If you ask me...

WHAT BOTHERS YOU MOST ABOUT MARINE CORPS DRIVERS?

CPL. JOHN NACKINO, "E" Btry., Tenth Marines—All in all, I think drivers in the Marine Corps are really good and because they are so good I'm always a little amazed when I see some of them on liberty. They get over confident sometimes and take chances. However, I don't think there should be so many gripes about marine drivers since most of them really can and do drive right.

CPL. HERSHEY HAYES, "E" Btry., Tenth Marines—They lack consideration. Many of them are very young and they don't appreciate and take the time to remember that the other guy on the road may just feel he wants to live a little longer by going a little slower. From what I see, we've got a few too many hot-rodgers around.

PVT. ROBERT S. WADSWORTH JR., "G" Co., Eighth Marines—Well, it's true not only of drivers in the Marine Corps but of all drivers... they speed too much. Actually by keeping a steady pace a driver can get just as far as if he speeds along and then stops and starts all the time. With all the traveling marines do, speeding is just reckless.

Pfc Donald R. Wilson, "E" Btry., Tenth Marines—Most marines abide by good driving rules, I think, but often you'll find they aren't thinking much about the other guy on the road. Usually their minds are on home, their girl or something happening in the next few weeks. Sometimes it's difficult to keep your mind on driving but it's got to be done. Lack of attention alone causes many accidents and it is the one thing marines have to watch while driving.

CPL. TOMMY BALLARD, Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., MCB—Too pre-occupied. They don't concentrate on driving because they are so busy making plans. If some of them don't pay more attention to their driving they won't be here to make plans. On the whole though, marines are good drivers. You see them on the Base obeying every rule and regulation about driving.

Amphibious Operations On New River Saw Union Forces Attacking Years

Two weeks ago an article appeared in the GLOBE describing a Courthouse Bay family named Marine and their arrival on the local scene long before the Corps made its 1941 appearance.

Having lost the distinction of being the first "Marines" to land on these shores, it now appears that the Corps will once again have to take a back seat to the history makers of our great grandfather's time... the boys who wore the blue and the grey.

As any present day marine will quickly attest to amphibious landing at Onslow Beach are realistic right down to the last bit of planning. But one fact remains. These landings are simulated, mock operations, rehearsals for something it is hoped never occurs.

Ninety-six years ago an amphibious operation took place on New River in which the participants were not firing blanks at each other. It was the real thing!

Known to history as the Battle of New River, the land-sea engagement staged here November 23, 1862 has been established by official U. S. Navy records as the initial amphibious operation in this area. Local Jacksonville historian, Parson Brown has a copy of the Navy record describing the raid by the Union's USS Ellis on New River.

Under the command of Lieutenant William B. Cushing, author of the Navy reports, the Ellis entered the inlet early in the morning of November 23 with one purpose: raiding Jacksonville and capturing the mail, supplies and any ships anchored near there.

Due to good winds and no Confederate opposition, the Union vessel reached Jacksonville by 1 p. m. Highlight of the morning trip was the burning of a schooner near Courthouse Bay, then known as Marines. Like today's marines, Cushing led his men ashore where they secured a great amount of mail and small arms along with two schooners lying in the water.

Following a shelling by the Unionists on a Confederate encampment the Ellis pilot decided to wait until morning to cross over the treacherous and dangerous sand bars. This proved unnecessary and early the next morning the Ellis along with two captured schooners, moved towards the River's mouth.

events and the winner could claim one of four standard prizes. The prizes were either $1.00, four packs of cigarettes, a "sleep late" chit, or two Navy Relief tickets.

"Tequila" caused the most excitement at the carnival. For staying on the bucking bronc for six seconds or longer the rider received a steak dinner. The feat was accomplished by Privates First Class C. H. Smith and J. E. Hendersen, and Corporal Frank Lackey, much to the dismay of four burly marines trying to shake them.

All of the winners in the events participated in a grand drawing at the end of the day. Seven names were drawn with the top prize, an electric shaver, going to Private First Class F. H. Heney, H&S Co. Heney also picked up 225 Navy Relief tickets. Altogether, 802 tickets were distributed to the seven winners in the drawing.

First Lieutenant Constantine Albans, battalion Navy Relief officer, reported that they now have 83 percent of their quota.

BATTLE OF NEW RIVER—This official map of the Battle of New River shows the three major sites where Union and Confederate forces met. Numeral 1 on the map shows the spot where the Ellis ran into fierce Confederate fire, causing the crew to abandon ship. "2" shows where Southern riflemen were chased by an angry farm owner. "3" marks the route taken by escaping Union captured schooners.

Wilkins' Bluff tried to slow down the enemy vessel with rifle fire but were no match for an angry farm owner, Mr. Wilkins. The irate farm owner drove off the troopers fearing that return fire from the "Yankee" vessel would destroy his property.

With this unexpected assistance from a Confederate farmer, the raiders planned to reach the ocean without any further delay. Their hopes dimmed when they twice went aground in the shallow channel. Floating free the first time, the Ellis was only 100 yards from the open sea when it ran aground again, this time permanently.

Lieutenant Cushing then sent a landing party ashore to capture the Confederate field artillery pieces, only to learn that they had been removed from the area.

After further attempts to push the Ellis off the sand bar had failed, the lieutenant mustered his entire crew and transferred all but six volunteers. He then waited for the inevitable battle that would come in the morning.

The Confederates lived up to his expectations, and early the next morning started a heavy bombardment.

Although round shot from the field pieces used previously bounced harmlessly off the Ellis' sides, the destructive fire of the rifled guns began to cut the Union ship unmercifully, fully disabling her engines.

Aware that further defense was useless the ship commander ordered his vessel set afire in five places. Under heavy gunfire, the remaining crew members boarded a small boat and rowed to the waiting schooner, anchored down river.

