Navy Relief Starts Volunteer Training Schedule Tuesday

Navy Relief Society held its monthly meeting last Thursday with Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Base commanding general, presiding at the conference in Bldg I.

In an informal atmosphere, the accomplishments and problems confronting the Navy Relief here were discussed. A letter of congratulations from Vice Adm. V. R. Murphy, USN (Ret.), and present executive vice-president of the Navy Relief Society, was read by Chaplain

R. A. Vaughn, assistant Base chaplain and executive vice-president of Navy Relief at Camp Lejeune.

The main administrative problems facing the Navy Relief are the fund drive, volunteers and the training of personnel.

According to Mrs. T. J. Colley, chairman of the voluntary workers, the call for volunteers has been extremely satisfying with 125 already signed for the training course as of August 27, with that figure increasing every day.

The course will begin on Tuesday at 9 a.m. at Marston Pavilion, running for four consecutive weeks and consisting of a series of 12 lectures. The program will be carried out under the direction of Miss Myrtle James, field representative for the Navy Relief Society. Monday, Wednesday and Friday have been designated as lecture days with classes starting at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Registration may be made by (See NAVY RELIEF, Page 2)

Marine Corps Faulty Driving Proves Costly

Claims amounting to $24,327.99 were brought against Naval personnel of the Fifth Naval District, which includes Camp Lejeune, during fiscal year 1957 due to faulty operation of government vehicles.

Motor vehicle operators here cost the Federal Government $7,930.70 in claims against the United States.

Certain corrective policies have been initiated by the Commandant of the Fifth Naval District to combat the substantial loss in government spending.

Commanding officers have been directed to insure that government vehicles are operated only by competent and responsible drivers.

Safety programs must be accorded wide publicity and all personnel should receive thorough indoctrination and training in proper road techniques. Accidents involving an individual should be marked on his driver's permit.

Appropriate disciplinary action will be taken against careless drivers. A record of the disciplinary results taken against the driver will accompany each motor vehicle report submitted to the Commandant, Fifth Naval District.

Safe Driving Urged In All School Areas

With the advent of school opening on Tuesday, drivers have been cautioned to watch for school children and observe school bus signals.

First Lt. F. L. Moffitt, Base passenger transportation officer, points out that it is North Carolina law to stop for school buses.

Drivers have been instructed to report the Base tags of all military violations to the Base provost marshal.

The offenders will be subject to disciplinary action.

Letter Of Commendation Results From Rescue Aid

During ceremonies at the Rifle Range last Monday, Sgt. Charles A. Duce was awarded a Letter of Commendation for assisting in the rescue of 12 Marines from a rough sea at Okinawa.

Lt. Col. Lloyd O. Williams, commanding officer, rifle range detachment, made the presentation on behalf of the Secretary of the Navy, Thomas S. Gates, Jr.

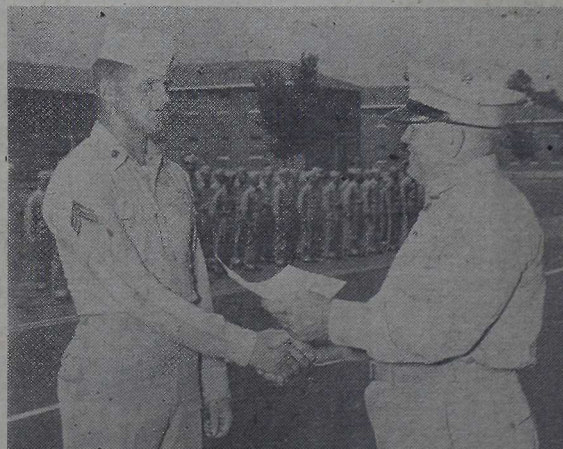

The citation read, "For excellent service in the line of his profession while serving with 'F' Co., 2nd Bn., Ninth Marines (Reinf.), 3rd Division, on Okinawa. On Sept. 5, 1956, when other members of his unit who were bathing in the ocean were washed out to sea by a sudden and treacherous undertow and tide, Sergeant Duce immediately joined the unit in rescue operations and effectively contributed to the efforts which resulted in the saving of 12 Marines from drowning.

"His conduct throughout the incident was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

A graduate of Nantucket high school, Nantucket, Mass., Sergeant Duce enlisted in the Marine Corps in January 1954.

The citation also authorizes Sergeant Duce to wear the Commendation Ribbon and Metal Pendant. He is currently serving as a coach at the Rifle Range.

RECEIVES AWARD—Sgt. Charles A. Duce, Rifle Range detachment, is presented a Letter of Commendation by Lt. Col. Lloyd O. Williams, commanding officer. Sergeant Duce received the award for assisting in the rescue of 12 Marines from drowning while on Okinawa.

If you ask me...

DURING YOUR CRUISE WITH THE NELM BATTALION, WHAT HAS BEEN YOUR FAVORITE PORT OF CALL?

(Asked of members of the 1st Bn., (Reinf.), Second Marines, currently in the Mediterranean with the U. S. Sixth Fleet.)

