NELM Troops Due To Return Sunday

The reinforced 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, returns Sunday after having completed an extensive six-month training and good-will tour of duty in the Mediterranean. Commanding the reinforced 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, will be Maj. G. R. Hershey, due to the hospitalization of Lt. Col. J. F. Paul in Spain. While in that area the Leathernecks served as the amphibious striking arm of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, participating in five landing exercises that demonstrated to the NATO allies the United States' determination to help preserve the peace in that part of the world.

Division Tops Fourth Week Of Fund Drive

The Tenth Marines are the third Quad-Command unit to reach 100 percent contribution in the 1960 Federal Services Campaign. Following closely behind was 2nd Reconnaissance Bn., who also donated 100 percent.

Three Division units are now over 100 percent. The first was the Sixth Marines followed by Force Troops' 2nd Separate Surgical Co., the second Quad-Command unit to reach 100 percent.

The 2nd Division leads all Quad-Command units with a total of 49 percent participation in the drive. Force Troops has donated 25 percent and Marine Corps Base has recorded a 21 percent donation. Twenty percent was turned in by the Marine Corps Air Facility and the civilian employees have collected 17 percent.

Percentages in the drive, which is scheduled to run until Feb. 19, are computed on an individual contribution basis rather than on monetary quotas.

The tour, aboard ships of Amphibious Squadron Six, visited ports-of-call in seven different countries and possessions. These included the British Crown Colony at Gibraltar; France—along the Riviera; Monaco; Italy, including the cities of Genoa, Naples and Venice; the major Isles of Greece and the port city of Athens—Piraeus; Izmir and Dikili in Turkey and Barcelona, Valencia and Cadiz, Spain.

A notable first accomplished by the Battalion Landing Team was the initial use of Marine Corps troop-carrying helicopters in the Mediterranean area accompanying a unit throughout the operation.

Marine Corps Will Activate Missile Units

Less personnel turnover will allow the Marine Corps to activate its first Hawk missile battalion and reactivate two battalion landing teams by June 30. A slow-down in the turnover of enlisted Marines is the main reason why the Corps will be able to reactivate two of the six battalion landing teams it was forced to deactivate after last year's budget slashes. The turnover of enlisted Marines will drop from 40,000 this year to 25,000 men in 1961.

Through improved personnel management procedures, the Corps will transfer 500 men out of non-combat categories into Fleet Marine Force units.

Each of the battalion landing teams will have some 1800 men. One of the battalions will probably be reactivated in the 3rd Marine Division.

News For Troops

This week the GLOBE expands its service to Camp Lejeune by publishing, for the first time by any service weekly, a two-edition newspaper.

This is the TROOP EDITION. As you read this, married men and their wives and children are reading a new and different FAMILY EDITION.

The TROOP EDITION, aimed at meeting the reading interests of the thousands of unmarried men and women stationed on this Base, is being delivered as usual, but the number of copies going to each organization has been reduced, since this edition is intended for personnel in Barracks and BOQ's only. The FAMILY EDITION, also published today, is being delivered by mail to all Government rental housing and quarters. Married personnel who live off the Base in civilian housing can pick up the new FAMILY EDITION at various points throughout the reservation.

In publishing the two editions, prominent play will be given news and feature items which deal with subjects of interest to the readers of each edition. On other columns of this page, for example, appear stories on the return of the NELM troops, the appearance of the Harlem Globetrotters at the field house tonight and the upcoming appearance of Hazel Walker and her "Arkansas Travelers." Under the old system of a one-edition newspaper one of these stories would have been given less prominence and placed on an inside page in order to announce the observance of Children's Dental Health Week at Camp Lejeune. While only a small story on this subject appears in this edition (Page 2), it is given a lead-story play in this week's FAMILY EDITION.

That's the way the two-edition GLOBE works. Here you are, "troops," THIS IS YOUR NEWSPAPER. We hope to keep you informed and entertained with the stories which will appear in it. The GLOBE staff will be pleased to receive your suggestions or answer any questions you may have. Call 7-5522 or stop in at our Building 11 offices.

N. C. License Renewal Near

All Camp Lejeune personnel obtaining 1960 North Carolina license plates must report to the Provost Marshal's Office, Bldg. 37, with their new registration information. North Carolina's 1959 license plates will expire at midnight Feb. 15. This procedure pertains to both residents of this state and those out-of-staters who have their vehicle registered at PMO.

Tags are being issued to persons between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays at 2328 Onslow Dr., Jacksonville, or by mail until registration deadline.

Globetrotters Play Tonight, Arkansas Travelers Feb. 10

The incredible Harlem Globetrotters will play the San Francisco All-Nations tonight at 8 p.m. at the Goettge Memorial Field House. In addition to the deft ball-handling and comic antics, the program will also feature pre-game and half-time entertainment consisting of Dick Alberschardt, trampolinist; Guy Allan, batonist; Roy Foy, juggling unicyclist, and George Lee, equilibrist.

Now in their thirty-third consecutive season of sensation creating in every part of the world, the Globetrotters, headed by owner-manager Abe Saperstein, boast a record of 6,525 wins and only 303 defeats. This edition of the "Trotters" show is filled with great players, top showmen, masters of razzle-dazzle, passing, and ball-handling legdemain.

At GLOBE deadline, tickets for the Globetrotters game were sold out.

Arkansas Travelers

Hazel Walker's famed Arkansas Travelers will meet the Camp Lejeune Marines Feb. 10 at the Field House. The Travelers, an all-girl team, were organized in 1949 to provide entertainment, showmanship and top-notch basketball. Since that time, they have compiled a remarkable record, winning 201 and losing only 19 against some of the strongest male teams in the country.

Tickets may be purchased at the Goettge Memorial Field House, Marine Corps Exchange, Camp Theatre, Drive-In Theatre, Officers Club, Staff NCO Club, Marston Pavilion, or from unit special services offices. The public is invited to attend, and may purchase tickets from any of the above facilities.

Base Reenlistment Unit To Advise Subordinate Activity

A Base Reenlistment Office has been established within the Base Adjutant section to assist in conducting the Base Reenlistment and Command Recruiting program. The objective of the program is to induce the maximum number of desirable individuals to reenlist or extend their enlistment in the Marine Corps and to aid the Marine Corps Recruiting Service in the procurement of volunteer applicants.

Capt. F. M. Soltys has been assigned as Base Reenlistment Officer and Command Recruiting Coordinator. The Base Career Appraisal and Counseling Non-Commissioned Officers are Act. MSgt. H. Wooldridge and Act. SSgt. J. W.

Pratte. The office is temporarily located in building 50.

The reenlistment unit will consist of supervisory, advisory, and training functions and will assist lower echelons in the operation of their reenlistment programs. They will also distribute reenlistment aids to subordinate activities and schedule and present career presentations to all Marines whose current enlistment will expire within seven months.

The majority of the work connected with the reenlistment program, such as conducting personal interviews, individual counseling on career aspects and explaining available options will be conducted on battalion and company levels.

Oldest Living Marine Corps Officer Dies

Funeral services with full military honors for retired Maj. Gen. Randolph C. Berkeley, who died Sunday will be held today at the Ft. Meyers, Va., Chapel at 10 a.m. Burial at Arlington National cemetery will follow.

General Berkeley, who at 85, was the oldest living Marine Corps officer, succumbed of a heart ailment at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Beaufort, S. C.

Medal Of Honor

Winner of the Medal of Honor in 1914, for heroism at Vera Cruz, Mexico, General Berkeley retired from the Marine Corps in 1939 after 40 years' service. He is survived by two Marine sons, Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C., and Col. Randolph C. Berkeley, Jr., who is stationed at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C.

General Berkeley was commissioned in 1898 during the Spanish-American War and saw varied service at sea and in the Philippines, Cuba, Panama, China, Haiti, Nicaragua and Guam. In addition to the Medal of Honor he held the Navy Cross and Navy Distinguished Service Medal for combat at Nicaragua in the 1920's.

As a major, General Berkeley commanded the 1st Bn. of the 2nd Advance Base Regiment, where he won the nation's highest decoration at Vera Cruz. His commendation reads in part: "his cool judgment and courage and his skill in handling his men in encountering machine-gun and rifle fire . . . accounts for the small percentage of losses of Marines under his command."

In addition to service at posts in the United States, the general served at a variety of assignments at sea and abroad both before and after the action at Vera Cruz.

He was promoted to brigadier general in 1930 and during the '30's commanded the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., the 2nd Marine Brigade at Nicaragua, and the Marine Barracks, Parris Island, S. C.

Last Assignment

His last assignment before retiring was President of the Marine Corps Examining and Retiring Board at Headquarters, Marine Corps.

General Berkeley was born Jan. 9, 1875 at Staunton, Va. He was an 1891 graduate of the Potomac Academy at Alexandria, Va.