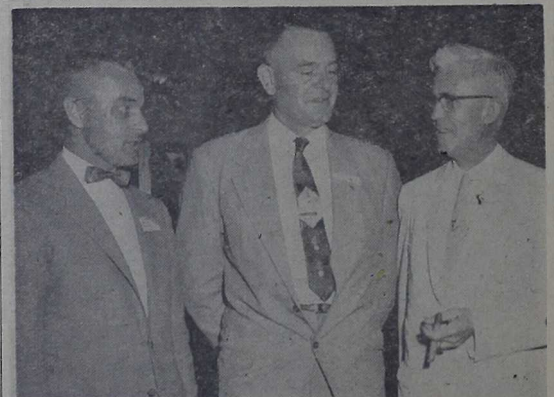

Soon after the Yankee schooners had safely crossed the bar, the magazine of the Ellis blew up and fires set aboard her died out. The thrifty Confederates, not to be out done by their rivals, soon had her

New North Transport Compiles Notch Safety Record

There is no accident with the Marine Corps Base 4th Transport Platoon. It is not taken lightly or attacked haphazardly at the 97-man unit which on its provides 8,000 miles of rolling wheels for the 1st Infantry Training Regiment.

For safety with the platoon, commanded by Warrant Officer Kenneth C. Boston, is cooperative, year-long.

The current Marine safety drive which on July 4, the 4th platoon serves as an example of what can be accomplished in record points out that no one has to be killed by a motor vehicle!

From mid-March to mid-June, 4th Platoon vehicles have logged 323,000 accident-free miles. Some 40,000 of these miles were compiled by non-platoon drivers alerted to the unit's safety reputation.

It has been 30 months, and two and a half million miles, since any type of road injury was connected with the platoon. As far back as anyone in the platoon can remember, no platoon passenger has ever been injured.

In the recent commanding general's inspection, the platoon was rated among the best of the Marine Corps Base units. Platoon members maintain a 95.4 percent attendance mark at regular military classes and drill. They maintain a better than average qualification record in annual marksmanship training.

No matter what experience he brings to the platoon, each man has one statement to make, of his own accord, before he starts driving. In an initial interview with Gunner Boston, each new man must volunteer that "I'll do everything to help."

Some 20 of the platoon's 110 vehicles are checked out daily to permanent ITR personnel as U-drivers. To secure cooperation and impress these non-platoon drivers with the unit's safety record, a streamer is attached to each trip ticket.

Says the streamer: "This Transport Platoon has driven (inserted daily) miles since the last accident. Just one accident that our vehicles are involved in and found to be at fault will wipe out this record. STOP AND THINK BEFORE YOU MAKE A MOVE."

Though he speaks with a genial smile and his attitude is relaxing, Gunner Boston means business when he talks about road safety. "It is our number one commodity," he asserts. There is no doubt of it.

PI—New commander of the 1st Infantry Training Regiment Colonel Leyton M. Rogers, left, commends Warrant Officer Kenneth C. Boston, center, and Staff Sergeant William Rogers, right, for the outstanding safety record set by the 4th Transport Platoon. Gunner Boston commands the platoon and Sergeant Doerner motor transport chief. Colonel Rogers assumed command of the platoon supports, on June 14. He relieved Colonel Rogers who will attend the Naval War College, Newport, R. I.

SLOGAN VIEWERS—Weekly Safety Slogan winner Sergeant Charles J. Ewart, Base Comptroller's office, along with Mrs. Eunice Goldhagen, Safety office secretary, looks over some of the many slogans submitted to the contest this week by marines and dependents.

Slogan Winners Set Pace As Contest Nears Finish

Two more safety slogan winners were named this week by the Slogan Committee which also reminds local marines, dependents and civilian workers that time is running out for their participation in the contest.

The two winners this week are Staff Sergeant Charles McGovern, Base Comptroller's Office, and Sergeant Charles J. Ewart, Service Co., Service Bn., MCB. Both men were awarded PX merchandise certificates for their efforts.

Winning slogans are listed on pages two and four.

Deadline for next week's contest, final regularly scheduled one, is June 30. A grand prize will be awarded July 6, with everyone eligible, including past winners.

To qualify for the final two contests, personnel can submit any number of slogans in writing to the Safe Driving Contest, Bldg. 1403, or call them in to 7-6723.

Contest rules state that all slogans must not exceed 10 words and must be original. All become the property of MCB. Entries must be by name, rank and organization and in the case of dependents, by name and the name and rank of the military member of the family.

Heading the slogan committee is Colonel W. C. Capehart, Base Provost Marshal. Other committee members are Lieutenant Colonel Karl E. Faser, Major Gene M. Hoover, Captain Homer F. Spiers and James E. Umstead.

Golf's Newest Trophy Goes To Winner Of Lejeune, Cherry Point Home Matches

Establishment of a golf prize to be awarded to the winner of the Camp Lejeune-Cherry Point home and home matches was announced this week by the golf committee chairmen of the two bases.

Known as the "Burger Bucket," the award honors Major

General Joseph C. Burger's interest and enthusiasm in golf, both as a player and active supporter. Purpose of the cup is to create additional interest among the hundreds of active golfers both at Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point.

Approximately two feet in diameter and three feet deep, the bucket is colorfully illustrated with the art work of First Lieutenant Albert M. Leahy, MAG-26, Informational Services Officer.

Two golf clubs cross over a green shamrock, surrounded on both sides by a combat marine and a group of jets symbolizing Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point.

Golfers will start aiming in on the bucket towards the latter part of July when the summer's first home and home matches take place. Both Golf Committee chairmen, Camp Lejeune's Colonel M. I. Shuford and Major F. R. Lauer from Cherry Point, hope to see a maximum number of golfers participating in the next matches, tentatively set for July 27 at Cherry Point.

The winner will receive the bucket following the July matches and retain possession of it until the next competition. Until July, the bucket will remain at Camp Lejeune.