PFC ROCCO SCARAMASTRA, Radio Operator — The port of my choice was Alicante, Spain. The bullfights, fiestas and captivating senoritas were wonderful. The country itself, although financially poor, was rich in history, romance, and, above all, friendliness. It would be a good place to be granted extended duty. The people are very hospitable towards Americans.

PFC WALTER GARDA, "C" Company Clerk — Of all the ports I liked Cannes, France, most of all. It was just wonderful being along the French Riviera and visiting Monte Carlo, Monaco and the French Alps. We sure took advantage of the beautiful beaches and the warm climate and the food was just fabulous, the way it was prepared and served.

SGT. GUS A. KOCH, Headquarters Company — No particular port, really, because I enjoyed them all. But my most exciting days were when I was granted leave to Germany to visit parts of my family and all my relatives. I had the most wonderful time of my life. The people back home were more excited about it than I was.

PFC JAMES A. LANDON, Radio Operator — I enjoyed Athens, Greece, most of all. From an educational viewpoint, Athens — with its Parthenon, Acropolis, Temples of Pallas Athena and the Vestal Virgins — was unsurpassed. And yet the real beauty lays in the delicate intermarriage of its ancient classic Greek architecture and modern new world atmosphere.

CPL. EDWIN WAGSTAFF, Bn. Disbursing — My tour from Naples to Rome, Italy, the "Eternal City," afforded so many things to see that it was impossible to see it all in three days. The beautiful churches and many fountains alone made the trip well worth while. The painting by Michelangelo was another outstanding feature of the historic city.

Camp Lejeune's Military Policemen Provide Many Valuable Services For Area Personnel

By SGT. JAMES V. GRAHAM
GLOBE Staff Writer

Looking out for the welfare of the Marine, his dependent or visitors to Camp Lejeune is just one of the many tasks the military policeman faces daily.

Military police maintain watch 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The military policeman's job is varied and complex. He may be involved in several different situations during his tour of duty and must be able to cope with any unexpected occurrence that may arise.

Because of the importance of the MP's duty, Col. William C. Capehart, commanding officer, Military Police and Guard Battalion, and also the Base Provost Marshal, personally screens and selects all new Marines reporting for duty with Camp Lejeune's military police.

The potential military policeman must possess outstanding military characteristics, be neat in appearance and capable of accepting additional responsibilities.

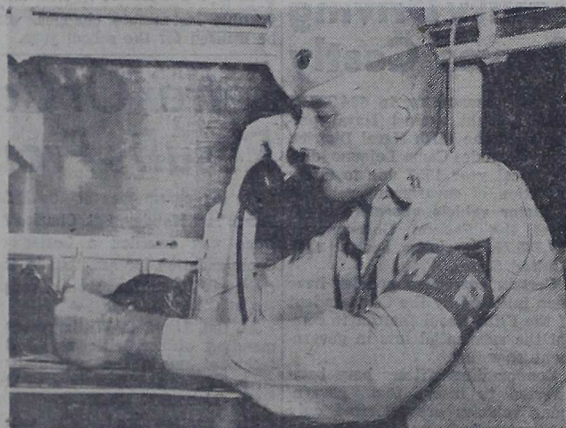

If the Marine is selected for duty with the battalion, he is given extensive instruction and on-the-job training.

Marine Corps Base supplies military policemen for detachments in Wilmington, Kinston, Jacksonville and the various beaches in the area. Altogether, there are about 350 military policemen in the battalion.

These MP's assist the local police department in working with military personnel on liberty in the town in which they are stationed.

HELPFUL INFORMANT—Pvt. Donald J. True, Main Gate sentry, answers questions of Mrs. Janie Granger concerning various places on the Base. Military policemen must have a good knowledge of the Base to be able to answer the many queries put to them daily by Marines, dependents and visitors.

KEEPING INFORMED—Cpl. Robert M. Lape, desk sergeant at the Main Gate, uses the radio to keep informed of situations in his vicinity. Through the use of mobile units, military policemen can be reached and lend their assistance at any point quickly.

Whether a Marine is lost, without transportation back to the Base or in trouble, the MP's are always there to lend every assistance.

They maintain a Shore Patrol in these towns to help in handling Marines and to render other assistance as needed.

In an effort to reduce the number of traffic accidents along the main highways leading to Camp Lejeune, military police patrols are always on duty.

These patrols cover Highway 17, both north and south, Highway 258 west and Highway 24 as far as Swansboro. They are ever alert for the careless or fatigued driver and are proficient in first aid, if needed. Effectiveness of these patrols can be noted in the decreased number of traffic fatalities this year in relation to other years.

However, the military policeman's responsibility is not limited to highways. They are stationed in all of Camp Lejeune's trailer parks and operate patrols throughout all housing areas.

Colonel Capehart states that the morale of the unit is high. The colonel notes that of the MP's work during off-duty hours taking a paring notes on curves, intersections known to be especially hazardous.

Last month MP and Battalion graduated a 70 Marine from a military school. These students thoroughly instructed phases of their jobs during a two-week course.

Other equally important tasks of the military policeman are interior guard and protection of government property.

They man all gates of Lejeune and supply the 272 miles of roads and reservation.

