More Benefits Available For Some Widows

Widows of veterans who died from service-connected causes before Jan. 1, 1957, may lose money unless they apply for the higher death compensation payments by July 1.

The Veterans Administration announced last week that approximately 80,000 widows have applied for the higher payments, but 24,000 have not applied. It is estimated that of the 114,000 widows receiving compensation for the service-connected deaths of their husbands, about 104,000 were qualified to receive the larger payments.

By applying prior to July 1, the widows will receive payments retroactive to January 1 under the Survivor Benefit Act, which became effective on that date.

An invitation to all personnel at Camp Lejeune to attend the enlistment ceremonies of the Carolina Leatherneck company at noon on June 26 at the capitol grounds in Raleigh was issued today by Maj. M. V. Harlan, Jr., officer-in-charge of Marine recruiting in North and part of South Carolina.

A four-motorcycle escort, mounted by ex-Marines of the Raleigh police department, will lead the company down the main street to the capitol where they will receive the oath from Maj. Gen. John C. Munn, commanding general, 2nd Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point.

Other highlights of the ceremony include a 21-gun salute to the new Marines by the 155mm Howitzer Btry., USMCR, of Raleigh, music by the 2nd Division Drum and Bugle Corps, and precision drill by Recruit Platoon 85, which recently graduated from training at Parris Island.

New System Of Peacetime GI Benefits Still Undecided

Fate of a new system of veterans benefits for went on active duty after Jan. 31, 1955, under a GI bill, rests with a five-man Senate Labor subcommittee concluded formal hearings on the subject last week.

The committee did not disclose when it would decide whether or not to go ahead with the bill, according to Navy Times.

A long delay could all but kill chances for enactment of the peacetime bill for this session.

Speculation ranging from the most optimistic to the other extreme was evident among close observers forecasting prospects of the bill.

Some hopefuls predicted that the bill would clear the Senate in time for the House Veterans Affairs committee to study and approve it.

This committee has been to see what the Labor group turn up before starting hearings.

Some feel that the bill's approval will come too late for House committee to act, that a peacetime bill will be introduced early in the next Congress.

Others forecast that the bill will be passed, but hope for the plan because cost involved.

Any plan worked out for a class of veterans probably less liberal than GI benefits for wartime service.

WM Maneuvers

By PFC DORA ROSSI

It looks like old Mr. Sun is beginning to smile down on the Woman Marines again. Most of them flocked to the beaches last weekend, and seem pretty eager to do so again this weekend. Here's hoping Mr. Sun keeps on being kind.

Back with us for a short period of two weeks is SSgt. Lillian Henry. Sgt. Henry is now a member of the active Reserves. She was discharged from the Marine Corps in September, 1956, whereupon she immediately joined the Reserves. As a regular last year, she had been sent here with the Reserve training program for three months, so Camp Lejeune isn't very new to her.

PFC ROSSI ately joined the Reserves. As a regular last year, she had been sent here with the Reserve training program for three months, so Camp Lejeune isn't very new to her.

As a civilian, she is attending the University of Georgia. She is majoring in journalism and had been working with the Camp Lejeune GLOBE last year, and also this year. Nice to have you with us again, Sgt. Henry.

Lts. Barbara Boyd and Mary Jo Keiper decided that the WM's needed some exercise, so starboard training and some of port went on a nice little hike last Wednesday afternoon. After that hike, I'm sure the girls would appreciate the Marine Corps buses now.

Welcome aboard to Pvts. Barbara A. Bangert, Greenbay, Wis.; Israel B. Bond, San Antonio, Texas; Janice L. Carnes, Rockhill, S. C.; Suzanne A. Smith, Houston, Texas; Marie A. Cric-kon, Detroit, Mich.; Ellen L. Gardner, St. Paul, Minn. and Emma C. Clark, Winchester, Ky.

Recently admitted to the U. S. Navy hospital was Pvt. Nancy Crank. Hope you'll be back again real soon, Nancy.

Discharged from the hospital after a long period of time is Pfc Willadean Tinkey. It's nice to have her permanently about the barracks again, instead of just on weekends. The WM Company is glad to have you back again, Tinkey.

Discharged from the Marine Corps last Monday was Pfc Mary Jane Mangels. Although she traded military life for a life as a housewife, she is not entirely away from Camp Lejeune. Her husband, SSgt. Maurice J. Cline, is stationed here.

The local WM's are hustlin' and bustlin' around in preparation for the WM Reservists. As it stands now there are many new faces. Among them are two WM officers, Maj. Catherine F. Lotts of Peoria, Ill., and Mary Frazer, Nashville, Tenn. They both are volunteers on active duty for two weeks. Their work will cover Supply or Disbusing.

PAST AND PRESENT—Mrs. Jean Davis McCance, formerly writer of the WM Maneuvers column, reads over this week's column written by Pfc Dora Rossi, left. Mrs. McCance, the former Cpl. Davis, has since been married and discharged, and earlier this week, turned over desk, column and contacts to Pfc Rossi.

