be required. Personnel between Base and personnel between geographical areas are not required to wear the necktie when departing from the point to point and will be authorized. At other times the service uniform will be worn when outside the limit of observation.

Camp Lejeune Will Host High Ranking Guests

Camp Lejeune will play host to distinguished visitors next week. Commandant of the Base and Chief of Staff, Lt. Gen. E. McGee, will arrive Sunday afternoon to start the Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol matches at the Rifle Range on Monday.

McGee is scheduled to arrive at Headquarters Marine Corps on Monday afternoon.

There will coincide with the inspection of the Force units by the general of Fleet Marine Corps, Lt. Gen. R.

Robinson will arrive at Norfolk, Va., headquarters on Monday morning where he is scheduled to relieve the 2nd Bn. (Reinf.), 6th Marines, which served in that area since last January.

Heading the amphibious force is the transport Monrovia, serving as flagship. Other ships are the transport Rockbridge, the attack cargo ship Capricornus and the landing ship dock Shadwell.

Departure of the unit climaxed a month of field exercises, requalification on the rifle and pistol ranges and physical fitness programs. A final education briefing was given all men at the Camp theater last week.

Later in the week, Maj. Gen. Reginald H. Ridgely Jr., Division commander, inspected all the officers and men of the 1st Battalion on the Camp parade ground. He and his inspecting party also visited other Division units which serve to reinforce the battalion.

Vehicles and supplies were staged near the docks during the weekend for the loading which began early Tuesday morning as the ships started arriving from Norfolk. Trucks, making up continuous convoys from Camp Lejeune, brought additional supplies and equipment during the day.

On hand for the loading were numerous news media representatives from national and local television news programs, theater news and an editorial team from LIFE magazine.

He will be met by an escort from the 2nd Division. After that, General Robinson will embark on a whirlwind inspection tour of 2nd Division units and Force Troops organizations.

Utilizing helicopter transportation the general's inspection party will skip from the Camp parade ground to Camp Geiger and Courthouse Bay before returning to the Hadnot Point area again. From this point, the inspection party will helicopter once more to Marine Corps Air Facility, New River, and Infantry Training Unit before returning to the 2nd Division area.

A demonstration by Division troops Monday afternoon which General Robinson will witness will conclude the one-day inspection visit.

The following day the Commandant of the Brazilian Marine Corps Vice Adm. Rubens Constant de Magalhães Serejo, and his staff will visit Camp Lejeune.

Admiral Serejo is scheduled to arrive at MCAF, New River, shortly before noon and will helicopter to the Camp Parade

Competition Begins Tuesday In Eastern Division Matches

Lt. Gen. Vernon E. McGee, Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps, will be here to witness the opening round of the 1957 Eastern Division Rifle and Pistol matches, beginning at the Rifle Range on Monday.

The instruction phase prior to the matches was completed yesterday and all hands proclaim themselves ready for the actual competition.

The preliminaries prior to the competitive firing will be conducted today and Monday.

Firing for record will begin on Tuesday with individual rifle shooters going through their paces. This will be continued Wednesday until all participants have completed the required course.

Eastern Division pistol shooters will compete over the National Match course on Thursday for individual honors.

Team matches will get underway on Friday with the firing of the Elliot and Wirgman trophy matches.

The Elliot competition will be between rifle teams from posts and stations with a complement of more than 300 personnel. The Wirgman winner will be from a post or station with a strength of less than 300 personnel.

The pistol team matches for the Edson trophy on Saturday morning will be the final competitive event of the matches.

The presentation of all awards will be staged in the afternoon as the finale to the 1957 Eastern Division Matches.

All medal aspirants have successfully completed four weeks of advanced marksmanship training given by the Marksmanship Training unit from Camp Matthews, Calif.

Altogether, shooters received 30 hours of formal instruction in this subject, which included team shooting, coaching techniques and range operating procedures.

All rifles used in the matches, except for being match conditioned, may not be altered or modified by the shooter.

Pistols are required to have all safety features in operating order and the individual may use the service or high sights as desired.

Ammunition used for match firing will be from a stock of specially selected service type.

Responsibility for conducting the matches in accordance with directives from Headquarters Marine Corps falls upon the match executive officer. Lt. Col. Lloyd O. Williams, commanding officer of the Rifle Range detachment, holds that position this year. Capt. Joseph E. Riggs will be assistant executive officer, with Capt. Max L. Darling as chief pit-officer, both from the Marksmanship Training unit. All were selected by the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

With the completion of the Eastern Division matches here, medal winners will be sent to the Marine Corps Rifle and Pistol and Lauchheimer Trophy matches at Camp Matthews from June 3-8.

Navy Relief Membership Campaign Underway For Lejeune Personnel

The annual Navy Relief membership drive, with a goal for this year of $45,000, started last Wednesday for Camp Lejeune personnel.

No definite date has been set at this time for the termination of the drive, but it is expected to end in late June.

The membership drive will be conducted in the same manner as previous fund campaigns at Camp Lejeune this year, with the exception that there will be no sealed envelopes involved.

Membership will be by subscription which will qualify the donor for participation in membership awards to be presented at the conclusion of the campaign. Subscriptions will be 50 cents each.

There are five such awards, including a Cadillac convertible, a Plymouth six-passenger station wagon, a fire-engine red MG sports car, and two boats complete with trailers.

Individual commands will have a Navy Relief membership drive board and keymen have been designated for each individual unit.

These keymen have the responsibility of contacting each person assigned to their section.

Membership in the drive, in addition to military personnel, both on active duty and retired, is extended to Base civilians who are civil service employees and employees of non-appropriated funds.

Civilians who serve the Base such as taxi drivers, concessionaires and other similar workers, but are not employed here will not be granted membership.

The Camp Lejeune auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society rendered financial assistance to 3,196 personnel and their dependents during 1956. This aid, in the form of loans, totaled $163,768.

Of this total, $14,460 was outright gratuities involving 267 personnel. An additional $11,877, previously loaned to 338 personnel, was written off the books. This occurred when unforeseen circumstances made it impossible for the person to repay the loans.

All money collected from Lejeune personnel is used locally and no interest is charged on loans. Of the $29,862 contributed by Camp Lejeune last year, over 86 per cent was utilized on gratuities and uncollectable loans.

Aside from financial aid given Lejeune personnel, Navy Relief visiting nurses made 2,074 calls as follow-up on post-hospital cases, assisting new mothers, both before and after childbirth and visiting nurse care for those who needed this attention at home.

Christmas baskets were distributed by the Auxiliary to needy persons during the holidays.

Col. A. E. O'Neil, president of the General Court Martial board here, is the chairman of the 1957 Navy Relief membership drive with Chaplain E. Vaughan Lyons Jr. as assistant chairman.