The traffic problem is more difficult with the coming of the fall and afternoon rush. In all kinds of weather, man various control stations at crowded intersections to a smooth and orderly traffic.

Whatever the military man's job may be, he is to protect and assist the calling the Navy Relief at 7-5584 or 7-5825, or contacting Mrs. Colley at 7-5584.

Free baby sitting has been authorized for those attending the classes. Request must be made through the Relief office. It was noted Tuesday very few mothers taken advantage of this service. It has been urged that mothers attending the classes who are planning to use sitting service contact the Relief immediately.

There is still room for volunteers and it has been noted that some persons sign for instructions want to take advantage of the course. It is being offered even if they may not be immediately available.

It was emphasized that a tremendous unhappiness on this Base in the form of wives who have been an invitation to volunteer.

This seems feasible with the Staff NCO becoming a strong reality very near future. This creates the potential membership in the Navy Society as it is the plan Staff Wives club to join in the program.

The month of July saw volunteers donate 366 hours in the relief work. Interviewers are especially needed in the field.

One of the Society's headaches in the past was that they had enough help but no substitutes or replacements to relieve them.

Under the present program everyone can be utilized. The idea of the classes is to have the volunteer and acquaint with the work of the Navy and that at a future date the program will be large enough to have all of the volunteers.

Supply Officers In Seminar At HQMC

Twelve Marine Corps commands were represented at the second bi-annual Procurement Seminar held last week at Headquarters Marine Corps.

Brig. Gens. C. R. Allen and W. P. Battel welcomed the attending delegates, 13 officers and seven civilians, at the start of the four-day conference.

The seminar was devoted to discussing developments, policy and systems in the purchasing and procurement field.

This procurement seminar was first established two years ago as a result of expansion of monetary purchasing limitations in the Marine Corps.

The meeting, a bi-annual affair, was held under the supervision of J. W. McLain, Supply Dept., Headquarters Marine Corps.

When making a long trip, have the AAA or one of the oil companies plan the trip with reference to the shortest routes, best roads, preferred lodging and eating places.

Lejeune Teachers Attend Pre-School Training Workshop

Prior to the opening of all Camp Lejeune schools on Tuesday, at 8:45 a.m., teachers began the first phase of their in-service training program by attending a pre-school workshop this week at the Camp school.

The workshop has a threefold purpose.

First, to orient new teachers as

Civil Service employees in a Federal school; to present to the entire faculty general regulations, current teaching methods and practices, and last, to review and bring up-to-date education and Civil Service policies and procedures that govern the operation of the Camp Lejeune school system.

The meeting was opened last Monday with registration of all teachers and recognition of new personnel.

This was followed by an address by Col. R. L. Stallings, chairman of the Camp Lejeune school board.

A tour of the different schools was next on the schedule, followed by a presentation of effective Civil Service policies and procedures by the Employee Relations officer and Training officer.

Teachers discussed discipline, grading system and general school problems and attended a presentation of over-all course of study, available books and teaching aids.

Miss Julia Teasley, reading consultant, gave instruction on phonetic analysis and outstanding teaching techniques throughout the United States.

The group was conducted on a guided tour of Marine Corps Base and closed the workshop by reporting in to their respective schools and preparing classrooms for school opening.

The Camp Lejeune school employs only teachers with Class A certificates and does not permit the instructors to teach out of their field of certification.

Substitute teachers must possess the same qualifications as regular personnel.

Teachers come to the Lejeune schools as graduates of colleges and universities throughout the country.

Commanding officer of the unit is Lt. Col. E. M. Stimson. Highlight of the cruise will be the battalion's participation in "Operation Deepwater," which will include all units of the Sixth Marines.

This exercise is scheduled to be conducted in the latter part of September.

'56 Highway Record

In 1956, Marines, along with the Navy, literally tossed away $36,000,000 in cold cash.

This impressive figure is the amount of money that automobile accidents involving members of the Naval service cost the government last year.

Sadly enough, a total of 7,800 Marines and sailors were admitted to hospitals because of such accidents. As a result, over 328,000 man-days were lost. Then consider the 1,000 men who were permanently lost either by death or disability and the situation becomes more tragic.

Staggering as these facts are, the majority of us continue to follow our established driving routines, slip shod as they may be, convinced that accidents always happen to "the other fellow."

Perhaps some have been snapped out of this complacency by the tragedies which have occurred on this Base during the last month. Let us hope so for the fatality rate this year seems to be approaching astronomical heights.

While military patrols are being increased on the highways, leave and liberty hours arranged to permit more daylight driving, and safety checks are being conducted, the solution still rests with the individual driver.

All the gifted speech and lofty prose in the world will be of no avail if a man insists on remaining blind. Only common sense can dictate to him what is right and help him save his life and consequently the lives of others.

It's your life. Try and live it.

Sunday School

On Sunday morning, September 8, in various buildings located on this Marine Corps Base, the shuffling of pint-sized chairs into neat rows will mingle with the chatter of young voices.

A friendly hand is raised to signal silence, and everyone settles down to await the first chord of the opening hymn. Thus begins for several hundred Marine and Navy children the tradition known as Sunday School.

