Dependents To Watch Rocket Demonstration

Military guests and dependents will have the opportunity of witnessing the 2nd 155mm Howitzer Battalion in action at the G-7 range at Camp Lejeune tomorrow morning.

At 9 a.m., the 4.5 rocket battery will fire the first round, starting the demonstration.

Spectators will see the weapons firing and will also travel by bus to the observation post to observe the rounds landing in the target area.

Though interested persons are invited to arrive at GS-9439, Starling Area and the G-7 range, it is suggested that they travel to G-7, where transportation will be furnished to other areas.

All three areas are located near the Triangle Outpost Gate, close to NCO Leadership school, and Marine guides will be posted on the roads to direct traffic.

Those interested in witnessing the firing of the rocket launchers and the howitzers are advised to be past the Main Gate, toward the three ranges by 8 a.m. The first round will be fired at 9 a.m., and entrance to these areas when firing starts will be prohibited.

Transportation to these areas must be furnished by the individual. Buses will be made available only to transport guests and dependents from one point to another at the range.

Lejeune's AF Day Program Well Received By Visitors

Despite intermittent showers, Camp Lejeune's Armed Forces Day program was well received by military dependents as well as by visitors from Eastern North Carolina.

Starting at 9:30 a.m. and lasting until 3:30 p.m., units of the Marine Corps Air Facility, Marine Corps Base and the 2nd Division displayed their most potent weapons and machines, with Marines answering questions, operating movable parts and conducting tours throughout the day.

At the Air Facility, a static display on the flight line held the interest of both young and old. An AD "Skyraider," a propeller-driven fighter-bomber from the Auxiliary Landing Field in Edenton, N. C., a "Flying Boxcar" from Cherry Point and an R4D two-engine transport lined the strip.

Helicopters displayed included the HRS, HOK, HOSS, HUS, and the new HR2S.

The HR2S was the center of attraction. It is able to carry 28 combat laden Marines and is one of the few helicopters now used with retractable landing gear and clamshell doors in the nose.

Also on display was the small two-engine Beechcraft, the OE

"Grasshopper," a crash fire wagon, a crane and an ambulance.

Mainside on the parade field, the Ontos, multi-weaponed tank-killer, drew admiring glances and many questions. The armored monster is one of many crew-served and individual weapons giving the Marine Corps fighting units a power-packed wallop.

Also on display was a flame tank, two helicopters from the Air Facility, a rocket launcher and crew from the 4.5 rocket battery of Force Troops, the 2nd Amphibious Reconnaissance Company. Goettge Memorial field house featured a display of uniforms dating back to 1812.

Recon Co., Force Troops, had a complete layout of gear used when making jumps from aircraft. Donned in camouflaged uniforms, the men displayed parachutes, grease guns, walkie-talkies, signal lights and jump-packs.

An estimated 3,000 guests and dependents toured the Base.

Navy Relief Needs More Subscribers

Greater emphasis upon the subscription of memberships during the current Navy Relief drive at Camp Lejeune was the concern of fund appeal officials here this week.

Reports indicate that to date less than 8,000 memberships have been subscribed, netting the Navy Relief organization only about $3,920. Committee members were hopeful, however, that many units had subscribed memberships without returning funds for an accurate accounting.

Col. A. E. O'Neil, committee chairman for the fund appeal at Camp Lejeune, warned committee members that concentrated effort by membership salesmen will be required for Camp Lejeune to reach its goal of $45,000.

The committee chairmen asked that unit salesmen redouble efforts to subscribe Marines in the current drive. Colonel O'Neil pointed out that a sign, "Navy Relief Tickets Available Here," is not sufficient to subscribe members and that unit salesmen must make more effort to contact each man periodically.

Two units which have made an early record in salesmanship were commended at the meeting. Service Bn., MCB, which has reported nearly $700 in subscriptions and MCAF, with $530 in subscriptions, were pointed out as units to follow as an example.

Colonel O'Neil also pointed out that additional volunteers to accompany the Navy Relief awards and subscribe memberships were required. Units seeking the mobile display of Navy Relief awards should provide additional salesmen for the appearance of the display.

Volunteers to accompany the awards may contact MSgt. Eugene J. Flanagan at Base Motor Transport, 7-5698, for a schedule of appearances by the mobile display.

Units seeking the display may also arrange an appearance by contacting MSgt. Flanagan.

HOLIDAY

Holiday routine will prevail at this Base on Thursday, May 30, Memorial Day. A national salute of 21 guns will be fired by the Military Police Battalion, commencing at 12 noon on that date.

Due to the holiday, the deadline for submitting copy to the GLOBE will be 12 noon, Tuesday, May 28, for that week's issue.

GLOBE distribution will be accomplished on Friday as usual.

ing promote the sale of membership subscriptions, a 16mm film on the functions of Navy Relief is also available for units. The film is at the Base training aids library.

Also discussed at the meeting was the subscription of memberships to civilian employees. All employees of civil service and employees of non-appropriated funds of Special Services and the Marine Exchange are eligible. Domestics employed on the Base and bank and club employees were also declared eligible. Concessionaires, traveling representatives and visitors to the Base are not eligible.

Organized Reserves To Transfer Certain EM Non-Performers

Headquarters Marine Corps has announced that the enlisted ranks of non-performing Organized Marine Reservists will be cut in order to make room for new enlistees because of the success of the Marine Corps Reserve six-month training program.

Gen. William W. Stickney, Director of the Marine Corps Reserve, has ordered Directors of Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment Districts to screen members of their commands and immediately consider for transfer to the inactive Reserve those not having at least 90 per cent attendance at drill periods and those who have not attended the most recent period of annual field training.

The order is applicable to all organized reservists who do not possess critical military skills.

It was also announced that the Corps met its 1957 quota of six-month trainees and suspended enlistments on May 10. However, permission has been received to enlist 1,000 additional six-month trainees during fiscal year 1957.

FLYING HIGH—Frank Schmidt Jr., six-and-a-half-year-old son of TSgt. Frank Schmidt, H&S Co., 3rd Bn., Tenth Marines, takes the stick during last Saturday's "Power For Peace" observance of Armed Forces Day at Camp Lejeune. An estimated 3,000 military dependents and guests viewed displays and exhibits at Hadnot Point and the Marine Corps Air Facility.

If you ask me...

WHAT IMPRESSED YOU MOST ABOUT EXERCISE CARIB-EX?

(Asked of members of Amphibious Training Group 1-57, recently returned from the Caribbean.)

SGT. RICARDO S. REYES, "D" Co., 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines —

I think the helicopter method of landing troops behind the lines proved invaluable throughout the operation. Vertical envelopment worked fine, even under the difficult battle conditions that we found in the jungle. Our troops were able to familiarize themselves with the terrain quite rapidly and I think they did very well against the Army aggressors.

CPL. PATRICK M. SURIANO, TRAEX Headquarters —

I was most impressed by the movement and landing of troops. Things seemed to go off exactly as planned and once ashore, the Marines showed that their amphibious and field training could be quickly adapted to any type of terrain.

CPL. KELLY K. CALWELL, "E" Co., 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines —

The way the landing went off according to schedule. Another thing that impressed me was the way we were able to maneuver in the jungle after only a few hours. It looked like a big obstacle at first but soon we felt pretty much at home and proved it by capturing a few aggressors.

CPL. JAMES F. RENNER, H&S Co., 2nd Bn., Eighth Marines —

I was surprised at how rapidly the line companies adjusted themselves to the climate and surroundings. This sort of terrain was unfamiliar to most of us, but it didn't take long for the troops to get used to the dense jungle.

CPL. MARVIN PHILLIPS, MP Co., Hq. Bn., Tnd Division —

The excellent air support the ground forces received and the way the boat crews got the troops to the beach right on time. Our pilots did a thorough job of softening up the beach and kept up the good work for the remainder of CARIB-EX.

During the first month of operations from two airfields on Okinawa, Marine fighter pilots knocked down 209 Jap planes while losing only four in aerial combat.

Now Serving as Provost Marshal

Division Claims Original 'Locker Box' Jones

By MSGT. GEORGE E. BURLAGE
2nd Division Information Office

Is the original "Locker Box" Jones serving with the 2nd Division here?