Reenlistment Unit Advises

In addition, the base reenlistment office will maintain reenlistment data and submit reports to higher headquarters, conduct interviews upon request of lower echelon commanders, interview all personnel planning to leave the Marine Corps, conduct a semi-annual inspection of the reenlistment program of each battalion and company within Marine Corps Base and advise units of discrepancies noted in their program.

Personnel selected for assignment to duty with the reenlistment program will receive training in career incentives and other aspects of the program by scheduling conferences with the Base Reenlistment unit.

Unusual Assignment

One of the most unusual and difficult assignments ever given U. S. Marines was to transport several lions from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, to the sea coast. The lions were to be presented to President Theodore Roosevelt as a gift from Emperor Menelik.

LEATHERNECK SERGEANT MAJOR—William A. Umlauf, a veteran of 30 years' Corps service, gives an "old salt's" explanation on correspondence to one of the Corps' "youngsters" in his Tenth Marines office. Spanish Males Often Voice Appreciation Of Senioritas

It is difficult to find a "typical Spaniard." The Andalucian from the south differs greatly from his fellow Gallego in the north. However, all have certain basic traits—pride, stubbornness, religion, love of bullfights, sense of humor, moodiness. One characteristic of the Spanish people is their complete loyalty and devoutness to the Roman Catholic religion, which is the state religion. This does not mean that there is a lack of religious tolerance in Spain, but people who worship in another faith are prohibited to proselyte or distribute verbal or written literature which might weaken the position of the Catholic Church.

A strong trait stemming from religious training is that of family unity. This also extends over into the Spanish respect for national authority. Family training molds the Spanish attitude towards womanhood. All women in Spain, young and old alike, immediately have the respect and indulgence of the Spanish male. Quite frequently the Spanish male will voice his appreciation of passing senioritas (and senioras) publicly and it is accepted with a complete air of nonchalance.

Spanish chivalry is not limited to women alone. Once a Spaniard has given his friendship, he will support and defend his friends whether they be right or wrong. However, friendship is obtained slowly in Spain, and not with the customary direct, businesslike approach characteristic of the American.

Madrid, the capital city, is a modern, cosmopolitan European capital, and the seat of Spanish culture. It is a city of contrast with the old blending with the new; tall modern structures stand beside ancient ones; narrow, winding cobblestoned streets lead into broad, traffic-laden boulevards.

Although it is the newest of the major capitals in Europe, Madrid has a wealth to offer. Old Madrid, with its historic palaces, squares, museums, and its Rastro (the Spanish version of the Paris Flea Market) will interest the student of history, and the ardent sightseer; new Madrid, with its modern shopping center, its wide avenues, tree-lined promenades and sidewalk cafes will provide pleasant pastimes for those interested in modern living.

February 7-13 Is Proclaimed Dental Week

Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, signed a proclamation yesterday decreeing the week of Feb. 7-13 as National Children's Dental Health Week at Camp Lejeune.

While National Children's Dental Health week has been observed in the United States for the past 12 years, this will be the first time Camp Lejeune has actively participated in the program.

A group of base dental officers, headed by Capt. C. T. Pridgeon, USN, Base Dental Officer, initiated the program here and have mapped out a campaign designed to educate children and parents in dental health with emphasis on the prevention of tooth decay.

"We are doing this on our own," said Captain Pridgeon, "because we sincerely believe in the program. Just as preventative maintenance is important to motor transport and fire prevention is a mainstay of the fire department, so then is preventative dentistry one of the primary missions of good dental health."

Beginning Feb. 8, the base dental officers will descend on local schools where they are scheduled to speak to over 3,000 pupils. The lectures will include use of slides and three-color movies for children of various age groups. The doctors will carry with them large mock-ups of the human teeth along with giant-size, foot-long tooth brushes.

Veteran Sergeant Major Has Marine Emblem For Heart

Among the "old-timers" serving with the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, is the Tenth Marines' new sergeant major, Sgt. Maj. William A. Umlauf, a veteran of 30 years' active Marine Corps service. The sergeant major, known to many by his handle-bar mustache, reported to his new assignment earlier this month after having served at Marine Barracks, Kodiak, Alaska, for 18 months.

Prior to the tour in Alaska, however, the "old-timer" had served in almost every "clime and place" in the world. He is definitely proof of the famous slogan, "Join the Marines and See the World." During one tour of sea duty alone, aboard the USS Pittsburgh with the "Great White Fleet," the sergeant major said he traveled over 88,000 nautical miles.

Earlier, he had served aboard the USS Florida, his first assignment, and with the Sixth Marines at Quantico, Va., following his initial enlistment in the Marine Corps on April 1, 1921. And later, the sergeant major was assigned to the 1st and 2nd Marine Divisions: Marine Barracks, Greale Lakes, Ill.; Portsmouth, Va.; Treasure Island, Calif., and aboard the USS Juneau during the Korean War.

The 56-year-old Leatherneck's yen for the Marine Corps appeared early when he tried to enlist at the age of 13 years. At that time, he recalls, the recruiter told him, "We like you, Son, but why not go home and wait awhile?" With his spirit somewhat dampened, Umlauf was still determined to get his share of worldly travels. The result came when he joined the merchant fleet, serving aboard various vessels until he was 17 years old and eligible for the Corps.

At the age of 17, he went back to the recruiter in St. Louis, Mo., and enlisted for four years. "In those days," the sergeant major said, "The boots took salt water baths and washed clothes every day at noon time." The uniform worn was either khaki or greens.

Following boot camp, he was transferred to the USS Florida at Portsmouth, Va. He particularly remembers this tour because the ship burned 22 tons of coal every two weeks. "Everyone except the band which played for the detail," Umlauf stated, "participated in coaling the ship. We hauled coal wearing dress blues in winter and khaki in the summer."

With 15 months' sea duty behind him, the sergeant major was transferred to the Sixth Marines, located at Quantico, Va., at the time. There he served as orderly for Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler and was with the Sixth when that unit marched from Quantico to Gettysburg, Pa., and return in commemoration of the famous Civil War battle.

Having a fair share of gravel-pounding, Sgt. Major Umlauf volunteered for sea duty and was assigned to the USS Pittsburgh, another coal-burner. This tour, a favorite among many, lasted four years during which he traveled extensively in the northern Atlantic visiting practically every European port on the map. In the Mediterranean he was with the expeditionary force sent to Turkey to protect American interests during the early '20's.

While in the Sea of Marmora, off Turkey, Umlauf and his gun crew set a Navy record with his three-inch gun. The crew fired eight shots on the target in 58 seconds at 1,700 yards to win bonuses for each crew member amounting to 20 dollars per month for a year.

Returning to the U. S. in 1926, the sergeant major served at Great Lakes for two years and at Quantico for three. Following Quantico, Umlauf was discharged and remained a civilian from 1931 to 1941.

The outbreak of World War II found the "old salt" back in the Corps. In 1942 the sergeant major participated in the Guadalcanal campaign, after which he returned to the States, serving successively at Glenview, Ill., Treasure Island, 1st Marine Division, and Pearl Harbor.

Aboard the USS Juneau, in 1950, he was first sergeant of the Marine Detachment when that ship fired the first round in the Korean War on June 29, 1950.

Volunteering for duty in Alaska, Umlauf was transferred to Kodiak in 1958. While there, Sgt. Major Umlauf claims he flew over the North Pole while the USS Nautilus was underneath. He also claims the distinction of being the first sergeant major to have served in Alaska since it achieved statehood.

The sergeant major has his heart in the Marine Corps. To prove it, he carried an X-ray picture plainly showing the eagle, globe and anchor emblem where his heart should be. He smilingly concluded, "I plan to make a career of the Marine Corps . . . if I can ever become accustomed to these uniforms."

Division, now at Okinawa. The other will probably be assigned to the 2nd Division.

The Corps will activate two Hawk missile units (Light AA Missile Battalions) during fiscal year 1961. Each will have some 500 men.

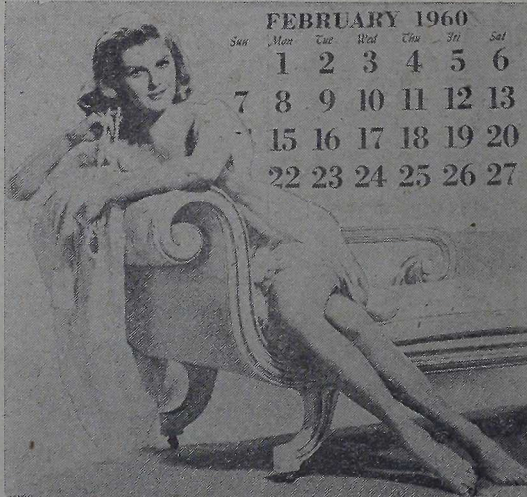

Hawk Battalion

The first Hawk battalion will be activated at 29 Palms, Calif. The second will be assigned to Force Troops, Atlantic, at Camp Lejeune.

The Hawk missile is designed specifically for use against low altitude targets. The missile is about 16 feet long and 14 inches in diameter. It uses a solid fuel propellant.