Some parents who bring or send their youngsters, think of this hour as nothing more than a good baby-sitting service. Others hope that their children will learn basic religious tenets so that they themselves might be spared answering "difficult" questions. Other parents consider it the thing to do.

Actually, parents need to take a hard look at the Sunday School, its leadership, its curriculum and its participants. It should be only part of a much wider experience for young people—an experience that includes the whole family. It is the parents' job, more than anybody else's, to teach faith to their children.

This is a mighty big step in the direction of leading your child away from juvenile delinquency. Sunday School opens September 8.

Chaplain's Corner

Can a Marine, or a serviceman in general, be a saint? Now being a saint does not mean going around with a long face, uttering pious phrases. It merely means doing God's will at any moment. It means accomplishing yourself what you yourself pray for in the Lord's Prayer: "Thy will be done." And St. Paul tells us that "this is the Will of God, your sanctification."

You say it is impossible! All right, here is a list of servicemen who made the grade. They were human like yourself, subject to the same environment, subject to the same temptations that you are!

They are portrayed in the windows of your Catholic Chapel: St. Longinus, St. Eustace, St. Hippolytus, St. George, St. Maurice, St. Sebastian, St. Martin, St. Louis, St. Ignatius of Loyola, St. John of God, and St. Camillus.

These servicemen were able to become saints. Other servicemen, Marines included, are making or are trying to make the change now. Many will make the change in the weeks or months to come. YOU can try NOW.

Ten Years Ago This Week

The Camp Lejeune Golf championship finals will be played this week on the Paradise Point golf course. All hands are invited to watch the play as eight matches are set for final day.

It was announced this week that effective January 1, 1949, enlisted service personnel will have to pay income tax in the same manner as civilians, under an act of the 80th Congress. Present exemptions will remain effective through the calendar year 1948.

Two More Sunday Schools To Begin; Teachers Needed

Two more Sunday schools will open on Sunday, September 8. Chaplain H. L. Moates will direct the school at Tarawa Terrace and Chaplain E. S. Lemieux will supervise operations of the school located at Paradise Point.

The additional schools have been added because of the anticipated enrollment of more than 400 at the Tarawa Terrace school alone. For further information, consult the adjoining schedule.

Teachers are needed both at the Paradise Point and Montford Point schools.

There will be a meeting at the Camp Lejeune High school on September 5 beginning at 7:30 p.m. for teachers who have already signed and for those who wish to sign to instruct at the Paradise Point Sunday school.

The Montford Point Sunday school will conduct a box lunch picnic on September 8 at the Camp Knox Community Center, starting at 1:30 p.m. Those attending should bring their own.

An Acolyte training course is scheduled for 10:30 p.m. divine worship services at the Camp Protestant Chapel. Eligible are boys from the ages of 9-12. A Boy Scout can earn his God and Country Award through the program. Those interested should contact the Base Chaplain's office at 7-5543.

Short Round

It seems that the Navy has a stranglehold on the supremacy in toastmaster circles, the fur-lined gavel, in theville, Fla., area.

For the third straight time, a Navy toastmaster took the prize, Lt.(jg) Gene Guazzo, of the Jacksonville Navy Officers' club, walked off with top honors at the recently held at the Mayflower hotel when he spoke on "The New Education."

Three skin-diving Marines from Camp Pendleton were credited with helping to save the life of a Pasadena, Calif., youth when the latter's spear gun accidentally discharged imbedding the point of the spear in his stomach.

First Lt. David Ramsey and 2nd Lt. Dennis A. McQuire had to climb steep cliffs to call a Marine rescue helicopter unit and SSgt. Waldo Martinez directed spectators in placing markers for the 'copters. All three Marines are with the 1st Division's Fifth Marines.

Good will has the habit of showing up in what some people might consider peculiar places. Pfc Ernest E. Ratcliff, currently stationed at Camp Lejeune with the 4th 155mm How. Bn., USMRC, from Raleigh, N. C., received a scholarship to Colgate university upon completion of high school in June.

Pfc Ratcliff was elated over the prospects of attending college in the fall but still needs funds to see him through the coming year. Without the extra Ratcliff wouldn't be able to go to school. The men in his battalion covered his plight while here at this Base and chipped in the totaling $110, enabling their Marine Corps buddy to continue education.

A new special recording of Mitch Miller's rendition of the Corps Hymn and "Anchors Aweigh" highlighted a conference information officers from the Marine Corps and Navy held at the hotel in New York City on August 26-27.

Plans were discussed for an increase in the drive which additional funds to complete the Navy-Marine Corps Memorial at Annapolis.

The record will be sent out to disc jockeys across the country and will be available to any listener who contributes one dollar to the memorial fund at Annapolis.

The third annual West Coast reunion of the 1st Marine Division was held last week in San Diego at the U. S. Grant hotel. Many highlights of the convention was a parade held in the city by San Diego recruits, Friday. Gen. Holland M. Smith, USMC, commanding officer of the Division, served as reviewing officer at the parade. The reunion was concluded Saturday evening when the present commander of the Division, Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup, spoke on the group compared to the "old breed."