If you ask Maj. A. M. Jones, Jr., Division Provost Marshal, the answer is affirmative. This veteran Marine officer says he has been carrying the "Locker Box" tag 17 of his 22 service years.

Today many Marines of the Jones variety have picked up the now common moniker in their course of duty, but Major Jones claims to be the first. He got his on the transport FULLER shortly after it put to sea with the Sixth Marines in May, 1941, bound for Iceland duty.

Major Jones was then a sergeant who was transferred from the Eighth Marines to fill a platoon sergeant's billet in the Anti-Tank Platoon of Regimental Headquarters and Service Company. He, with his buddies, Peewee Krumble, Tom Freeman and Frankie Hedit, made up a Trans-Atlantic pinochle foursome.

Seated in the ship's hold on locker boxes, with a blanket thrown over another for a card table, the four sergeants engaged in a continuous game of triple deck pinochle as the FULLER steamed toward Iceland. Day after day the game continued.

Krumble, a habitual high bidder, eventually became the target of the other three players. Although an old hand with a deck of cards, he had to be taught the finer points of this gentlemen's game of pinochle.

One day as the cards were being dealt, he momentarily left the game. This gave the other players a chance to sneak a look at his hand and to frame him in to bidding just one point too many.

Still smarting from this set back, Krumble dealt the next hand, with Jones receiving a triple run in clubs. When play resumed and he realized what had happened, Krumble slammed his cards down and called Jones a few names, interjecting them with the adjective "locker box." The report carried to the chow line and to other parts of the ship; within days the new title had taken hold.

That was 17 years ago this month, but the title still remains. Other Joneses are called "Locker Box," but none of these can trace his royalty to a more conclusive and earlier christening.

After Iceland duty Major Jones rejoined the 2nd Division in the Pacific for canal, Tarawa, Saipan campaigns. He also the 1st Division in I course of battle he Bronze Star, two Let mendment and the ...proof that "Lock been around the Co

S-s-s-s-snake Season

This mean-looking critter is a rattlesnake which sharp fangs and enough poison to challenge all comers. Personnel are advised that these two representatives of the family are dangerous at any time and will strike without warning. Parents are cautioned that copperheads have been killed at Tarawa Terrace and Paradise Point golf course areas. Personnel should be instructed to give snakes the "right of way" and also warned that the shore line at Paradise Point and Point have dangerous drop-offs and children are prohibited wading in these areas.

Hot, Dry Summer Months A Threat To Camp Firemen

Fortunately, there are not many fires here at Camp Lejeune. Small fires, such as Dempster Dumpsters, G. I. cans and an occasional brush fire, keep local fire stations aware of more serious blazes and for this reason, training is imperative.

Fire House 18, located diagonally across from the Catholic chapel, is the headquarters for training, under the control of Chief Frank J. Schlarp, chief of all camp fire stations, and MSgt. Walter L. Kelly, NCOIC of Marines attached to the fire stations.

Assistant Chief G. L. Shaffer is in charge of drills and instruction, assisted by Fire Captains Charles X. Forrer and Dale Lynn. Captains Forrer and Lynn alternate with the training program, one taking charge one day, and the other the next. Training is conducted six days of the week, with firemen arriving for the two weeks instruction from all fire stations aboard the Base.

Each week stations send one or two men to attend this training, while other men take the trainee's place at his parent station. Men are rotated to Courthouse Bay, the Rifle Range, Camp Geiger, Midway Park, Montford Point and the Air Facility.

Training consists of laying lines, or attaching the hoses to hydrants or to trucks, and carrying these lines to designated areas, rescue work, ladder work, forcible entry, salvage and overhaul.

All men are also trained in first aid and must learn how to operate the resuscitator, to revive persons nearing suffocation or drowning.

At Station 18, there are 15 Marines and 14 civilian firemen. Thirteen are always on duty, 24 hours each day.

Separated from the main group is the Forest Fire Fighters, a group of six Marines headed by SSgt. Beamon Hester and Sgt. Eugene Corder. These men do not respond to all calls, but rather to those calls concerned only with forest fires aboard the base.

With the coming of the hot summer months, the fireman's job becomes more and more important. Little rain has fallen during the past month or so, and forests and brush have dried, creating a serious threat to wildlife and humans in that area.

It is urged that all caution be taken to avoid fires, that all cigarettes and matches are out, and put in ashtrays or fireproof containers.

SIX DAYS A WEEK—Members of the Main fire department located at Bldg. 18, Hadnot Point, train during working hours at the fire house. Holding school are civilians, Capt. Charles X. Forrer, left,

LARKIN WINS TOP SPOT

Western Division Results

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Expert shooting by members of the San Diego MCRD rifle team, outscored 20 competing teams to win the coveted San Diego trophy with a score of 1,125-1,200 in the Western Division Rifle and Pistol matches.

Riflemen from Marine Barracks, Naval Ammunition Depot,

Bangor, Wash., won the trophy, awarded to the team with a score of 1,083-1,200.

The 1st Division team captured the second place trophy from a group of competing teams on the day of the matches. The winning score, 1,090-1,200, was at Camp Matthews.

This keep the trophy Division for the second consecutive year.

CWO Harold E. Larkin, Marine Air Wing, El Toro, outshot a field of 320 marksmen for the trophy award. Larkin commanded a gregate score of 570-1,200.

Top individual points went to 1st Lt. Wardfield, VMO-6, Camp Pendleton, for his score of 560-1,200.

Camp Pendleton team came in second with a score of 1,083-1,200.

The first gold medal individual pistol match was won by Sgt. Frank O. Wright, with a score of 560-1,200.

Medal winners in the rifle match will remain at Camp Lejeune for intensive training in the All-Marine Competition from June 3-8.

The Western Division will be in competition for the medal holders from two Division matches at Lejeune and Pearl Harbor.

The Marine Corps is established as a separate within the Naval Establishment by an Act of Congress in 1916.

Intensive Reserve Program Planned For Organized Units During Summer

More than 10,000 Marine Corps reservists from 76 units throughout the eastern United States and as far west as Illinois will undergo intensive training here this summer. The reserve program gets started June 10 with the arrival of the first 10 units to undergo the two-week training period.

Due to arrive for the first session are Supply Infantry companies from Louisville, Ky.,

Huntington, W. Va., Columbus, Ohio, Johnson City, Tenn., Lexington, Ky., Clarksburg, W. Va., Parkersburg, W. Va., and Howitzer batteries from Jackson, Miss., and Birmingham, Ala. Also on hand for the first training period will be the 3rd Cargo Company from Charlotte, N. C.

Camp Lejeune, which conducts the Corps' largest reserve training program, will host 71 Organized Marine Corps Reserve units and five Woman Marine Reserve organizations throughout the summer. Included in the training program will be rifle and infantry companies, truck units, supply platoons, engineering battalions, supply and disbursing units, Howitzer batteries, tank and tractor and shore party units.

Working on a program geared to emphasize the new doctrine of vertical assault, permanent personnel and representatives from Headquarters Marine Corps are arriving daily to plan the jam-packed schedule and to lay the groundwork for the various aspects of training.

A conference here last Thursday and Friday brought together Woman Marine Reserve representatives from Headquarters, instructor-instructors and platoon leaders from the five Woman Reserve units.

On hand from Headquarters was Lt. Col. Elsie Hill, who briefed the group on latest policies and procedures. Among the many other subjects taken up at the conference were operational responsibilities, uniform regulations, demonstrations, training schedules, billeting and medical facilities and disbursing and travel. An earlier conference, held here in April, cleared the path for training of the male reserve units.

Infantry units will be trained under the command of Col. Randall L. Stallings, regimental commander, First Infantry Training Regiment, and will receive instruction in individual movement, helicopters, infantry weapons, chemical warfare, parades and ceremonies, and fire team, squad, platoon and company tactics.

Tank companies will receive instruction from the 2nd Tank Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. A. B. Reynolds. Their instruction will include driving, tank gunnery, tank tactics and maintenance. Artillery batteries will be instructed by the Tenth Marines, under the command of Col. R. M. Wood, and the Amphibious Tractor Groups by the AmTrac Battalion commanded by Lt. Col. B. G. Thobe. Engineers will undergo their MOS training by the Engineering School Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. William G. Heepe.