Welcome Aboard

Camp Lejeune has been described in many ways. Newspapers often call it "Home of the 2nd Marine Division." Marine Corps documents refer to it as "The Largest Amphibious Base in the World." Marines who have been stationed here in the past and present have their "pet" names for it but most everyone agrees that one word should be in every description and that is the word "large." This word is enough to strike fear into the young Marine reporting here for the first time and it may even do it to seasoned veterans who have spent most of their time at small posts and stations. They picture Camp Lejeune as a place which can swallow them up even to the point of losing their identity.

More transfers occur in the summer season than at any other time of the year. That means that we are due to have many more Marines reporting aboard in addition to Reserves who are arriving weekly. Mentioning places like MCAF, Courthouse Bay, Stone Bay or Camp Geiger to these Marines who are not stationed there is like talking to them in a foreign tongue. They need a helping hand to find their way around. To tell them something is located at Hadnot Point is not enough. Directions should be included with every request for information received from these new members of the command. This is an individual responsibility of every Marine and Navy man stationed here. A receptive attitude to questions is one way of making a man feel welcome at a new post.

Another way to make a Marine feel welcome is for someone in his new organization to cut him in on the full "scoop." This doesn't mean show him where he can draw his linen and where he bunks. If this is all that is done when a new man reports aboard, it is a very lonely man who slips into his rack the first night at Camp Lejeune. We suggest that the NCO in charge of the barracks or squad-bay make it his responsibility to see that every new man is made to feel welcome by cutting him in on the full "scoop." Location of movies, post exchanges, cleaners, mail hours, chow regulations and tips on ground rules of the organization should be given the new man as soon as possible. This information should be volunteered. Suggestions for liberty hours would also be helpful to the new man.

A command, which makes an effort to see that new arrivals are quickly orientated and adjusted, will profit in the long run.

To the new man reporting to Camp Lejeune we say "Welcome aboard, Marine, we hope your tour here will be a pleasant one."

'Golden Brown'

The days of sun-tan lotion, beach parties and bodies with that "golden brown" look are upon us. Last Sunday temperatures rose to the high 90's and the beaches were overflowing with "Mr. Americas" and "Marilyn Monroes" basking in the healthful rays of the sun.

The beach offers a pleasant diversion for a Marine from his every day tasks. If he doesn't swim, he can at least spend a couple of hours under the sun letting his thoughts drift from his daily routine. It is cool and refreshing at the beaches and they offer a healthful atmosphere for men on leave or liberty. Like everything else, a beach can be abused and the desired "golden brown look" can be changed to "lobster red" because of over exposure.

Pop bottles, papers and left-over lunch thrown carelessly on the beach are an eye-sore as well as a danger to others. The ball games which cover a wide area are also an invasion of the privacy of others. The beaches are for everyone. Games such as football and baseball should be played at the picnic grounds on diamonds provided for that purpose, not at the crowded beaches.

A little thought about the rights of others will go a long way to make your beach party a memorable one. One more thing; sympathy for a person who has allowed himself to become severely sun-burned can be obtained from the lobster, not the commanding officer.

BRAZILIAN AWARD—Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, Commandant of the Marine Corps, receives the Decoration of Grand Officer, Brazilian Order of Naval Merit, from Brazilian Ambassador Ernani do Aral Peixoto in a ceremony held at the Brazilian Embassy in Washington on June 11. Adm. Rubens Constant Magalhaes Serejo, Brazilian Marine Commandant, read a citation hailing the Commandant's efforts to bring closer friendship between the two countries, by inviting Brazilian officers to tour Marine installations.

Chaplain's Corner

It isn't easy.

This phrase has been heard many times over in counseling periods. In some cases it seems as though nothing short of a miracle could clear the situations of life. But in the realm of the spirit, man again discovers that it is not always easy to abide by the laws and life established by Almighty God.

Our faith in our Lord is the life line through which we are enabled to enter and evolve in the mysteries of life with One who has done most about them. No one person has had as much influence over life as did our Lord. Yet, too often we fail to realize the depth and reality of the picture.

Our fellowship with Christ does not assure an easy life for us. It does not assure freedom from suffering, and yet it need not leave us in a vacuum of loneliness. Christ does continue to care for our welfare and seeks to have us grow and develop into a life of true service and worship to our Father.

Christ constantly has reminded us that our life in Him is not a dead-end street. There are many facets to such a life. There is constantly a way opening to us to develop and prove our faith in our Lord and Saviour. Each way unveils unseen trials and sufferings which serve to strengthen us. Our strength in such times comes from Him who is the Tower of Strength to all who seek Him; it is the strength of walking with One who convinces by the power of truth and compels with the persuasion of love.

Old Corps

Ten Years Ago This Week

After five years of duty in the Pacific, the 1st Division will return to the United States in July and will be based at Camp Pendleton, it was announced by Headquarters Marine Corps this week. The unit is commanded by Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine.