Unit chairmen are: Maj. H. J. Ellzey, MCB; Lt. Col. H. S. Popper, 2nd Division; Maj. T. B. Sparkman, Force Troops; Lt. (jg) E. D. Johnson, USNH, and Capt. E. C. Poirier, MCAF.

Unit commanders or organizations desiring to display the awards for special events are requested to make arrangements through MSgt. Eugene J. Flannagan at the Base motor transport office or call 7-5698.

FIRST SUBSCRIPTION—Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger, Base commanding general, purchases the first subscriptions for the 1957 Navy Relief membership drive from Pfc Joanne Odenthal of the Woman Marine Company. Each subscription will qualify the buyer for a chance at five awards to be given away at the conclusion of the campaign. Subscriptions are 50 cents each.

WHAT PROGRAM AIRED OVER WCLR DO YOU LIKE BEST?

SGT. DONALD SCHULTZ, Bldg. 15, Hq. Bn., MCB—First on my list would be Home-town, U.S.A. from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. weekdays. Then on Sunday, it would be record request. It gives everyone a chance to hear their favorite waxes by their own popular stars. I wish the station was a little more powerful as it seems to fade out on me when riding around in town and that isn't enjoyable with a good disc on the table.

PFC HARRY C. CAIN, Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., MCB—I like the church service program on Sunday mornings the best, as I am the one who brings it on the air from the Base chapel. Everyone should listen to this program at 9 a.m.

PFC CATHERINE C. NELLIS, Woman Marine Co., Hq. Bn., MCB—The request program on Saturday mornings at which time we can request songs of our choice. Through this program one can find the popularity of the present songs and also the feelings of other people from what they request. It helps with the homesick blues when one can call in the songs which are popular around home.

SSGT. CONSTANCE M. SMITH, Woman Marine Co., Hq. Bn., MCB—I like the wake up music early in the morning. You can always call up and have requests made. This is a good morale builder. They have the latest records and you can make your own selections. I also enjoy the hillbilly music that can be heard in the afternoons.

MICHAEL McDONNELL, son of MSgt. and Mrs. James L. McDonnell—I declare, I'd shoot the first hombre who spoke against my favorite radio station. All the programs on station WCLR are of the very best calibre and there isn't enough time in the day for all my activities after listening to all of my favorite programs. It's all real George.

With the exception of adding the word "air" to the Marine Hymn in 1942, to recognize the Marines in aviation, the version has remained as originally authorized in 1929.

Attack By Imperial Japanese Army Stubbornly Opposed At Corregidor

By MSGT. GEORGE E. BURLAGE
2nd Division Information Office

Swarming over the beaches on the tail of tadpole-shaped Corregidor island, soldiers of Imperial Nippon came in endless numbers. Their war for control of Asia was over; the white flag of surrender was raised at noon, May 6, 1942, signifying the fall of this last American outpost.

Elimination of this stubborn snag in the path of these fast-moving invaders was finally accomplished just a few hours short of five months. The war the Japs began December 7, had paid off fabulously in territory; Japanese forces now controlled the major portion of the Pacific and much of the continent of Asia.

War leaders, arguing for their imperialistic program in late 1941, boasted that the whole of Oceania rightfully belonged to the Emperor by heritage. Now they were proving their rights to it by hammering at the approaches of Australia with combined air-naval-land forces.

Initial acts of the Japanese conquest were set into motion in the first World War when Jap forces, with negligible losses, took German ports on the China mainland and then occupied the former German islands in the Pacific. Manchuria was brought under puppet rule in 1932, and full scale war with China erupted in the summer of 1937.

Simultaneously with the Pearl Harbor attack, Jap forces plunged into Thailand from occupied French Indo-China and raced down the Malay Peninsula to Singapore. Legation guards of Marines at Tientsin and Peiping were taken over; Marines at Guam and Wake went down fighting; Hongkong and the East Indies fell. Land forces drove westward into Burma while transports plowed southward for the planned invasion of Australia.

In the meantime the Philippines rocked under the shock of invading armies as the enemy landed to the north and south of Manila. Cavite Navy Yard, home base of the U. S. Asiatic Fleet and headquarters of the 16th Naval District, was bombed beyond usefulness.

Save for a handful of P-40's, planes of the Far East air arm were bombed into extinction at Clark Field. Navy PBV's were either destroyed by the enemy or had fled safely into the East Indies and then to Australia.

Also slipping southward were units of the Asiatic Fleet for a rendezvous with Dutch, English and Australian ships and the Battle of the Java Sea.

Here a numerically superior Jap fleet struck a telling blow. The Philippine Islands were isolated; by now Bataan and Corregidor — mere specks on the map of the world — stood alone.

On December 8 a four a.m. issue of gas masks, helmets and ammunition told the 23 officers and 708 men of the 1st Separate Marine Battalion, based at Cavite, that the United States was at war. At the top of the Bataan Peninsula, in the Subic Bay naval station of Clongapo, the understrength two-battalion Fourth Marines, numbering 48 officers and 718 men, had just arrived from Shanghai.

With the pincer moving rapidly toward the Philippines' capital, General Douglas MacArthur pulled his troops into prearranged position across Bataan Peninsula from the China Sea to the upper part of Manila Bay. Mariveles, on the southern tip of the peninsula, became an operating base for the remaining units of the navy — the veteran river boats from China duty, mine-sweepers and one sub tender.

In the drawback to the Bataan Peninsula the well organized and better equipped Philippine Scouts, led by American officers, and the 31st U. S. Infantry formed the main defense line. They were supported by Philippine Army troops, who were mostly conscriptees with more enthusiasm than training.

Pulling back to the Mariveles area the Fourth Marines were joined by an additional three officers and 72 enlisted from the Clongapo guard detachment. When the 1st Separate Battalion arrived from Cavite, its members were absorbed into the Fourth as that regiment's 3rd Battalion.

Here the Fourth was brought into MacArthur's USAFFE command with the principal mission of setting up beach defenses on Corregidor against the impending Japanese landing. While units and detachments of the Fourth remained on Bataan for anti-aircraft defense, to man an air raid warning system and as guards at USAFFE headquarters, the main units of the regiment went to Corregidor.

Marines on Corregidor and the supporting force of Hughes and Drum settled down amidst bombings to construct landing obstructions and to prepare their position and fields of fire. Defenses consisted of Lewis guns, water-cooled 30 caliber machine guns, automatic rifles, a few 37mm cannons and the faithful '03 rifle. Marines left their beach defense position during this time to reinforce the naval brigade in repelling a behind-the-lines landing from the China Sea.