History of the home and home series between Lejeune and Cherry Point goes back to the post-war years when the first matches were played. Over the years, competition has been keen with both teams taking an equal number of victories.

Local Talent Norfolk Bound

Six singing marines were selected Tuesday evening during the final eliminations contest to represent Camp Lejeune in the fifth All-Navy Talent show finals at the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk.

First place winner was Corporal Bruce Oughterson, of Hq. Btry., Tenth Marines, who sang "All of Me" and "I've Got You Under My Skin." Placing second was Private First Class Frank J. Hanley, "C" Co., Shore Party Bn., whose rendition of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" received a standing ovation from the packed auditorium at the Camp theater.

The Emerald Quartet walked off with third place by giving snappy versions of "Time Marches On" and "Everybody Is Somebody's Foot." The quartet from H&S Co., Eighth Marines, included Corporal Frank L. Trout, Private Andrew Wilson, Private First Class James Allen and Private First Class Ronald Gathers.

Winners of the local contest last Tuesday night were virtually assured of a good chance at placing in Norfolk and of going on to New York. Winners of the New York finals will appear on the Ed Sullivan TV show.

Judging the local contest were Technical Sergeants J. J. McCarthy and Lee Presley, and First Lieutenants Raymond Wrayley and Mitchell A. Tomaszewicz.

Master of ceremonies was Staff Sergeant Ray Lanier, with music by Chuck Glashagle and the Mello-tones of the 2nd Division band.

"BURGER BUCKET"—Major General Joseph C. Burger, 2nd Division commander, flanked by the Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point Golf Committee chairmen, Colonel M. I. Shuford and Major F. R. Lauer, gets a first hand look at the "Burger Bucket" named in his honor by the Camp and Cherry Point golfers. The "Bucket" will go to the winner of the Camp-CP home and home matches.

Safety — More Than A Word

Safety, one of the most publicized words in the English language, appears before us constantly. Radio, television, newspapers, magazines, advertisements, bulletins, pamphlets remind, scold and even threaten breakers of safety rules—but alas most of the advice goes unheeded.

Of all the violators of safety perhaps the most stupid—and tragic are those found on our highways.

It isn't necessary to go into the statistics of how many are annually killed, maimed and crippled each year. Organizations such as the National Safety Council like prophets of doom uncannily forecast the expectant carnage and they're seldom wrong in their estimates.

One reads about three people killed when their car hit a telephone pole at 90 miles per hour or an entire family wiped out when the driver fell asleep behind the wheel and ran off a bridge. The drunk involved in a head-on collision staggers out but his victims are dead.

What's the usual comment: "Gee, that's too bad, they should have been more careful." But is the next fellow more careful—heeding the warnings and horrible examples that fill our hospitals . . . and morgues?

Most states have severe penalties for drunken driving. Some impose mandatory jail sentences upon first conviction. However, despite the warning that gasoline and alcohol do not mix some never learn until too late.

Hot rodders, show offs and fancy road artists represent another group of safety violators.

We Marines in the Camp Lejeune area should set an example of what constitutes driving courtesy. There's the responsibility to the uniform we wear, our fellow men, the community we live in and most important to ourselves.

The Commandant has just congratulated the Marine Corps on the splendid safety record of no fatalities over the Memorial Day weekend. The Fourth of July holiday could be a happy one if again no fatalities were reported.

A Marine's name looks mighty fine on a promotion warrant or on leave papers but not on a label tied to a toe in some mortuary.

Let's make this Fourth of July weekend an accident-free one—especially on the highway.

In a letter from the Commandant to all commanding officers this week, General Pate expressed his pleasure in the fact that the Marine Corps did not experience a single motor vehicle fatality over the Memorial Day weekend. . . . The Commandant sent his warmest congratulations to all commands for the successful prosecution of their safety programs which made this achievement possible. . . . Further mentioning that such a performance is certainly in keeping with our highest traditions. . . . In closing General Pate warned: "We must not lose sight of the fact that the battle for highway safety is never ending. . . . We have proved that death on the highway is avoidable. . . . By so doing, we are more than ever committed to continue our safety efforts in this respect."

The Old Corps

FIVE YEARS AGO: A combined Marine operation saved the lives of two Goldsboro civilians when they were fished out of the Atlantic Ocean near Onslow Beach after their small fishing craft had overturned. They were spotted and picked up by the men of the 2nd Amphibian Re-con Co. and the 2nd Amphibian Truck Co., Force Troops, who were on maneuvers nearby.

TEN YEARS AGO: Final tests were conducted on the long-sought air-conditioning system at the Camp Theater and cool, conditioned comfort was practically a reality.

Chaplain's Corner

A "sidewalk engineer" once asked three workmen what they were doing. The first said, "I'm hauling bricks"; the second replied, "I'm earning a dollar an hour"; while the third answered with pride, "why, I'm building St. Peter's Cathedral!"

What a difference of attitude these answers betrayed. You can almost see the downcast look of resignation on the face of the first man, the scowl of the second, while the third reply reveals a contented glow of satisfaction on the face of the workman who was "building St. Peter's Cathedral."

Each was doing the same job, let us imagine, the same quality of work. Yet think of the three men and the ways they look at life. At the end of the day's work the first two workmen were, most likely, weary and disillusioned with life. The third was probably weary, too, but with a "good tired" — the weariness of a job well done with purpose behind it. And with purpose goes fulfillment.

What did this third man possess that the others lacked? What was this indefinable quality that made him so different and left him with contentment and joy in his daily task? We could call it a philosophy of life, but I rather imagine it was faith in God who put him here with a job to do and a goal to achieve. I like to end this story with that thought, for surely a thriving religious life can give any man a goal in life, a purpose in death, and that peace which passeth all understanding.

★ WASHINGTON REPORT

Although the House has passed a bill to allow Korea veterans to convert their special term life insurance to permanent plan, the Senate Finance Committee has not taken any formal action on the bill.