Other units, including communications, supply and shore parties, will receive training under the commands of Maj. George M. Bryant, commanding officer, Communications Company; Col. Richard D. Weber, Marine Corps Supply Schools, and Lt. Col. Nathaniel Morgenthal, commanding officer, 2nd Shore Party Battalion.

Navy Relief Answers Need Whenever Situation Arises

Through the years since its incorporation in 1904, the Navy Relief Society has expanded its role to include assistance to Naval personnel in almost any emergency.

Originally, the purpose of the Navy Relief was to provide immediate financial assistance to dependents in case of death of a sailor or Marine. Now, however, Navy Relief answers the need for financial help in a number of situations.

Upon the death in service of a sailor or Marine, the Society visits the dependents to offer help with immediate necessary expenses for basic living needs during the period awaiting government benefits. Assistance with transportation to homes or other places of permanent abode for reestablishing the family is also offered.

Even after government benefits arrive, the Navy Relief is there to help with any expenses which cannot be met by normal income. Typical situations are sickness, hospitalization, death and equivalent emergencies which are urgent and require help. Living essentials and education costs of minor children are also borne by Navy Relief in some instances.

In its role as an agency to relieve financial distress in emergencies which cannot be met by normal income of living personnel in the Navy or Marine Corps, the Navy Relief extends assistance in a variety of situations.

Typical situations are: Help with funeral expenses for dependents.

Assistance with living expenses during periods when allotments are delayed or not received.

Temporary assistance for basic living essentials such as food, shelter, clothing in event unexpected and unusual expenses have depleted the family income.

Transportation in special instances such as critical illness or death of a member of immediate family.

However, in all instances, the Navy Relief Society bases its assistance on the predication that personnel of the Navy are expected to provide for themselves and their dependents the essentials of every day living.

Dept. Of Defense Studies Dental Care

Dental care for service dependents is receiving the attention of the Defense Department.

Dr. Frank Berry, Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health and Medical), has started a study of dental treatment now provided for military families by the Dependents' Medical Care Act (Public Law 569), according to the Armed Forces Press Service.

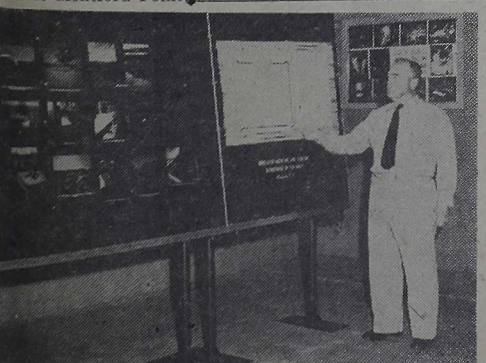

According to a Defense official, at the completion of the study, Dr. Berry and his committee will make recommendations which may result in legislation to broaden the benefits of the law.

Accredited Courses Offered By Institute

S. H. Guthrie, Registrar of the North Carolina division of Central Technical Institute, will be here on Monday, June 17, to talk to persons interested in enrolling in courses offered by C. T. I.

Central Technical Institute is a professional technical school, offering courses primarily in electronics and in all phases of the Airlines Industry. C. T. I. is listed in the current bulletin of the Federal Security Agency's "Accredited Higher Institutions" and is recognized and accredited by many other technical accrediting agencies including the Engineers Council for Professional Development.

Shell Takes Parris Island Depot Duties

Brig. Gen. George R. E. Shell will assume command of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, at colorful change of command ceremonies scheduled for 8:30 a.m. today.

General Shell relieves Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., who has been ordered to new duties as commanding general of the Marine Corps Base here.

General Shell will command both the Recruit Depot and Recruit Training Command until the arrival of Maj. Gen. Robert B. Luckey on July 1.

General Luckey will become Depot commander, with General Shell heading the Recruit Training Command.

Highlighting the change of command ceremonies will be a large scale parade by permanent personnel and recruits in training.

In addition to the parade, an 11-gun salute will be fired by the Depot saluting battery, followed by the presentation of the Depot colors to General Shell by General Greene, officially designating him as commanding general.

General Greene will spend some time on leave before assuming duties as commanding general, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune.

MCI Offers Second Course In Accounts

The second course in a series of three offered by the Marine Corps Institute in Accounting and Management, is now open for enrollment.

It is BASIC COST PROCEDURES OF THE JOB ORDER SYSTEM (99.38) and is designed to assist Marines assigned accounting duties in the field.

The course consists of five lessons and requires approximately 33 hours to complete. Reservists who complete this course will earn 11 Reserve Retirement Credits.

The series of courses is designed to be taken in succession; that is, first, ALLOTMENT ACCOUNTING BY FIELD ACTIVITIES; second, BASIC COST PROCEDURES OF THE JOB ORDER SYSTEM, and, third, BUDGET FORMULATION AND ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROL OF FUNDS. However, they may be studies in any sequence, as they are pertinent to separate phases of the field.

Further information concerning courses offered by Marine Corps Institute may be obtained from the unit Training Officer.

Gazette To Feature Battle Of Waterloo

A 32-page supplement, complete with 16 maps and a number of battle scenes of the Battle of Waterloo, is being offered by the Marine Corps Gazette in its June issue.

A clear and orderly account of the chronological development of the historic four day battle is presented, enabling readers to study the tactics of the immortal Napoleon in the route of his French Grand Army.

The supplement, independently bound in an attractive cover, may be removed from the Gazette without interrupting its continuity.

A near-tragedy was averted recently at the Carlabar, Calif., when Woman Marine Pfc Mary Bright was stricken with cramps while swimming in the surf. She was being pulled down by outgoing tides, when she cried for help. To the rescue went Pfc Judith Kirby, also a WM, who swam to Bright's rescue. The action was so swift that the lifeguard wasn't aware of the incident until it was over. (Other swimmers might let this be a warning about tricky ocean tides!)

Last Friday afternoon, a station wagon was parked by the Camp Commissary. Tailgate down, three youngsters could be seen enjoying themselves in the back of the vehicle. Their parents were apparently still shopping inside the Commissary, for the three youngsters were playing a game that their parents probably wouldn't have approved of. The name of the game is unknown, but the object was to see which of the three could throw a potato furthest from the car. Their parents soon came out and began competition. (Nothing like mashed potatoes!)

Drive Conducted By Camp Students For Hard-Bound Books

A drive is currently under way to increase the number of books in the library of the Camp Lejeune Children's School.

Fiction, non-fiction or reference books of hardback variety are desired for the library. As an incentive to the pupils to assist in this drive, the superintendent of the school is conducting a book drive which began last Monday and will end next Monday.

Although the contest ends Monday, personnel are asked to turn in books at any time to the Camp School Library, Bldg. 797, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The classroom obtaining the most books will be presented an appropriate award.

Joan Earnshaw Speaks Vows At Wedding Here

By EVELYN SMITH

The wedding of Miss Joan Wayne Earnshaw, daughter of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Joseph Wayne Earnshaw of Camp Lejeune, to Ens. Douglas Jerome Donohue, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Joseph Donohue of Portland, Ore., was solemnized last Saturday at Saint Francis Xavier Chapel here.

The ceremony was performed by Capt. Francis T. O'Leary, USN, Base Chaplain.

The chapel was decorated with myriads of cathedral tapers. White floral arrangements interspersed the verdant ferns and smilax that banked the altar. White satin bows centered with tiny white flowers marked the pews reserved for families and close friends.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie. The bodice, fashioned along Empire lines, was of Alencon lace, and embroidered with tiny seed pearls. The skirt was long and full and terminated in a chapel length train. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a pearl embroidered pill box type cap. Long white kid gloves enhanced the beauty of the bride's attire. She carried a white prayer book surmounted with three white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Barbara Coogan of Norfolk, Va., was maid of honor. Her ballerina-length gown was of white silk organza with an Empire bodice of clipped Alencon lace. A hat that was a circlet of white horsehair, banded with tiny ivy leaves, was worn. Short white gloves and white slippers completed her ensemble. She carried a spray of red carnations and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Donohue of Portland, Ore., sister of the groom; Miss Lee Everett of Alexandria, Va., Miss Sally Stoker of Evanston, Ill., and Miss Anzel Metaxas of San Francisco, Calif. The bridesmaids' gowns were exact replicas of that worn by the maid of honor.