The Marine Corps League, the only all-Marine organization chartered by Congress and representing over one-half million Marine veterans and their families, is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. The league was founded by a group led by Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune.

The U. S. Naval force lost about 135 men during the Nicaraguan intervention. They carried on continuous war with the bandits for two years and had about 150 engagements of various importance.

As Christians wandering through this earthly existence, our faith is the possession in which divine wisdom is available for every earthly need.

Through our faith in Christ, we have available the most complete key to the mysteries of life. This faith in Christ answers many perplexing problems of character and the completeness of spirit essential to creative living. Christ sheds light upon the divine wisdom and grace, and freely shares with those who accept. A personal grasp upon our faith in Christ is to know personally a fellowship with God.

This is no easy road. It is filled with chuck-holes and rough places, but it serves as a proving ground for our faith in our Lord.

AERIAL VIEW—The air-conditioned control tower affords the workers an aerial view of the flight line and landing strip. Cpl. Walter Kern, left, gives landing instructions to a pilot, while Cpl. John Fitzgerald flashes a red light to a vehicle waiting to cross the flight line. Both are members of H&HS, MCAF. The R4D (two-engined transport) shown in the right hand corner, awaits take-off instructions.

PARASITIC SILHOUETTES—Resembling a nest of recently-hatched birds, the choppers settle down for a sound night's sleep. Wakening each morning, these birds catch the worms while dawn cracks New River's Air Facility. In the background are the lights of the hangar and the control tower.

Marine Corps aviation might still be considered in its infancy. Not old in years, the air power of the Marine Corps has advanced in leaps and bounds, until now, many fighting units depend on the various types of aircraft for a more solid, powerful punch.

World War II proved Marine pilots better for close air support than pilots of the other services, for Marine officers knew what it was being on the ground, dependent on air coverage. Marine pilots flew closer to the ground, making certain that every bullet found its target, or that each bomb found the enemy objective on the aircraft's first pass.

In Korea, the versatility of the helicopter was tested successfully in observation, evacuations, surprise trips inside enemy lines and supplying American and United Nations front line troops.

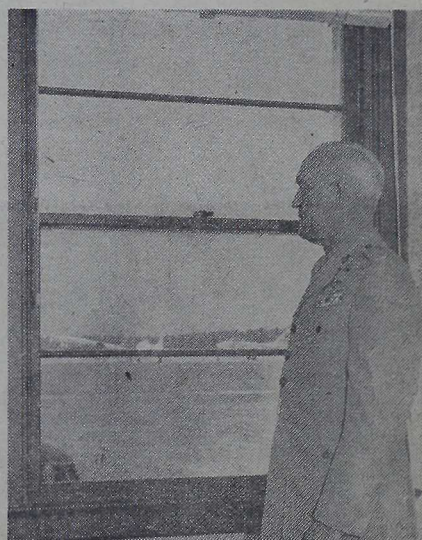

The boundaries of Camp Lejeune encompass the Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, located south of Camp Geiger. The Air Facility furnishes helicopter and observation aircraft for training with the 2nd Division and Force Troops units.

Under the operational control of the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., the unit is administratively under the control of Camp Lejeune.

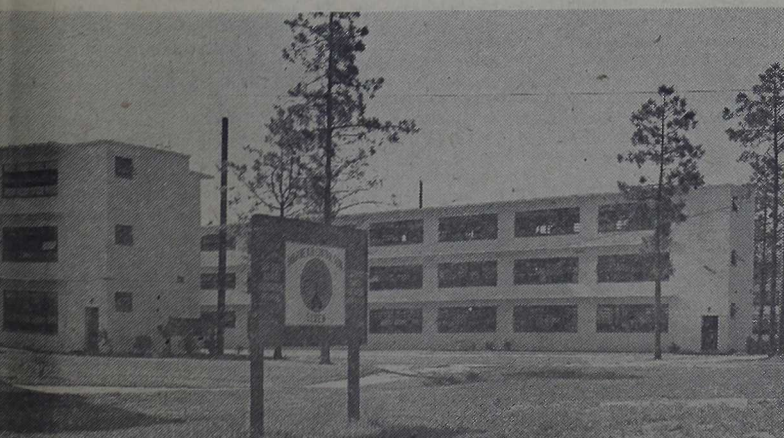

On the flight line there are all types of helicopters, including HR2S, HUS, HRS-3 transports, HOK's, HO5S observation helicopters, the fixed wing OE "Grasshoppers," three R4D two-engined transports and five Beechcrafts.

Approximately 90 aircraft, most of which are helicopters, are housed there. Between 150 and 200 aircraft land and take-off daily, or between 2,100-2,500 monthly. The strip is not open, except in cases of emergency, Sundays or holidays.

With the development of vertical employment, the Marine Corps pilots and ground crews of the Air Facility will play a more important role in the "Land-Sea-Air" punch of the Marine Corps.

COMMANDING—Col. T. J. Noon, commanding officer of the Marine Corps Air Facility at New River, looks from his office window onto the flight line, where two Fury jets and a transport are parked. The jets, from Cherry Point, landed at the Air Facility due to the foggy conditions at Cherry Point last week.