The defenders who assembled on Corregidor's beaches for the final stand depicted a units effort to stop the enemy at the water's edge. In this hour of crisis religious backgrounds became apparent: there were Americans representing Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths; members of the Philippine forces were the Catholic Filipinos, the Moslem Moros of the southern islands; and the Chinese of several faiths. And there were probably a few Shintoists as the Japanese had infiltrated Corregidor during the Bataan exodus.

In the days of waiting enemy bombers made continuous runs and dozens of artillery batteries were brought to bear on the island for around-the-clock bombardment. Corregidor, in this state of siege, became the bullseye for the Jap forces in Asia and the whole island was in the black.

During the night of May 5-6 they came. It was a hungry group of Marines, run malnutrition and shot weapons of war, who attackers. Small arms the landing forces; colery was useless because closeness of the final

But the Marines met the beaches. Lewis '03s took their toll vaders; water cooler BARS helped to dec first wave. Behind waves were others a strength won over limbers of the defenders.

At noon of May 6, white flag of unconditional surrender told the Japs war leaders were now held the key are but they did not know was only temporary. A different story was written in the Pacific.

Amphibious Exercise Held By Forces Of Sixth Fleet

EDITOR'S NOTE: This delayed dispatch, just received describes a practice landing made two weeks ago by the Lejeune-based 2nd Division unit that is now with the Fleet in the Mediterranean.

2nd Division Information Section

WITH THE FLEET MARINE FORCE, U. S. SIXTH IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, April 15 (By Mail) — (Reinf.), Sixth Marines, commanded by Lt. Col. Anderson, unleashed an amphibious landing in Saros Bay, Turkey, April 12, during a NATO-planned exercise tagged "Red Pivot."

The problem was staged by the battalion, simulating a Marine Air/Ground Task Force. Representing Turkey were elements of the First Turkish Army. Aggressors were simulated by a Turk regiment command post (CP), a Turk infantry company (Reinf.), and one British, one Turk and two U. S. submarines.

D-Day, slated for April 12, saw the Lejeune Leathernecks landing at 9 a.m. in column from their ships, USS Mt. McKinley, USS Fremont, USS Olmsted, USS Mulphen and USS Spiegel Grove.

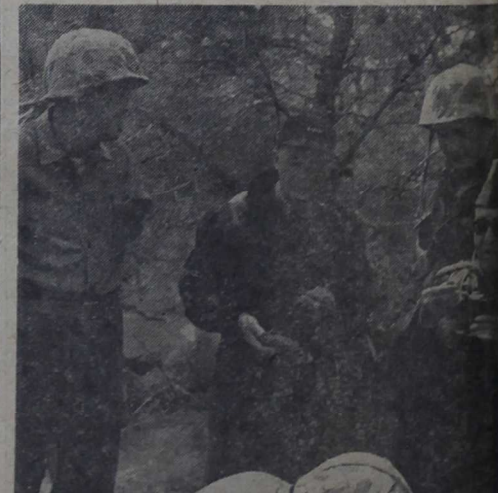

Owing to a shallow beach, the men jumped off into waist deep water from the landing craft, rifles over their heads, and charged ashore.

Supporting battleships, cruisers, and numerous destroyers, training their guns toward the beach, simulated laying a barrage just ahead of advancing the same time planes from carriers Lake Champlain maintained close support missions. Once artillery and mortar emplacements simulated fire at troops advance.

By nightfall the beach all initial objectives were by three assault rifle A battalion command established and a provision from Headquarters controlled the exposed right-tensive company maneuvered until midnight. The night, shore fire companies called on the ships illuminated and fire.

WITH THE FLEET MARINE FORCE, U. S. SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, April 19 (By Mail) — Commandant of the Marine Corps General Randolph McCall Pate, visited the 2nd Bn. (Reinf.), Sixth Marines, during their five-day stop in Genoa, Italy.

Making an inspection of Marine installations in Europe, General Pate spent one day aboard ship with the NELM battalion.

Arriving by plane from conferences at SHAPE Headquarters, Paris, France, the Commandant was greeted by Lt. Col. Andrew I. Lyman, battalion commander.

Boarding all of the five transport ships of the amphibious task force, General Pate received the salute of the Marines lining the decks. Accompanying General Pate were

Maj. Gen. E. W. Snedeker and Brig. Gen. J. P. Berkeley.

General Pate commended the 2nd Battalion on its good liberty record and neat appearance during his visit. The battalion has been serving in the Mediterranean as part of the Sixth Fleet since January.

Leaving the United States April 2, the Commandant conducted an inspection of the British Royal Marines in England prior to departing for Paris. Next the General was to visit Marine Detachments in Rome and Naples, returning to Washington in late April.

Cordiner Members Promise Consideration On Pay Plan

New consideration was promised by military members of the Cordiner committee to assure that no enlisted man advancing to officer grade would lose any pay, according to the Navy Times.

They also assured that persons commissioned limited duty officers in the Marine Corps and Navy would go on the proposed warrant officer pay scale, and that present LDO's could choose whether they would receive "O" pay or the corresponding "W" pay. That is, W-4 instead of O-4, and W-1 instead of O-1.

Meanwhile, Defense Secretary Wilson told reporters he still had hopes that his pay proposals would get through Congress this year.

Wilson modified the Cordiner proposals before sending them on. Although he declined to reveal the changes he made, he did say this:

"I still have some hopes that we can implement the most important parts of the Cordiner Committee's recommendations and solve perhaps 75 per cent of our (manpower) problems with some quick moves in that area.

The committee feels that only the entire plan will produce the manpower and dollar savings they promise will follow. They stated the complete report with more details than the preliminary report will be issued "shortly."

The military members conceded that no wholesale modernization of pay scales can be made without hurting some, but they maintain that longevity pay must give way to a system whereby the higher grade always draws more than a lower grade.

The Cordiner proposals call for abolition of all longevity pay including that for enlisted or reserve service and replacing with in-grade increases.

Many Camp Units Affected By Organizational Changes

The reorganization of Marine Corps Base units under new tables of organization went into effect last Wednesday.

The purpose of the change is to provide a firm table of organization for Base operations and to place all corresponding Marine Corps bases on similar operating procedures.

Under the new set-up, Reserve Training Battalion was deactivated and all functions previously performed by the unit were assigned to the Reserve and Liaison Unit, G 2/3 Section, MCB.

This sub unit has been designated as Sub Unit 1, Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., MCB. Lt. Col. H. D. Reynolds, who was commanding officer of Reserve Training Bn., has been designated as officer-in-charge of the new unit. Base Materiel Company was changed to Base Materiel Battalion and will remain under the command of 2nd Force Service Regt.

The unit will participate in MCB intramural athletics at a separate battalion.

As a result of reorganization within Headquarters Battalion, MCB, Machine Records Installation personnel have been transferred to Service Battalion.

The Base Communication platoon was changed from Service Battalion to Headquarters Battalion.