Navy Times reported, that at the time the insurance measure cleared the House, Congressional sources said there was a good chance the Finance Committee would send the bill quickly to the Senate floor since there was no opposition to the principle.

If the bill does become law, veterans of the Korean war who have kept up their five-year term policies will be able to convert them into any of six permanent policies for either the full amount they now hold or in multiples of $500 from $1,000 to $10,000.

Veterans who dropped their policies will not be eligible.

Also before the House is another veterans' bill, HR-11577, currently awaiting Committee action. This measure will raise the amount of total disability insurance income from $5 to $10 per month for each $1,000 of coverage to veterans who are disabled totally for six consecutive months or more.

If the Senate approves the bill, the measure will entitle holders of policies with existing $5 total disability income riders, who are in good health, to add the new provisions to their policies. The increased disability coverage would be good only until age 60.

The Fleet Marine Force was established in 1933 to meet the need for a permanent, specially-trained organization to take and hold advanced bases for the Navy.

Short Round

Woman Marine Private Iva Brown's, MCAS, El Toro "Queen for a Day" ended last week when she returned after a seven-day vacation in Honolulu. From the crowned "Queen" by Jack Bailey on his nation-wide show, the young marine ruled a total of 19 days. To her delights, the Macon, Ga., native first had to win over 60 in uniform. Queen today . . . Marine Corps private tomorrow.

After six months in the "graveyard," the first to Fury jet left Cherry Point last week on its final flight place, Columbus, Ohio. While later models continue to fense of our nation, the original Fury will continue to as a ground test aircraft.

Mrs. E. MacDonald of Chico, Calif., was present in MCRD, San Diego, to watch her 16th "son" graduate from recruit training. Affectionately known as "Mom," Mrs. MacDonald has fed, housed, mothered and sent off to school a total of 45 "sons" during the past 27 years. The new marine, Private Rodney S. MacDonald, is Mrs. MacDonald's third natural son to join the Corps. Her first boy, "Big Jim," was killed in action during the Seoul assault in 1950.

For placing his life in danger at the 2nd ITR, Camp Pendleton, Calif., in December, Marine Staff Sergeant Donald L. Wiley was awarded last week the Navy and Marine Corps Medal. Sergeant Wiley, an instructor at the 2nd ITR, placed his life in imminent danger and saved several men from possible death and severe wounds when a young trainee let a grenade slip from his hand. Wiley immediately seized the trainee, hurled it into the next pit and kicked the live grenade to the forward pit. He then leaped into the next pit throwing his life to protect him and prevent possible panic.

Major General Clayton C. Jerome, soon scheduled to be Commanding General, Aircraft, FMF, Pacific, will join the Marine Corps as Director of Industry Development. A 36-year Marine Corps, the general has served as Director of Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps for Air, formation, Director of Recruiting and Director of Marine General Jerome holds a Master of Science degree in engineering from the California Institute of Technology.

Joan Berry Proved Gift Of Gab Still Evident In 53-Hour Marathon Talk

It might have been the understatement of the year when Joan Berry this week said: "I have never been at a loss for words." The wife of Sergeant James E. Berry, Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., 2nd Division, Joan is believed to hold the world's record for talking for 53 hours and 11 minutes.

Sitting in her home at Camp Knox one day she heard the news of a talkathon which was going to be held by a local Jacksonville firm. As a lark she suggested to her husband that she might take part in it. When he didn't object, she went down to see the store manager and suddenly found herself talking . . . and talking . . . and talking.

Born in Long Beach, Calif., 19-year-old Joan talked for hours about that state, covering everything from the mountains, climate, Disneyland and the San Diego zoo.

Only once did she get into a difficulty on a subject, when she began to talk about the Marine Corps and the Commandant. Beginning on a Wednesday afternoon at 3:38 p.m. she did not finish talking until late the following Friday night and then quit only because of mass confusion and noise as bystanders kept telling her that she had broken the world's record.

While talking, salesmen and friends dropped in to bring her sandwiches, and her husband turned up with cokes for the five-minute break every two hours. During the allowed 30 second pause, she'd sip on her soft drink. Only after it was over did she hoarse, and then it lasted for two days. Although she is a light smoker, she found she had almost doubled her cigarette ration by the end of the contest.

"It was a lot of fun," she states, "but I felt more sorry for the people who had to listen." Because the rules don't allow a subject to be covered twice she decided to get one train of thought and continue it until it was exhausted, beginning, for instance, with the art of salad making and carrying it through the entire process until the salad was served.

Throughout the talkathon she found that her husband was a great moral support. Even when she had to sing such songs as "Walking My Baby Back Home," he would stand by smiling and encouraging her.

A former switchboard operator, Joan covered that subject thoroughly and then discussed her marriage to Jim shortly after she had graduated from Jordan High school in Long Beach.

"I'd be glad," she says, "to do it all again if Jim approved."

Daughter Of Local Navy Captain Chosen 'Miss Onslow County' In Beauty Contest

Miss Leland Berkley, daughter of Navy Captain and Mrs. W. L. Berkley of the Naval Hospital, was crowned "Miss Onslow County" and will be the Onslow County representative to the Miss North Carolina contest to be held later this summer.

A senior at the University of Mississippi, Miss Berkley has lived in the Jacksonville area for the last several years. She is 20 years old, five feet four inches tall and weighs 115 pounds.

Miss Berkley won the contest from a field narrowed to five contestants, answering questions about her most humorous experience or most embarrassing moment, what she had gained as a contestant, and her greatest ambition.

Her most embarrassing moment, she said, was when a sorority sister pushed her out on the floor at a play and made her perform. As to what she had gained from the contest, Miss Berkley said that it gave her an opportunity to get to know the town and the people better.

The new "Miss Onslow County" was presented a ring and a bouquet of American Beauty roses. She gave a recitation as her part in the contest.

