regardless of boat length) is to get a boat number application from a hunting and fishing license agent, fill it out completely and send it with three dollars to the address on the application. There is no need to send your Coast Guard certificate. You will not receive a "license plate" or metal number; you will be sent a certificate of number assigning a number to your boat.

Putting the Number on Your Boat

It's up to you to paint or otherwise attach the number to each side of the boat's bow in characters at least three inches high and in a color contrasting to the background. No other number can be displayed on the bow of your boat. If you have a commercial fishing license, this must be placed "abaft the beam." Your boat's name may appear on the bow, however, in addition to your new number.

Along with this certificate which must be carried in the boat at all times, you will receive two informational pamphlets: The Coast Guard's "Pleasure Craft" and the Wildlife Commission's "Motorboat Owners Guide."

Men Stationed in North Carolina

The Soldiers and Sailors Relief Act of the United States apparently prevails. If your home state has an approved numbering system, you may register your boat in your home state and obtain your number from that state. However, if your home state does not have an approved system, you must register your boat in North Carolina.

All boats operating in North Carolina waters are subject to the laws and regulations of the North Carolina Boating Act, whether they have been registered in North Carolina or not.

Purpose of the Law

The law is designed to promote boating safety and for no other purpose. It is not a money-making proposition, say Wildlife officials, since funds received from boat registration must (by law) be spent only for boat law administration, enforcement and safety education. Therefore, all funds collected will go right back into the boating program.

For information regarding any questions regarding the law, please contact Mr. Paul S. Metters, Onslow County Wildlife Protector, P. O. Box 154, Jacksonville, N. C.; phone 9277.

Fleet Tourney

Kirwin in the final minutes of the game was matched by shots by Dan Cavallier, Bradshaw, Henry Latimer and Allen Johnson of the Marines to hold a 15-point lead at the final buzzer.

John Rich swept the boards for the Marines with 13 rebounds and was followed closely by teammate Bill Reeves, with 11.

AirLant Game

Art Andreoli tossed in 22 with 18 coming from the floor to lead the Marines over AirLant and to their second win of the Atlantic Fleet Tournament.

Jim Bettis was the big man for the Flyers of Norfolk with five field goals and seven free throws for a total of 18 marks.

Shots by Charlie Morrow and Derek Dickinson pushed the locals ahead, 7-2, but AirLant quickly caught up and took a one-point lead, 8-7, on buckets by Jim Bettis and Tom Johnson.

Art Andreoli hit two and John Rich one to give the Marines an 11-3 margin. AirLant then followed suit with baskets by Arnie Harris, Bill Caldwell and Jerry Butcher to tie the contest at 15-all.

With Andreoli and Morrow showing in nine tallies between them, the Marines again widened the gap, 26-17. AirLant's Bettis and Phil Wiggins each tossed in three, but the shots were off-set with scores by Dan Cavallier and Larry Bradshaw to assure the Marines of a 32-26 halftime lead.

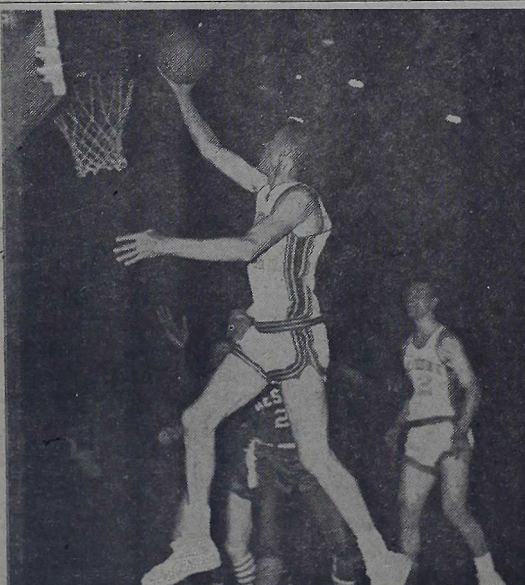

Bettis Opens Up Second Half

With Jim Bettis of AirLant hitting for six, the AirLant Flyers closed the gap and trailed by one with 12 minutes remaining, 41-40.

The third quarter rally was stopped by the locals with Art Andreoli dumping six points through the hoop and followed by Dickinson with seven to stretch the lead to 63-55.

AirLant's Wiggins dropped three free throws, but the effort was matched as again Andreoli hit five to keep the lead at 10, 70-60.

A tap-in by Rich off-set two free throws by AirLant's Butcher and the Marines held a 72-62 edge as the game ended.

LANKY REBOUNDER—Lejeune's Dick Reeves pulls one out of the basket to rob DesLant of another goal. Reeves' excellent defensive play and the high scoring of Derek Dickinson led the Marines to a 97-82 victory over DesLant in the first day of play of the Atlantic Fleet Tourney. (Photo by Act. Gysgt. Civil War Bomb Found In Swansboro, Rendered Safe By Force Troops Unit

Most accidents involving unexploded ordnance are the result of scavenger hunts or trespassing in dangerous firing areas. Some are due to what was intended to be harmless souvenir hunting. Others occur through plain accidental discovery. Such was the case of Charles Lee Phillips, captain of a dredging ship, who makes his home in nearby Swansboro. About seven years ago, while dredging in Norfolk Harbor, near the entrance to the Chesapeake Bay, Captain Phillips' crew pulled a heavy bomb-shaped hunk of well-rusted iron from the water.

Civil War

As expected, the bomb was determined to be of Civil War vintage. After a flurry of publicity, Captain Phillips returned to Swansboro with another of his many proudly-possessed souvenirs. For about four years the bomb lay decorating his yard along side Civil War cannonballs and other remnants of the captain's dredging experiences.

About three years ago, the bomb became a driveway ornament at Captain Phillips' sister-in-law's

Paradise Point To Host Reserve Units' Meeting

Camp Lejeune will host 18 reserve unit commanding officers and Inspector-Instructors at the pre-training conference to be held here March 3-4. The conference with Headquarters Marine Corps and reserve district representatives is in conjunction with the Annual Reserve Air-Ground Exercise that will be conducted at Camp Lejeune July 25-27. Also attending the conference at the Paradise Point Commissioned Officers Mess will be representatives from Marine Corps Base, Division, and Force Troops units, who will train the reserves during their annual two-week training. The reserve district representatives will be from the 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th and 9th Districts.

The Reserve Air-Ground Exercise will be the climax of the annual two-week active duty for training and will involve approximately 150 officers and 2,000 enlisted air-ground reserve personnel.

The mission of the conference is to acquaint those units participating in the exercise with the operation plans and prepare training schedules for the period of annual field training not used for the three-day exercise. Sub Unit No. 1, Reserve Liaison of Marine Corps Base will be host for the conference.

home, also in Swansboro. With the youngsters playing around the ugly missile, the families' suspicions arose and they contacted authorities here at Lejeune.

EOD Platoon

Representatives from the Force Troops Explosive Ordnance Disposal Platoon were sent to the Phillips home. Examination by the EOD team showed that the bomb might possibly explode. It was returned to Lejeune for detonation.

Technical Process

Through a technical process called "low-ordering", the EOD men set the bomb for an explosion about one-quarter of its potential explosive power.

The shell is now part of the EOD munitions museum.

23 Picked For WO Program, Training

Twenty-three Camp Lejeune Marines were among 223 selected for warrant officer in the second phase of the Corps' Fiscal Year 1960 LDO/WO program. All of those selected, except those who were former officers, will be ordered to Quantico immediately for a six-week screening course scheduled to convene Monday.

Latimer Will Visit Here March 11-16

The Honorable George W. Latimer, Associate Judge, U. S. Court of Military Appeals, will visit Camp Lejeune March 11 through 16. During his visit here Judge Latimer will address the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point Bar Association at an open meeting to be held at the Paradise Point Officers Club at 7 p.m. on March 14. This will mark the second visit by Judge Latimer since the forming of the bar association.

The subject of the judge's speech will be "Military Law and Trends of Interest to Unit Commanders." An invitation has been extended by the association to all officers to attend the meeting.

Judge Latimer was nominated by President Truman and confirmed as judge by the U. S. Senate in May, 1951. He has been on the Court of Military Appeals since its inception in June 1951. He was elected to the Supreme Court of the State of Utah in Nov., 1946, and sworn in as justice of that Court for a 10-year term in 1947. He resigned in June, 1951, to accept his present position.

A native of Salt Lake City, he received his law degree at the University of Utah and was a practicing attorney in that city for many years. A retired major general, he is a veteran of 30 years of Army and National Guard service.

Off-Duty Flying Club For Camp Lejeune Gets Green Light From Naval Operations

A Marine Corps Flying Club will be formed at Camp Lejeune if sufficient interest is exhibited, according to Base Bulletin 5760.

A similar club is also proposed for Marine Corps Air Facility personnel. A recent OPNAV instruction has authorized the establishment of Navy/Marine Corps Flying Clubs.

The clubs are solely an off-duty, voluntary participation program in the interest of welfare, recreation and morale. The clubs would permit individuals to obtain flight instruction leading to a private or higher license and would permit licensed pilots to fly Cub aircraft (cross-country type) all at a rate considerably below prevailing commercial figures.

It is initially planned to operate the Camp Lejeune club from a nearby civilian field. All active duty military personnel and their dependents are eligible to join. In addition, civilian employees and their dependents may also be members.

It is anticipated that membership fees would be in the vicinity of $50 each (payable over two adjacent paydays) and that dues would probably run about $3.00 a month. Dual instruction in Cub-type aircraft would be in the vicinity of six to seven dollars with solo prices approximately $2.50 per hour or less.

Only those individuals who are seriously interested in learning to fly or continuing to fly, and who are willing to work to support the club in attaining this goal are desired.