Plans are now under way for sending a gift to the annual bazaar sponsored by the Allied Staff NCO Wives club in Naples, Italy.

ra Battalion In 'Operation Combine'

...Landing Made On Island Of Sardinia..

WITH THE FLEET MARINE FORCE, U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (BY MAIL) — American and British assault troops, assisted by a 46-ship armada of United States, British and Italian Naval forces staged an amphibious invasion in late July on the Mediterranean island of Sardinia.

Called "Operation Combine," the joint exercise involved the 1st Bn., Second Marines (Reinf.), of the 2nd Division and "40 Commando" troops of the British Royal Marines. Both major units graphically demonstrated the favorable results possible by co-operative attack procedures between allied forces.

At "H-Hour" on "D-Day," 1,700 U. S. Marines of Lt. Col. R. F. DeLamar's NELM Battalion stormed ashore at Porto Teulada. Simultaneously, 600 Royal Marine Commandos landed on a flanking beach.

The 2nd Division Marines smashed through the center, seized the principal beach and secured controlling high ground as British Commandos pushed around the ends and succeeded in taking two vital bridges and a guided missile center.

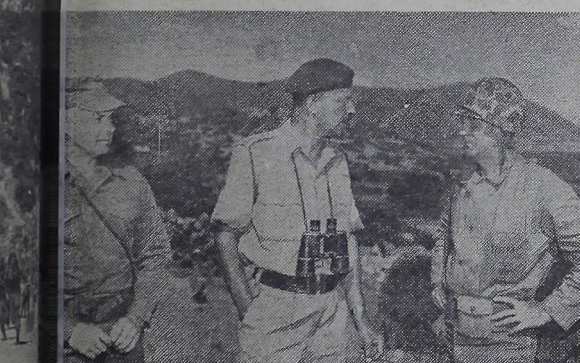

Marines from "A," "B," and "C" Companies relieved British Marines at all objectives. With minimum casualties and maximum effectiveness against wily "aggressor" forces, they paved the way for a full-scale Division advance. Commanding officer of all forces ashore was Brig. Gen. R. K. Rottet, USMC.

Prior to the landing, Italian, British and U. S. minesweepers cleared a channel for the Leathernecks and the British. Cruisers and destroyers of the U. S. Sixth Fleet and British Mediterranean Fleet provided live gunfire support for the landing while air support was furnished by U. S. carrier-based planes.

The amphibious task force, consisting of 23 ships of the British Mediterranean Fleet, 19 ships of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, and four ships of the Italian Navy was under overall command of Rear Adm. William K. Romoser, USN, on the flagship USS Taconic.

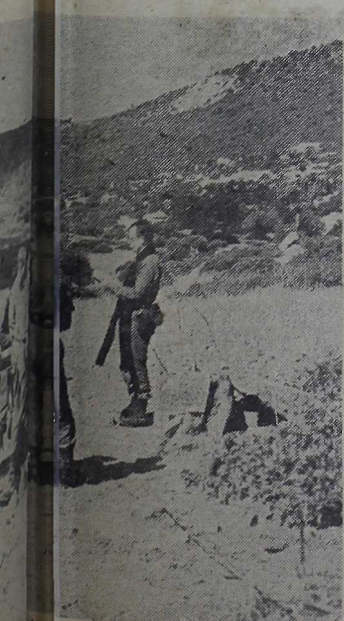

Operation Combine, dubbed an "overwhelming success" by Vice Adm. Charles E. Brown, Commander-in-Chief, Sixth Fleet, was observed by high-ranking officers of all three participating countries.

Coaches Pleased With Grid Outlets; Team Shapes Up

At the end of another week of football practice, head coach "E" Overgaard reports that everything is going according to schedule and the team is beginning to shape.

Brown, a former Kansas State and Pensacola product, was Lejeune's leading quarterback and passer last year, while Williams, a former Colgate fullback, was shifted to a halfback spot because of his speed and turned in some thrilling performances during the season.

Each week, until the opening of the '57 campaign against Little Creek on September 20, the team will scrimmage every Saturday. Monday-morning quarterbacks and all interested football fans are invited to come out and view the scrimmage and practice sessions.

Parris Island, Quantico Meet In Playoff Here This Week

By CPL. CHARLES C. IVES

2nd Division Information Office

Closing its 1957 baseball season, the 2nd Division varsity team dropped a three-game home stand to Quantico pitchers Smith, Lucas and Sisk, visiting "strong arm" men.

Quantico pursued slim hopes and swept all six games from Division to tie Parris Island for the East Coast Marine title. Division had lost two "squeakers," and a slug-fest during a previous road-trip series at Quantico.

Doubleheader action Tuesday afternoon featured Jerry Smith going the distance to allow Division only seven scattered hits while fanning a dozen batters.

Quantico rapped starter Bill Herrington for eight hits—five for extra bases—to hand him his sixth loss of the season. Mitch Wilkinson and Hal Horan performed relief chores for Division in the opener.