Other redesignations within the battalion included Company "A" to Support Company "B" and Company "B" to Support Company "A".

Physical relocation of personnel and equipment incident to these changes will be completed by June 1.

Quotas For Reserve Training Increased

Enlistment quotas for the Reserve six-month training program will be increased to 10,000 during fiscal year 1958, beginning July 1, according to an AFPS release.

During last fiscal year the Marine Corps scheduled to enroll 4,589 trainees for the 12-month period. However, within six months, all available billets were filled by the 17 to 18 and a half year old group, and some units were forced to establish waiting lists.

The original program was then scrapped and the quota figure was raised to 8,000 in fiscal year 1957.

Assault Force Unit Storms Canal Zone

FORT CLAYTON, CANAL ZONE — (By Mail) — A host of high-ranking military and civilian dignitaries from 22 countries watched thousands of Marines from the 2nd Provisional Marine

Air Ground Task Force storm the Caribbean side of the isthmus on April 24 in the initial assaults of CARIB-EX, a joint Marine, Navy, Army and Air Force exercise.

Among the notables to witness the whirlwind air-sea-ground assault were: President Eugene de LaGuardia, Republic of Panama; Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., former Commandant of the Marine Corps, and now Chairman of the Inter-American Defense Board.

The hypothetical problem facing the joint U. S. force, commanded by Lt. Gen. Robert Montague, (Commander in Chief of the Caribbean Command) during the exercise was the dislodging of an "aggressor" force which was denying the allies use of the Panama Canal. The purpose of the problem was to train U.S. troops for joint airborne-amphibious operations in jungle terrain. It was the largest exercise ever staged in Panama.

Following a naval gunfire bombardment and a simulated tactical

WM Staff Meets For Conference

A conference between local officers and Woman Marine Reserve representatives from Headquarters Marine Corps, Inspector-Instructors and Platoon Leaders from five Reserve platoons will be held here May 16-17.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss training schedules and to smooth administration problems for the three disbursing and two supply platoons that are slated to receive training here this summer.

Lt. Col. H. D. Reynolds, Reserve Liaison Unit, will be the moderator for the conference.

Marine Corps Supply Schools, Montford Point, will be the host unit for the incoming Reserves. The Woman Marines unit representatives will be given the opportunity to visit the host command to inspect training facilities and discuss or reaffirm schedules.

In addition to the regular instruction given to the Reserves, on-the-job training will be administered personnel who have attended the training program here for two consecutive years.

The first Woman Marine Reserve unit to arrive will be the Supply platoon from Cleveland, Ohio. It will be here from June 24 until July 5 and will be billeted in Bldg. 63.

A-bomb attack by Air Force jet bombers, the Marine task force, commanded by Brig. Gen. Austin

R. Brunelli, unleashed its assault. "Skyraider" attack bombers from the Provisional Marine Aircraft Group's Marine Attack Squadrons 324 and 331, Miami, Fla., roared in low over the beach for numerous bombing and strafing runs.

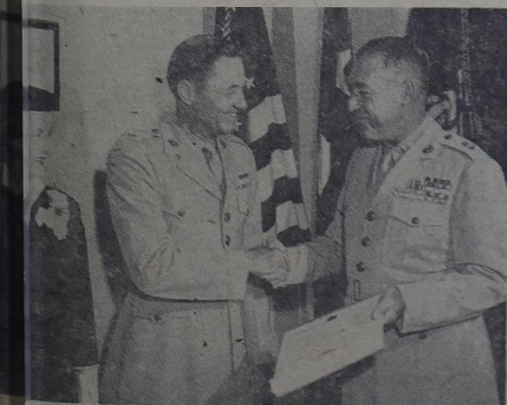

Just ahead of the first wave of assaulting Marines, sleek "Fury" jet fighters from Marine Fighter Squadron 312, Cherry Point, N. C., streaked across the narrow beach in a strafing attack. The Marine air units were under the command of Col. J. R. Bailey.

On the heels of the "Furies" came the initial wave of the 8th Marine Regiment's Second Battalion (Reinf.). Wave after wave of amphibious vehicles loaded with the Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marines came across the beach and crashed through the tangles of the tropical jungle to establish a perimeter before disembarking the combat-edged troops. Within 50 minutes the entire reinforced battalion, including tanks from "C" Company, 2nd Tank Bn., Tenth Marines, and artillery from the 3rd Bn., Tenth Marines, had been landed across the beach.

Simultaneously with the amphibious assault, more of the Eighth Marines, commanded by Col. T. J. Colley, were landed behind the "aggressor" shore defenses by Marine Aircraft Group 26's helicopters from the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Letye.

Two and one-half hours after the amphibious phase of the operation, the 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, was landed on both sides of Gatun Dam by the Marine 'copters. Both HRS and the newer HUS whirlbirds from New River, N. C., were used in the "vertical envelopment" maneuver. Immediately after being disgorged from the helicopters, the Marines fanned out for cover and reassembled later to seize important objectives behind the principal pockets of enemy resistance. Cutting off the "aggressor's" transportation and communication lines, the airborne Leathernecks linked up with the expanding beachhead the following day. Less than two days after landing, the Marine task group had dislodged the "enemy" force which had denied use of the canal to the Allies.

If members of the guard are not assigned to reliefs and posts by higher authority, the corporal of the guard assigns the members of his relief to posts by number, immediately after the guard is divided into reliefs.

REWARDING FAREWELL—1st Sgt. William J. Moran, "A" Co., 2nd Tank Battalion, receives a sabre from his company commander, Capt. J. R. Dickson, and Pvt. J. The sabre, a gift from the company, was presented honoring Moran's two years service to "A" Company, and recent selection to sergeant major.

Are Fat Men Healthy?

At one time it was thought that a fat man was a healthy man, and that it was normal for a person to put on extra, although unneeded, weight as he or she grew older.

Cartons and sketches of yesteryear depict the roly-poly man with the red cheeks, sideburns and top hat as the height of health, wealth and prosperity.

The fact that he was obese seemed to be living proof that he was well-fed or overfed, and the red cheeks gave hint that his blood pressure was above normal.

As far as his general health was concerned, the portly figure indicated only that he was definitely not starving to death.

As a person grows older his activity diminishes and therefore the calorie intake should also decrease in order to maintain a normal healthy weight.

A fat person is prone to many diseases and complications of existing disease. Some of these are, varicose veins, backache, hernia, gallstones, heart disease and diabetes.

These are but a few diseases which become more severe in cases of obesity and are more prevalent in overweight people.

Those with a severe weight problem should be under medical supervision. Others with a mild weight problem merely have to push away from a well-balanced meal before that "full" feeling arrives.

Leave

With the advent of warm summer weather the minds of many Marines will wander to thoughts and plans for vacation or leaves just as civilians do. Leave is an authorized absence or vacation from duty.