Ens. John W. Krieger, USN, served as best man. Ushers were: Ens. Frank A. Weidknecht III, USN, Lt. George S. Colman, USMC, Lt. James Massey, USMC, and Lt. Paul L. McSorley, USMC.

MRS. DOUGLAS DONOHUE

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Paradise Point club.

Immediately following the reception the bride and groom departed for a honeymoon at an undisclosed destination.

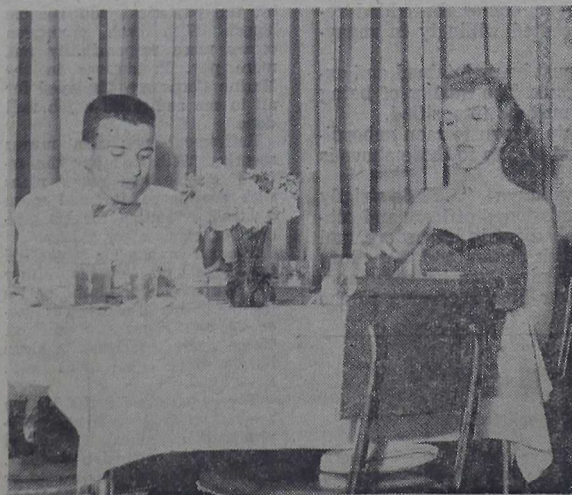

Among the out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. Ralph Payne Craft of San Mateo, Calif., the bride's maternal grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Joseph Donohue of Portland, Ore., parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Frame of Buckfield Plantation, S. C., and Col. and Mrs. George A. Roll of Washington, D. C.

People To People

"... There is something important which every U. S. citizen—man, woman and child—can do to help make the truth of our peaceful goals and of our respect for the rights of others known to more people overseas."

This statement—taken from a letter from President Eisenhower to Carter Burgess, Assistant Secretary of Defense—emphasizes a part of the President's new "people-people" program that Camp Lejeune Marines are fortunate in being able to do something about.

What the program means on the level of the average Marine is just to demonstrate through common decency to people in foreign countries that this nation—as a people—respects the rights of others.

Any individual who comes into contact with people of foreign countries, either at home or aboard, can help to further the President's aims.

One of the main objectives of the program is to "help all peoples of the world to understand the American way of life and their ideals, in the great struggle being waged between the two opposing ways of life."

This may be done by individual Marines, in communication with individuals of other countries, by treating our foreign friends in a neighborly and dignified manner.

NELM battalion personnel are afforded excellent opportunities, as are personnel who are involved in such exercises as TRAEX and BATREX.

So, keeping in mind that your every action while overseas can be interpreted as an action of your country's government or your Marine Corps, use discretion. A little good public relations practice never did anyone any harm. (Division Information Office)

Additional Stripe

A large group of men have been promoted recently and to each one who sewed on that next stripe there was added other, though less visible, considerations.

Human nature being what it is, the additional pay was important to most. To many, the privilege that goes with the higher rank has its importance, whether it be moving into quarters with a bit more privacy, or in the case of a married man it might mean shipment of household effects, and dependents' travel at government expense.

These and other reasons have their importance in the scheme of things which give prestige, authority and privilege as a reward for achievement.

With these benefits, however, comes the added responsibility which must be accepted willingly in repayment for those gained.

A sense of responsibility must be maintained and expanded with each increase in rank. The quality of being able to see in two directions must be intensified.

The guidance and leadership shown to men subordinate is one direction; respect and loyalty to those above is the other direction.

The promotion warrant says in part, "... I do strictly charge and require all noncommissioned officers and others under his command to be obedient to his orders, and he is to observe and follow such orders and directions from time to time as he shall receive from his commanding officer or other officers over him, according to the rules and discipline of the Navy. ..."

Old Corps

Ten Years Ago—After almost five years of continuous and excellent service, the Engineer Schools Battalion will be deactivated by August 1, according to a recent directive from Headquarters. Now located at Courthouse Bay, the battalion has a complement of 23 officers and 251 enlisted men.

Five Years Ago—A permanent strong Marine Corps with a voice of its own in the nation's highest military council received overwhelming approval last week from the House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON REPORT

The military services have united in an effort to get changes in the Uniform Code of Military Justice through the present Congress, according to NAVY TIMES.

Defense's proposed bill to amend the Code, already sent to Congress, contains only recommendations on which the services and the three judges of the military court fully agree.

The main proposals of the bill would provide:

More authority for commanders to award non-judicial punishment. This would include fine of one-half of one month's pay or confinement for seven days for enlisted men. For officers, it would be a fine of one-half of a month's pay for two months.

Special courts martial conducted by a single officer court—provided the officer is a lawyer, is certified by the JAG and provided the defendant agrees to a single-officer court.

Faster action on cases involving a guilty plea by providing review directly in the office of the JAG, rather than sending the case to a review board.

A new procedure on bad check offenses. At present, bad check passing is considered larceny. Under the proposed bill a person who submits a bad check will be given five days in which to make it good. Failure to make good in five days will be considered evidence of intent to defraud.

Cut out much of the paper work by providing a verbatim transcript of trials in certain cases.

Maj. Gen. A. M. Kuhfeld, Assistant Judge Advocate General of the Air Force, who will handle the proposed bill for Defense, says the amendments were designed to require "less time, less people, but just as much justice."

Career Facts

More than 43,000 Marines throughout the Marine Corps were promoted during the last promotion period. For these Marines and their families this means more security and a brighter future.

Security has been described as being a state of mind. But for the Marine this is a reality.

The Marine knows what the future holds for himself and his family. The Marine knows the people with whom he will be living and working.

The career Marine also knows that it is possible to make plans, because the paychecks keep coming every two weeks in good times and bad. Then, after retirement, the checks will continue for the rest of his life.

The career Marine is aware of the fact that as the years go by, the paychecks will become bigger. With each promotion comes more responsibility and more pay. Promotions in the Marine Corps are displayed for all to see and mean a job well done.

Retirement pay also means security. With this pay the retired Marine can make plans with confidence. It could mean a home, education for his children or many other things.

The career Marine is entitled to retirement benefits either through service or disability. He has the option of retiring at either 20 or 30 years of service. These retirement benefits alone have a value equal to as much as $60,000.

The paychecks for the Marine are not stopped while he is hospitalized or convalescing. And this medical attention is free. Whether the illness is a cold or of a more serious nature, the Marine can rest assured that he will be given proper care.

It's a Good Career...
... Stay with It!

NATION'S BEST—Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, center, of the Marine Corps, awards an inscribed plaque to Maj. SSgt. Rodney C. Dalgo of Jackson, Miss. Dalgo was junior's best Marine Reserve instructor and was awarded a radio-television set. Mrs. Dalgo looks on.

Chaplain's Corner

A little boy expressed a common feeling when he said, in reply to a caution against eating a certain delicacy, "Oh yes; everything nice is bad for you, and everything bad is good for you."

Often some of us feel the same way. Those who are able to do just as they please, and to devote themselves to their own enjoyment sometimes seem to have rather the best of life. Moreover, some of us are foolish enough to envy them.

To be sure, we know the end of self-indulgence, and are acquainted with the rewards of goodness; and are, in our best moments, quite decided that it is best to live the Godly, righteous, and sober life. However, in our weaker moments, it seems it would be pleasant to be able to follow without danger or responsibility the devices and desires of our heart. In fact, that is just what too many are doing.

The man who strives to live the good life may have to make many self-denials and not always appear to be so. It is also idle to think indulgent man can find true joy. We need to be of the fact that in goodness which is joy and keenest world can know. I was speaking the spiritual experience said, "I delight to O my God." There is and present exhilarating right and being ed.

Versatile Second Recon Co. Jumping At Air Facility

CHECK—SSgt. F. L. Fernane, Air Delivery Plt., gives Sgt. Foley the final check to see that all equipment is in proper n and properly attached.