LIVING—Barracks life at the Air Facility is lived at all. Modernistic in design, the three-story buildings are built to give maximum easy living to the members of the Air Facility. The photo shows the living quarters of Marine Air Control Squadron-7.

OPEN WIDE—The ground crews of newly-commissioned HMR(M)-461 look over an HR2S helicopter during an acceptance check. Four of these new choppers arrived at the Air Facility last week. Capable of carrying 28 combat-laden Marines, the two-engined 'copters add to the vertical employment power of the Marine Corps. Approximately 15 men perform the check on the aircraft.

BIG SURPRISE—One of the biggest surprises in the MCB intramural baseball league has been the showing of the Military Police Bn. nine who, until last Monday, were unbeaten in league play. Last year, the MP's ended their season's play with a 9-8 record to wind up in the bottom half of the league. Today, they are riding on top with a 7-1 mark.

This year's nine, coached by SSgts. Edward Fanning and Walt Gingrich, started the season with only four returning players, Richard DePaulo, Jack Watson, Conrad Ried and Daniel Graves, who formed the nucleus of the team that is now burning up the league.

The infield is knitted together by witty, strong-armed catcher Jim Raines, whose constant chattering keeps the team on its toes. He is backed up by a strong keystone combination of Paul McKeaggan and Ed Kachik at short and second, respectively.

At the two corners are Roger Smith at the hot spot and Charles Mueller at first, who hold down their positions with authority.

Roaming the outfield is fast and hard-hitting Charles Barnett, strong-armed Dan Graves and agile Bernard Jaworski, who see to it that anything hit their way doesn't do any damage.

Leading the mound staff are Ed Brader, Dick Gillen and Dick DePaulo, who have combined to give the MP nine their seven wins.

Brader, the top chucker, holds a 4-0 mark including a one-hit performance against Marine Corps Supply Schools. Gillen follows with a 2-0 record, including a three-hitter, and then DePaulo, who turned in a four-hitter for his only turn on the mound.

Because of his hitting, DePaulo plays other positions when he isn't pitching. He is the club's long ball hitter and has connected for three doubles, one triple and one home run while sporting a resounding .435 average, second best on the team.

ED BRADER
... Leading MP Pitcher

ED KACHIK
... Leading Batter

Ed Kachik is the big sticker for the team. The struggling shortstop is sporting a torrid .538 average, which should be tops in the league. If any other hitter in the loop has a higher average, this reporter hasn't heard about it.

Two other players, Charles Barnett and Dan Graves, are also hitting at a fast clip, holding .374 and .340 averages, respectively.

Another asset that the MP outfit has is depth on the bench. Harold Adams, Willie Mangum, Dick Bruner, Ron Petiskus, Jack Winstead and Frank Kyle are all utility men who are capable of doing a good job when called upon.

A strong pitching staff, a good hitting club and a strong reserve bench is hard to beat in any league and the MP's, who have all three, are proving it.

FOOTBALL NOTES—Football may be the furthest thing from your mind at this time but, actually, the fall sport will soon be hitting the sports scene here at Lejeune.

In fact, it is less than a month before the old pigskin puts in its appearance to mark the beginning of the two weeks' screening session that begins July 15.

Lejeune's four coaches, Capt. Wil E. Overgaard and Bernie Kassmann, Lts. John Williams and Ernie Brown, and TSgt. George Cordle have been hard at work for the past two weeks getting everything ready to greet the 150 or more candidates who will be showing up for the practice sessions.

All candidates for this year's team will report to Goettge Memorial field house, Bldg. 751, at 1 p.m. on the above date. They should come equipped with shorts, football shoes and T-shirts from their unit special services.

Practice hours for the screening session will be from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays.

Hq. Bn. Linksters Trip USNH

After a week's layoff due to inclement weather, MCB intramural golf competition resumed last week with a three-way tie developing in first place.

It was headquarters who pulled the upset of the week when they won a close match over the league-leading USNH by a 12½-11½ score, thereby breaking Hospital's long hold on first place.

Service Bn., who was tied with Headquarters for second place, won their match by forfeit over Rifle Range to join in the tie. All three teams now have a 8-2 record.

In other matches last week, 1st ITR completely outclassed Engr. Sch. Bn. 20-4 and MCSS dominated the MP linksters 21½-2½.

Culbreath Takes Three Firsts

Pendleton Walks Off With Unofficial All-Marine Track And Field Crown

Camp Pendleton and Quantico completely dominated the events in the All-Marine Track and Field meet, with five new All-Marine records being broken by the participating thinclads and two more equaled, but because of the prevailing winds, these were discounted.

With eight firsts to its credit, the host team, Camp Pendleton, nosed out Quantico by seven points, 65-58. Far back in the field was the Third Division with 12. Right behind the third place team and tying for fourth place with FMF was Camp Lejeune with a total of 10 points.