Speed Zones

Commencing Monday, Feb. 8, school zones and crossings will be established in the vicinity of Stone Street, Tarawa Terrace and Midway Park Schools. All school zones and crossings will be marked and designated by signs. Speed limit in these zones and crossing areas will be 15 mph.

LOVER'S LEAP—Decorative Pat Blair hides the fact that 1960 is a Leap Year and February has 29 days. But our Calendar Girl, soon to be seen in "The Gazebo," is prettily revealing in other departments.

Children's Dental Health Week To Be Observed

Brig. Gen. Sidney S. Wade, commanding general, Marine Corps Base, signed a proclamation yesterday decreeing the week of Feb. 7-13 as National Children's Dental Health Week at Camp Lejeune.

In signing the proclamation, General Wade urged that "parents and children at this base join in the observance."

The proclamation emphasized that "health, appearance and personal well-being are greatly influenced by the condition of the teeth and mouth..."

While National Children's Dental

Health week has been observed in the United States for the past 12 years, this will be the first time Camp Lejeune has actively participated in the program.

A group of base dental officers, headed by Capt. C. T. Pridgeon, USN, Base Dental Officer, initiated the program here and have mapped out a campaign designed to educate children and parents in dental health with emphasis on the prevention of tooth decay.

"We are doing this on our own," said Captain Pridgeon, "because we sincerely believe in the program."

Just as preventative maintenance is important to motor transport and fire prevention is a mainstay of the fire department, so then is preventative dentistry one of the primary missions of good dental health."

Beginning Feb. 8, the base dental officers will descend on local schools where they are scheduled to speak to over 3,000 pupils. The lectures will include use of slides and three-color movies for children of various age groups. The doctors will carry with them large mock-ups of the human teeth along with giant-size, foot-long tooth brushes. These training aids will be utilized in teaching the pupils proper brushing methods and general good oral hygiene practices.

On Feb. 8, Cmdr. M. E. Naylor will deliver a series of lectures to the pupils of Stone Point school in both the morning and afternoon.

Capt. P. A. Moore will address the children of Tarawa Terrace School on the morning of Feb. 9, while Capt. C. T. Pridgeon speaks to the Camp Lejeune Junior and Senior High School classes throughout the day.

Midway School will be visited by Capt. L. Young during the morning of Feb. 10. In the afternoon he will lecture at the Holcomb school.

Over 600 pupils will be instructed in oral hygiene by Cmdr. H. P. Webre on Feb. 11 at the Infant of Prague School.

The morning of Feb. 12 will find Cmdr. Naylor speaking to the students of the Montford Point School.

An Editorial

For Mom, Dad, Kids

This week the GLOBE expands its service to Camp Lejeune by publishing, for the first time by any service weekly, a two-edition newspaper.

This is the FAMILY EDITION. As you read this, thousands of unmarried men in Lejeune barracks and BOQ's are reading a new and different TROOP EDITION.

Over 5,000 copies of the first FAMILY EDITION, which rolled off the Mount Olive Tribune press late last night, are now being delivered by mailmen to all government rental housing and quarters on the Camp reservation. Other copies have been dropped off at convenient points throughout the Camp where they may be picked up by personnel living in civilian housing. Since a copy is being mailed to them, occupants of government rental housing are asked to refrain from taking copies of the

In publishing the two editions, prominent play will be given to news and feature items which deal with subjects of interest to the readers of each edition. Thus, in the FAMILY EDITION, more coverage of school news, wives activities and social functions will be featured. This information will be eliminated or greatly reduced in the TROOP EDITION.

That's the way the two-edition GLOBE works. Here you are, folks, the FAMILY EDITION—YOUR newspaper. Your continued support, your suggestions for improvement will be appreciated.

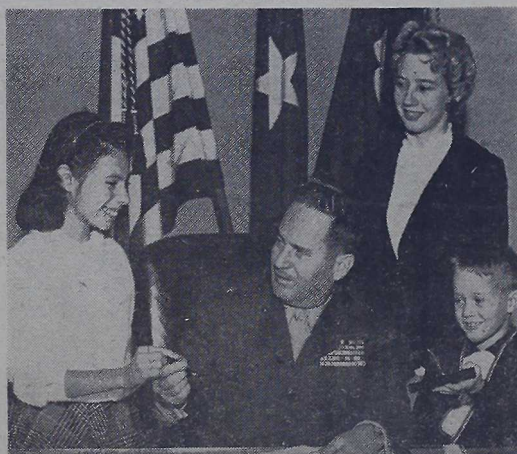

19 Years Of Duty At Lejeune Ends For Lt. Col. H. Bozarth

The first officer to report to Camp Lejeune, Lt. Col. Hubert G. Bozarth, was retired Monday in ceremonies in the main conference room. Colonel Bozarth was relieved as Base Maintenance officer, a post he has held since coming to Camp Lejeune, by Col. Robert L. Smith, formerly of the 3rd Division engineering staff. Prior to being assigned to Camp Lejeune, Colonel Bozarth served in the maintenance and engineer section at Quantico from 1930 to 1941. He enlisted in the Marine Corps July 16, 1930, and received his boot training at Parris Island.

In the 19 years he has been at Camp Lejeune, Colonel Bozarth has compiled one of the finest safety records of any U. S. military post. He inaugurated the fish and wildlife program on the Base and started the conservation program which is one of the oldest forestry programs in the government service.

Colonel Bozarth was assigned as (See BOZARTH RETIRES, Page 12)

PROCLAMATION—Assisted by 11-year-old Brenda Carres, Mrs. Richard Kellon and "going-on-eight-year-old" Bucky Schott, Brig. Gen. S. S. Wade yesterday proclaimed Feb. 7-13 as "Children's Dental Health Week" at Camp Lejeune. Brenda is the daughter of Act. Gysgt. and Mrs. John Carres of 1097 Jones St., New River Air Facility. Bucky is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ernest E. Schott who are temporarily residing in the Camp Guest House. Mrs. Kellon and her husband, Lance Cpl. Richard Kellon, live at Geiger Trailer Park.

Trailer Owners Get Same Footing With Others On Orders

Good news for Camp Lejeune trailer owners was revealed in Saturday's Navy Times as a result of an amendment to the Joint Travel Regulations.

A new Comptroller General decision puts the mobile home owner on an even par with servicemen who elect movement of household effects upon change of station orders.

When a man has his household effects moved before the effective date of his orders, and his orders are later cancelled, he is paid the total cost of transporting his goods to his new duty station. Trailer owners, heretofore, were not entitled to this allowance if orders were cancelled after the man had his trailer moved by a commercial transporter.

According to the Navy Times article, the Comptroller said movement of a trailer in this case is the same as movement of household goods and the owner should get an allowance.

Schedule Return Of NELM Bn

Families and friends of members of the reinforced 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, are expected to line the dock areas at Morehead City Sunday to welcome home the returning NELM troops.

They have completed an extensive six-month training and goodwill tour of duty in the Mediterranean and are now homeward bound.

Commanding the reinforced 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, will be Maj. G. R. Hershey, due to the hospitalization of Lt. Col. J. E. Paul in Spain.

While in that area the Leathernecks served as the amphibious striking arm of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, participating in five landing exercises that demonstrated to the NATO allies the United States' determination to help preserve the peace in that part of the world.

Seven Countries

The tour, aboard ships of Amphibious Squadron Six, visited ports-of-call in seven different countries and possessions. These included the British Crown Colony at Gibraltar; France—along the Riviera; Monaco; Italy, including the cities of Genoa, Naples and Venice; the major Isles of Greece and the port city of Athens—Piraeus; Izmir and Dikili in Turkey and Barcelona, Valencia and Cadiz, Spain.

'Copter Assist

A notable first accomplished by the Battalion Landing Team was the initial use of Marine Corps troop-carrying helicopters in the Mediterranean area accompanying a unit throughout the operation. Units of HMR-262, based at New River, operated from a landing platform on a converted LSD (landing ship, dock). The Corps' verticle assault doctrine was demonstrated to many top-level Allied observers. Working in conjunction with the Navy, the Leathernecks were provided close air support by carrier-based jet and propeller-driven aircraft.

Here's the Answer

Roudy Conduct Of Theater Patrons Detrimental To Movie Enjoyment

Why do you go to the movie? Do you go to relax and enjoy the picture or do you go, as many of the Camp Lejeune Marines do, to yell, whistle, or to show your extensive vocabulary of vulgar words and annoy those sitting around you?

The Special Services program furnishes an impressive list of top-rated motion pictures each week. These movies are free to all Marines, their dependents and guests and are for their relaxation and enjoyment. It is unfortunate that too many times, enjoyment is impossible.

Sometimes we wonder why some Marines even bother going to the movie. They sit through the whole picture, creating a disturbance of some sort and then start to leave before the movie is over. The ending of a story is many times the most important part, yet all too many times, the dialogue is lost in the shuffle of feet and the voices of those leaving.