Miss Berkley was born in St. Louis, Mo., and has lived all over the world. She has a sister, Barbara and an 18-year-old brother.

First Infantry Training Regiment

"... To indoctrinate basically trained Marines in the principles of infantry combat with primary emphasis on field training in order to qualify them for duty as members of the fire team and rifle squad and to provide six months reservists with additional familiarization training in the principles of squad and platoon tactics and the operation and employment of crew-served weapons organic to the infantry regiment..."

Each day hundreds of marines at Camp Geiger take to the "boon-docks" to put into practice ITR's mission through individual and advanced combat training.

The four-week course here is similar to the one at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Majority of young marines arriving at Camp Geiger each day are successful graduates of the twelve-week Parris Island training. During those formative days of "Boot Camp" the new marines were introduced to the ways of the Corps through rigid discipline and intensive training.

Once at Camp Geiger and as a member of sixty-man platoons, their purpose is to put into practice many of the techniques they learned previously at Parris Island and to acquire new knowledge from their ITR instructors.

Tutored mostly by combat experienced officers and NCO's, marines reporting to Geiger's 1st Infantry Training Regiment first undergo a four-week individual combat course.

Individual combat teaches marines to function as individuals during combat and to operate as members of a unit of fire-team or squad size. A regular marine only receives individual combat training at Geiger, then he is assigned a permanent duty station where he can further his training.

Advanced combat, a five-week course, is geared to train the Marine Corps' six-month Reservists and is very similar to individual training except it is taught on a higher level covering squad and platoon tactics and the operation and employment of crew-served weapons used by a marine infantry regiment.

The six-month trainee, equipped with his Geiger instruction, will return to his hometown reserve unit as a highly trained combat man, armed with a first-hand knowledge of military tactics.

The training at Camp Geiger for both regular and reserve marines is mostly in the field learning scouting and patrolling, mapping, compass use, field sanitation and hygiene, first aid and to operate different types of weapons used by the Marine Corps today.

Although emphasis is on field training, classroom theory isn't overlooked. Marine trainees spend many hours in the classroom preparing for future field training and also in the reviewing of previous instructions.

Private First Class Matthew F. Moore Jr. and Private George E. Gavagan Jr. are marines who received this training that approximately 30,000 Leathernecks receive at Geiger annually.

They were members of "E" Co., 1st Bn., 1st Infantry Training Regt., one of 21 such companies at Geiger which exists for one reason only—training marines to be combat ready.

Dental Unit Performs Mission

Force Troops marines hoping to put off a needed visit to the dentist by participating in field maneuvers have little success. The man with the grinding drill follows them!

Insuring that Force Troops has the best dental care are the dentists and technicians of 2nd Dental Company. Numbering seven dental officers and 14 enlisted technicians, the unit has been in existence since late 1955. Since that time the unit has handled all types of dental problems whether in garrison, in the field or at sea.

Indicative of the unit's maneuverability was its active participation during LANTPHIBEX 1-58. This was the first time that an east coast dental company had gone into the field in conjunction with a major operation and had maintained a fully equipped field clinic.

During the maneuver, dental teams were added to elements of the marine Fast Landing Forces. One dentist and a technician made up a team and flew in by helicopter with the first helicopters to land on Scarlet.

By moving the unit in quickly, Dental Company was able to provide immediate dental facilities to the troops in the field and were also in a position to reconnoiter an area for a clinic which would come after all was secured.

Throughout the large scale operation the company was given logistic support by the Second Force Service Regiment but beyond this essential assistance, the company supported itself.

Dental technicians participating in LANTPHIBEX were highly trained personnel, ready and capable to offer medical support of any type in the case of an extreme emergency. If the situation demanded, 2nd Dental Technicians could easily assist medical corpsmen and pressed physicians on the combat field.

But more familiar to the average marine at Camp Geiger is the company's garrison location at Bldg. 315. A complete clinic is in operation throughout the week, open to the aches and pains of the individual marines.

There, the unit handles any dental work which may arise, from emergency oral surgery to the relief of the ordinary tooth ache, resulting from an untended cavity. For the athlete who loses one of his teeth on the gridiron, a prosthetic officer is available to take away that toothless grin.

For the field marine, exhausted after a 15-mile hike, the comfort and relaxation of the dentists' adjustable folding chairs looks mighty appealing.

Locals One Game Away From Title

Winning Club Returns Home

A triumphant varsity baseball team returned home yesterday after winning seven games on the road while dropping a lone encounter.

But most important to the coaches and players, the local club all but cemented their right to represent the East Coast in All-Marine competition in August when they took the measure of Parris Island best two out of three. By winning two, Lejeune moved to a 7-2 mark in conference standings, while the Islanders are 4-5 and Quantico is completely out of the running with a 1-5 record.

Coach Hal Glasgow's charges are assured of at least a tie with PI and one more win will give them the undisputed crown of East Coast Marine Champions. With only three more games in conference play, and these against the Virginians, Lejeune is almost assured of the coveted title, the second won by a local team this year. Earlier, coach Don Spencer steered his crew to the basketball crown of East Coast supremacy.

The team, boasting a 52-14 record against the top service competition on the East Coast, is moving toward one of the finest seasons ever recorded by a local nine. Going through the old annals of the GLOBE, the 1951 and 1953 teams were considered the best at Lejeune.

In 1951, a local aggregation wound up with a 70-14 ledger, were East Coast champs, All-Marine and finished fourth in the National Baseball Conference Semi-Pro Tournament. Two years later, a Lejeune club, sporting a 70-15 record, captured the Atlantic Fleet tourney.

Golf Slices

By JIM BUTLER

The USNH golf team almost ended the 11-game win streak of Hq. Bn., failing by one-half point as they were defeated 12½-11½.

In other action, MCSS won over MP&Gd. Bn. while ITR topped Engr. Sc. Bn. Drawing a bye was Serv. Bn.

The Division tournament, scheduled for Monday, had to be moved back a day because of rainy weather.