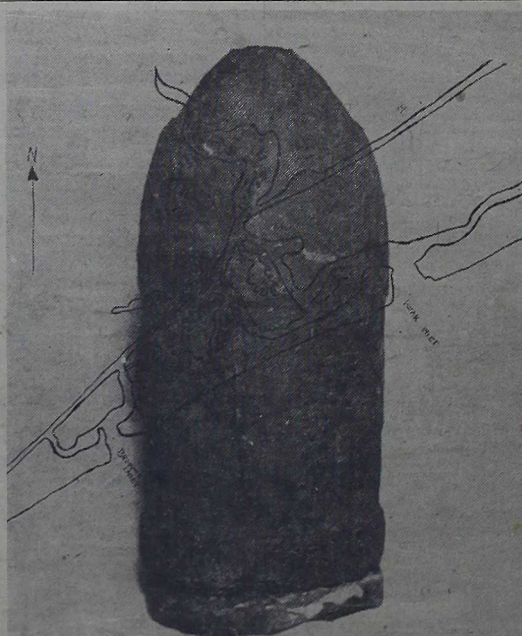

Those named from MAG-28 were: to Unit Supply Officer, Act. SSgt. Donald O. Dell; to Air Defense Control Officer, SSgt. James H. Walton; to Ground Control Approach Officer, Act. SSgt. Charles W. Paschen, and to Flight Equipment Officer, Act. SSgt. Charles J. Loof Jr.

Civil War Bomb Exploded By Ordnance Disposal Unit

Most accidents involving unexploded ordnance are the result of scavenger hunts or trespassing in dangerous firing areas. Some are due to what was intended to be harmless souvenir hunting. Others occur through plain accidental discovery. Such was the case of Charles Lee Phillips, captain of a dredging ship, who makes his home in nearby Swansboro. About seven years ago, while dredging in Norfolk Harbor, near the entrance to the Chesapeake Bay, Captain Phillips' crew pulled a heavy bomb-shaped hunk of well-rusted iron from the water.

For about four years the bomb lay decorating his yard along side Civil War cannonballs and other remnants of the captain's dredging experiences.

About three years ago, the bomb became a driveway ornament at Captain Phillips' sister-in-law's home, also in Swansboro. With the youngsters playing around the ugly missile, the families' suspicions arose and they contacted authorities here at Lejeune.

EOD Platoon

Representatives from the Force Troops Explosive Ordnance Disposal Platoon were sent to the Phillips home. Examination by the EOD team showed that the bomb might possibly explode. It was returned to Lejeune for detonation.

Laboratory analysis and research at the remotely situated EOD outpost uncovered these facts about the rusted relic: (1) It was of Civil War origin, fired from a shore-based "Parrot Siege Gun"; (2) It had a pressure cap firing device, making detonation possible by any sharp blow on its rounded nose; (3) It was 15" long, weighed 57½ pounds and was about the diameter of a football.

Technical Process

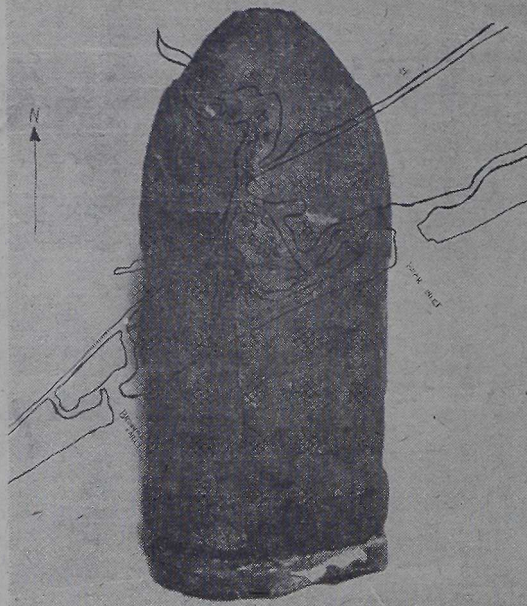

Through a technical process called "low-ordering", the EOD men set the bomb for an explosion about one-quarter of its potential explosive power. With equipment ready the team doubtfully set the bomb off. To the explosive experts' collective amazement, a tremendous blast ripped the area. A dud, almost 100 years old and covered with more than a quarter-inch of rust, had not lost any of its original power.

Yet, this bomb had lain at the bottom of Norfolk Harbor for nearly 100 years. A man had carried it in the trunk of his car over 200 miles of dangerous highway between Norfolk, Va., and Swansboro, N. C. The weapon had rested in his yard and a relative's yard for years. Children played near it, possibly kicked it.

But there's another side to this true story; the side that shows a man had the presence of mind to realize that an antiquated, corroded dud is potentially as dangerous as any other explosive. He was diligent enough to prove or disprove his suspicions, forsaking a coveted souvenir of one of history's great moments.

The shell is now part of the EOD munitions museum.

Red Cross Blood Bank To Be Established At Lejeune

The Camp Lejeune Chapter of the American Red Cross is establishing a blood bank for all personnel stationed at Camp Lejeune. The first donations will be received May 10 and 11 at the Red Cross Mobile-Blood Unit that will visit Lejeune once each quarter for a two-day stay. Headquarters, Marine Corps Base, will publish additional information including location of the mobile unit prior to each visit.

The purpose of the newly formed blood bank is to assure the military personnel of Camp Lejeune that blood bank support will be readily available to their immediate families without replacement and without cost. "Immediate families" include those persons eligible for "Q" allotments and is not limited to members living in the household of servicemen. It must be clearly understood, however, that this arrangement does not apply to hospitals which do not participate in the Red Cross Blood Program.

Regardless of whether or not a serviceman is able to donate blood himself, he is still eligible under this program by virtue of being stationed at Camp Lejeune where the program receives active support on a regular and continuing basis. This protection continues for six months after separation at, or transfer from, Camp Lejeune. This protection also covers the immediate family during the entire period of overseas duty.

To avail yourself of the assistance offered by this program, the serviceman may contact the Red Cross representative here, who will in turn arrange for the blood to be delivered to the needed locality. Should the serviceman not be able to make the arrangements, his family can do so through its local Red Cross office which will obtain confirmation from the Camp Lejeune representative.

The newly formed Red Cross Blood Bank is not designed to change or replace the present blood donor system of the Naval Hospital.

New 34-Pump Gas Station To Be Completed By Dec.

By the end of 1960, Camp Lejeune will be enjoying the facilities of a new 34-pump gas station which is now under construction.

Tentatively scheduled for completion by December 1, the station will provide access for simultaneous dispensing of gasoline to vehicles.

Buildings

Located just off Holcomb Blvd. across from the main Post Exchange, the area is visible to passers-by who have witnessed the progress of construction during the past few months. To date, all buildings are up and roofing is being completed. All equipment including gas pumps are ready to be installed within a few weeks. "Progress at this stage is very satisfactory," reports Mr. H. H. Williams, Construction Engineer of Public Works.

Final plans call for construction of eight pump islands with 34 individual gas dispensers, a gas building, a sales and storage building and two shop buildings.

Services

In addition to selling gasoline the station will offer auto repairs, wheel alignment and balancing, tire changing, undercoating, auto washing and lubricating facilities. The sales and storage building will also house the manager's office and an accessory shop.

The station is being constructed by King-Hunter, Inc., of Greensboro. Commander Norman C. Haney is resident officer in charge of construction.

PROGRESS—The new 34-pump gas station now being constructed at Camp Lejeune is tentatively scheduled to be completed by Dec. 1 of this year. The station will be able to accommodate 32 cars simultaneously. Roofing is being completed on all of the buildings and the new gas pumps are ready to be installed. (Photo by Lance Cpl. L. T. McClain)

KINSTON — The club is located some 50 miles north of Lejeune on Hwy. 258 and is open Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. Friday hours: 7-11 p.m.; Saturday: 9 a.m.-11 p.m.; and Sunday: 9 a.m.-9:30 p.m. Regular Sunday feature: "Snack Before Going Back" at 5:30 p.m.

Servicemen are invited to spend the night at the center. Cots are rented for 50 cents, including bedding and morning coffee and sweet rolls. An informal dance is held each Saturday evening.

EMERGENCY — HM1 W. H. Russell, Medical Department Chief of the Day, receives a call from a trailer park in regards to an emergency case.

IN TWO MINUTES from the time the call is received a corpsman, driver and a corpswave are out of the building and on their way to the trailer park. Pictured are HN Ned Randall and HN Lois Tavares.

Medical Department Duty Watch Is Ready For Any Type Of Emergency

The Medical Department duty watch, located in building 15, receives an average of five emergency calls each day. These include pregnancies, auto accident victims, epileptics, diabetics, heart attacks and accidents among children such as broken limbs or obstructions caused from swallowing various objects.

Seventeen people comprise the duty watch. A doctor is on stand-by at all times. The duty watch is headed by the Chief of the Day assisted by the Mate of the Day. Two men are on duty in the pharmacy and laboratory and five are on stand-by in the treatment room.

Corpswave

An X-ray technician is always on call and one corpsman is on duty at the Post Brig. There are two drivers responsible for the ambulances and one duty Corpswave who accompanies all calls involving dependent women or children.

When an emergency call is received, the name of the person calling, their location and the type of emergency involved is noted. The Chief of the Day then dispatches an ambulance and a Corpsman, and a Corpswave if women or children are involved.

EMERGENCY CALLS MAY BE MADE BY CALLING 7-3211 AT ANY TIME OF THE DAY OR NIGHT.

Two Minutes

From the time the call is received until the personnel are up and out of the building, only two minutes have elapsed. During night hours when personnel are sleeping, five minutes is the maximum time for them to be out of the building.