Service clubs are provided for talking and discussing the events of the day. The base theaters are not. They are solely for the purpose of entertainment and enjoyment of the Camp Lejeune Marines.

If you do not wish to see a movie and listen to what is going on, don't go. We are United States Marines. Let's conduct ourselves accordingly.

A Warm Smile Or Pleasant Word At The Right Time Has Great Value

Depending on the type of job and where they perform it, some men more than others share enforced proximity to each other. They are not like the man who clears his desk at five o'clock and goes home to his family. They work together, eat together, bunk together—often in confined quarters.

They know better than most, these men, the importance of hitting it off together—of allowing for each other's personality differences and traits of character. They know the value of a friendly smile or the right word at the right time. They know that there's no such thing as a lovable grouch.

That's a commonplace, you say, everybody knows that. But don't be too sure. In the service, as in civilian life, there are a heap of people who go through their working day with surly indifference to the feelings of those around them. They cast a shadow of gloom around them. They act as though any pleasant look or word or act would be a display of weakness.

These people wouldn't last long on submarine duty or at an isolated Arctic outpost where the ability to get along with others is an actual necessity. One grouch—just one—can cause dissension, bickering and open hostility when men look to each other for strength and encouragement. He can't be tolerated; he's a risk to morale.

And even under normal working conditions, the man who affects gruffness and curtness in his dealings with people, is a liability, a poor advertisement for his service. The spirit of pleasant, willing cooperation is a mainstay of the Armed Forces. Bear it in mind next time you get out on the wrong side of bed in the morning.

Chaplain's Corner

Heed Advice Of The Great

The world's great thinkers urge us, in our own interest, to study our personalities until we know ourselves. "The proper study of mankind is man," wrote Alexander Pope. Socrates said, "Man, know thyself," and his pupil Plato insisted that an unexamined life is unlivable for man. Many similar quotations can be found, but all have the same application to us: Make a study of yourself. Give yourself a mental and moral check-up. Examine your temperament, your ambitions, your conscience, your prejudices, the whole of your internal life. Find out where you are strong and where you are weak, and then work at strengthening those weaknesses.

We often pay too little attention to this advice of the world's great thinkers. We have many illusions about ourselves, which only self-examination can reveal in their true light. As Robert Burns wrote:

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourself as others see us,
It wad frae mony a blunder free us

Jesus knew this also, and called attention to it. He remarked about how strange it is that we can see so clearly the tiny splinter in the eye of a neighbor and yet be unaware of the plank in our own eye. In other words, we often can and do size up our neighbors, but we don't size up ourselves. We remain blind to our strengths and weaknesses, thus having illusions about our own characters.

One aspect of life, among others, which we might examine is the economic aspect and our relation to it. Our idea of Utopia often is pictured as an era when everybody will be economically secure. Naturally, economic conditions are very important in the lives of all people, and their importance must not be minimized. But at the same time we should examine ourselves to make sure we are not minimizing the importance of those things which money cannot buy, the unpurchasable treasures of the spirit that moth and rust cannot consume nor thieves break through and steal.

U. S. Naval Hospital.

If You Ask Me:

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE IDEA OF TWO EDITIONS AND
WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE IN EACH?

MRS. R. S. LEOPOLD, MOQ 2619 — I'm glad to hear about the second edition to come out each week. There's so much activity going on which I'm sure would be of interest to the many families on Base. In this new edition, why not cover the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Junior Rifle Club and the like. This type of news is what we enjoy reading since the average family is usually involved with one of the three.

PFC DAVE ELCHART, Support Co. "B" — I can think of very little to say about improvements in the Troop Edition. The news seems to be well varied, containing enough information to get the particular point across. This is a good paper in my estimation. I'd like to see a full page of comics in each edition. A paper isn't a paper unless comics are included. It's something everyone would enjoy.

LANCE CPL. D. A. TENEYCK, Support Co. "B" — I think the idea of a second edition for the family is just great. Maybe this will leave more space for sports. By having the family edition, some of the social columns could be put there, leaving space for a big sports report. Even though I can honestly say the present GLOBE is sufficiently informative, the addition of another paper would be a definite improvement.

SGT. GENE JONES, Support Co. "B" — Another edition of the GLOBE is unquestionably a good idea, since news of on- and off-Base activity is a must with most people. What I would like to see in both papers is more information concerning dependents on Base. To me, they're just as much a part of Camp Lejeune, news-wise, as the Marines. Troop news is the main topic, or should be, but in connection with the new Family Edition and as much as can be printed in the Troop Edition, the dependents should, without a doubt, be built up a little more.

PVT. JOYCE KOENEN, Woman Marine Co., Hq. Bn. — I suppose the two editions is a good idea, since it will benefit the families on Base. The GLOBE, now that is the Troop Edition, needs some improvement, although very little. Every time I read the paper, the same idea occurs to me. Would it be possible to feature more voicing of opinions every now and then? Since this is a Base newspaper, I think we all would enjoy opinionated writing by the Marines here. Even to go so far as individual ideas on changes in the Corps' procedures would, I'm sure, arouse attention. This will make the reading even more interesting than what it is now.

SUPPLY DUTY OFFICERS

Headquarters Marine Corps has drafted a bill to abolish the SDO category of Marine officers which is ready for final approval. It still must clear the Secretary of Navy, Department of Defense and Bureau of the Budget. Indications are, however, that no really rough spots ahead for the proposal, which will affect about 400 officers.

NORTH DAKOTA KOREAN

BONUS — Korea veterans must apply for their North Dakota bonus before the Feb. 15 deadline. Payment rate is $42.50 per month for domestic service and $17.50 per month for foreign service between June 25, 1950, and July 27, 1953. A minimum of 60 days' service between the dates and at least six months' residence just before entry into service are necessary. Eligible survivors include the unmarried spouse, children, persons with the standing of parents, and parents. If deceased veteran died in active service, the eligible survivor may collect $600.

CAMEL CARAVAN—Among the many interesting sights encountered was this camel caravan that crossed paths with a Marine mechanized unit in Turkey. (Photo by Lance Cpl. J. W. Henry.)

The Marines enjoyed many days of shore liberty, basking in the sun along the beaches of the French Riviera, particularly at Cannes. They visited the palace and casino at Monte Carlo, the churches and bull rings of Spain and the ruins of Athens. The highlight of the Marines' stay in Genoa, Italy was a trip to Christopher Columbus' birthplace. The Corps' birthday, Thanksgiving and Yule holidays were all celebrated in the ports.

Yule Season

While the usual American holiday meal, with all the trimmings, was served aboard the amphibious ships, many Marines took advantage of local hospitals accepting invitations extended by numerous native citizens.

Marines and sailors sponsored frequent "ice cream, cake and cartoons" parties for local needy tots. Cramped children were literally carried aboard the ships and they were wide-eyed at the sight of the weapons, helicopters and other equipment peculiar to this type of mission.

Divine Service

Church services were held regularly whenever possible, daily, aboard ship. Ashore, every opportunity was taken for the Leathernecks to visit the many churches.

'Ham Radio' Classes Under Way At Base Amateur Radio Station W4LEV

"Ham Radio" classes are now being conducted at Camp Lejeune's amateur radio station, W4LEV, for the purpose of helping students obtain sufficient information to procure an amateur license. Capt. A. L. Charleton, assistant electronics officer, MCB, is chief instructor.

10-Week Course

The classes began Feb. 2 and will continue for a period of 10 weeks. Instruction is open to all interested personnel and their families. Requirements do not include any advanced knowledge of radio operation, and previous experience is not necessary.

Classes will be held free-of-charge on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings beginning at 7 p.m. at Montford Point, Bldg. 407-A.

Tapes Furnished

Tapes will be furnished for those having tape recorders at home to allow more rapid learning of communications practice. Instruction includes the sending and receiving of various codes, operation of transmitting equipment, working at the controls, placing overseas phone calls and the basic maintenance and operation of all equipment used in "ham radio."

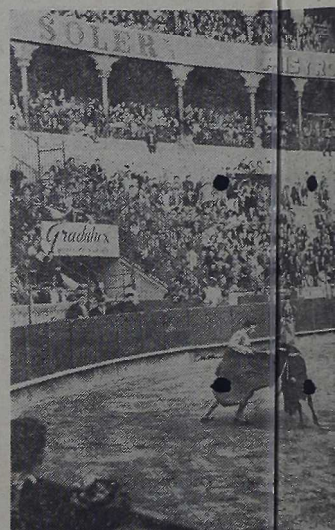

Complete operation positions are now available for authorized amateurs, allowing those qualified to work at the radio station. In addition, new stations are planned for 2nd Division amateur radio operation.

Joint Effort

These classes are being conducted as a joint effort of the entire Quad-Command. The series of classes is sponsored by the 2nd Marine Division Amateur Radio Division, and their present enrollment is 84.

The 2nd Division will install five new stations in the next 120 days to take care of the increased interest in amateur radio. The 2nd Division also hopes to have 100 new "hams" in approximately 20 weeks.