The No. 2 course will be closed Friday and Monday for maintenance purposes.

The Navy Relief Tournament was completed with the following winners: blind bogey, W. L. Berkley, 77; W. M. Florie, 73; J. S. Webb, 80; and L. H. Klynman, 74.

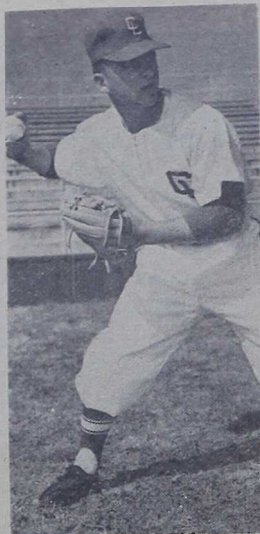

Winners in the putting competition and their respective finish were: W. C. Stevens, R. Leach, H. Colter, Ken Carruthers and H. Simudis.

Softball Tourney Scheduled July 21

Base Special Services announced that the Quad-Command Softball Tournament will commence July 21 at a field to be designated by the Base Athletic Officer.

A double elimination tourney, each command is requested to enter two teams. All entries must be submitted to the Athletic Office by July 18. Brackets will be drawn on that date beginning 2 p.m.

All equipment with the exception of uniforms, gloves and bats will be furnished by Base Special Services. Each team must also supply a scorekeeper.

Airmen Felled On One-Hitter By L. Mason

Prior to meeting Parris Island, the Camp Lejeune baseball nine added two more wins at the expense of Donaldson AFB behind the hurling of big Jim Donnelly and Leroy Mason's superb one-hitter. In both games, the Airmen were shut out as Donnelly pitched an eight-hitter in his 5-0 victory with the Lejeune bats exploding for 12 blows in their 13-0 route behind Mason.

Donnelly walked five while fanning six. He had excellent defensive support that helped preserve the whitewash. George Uremovich banged out a three-bagger in the first inning, scoring the first two markers.

Mason had a no-hitter going for six innings before Joe Ceily lined a single to left field, the only ball hit out of the infield all night. In picking up his first win of the season, Mason fanned 12 while walking five.

Hal Norton uncorked a grand slam home run in the ninth as he and Paul Lacity led the Lejeune attack with three hits apiece.

Marv Leggett and Terry Tellman, both instrumental in guiding the 1957-58 basketball squad to the East Coast title, are expected to team once again. This time it will be with a semi-pro club in the Houston, Texas, area.

Parris Island Beaten Two-Out-Of-Three As Marines Stand 7-2 In Conference

JIM DONNELLY
... Ace Pitcher

Camp Lejeune swept past Parris Island two of three last week to advance closer to the East Coast title. The Marines took the first tilt behind Gerry Smith pitching, 10-3. The second game was a complete rout, 10-0, behind Donnelly's pitching and Lejeune's fielding lapses and four unearned runs in the inning. The third game, which spelled doom for the Islanders, came out on the short end of the stick.

It took 10 frames before Lejeune finally won the last tilt. Smith relieved starter Donnelly to earn credit for the win of the series and the season.

Smith hurled a brilliant first win, giving Lejeune a 10-3 victory in the fifth. Taylor, who had ace struck out while walking four, helped his own team with a two-run single in the second inning after Clary's strong hit doubled George Uremovich across for the first run in the ball game.

Dave Pavlesic, sent to first base on a bingle in the fourth, had scored on a walk in the fifth.

Mick Taylor doubled, Uremovich, who had gained two paths via a free pass. Three walks and two counted for three more runs.

Pacing the Lejeune attack was Uremovich, who went four at the plate, Taylor, who had a walk, and Uremovich, who had a walk.

The next night, the Lejeune team experienced a minor setback in their pitching held up by Uremovich's fielding lapses and proved the Islanders in the losing cause. The Lejeune team, however, unearned runs in the fifth inning.

The locals picked up the third when Armitage's single in the third inning beat the Parris Island team.

Team No. 6 Paces Staff Keglers With 4-0 Victory

Team No. 4 shut out Falstaff to run their season record to 21-3 in the Staff NCO Bowling loop. Pacing the winners once again was Jim Wray with a 228-607, both figures representing highs in staff action last week. Doc Gracie and Joe Eulberg combined for a 183-512 game-series respectively.

The second place Schlitzers kept pace with the leaders as they blanked Bowlerena behind Paul Vasko's 206-502. Frank Wigmore rolled a 189-469 for the losers.

In other action, the Hadnot Point Staffers stopped New River Pharmacy, 3-1. Don Owne was high bowler for the Staffers recording a 195-514 with Charley Paetz scattering the pins for a 87-519.

Team No. 6 defeated Tarawa ESSO, 3-1, behind Jake Jakubazak's

217 and Ed Rogan's 552. Joe Leboeuk had a 183-463 for the ESSO keggers.

MOST VALUABLE TRACKMAN—Corporal Al Daniels is presented the Most Valuable Trackman's Trophy by Lieutenant Colonel M. D. Benda, Special Services officer, MCB. Corporal Daniels was a standout performer with the 1958 Camp Lejeune track team. In the All-Marine Track and Field Championships, Corporal Daniels played havoc with all opposition as he took three firsts, winning the broad jump and century dash. He capped the championships by running the third leg on the victorious 440-yard relay team. Flanking Colonel Benda and Corporal Daniels are his coaches, First Lieutenant Bob Callahan, right, and First Lieutenant Vern Ellars.

ALL-MARINE RECORD BROKEN—Camp Lejeune's Parris Island tennis team made it three All-Marine records at the Championships last week at the Liversedge oval. In a telephone conversation, Jones, Leatherneck sports writer, Jones verified the pending All-Marine record set by Frank Jones, who was a complete run in the hammer throw on the sledge 142'24" to officially break the record of 137'24" established by the 1957 team.