The ambulances usually take care of all calls from dependents within a 50-mile radius of Camp Lejeune, although if necessary they do travel farther.

Treatment

If the patient can be treated at building 15, they are taken there; otherwise they are brought to the U. S. Naval Hospital for treatment.

In addition to the many emergency runs, many minor accident injuries occurring around the base are treated throughout the night.

REMOVING THE PATIENT from the ambulance at Bldg. 15 are the driver, Act. Sgt. N. E. Shai and HN Ned Randall. Corpswave Lois Tavares assists.

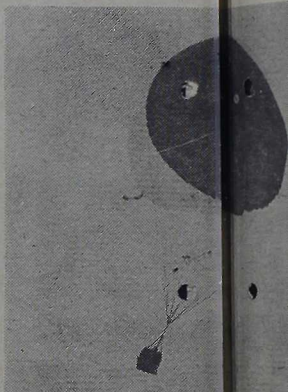

TREATMENT—HN Ned Randall and HN Lois Tavares prepare the patient for examination by the duty doctor.

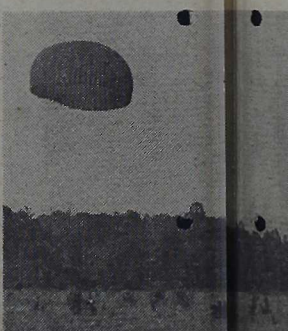

A CUP OF COFFEE and a cigarette help to relax the "medics" after a strenuous emergency run. The medical department averages about five such calls each night.

Locals Slip Into Semi-Finals Of Atlantic Fleet Tournament

After splitting a two-game series with Parris Island, 94-85 and 81-86 last week, and assuring themselves of a second place berth in the East Coast All-Marine Conference, the locals traveled to Cherry Point where they dropped DesLant, 97-82, and AirLant Tuesday, 72-62, to move into the semi-finals of the Atlantic Fleet Tourney. The locals played either MineLant or CruLant in the semi-finals last night, but due to the GLOBE deadline, the results will not be published this week. However, Wednesday night's game will be recapped in next week's edition along with the initial game if the locals move into the finals.

First Game

Derek Dickinson tossed in nine from the floor and seven from the foul line to pace the Marines in the scoring column of the first game with 25 markers.

Dickinson was followed by Art Andreoli, who stripped the nets for 23, while Ed Kirwen, 61" guard, led the Destroyers with 25 tallies.

The Marines took a 2-0 lead in the first minute of the game on free throws by Charlie Morrow and Bill Reeves. Mose Stokes of DesLant made it 2-1 on a free throw, but Art Andreoli dropped one to stretch the lead to 4-1, Marines.

Two buckets by DesLant's Rudy Milligan slid the Destroyers into the lead, 5-4, but Charlie Morrow sank a set shot from outside to again put the Marines in the lead.

DesLant's Ted Soper dropped a free throw to tie the game at 6-5, but the Destroyers soon fell behind on a drive and lay-up by Dickinson. Ed Kirwen of DesLant hit a jump shot to tie it up at 8-8.

Dickinson Cuts Loose

Derek Dickinson then paced the Marines with 13 tallies as they edged into a 28-14 lead with nine minutes remaining in the first half. With DesLant's Soper and Stokes hitting from the floor, the Destroyers cut the lead to 10 points. However, Andreoli and Bill Reeves off-set a two-point effort by Charlie Works of DesLant, with five tallies to extend the margin to 33-19 with seven minutes left.

Larry Bradshaw dropped a long shot for the Marines, but a barrage of baskets by DesLant again cut the lead to 10 points with five minutes remaining in the half.

With only two minutes to go in the first half, Kirwen of DesLant hit for six to cut the lead to 44-38, but a long shot by Bradshaw and a steal and shot by Henry Latimer pushed the Marines back into a 10-point halftime lead, 48-38.

Second Half

Kirwen opened up the scoring in the second half for DesLant with a jump shot, but John Rich, of the Marines, tapped one in to keep the 10-point advantage.

Baskets by Reeves, Andreoli and Dickinson were off-set by five points by DesLant's Charlie Works and four by Rudy Milligan to cut the lead to eight at 59-51.

With Andreoli pitching in 14 tallies and Dickinson hitting for eight, the Marines moved into a fourth quarter margin of 83-65.

Pups Lose To Swansboro In Onslow County Tourney

After defeating Dixon High School 55-50 and moving into the semi-finals of the Onslow County Cage Tournament, the Devilpups of Camp Lejeune High School lost Friday night to Swansboro High, thereby eliminating them from the tourney. The Camp Lejeune High's girls team was defeated by the lassies from Dixon, 34-28, to eliminate them in the first night of competition.

Scoring Ace Stopped

Mike Miller, Swansboro's scoring ace, was held to only 10 tallies during the crucial game as Wiggins took the game's scoring honors for the victors with 22 points.

Lewis Boynton led the Pups in the scoring department with 16 tallies and was followed by Al Everett with 11.

Trailing only by one point at the first quarter, the Pups scored basket for basket with the halftime score hitting 22-25, Swansboro.

Pups Outscored

Taking the floor at the beginning of the second half, the fired-up Swansboro team outscored the Devilpups 24-19 in the third period and 17-6 in the final period to coast to a 66-47 victory.

Shots from the floor meant the difference in the ball game as both teams hit for 17 markers from the free-throw line.

Local Cagers Win In Final Home Series

Lejeune's Art Andreoli led the locals to a twin-victory over the Marine Corps Supply Center, Albany, last Monday and Tuesday nights at Goettge Memorial Field House.

Andreoli scored 33 and 29 points, respectively, for a total of 67 tallies as the Marines downed the visitors 109-79 and 102-80, to boost their East Coast All-Marine Conference record to 8-6.

Ange Cuttaia, 6'2" Albany center, was high scorer for the quintet with six field goals and eight free tosses for a total of 20 markers.

With Andreoli scoring eight points in the first six minutes of the game, the locals moved into a 17-8 lead. Baskets by Rich, Derek Dickinson and Bill Reeves widened the margin to 27-10 before the visitors found the range and scored again.

Albany's Bill Morse hit for nine tallies and Cuttaia dropped another nine to cut the Lejeune lead to 11 points, 51-40, at halftime.

The locals ran wild in the final period, out-scoring the visitors 22-10, to coast to a 109-79 victory and their 24th of the season against only 13 losses.

Bill Reeves followed Andreoli in the scoring column with 20 points.

Final Home Game

Lejeune wound up their home season—as they took the final game from the visitors, 102-80. It was the final home game for the locals with only five games remaining.

Andreoli again led the scoring race for the locals with 29 points, and was closely followed by Hal Norton, who tossed in 28. Fred Brownlee took the scoring honors for Albany with 22.

The locals jumped into a 10-5 lead, but could not hold the visitors as they bounced back to tie the game at 15-15.

The first half saw the lead change hands several times, with the locals coming from five points behind to tie it up 47-47 at the half.

Lejeune took command in the final half, out-scoring Albany 60-33. It was Andreoli and Norton, basket for basket throughout the entire second half, scoring 40 points between them. Only during the third quarter did Albany manage to stay within sight of the locals before they began to tear up the hardwoods.

Fighters Thump Virginians; Ready For All-Marine Bout

The Camp Lejeune scrappers proved their early season win over the Quantico Boxing Team was no mishap as they downed the Leathernecks 9-3 last Thursday night at Goettge Memorial Field House. Bringing their record to seven wins against only two losses, the local scrappers were said to have used this match as a stepping stone to the All-Marine and Inter-service tournaments which are to be held at Camp Lejeune during the month of April.

"Our fighters looked outstanding," said Act. Sgt. Allen Elkins, Lejeune's assistant boxing coach, after the match. "They should look even better in the All-Marine." Elkins went on to say that he thought the locals had a very good chance of taking the All-Marine honors.

Leathernecks Outclassed

The Leathernecks were completely outclassed as the Marines scored on a knock-out, a TKO, four unanimous decisions, a split decision and two defaults.

Highlighting the night's action was Lejeune's standout light-welterweight Willie Davis as he scored a unanimous decision over Quantico's Jackie Gist. Davis closed in on Gist in the final round, scoring heavily to the head and body and countering effectively. A jarring right hook to the head put Gist in a rubbery state, but he managed to hold on until the bell.

Knockout

The night's only knockout was scored by Lejeune's Bobby Beckett over Heavyweight Charlie Ford. After dropping Ford to the canvas in the first round, Beckett overcame a crushing smash to the head, to score heavily, setting Ford up for a mule-like punch at two minutes and 35 seconds of the third round, putting the visitor down for the count.

Flyweight Rocky Fiorentino avenged an earlier loss at Quantico, after scoring heavily over Quantico's Nate Coleman, to gain a unanimous decision, while Lejeune's Christ Brown staged a third round comeback to score a unanimous decision over welterweight Booker Morrell.

After dropping Quantico's light-heavyweight Travis Tiller to the deck twice in the first round, Jack Williams smashed an effective one-two combination to Tiller's jaw to score a TKO at one minute and 18 seconds of the second round.

Lejeune's Henry Hooper scored a unanimous decision over middle-

Fifty-one lady golfers participated in the monthly Coastal Golf Association Tourney held at Paradise Point Golf Course on Feb. 16.

Ione Everett won the low gross "A" Flight, while Phyl Anderson was low net. Low putts was taken by Vickie McCuiston.

In the "B" Flight, Norma Williams was the low gross winner, followed by Genie June with low net. Least putts were tied by Dollie Dyer and Nita Page.

Ann Sherbondy took low gross in "C" Flight as low net went to Ann Jones. Dottie Trietel and Cathy Holden tied for least putts.