ABOARD—Getting aboard in reverse order which they will jump are, left to right: Capt. Lawrence, Cpl. L. J. McGreeny, Sgt. J. C. Taylor, Cpl. A. T. Griffith, Cpl. J. Kleimann, and Lt. R. L. Phillips.

Nine enlisted men and two officers of the Second Amphibious Reconnaissance Co., Force Troops, FMFLant, brush up on their parachute jumping at Marine Corps Air Facility, New River.

Their primary mission is the responsibility for executing amphibious reconnaissance, perform terrestrial observation missions, and conduct amphibious raids of limited scope.

In a problem conducted at the Marine Corps Air Facility their mission was to use the pathfinding control system for navigating helicopters to an objective area and landing them in the proper locations.

Each man made two test jumps prior to the start of the field problem. On the final jump which was led by Capt. R. T. Lawrence, jump master and commanding officer, a cargo 'chute containing flares, markers and necessary equipment for directing helicopters was dropped first.

The 11 men followed quickly and after assembling on the ground, they fanned out in three directions forming a "Y" and lighting flares and markers.

In an actual operation helicopter-borne troops could then be guided in to their objective.

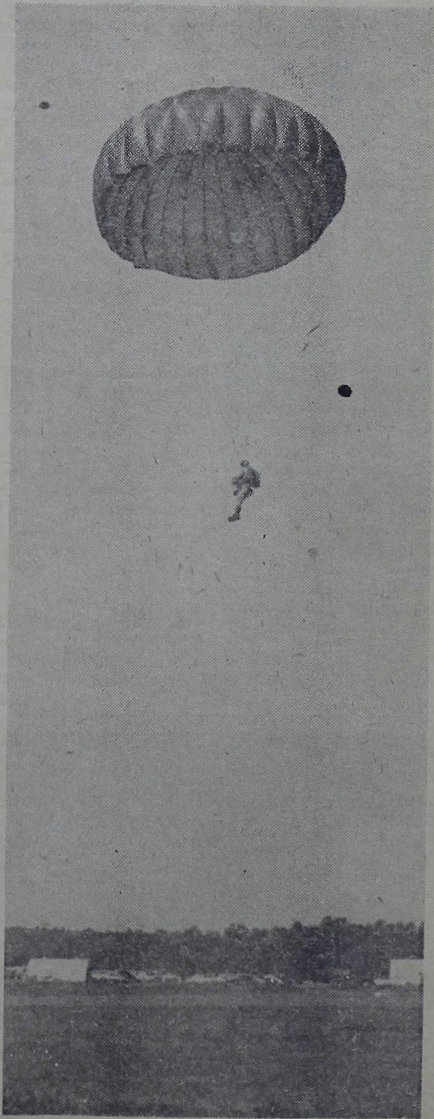

Advance reconnaissance was accomplished by Amphibious Recon. Co. for the Amphibious Troop commander and Task Force commander of TRAEX 1-57 in their exercise in Panama.

Navy squadron VR-22, Norfolk, Va., furnished the pilots, crew and aircraft for this problem.

DRY RUN—Before taking off the paratroopers board the plane and hold a dry run on leaving the aircraft. Sgt. D. J. Foley gets into the proper position as he awaits the signal all is clear to jump.

GREATEST OF EASE—Lt. R. L. Phillips, calmly floats to the ground after jumping. He was the last man from the aircraft.

sports in short

SSGT. HARRY DUKE

MCB BASEBALL—If the early games in the race for the MCB championship are an indication of things to come, this year's race should prove very interesting. Although the race is still in the early stages, upsets continue to mark the weekly play. Teams who find themselves at the top of the loop one week can't seem to last out the week without someone knocking them off their lofty perch.

First it was MCSS who fell by the wayside. Then the USNH, who had a hold on the top spot, but they too found the top rung of the ladder mighty shaky.

Last week, 1st ITR were riding along without a care, unbeaten in three games, that is until they met USNH, who handed them their first setback, 7-6.

Currently leading the pack is the MP Bn. nine, who is unbeaten with a 2-0 record. Their last scheduled game was rained out, giving them a couple of days more before they find out if the loop leader's jinx still holds.

RACE SPORTS NEW LOOK—To point out how much the race for he title has changed this year, both the 1956 champions and runners-up can't seem to buy a win.

Service Bn., last year's MCB and Camp champs, have yet to win a game, having lost three straight, the total number of losses they had all last season. They ended the 1956 race with a 15-3 record.

One of the things that hurt the champs this year was the redesignation of various MCB units. The team got an early start in practice and were rounding into shape when the redesignation bomb burst, leaving coach Mark Pryor with just a couple of players and a complete rebuilding job ahead of him as the new season got underway.

DIVISION BASEBALL TEAM—While on the subject of baseball, your reporter dropped in at the Division Special Services office this week and had a visit with Capt. Wil Overgaard and Lt. Tom Hague.

Most of my visit was spent with Lt. Hague, Divvy Athletic Officer, who was given the job of getting a Division varsity baseball team together and, a busier man I haven't seen in a long time.

His desk was piled high with all sorts of letters and memorandums that go along with arranging the schedule, ordering equipment and the many other things that are necessary in order to field a varsity nine.

Between the constant ringing of the telephone, your reporter got a peek at the rugged schedule that has been completed (lacking only final approval) and a little information about the upcoming season.

HAL HORAN

Of the fielders, Jim Miller of Hq. Bn., MCB, and Hap Mays, Prov. Bn., Sixth Marines, are hitting and fielding well for their respective teams.

HOME RUN BLAST—Joe Mangles, batter of the Tarawa Terrace II team, connects for one of his two home run blasts in the opening game of the Tarawa Terrace softball loop Monday night. His two circuit blasts helped his team win a 12-8 win over Midway Park. The catcher is Ed Kobilis.

All preparations have been made. Equipment is arriving daily and umpires have been contacted. The only thing holding back the call to "Play ball" is the completion of the intramural program, from which the majority of players will be chosen.

Hal Horan, standout first baseman on last year's varsity nine, has been named to coach the team, which will begin practicing sometime during the latter part of June.

Horan, now pitching for the 1st ITR nine in the MCB intramural league, will be assigned to the Division about June 1 and will be spending most of his time scouting the intramural games in order to pick the outstanding talent for his team.

Scouting for talent has been going on since intramural baseball began play, and some outstanding players have been spotted, among them a couple of pitchers and fielders.

Two pitchers who have been showing up well, R. L. Hughes, Hq. Bn., Division, who pitched the first no-hitter of the year last week, and Bob Hussey, a southpaw who is leading the H&S, Serv. Regt., 2nd Division, nine.

MCSS Breezes To Easy Victory In MCB Meet

Marine Corps Supply School's runners, jumpers and weight throwers completely outclassed all opposition and breezed to a runaway victory in the MCB intramural track meet held at Liversedge field last Friday afternoon.

By placing at least two members in the top four places in all events, the powerful Supply squad ran up a total of 148 points, 97 more than its nearest rival, Headquarters Battalion, who took second place with 51. Service Bn. and Base Materiel placed third and fourth with 15 and 11 points respectively.

So thorough was the win, the Supplymen took first place in every event but two, the mile and 880-yard run, and took a clean sweep in two, the 100-yard dash and the running broad jump.

Four individual performers scored 15 or more points in leading MCSS to the win. Top point getter for the winners was Orville Trask, who swept all opposition in the weight events. Trask took the shot put event with a winning toss of 45'5 1/2" and the discus with 118'.

Paul Woodard added 18 points to the MCSS total when he took first in the 100-yard dash in 10:08, second in the 220 and third in the running broad jump.

Two members of the MCSS team collected 15 points each. Donald Day picked his up with a first place in the 220 in the time of 23:07 and a second in the 100-yard dash. Jesse Commons meanwhile was taking second place in the discus and broad jump and tied for second in the high jump.

Runner-up Hq. Bn. was paced by John Dugan, who picked up two firsts in the mile and 880 and two seconds in the 440 and high jump to lead all individual point-getters with 29. Dugan's winning time in the mile and 880 was 5:25 and 2:49 respectively.