It took 10 frames before Smith finally won the last set, 6-3, in the final of the series on the ball game. Smith hurled a ball in his first win, giving him a 5-1 record in the fifth. L. Larrick Hurls No Hitter In Divvy Softball Loop

Lynn Larrick, General Supply Co., 2nd Serv. Regt., hurled his team into first place last week when he turned in the first perfect game of the season in the Division's intramural softball competition. Gen. Sup. defeated Ordnance Co., 7-0.

Larrick, who was a member of last year's FMFLant All-Star team, struck out 13 of the 21 batters he

Gen. Sup. took two other contests last week, downing Ordnance Co. once again, 17-10, and gaining a forfeit at the hands of Dental Co. MT whipped the cellar-dwelling Dentists, 21-5, H&S bested MT, 9-6, while Ordnance Co. hemmed H&S, 9-7.

General Supply now leads the league with a 5-1 record with H&S Co. one-half game off the pace at 5-2. Ordnance is third with five wins and three losses; MT fourth, with a 2-5 slate, and Dental Co. last with no wins and six losses.

In Group II action, 2nd Med. Bn. won its ninth and tenth consecutive games last week to clinch the title with one-third of the schedule remaining. They romped over MT twice, 14-1 and 10-3.

Paul Noel twirled two-hit ball in the first game and Fred West followed up with a neat four-hitter. Leading hitters for Med. Bn. were Paul Freda with five for seven, including two home runs. Bill Monarch collected three for five and a homer, and Charley Browning garnering four safeties in six attempts.

In the only game played in the Group I loop, Recon Bn. hammered Hq. Bn., 12-8, to take over the lead with a 2-0 record. Headquarters is in the second slot with 1-1 while Pioneer Bn. is last at 0-2.

FISH & WILDLIFE

BY THE "OLD ANGLER"
Phone 7-5522

I still haven't had any good reports on fresh water fishing in this area, but I feel sure that someone must be having a little luck and only wish they would report to me. There is no doubt in my mind but what other anglers would like to know about the results of a successful fresh water catch.

The Game Warden of Camp Lejeune reported that fishing in Southeast Creek over the past week has been "pretty good," but all the good reports relate to salt water fishing.

Salt water fishing has picked up with a bang. Walter J. Lewis, William R. Tillman, Howard L. Bombard, Howard E. Tiedt, S. V. Reid and H. Aab, all of MCSS Montford Point, had a real good time of it just out of Morehead City this past weekend. Fishing off of the head boat, "Danco," they caught better than 150 pounds of assorted bottom fish.

Aboard the "Blue Water," Capt. Don Faber, Jack and Henry Tate, Paul Edenfield and Max Fountain showed their merit as anglers by a take of 14 kings and 12 amberjacks. Good fishing around Morehead City.

The giant bluefish, the fabulous "Hatteras Blues," which made the North Carolina coast piscatorially famous in 1935-36, and then apparently disappeared for 22 years were still hitting the lures of anglers in Wimble Shoals waters. This is 20 miles southeast of Oregon Inlet. Since the big schools were discovered there on June 8, more than 1,000 have been landed by anglers. The average weight has been 12 to 14 pounds—not one less than 9½ pounds. You marine anglers who are interested get on up there because I don't know how long this will last.

An all-time coast record has been reported to me. During the month ending June 20, a record for landing blue marlin has been made in the Cape Hatteras waters with 26 of the giant billfish being caught, half of which scaled at 400 pounds or more.

Aycock Brown of Manteo informs me that this type of sensational fishing in the Cape Hatteras area has attracted the attention of big game fishermen throughout the country. It sure would be nice to have reported that the record catch was landed by a Lejunite for this year, and with the fishing as good as it is, this might just be done.

At the last meeting of the Camp Lejeune Rod and Gun Club, a white elephant sale started off the meeting with many articles going at bargain prices. The principal item discussed was ways and means of expanding the facilities available to members, thereby making the stay at Camp Lejeune a highlight of one's career. The coming waterfowl and deer hunting seasons were also discussed. The next meeting will be held at Marston Pavilion on July 10.

Campbell, Kirby-Smith Win 2nd Division Tennis Crowns

Fred Campbell and E. Kirby-Smith teamed up to capture the doubles' crown in the 2nd Division's three-day tennis tournament held last week at the Sixth Marines' court. The twosome, who represented Group II, swept three matches in their bid for the title.

Campbell, who was a doubles' winner last year, also went on to take the singles event. In total, the champs walked away with four trophies—two doubles, a single, and a team presentation for scoring the most points in both events.

In the first day's action, Campbell and Kirby-Smith defeated Bob Leder and John Stewart, Service Regiment, 6-1 and 6-1. The semi-finals presented more of a challenge for the titleholders for they ran into some stiff opposition in the person of Tom Jones and Jack Thompson of the Tenth Marines.

Jones and Thompson took the first set, 6-1, but the Group II duo came through with a strong finish to take the series, two out of three, with sets of 6-4 and 7-5.

The finals were won without a battle for the Second Marines' Jack Zurowski failed to show up

Everett Wins 'A' Flight In Weekly WGA Tourney

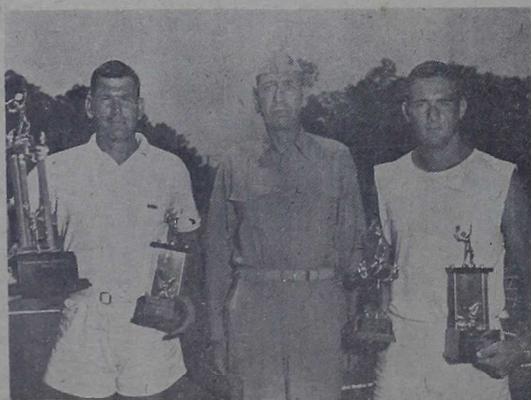

A "Least Fairways Shot" tourney was conducted by Camp Lejeune's WGA last week with Mrs. A. L. Everett capturing "A" flight with a 46.