Low gross honors went to Jeanie Smith in "D" Flight, while Jo Sims and Mary Bramsford tied for low net. Betty Walker took least putts.

Federal Credit Union Makes 500th Loan

The Camp Lejeune Federal Credit Union has made its 500th loan since its opening. The loan, in the amount of $360, was given to a young sergeant at Hq. Bn., Marine Corps Base.

The union now has $92,000 on loan. This is an average of about $230 per loan. In all, the union has loaned over $114,000 since its inception. Assets now total $108,000.

Over $1,000 per day for the past two months has been deposited in the credit union, according to Act. MSgt. A. C. Everett, secretary-treasurer of the union. The share balance is now about $100,000.

Last year, 1959, the credit union paid a five percent dividend to its members.

Members are required to deposit at least $5 and pay a registration fee of 25 cents when joining the Credit Union. Additional savings may be made by either allotment or cash.

VOL. 16 CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1960 NO. 8

Judge Latimer Will Address Law Meeting

The Honorable George W. Latimer, Associate Judge, U. S. Court of Military Appeals, will visit Camp Lejeune March 11 through 16. During his visit here Judge Latimer will address the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point Bar Association at an open meeting to be held at the Paradise Point Officers Club at 7 p.m. on March 14. This will mark the second visit by Judge Latimer since the forming of the bar association.

The subject of the judge's speech will be "Military Law and Trends of Interest to Unit Commanders." An invitation has been extended by the association to all officers to attend the meeting.

Judge Latimer was nominated by President Truman and confirmed by the U. S. Senate in May, 1951. He has been on the Court of Military Appeals since its inception in June 1951. He was elected to the Supreme Court of the State of Utah in Nov., 1946, and sworn in as justice of that Court for a 10-year term in 1947. He resigned in June, 1951, to accept his present position.

A native of Salt Lake City, he received his law degree at the University of Utah and was a practicing attorney in that city for many years. A retired major general, he is a veteran of 30 years of Army and National Guard service.

Lejeune Will Host Reserve Unit Pre-Training Meeting

Camp Lejeune will host 18 reserve unit commanding officers and Inspector-Instructors at the pre-training conference to be held here March 3-4. The conference with Headquarters Marine Corps and reserve district representatives is in conjunction with the Annual Reserve Air-Ground Exercise that will be conducted at Camp Lejeune July 25-27. Also attending the conference at the Paradise Point Commissioned Officers Mess will be representatives from Marine Corps Base, Division, and Force Troops units, who will train the reserves during their annual two-week training. The reserve district representatives will be from the 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th and 9th districts.

The Reserve Air-Ground Exercise will be the climax of the annual two-week active duty for training and will involve approximately 150 officers and 2,000 enlisted air-ground reserve personnel.

The mission of the conference is to acquaint those units participating in the exercise with the operation plans and prepare training schedules for the period of annual field training not used for the three-day exercise. Sub Unit No. 1, Reserve Liaison of Marine Corps Base will be host for the conference.

Stereo Festival

Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians will appear in "Stereo Festival," an entirely new concept in live concert performance, at the Goettge Memorial Field House at 8 p.m., March 1. All military personnel, their dependents and guests, are invited. Admission for adults will be $1, and 25 cents for children.

'Mighty Mite' Delivered To Marine Corps

The Marine Corps last week accepted delivery of the first production model of 250 "Mighty Mite" quarter-ton vehicles scheduled for FMF field tests.

At a ceremony in Detroit Feb. 17, Brig. Gen. Frederick E. Leek, commander of Marine Air Reserve Training, accepted the first vehicle on behalf of the Commandant from officials of American Motors Corporation.

The 250 lightweight Mighty Mites will be issued to the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Marine Divisions for tactical evaluation under field conditions. Results of the evaluation will determine future Marine Corps use of the vehicle.

The Mighty Mite's curb weight is 1,750 pounds, which is more than 900 pounds lighter than the quarter-ton 4x4 vehicle now in use.

Research Lab Heat Stress Meeting Held

The Subcommittee on Thermal Factors in Environment, National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences, visited Camp Lejeune Friday and Saturday to discuss heat stress data collected by the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory.

Presentations

During the first evening of their visit the 12-man committee heard an address by Capt. G. L. Calvy, MC, USN, commanding officer of the lab and a presentation of heat stress data by Lt. Cmdr. J. J. Martorano, MSC, USN, head of the lab's physiology division.

Saturday morning the committee received an official welcome from Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, Base Commander. A description of Camp Lejeune by Colonels G. H. West, Base G-3, and A. F. Lucas, Base G-4, followed.

Climatic Chamber

Highlight of the morning session was the presentation of tentative plans for a climatic chamber and auxiliary equipment by Cmdr. E. B. Cook, MSC, USN, head of the lab's experimental biology department. If approved, funds will be allotted for the construction of a climatic chamber at the NMFL. This would permit the lab to conduct experiments and continue studies which were of necessity conducted at the University of North Carolina.

Evaluation

Following Commander Cook's address, the committee began its evaluation of the heat stress data and plans for the chamber.

Before departing from Camp Lejeune Saturday afternoon, several of the committee members toured the Quad-Command area by helicopter.

ASSISTANT COMMANDANT—Lt. Gen. John C. Munn, Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps, arrived Tuesday at the Marine Corps Air Facility for a one-day visit to Camp Lejeune. Meeting General Munn are Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, center, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division, and Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, right, commanding general, Marine Corps Base.

23 Quad-Command Marines Selected For Warrant Officer

Twenty-three Camp Lejeune Marines were among 223 selected for warrant officer in the second phase of the Corps' Fiscal Year 1960 LDO/WO program. All of those selected, except those who were former officers, will be ordered to Quantico immediately for a six-week screening course scheduled to convene Monday. Candidates who successfully complete the screening course at Quantico will be appointed to the grade of W-1. They will then be assigned to a 10-Week Warrant Officer Basic Course, also to be conducted at Quantico.

Purpose of the Basic Course will be to indoctrinate the new warrant officers on the duties of company grade officers, with emphasis on leadership, and to broaden their knowledge of general military subjects.

Marine Flying Clubs Will Be Formed Here

A Marine Corps Flying Club will be formed at Camp Lejeune if sufficient interest is exhibited, according to Base Bulletin 5760.

A similar club is also proposed for Marine Corps Air Facility personnel. A recent OPNAV instruction has authorized the establishment of Navy/Marine Corps Flying Clubs.

The clubs are solely an off-duty, voluntary participation program in the interest of welfare, recreation and morale. The clubs would permit individuals to obtain flight instruction leading to a private or higher license and would permit licensed pilots to fly Cub aircraft (cross-country type) all at a rate considerably below prevailing commercial figures.

It is initially planned to operate the Camp Lejeune club from a nearby civilian field. All active duty military personnel and their dependents are eligible to join. In addition, civilian employees and their dependents may also be members.

Membership

It is anticipated that membership fees would be in the vicinity of $50 each (payable over two adjacent paydays) and that dues would probably run about $3.00 a month. Dual instruction in Cub-type aircraft would be in the vicinity of six to seven dollars with solo prices approximately $2.50 per hour or less.

Only those individuals who are seriously interested in learning to fly or continuing to fly, and who are willing to work to support the club in attaining this goal are desired.

The 223 Marines named for appointment to warrant officer were the first selected under the new WO concept announced by Headquarters Marine Corps last year. They were chosen primarily from among Marines in the grades of E-4 and above, with six to eight years' service. Waivers were permitted in the case of particularly outstanding Marines with up to 10 years' service.

Almost 10 per cent of those selected were E-4's. Four were former officers and 13 were officers. The remainder were predominantly acting staff sergeants and acting gunnery sergeants with six to 10 years of service. Their average age was 27-28. In all, 1,147 nominations for WO were considered. Officers selected will be appointed to W-1 and will not be permitted to retain their present grades.

Objective of the new WO selection concept is to provide the Corps with a base of young, highly professional warrant officers, with many years of active service remaining, who can move up through the warrant grades in normal career advancement patterns. In addition, they will provide the principal base for future selection of LDO's.

Selections for WO under the new criteria were made primarily on the basis of growth potential, plus leadership ability and demonstrated proficiency or aptitude.

The Marines named for appointment to warrant officer were selected by the following units:

Hadnot Pt. Staff NCO Club Elects New Board President

First Sgt. D. G. "Smokey" Goodwin, a 2nd Division Marine with positive notions and varied experience, is the new president of the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Board of Governors. Sergeant Goodwin said the new board will dedicate themselves to promoting fellowship among Quad-Command Staff NCO's and supporting the club treasurer-manager. Another of his objectives is to let club members know what the Board of Governors are doing.

He disclosed that two of the board's current projects are putting the Staff NCO Beach Club in top shape for summer utilization and improving the mainside Stag Lounge.

Sergeant Goodwin said staff NCO's with ideas about the club should see their unit member of the Board of Governors, but he would be glad to talk to them personally if they desire. He can be contacted at Barracks 220 where he is first sergeant, H&S Co., 3rd Bn., Second Marines.

The Top's office hours at the Staff Club are from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Mondays, and from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays. These are the club's Happy Hours.

The new president is a 17-year veteran, whose Corps travels have taken him through two wars, 45 states and 23 foreign countries.

Goodwin was vice-president of the Parris Island Staff NCO Club in 1952, and "worked his way up through the ranks" to his present position at the Hadnot Point Club. He was elected to the board of governors here in 1958, vice-president in 1959, and president this year.