Winners of the MCB meet will compete in the Tri-Command meet that will be held today at 1:30 p.m.

Hughes Pitches First Divvy No-Hitter Headquarters Shellacks MT 6-0

1. Gil Gilbert's Provisional Battalion, Sixth Marines, handed Pfc Pat Clinton's 3rd Battalion, Second Marines, its first loss of the year in an intramural game last week in a two-regimental titans. Final score was 9-3.

Elsewhere in the 2nd Division, the 1st and 2nd Battalions, Tenth Marines, opened the men's league last Tuesday. The Third won 8-6 in a slugfest.

Headquarters Battalion struck out and when catcher Cornell of the Third let the ball get away, he reached first safely. Gilbert was walked, Billian skied to short and King was hit by a pitched ball. Shamback walked and Ballard grounded out to let in the runs.

In the sixth, three base hits and a stolen base allowed the Provisional crew to pick up their final two runs.

The Tenth Marines' season opener saw a total of 14 runs, 26 base hits and seven errors between the 1st and 3rd Battalions.

Bourland started for the losers and lasted for four frames. He was relieved by Marese. Shubert went bottom of the frame, pronounced back with four and were never headed off the way as Tony Colella Third team to only one run for the remainings.

nal picked up three runs on no hits. Coffey the distance for the winning 3rd Battalion team.

Hitting for the losers, center-fielder Polak slammed out a home-run and two singles in four trips. Murphy, although he didn't get a hit, led the winners with three runs as he walked three of the four times he went to bat.

Final Arrangements For All-Service Golf Tourney Completed

Final arrangements have been completed for the All-Service Amateur Open Golf Tournament at Wilmington sponsored by the U. S. Coast Guard Recruiting Service, assisted by Pro Bob Wingate.

Qualification began this week and will continue through May 26. Green fees and refreshments will be free but an entry fee of $2.00 will be required to participate. This fee will be used to defray the cost of the trophies.

Tournament play begins May 28 through May 29. Entrants can register at the U. S. Coast Guard Recruiting office, 204 Custom House, or with Bob Wingate at the Municipal Golf Course, Wilmington.

All officers and enlisted men, regular or reserve, active or inactive, are eligible to participate in the 36-hole medal play. The tournament will be run in flights that will be determined by qualification scores.

A big delegation of golfers from Lejeune, Ft. Bragg and other service installations, is expected to be on hand for the tourney.

First Sailboat Series Will Start Saturday

Sailboat racing at Wallace Creek will begin this Saturday when the first race of the 1957 season gets underway at 1 p.m.

As in the past, the races will be run in series but the number of races in a series have been cut from six to three for the new season.

Points for the races will be the same with one point awarded for starting, one for finishing, one for each point the individual passes in the race and one-half point for the winner.

Anyone interested may enter the race provided they have a sailboating permit. All persons planning to enter the race this Saturday are asked to be at the boat-house by 12 noon for the drawing of boat numbers. At present 14 boats have been put in ship-shape and are ready to go.

Hospitalized Ex-Marine Vet Cheers Island Nine To Win

By TSGT. C. F. HOUTS

PI Information Section

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C.—When the Parris Island Marine baseball team played the University of South Carolina at the Veterans hospital in Columbia, S. C., recently, they found that the old adage, "Once a Marine, always a Marine," is absolutely true.

The man who proved it to the ballplayers is former-Marine Bobby R. White of Piedmont, S. C., a patient at the hospital since May of 1956.

The game was a tight one. Going into the 11th inning the score was tied at 2-all. Other patients were riding the Marines in a friendly manner and calling on the University team to clobber "those Marines."

Bobby White stuck to his guns. He cheered every Marine play until his voice grew hoarse. In fact, he made so much noise he drew the attention of the players on both teams.

When PI catcher Paul Dolinsky singled in the final half of the 11th inning to score Dick Ray for the winning run, the former Leatherneck went slightly mad.

Members of the PI team autographed a baseball for Bobby R. White, who swore he'd never lose that ball. Something close to tears were in the eyes of each of the Parris Island Marines as a nurse led the Korean veteran back to his ward.

A little research, with the cooperation of the Field Directors of the American Red Cross here and at the Veterans hospital, revealed that Bobby R. White trained here at PI with Platoon 408 of the 5th Battalion during September and October of 1951.

The son of a World War II Marine veteran, White wanted to make a career of the Corps.

After graduation from recruit training, the new Marine served in Japan for a few months before going to Korea to join the 7th Motor Transport Battalion.

Returning to the States, White was stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Then it happened. While on liberty in 1955, he was injured in an automobile accident.

He received serious head injuries, was hospitalized at the U. S. Naval hospital, San Diego, Calif., then discharged from the Corps.

In May of 1956 he entered the Veterans Administration hospital at Columbia, S. C.

The results of the head injuries have left him partially paralyzed in the left side of the face and has hampered him with poor coordination of reflexes.

It was reported that Bobby is undergoing further treatment and, while he realizes his condition may interfere with his ambition, he still talks about "going back to the Corps someday."

Bobby said he'd like to hear from old buddies who served with him overseas, but also asks any Marine who'd like to take the time to drop him a line.

His address is: Bobby R. White, Veterans Administration Hospital, Columbia, S. C.

FISH & WILDLIFE

BY THE "OLD ANGLER"

Phone 7-5821

FISH AND WILDLIFE CLUB—This week's column is devoted to the Fish and Wildlife club. There is a reason for doing so. Membership at past meetings indicates that interest in the club is sadly lacking. Of course, interest during the hunting season picks up, but since hunting season ended, it is terrible low.

Last week, for example, there were only 15 present. This was the meeting at which Paul Metters, Onslow county Wildlife Protector, was present to give some information that would interest Marine sportsmen who are looking for some place to spend a few days vacation. Well, at least 15 of us know a little about vacation sports in the Western part of the state.

A spot check of the 15 present revealed that they are same ones who have been attending the meetings for the past few months.

These faithful followers are the ones who have holding the club together and they are deeply concerned about the lack of participation.

There are many things that the club wants to do. Things that would benefit all Marines and their dependents here at Lejeune. But they need help. They cannot carry the load by themselves.

THEORIES—What is the reason for this lack of participation during the fishing season and summer months? There are several schools of thought and all of them sound.

First, the terrific turnover of personnel here during the past year. This was the main reason the club was inactive for a few months. Most of the club officers were transferred and for a while the situation and the club records were in a state of confusion.

At this time several members got together and began to get things organized again. And, it has been these same few men who not only got the club on its feet again, but have been carrying the whole burden.

Another theory is based on the reasoning that members are more active during the hunting season because hunting on the Base is an organized affair. A lot of planning is necessary. Huntmasters, hunting areas and a terrific amount of planning has to be done to insure the safety of all hands. You just can't pick up a rifle and head for the woods in search for deer or other game any time you get the urge.

As far as fishing is concerned, there is no organization needed. If a sportsman wants to go fishing, he does just that. He packs his gear, gets in his car, picks up a companion or two and off he goes. That's all there is to it.

In looking over this second theory, it is probably very sound. But the members of the club don't attend the meetings all winter long just to get their names on a hunting list. There are a lot of things they do when they go to the meetings. They get together and have good companionship, exchange experiences, push several ideas that will aid the members and sportsmen here and get a lot of important information from the various programs.

This can also be true during fishing season if the members would show up.

MEMBERSHIP ADVANTAGES—Maybe this is the time to go over a few of the advantages that can be derived by being an active member of the club. I could write a five page booklet with such information but as that is impossible, I will only mention the main one.

The most important is the many things that can be done with a strong, active membership. The old saying, "United we stand, divided we fall," is well known to all of us, and how true it is. Certainly if the attendance at all the meetings was 15, the club would soon disband.

Fifteen active members can hold the club together for only a short time. Whereas, a hundred of two active members can do many things that would benefit Lejeune sportsmen.

For example, several times I have mentioned a fishing pier here at Lejeune. This idea is not new by any means. It was started a year or so ago and had quite a backing. Plans were once drawn up and studied but was rejected because of the hurricane threats at the time. This is understandable because the North Carolina coast had just been lashed by two severe hurricanes.