Winning in "B" was Mrs. W. R. Lindsey (59), while Mrs. C. Thomas captured "C" flight with a 71. A. C. Shofner took "D" flight with a 79. Least number of putts was taken by Mrs. P. R. Colmer.

for the match, therefore he and teammate James Harrell vied to Campbell and Kirby-Smith by forfeit.

In the singles event, Campbell outclassed his opponents, winning every set that was played. On the first day, he whipped Pete Olsen, Eighth Marines, 6-0 and 6-4. Jones fell before Campbell in the semi-finals by scores of 6-0 and 6-4.

On the final day of the tournament, Campbell continued his mastery on the courts by defeating Larry Philipponne of the Sixth Marines, 6-1 and 6-1.

Second Marines Put Skid To Sixth's Six Game Streak

The fifth place Second Marines club played the spoiler's role last week, knocking off the league-leading Sixth Marines, 5-4, in a 2nd Division Baseball game, thus ending a six-game winning streak.

This loss tightened up the league considerably for only three games in now separate the first five teams. The Second Marines, only team that didn't last week, have started a small surge of their own over the past three weeks, copping four of their last five outings.

In their 5-4 win, Don Sandifer, who relieved starter Joe Pisano after three runs were home in the top of the last inning, put out the fire and saved the game by striking out Joe Peste and Andy Coffey.

In the top of the sixth, Bob Pimbianco singled, advanced to second on a walk to Bill Yeagle and scored on Joe Peste's bingle. The roof then caved in on Pisano in the seventh stanza. Al Jordan and Bob Federico both singled. Pisano loaded up the bases on a pass to Al Dippelitto. Don Carter promptly banged out two RBIs with a single to left, advanced to second on a passed ball and scored on Yeagle's bingle. Sandifer came in at this point to retire the side.

The Second Marines swept their second game of the week with a 4-2 victory over the Tenth Marines. Bob Carbaugh, who went the route for the winners, dealt the striking blow in the third inning when he belted a three-run homer which proved to be the winning margin.

Al Franke, Eighth Marines' chucker, won his fifth game of the campaign, beating Group II, 4-3, allowing only two hits.

The Tenth Marines, behind the three-hit pitching of Don Larsen, blanked Group II, 7-0. Larsen, who was touched for three scratch singles, whiffed 10. Cal McNair, Tenth Marines' first baseman, led the hitting assault with three for four, including a triple.

Group I made it four in a row early last week, defeating the Eighth Marines, 7-3. The winners jumped into an early lead in the initial inning on a single by Tom Robbins and a double by Jerry Boston that drove in the first run. Group I added four more in the fourth frame on singles by Arsen Varjabadian and Boston, a double by Jim Kunsman, and Carey Henley's triple.

Collazo and Jordan combined to give the Eighth Marines their first run in the fourth inning, when Collazo reached base on an error by shortstop Jim Furnish and scored on Jordan's single. The losers scored two more runs in the sixth on singles by Dempsey and Ronsick, and an error by the Group I catcher, Jim McCarty.

Group I rounded out the scoring in their half of the seventh when Henley got his second hit of the afternoon, a double, and scored when McCarty singled.

Tom Benson gave up three hits in picking up the win. John Synkevecz, who was relieved by Howard Haywood in the third, was charged

POP UP—Group I's first baseman, Jim Kunsman, catches the ball in front of the plate as catcher Jim McCarty comes in for assistance in a 2nd Division Baseball Conference game between the Sixth Marines last week. The league-leading Sixth Marines lost, 2-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Kresge.

Two days later, Group I's four-game winning streak was halted when they dropped a close decision to the Sixth Marines, 2-0.

The Sixth scored two unearned runs in the first inning when errors by the Group I infield put two men on base. Singles by Bob Pimbianco, Don Carter and Bill Yeagle drove in the two runs.

Joe Kresge, who pitched the shutout, picked up the win after being touched for three singles in the first inning.

In the final game of the Eighth Marines' Tenth Marines, 8-1, led the Eighth in hits for three at the plate, with runs batted in.

Parris Island Defeated

"Pappy" Herrington and Paul Lacity all walked to load the bases. Hal Norton singled two across and Uremovich was safe via an error. Hal Norton was issued a free pass to force home the final tally.

From there it was all-reliever Chef Pryor, who shut out the North Carolinians on two hits in pitching the rest of the way: "Pappy" went six frames before being relieved by Ron Sisk. The ace twirler allowed only three hits in his appearance on the mound, losing his third game of the year.

Big Jim Donnelly and George Nowakowski locked themselves in a tight pitchers' duel in the last tilt only to find a shadow of the old Brooklyn Dodgers creep across the field and suddenly erupt into another down-to-the-wire finish that wasn't decided until the tenth.

Lejeune was unable to get a hit off the PI hurler until Horan singled to center. However, it wasn't until the following inning that the locals momentarily went ahead. Armstrong led off with a bingle and Donnelly was safe via an attempted sacrifice with Armstrong going to second. "The Brat" walked to load the bases. Lacity fled out but Keller, pinch-hitting for Pavlesic, grounded to the Island shortstop who in turn committed a throwing error allowing two to come home. Norton flied to deep right with the final run of the frame scoring.

Library News

By JOYCE DUNN — Phone 7-5410

Each Wednesday morning throughout the summer from 10-11 a.m., children in the age group 5 through 12 are invited to a Summer Story Hour at the Central Library, Bldg. 62, MCB. Experienced storytellers will be present to bring alive the world of books.

An excellent guide for the parent interested in children's reading habits is May Arbutnot's "Children and Books." Children are forthright creatures and their reactions to their reading are sometimes disconcerting and often amusing. Mrs. Arbutnot tells us what books children value along with something about their authors and what can be done to instill a love of good reading.