The following staff NCO's, elected by their respective organizations for one year, comprise the recently installed board of governors at Hadnot Point:

Act. GySgt. J. E. Lee, vice-president, Tenth Marines; GySgt. C. C. Hass, secretary, Hq. Bn., MCB; Act. SSgt. T. A. Morpheus, Hq. Bn., MCB; Act. MSgt. F. V. Falck, Hq. Bn., 2nd Division; GySgt. C. L. Gardner, Serv. Bn., 2nd Division; Act. MSgt. W. E. Watson, Second Marines; Act. MSgt. R. E. Worley, 2nd Recon Bn.; SSgt. L. Bradley Jr., 2nd Pioneer Bn.; Act. MSgt. J. F. Boyce, AT Bn.; Act. SSgt. W. Roland, Med. Bn.; GySgt. B. C. Embrey, MT Bn.; HMC C. L. Berling, USNH; SSgt. J. J. Jarabek, 2nd FAG; SSgt. J. T. Anderson, Sixth Marines; Act. SSgt. C. S. Baker Jr., Eighth Marines; Act. MSgt. L. B. Two Cited At MAG-26 Mast

Meritorious masts were awarded two staff NCO's in Marine Air Base Squadron-26 of Marine Aircraft Group-26 at Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, last week.

Act. MSgt. Edward Jenkins was awarded meritorious mast for "his assistance to the Mess Treasurer in operation of the special events sponsored by the Open Mess and events of the combined commands of Marine Aircraft Group-26 and Marine Corps Air Facility."

Act. GySgt. Robert Bull, who is to be transferred to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve later this month, "demonstrated the qualities of leadership that is characterized by the Marine Corps Staff Non-Commissioned Officer. His devotion to duty and knowledge of military occupational specialty along with extreme loyalty to his superiors are exemplary of the high standards of the Marine Corps."

MORE OR LESS

MORE OR LESS, this column will be devoted to things literary, musical, cultural and entertaining occurring at Camp Lejeune and throughout the Marine Corps. Of course, any criticism and/or advice will be welcomed.

WHILE MEDITATING upon the mysteries of the universe Sunday evening, my reverie was interrupted by the clear, swinging tones of a horn backed by rhythmic drums. I listened for a while and then went next door to the Force Troops Drum and Bugle Corps barracks. The outcome of this little investigation is a jam session to be held at the Central Area service club (topside) this Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. with yours truly as master of ceremonies.

All musicians, let me qualify this by saying that all modern jazz musicians, are invited to come and blow for a couple of hours. We hope to make this a weekly affair and if the trumpet of Kenny Lee and the drums of Lee Sullivan are any indication, I'm sure that all of the jazz devotees in this area will want to be present.

BOB JARVIS, local recording artist, informs me that his record, "Breaks of the Game," is number one on "Wax to Watch," the next step before entering the top hundred in the nation.

LATEST WAR MOVIE in production, "Beyond the Call," the story of Sgt. Guy Galbattan, Marine hero of the Korean War, will have Cpl. Jay Richards, a 3rd Division Marine, playing a Filipino taxi driver. Richards carries a special pass when he leaves the safety of his office... he has Presley sideburns and a large black mustache... this has caused considerable anguish among the officer personnel on Okinawa... Jeff Hunter will portray Galbattan and Vic Damone will also be starred in a non-singing role (he hopes it will do a "Sinatra" for him)... Sessue Hayakawa of "River Kwai" fame will again play a Japanese Commandant... location shooting is on Oahu and Okinawa.

THE WARINGS—Helping their dad, Fred Waring Sr., in his unusual musical show, "Stereo Festival" at the Goettge Memorial Field House Tuesday will be Fred Jr. and Dixie Waring. Both have been music students since childhood and are a definite asset to the show.

MA BARKER'S KILLER BROOD
The saga of Ma Barker and her sons who spread a trail of terror throughout the mid-west in the days of the syndicate, bootleg booze and wild living. (80 min.)

TARAWA BEACHHEAD
Realistic war action, with exciting stock footage expertly matched, permeates this story of a sergeant's bitter regard for a glory-seeking, heartless lieutenant with no consideration for his men. Kerwin Matthews as the sergeant and Ray Danton as the lieutenant, aided by the lovely Julie Adams, keep the atmosphere charged with suspense on the outcome of their relationship. (75 min.)

NATURE GIRL AND THE SLAVE
An intriguing title, but no further information available. (80 min.)

THE PURPLE GANG
Barry Sullivan plays the police officer needed to smash Detroit's faded Purple Gang, the Motor City juvenile mob which emerged as one of the country's most feared band of racketeers. Robert Blake and Elaine Edwards are also featured. (85 min.)

THE RACK
Paul Newman, Wendell Corey, Walter Pidgeon, Edmund O'Brien, Anne Francis and Lee Marvin star in this story of the court-martial of a captain in the American army, a prisoner of the Chinese for three years in Korea, who is found guilty on all but one of nine charges of collaborating with the enemy. (100 min.)

THE GIRLS ON THE LOOSE
The girls on the loose in this production are uneasy partners in a bank robbery, executed in something like the Brinks tradition, which gets the girls off to a promising start. A array of beauties comprise the cast. Mara Corday, Lita Milan, Barbara Bestock, Joyce Barker, Abby Dalton and Monica Henreid. (80 min.)

HOUND-DOG MAN
The deceptively simple, but attractive romance story line tells of one special hunting trip on which Stuart Whitman takes Fabian and the latter's little brother, Dennis Holmes. The upshot of their adventure is that Whitman gets himself snarled by a pretty but extremely strong-willed country girl, Carol Lynley. (87 min.)

WRECK OF THE MARY DEARE
The search of bounty, Charlton Heston boards a stricken freighter to find one still aboard, in something like the fellow, Gary Cooper, who claims to be the captain. What really happened on the Mary Deare and other intriguing questions are even more supplied in this steadily absorbing script. (105 min.)

THE MAN WHO UNDERSTOOD
Understood what? As no information is available, we will just have to wait to find out the mystery. (105 min.)

THE PUSHER
A realistic approach to the modern-day police problem of coping with drug addiction is handled dramatically in this production filmed on New York streets. Douglas F. Rodgers and Robert Lansing are cast as a police investigating duo assigned to the case of a narcotic addict's murder. (82 min.)

THAT NAUGHTY GIRL
Who else but Brigitte Bardot and what more need be said? With Brigitte, who relates about the plot except to say she plays the daughter of a night club impresario. (82 min.)

BLUE ANGEL
This is a re-telling of an old Marlene Dietrich movie that tells the story of Curt Jurgens, a middle-aged bachelor school teacher, in a small German town, who becomes deeply involved with May Britt, a dance-hall singer, marries her in a sudden awakening of emotional interest, and falls to ruin at her feet. (107 min.)

LABEL
With the well-known British star, Dirk Bogarde, playing third degree roles, a titled gentleman, a provincial actor and a mindless war casualty, and Olivia de Havilland as the American wife, this picture offers a revealing story of a man with a war-wrecked memory challenged as being an impostor. (101 min.)

THE BRIDGES AT TOKO-RI
Freddie March, William Holden, Grace Kelly and Mickey Rooney star in this exciting drama of the Korean war. (102 min.)

TERROR IS THE MAN
No information on this one, but it sounds like just the thing for mystery fans. (89 min.)

1001 ARABIAN NIGHTS
This is a rollicking tour de force for the beleaguered Mister McGee, the blustery UPA character who, for the first time, stars in his first full length movie as Abdul Aziz Magno in a potpourri of fairy tale characters who simply devotate the serenity of Old Baghdad. (70 min.)

THE THREAT
This melodrama about "threats" stars Virginia Grey and Michael O'Shea. No further information available. (90 min.)

CAREER
The deceit, love and heart-breaks in the struggle to the top of the world of show business is vividly portrayed by Dean Martin and Shirley MacLaine in this story of behind the scenes life in television. (105 min.)

Waring Group To Appear In 'Stereo' Show

Fred Waring Jr. and Dixie Waring will appear with their famous father, Fred Waring, and the Pennsylvanians in "Stereo Festival" at the Goettge Memorial Field House Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Dixie, Fred Sr.'s only daughter, fancies herself more a comedienne than a musician. She made her first public appearance in 1949 on her father's television program. She joined the Pennsylvanians in 1957 at the insistence of her brother. Although only in her third season with the group, she has been studying music since childhood.

Fred Jr. lends his talents to the Pennsylvanians as trombonist, banjo player, dancer and singer. He has been leading or playing in bands since high school, most of them jazz combos.

The first Marine Corps officer appointed, according to known existing records, was 1st Lt. John Trevitt, who reported for duty aboard the ship, Columbus, in November, 1775.

Air Lift Serves Hot Chow To Division Marines During 3-Day Field Problem

Hot chow "via air mail" and the night evacuation of a battalion by helicopter highlighted the 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, first field training exercise of 1960.

Headed by the battalion commander, Lt. Col. H. C. Reifel, the three-day problem began Feb. 9 when the Marines were lifted by helicopter from Hadnot Point to Ragged Point—near the New River Air Facility. In addition to troops with combat equipment, 81mm mortars, 106mm recoilless rifles mounted on mules, jeeps, and field supplies were included in the lift.

Although hot food on the menu and helicopter training is not so unusual—it's how the Leathernecks received the food and conducted the exercise that makes the news.

In the Feb. 10 air drop, pre-heated rations were parachuted from R4Q transport planes to approximately 900 Marines participating in the battalion exercise. The R4Q's are attached to the 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, N. C.

The meal consisted of small unit rations (5-in-1) rather than the usual "C" rations. Prepared in the Battalion's messhall at Hadnot Point, the food was placed in vacuum containers and turned over to the Division's air delivery platoon for parachute rigging.

These preparations completed, the food was loaded aboard transports at the Marine Corps Air Facility. From there, the morale-building treat of soup, beef, potatoes, peas, corn, cherries, bread and coffee was only minutes from the Marine's "dinner table." Only 30 minutes had elapsed, by actual timing from the time the chow left the air delivery platoon until it arrived in the field and was served.