But, the hurricane threats have subsided and North Carolina may not have another hurricane for 20 years. Two new piers are being built at Surf City. One has its grand opening today.

What's the outlook for a fishing pier now? Well, just because it was rejected once doesn't necessarily mean that it is dead forever.

I, as well as thousands of Lejeune personnel, go fishing every chance we get and feel the desire for such a pier.

Several thousand Lejeune sportsmen also feel the same. But, plans mean nothing without organization, and that's what the Fish and Wildlife club is for.

The club is willing to go all out and work for the project. In fact, the club president is already looking into the situation again. But, he and the 14 faithful members are helpless without all the other members and prospective members to lend them a hand. The club needs support.

That brings up the first point I mentioned about the the terrific turnover of Lejeune personnel. If the club needs new blood, let's get busy and get prospective members interested. If all members of the club could bring a prospective member each month, we here at Lejeune could have one of the best clubs in the country.

Remember, it is very simple to be a club member. If you are a member of the Armed Forces stationed here at Lejeune, all you have to do is show up at one of the meetings. Take it in, and, if you like it, just give your name to the club secretary. A dollar dues is all the money that is needed for a year's membership.

If you want any more information on the club and want to learn more of the advantages of belonging to it, give TSgt. Hennessee, club secretary a call at 7-3208. Or give me a buzz at 7-5821.

Golf Slices

AL GREER

Golf etiquette is a form of courtesy, practice both.

We only have one more month before the string of service tournaments start on the No. One course, so players who are in the Division, Force Troops and MCAF better sharpen up your game.

MCB golfers will have more time to work on your game as the All-Marine is the only contest they will be eligible for and in this one you will have to get your handicap down to six or less.

★ ★ ★ ★

The three new greens are coming along better than expected and Mr. Mann is very sure that he will open them for play the first week of July. But the golfers who walked on the plastic cover on No. 11 green with their spikes can credit themselves with setting the growth of that new green back about one week. That cover was holding poison gas and the spike holes let all the gas out and it had to be repaired and regassed.

There have been many complaints brought to me about golfers playing slow on both courses and not having the courtesy to allow the following players to shoot through. Remember the rules of play and abide by them.

With more golf being played and more "White Permits" being issued, I have noticed that the traps on No. 1 course are not being raked and smoothed out by the players. In last year's Pro-Am, all of the visiting Pros noticed and remarked about how our golfers raked the traps and repaired the divots and ball scars. So let's give the rest of the players a fair shake.

All you Junior golfers are not turning in score cards to your team captains or coaches, so when you finish, please turn in your score cards.

With school soon to be out and plenty of spare time on hand, we look for a greater turnout for the Junior League. We would like for all Junior matches to be completed prior to the weekends as that is when the course is crowded and your matches make it even more congested.

300's Upset Flub Dubs In Staff NCO Wives League

The cellar-dwelling 300's shocked the league-leaving Flub Dubs 3-1 in Staff NCO Wives' Bowling League match last week.

Led by Maxine Vance, who had a high game of 141 and a 409 series, the 300's trounced the leaders 701-648 in the first game, lost the second 714-689 and then bounced back with a 700-687 win the final frame to run up a 2-090 total pin fall to the losers' 2-049.

Margaret Casey with a 146 game and 408 series led the losers.

In the other match last week, the second place Scatterpins and the third place Pin Ups split 2-2. The Pin Ups won the first and third games 690-640 respectively while the 300's salvaged the second 801-

Shirley Ortmann won a game and 442 series, the toppler for the Scatterpins the Pin Ups, Betty C. both honors with 14's.

Margaret Casey still holds season's high individual with a 183 game and 408 series while her team, the 300's have a 830 team game and series that remains to

First Battalion (Reinf.), Second Marines, relieved the 2nd Battalion (Reinf.), Sixth Marines, as the NELM Battalion in the Mediterranean area on the island of Rhodes, Greece May 15.

The 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, is expected to arrive at Morehead City, N. C., June 2.

Lt. Col. Richard F. DeLamar, III, new NELM battalion commanding officer, relieved Lt. Col. Andrew I. Lyman, commanding officer, 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, during informal ceremonies aboard the transport USS FREMONT.

Completing a four month's tour of duty with the Navy's Sixth Fleet, the homeward-bound 2nd Battalion sailed from Morehead City last January 9.

The 1st Bn., Second Marines, departed from the eastern North Carolina port May 1. It is expected the unit will serve in the Mediterranean area until sometime in August.

MARCHING STUDENTS—Sgt. William J. Rohner, "C" Co., 7th MT Bn., 1st Division, marches a formation of students of Motor Transport school back to their barracks following a class. Students march to all classes and chow while attending the Montford Point schools.

PROGRAM NOTES

By TSGT. JACK MCCARTHY

"From high atop your Camp theater building, WCLR presents music from the Blue room."

Just one month ago this opening introduced to the radio fans of Camp Lejeune the first musical production ever written and produced by the staff of this station.

The words, "musical production" covers a wide range of entertainment in the radio field. In the case of "Blue Room," it is narrowed down to the variety-type show featuring the top music and the most popular recording stars in the nation.

For weeks in advance of the opening our staff informally interviewed many Marines and Navy personnel in an effort to discover the type show that would be best received by the majority of listeners. The results of this survey proved our audience wanted a variety type show, yet, they did not want the usual musical routine.

While the routine musical provides excellent entertainment, it leaves the radio fan with the knowledge that he is listening to recordings. Our survey concluded with the information that audience wanted a program that they could not only hear but also "live," and so was born "Music from the Blue Room."

In the "Blue Room," through the medium of sound effects, we sit you at a ringside table in one of the most beautiful clubs in the country. The talking, the shouts and applause can be clearly heard as each artist is introduced, as a guest of the club, not a recording.

Tommy Sands, Julie London, Earl Bostic, Brenda Lee, Joni James, Frank Sinatra are just a few of the stars to be met in the "Blue Room," so reserve a table any day, Monday through Friday, at 1:30 p.m. as WCLR presents, "Music from the Blue Room."

TALLMAN ST. USO SCHEDULE

Hostesses from Jacksonville, Kingston and Wilmington will be present at the Tallman Street USO next Wednesday night during a dance from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

The movie Saturday and Sunday will be "Jungle Manhunt," to be shown in the auditorium. Free coffee and doughnuts, community singing, hospitality hour and home-made cakes and coffee sponsored by the Jacksonville Women's organizations complete Sunday's normal schedule.

Last Thursday night, Ronald Kalvin won first place in the weekly ping-pong tournament, winning a spaghetti dinner.

There are three pool tables and four ping-pong tables available for use, along with television and other games for use by local and visiting servicemen.

NO SCHOOLBOY PICNIC

Students At Montford Point Have Full Work Schedule

School days to many means the time they spent at the weekly football games or high school dances sprinkled moderately with a few studies but to the Marine students at Montford Point—school is a serious business.

It means a 14-hour work day which includes classes, study periods, personnel inspections and a constant awareness of what the title "Marine" stands for.

The student's day begins, like every Marine's, at 5:30 a.m. reveille and ends at lights-out at 10 p.m. This is the only similarity between the average day of the student and the average day of a Marine on the job.

Police call is held after morning chow and the barracks are inspected immediately after by the class leader. This is only the first of many inspections the student may encounter during the day. Instructors and officers of the school can inspect the barracks and living quarters at any time and deficiencies noted can result in extra work for the class.

Classes start at 8 a.m. and continue to 4 p.m. with an hour off for lunch. Students average another three to four hours per day extra study to maintain their required 70 per cent average. They receive as many as three spot quizzes a day concerning their formal instruction to test their progress.

Students who do not keep up with the class are assigned extra study hours. If it becomes apparent that a student cannot maintain his standing, for academic or other reasons, he may be dropped back to another class. This is necessary because the instructors have a wide variety of subjects to cover and they cannot allow one or two students to hold an entire class back.

Each class has a class leader and a class commander who is a Staff NCO. These men are responsible for the conduct of their class during off-duty hours and in the barracks. They hold inspections and march the students to and from all classes. They also act as liaison between the class and school officials.