Normally it will not exceed 30 days each year and is subject to immediate cancellation. For that reason it is important to maintain contact with the leave address listed on leave papers.

Missing transportation on return from leave is no excuse for being late. Therefore it is the responsibility of the individual to allow himself adequate time for traveling.

An unavoidable delay such as bus, train or plane difficulties or breakdown is a different situation. However, it is the responsibility of the person involved to notify his commanding officer of the facts plus an estimate of his arrival time. This holds true also when traveling by privately-owned conveyance.

In the event an extension of leave is needed, a telegram should be sent to the commanding officer requesting same, allowing time to return before expiration of the leave in case of a refusal.

If the telegram is unanswered, it can be assumed that the request has been denied.

If serious injury or illness occurs while on leave, the commanding officer should be notified immediately as well as the nearest Marine Corps or Naval activity.

Expenses for treatment at hospitals other than military installations will be defrayed by the government in emergencies only.

Have a good leave but don't ruin it by returning late.

Eastern Matches

Eastern Division shooters will be vying with similar medal winners from the Western and Pacific Division matches in this Inter-Division meet to determine the top shots in the Marine Corps.

Members of the Marine Corps Rifle and Pistol team will then be selected by the officer-in-charge of the Marksmanship Training unit and a direct representative of the Commandant of the Marine Corps. The team will be ordered to report to the Marksmanship Training unit at MCRD, San Diego, Calif., for intensive instruction prior to the National matches.

The shooting year will culminate with the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, from August 9 until September 11, featuring the top shooters in the country, both military and civilian.

Chaplain's Corner

"Didn't we play good?" said the boy organ pumper to the famous organist.

"Where do you get we?" the organist asked.

The next Sunday the organist was about to play but when he pressed the keys there was no sound. Going back to where the boy pumper was, he asked him why he wasn't pumping.

"Say 'we'," said the boy and the organist just had to do it.

I believe this little story illustrates the importance of cooperation between people to obtain a common goal. Whether it is making music from a hand pumped organ, or achieving world peace, neither can ever be realized without cooperation between the people involved.

Certainly we are concerned about ourselves, but when we become so concerned that we exclude others from the same chances and opportunities that we want for ourselves, then we greatly reduce the chances of ever reaching our own goal.

Jesus said, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." Every individual needs to have a feeling of achievement in some area. A pat on the back often achieves greater results than a kick in the pants.

The story is told about a herd of mules on a frontier ranch. Every night the wolves came out of the nearby forest and attacked them. Terribly frightened, they kicked promiscuously, doing many times as much damage to each other as to the wolves. Finally, a wise old mule saw the solution to the problem. He instructed his companions, and that night when the wolves came, the mules all rushed to one central place, put their heads together and began kicking outward. The moral is plain. There is strength in numbers only when cooperation is present. The best way to accomplish a common mission is to work together in reciprocal cooperation.

Career Facts

The Marine has an excellent opportunity to further his education through one of the off-duty education programs available to Marines on active duty.

The United States Armed Forces Institute has correspondence and self-teaching courses, ranging from elementary through second year college level. Enrollment fees are $2, with fees for courses offered through participating colleges and universities listed separately.

The Marine Corps Institute has correspondence courses in military instruction of a non-tactical nature. No enrollment fee is charged and all materials are furnished.

The formal off-duty education program is enrollment in an accredited institution ranging from high school through college level.

The individual is required to provide all cost involved with the exception of three-fourths of the tuition. The period of obligated duty must be of sufficient length to insure completion of the course.

The Marine Corps Schools, extension division, provides instruction and package courses of tactical nature on level with basic Communication Officers Junior and Senior schools.

No costs to the individual are involved and all required text books, equipment and materials are furnished.

Unit education officers should be contacted for complete information on the Marine Corps education programs. These plans, aside from advancing the Marine's education, offer him or her the opportunity to prepare for technical and promotion tests.

IT'S A GOOD CAREER...

Short Round

A new type catapult device for launching aircraft from ways has been unveiled after a series of tests conducted for Aeronautics. Powered by six turbo-jet engines, the catapult 60,000 horsepower but can be dismantled with comparative ease. It can be operated on low grade fuels, maintained by jet aircraft mechanics, and weighs only one-fifth as much as a comparable steam-type. Any aircraft fitted for carrier operation can be launched from the turbo-catapult without modification.

Last Thursday night, Eddie Allen's band made an appearance at the Camp theater, accompanied by a three-act show. One of the acts featured a knife-throwing performance during which a female assistant revolved around on a huge disc, making 48 revolutions per minute, while the main character in the act stood, throwing knives at the woman's body. With a fiendish glare in his eyes, one Marine was overheard whispering, "How I'd like that on my mother-in-law!"

The Windward Marine, station paper of the Marine Station at Kaneohe Bay, T. H., celebrated its sixth birthday 25. Originally a four-page tabloid letter-press form, it was a page, and finally to eight. Starting with 1,500 copies, the circulation has since boosted to 4,500 copies. To the Editor Frank Fiddler, and to his staff, sincere GLOBE wishes more years of publication.

The first contribution to the Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Fund, $503, was received recently from officers and enlisted men of the guided missile cruiser Canberra. Construction of a new building at the Naval Academy will be financed entirely by voluntary contributions. Camp Pendleton will hold the 10th Navy Relief Rodeo June 8. The "cowhands" for the event will be 80 Marines practicing now on roping, riding and tying Brahma bull, broncos, elusive cows, and reluctant calves. Attended by 80,000 last year, the affair runs two days and is believed to be the largest free rodeo.

A master sergeant at Ft. Bragg had a private phone in his barracks so he could talk long distance to his fiancée. He claimed the extra convenience would put an end to spiraling bills for the orderly room when his bride-to-be called Delaware. And, he said, he'll be able to pick up the phone read her off when she doesn't write.

WM Maneuvers

By CPL. JEAN DAVIS

Back again and just in time to wish luck to Pfc's Margaret Petrucelli, Imogene Wallace, Lora S. Bock, Janet Anderson and Pvt's Ann S. Burke, and Gertrude Markle, who were discharged this past week.

Sunday is always a quiet day in the barracks and a good time to get out to the Naval hospital and see the WM's who are hospital-ized. From personal experience, it helps to see a familiar face come popping into the ward. Now at the hospital are Pfc Willadean Tinkney, Pfc Betty Leiser, Pfc Evelyn Jones and Pfc Marie-Terese Buelsing who would be glad to see anyone that has a few minutes to spare and would like to drop in and chat for a while.