Easily the star of the two-day meet was Quantico's Olympic star, Josh Culbreath, who took three of his team's seven firsts. Culbreath became a one-man show when he set two new standards in the 440 with a 48.1 clocking, and in the 440-yard medium hurdles running the distance in 53 flat, bettering the old record by two seconds.

Culbreath also equalled the existing mark for the 220 but because of the eight-mile-per-hour wind, the record didn't count. He was the only triple winner in the meet.

The other three records broken were recorded in the shot put, two-mile steeplechase, and in the pole vault.

Al Cheney, representing Quantico, heaved the shot 52'8½" with Camp Lejeune's Orville Trask taking the runner-up position with a 49'7½" effort.

In the two-mile steeplechase, it was Earnest Tracy, Quantico standout, bettering the old mark by more than 37 seconds in the winning time of 10:42.7.

Quantico continued its record-breaking performances when Earnest Poucher cleared the bar at 14'2" in the pole vault.

Camp Lejeune standout was Frank Morze, the only local thinclad taking a first, who won his specialty, the hammer throw, with a 137'2" toss.

Local hurdler, Marshall Kary, managed to take a third in the 120-yard high hurdles, while the Camp Lejeune mile relay team took a third to the Pendleton and Quantico foursomes in this event.

The meet didn't produce any double winner, but several of the trackmen participating placed in several of the events. George Wood, wearing the Quantico colors, took a first in the mile, being clocked in 4:18.2, and a third in the two-mile steeplechase. Quantico Marine, J. placed in two events where two seconds, one in the 330 and the other in the 330. Pendleton's Jim Shepard was able to capture a third in and came back to take a third in the two-mile steeplechase.

ALL-MARINE CHAMP—Frank Morze displays the trophy for placing first in the hammer throw at 137'2" at the All-Marine Track championship held at Pendleton June 10-11. With him second place Ervin York, right, of Camp Elliott, Calif., and place Frank Dalfere of Pendleton.

Four Regimental Champions Crowned In Divvy Baseball

Four regimental and group champions were crowned when most Division baseball clubs rounded out their intramural schedules and the remainder came into the stretch.

Of the title games, Sixth Marines' play furnished the most exciting. Stated for a 'best two out of three' playoff series with the 3rd Battalion nine, 'Provisional Battalion hit the showers as champs after only two contests. Naturally, someone had to be responsible for the sweep over a tough opponent and Tom Jenkins and Fred Collella were about as responsible as anybody could be.

Collella, who had bested 3rd Battalion pitcher McMahon 3-2 in the opener Wednesday, put in another appearance in the final thriller and threw nearly three innings of one-hit ball to get the win.

Trailing 4-2 in the fifth, Provisional called on Collella to snuff a 3rd Battalion rally that had produced a run and three base-runners. He did, then retired to the bench to watch his teammates whittle away at Robinson and come up with two markers on a pair of walks and three safeties.

The slim lead was erased in the last of the sixth, however, when Collella walked McMahon, who had replaced Robinson in the top of the inning, and leadoff batter Vince Caso. McMahon moved to third on a force at second and scored on a ground ball.

That knotted it up at five-all but in the Provisional half of the seventh with one down, Bill Yeagle reached first on an error, advanced a base on a wild pitch, and took third on a fielder's choice. Kilmartin then walked and stole second. That brought Tom Jenkins to the plate—in a downright dramatic situation. Two were out and two more in scoring position.

Unnerved, Jenkins connected with a McMahon serve that went for a base-clearing triple, giving Provisional Battalion their two-run margin.

The two hit pitching twirler Blackwell and the ing bat of Win Scott led the quarters club to the 10th championship Thursday when they dropped the 4th Battalion.

Scott got things rolling first by way of a grand slam off losing pitcher Robins initiated another marker in when he singled and came on safeties by Munsen and

Blackwell no-hit the loss five full innings. Lenzi was to hit for the 4th Battalion. He doubled in the sixth and on a walk, error and hit

An inning later, leftfielder rippa singled and came with the final marker. Blackwell set 14 batters swinging and passed only.

In 2nd Service Regiment General Supply eliminated would-be contenders for the by belting Motor Transport Company 12-1 on Monday 12-2 Tuesday night.

Jim Miller picked up the Monday's game. He was out two singles and a run in the inning after blanking Motor port for six innings. MCB Baseball Roundup

1st ITR Nine Hands MP Bn. First Setback By 13-3 Score

After three straight losses, 1st ITR took on the role of "spoilers" in the MCB baseball league as they dumped the previously undefeated MP nine 13-3 in last week's action.

Southpaw A. P. Dodenoff limited the MP nine to but six hits while striking out eight, including the last three to face him.

The Infantrymen scored their first time at bat and never let up as they pounded three MP pitchers for 12 hits. Saylor wrapped up the game when he was safe on a fielder's choice and scored when Vaccarelli smashed a double. Vaccarelli followed with the second run on A. Bernard's single.

In the second inning, ITR wrapped up the game when R. C. Simonson led off with a free pass, followed by an error on the third baseman, enabling P.