A primary objective of the Battalion training was to determine its capability to operate independently as an effective tactical unit. It also afforded companies the opportunity of intensive field training at the company, platoon and squad level.

The weather was ideal for most of the problem. However, during the second night of the problem a sudden rain storm swept through the area adding much discomfort by flooding trails and foxholes.

"A" and "D" Companies alternated as aggressors in day and night attacking and defensive maneuvers. "D" Company broadened its training by using small boats to navigate Lewis Creek and encircle "D" Company in a night attack.

"B" and "C" Companies operated independently and engaged primarily in defensive training.

Headquarters and Service Company took up defensive positions around the Battalion command post while the Battalion staff was conducting a Command Post Exercise. "D" Company pulled a surprise night attack on the Battalion CP and claimed it destroyed or captured all personnel.

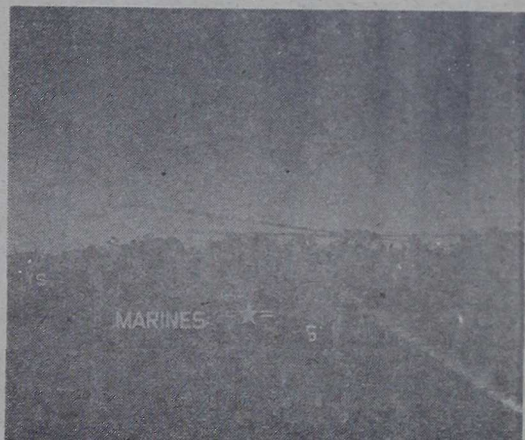

The third and final day, the rifle companies attacked and overran "moderately defended positions." Following this, "C" and "D" Companies set up defensive positions around the helicopter landing zone (HLZ) while "A" and "B" displaced through their lines to the HLZ to begin the night evacuation.

The night helicopter lift began at 5 p.m. when the Pathfinders landed and laid out the lights marking the landing strip and zones.

The first helicopter cleared the HLZ at 5:30 p.m. for landing zone 48 at Hadnot Point.

The final "chopper" operating from Marine Air Group 26 at New River Air Facility departed at 9:28 p.m., making a total of four hours and eight minutes to move the Battalion back to its home area.

According to an Eighth Marine observer, "It was the smoothest helicopter exercise, night or day, that we've experienced."

ALL ABOARD—An HUS 'copter takes on troops of the 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, in the initial flight of a battalion night evacuation. The workhorse "choppers"—from MAG-26—moved approximately 900 Marines and their gear from Ragged Point to Hadnot Point in four hours and eight minutes.

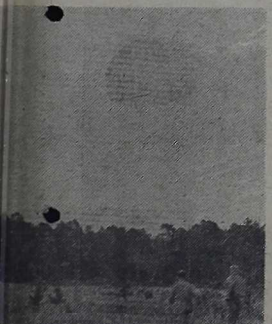

BOGGED DOWN—A communications jeep attached to "D" Co., 1st Bn., Eighth Marines, reached the point of no return along a muddy trail during the battalion field exercise at Ragged Point. A sudden rain storm turned the foxholes and trails into a quagmire.

Captain Beard Named Coach Of '60 Squad

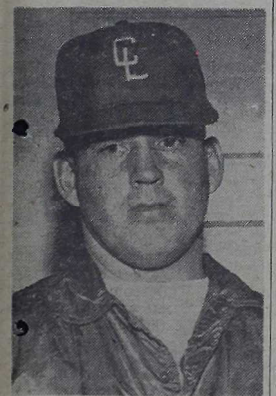

Capt. Dave Beard has been named to relieve Capt. Hal Glasgow as pilot of the 1960 Camp Lejeune baseball team. Coach Beard will take over the reins sometime during the first of March.

The new Lejeune mentor began his playing career in high school at Covington, Ohio, where his baseball playing earned him his first varsity letter. Captain Beard was also a letter man in football, track, and basketball.

Football Scholarship

Captain Beard was awarded a football scholarship to Hiedelburg College, in Tiffin, Ohio, where he played four years on the grid squad before entering the Marine Corps in November of 1954.

Upon arriving at Camp Lejeune last summer from the 3rd Division in Okinawa, the captain was assigned to the Infantry Training Regiment where he headed that unit's 1959 grid team.

Former diamond head, Hal Glasgow who guided the 1959 ball club to 26 wins against only 20 defeats and a Camp Lejeune "all-time" record, is due to be transferred to the Far East in the near future.

Eleven Returns

Eleven members of last year's ball club will be returning and should aid Captain Beard in forming the nucleus of his starting nine.

Among the returning pitchers are Bob Rumer, 18-3; Leroy Mason, 6-0; and Ron Beime, 4-1. Beime did not start pitching for the team as a regular until the season was nearing the end.

Also returning will be first baseman Hal Norton, whose slugging ability set numerous "all-time" Lejeune records during the 1959 season, and shortstop Charlie Armstrong, who batted at a .313 clip during last year's play.

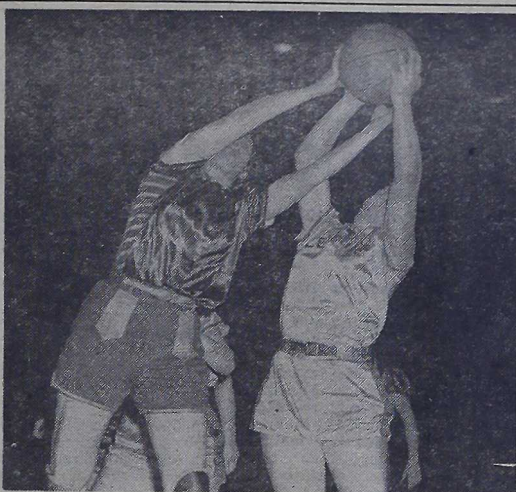

Those in the outfield returning are Sam Valentine with a blistering .350 batting average, Cliff Simpson and Dick Esau, both hitting at .292 and Earl Williams, who was utilized mostly as a pinch hitter during 1959. Williams is also a candidate for second base due to the loss of Dick Meade, second-sacker of last season.

Rounding out the list of those returning are catchers Barry Fuleton at .342 and Bobby Cooke, who is a member of The Giants organization.

Hot Corner Has Prospects

Captain Glasgow who is presently overseeing the diamond tryouts has stated he has numerous hopefuls for the hot corner at third base. Among these are Carl Cohen, former ball player from Boston University, Don Rottell from the University of North Carolina and St. Jackson.

Camp Lejeune will open up the 1960 season against East Carolina College of North Carolina with a three-game series on Mar. 18, 19 and 20.

Raiders Thrash Cherry Point Flyerettes In Doubleheader

The Red Raiders of Camp Lejeune swept a double-header from the Flyerettes of Cherry Point as they drubbed the lady Marines 50-35 and 64-36 at the field house last Friday and Saturday nights. Marie Paradis stripped the cords for seven from the floor and seven from the free-throw line for a total of 21 tallies, to lead the Maries to their first win of the series. The locals led the Flyerettes 23-18 in the first half, and outscored the visitors 27-17 in the final canto to secure their third victory in succession.

Jones was high scorer for the Woman Marines of Cherry Point with 20 tallies.

Marie Paradis scored 20 markers in the second game but her effort was second best to Connie Casey of the Raiders who tossed in 11 field goals and three free tosses for a total of 25 tallies.

Agnew led the scoring for the visitors from Cherry Point with 13 points.

The locals headed for the dressing room at the end of the first half leading the visitors 34-19 and returned to again turn on the pressure, hitting for 11 field goals and eight charity shots for a total of 30 points and their fourth consecutive win.

The Raiders now hold a season record of 11-7 with four games remaining to be played.

Sports In Short

Act. SSgt. Bob Wills

Former Marine lieutenant, but also the "Little General" of the Washington Redskins, Eddie Lebaron, has retired from pro football. "It wasn't an easy decision," Lebaron said, "but I've been with the Redskins for 10 years and figured the time had come to make the break." The 5'7" quarterback, smallest man in the National Football League, is expected to begin law practice with a firm in Midland, Texas.

Lebaron was the leading NFL passer in 1958, and has played in two pro bowl games. In 80 games with the Redskins Eddie has completed 538 out of 1,104 passes for 8,051 yards and has flipped for 57 touchdowns.

Ralph Guglielmi, former stand-out quarterback and All-America from Notre Dame is expected to take over Lebaron's position behind the center.

Lebaron received his law degree from George Washington University at Washington, D. C., and has just recently passed the bar examination.

Although Eddie has bowed out as a quarterback, he will still keep his hand in the game by scouting the Southwest for potential Redskins.

While a member of the Quantico eleven in 1950, Lebaron led the Leatherneck gridders to the All-Marine title and was selected as first string quarterback to the All-Marine team.

Golf Slices

Hampton Auld, golf pro at the Cape Fear Country Club carded a hole-in-one at the Camp Lejeune Golf Course, during a match between several Cape Fear businessmen and senior officers of Camp Lejeune.

The hole-in-one came on the par 3, 165-yard, 17th hole of the number one course. Auld's foursome consisted of Ducky Miller, Host pro, Lt. Col. Jack Jordan of Camp Lejeune, John Mowbray of Cape Fear and himself.

The hole-in-one did not stop the locals as they downed the Cape Fear golfers, 20-7.