Welcome aboard, Pvts. Rose M. Abbott, Charleroi, Pa.; Beverly A. Clough, Lisbon, N. H.; Connie L. Fielder, Washington, Pa.; Marilyn L. Johnson, Dibsonia, Pa.; Evelyn M. Orbin, Houston, Pa.; and Marian A. Rakonza, Brooklyn, N. Y., who reported in this week from MCRD, Parris Island, S. C. Also reporting in was Pvt. Florence M. Kasbohm who was previously stationed at Memphis, Tenn.

Back from leave and newly

MOMENT TO REMEMBER—One of the most colorful boxers Camp Lejeune has had the pleasure of watching was married last Saturday at the Base Catholic chapel. Ex-Marine and All-Marine boxing champion Jackie Lennon married Pfc Miriam Hall of Woman Marine Company. Best man was Pfc Edmund Woods, formerly of the boxing team, now stationed at the NAS, Willow Grove, Pa. Maid of honor was Pfc Emily Romero, Headquarters Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

May 17 Set For Junior-Senior Prom; Work Continues On Secret Decorations

The entire junior class of the Camp Lejeune high school is presently preparing for the Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet to be held May 17 in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Emery Directs Monday's Concert

Camp Lejeune's high school glee club will present the annual spring concert based on songs by Rodgers and Hammerstein starting at 8 p.m., next Monday night in the high school auditorium.

Under the direction of Marilyn C. Emery, the glee club will feature "Oklahoma," "Surrey with the Fringe on Top," "If I Loved You," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and other well remembered favorites.

Narrated by Donna Collins, the girls will be attired and decorated in a pastel color scheme.

Theme of the dance is still a secret as it has been during past years. Actual preparations began when school opened last September when members of the junior class sold bottles of soda at the football games to raise funds to defray the expenses for the dance-banquet.

The months of November and December were spent in selecting the theme and beginning work on decorations. The various committees were also appointed.

After the first of the year, one night a week was chosen to start work on the panels which will be used in decorating the walls, depicting the theme. They are approximately 55 feet, and cover the entire wall of the auditorium.

Also on these nights, the class continues guarding the secret of the theme.

The program is carried out entirely by the junior class, composed of only two dozen pupils, and done in honor of the 15 graduating seniors.

A 10-piece orchestra will furnish the music during the dance and the Camp Cafeteria will furnish the food for the banquet. Special entertainment features will also be provided.

sports in short

PFC WILLIAM SMITH

BLANKENSHIP WORKS OUT—If natural ability, hard work and serious thought spell success, then Aubrey L. Blankenship should have an excellent track season ahead.

A rather shy and retiring young man of 22, Blankenship, as any artist, seems to take his inhibitions out in his work. While watching him practice on the cinders, you can't help but feel that Blankenship is putting everything he possibly can into the day's work. And, in keeping with his training, he manages to maintain a strict diet along with good hours.

Already to his credit is the All-Marine two-mile record when he was clocked at 9:38 for the double century. He won this event two years in a row. Last year, he was co-captain of the track squad. Blankenship also has a 4:18 mile on the books.

The names of Wes Santee and Carl Joyce have been the big influences with this typically built distance runner. Santee, the holder of the American mile mark, ex-University of Kansas star, and ex-Quantico great, has influenced Blankenship in going to his alma mater on his release from the Corps in six months. This was a hard decision for Blankenship as he has received track scholarships from 15 colleges and universities throughout the country.

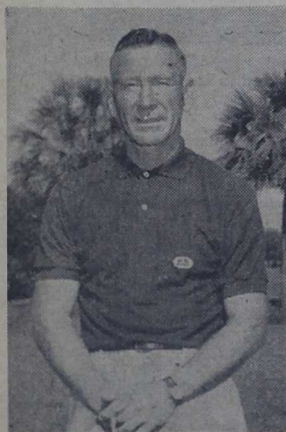

Joyce, ex-Camp Lejeune track mentor and a member of the famed Georgetown university crack two-mile relay team that had to its credit the world mark at that distance, was Blankenship's coach here and helped him with his schedule.

I asked him what a typical workout might consist of and he casually remarked that he might warm up with a three-mile jog, do some calisthenics, come back with three 220's at a 25-second speed, jog and exercise some more.

As with Freddy Dwyer, believed to be America's answer to the coveted breaking of the four-minute mile, Blankenship was hurt while playing football in high school and told to run to help heal this injury. In his junior year in high school, he took second in the state meet with a 4:30 mile.

Blankenship will not forecast the future as far as what he may do with his running. If one considers the fact that he has a terrific amount of drive, has desire and a good competitive spirit, is still a year or two from his peak, and that under the guidance of a track coach such as they have at Kansas, you might well be seeing the name of Blankenship in tomorrow's papers as one of America's brightest distance stars.

BOXING NEWS—Another Camp Lejeune boxer came into the spotlight last week when it was announced that Rocky Marciano, retired heavyweight champ, had purchased a half interest in Billy Ryan, ex-Camp Lejeune pugilist.

VIC GARRISON

Ryan, 21 and residing in Lowell, Mass., already has won six professional fights, winning five of them via the KO route.

Observers say that Ryan fights like Rocky did and is presently being managed by Ted Coupe. While in the service, Ryan was unbeaten in 35 amateur fights, knocking out 27 opponents.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT—Victor T. Garrison celebrated his birthday last week when he fired a 75 in the Tri-State golf tourney held at Parris Island. Garrison was second best shooter from the Camp Lejeune team.

He is remembered well in golfing circles at the Recruit Depot for in 1937 Garrison walked off with the Parris Island Club Championship and again repeated in 1946.

USNH Beats Hq. Bn. For MCB Golf Lead

The two MCB intramural golf leaders met on the links last week with the United States Naval Hospital beating Headquarters Battalion in a close match 13½-10½ to break a deadlock for first place.

First ITR Pool Room Opened

A new Regimental pool room was opened last week in Bldg. 433 at the First Infantry Trng. Regt.

During a recent inspection of the recreational facilities in the Regiment, Col. R. L. Stallings, CO, 1st ITR, noting the poor condition of the pool tables, decided that the facilities would be easier to manage and kept in better condition if centralized.

It was also felt that there would be more available pool tables to a greater number of men over a longer period of time. This operation was carried out under the direction of 1st Lt. John F. Williams, then Special Services officer at 1st ITR.

There are now seven pool tables, two brand new, and the other five all reconditioned. The new pool room is under the direction of ITR's present Special Services officer, 1st Lt. D. F. Milles.

Prov. Bn. Wins Diamond Opener In 6th Marines

J. W. Shanback and Hap Mays led Provisional Battalion to a 7-2 victory over 3rd Battalion Tuesday afternoon in the opening game of the Sixth Marines regimental baseball league. Righthander Bill Glass scattered seven hits in going the distance for the win.

Shanback, Provisional's classy third baseman, rapped out two base hits and scored three of the seven runs while shortstop Mays registered a single and double in four trips.