Righthander Dick Lucas led Quantico to a 5-1 victory in the night-cap, allowing Division five hits, knocking a double and single in two times at bat, and driving in two runs. The victory marked the 56th for Quantico this season.

Jim Doherty, attempting to duel Lucas from the mound, was rapped for back-to-back triples in the seventh frame by Dick Mead and Don Walker for a three-run rally.

The third and final game of the series and season for Division, played Wednesday afternoon, saw righthander Ron Sisk "ice" the remaining game for Quantico, 11-5.

The visitors tallied 11 runs on 17 hits off Division starter Mitch Tomaskiewicz and Herrington in relief for three innings. Sisk, backed by good fielding support, retired the local squad on eight hits that accounted for five Division runs.

Division rallied two runs in the first inning when Don O'Connor hit an infield single, stole second base, and was batted in by Tom Hague. Gerry Gieser walked a 420-foot triple over centerfielder Bruce Darisma to score Hague.

Division picked up three runs in a last-chance ninth inning rally. After Morgan lined out to rightfield, Chico Vasquez stroled to first. Four consecutive single, hits by pinch-hitters Sam Friddle and Ted Bridges, and Curt Salyer and Don O'Connor, accounted for three tallies.

Division closed its late-starting season with 12 victories against 21 losses. Tom Hague, consistently improved his batting over the season, led the team, hitting .300.

Camp Lejeune will host a three-game play-off series between Parris Island and Quantico at Harry Agganis field this weekend. The resulting winner will then meet the West Coast Marine finalist for the All-Marine Championship.

Base Material, ASD Take Opening Lead In New Keg League

Base Material Bn., enlisted, and ASD Bn., enlisted, took the lead in the newly formed Second Force Service Regiment bowling league that kicked off last week.

Base Material picked up their first win by downing MS&M Bn. officers 4-0 as Jerome Capozza rolled a 214 game and a 518 series. Leading the MS&M officers was Frank Dixon with a 170 game and a 487 series.

ASD Bn. won their first game the easy way with a 4-0 forfeit over H&S Bn. officers. H. Klopp, in bowling against the "ghost" opponents rolled a 166 game and a 455 series.

Meanwhile, Base Material officers took their initial match at the expense of MS&M Bn. enlisted by a 3-1 score on the strength of Jack Dillard's 5-3 series and Elroy Sudeck's 198 game. George Mintz led the losers with a 162 game.

In the final match of opening day's action H&S Bn., enlisted, downed the ASD Bn. officers 3-1. John Asbell led the winners with a 195 game and 516 series, while John Boulware, with a 182 game, and Frank Tobin, with a 489 series, paced the losing ASD team.

Rifle-Pistol Matches Enter Final Phase

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Aug. 25—The Sea Services began this week to make last-minute preparations for the third and last phase of the 1957 National Rifle and Pistol Matches.

The best riflemen in the Marine Corps, Navy and Coast Guard begin 12 days of grueling competition, August 30, against an estimated 1,500 military and civilian opponents.

Next week new records will be broken and new champions named as the country's best rifle shots take aim on the "World Series" of targetland.

Division Football Season Gets Under Way Friday

Next Friday at 1:30 p.m., the Eighth Marines meet the Second Marines on Liversedge field and the Tenth Marines tangle with Group I on the practice field in front of Goettge Memorial field house. With these games, the 2nd Division intramural football season will officially be under way.

And optimism runs high in the Second Marines as the third week of practice comes to an end today. After three weeks of hard work on the practice field, the team feels confident that they have a championship squad.

Under the careful guidance of head coach Don White and his assistant, D. O. Elmgren, squad members are confident that their team will be among the best in the 2nd Division intramural league.

They point to All-Division center Carl Messer as one of the big reasons. In addition to performing his practice grinds, Messer is assisting line coach Elmgren with linebackers and other center candidates.

Two top line candidates are John Wallace and Ken Holloran, both ends. A strong backfield is in prospect, according to Coach White, with William Sisson holding first choice on quarterback, returnee Ray Gladden at one half and Ray Gray slated for the other post. Ed Brown should nail down the fullback spot.

Coach Nick D'Aluisio has been pleased with his gridders in the Tenth Marines and believes his squad can handle its schedule with little trouble.

The Tenth takes on Group I in the other game Friday afternoon. Division football fans will have an opportunity to witness first hand the two top contenders for the Division title when they take in these two games. Both the Tenth and Second are strong contenders to capture the vacated crown left open by the Sixth Marines when it announced the Sixth would not be able to defend its title.

ANOTHER TROPHY—SSgt Edward C. Forrester, manager of the Second Service Regiment softball team, presents the FMFLant Trophy to Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger, commanding general, 2nd Division. It was the second straight FMFLant trophy won by the Division. The golf team won the other award.

FISH & WILDLIFE

BY THE "OLD ANGLER"

BACK SEAT—Fishing will have to take a back seat this week because of the hunting season which is rapidly edging its way into the picture.

In fact, the "Old Angler" has been concentrating on fishing so much that he failed to notice that the first of the new hunting season is right now upon us.

The first notice of the new season reached my desk this week. It was from Paul Metters, Onslow county wildlife protector, and it concerns the creatures of the air.