Personnel inspections are held periodically with little or no notice to make sure the Marine students are "squared-away" at all times.

It is not all work and no play at the schools. Wednesday afternoons are set aside for organized athletics with all students participating. However, this too can be denied if the class is extremely slow in its academic work and is falling behind schedule.

Normal liberty hours prevail for those students who maintain acceptable grades.

It requires an honest effort to receive a diploma from one of the schools at Montford Point, but the Marine who graduates is a credit to himself and to the Marine Corps.

Library News

By LOUISE ROWE

During the past year, Central Library has sponsored two programs that have received many compliments. First is the poetry society, known as the Onslow County Poetry Society, and second, the art film group, organized as the International Film Society.

The poetry society was initiated by Jean Broulik, wife of Lt. Comdr. Frank N. Broulik. Through the continued activity of the Brouliks, the group has grown in membership from 12 to 25.

Meetings are held twice a week in the homes of the various members.

Mrs. Broulik was a member of the South Carolina Poetry Society and won nine prizes during her residence in that state.

The first series of the art film society has just been completed with the opera, "Boris Godunov," by Moussorgsky. Using the Rimski-Korsakov version, the film was produced in Russia by the outstanding opera company of that country. High fidelity sound equipment was loaned by Norman Pelter, Dr. Alfred F. LeGace and Dr. William T. Baker of the Naval hospital staff. Films were shown in the Camp Lejeune high school auditorium.

Dr. Maurice L. Shepherd of the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory has been elected chairman of the film society. Plans are now under way for the next series to be sponsored in cooperation with the Onslow County Library.

Boys and girls are asked to watch the GLOBE for the date of the first "Story Hour." A committee composed of Mrs. Victor Brandt and Mrs. Benn Sutts is planning the summer reading program for the Children's Library.

FLESH AND THE SPUR (2 Bells)
Farming a remote section of the Oklahoma Territory in the mid-1850's, John Ascar leaves to find the murderer of his only brother. He saves half-breed Marla English from a gun-drawn bandit and joins Touch Connors in searching for the gang that killed his brother. Has a good switch. Marla English is kidnapped by Indians and put on an ant hill!

GO GETTER (2 Bells)
Not very much information on this movie, other than the fact that it is a comedy and stars Hank McCune and Beverly Garland.

TARZAN AND THE LOST SAFARI (2 Bells)
Filmed in technicolor on location in South Africa, it is considered one of the best in the series of Tarzan. There is no "Jane" in this film, but Cheeta adds humor. Native dances and the usual jungle suspense make this a better than average flicker.

TEXAS (2 Bells)
Here's another with little information, but the title itself and the stars should mean a good movie. A western, Texas stars Glen Ford, Claire Trevor and Sterling Hayden.

FIVE STEPS TO DANGER (1½ Bells)
Ruth Roman and Sterling Hayden get deeply involved in melodramatic fencing with Soviet spies, American counter-intelligence men, police and the like. Based on a continuous story in the Saturday Evening Post, the movie has a hard plot to follow, and twists and turns from one scene to another. Hayden does a good job, seeking cops, telling off Soviet agents and comforting Miss Roman.

According to the latest Showmen's Review, this picture hasn't been released yet; therefore, "no information available." A drama, starring Dan Duryea and Martha Vickers. Probably the greatest drawing card in this movie is held by another female... Jayne Mansfield.

WAR DRUMS (2 Bells)
Lex Barker is strong and stalwart as an Apache chief who takes for a victim a Mexican half-breed, Joan Taylor, much to the dissatisfaction of his tribe. Ben Johnson is a frontiersman also with an amorous drive toward Miss Taylor. The usual whiteman-Apache war breaks out. Filmed in DeLuxe color.

ROCK ALL NIGHT (2 Bells)
The Platters and Dick Miller team up in this Rock 'n' Roll show, another entry in the current battle of pop and rock. Should prove one of the better shows, having a well-rounded cast and a sound plot.

DANIEL BOONE, TRAIL BLAZER (1½ Bells)
Daniel Boone, played by Bruce Bennett, moves his family from North Carolina to the town of Boonesborough, in the heart of the Kentucky Indian Territory. Boone's oldest son, Bennett is later captured by Indian fighters led by his blood brother Lon Chaney, who agrees to talk peace.

THE PEACEMAKER (1½ Bells)
A gunslinger turned minister puts Satan behind him when the chips are down, taking up the Bible instead of the colt to stop a crew of gunmen and avenge a murdered friend. James Mitchell plays the part of the new person, in a town where farmers are fighting for possession of the surrounding land. Rosemarie plays the leading feminine role.

THE BARRETT OF WIMPOL STREET (2½ Bells)
A dramatic and romantic love story with an extra appeal for lovers of the poetry of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett, who later became his wife. Jennifer Jones plays Elizabeth Barrett, an invalid in the home of her stern father. John Gielgud, Robert Browning, gives his love to her, aiding her and giving her the courage to walk out and leave her father's home. In Cinemascope and color.

JOE BUTTERFLY (2½ Bells)
The efforts of five enlisted men representing Yank and Army Weekly magazines, to get out a copy of their book in Japan with photos and story of the WAR AND PEACE (3 Bells)

Rarely is a movie rated three bells in this column, but this movie seems certain to become one of the must-see pictures of recent times. Though quite long, the story spans the seven years of Napoleon's ill-fated attempt to bend the great empire of the Russian Czar to his will. Three huge battles, a burning of a great city, the story concerning mainly individual characters, portrayed by Audrey Hepburn, Henry Fonda, Mel Ferrer, Vittorio Gassman, Anita Ekberg and Oscar Homolka. In VistaVision and technicolor.

HIGH SIERRA (2 Bells)
Since the death of Humphrey Bogart, theaters seem to be showing more and more of his movies. One of his better movies, High Sierra, co-stars Ida Lupino in a drama-packed movie.

NIGHT THE WORLD EXPLODED (2 Bells)
Great for science fiction fans. A science fiction story peering into the future of the atomic age, and what a future...! Stars Kathryn Grant and William Leslie.

Special effects and inclusion of suspenseful stock footage of rockets and A-bomb tests make this a better-than-average science fiction film. An asteroid from space lands off the Pacific Coast and destroys towns as it grows, absorbing power and energy. Jeff Morrow is the hero, with Barbara Lawrence heroine. KETTLES ON OLD MACDONALD'S FARM (1½ Bells)

Another story borrowed from "The Egg and I." Probably satisfying to those regular followers of the Kettles but it comes close to overstepping the Kettle boundary line of wholesome family entertainment. Stars Marjorie Main, Parker Fennelly and Gloria Talbot.

JOE BUTTERFLY (2½ Bells)
The efforts of five enlisted men representing Yank and Army Weekly magazines, to get out a copy of their book in Japan with photos and story of the Japanese surrender. An original comedy, especially "Yonkos" who served in 43 Stars Audie Murphy, Ke Kleko Shima, John Agar, Meredith.

GUYS AND DOLLS (2 Bells)
From Damon Runyon's pen Broadway stage hit, revolving rocky romances between a salvationist, a nightclub her chiseling boy friend, S background of luteful songs. Stars Marlon Brando, Je Frank Sinatra and Vivian.

GIRL CAN'T HELP IT (2 Bells)
A theatrical agent takes of turning Jayne Mansfield, of a gangster, into a successful star so that the gangster her. Though Tom Ewell is a Brien join to make the movie also. In Cinemascope and color.

THE SEA HAWK (2 Bells)
Top Sergeants and "Must" ally remember this film with ten cents to go to the u Flynn and Brenda Marshall a rolls in this adventure drama.

WESTWARD HO THE V (2½ Bells)
Wherever westerns are liked will attract large audiences, so. Bound for Oregon in a escape Pawnee Indians and not-so-friendly Sioux. Refusal a fair-skinned blonde girl to the Sioux threaten to attack is headed by Fess Parker a Crowley.

HELLCATS OF THE NAVY (2 Bells)
Based on fact, it is about formidable submarine operations history, planned and executed in '44 under Admiral Nimitz's command. Stars gan, Nancy Davis and Arthur