For the losing 3rd Battalion, catcher Coursey was the big man with the stick as he collected a single and double in four appearances at the plate.

Shanback led off the first inning with a single and advanced to second on Woodward's walk. Mays and Yeagle popped out. Coffey drove in Shanback with a sharp single into left.

Provisional picked up two more runs in the second without getting a hit. First baseman Cronin was hit by a pitched ball and quickly erased when Billian grounded to short. Glass walked, sending Billian to second. Shanback and Woodward were safe on shortstop Hamlin's errors allowing Billian and Glass to score.

Three hits and two errors accounted for two more runs for Provisional in the fourth. And the final two tallies were scored in the sixth on two hits, two errors and a base on balls.

The 3rd scored its first run in the top of the third frame on a hit, an error and a walk, and only a fine fielding play by left fieder Billian kept them from scoring another.

First baseman Caso struck out to open the inning and Shealy walked. Sample flied to center and Segich sent a terrific liner into left for a base hit. Provisional's Billian let the ball go through his legs to allow Shealy to score. In the meantime, Segich was tearing around the bases full steam. Billian fielded the ball, threw to Mays at short who's relay got Segich at home for the third out.

Third Battalion crossed the plate with its final run in the fifth by bunching two singles and a hit batter.

After Strickland popped out to Yeagle, Morgan sent a grounder through the infield for a hit. Caso was struck by a pitched ball and Shealy drove in Morgan with a bingle to left.

ANOTHER RUN—Center fielder Ballard crosses home with the second of seven runs scored by Provisional Battalion in the opening game of the Sixth Marines regimental baseball league. Provisional beat 3rd Battalion, 7-2. Umpire is Butts and heading toward the bat behind the plate is second baseman Jack Woodward. The partially hidden catcher is 3rd Battalion's Coursey.

Devilpups Shut Out In Last Two Games By 8-0 Scores

The Camp Lejeune High school baseball team was beaten in its last two outings by identical scores of 8-0.

Last week, Richlands collected eight runs on 11 hits to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Devilpups.

The Pups collected seven hits but were unable to find a scoring combination. They made four misuses while Richlands made two.

Art Potts, who had beaten Richlands once this year, was charged with the defeat and was relieved by Gorham Stephenson in the sixth. Potts now has a 1-2 season record.

It was Jones Central who handed the Pups their second loss by collecting eight runs on nine hits off Stephenson, who went the distance for the Pups. In losing, Stephenson struck out 10 opponents. He has been averaging 10 strikeouts per game.

The Pups were held to only three hits and committed six errors. Centerfielder Dale Griffith contributed a double to the losing cause.

The club's leading hitter is Griffith with a robust .459 which includes two home runs and seven RBIs. Other leading hitters are left fielder Paul Anthony and first baseman Neil Sullivan with identical .323's. Anthony also leads in the RBI department with eight. Pitcher Stephenson is third with a .317 average.

FISHING CONTEST—Civilian workers at Camp Lejeune have an added incentive for going after the big ones with the announcement of the Second Annual Fishing contest sponsored by the Industrial Relations Office. The contest, which started Wednesday, will run to October 31.

As far as Marine anglers are concerned, it doesn't look like they will have a local contest this season. At least no word of one has reached my ears.

But, all is not lost. That is, if you happen to latch onto a lunker and you think it might be a prize winner, you can enter it in a national contest sponsored by the Field & Stream magazine. You can find out information about the contest in the April issue of the magazine.

Another contest, one that is nearer home, is the Southeastern North Carolina Beach Association Fishing Rodeo. This rodeo, which is free to all fishermen, also started Wednesday and will run to November 30. If anyone would like to know more about this contest, let me know. I will gather some data and print it next week.

EXTRA CAUTION—Now is the time to take extra caution when you are out fishing the fresh water streams. With the hot weather comes, among other things, snakes, ticks, chiggers and mosquitos.

Anytime you enter the brush area you can be sure of picking up some chiggers and ticks. The woods are full of them. I'm still scratching from last Saturday. I have more bites on me than a fish has scales.

It is a good idea to wear as much cover as you can, but even that doesn't keep the pesky things off. A good rubdown with insect repellent before you hit the wooded area will help out.

As for snakes, be sure you have a snake-bite kit with you. You may never have to use it, but if you ever do it can save your life. If you don't have a kit, make sure you get some anti-venom shots at the dispensary as soon as possible after a bite.

As for snakes, I didn't see any last Saturday (not that I was looking for them), but I heard several rustling sounds that made my heart stop for a few seconds.

FISHING REPORT—Last Saturday afternoon I couldn't find a fishing partner, so I decided to do a little scouting around instead of taking another trip to White Oak. I was looking for a new fishing hole for I know you are tired of hearing of White Oak week after week.

My trip took me to Gum Branch Road that runs from Highway 17 to Richlands. I stopped off at every creek that crossed the road to see what the water looked like. I made some inquiries as to some fishing spots and was directed to New River for a start. I located the spot and it turned out to be fine looking water and picked up a couple of small bass and a pickerel in a very short time. Several fishermen using worms had some good bream on their strings.

After a while I headed toward Richlands again and just before I reached the town limits I crossed another stream. I gave it a try and in about an hour and a half picked up two bass (one about two pounds), four pickerel and one bream. And, I didn't fish more than 100 yards on either side of the bridge.

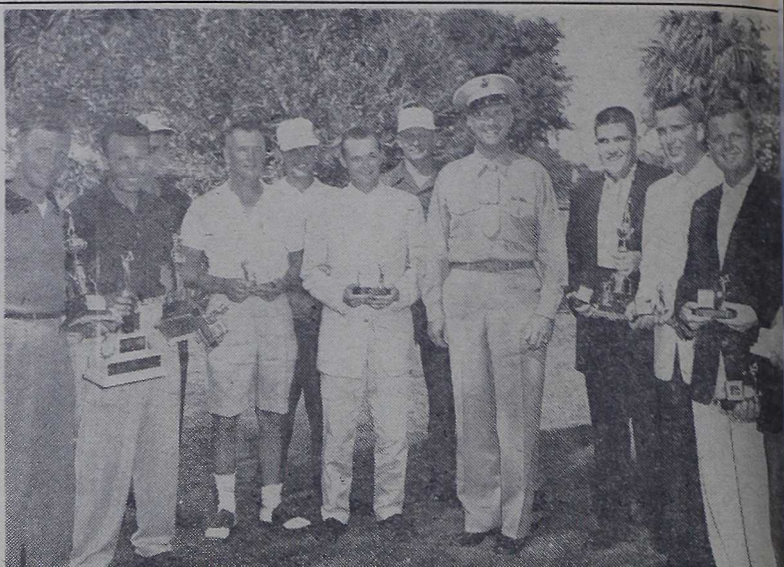

I saw plenty of fish which spooked pretty easy, so if you give it a try, take it easy and fish it slow. They are in there.