Lejeune hunters who go after the feathery game will get their first shots off Monday, September 2. That's when the season on rails opens and runs until November 9.

Rails may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset. The daily bag limit is 15 per person and the possession limit, per person, is 30.

Five days later, September 7, the dove hunting season opens. North Carolina will have a split season on doves this year with the first beginning on the above mentioned date and ending October 5 and the second beginning December 11 and lasting until January 10, 1958.

Doves may be taken from 12 noon until sunset each day. The daily bag limit is set at 10 a day per person. Ten doves per person is also the possession limit.

Following the rail and dove season comes the open season on woodcock which begins November 28 and carries over until January 6, 1958. All these open dates, by the way, are inclusive.

Like the rail, woodcocks may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset each day. The daily bag limit for woodcock is four per person with the possession limit set at eight.

Most of the old bird hunters on this Base are aware that there are numerous methods of taking these birds that are prohibited. For the new hunters who will be trying out their luck on this game, may I suggest that you find out just what is legal and what is illegal? If you don't know or have the least bit of doubt, make sure you find out all the rules and regulations before you take off for the fields. One way to do this is to pick up a copy of the current hunting regulations that are available at the Main Exchange. They are yours for the asking. Or, you can give me a buzz at 7-5821 and, if I can't answer all your questions, I can find out for you.

Let's not have any Lejeune hunters cited for illegal hunting this season. Really, it hurts your pocketbook and, most of all, your good name as a Marine sportsman.

FISHING REPORT—From the Morehead City area comes a report that Lejeune anglers have been active and are doing all right for themselves.

Maj. R. W. Cresper and party, fishing aboard the "Gulf Breeze," came in with 15 dolphin, one 'cuda, and one albacore.

F. K. Cooper, C. E. Schaeffer, R. Henders, D. Knott and N. Simko, all from the U. S. Naval hospital caught 12 albacore, 11 kings, eight Spanish mackerel and amberjack aboard the "Lois Nancy."

And from Thompson's Steel Pier on Emerald Isle, SSgt. Ray Philips caught a two and three-quarter pound triple-tail. (Please don't call the "Old Angler" and ask him what that is.)

And, finally, Lejeune angler MSgt. Mottershead became another prize winner when he caught a 17 1/4-pound amberjack to win the Carolina Queen jackpot.

Hillman Robbins Wins Inter-Service Golf Crown; Army Grabs Team Title

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., August 24 — Air Force's Hillman Robbins, a 1957 Cup player from Memphis, Tenn., wrote a thrilling finish to the 1957 Inter-Service Golf Tournament here today when he defeated Army's Ray Moore on the first hole of a sudden-death play-off.

A hanging putt that refused to fall cost Moore the Open Division championship. Both golfers were tied going into today's matches and ended up with identical 290 scores at the completion of 72 holes.

Third place in the Open Division went to Marine Ronald Letellier from Holyoke, Mass., and Camp Pendleton, Calif. Letellier, in sixth position when the final round started, fired a one-under-par 71 in today's final and pulled even with Mason Rudolph, USA.

Rudolph, a Walker Cup teammate of Robbins and a native of Clarksville, Tenn., was tied with Moore and Robbins for first place at the end of three rounds of play. On the final day his putter cooled off and he ended up with a 295 score for the 72 holes.

In another sudden death play-off, Letellier dropped a three-footer for a par four on the first hole while Rudolph, stationed at Fort Chaffee, Ark., missed with his and ended in fourth place.

Walt Axcell, USN, from NAS, Barbers Point, Hawaii, and Compton, Calif., went into the final day with a 12 stroke lead and ended up eight ahead of runner-up James Young, USMC, FMFLant, Norfolk, Va., to win the senior division title.

Army's Elwyn Banks, from Ft. Ord, Calif., was third with a 321 total.

The James Forrestal Memorial Trophy for the winning team went to the Army by 10 strokes over the runner-up Air Force team, breaking a hold the Air Force has had on the trophy since the tournament was initiated in 1948.

The second note-worthy event happened when Ted Yoesting broke his own season's high series mark of 609. He topped the pins for a new mark of 612.

PROGRAM NOTES

By TSGT. JACK MCCARTHY

So much has happened in jazz in the past two decades, and there have been so few constants in the big band field, that it is pleasant to realize that after all this time, the name of Bob Crosby still stands out. His band started to stir up a small revolution in jazz circles, during the golden days of the swing era.

What the Crosby band did, in effect, can be summed up in a simple phrase, it made big business, and big music out of Dixieland.

Like many of the members of the orchestra itself, Dixieland music originated in New Orleans. Played on the riverboats and in street parades, it formed characteristics that were later crystallized into a well established idiom.

Despite the undoubted origins of jazz as a whole, and the close association of Dixieland musicians with the New Orleans pioneers of the Crescent City, Dixieland music of the 1930's had come to be associated with an ever expanding clique of musicians.

It was the Bob Crosby band that first brought Dixieland music to the format of the big band. Not too long ago Bob put on wax his original recordings made by his big band during the past 20 years.