The amateur radio station is available to all Camp Lejeune personnel and their dependents for overseas phone patches. Prior arrangement must be made with the party to be contacted by letter so that he may be at the overseas station at the proper time. This is to insure proper connection with the person being called as he may not be available for the "patch" if arrangements are not made ahead of time. Strict phone procedure must be followed when talking to persons overseas.

Numerous calls such as this one are made every day at the "ham" radio station to posts and stations in every part of the world and to cities and towns across the nation. The facilities of the station are available to all Camp Lejeune personnel and their dependents. The station also is planning to conduct classes in amateur radio operation for all interested personnel.

While en route from Spain to Italy in early December, the Battalion Landing Team, along with other elements of the Sixth Fleet, stood by off Toulon, on the French Riviera to offer assistance during the recent dam burst there. While not called on for help, the Marines were fully prepared to land and assist in relief work.

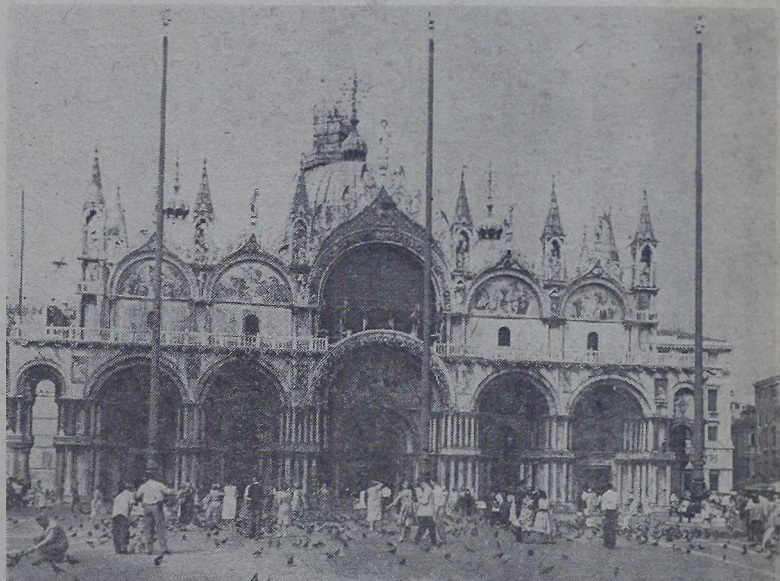

Sports

A well-rounded sports program kept the Marines busy. Participating against service and native teams, the Leatherneck athletics were well representative of the Corps.

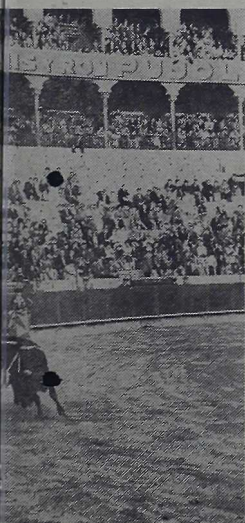

With the well-mannered ease of the traveled professional, the men soon mastered the many-monied systems of this multi-countried area. They changed from English shillings to French francs to Italian lira with ease and thought nothing of quoting the going rate of the Turk kuru or the Greek drachma. Spanish pestas were handled as though they were dollar bills.

In all, the Marines traveled about 12,000 nautical miles during this rugged but pleasurable training mission, once again stressing the validity of the recruiter's time-worn "A" sign: "Join the Marines—and See the World!"

Camp Enrollment In Citizenship Class Represents Eighteen Foreign Nations

Classes in citizenship being sponsored by the Base Education Office got under way last week at the Camp High School with 44 students registered, representing a total of 18 different countries.

The classes consist of two sections—Reading for personnel who read little or no English and subjects necessary to pass naturalization examinations such as American History and Constitution. At the first meeting the various classes were formed and a literacy test was administered to determine student ability.

Weekly Classes

Regular classes are held at the Camp High School once a week, either Monday or Wednesday nights, from 7 until 10 p.m. The course of instruction which began Jan. 25, is scheduled to last until April 27. Textbooks are furnished free-of-charge, but writing paper and pencils are required of the students.

Although armed forces personnel who are aliens may attend these classes when recommended by their commanding officer, it is possible that some of these personnel can accomplish more through self study. The Base

Education office located in Bldg. 19, Camp Theater, has procured several copies of the Home Study Course in Citizenship which may be checked out by military personnel preparing for naturalization. Assistance with this course is also available at the Base Education Office.

18 Countries

The 18 countries represented in the local Citizenship classes are Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Formosa, Iran, Morocco, Egypt, Jordan, Greece, Portugal, Denmark, Sweden, United Kingdom, France, Germany, Austria, Nicaragua, Argentina and Canada.

Instruction in "Reading and Writing for Adults" is also being offered on television station WECT, Wilmington, each morning from 6 to 6:30 a.m. The lessons, conducted four times weekly, are offered free of charge. However, two reading and writing books are required to go along with the course. The cost of the two text books is $4 and remain the property of the purchaser. Further information may be obtained from your County Home Economics Agent.

High Flying Quantico To Arrive Friday

Locals Blast Islanders; Get Set For Virginians

The Camp Lejeune Marines are ready for the high flying Quantico quintet after sweeping both ends of a twin-bill from Parris Island, 93-75 and 91-75, last Thursday and Friday nights at Goettge Memorial Field House. The locals moved into second place in the East Coast All-Marine Conference and will face Quantico in a two-game series here tomorrow and Saturday night in an effort to upset the visitors and strengthen their hold on the second place slot. Quantico is reaching for their eighth East Coast All-Marine crown in nine years, after posting a pair of wins over Cherry Point, last week to extend their season's record against Marine competition to 8-0.

Quantico is the only east coast Marine team with an unblemished record against Leatherneck competition, having scored a pair of wins over both Parris Island and Camp Lejeune and having taken four from Cherry Point.

First Game

Trailing by four points at the beginning of the second half of the first game with Parris Island, the locals outscored the Islanders 43-21 in the final half to down the Devil Dogs 93-75.

Art Andreoli, Lejeune scoring ace, dropped 21 tallies through the nets in the final half for a 37 point total and the games scoring honors.

Lejeune jumped into the lead after two minutes of play in the final half on tallies by Andreoli, Leo Elwell and Charlie Morrow.

With four minutes remaining in the game Derek Dickinson rammed nine of his 19 points through the hoop to push the Marines in front by 18 markers at the buzzer.

Leading the Devil Dogs in the scoring column was Bob Powers with 25 points.

Lejeune's Dan Cavallier started the scoring in the second game, but the locals could not hold the lead as Parris Island's Bill Pickens tapped one in and sunk a free throw to give the Islanders a 3-2 advantage. Not until the Devil Dogs had widened the margin 11-3 did the locals score again.

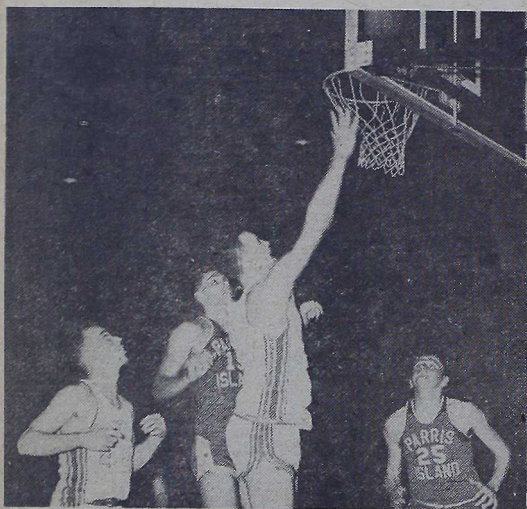

Marine Come To Life

After trailing for the entire first period, the Marines came to life and stripped the nets for 20 points to take a half-time lead.

With three seconds remaining in the half Roger Marcell dropped a one hand push shot from outside to break a 34-34 deadlock and give the Marines a two point advantage at the buzzer.

The Islanders could not close the gap as Derek Dickinson hit for 11 points in the first four minutes of the second half, leading the Marines to a 91-71 win.

Dickinson piled up 20 points in the final half to top the locals in the scoring column with 29.

NAS, Norfolk, Suffers Defeat By Camp Lejeune Fighters

Camp Lejeune scrappers downed NAS, Norfolk, last Wednesday night at Goettge Memorial Field House, taking seven bouts while losing only three. Eight hundred ring fans saw Willie Davis, Lejeune's light middleweight, score a unanimous decision over Norfolk's Tell in the second match of his fight career. Davis is considered by his handlers to become a terrific fighter and promises to give inter-service boxers the best of competition.

Lejeune's Ernest Marshall, 132-pounder, scored a split decision over Norfolk's Hobbs after knocking him to the canvas for a count of eight in the second round.

Light heavyweight Henry Hooper floored Norfolk's Burnett twice while carding the second unanimous decision of the evening.