H. Miller to get on. Messieger was hit by a pitched ball, loading up the sacks, and Saylor promptly unleashed a single, scoring two runs.

Bernard followed with his second bingle in as many innings, driving in another tally. J. P. Guillot walked and pitcher Dodenoff helped his own cause with a single, scoring the last two runs of the frame.

ITR picked up two more runs in the fourth when Vaccarelli slammed his second double of the encounter and Bernard produced his third straight single. Two consecutive infield outs moved the runners across the plate.

In the fifth, ITR wrapped up its scoring with three more tallies when Messieger singled, Vaccarelli walked, an error, and a single by Dodenoff, his second of the day.

Earlier in the week the MP's had been extended into, an extra inning affair as they downed the USNH 7-6, and then trounced Serv. Bn. 13-3, picking up their seventh consecutive win before dropping their first to ITR.

In another game of the week, Hq. Bn. defeated the USNH 9-5 by taking the lead at the outset when they came up with six big runs on three hits in the first inning, with Joe Mavro contributing a double.

N. C. Walls went the distance for Hq. Bn., walking one and giving up eight hits, while his teammates were collecting six hits and nine walks off E. J. Candito and Troilo.

Hq. Bn. picked up three more runs in the second with Joe Green connecting for a triple and James Gardner and Donald Jones each getting a single.

USNH scored a run in the second when Clapp hit a triple and came in on C. B. Alexander's infield out. Clapp went three for three in the evening's tilt.

The sailors picked up three more in the fourth and a single run in the last frame to complete their scoring.

The USNH won their only game of the week when they edged Serv. Bn. 5-3 with Owen Smyth going the distance, giving up four singles while exhibiting almost perfect control as he walked only one batter.

Smyth's teammates collected five hits off two Serv. Bn. pitchers. USNH scored three times in the first inning with Smyth, Alexander and Bearden each getting singles. The Hospital scored solo tallies in the third and fourth frames.

Serv. Bn. scored their runs in the fifth and sixth with Phelps getting two of his teammates' four singles.

Engr. Sch. Bn. continued on its winnings ways when they beat MCSS earlier in the week 8-2 and came back to hand USNH its third defeat in the week, 3-2.

Larry Jameson got credit for the win over MCSS as he twirled a neat four-hitter, striking out 12 batters. Engr. Sch. Bn. banged out 12 hits with MCSS contributing four miscues.

Big guns in the Engineers' offensive were Gordon Blanchette who collected two singles in two trips to the plate, and Gerry Sowards and Bill Jenkins, both three for four, all singles.

In the last game of the week, Dean Bradley went the distance for the Engineers as they defeated USNH's Warden. Both pitchers gave up five hits with three errors being committed by each club. Bradley struck out five opponents, Warden six.

The Engineers had to come from behind as the USNH team scored two runs in the first inning on two errors and a single by R. L. Smith.

Engr. Sch. Bn. was held scoreless until their half of the third frame when Charley Renidon singled, stole second and came home on Bradley's single.

Gordon Blanchette scored the second Engineer run when he got on with a bunt single, stole second, advanced to third on a passed ball and came home on a squeeze bunt by Bradley. The lone tally tied the game up at 2-2.

The winning run was scored in the fifth frame by Larry Jameson after he had singled, stole second, went to third on a fielder's choice and came home on a passed ball.

The USNH loaded the bases in the last inning with only one away but failed to score. One out was made on attempted theft of home and the final out came as the result of grounder to the second baseman.

WM's Lose, Then Win In Extra-Inning Game

Camp Lejeune's Woman Marine softball team traveled to Parris Island last weekend where they split a two-game series, losing the initial game 7-6 and winning the final encounter 17-9.

Pitcher Nancy Kark lost a heart-breaker in the first game when the Parris Island girls scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to edge out Lejeune by a single run.

A day later, Kark again on the mound, Coach Barbara Boyd's girls duplicated the Parris Island feat in winning the game in the late innings, this time in the eighth after the score had been deadlocked 9-9 in the regulation seven innings.

The first game proved to be one of the closest contested games the locals have played all year. Lejeune scored first in the top half of the initial inning, with the host club going ahead in the bottom of the same frame 2-1.

Coach Boyd's charges came right back with two in the second, but the Islanders picked up a single run in the same frame to knot the score.

Not to be outdone, Lejeune scored a run in the next inning. Then Parris Island added a tally in the fourth to again tie the game.

Parris Island went a head in the fifth, but Lejeune came back with two in the sixth to go ahead 5-4.

Lejeune missed a good chance in their half of the last inning to push across some security runs when two bases on balls were issued and two singles were banded out, one by Deanne Alexander and the other by Cora Pitel. The rally was quickly erased, however, when both Alexander and Kark, who had gotten on via a walk, were caught coming home, pitcher to the catcher who made the tags.

Parris Island won the game in the seventh, combining a lead-off triple, with two consecutive errors and two back-to-back singles.