Division Selects 12 Cagers To Play In FMF Tourney

Twelve Division All-Stars have been picked to represent the Division in the Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Tournament at Cherry Point commencing March 14. The 12-man team was selected by coaches of both Division intramural leagues, with Capt. R. Hout, coach of the runner-up 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, being named as head coach of the All-Star contingent. Nine of the 12 entrants were selected from the four teams which participated in the recent Division tournament with the runner-up 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, placing three men on the squad, 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, third place finishers in tournament proceedings placing a total of three, and Headquarters Battalion, Division champion, listing two men on the All-Star roster.

Leading the All-Star selections was Mike Marzano, high scoring Headquarters Battalion cager. Marzano took top scoring honors in the Division tournament, capturing both the individual high game and total point laurels. Marzano combines a deadly outside jump shot with an elusive driving style to pose a formidable scoring threat to any type of defense.

Byron Parris, the second entrant from the Headquarters Battalion contingent, provides the All-Star aggregation with a classy ball handler and good outside man. Although ball-handling and passing ability are his forte, Parrish's outside scoring punch provides the All-Stars with a consistent scoring threat.

Leading off the 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, contribution to the All-Star contingent, Harry Proctor provides the team with a good inside man. Along with working the post, Proctor is also a better-than-average rebounder.

High Scorer

Jim Robertson, the second 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, representative, adds a great deal more strength to the already potent offensive attack. Robertson turned in second high individual game in the tourney, tossing in a total of 33 points. Robertson scores the majority of his goals on driving layups.

The final 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, member of the squad, Ron Layton, is the number one play-maker on the squad. The diminutive guard also possesses the knack of pulling off several timely steals to break up an opponent's fast break attack.

Acting as assistant playing coach, Clint Parsons, 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, is another effective outside shot. Parsons also has the ability to play "position ball," accounting for a considerable number of rebounds per game. Parsons will run the team until Captain Hout assumes full duties after the conclusion of the Tri-Command tournament early in March.

Backboard Men

The remaining two 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, representatives are mainly backboard men, although both can score heavily when the occasion demands. "Red" Cleary and Joe Shannon sparked the 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, contingent to a third place finish in the recent Division tourney and were the mainstays in the Cannoneers' drive to the American League title during the regular season.

Rounding out the Division All-Star squad are Byron White, spring-footed forward for the 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines; Tom Maddison, outside shot specialist from the 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines; Tom Trench, towering Service Battalion center; and Bill Miller, aggressive 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, guard.

FMF Tournament

The Division All-Stars will journey to Cherry Point, N. C., to participate in the five-team tournament which gets under way on March 14. Other entrants in the annual tourney to date are: 2nd Marine Air Wing, Force Troops, Marine Air Group 32, Headquarters Bn., Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and the 2nd Division All-Stars.

weight James Kilgore as Fred Fogg won over Quantico's welterweight Don Granchey on a split decision.

Free Swinging Bout

The second bout of the evening was a free swinging event with Quantico's bantamweight Gerald Moore jarring Ronnie Cooper in the third round to take the bout on a unanimous decision.

Quantico's Tom Settles met lightweight Lucion Green with a barrage of devastating rights and lefts to the head, rendering Green helpless, and was awarded a TKO at two minutes and five seconds of the first round.

Middleweight Curt Holland scored effectively in the final round, but it was not enough to overcome the effective counterpunching by Quantico's Rice who was awarded a split decision.

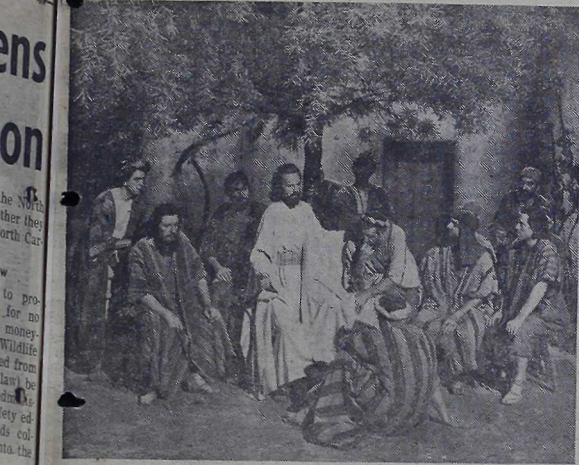

During extra matches of the 13-bout event and all boxers coming from Camp Lejeune, Leroy Metz scored a unanimous decision over flyweight Harry Hill, lightweight Ernest Marshall over Bill Hyson by a unanimous decision, and lightweight Lorenzo Hart over Walter Brown by a split decision.

Intermission entertainment was provided by Norris Holland and Carol Fusaro, both of the First Infantry Training Regiment, Camp Lejeune, in a "Blind Man's Bluff." With both men being unable to see, plenty of leather was thrown at the referee, the ropes and each other. A rousing cheer went from the nearly 600 fans as all judges scored the match a draw.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONTINGENT—Members of the Headquarters Battalion basketball team pose with Maj. Gen. J. P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division, after being presented with awards for their first place finish in the Division's annual basketball tournament. Headquarters Battalion won the title with an exciting 83-81 victory over 4th Bn., Tenth Marines. Both the Headquarters Battalion and the runner-up 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, teams will represent the Division in the

The most detailed depiction of the life of Christ ever filmed, just completed after four years in production, is being presented every week by the Marine Corps Air Facility Protestant Chapel on Sunday evenings at 7 p.m. The series started Jan. 24 and depicts 12 episodes. This Living Christ series was photographed in full color. Its cast includes more than 200 speaking parts. Never in the history of church teaching have people been offered the opportunity to get so complete a political, economic and religious background of the greatest story ever told.

Chaplain E. N. Sire, Lt., USN, Protestant chaplain at MCAF, New River, will elaborate on the cultural background of the times in connection with this film. He announced that everyone is invited to attend the film series.

"Discipleship," an inspiring full color motion picture portraying the Sermon on the Mount and the Lord's Prayer along with related events will be presented this Sunday at the chapel. This film also shows Jesus choosing the 12 whom He named Apostles, and a fascinating sequence shows Him curing a leper. "Discipleship" is the sixth movie in the series.

The six remaining films to be shown are "Return to Nazareth," "Conflict," "Fate of John the Baptist," "Retreat and Decision," "Triumph and Defeat," and "Crucifixion and Resurrection."

Activities Calendar

OWC—The members of Group III of the Officers Wives Club will hold a card party and luncheon on Wednesday, March 2. Bridge, canasta and poker tables are scheduled and the ladies extend a cordial invitation for everyone's attendance. During the party, prizes will be awarded. The card party will start at 10 a.m., followed by a social half-hour at 12:30 p.m. The luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. It is requested that every table bring its own playing cards. For reservations, call Mrs. Bets Morrison, Base extension 6-6162.

Group VIII
Group VIII of the Officers Wives Club now has 165 members and hopes to see as many of them as possible at the luncheon on Thursday, March 3, at 12:15 p.m. at the Paradise Point Club. The program will combine the talents of Mrs. Bea Black and Mrs. T. D. Johnson in a flower arranging lecture and demonstration. Anyone wanting to make reservations for the luncheon is asked to call one of the following before noon on Tuesday, March 1: Mrs. D. M. Hopkins, 6-6148; Mrs. H. H. Hawkins, 6-6420; Mrs. J. C. Cawthorn, Jax 7760; Mrs. J. S. Brooks, Jax 8597. Arrangements for the luncheon are being taken care of by Mrs. H. H. Hawkins and the wives of the 8th Communications Battalion.

Coffee 'n' Confusion
Junior wives Coffee 'n' Confusion have their next meeting scheduled for Tuesday, March 8, at 10 a.m. in the Paradise Room of the Paradise Point Club. Plans for the program are still in progress, but something of interest to all is assured.

International Wives
The International Wives Group was entertained recently with an unusually different Japanese program. Mrs. L. O. Fein, wife of Capt. L. O. Fein, sang three songs typical of her native country. The songs chosen by Mrs. Fein were "The Mountain," "The Flower" and "New Year's Song." The background and story of each song was narrated by Mrs. J. S. Perrin. Delicate art and Japanese objects were displayed with that "Oriental Touch" on a large table. Two artistic creations of Japanese flower arrangements were delightfully displayed by Mrs. L. J. Chapman and Mrs. O. H. Conoley. Mrs. F. J. Karch was in charge of the display table. Mrs. J. T. Adair, who recently returned from Japan, showed movies of the New Year's Festival and the Wedding Processional of the Prince.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mesdames J. T. Adair, W. H. Jung, L. O. Fein, J. S. Perrin, W. R. Holt, and F. J. Karch.

STAFF NCO WIVES—A meeting of the Staff NCO Wives Club was held at Tarawa Terrace last Thursday. Eight guests attending were Remona Baylas, Sally Kelly, Louise King, Bernice Eisenhower, Ronnie Larson, Jean Seil, Margie Brown and Mary Guabert.

Guest speakers at the meeting were Major Thompson and Act. GySgt. J. Tennison. They gave a short talk on the benefits of servicemen and their survivors. Various advantages at Camp Lejeune were also discussed.

Refreshments of chili and crackers, cupcakes, coffee, and tea were served.

The members will be entertained at a bridge party at the Naval Hospital Feb. 26.

Wives chosen to be models for the coming fashion show to be held April 4 at Marston Pavilion are Mrs. Pat Mote, Mrs. Pat Clukey, Mrs. Bobbie Shubert, Mrs. Chick Nicoletta, Mrs. Georgette Bohula, Mrs. Kitty Jenkins, Mrs. Sally Kristoff, Mrs. Hazel Sfranski, Mrs. Katherine Pearson, Mrs. Jan Patterson, Mrs. Phyllis Giesel, Mrs. Jonny Middlebrook, Mrs. Dolly Flick, Mrs. Betty Desjardins, Mrs. Isabelle Balbyga, Mrs. James Wedge, Mrs. Dale Dawson, Mrs. Mary Cowart, Mrs. Pat Grey, Mrs. Marie Davis, Mrs. Marion Kailer, Mrs. Helen Smith, and Mrs. Shirley Renner.