Third Round TKO

Norfolk's Nance took a split decision over Bantamweight Ronnie Cooper while Middleweight Curtis Holland was TKO'd by Norfolk's Howard in the third round of the bout.

Flyweight Harry Hill, Featherweight Rocky Fiorentino, Welterweight Fred Fogg and Light middleweight Lucion Green all won their respective bouts by default.

Boating Laws Effectuated In North Carolina

ATTENTION, ALL POWER BOAT OWNERS—As of Jan. 1, 1960, the Boating Safety Act of 1959 was enacted in the state of North Carolina. Following is a brief resume of the important features of the act. The jurisdiction of this law applies to all public waters, rivers, lakes and off-shore fishing in the limits of North Carolina. The boats requiring numbering and registration are those having over 10 horse power propulsion systems, not to include government boats or shipping.

The number and certificate is non-transferable to other boats and the number will be displayed on each side of the boat and the certificate must be available on the boat for possible inspection at any time. The number will be printed or stenciled in three-inch black letters or any color as long as it is in contrast to the boat color such as: NC-26419B.

This certificate will be renewed each year prior to January 1. The boat registration fees are as follows:

Original certificate $3.00
Renewal of certificate $3.00

Registration of out of state numbers $3.00
Change of ownership $1.00
Lost certificate .50

The wildlife protectors have the primary responsibility for the enforcement of the above law in North Carolina. After having identified themselves as enforcement officers, they may board any boat and inspect it for certificates, life preservers, fire extinguishers and other items required for different classes of boats.

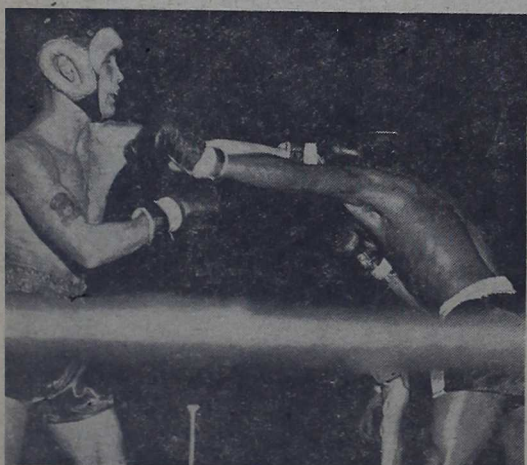

Penalties for violations are listed in the guide book you will receive with your number. There is a $50 fine for not registering your boat, and up to $500 and confinement for six months for reckless operation with boat or water skis.

Applications

Applications for boat numbers may be picked up at the sports counter of the main Marine Corps Exchange, Camp Lejeune, or you may write: Motor Boat Registration, Section Wildlife Resources Commission, Post Office Box 2818, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Boat checking will begin shortly in this area. Please comply with this notice for safer boating and trouble-free enjoyment of America's fastest growing sport.

Eighth Marines Drop Tenth In Division Boxing Match

The Eighth Marines captured six of the first seven bouts in slugging their way to a 7-3 victory over the Tenth Marines in the Division's second boxing "smoker" of the season. The event was held as a preliminary to the Base Boxing team's match with the Norfolk Naval Air Station pugilists in Goettge Memorial Field House. The initial bout of the evening was a harbinger of the night's action as Sal Huerta (Eighth Marines) knocked out Bill Tasker (Tenth Marines) in 1:36 of the second round. The two bantamweights slugged it out toe-to-toe with Huerta landing several damaging blows at the end of the first round. Huerta continued the attack in the second round to completely overpower his opponent.

Strong Finish

After shaking off a few opening round punches, Ray Green (Eighth Marines) finished strong to gain a split decision over George Thorton. Referee Howard Russ awarded the fourth bout of the evening to Jim Danials (Eighth Marines) in 1:20 of the third round after disqualifying Jack Robieson (Tenth Marines) for hitting with open gloves. Robieson had carried the first two rounds, scoring effectively with a long right, prior to his disqualification.

Harry Hudspeth (Tenth Marines) gained the first Cannoneer victory of the evening with a TKO over Bill Wallace (Eighth Marines) in 1:13 of the second round. Hudspeth floored the game Eighth Marines welterweight twice before the referee stopped the bout.

The Eighth Marines regained their winning ways as Tom Hennessey slugged his way to a unanimous decision over Bob Baker (Tenth Marines). Hennessey solved the free-swinging style of his opponent early in the first round and smashed his way to an easy victory.

"Lo" Thomas (Eighth Marines) unleashed a series of second round punches to send Sam Brockington to the canvas in 1:42 of the round for the Eighth Marines' sixth victory. Thomas' knockout was the third of the evening.

Al Smith (Tenth Marines) floored Jim Lynch (Eighth Marines) in the opening seconds of the third round and went on to capture a unanimous decision over the plucky Eighth Marines middleweight.

Roundhouse Scores

Bill Brown (Tenth Marines) employed a roundhouse right to good advantage in capturing an unanimous decision over Jim Hodges (Eighth Marines). George Washington, Eighth Marines heavyweight, wrapped up the night's proceedings with a unanimous decision over Bob Beckett (Tenth Marines). The Eighth Marines were awarded the first bout of the evening by default when they failed to meet the 112-pound weight class.

The Tenth Marines tangled with the Second Marines pugilists in the final "smoker" of the season last night in Goettge Memorial Field House.

Cannoneers Clinch Honors In Division Cage Leagues

The Tenth Marines walked off with the laurels in both leagues of the 2nd Marine Division intramural basketball loop with the 2nd Bn., Tenth Marines, copping the American League title and 4th Bn., Tenth Marines, winding up on top in the National League. Second Bn., Tenth Marines, clinched the American League crown on the last day of the season with a 78-57 win over 1st Bn., Second Marines. Headquarters Battalion and 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines wound up the regular season in a deadlock for the number two spot.

Headquarters Battalion earned a playoff berth with a post-season playoff victory over 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines, 74-64. The victors jumped off to a 5-0 lead with three minutes gone by in the first half and were never headed for the remainder of the game. Third Bn., Sixth Marines managed to close the gap to three points midway through the opening half but three quick baskets by Joe Hawkins moved the Headquarters quintet out of danger.

Third Bn., Sixth Marines, drew to within three points of the Headquarters five in the opening minutes of the second half but Marzano dropped in six points on three fast breaks to end the threat. Headquarters ran their lead to 18 points with approximately four minutes remaining then coasted to a 74-64 victory. Mike Marzano led all Headquarters Battalion scores with 19 points while Byron White captured game scoring honors with a total of 24.

In a game which saw the lead change hands ten times, 4th Bn., Tenth Marines took first place in the National League with a 74-68 victory over 2nd Service Battalion. The Service Battalion quintet had defeated the Cannoneers twice during the regular season.

Service Battalion grabbed an early 5-2 lead with both teams playing cautiously in the opening minutes of play. The Service Battalion cagers led throughout most of the first half before the Cannoneers were able to knot the count with three and one-half minutes to play. Ron Layton, sparkplug of the Cannoneer attack, scored on two rapid-fire fast breaks in the waning seconds of the half to boost 4th Bn., Tenth Marines into a 30-25 intermission advantage.

Paced by the scoring of speedy guard, Al Spencer, Service Battalion again forged into the lead midway through the second half. Spencer exhibited deadly accuracy from the free throw lane, hitting on eight consecutive foul shots.

Fourth Bn., Tenth Marines, boosted their margin to 67-56 in the final four minutes but the Service Bn., quintet forced it to the wire as they surged to within three points of the victors in the final minute of play.

Jim Robertson and Ron Layton paced the victorious Cannoneers with 19 and 17 points respectively while Al Spencer took scoring honors for Service Battalion with 22.

In the Class B division of the .410 shooting, Lejeune's Capt. J. L. Yon took the honors.

BASEBALL

Jack Phillips, former Eighth Marines standout hurler, this past season, journeyed to Boston last week to negotiate a major league contract with the Boston Red Sox. Phillips, who was released from active duty recently, hopes to attend spring practice with the Red Sox in their Scotsdale, Ariz., camp.

Cleveland southpaw Herb Score was named the most courageous athlete of the year, by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Assn. after he overcame a serious injury and braved a mental hazard on each pitch of the 1959 baseball season.

Yankee moundmen Bob Turley and Ryne Duren have balked at salary cuts offered in their contracts to join slugger Mickey Mantle in a protest to Yankee front office.

With indecision as to just how much Ted Williams will be able to play this year, Red Sox manager Bucky Harris was struck with another blow as Jackie Jensen has announced his retirement from the baseball world.

American League All-Star catcher Gus Triandos is taking lessons. These are not dancing lessons, but running lessons. Triandos, who would never win any medals for the 100-yard dash, says, "I'm supposed to take six lessons before I go to training. One of the directors of the club got the idea it might make me faster. I suppose I'll probably get thrown out by one step instead of three."

GOLF

Ken Venturi won his first major pro golf tournament in his own backyard, Pebble Beach, Calif., and pocketed $5,350 when he shot a two under par 286 to cop the Bing Crosby Open, Jan. 24.