In the second game, Lejeune scored three runs in the first frame when they combined five walks with a single by Faye Edwards, one of the three she hit in the game.

Parris Island scored two runs in the second on two hits, a walk, and an error. Camp Lejeune came right back with two more in the third on four bases on balls and a single by Kark.

The Islanders tied it up in their half of the third by scoring three runs. The tie was quickly broken in the next frame when Coach Boyd's contingent scored a single tally.

Three more runs were picked up in the fifth when Edwards, Mary Guest, Joan Heberlein, and Deanna Alexander all contributed singles to the three walks the opposing pitcher gave up.

These were not enough as the Islanders scored four runs in the sixth to tie the game and set the stage for the extra-inning tilt.

With the memory of the previous afternoon's heartbreaking defeat still in their minds, the locals sewed the game up in their half of the eighth frame by scoring eight big runs.

With one out, Pauline Piskorik drew a walk, followed by Edward's single. Heberlein and Alexander walked with the latter forcing in the winning run. Kark singled and Audrey Palyo made the second out as she grounded to the first baseman.

Betty Leiser kept the big inning going by coming through with a single, followed by back-to-back free passes to Guest and Yvonne Morris. Then, Piskorik, with a full count, promptly unloaded a base-clearing triple to end the scoring.

Kark gave up four consecutive singles in the Islander half of the inning, but not one base runner came home. The local pitcher took matters into her own hands and picked off two of the would-be scorers and made the final out unassisted.

In winning the game, Camp Lejeune got 14 hits to Parris Island's 20. The locals now have a 7-3 record.

Their next games are scheduled for June 22-23 with the FMF, Norfolk, at the Naval Base; game time commencing at 2 p.m.

UP THE CREEK—"There I was, up the creek without a paddle." Most of us, at one time or another, have heard that expression and I got to thinking about it this weekend. Actually, that doesn't seem like too bad a predicament. Now, down the creek without a paddle, that's a different story.

It all began Saturday afternoon when a party of would-be fishermen, consisting of Lts. Howard Graham and Bob Garton, Sgts. Jim Graham (no kin to the lieutenant) and Jimmy Tolbert and, of course, the "Old Angler" took off for a little bream fishing in Maysville.

That day the "Old Angler," worn out from a trip Friday, was content to just sit on a bank and take it easy instead of beating the brush at White Oak. But, Garton talked me into stopping off at the river to give it a try. What a mistake that was.

After a half hour or so with out any luck, except for Jim Graham's three shiners, I was about ready for that lazy fishing.

Garton in the meantime was casting from an old flat-bottom boat, but spending most of his time retrieving his lures from the trees around him.

At the sight of the boat, a mad scheme raced through the "Old Angler's" mind. "Why not work our way along the bank in the boat?" I asked Garton. He agreed.

The trip down was easy. Who needed a paddle when we could pull our way bush by bush. This we did with no effort at all.

About 75 yards down stream, and still no fish, we decided to give it up and work our way back. "Oh, what fools these mortals be." The current, made swifter by the recent rains, was boss all the way.

Meanwhile, the leaky boat was half full of water and there was Garton sitting on the front seat with his legs half submerged in water trying to paddle with both hands. I was in no better shape standing up and grabbing at every branch in reach, but to no avail.

Being an old sea-going Marine, I remembered the old custom of the captain staying with the ship and seeing as how Garton out-ranked me, there was no need of my hanging around. So, I took the easy way out. I jumped.

The force of the leap sent Garton and the boat out into the swirling current while I sat down for a few minutes of rest and joined in with the others up stream who were laughing up a storm at our gyrations.

Garton, still in the middle of the stream without a paddle, meanwhile was cutting loose with some ear-splitting yells of, "Hey, you clown, come back here. What are you trying to do? Give me a hand."

The "Old Angler's" heart was touched so I went down stream a way, climbed out on a log and joined him again.

It was here we realized the folly of our ways and beached the boat, by this time only half visible in the water, and walked back.

MORE FUN—We decided that enough was enough and headed for the lake to try some of that lazy bank fishing for the bream. But, variety is the spice of life and we caught quite a variety of things that day.

Garton started it off by catching an eel, must to his dislike, and a couple of bream (small size). At least they were small until Jim Graham began catching his.

Graham, who had not done any fishing and wanted to give it a try, got into a school of very small bream about one a half inches long. He must have caught 30 or more out of one hole. I can still hear him now: "This is fishing!"

Then to top it all off, his roommate Tolbert told him he had just had a good bite and for him to throw his line in at the spot. Sure enough, the bobber soon oozed under the water and Graham set the hook. "This should be a good one," he said, "it's harder to pull in." Imagine the look on his face when he pulled up a turtle.

The ironic part of the situation was that everyone else on both sides of us was catching bream of the large variety. One youngster, fishing with crickets, kept yelling to his dad, "Chalk me up another one," and he would string one up about the size of your hand.

STILL MORE LAUGHS—Well, I'll tell you, even though we weren't having any luck with the big ones, we were all having fun laughing at each other with every little bream, eel or turtle that was caught.