Plans for social activities and educational opportunity are under way and include the following: Bridge, Flower Arranging, Cake Decorating, Judo, Modern Dance, Swimming, Boating, Salad Making, and Card Parties. The club is trying to expand and vary its activities, so as to interest more wives to join. If there are any Staff NCO wives who are interested in joining the club, they are asked to come to the meetings. Also, any ideas of things they would like to see, program activities, etc., will be welcomed. Meetings are held at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center on the first and third Thursday of each month.

Anyone wishing a ride to the center should contact Mrs. McCarville at Jax 8350. Arrangements will be made to stop at the house to provide the necessary transportation.

EM WIVES—Geiger Enlisted Wives Club will hold a business meeting and social at the Community Building on Thursday, March 1. They will conduct a planning bee. Wives of enlisted men living at Geiger Trailer Park are cordially invited to join the club.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Meals can be fun to plan. When you see a busy week approaching, planning is even more fun—or maybe a necessity when those hectic days do arrive. A few suggestions on the subject of planning might be considered in the future.

To begin these series of hints, let's start off with something short and simple, suitable to any family during the course of an average week. Today, a lunch.

Try something that doesn't require too much time and effort, something that you can manage, yet pleasing and attractive. Color, texture and flavor must be considered, for you want to present an attractive meal as well as a delicious one.

How about this:
Canned vegetable soup, double-decker sandwiches, spiced fruit cocktail with chopped nuts, and beverage.

SITTING SERVICE

Members who plan on using the Paradise Point Sitting Service while attending either OWC, Junior Wives, or International Wives Clubs functions are requested to make reservations at least 24 hours in advance by calling 6-6723.

Current Fashion Collections Choose Orient This Spring

The foreign trend in interior design in the way of Oriental pattern seems to be influencing the fashions of the American woman. This spring, the height of style for fashion-conscious ladies of today will choose the coolie coats, the obisashes tied at the waist, and the favorite among U. S. designers, the kimono. The deep-set sleeves into dresses, coats, and suits have been chosen by these designers to be the smartest and latest of choice in the fashion world.

NELM Troops Storm Ashore Near Sardinia

Camp Lejeune-based Marines of the reinforced 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, wound up the first month of their Mediterranean cruise with a strenuous five-day amphibious training exercise on Sardinia last week.

Coming to the aid of a friendly nation, whose rich oil fields were threatened by an aggressor force, 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, was committed over the beach of Port Framazzu, Sardinia.

Reconnaissance

The landing was preceded by a midnight reconnaissance of an off-shore island and the landing beach by a platoon from 2nd Recon Battalion.

At H-hour minus one on D-day, 10, 9, helicopters of HMR-262 landed a reinforced company on high ground overlooking the beach.

Objectives

At H-hour other Leathernecks of the 1st Bn., Sixth Marines, under the command of Lt. Col. George Codrea, stormed ashore from the familiar amtracs and LCVP's. Moving quickly inland, the landing force had secured its objectives by H-hour plus six.

Main objective of the five-day problem was to test the landing plans and coordinate the fire of the supporting arms of the battalion landing team. All weapons of the battalion, from the M-1 rifle to the big eight-inch howitzer, were fired during the exercise.

Liberty

The landing followed five days of liberty in Southern France for the NELM Marines. Many took advantage of the time to enjoy a three-day ski trip to Allos, high in the French Alps, while others took a three-day tour of Nice. Also popular was a one-day tour of Arles and Avignon where the Marines viewed the ruins of the Roman Empire in France and the place occupied by the Popes while in exile.

Currently the touring Marines are enjoying a well-earned six days of liberty and rest at Palermo, Sicily.

American Red Cross Fund Drive To Begin March 1st

A month-long American National Red Cross fund-raising drive will officially start at Camp Lejeune Tuesday. Similar Red Cross drives are under way at most military establishments throughout the world and are heartily supported by civilian and military leaders of our defense establishments.

A Chairmen's committee meeting will be held in Bldg. 50 next week. During the meeting, overall drive chairman Lt. Col. John A. Witherspoon will coordinate plans for the coming campaign, which will end March 31.

Chairmen Named

Unit co-chairmen of the drive are: Maj. Charles A. Cole Jr., MCB; Maj. Bruce W. Clark, 2nd Division; Lt. W. J. Clifford, USN, Force Troops; Capt. Robert A. Terry, MCAF; and Mr. Michael A. Califano, Civil Service Personnel. While no monetary quota will be established, the chairman and co-chairmen will seek 100 per cent participation.

Wednesday, March 2, is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of the Holy Season of Lent. Religious services will be observed in both the Protestant and Catholic Base Chapels.

Protestant

Devotions will be held in the Protestant Chapel from noon until 12:20 p.m. on Ash Wednesday. At 7:30 p.m., Chaplain C. J. Christensen will conduct Lutheran Communion.

Catholic

Ashes will be blessed and distributed at the Catholic Chapel during Ash Wednesday's 11:30 a.m. Mass. Ashes will also be distributed after the 5:45 p.m. Mass in the Catholic Chapel and Naval Hospital Chapel, and after the 7 p.m. services in the Catholic Chapel. train trip to Yemassee, S. C., and a civilian's first reactions to training at the "Island" are familiar to most Marines. He describes the "DT" as looking "like any other human being except that you hear that he acts like Captain Ahab and we're all Moby Dicks."

"He makes you feel low enough so you'll try to raise up above everyone else and do everything to the best of your ability."

Pfc Graduate

Cahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Cahill, 16 Belgrade Ave., Clifton, N. J., entered the Marine Corps last September. He was one of a half-dozen recruits in his platoon to be graduated as a Pfc.

A "college man," Cahill started out in the newspaper business as a "proof-runner" and copy boy at 14, advanced to cub reporter at 16, and finally a reporter at 18. He attended both Seton Hall Preparatory School at South Orange and Seton Hall University in Paterson, before joining the Marine Corps.

After ITR, reporter Cahill fills that capacity officially for the Marine Corps. He will be assigned a 4300 MOS (Press Information Man) and will be transferred to Marine Aircraft Group-26 at the New River Air Facility.

Installment Buying Can Be Disastrous

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two articles on installment buying, prepared by Capt. J. B. Peck Jr., Legal Assistance Officer.)

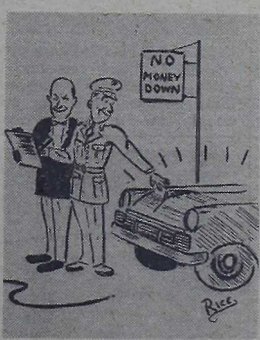

It is almost always cheaper to pay cash than to buy on the installment plan. Yet nearly everybody at one time or another finds it necessary to obtain credit to purchase a car or a refrigerator, and even less expensive items as well. There are certain things you should know, however, when you buy on credit.

The installment plan is the commonest way of buying on credit. Suppose you buy a stove—although any other piece of durable merchandise would be as good an illustration. You make a down payment, sign various papers, and get possession of the stove. The papers you are asked to sign may include a conditional sale contract, a promissory note and other legally binding papers. There is a lot of printing on them and every word is important. In general, the law holds you to what you sign and presumes that you know what you are signing. You can't afford not to know.

In most states nearly every installment purchase involves a conditional sales contract—whether or not it is called by that name. The word "conditional" indicates that the sale is not complete until payment has been made in full. Though you get possession of the stove, "title" remains with the seller until the last installment has been paid. This is his security for the credit extended. If you fail to make any payment when due, no matter what the reason, the seller (or finance company to which he has sold his rights) may repossess the stove, and ordinarily you forfeit all payments which you have made up to that time. This is so in most states no matter how close you may have come to completing the payments.

The contract may allow the seller or (finance company) to resell the stove, apply what he gets from the resale to the cost of repossessing and selling, and hold you for the balance of the price you originally agreed to pay, even though you no longer have the stove. Payments you have already made plus the net proceeds from resale will reduce the amount you owe.

Though the conditional sale contract itself contains your promise to pay the installments of the purchase price, you are usually required to sign also a separate or detachable "note," repeating your promise to pay. This note may be transferred by the seller to a finance company in such a way that the finance company can collect the price from you even though the stove turns out to be defective or otherwise differs from what the seller told you that it would be.

The note usually provides that upon default in paying any installment, the entire balance may be immediately due and payable. The note usually does not give you the right to save finance charges in advance of the date due.

The conditional sale contract or the "note," or both, usually contain a clause permitting judgment to be entered against you in court for the unpaid balance of the purchase price. This judgment may be entered without your having been served with a summons or otherwise given notice, and without any hearing or trial whatever. The language of such a clause authorizes any attorney to "confess" judgment in your name not only for the amount of your obligations, but ordinarily for attorneys' fees and costs of collection as well. Collection by this method will usually add $15 to any bill, no matter how small, and may add more than $100, depending upon the amount of the unpaid balance of the note or contract.

Sometimes such clauses authorize the confession of judgment against you only after your failure to make a payment when due. Often they authorize it at any time after you sign, even before any installment is due. The confession of judgment clause is not required to be on a separate sheet of paper or separately signed. Only by reading carefully the conditional sale contract and note can you determine whether such a clause is included and what it provides.

Next week's article on Installment Buying will discuss how the seller enforces collection and the alternatives to installment buying.

At Pohang, Korea, before an estimated 200 persons, Mr. P. H. Shinicky, chairman of Korea's National Assembly, dedicated a memorial erected by the people of Korea honoring the "men of the 1st Marine Air Wing who gave their lives in defense of the Republic of Korea," on May 2, 1953.