BASKETBALL

The 3rd Battalion, Sixth Marines, established a new scoring mark in the Division intramural basketball league with a 134-58 victory over the Pioneer Battalion last week. The league-leading contingent followed up with a 103-55 win over Motor Transport Battalion to set a two-game scoring total of 237 points.

Raiders Take Three Of Four On Road Trip

The Red Raiders returned home Monday after a successful road trip to Charleston Air Force Base and Parris Island, where they won three of four games.

The Woman Marines swept two from the WAFB, 35-20 and 41-20, with Marie Paradis, scoring ace for the Marines, clipping off 19 points in each game, while Dede Alexander collected 25.

The first game at Parris Island saw the Lejeune eagles down the Islanders, 40-32, behind the shooting of Dede Alexander who took the game's scoring honors with 22 tallies.

Alexander was followed by Barbara Meyers with 10 and Paradis with eight. Alexander had only scored six points at the end of the first half when she suddenly exploded for 16 more.

Trailing 18-13 at the half in the second game, the Red Raiders could not overtake the Islanders as Carter led them to an easy 39-29 victory over the Raiders with 22 markers.

JUDO CLUB SPECIAL MEETING

$16,000 FOOTBALL—Maj. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, commanding general of the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot, presents a football used in the Second Annual Leatherneck Bowl game to Rear Adm. C. C. Hartman, 11th Naval District commandant, during ceremonies Jan. 26. Attached to the pigskin are checks totaling over $12,000, three-fourths of the game's net earnings of which $8,112.96 goes to the military quota of the San Diego United Fund and $4,056.47 to Naval Relief. Another $4,056.47 has been mailed to Bolling Air Force Base for Air Force Aid.

Charity Game Aid To Navy Relief Society

The $16,000 football that put the military division of San Diego County's United Fund drive "over the top" was praised by Rear Adm. Charles C. Hartman, Commandant, 11th Naval District, on Jan. 26 by Maj. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, commanding general, Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

Symbolic of the highly successful Second Annual Leatherneck Bowl benefit football game Dec. 6, the football contained a check for $8,112.96 payable to the United Fund. Representing 50 percent of the proceeds, the sum boosted MCRD to 129 percent of its goal and the Naval District to a total of $371,996, the largest sum ever contributed by San Diego's military population, including its civilian employees, in this annual community drive.

Navy Relief Check

Also presented was a check for $4,056.47 to the Navy Relief Society, meaning that more than $12,000 of the game proceeds remained in San Diego. Another check for the same amount has been forwarded to Bolling Air Force Base for the benefit of their Air Force Relief association.

"We sponsored the game," Major General Krulak stated in making the presentation, "but without the fine support of the community and the military in this area, these gratifying results wouldn't have been possible. We had a good football game, a wonderful crowd, and a respectable donation for charity as a result. With the same fine cooperation this year, we'll try to do even better. My sincere thanks are extended to all who made this possible."

All-Time Record

Rear Adm. Hartman, in accepting the checks on behalf of the two charities, praised the team effort that resulted in an "all-time record" for the military part of the United Fund campaign, including those in uniform and civilian employees.

The December bowl game in Balboa Stadium drew a record crowd of 19,000 who saw MCRD wind up its undefeated 1959 football season with a 41-14 victory over Bolling Air Force Base. This represented about 4,000 more spectators than the first Leatherneck Bowl attracted.

Dull Days—This is the time of the year when days and evenings are dull for nimrods and anglers. There is not too much action going on as far as they are concerned, but these winter months are not a complete loss for those who have a little initiative and energy.

There are a hundred and one odds and ends that need to be done. For example, hooks need sharpening, plus need touching up, rods and reels should be put in A-1 condition, and it is a good idea to reverse the line on your reels.

Two Division Units In Cold Weather Training

Two units of the 2nd Marine Division have solved the often perplexing question of whether to go to the mountains or to the seashore. They chose the mountains. The 2nd Reconnaissance Bn. and Echo Co., 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, are currently undergoing mountain and cold weather training in the Pisgah National Forest near Asheville, N. C.

The training area is located in some of the loftiest mountains east of the Mississippi river and is dominated by Mt. Mitchell, a 6,000-foot elevation.

Reconnaissance Bn., commanded by Lt. Col. Charles D. Barrett Jr., has approximately 300 officers and men participating in the training. A helicopter transport squadron from MAG-26, MCAC, New River, N. C., is operating with the reconnaissance units.

Echo Company, under the command of Capt. R. A. McElheny, is reinforced by 81mm mortar and flamethrower sections. The company's primary purpose is to conduct mountain and cold weather training on an individual and small unit basis.

Both units are scheduled to wind up their training and return to Camp Lejeune around Feb. 15.

All equipment, supplies, weapons and communications necessary for extended operation in the mountainous terrain was carried by the two units.

After their arrival at the training area, unit commanders selected a base camp site and the Marines "turned to." Soon a sprawling but orderly tent city sprang up in the wilderness.

Previously thought to be improbable, direct radio contact can be established and maintained almost continuously by the communicators. Radio contact with patrols is provided by the communication section of the operating units.

Small, five-man arctic tents are used as both sleeping quarters and warming tents by the Marines. A mess tent was set up so that hot coffee would be available at all times and to serve one hot meal each day.

As darkness settles and troops turn in for the night, a sleepy private first class seems to symbolize the feeling of all hands as he zips himself in his sleeping bag. . . . He is snug as the proverbial bug in the rug.

Rangers and foresters of the state and federal services are impressed with the way Marines maintain bivouac areas and observe fire and sanitation precautions. One of the Rangers' biggest tasks is policing the few careless persons who spoil the picnic and camping areas for the thousands of visitors who come to the parks each year.

Leadership and physical fitness is stressed in the strenuous mountain terrain as the units climb and descend cliffs, ford mountain streams, and learn to fight and survive in the rough terrain and extreme cold.

The training program emphasizes the execution of reconnaissance patrols over ever-increasing distances. Patrol leaders have to plan their missions, issue orders and check their men's equipment before moving out.

Death Claims Gen. Berkeley

Funeral services with full military honors for retired Maj. Gen. Randolph C. Berkeley, who died Sunday will be held today at the Ft. Meyers, Fla., Chapel at 10 a.m. Burial at Arlington National cemetery will follow.

General Berkeley, who at 85 was the oldest living Marine Corps officer, succumbed of a heart ailment at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Beaufort, S. C.

Winner of the Medal of Honor in 1914, for heroism at Vera Cruz, Mexico, General Berkeley retired from the Marine Corps in 1937 after 40 years' service. He is survived by two Marine sons, Maj. Gen. James P. Berkeley, commanding general, 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C., and Col. Randolph C. Berkeley Jr., who is stationed at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C.

assistant liaison officer for construction when he arrived at the old tent camp. He was responsible for the planning, supervision and procurement of land and materials.

The Base utilities have been under his control since their construction by some 14,000 civilian employees who were under his direction. The actual construction of the first Base took about one year, according to Colonel Bozarth. "At that time, we often worked seven days a week with no rest."

According to Mr. Joe Everett, administrative officer for the Base maintenance section, "He was a father to the many civilian employees who worked under him and there were many who had tears in their eyes when they found out he was retiring."

Two Division Units Undergo Mountainous Cold Weather Training Near Pisgah National Forest

Two units of the 2nd Marine Division have solved the often perplexing question of whether to go to the mountains or to the seashore. They chose the mountains. The 2nd Reconnaissance Bn. and Echo Co., 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, are currently undergoing mountain and cold weather training in the Pisgah National Forest near Asheville, N. C.

The training area is located in some of the loftiest mountains east of the Mississippi river and is dominated by Mt. Mitchell, a 6,000-foot elevation.

Reconnaissance Bn., commanded by Lt. Col. Charles D. Barrett Jr., has approximately 300 officers and men participating in the training. A helicopter transport squadron from MAG-26, MCAF, New River, N. C., is operating with the reconnaissance units.

Echo Company, under the command of Capt. R. A. McElheny, is reinforced by 81mm mortar and flamethrower sections. The company's primary purpose is to conduct mountain and cold weather training on an individual and small unit basis.

Both units are scheduled to wind up their training and return to Camp Lejeune around Feb. 15.

All equipment, supplies, weapons and communications necessary for extended operation in the mountainous terrain was carried by the two units.

After their arrival at the training area, unit commanders selected a base camp site and the Marines "turned to." Soon a sprawling but orderly tent city sprang up in the wilderness.

Previously thought to be improbable, direct radio contact can be established and maintained almost continuously by the communicators. Radio contact with patrols is provided by the communication section of the operating units.

Small, five-man arctic tents are used as both sleeping quarters and warming tents by the Marines. A mess-tent was set up so that hot coffee would be available at all times and to serve one hot meal each day.

As darkness settles and troops turn in for the night, a sleepy private first class seems to symbolize the feeling of all hands as he zips himself in his sleeping bag.