Then it happened. The climax of the trip. Garton, still fishing with a cane pole and worms, latched onto a lunker just off the edge of the bank.

We had seen action in some weeds there several times and thought there was a big bass there, but efforts to get it to go for a spinner failed.

If you ever saw a fellow with a long limber cane pole bent in half and trying to land a big fish, you know just what Garton looked like.

Here he was struggling with all his might trying to get the fish out of the water, but all we could see and hear was splashing on the water. What a commotion! Everybody, including the "Old Angler," who was about 30 yards away, dropped everything and came a-running to see the sight and, what a sight it was.

Here was Garton yelling, "I got a big one, I got a big one," and struggling with all his might. The cane pole was going through all kinds of maneuvers as the fish put up the battle for its life.

Garton finally got it out of the water where he could see it and almost had a fit. "It's not a bass what is it?" he kept yelling. Well sir, what it was, was a mullet.

Anyways, just as he got it on the bank the leader broke and both Garton and I pounced on it like a cat on a mouse.

For my reward, I got fished badly and dropped it. Garton picked it up and he dropped it. Then, both of us got down on the rocky ground to prevent it from flapping back in the lake. We kept flipping it up and it kept flopping back again. We looked like two old prospectors who had just gotten a glimpse of gold and were tearing up the ground to get at it.

Finally it fell beneath a big rock and practically flopped itself to death before one fellow came up and clamped a big hand around its head. One thing for sure, the "Old Angler" wouldn't have picked it up again for five dollars. My hand is still sore.

Attention all golfers. We are asking for your help in eliminating crab grass from the greens on course No. 1. Col. Shuford and Lt. Col. Bozarth have asked me to put out a call to all men and women willing to volunteer one-half a day to report to the club house on Monday, June 24, at 1 p.m.

Due to heavy rain during the transition period from rye grass to Bermuda grass, crab grass has taken over most greens. It is imperative that it be removed in order for the new Bermuda to grow.

We believe that with enough help from fellow golfers on Monday, the job can be accomplished in short order. Wear your work clothes and bring a small bucket or basket if you have one. All other equipment will be furnished by Mr. Mann.

We hope to see you at the golf course Monday at 1 p.m., ready for work.

Here is a reminder to golfers about the proper uniform or dress when playing golf:

The rules state that the upper part of the body will be covered at all times and that T-shirts are permissible. For those who play in shorts, both men and women, they be no shorter than three inches above the knee. No one will be permitted to play in utilities (Marine or Navy), bathing suits or brief shorts, so make sure you are properly dressed before coming out.

★ ★ ★ ★

All Junior golfers are urged to read the bulletin board because we are starting a new round robin and the new teams and playing schedules are posted.

The Junior Golf ladder is also started, so if you feel that you can beat anyone above you, just challenge him.

★ ★ ★ ★

We are still asking for caddies, so if you would like to make a little extra money this summer, be sure to contact us at the golf course. We hold caddy classes on Tuesday and Friday at 9 a.m. each week.

Reenlistments High For Kaneohe Men

The First Marine Brigade at Kaneohe Bay, T. H., whose reenlistment rate for the past 10 months has been averaging more than 50 per cent, has come up with a 77 per cent rate for the month of April.

This is the highest monthly percentage achieved since the first air-ground team was activated in 1953.

Since July 1, 1956, 1,009 Marines or 59 per cent of all eligible men have reenlisted.

Aside from the sizeable money saved, the Brigade has, in effect, retained in the Marine Corps virtually an entire infantry battalion, already trained.

Altogether, 67 Brigade Marines chose to stay in the Corps in April.

Program Notes

By TSGT. JACK MCCARTHY

Some people never find their niche in life, some at least do what they like to do, but only a very few do what they were chosen to do.

Art Pepper applies to the latter. He was born to be a musician, a jazz musician. All his ability, thinking, and feeling are channeled into one thing: playing jazz and writing it.

This is the modern Art Pepper you will hear on Sophisticated Swing this Sunday at 1:30 from the studios of WCLR. A Pepper who is taking every advantage of his vast ability. He possesses vast emotional warmth, fantastic sense of timing, rich full tone, and an architecture of his own. He is a perfectionist, and will not tolerate sloppy playing.

About the music . . . to try and tell the listeners of WCLR what to listen to in particular is rather unnecessary, because it is all good jazz, and whereas some things move some people, the very same thing may leave other listeners cold. Believe one thing, though, there will be a lot of great jazz on this program.

In Art Pepper's playing there is a wondrous completeness that fills the soul, and makes a person happy he is a jazz fan. Listen closely to Art's inventions. He really has a fascinating melodic story to tell, full of emotion, color, and originality.

The compelling Blues In and Blues Out is a classic example of the great jazz artist's ability to bare his soul through musical expression. Other familiar favorites that are really dressed up by Art include: Stompin' at the Savoy, What Is This Thing Called Love, and Dianne's Dilemma.