On Tuesday afternoon at 3 p.m. WCLR will present "Twenty Years of Jazz" in music. Some of the tunes that you will hear include, "Rose Room," "Come Back, Sweet Mama," "Ja-Da," "Echo in the Cavern," and many others.

It will all be yours on "Artists' Hall," the program that covers all fields of music.

Unless the commanding officer has indicated that he does not wish to be called upon, the new officer and his wife pay a social call upon him and his wife, and also upon the new officer's immediate superior officers. In a regiment, this would include the commanding officer as well as the executive officer.

BuMed Celebrates Its 115th Anniversary On August 31st

The only Naval bureau to keep its original name as established by Congress in 1842, will observe its 115th birthday tomorrow. The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery's anniversary will be observed at a social hour and cake cutting ceremony at the Naval Hospital between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m. All Medical Departmental officers from the Camp Lejeune area are invited to attend.

The history and traditions of the Navy Medical Department began in the early life of our country when the first site of a Navy hospital was established in Washington, D. C., in 1821.

Since that time, the BuMed has had 26 Chiefs of the Bureau with the first being appointed by President Tyler and the last and present Surgeon General chosen by President Eisenhower in 1955.

Great strides have been made in the Bureau's research where during World War II and the Korean conflict, out of every 100 men wounded, 98 recovered in contrast to World War I when only about 90 per cent pulled through. The important factors in the new low wartime fatality figures can be attributed to new antibiotics and anesthetics, preserved blood and its derivatives, armored protective clothing, surgeons in combat areas as members of trained surgical teams and rapid helicopter transportation of the wounded.

In peacetime, the Bureau continues on with its work of complete readiness personnel-wise, keeping abreast of all the new technological changes, and issuing this information to both military and civilian agencies.

The United Services Organization, more familiarly known as the USO, is a federation of voluntary groups which helps to assist in serving the recreational needs of all servicemen.

In nearby Jacksonville, under the direction of William R. Sheehan, at the Tallman St. center, a full week schedule of activities is always ready.

INVITATION TO THE DANCE (1 Bell) — "Circus" has a Parisian period setting which Gene Kelly, as a sad-faced clown who is hopelessly in love with a beautiful dancer, who has eyes only for a handsome wirewalker, Tamera Tounemva.

Janet Leigh is the ace jet pilot who flees the iron curtain and ends up in the arms of John Wayne. From there the plot gets a bit fantastic but during flying, and excellent acting make for a hit performance.

NOT OF THIS EARTH (2 Bells) — Picture a fiend with death-ray eyes, vampire creatures from outer space, king sized mollusks and it all adds up to a ghoulish horror tale. The players are Paul Birch, Beverly Garland and William Roentick.

ATTACK OF THE CRAB MONSTER (2 Bells) — The "after radiation" theme is portrayed in this better than average natural science-fiction production. Massive house-eating crabs devour an entire scientific expedition except for Richard Garland and Pamela Duncan. Included in this competent cast are Leslie Bradley and Mel Welles.

BAYOU (1½ Bells) — To the Bayou country of Louisiana comes "Yankee" Peter Graves. Intent on marrying a local Cajun girl, Lita Milne, he runs into strong opposition from both her father and the town villain in the persons of Douglas Fowley and Tim Carey, respectively. Conclusion—the scenery is the picture's strongest selling point.

count who hopes to recount his fortune by marrying the foreign heiress. The supposed heiress, Marlene Dietrich, turns out to be as poor as a church mouse and the comedy begins. Filmed in colorful technicolor at Monte Carlo, both Arthur O'Connell and Natalie Trundy add to this gay and frothy summer tale.

TOWN ON TRIAL (2 Bells) — The archaic detective will be completely baffled as hard-boiled John Mills solves two murders without a shred of evidence. Made in England, Charles Coburn and Barbara Bates are the only familiar names in this indictment against a man for his lack of cooperation with the police.

BAD DAY AT BLACK ROCK (3 Bells) — Spencer Tracey arrives at the tiny hamlet of Black Rock with a medal for the father of the boy who saved his life but lost his own while in Italy. Robert Ryan, the bawling rancher, watches his coming with fear as he is responsible for the farmer's death. Supporting actors Walter Brennan, Ernest Borgnine and Dean Jagger help grip the audience in this taut and intriguing film.

GOD IS MY PARTNER (2½ Bells) — Designed for family audiences, it involves two nephews who are attempting to have their own money. Walter Brennan causes eyebrows to raise when he provides Christmas trees in May and gives away vast sums of money. Marion Ross is the pert legal advisor who assists him in his court battles.

ASPHALT JUNGLE (2½ Bells) — A finely portrayed gangster drama that can stress characterization without hindering the plot is rare. Although seven years old, it still provides superlative entertainment. The leading stars are Sterling Hayden and James Calhern. BOP GIRL GOES CALYPSO (1½ Bells) — As the title states, calypso wins out over bop as a young psychiatrist attempts to prove that rock and roll is a thing of the past and calypso is on the rise. Judy Tyler handles the vocals in fine style. This is strictly for bop fans and calypso addicts and is rated thus.