He is snug as the proverbial bug in the rug.

Rangers and foresters of the state and federal services are impressed with the way Marines maintain bivouac areas and observe fire and sanitation precautions. One of the Rangers' biggest tasks is policing the few careless persons who spoil the picnic and camping areas for the thousands of visitors who come to the parks each year.

Leadership and physical fitness is stressed in the strenuous mountain terrain as the units climb and descend cliffs, ford mountain streams, and learn to fight and survive in the rough terrain and extreme cold.

The training program emphasizes the execution of reconnaissance patrols over ever-increasing distances. Patrol leaders have to plan their missions, issue orders and check their men's equipment before moving out.

Many hours of training are devoted to overcoming natural terrain obstacles. The method used to descend cliff faces is termed "repelling."

With the light but strong nylon line running through both hands and an aluminum snap-ring attached to a rope or belt about the waist a Marine plants his feet against the sluff face, springs outward and lets the rope slide through his hands.

Then, as he swings back in towards the cliff, the repeller's grip on the rope tightens and his descent is halted by the braking action of moving one hand behind and partially around the body just as the feet touch the cliff again.

Only three or four breath-taking drops are necessary to place the repeller at the base of a 60-foot cliff.

A full schedule of conditioning hikes, small unit tactics and night reconnaissance patrols keeps everyone busy. This rigorous routine is topped off with full scale day and night field problems in the final stages of the training.

Excessive Fat Doesn't Keep Person Warm

If you're fat it's because you eat too much and don't get enough exercise. Maybe you're stationed in a cold climate and think you need the fat to keep you warm.

You don't.

Authority for this is a work titled "The Polar Bibliography," a collection of scientific studies which the Defense Department is using in planning its polar operations.

Scientists whose findings are digested in the volume based their conclusion on studies of Eskimos, reindeer, seals and other arctic mammals.

From studies of native Eskimos, they found "that the thickness of subcutaneous fat varies with the excess of nutrition over activity without important relation to needs for insulation."

They also reported that excessive doses of vitamins do not help to withstand cold.

CROSS OVER THE BRIDGE—Marines improvise a bridge across one of the many mountain streams in the area. They use materials at hand to build a walkway and rig handlines for safety measures. Most Marines agree that this type of bridge is superior to treading a tight-rope over streams. (Photo by Act. Sgt. R. D. Crabtree)

Twelve Complete First Air Terrain Appreciation Course

Eight officers and four staff non-commissioned officers were graduated Jan. 22 from the first Airborne Terrain Appreciation Course (ATAC) of 1960 at the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, N. C. The intensive course is designed to familiarize officers and selected staff NCO's with terrain analysis and the capabilities, limitations and employment of observation aircraft while engaged in this type of work.

One week in length, the course is conducted by the Air Observation School under the direction of Capt. N. K. Bodnar. It is under the overall guidance of Headquarters, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Norfolk, Va., and the 2nd Marine Division.

The first two days are devoted to formal classroom presentations in which the students are given elementary facts essential to conducting various types of airborne reconnaissance missions.

Remainder of the course consists of flight problems in which each student is given three sets of flight requirements. These problems stress practice in airborne map reading, road and bridge reconnaissance, terrain analysis and selecting helicopter landing sites.

The new unit separation concept, now employed by the Marine Corps, requires the need for all-around observation and surveillance throughout the combat zone.

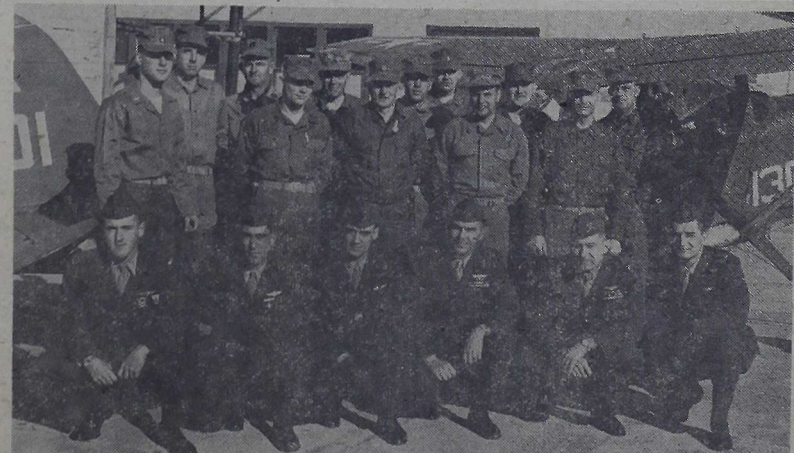

"The commander, who is best supplied with the most timely and accurate information concerning his area of responsibility, will have a tremendous advantage over his combat opponent in making exacting and sound decisions," Captain Bodnar said.

Captain Bodnar explained that due to the almost unlimited maneuverability, unrestricted fields of vision and essence of speed, aerial observation is one of the most desirable means of fulfilling continual reconnaissance in the combat zone.

All of the school instructors are designated Naval Air Observers and consist of Captain Bodnar, 1st Lt. G. A. Chadwick, 1st Lt. E. A. Stenger, 1st Lt. J. C. Gavis, 1st Lt. R. W. Morgan, and 1st Lt. H. J. Silva.

Buddy Morrow To Play For Valentine Dance At Pavilion

Buddy Morrow, his trombone and orchestra with vocalist Jane Taylor will be the featured attraction at the Marston Pavilion Valentine Dance Feb. 11 from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. The Pavilion is open to all sergeants and below, their dependents and guests. There is also a bar and lounge which will be open.

BUDDY MORROW
...Night Train

An exciting rhythm and blues number, "Night Train," became the first recording to establish Buddy Morrow as one of the biggest musical attractions on the road in 1951. After this record, the band went on to set coast-to-coast attendance records in leading ballrooms and theaters.

Hit Records

Following "Night Train" was a string of hits including "One Mint Julep," "I Don't Know" and "Hey, Mrs. Jones." His trombone solo, "Tara Theme" from "Gone with the Wind," is pointed out to this day, by laymen and musicians alike, as an example of excellent musicianship.

In a jam session with some friends shortly after high school, the great Bunny Berrigan was so impressed with his music that he recommended him to Artie Shaw. After a tour with the Shaw band, he joined the Eddy Duchin orchestra and then Paul Whiteman. He also played with Tommy Dorsey and then with the Columbia Broadcasting System staff orchestra. His greatest moment from that time was playing under the direction of Arturo Toscanini.

The Buddy Morrow orchestra repertoire embraces the whole spectrum of popular music from early Dixieland, rhythm and blues and intricate ballads to full progressive jazz interpretations.

Pakistan Gen. Visits Lejeune During Week

Honors were rendered to Maj. Gen. Hayaud-Din, Pakistan Military and Naval Attache, by the 2nd Marine Division Monday.

The Pakistani general, who arrived at the Division's headquarters early yesterday afternoon, received a 13-gun salute which marked the beginning of his visit to Camp Lejeune.

After receiving honors, the general, accompanied by Brig. Gen. O. M. Conoley, acting commander of the 2nd Division, inspected an honor guard composed of "B" Co., 1st Bn., Second Marines.

At the conclusion of the honor guard, General Din was heli-lifted to one of Camp Lejeune's firing ranges to witness the multi-threat ONTOS in a "live" firing demonstration.

Monday, the general received a first hand view of the Marine Corps' vertical envelopment doctrine as a Marine rifle company struck a mythical enemy from helicopters.

Lejeune's Longest Resident Relinquishes 19-Year Lease

The first officer to report to Camp Lejeune, Lt. Col. Hubert G. Bozarth, was retired Monday in ceremonies in the main conference room. Colonel Bozarth was relieved as Base Maintenance officer, a post he has held since coming to Camp Lejeune, by Col. Robert L. Smith, formerly of the 3rd Division engineering staff. Prior to being assigned to Camp Lejeune, Colonel Bozarth served in the maintenance and engineer section at Quantico from 1930 to 1941. He enlisted in the Marine Corps July 16, 1930, and received his boot training at Parris Island.

In the 19 years he has been at Camp Lejeune, Colonel Bozarth has compiled one of the finest safety records of any U. S. military post. He inaugurated the fish and wildlife program on the Base and started the conservation program which is one of the oldest forestry programs in the government service.

Colonel Bozarth was assigned as assistant liaison officer for construction when he arrived at the old tent camp. He was responsible for the planning, supervision and procurement of land and materials.

The Base utilities have been under his control since their construction by some 14,000 civilian employees who were under his direction. The actual construction of the first Base took about one year, according to Colonel Bozarth. "At that time, we often worked seven days a week with no rest."

According to Mr. Joe Everett, administrative officer for the Base maintenance section, "He was a father to the many civilian employees who worked under him and there were many who had tears in their eyes when they found out he was retiring."

Colonel and Mrs. Bozarth will make their home in the Country Club Estates in Jacksonville where he is constructing a home.