STOP THE PRESSES—Just before the deadline for the GLOBE to go to press the "Old Angler" got a note from R. E. Church Jr., who runs the Surf City Fishing Pier. He reports that they had a very good week of catching Virginia mullet and that the night fishing has been the thing. Most of the big catches came after dark with the days being rather slow.

He also reported that SSgt. G. L. Goostree of MABS 26, MCAF, caught 137 mullet fishing all night last Friday. Man, that's a lot of fish.

FISHERMEN BEWARE—Sportsmen should pay special attention while fishing in nearby streams. HM2 Willie M. Burcham, left, and HM1 Ambers M. Freeman display an example of what can be found when they came across this four-foot three-inch diamondback rattler while fishing at Wallace Creek during noon chow last Tuesday. The snake has 10 rattles and weighed an estimated 10 pounds.

★ Program Notes ★

By TSGT. JACK MCCARTHY
With his wonderful wide smile and distinctive magic touch at the piano, Eddy Duchin charmed the hearts of millions of popular music lovers everywhere. Although it has been five years since his untimely death... he is still easy to remember. His story is unique, a story that ended much too soon, and a real heartbreaker.

As a youth, Eddy showed no marked propensity toward the piano, but TSGT. J. MCCARTHY at the insistence of his mother, he practiced dutifully. It was not too long until his talents began to emerge. As a matter of fact, he advanced so rapidly that he soon found employment playing for Leo Reisman's famous band at New York's old Waldorf-Astoria.

In 1931 Eddy formed his own little band and opened at the Central Park Casino in New York. He was held over for the next three years... the career of one of America's most popular pianists was born.

The very elite of New York's society that frequented the Casino took an immediate liking to young Eddy; and it wasn't long before he became society's darling. But Eddy Duchin was to become much more than a fad. He brought an exciting new kind of piano-styling to popular music. A style that was individual... and he never changed it.

When World War II broke out and his career was at its height, Duchin disbanded his orchestra to enlist... not as an entertainer... but as a fighting man. His ship took part in the Third Fleet Pacific operations, including the Okinawa and Iwo Jima invasions. At the end of 1945 he was discharged as lieutenant commander.

Eddy returned to the world of music and for the next five years his name and his music was number one in the hearts of music lovers everywhere.

During these last five years of his great successes Eddy suffered from an incurable disease, and early in 1951, only a few hours after he had received the Navy's citation for meritorious service, the famous fingers of Eddy Duchin were forever stilled. He was 41 at the time of his death.

"The Eddy Duchin Story" is a biographical story in which music is the integral part. The complete musical score of this story will be presented as a feature of WCLR this Sunday on "Script and Score" emanating from this station at noon.

Maj. J. D. Swinson, Division adjutant, spoke briefly to the First Sergeant students before handing out diplomas, while MSgt. J. R. McCoy, school coordinator, presented sheepskins to the clerical graduates.

In the seven-week First Sergeant's course, which runs only in the afternoon, Division Staff NCO's were taught the administrative duties of a company/battery First Sergeant.

On Wednesday evening at 8 p.m., the International Film Society will present the last film in their current foreign film series.

The film to be presented at the Camp Lejeune High school auditorium will be BORIS GODUNOV, Moussorsky's greatest opera transformed into the film medium by the principal artists of the Bolshoi Theatre, Moscow.

Based on a story by Alexander Pushkin, it depicts episodes in the history of medieval Russia. Spanning the years 1598-1605, the opera deals with the reign of Boris and his fatal struggle against the false Dimitri, the pretended son of Ivan the Terrible.

The short subject will be a French film, PACIFIC 231, an impressionistic study of the journey of a locomotive through the French countryside. Admission will be by series ticket OR for non-ticket holders, 25 cents payable at the door the evening of the performance.

It's the Civil War being fought over again. The story is about an ex-captain, Jeff Chandler, in General Sherman's march to the sea, who returned to the Georgia Kennesaw valley region, which he had burned during the war, hoping to rebuild it. Also stars Joanne Dru and Julie London.

THE HALLIDAY BRAND (1½ Belts) Another adult western starring Joseph Cotten as the man who hates his father, played by Ward Bond, a leading wealthy cattle rancher and sheriff of the town. Yvonne Lindfors and Betsy Blair share the feminine roles, both hating Bond, and sharing a part of the ugly climax.

ABOVE US THE WAVES (2 Belts) With Britain's ships on vigil for the German warship Tirpitz, John Mills has an idea of attacking the ship by means of human beings riding the torpedoes to attack them to the sides of the German battleship. Should interest the majority of men. Not a woman in the show!

SHOOT OUT AT MEDICINE BEND (2 Belts) The story of an immigrant train setting out for the west from Independence, Mo., in pre-Civil War days, and stars Randolph Scott, James Craig and Dani Czarney.

NORTHWEST PASSAGE An oldie, but still an interesting show. Re-issued by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, starring Spencer Tracy and Robert Young, in an adventure drama filmed in color.

CASABLANCA (2½ Belts) A re-issue starring Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman, Sidney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre in an old but excellent movie about a married couple attempting to escape the Germans in Casablanca to get to America. Underground activities and great acting make this a must to drama lovers.

CRY DANGER (2 Belts) Dick Powell and Rhonda Fleming team up in this two-bell drama. Full of action, the red-headed female holds the interest of the average red-blooded male during weaker moments of this celluloid presentation.

THE LONELY MAN (2 Belts) A recent release, starring Jack Palance, Anthony Perkins and Elaine Aiken. Set in Montana during 1871, this western is a story about a notorious gunfighter who faces inevitable death because he is going blind. Filmed in VistaVision.

GIRL IN THE KREMLIN (1½ Belts) Somebody goofed! Sounds like the movie "Secret Diary of Joseph Stalin" and contains the same stars, Lex Barker and Zsa Zsa Gabor, which appeared here earlier this month. Mystery, intrigue and a sound plot.

THE BRASS LEGEND (2 Belts) Wyatt Earp returns to the screen, portrayed by Hugh O'Brien in a blistering western. Nancy Gates is O'Brien's fiancée and Hugh the sheriff of a town. She wants him to quit, but he wants to finish out his term of office. Things really pop, and bullets really fly. A good show.

MAN FROM DEL RIO (2 Belts) Another fast gunshooting, hard fist-fighting western, starring Anthony Quinn, Katy Jurado and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams. Quinn is a Mexican killer. He's finally given the star of sheriff's office and runs all the "bad guys" out of town.

DRAGON WELLS MASSACRE (2 Belts) Another western. Barry Sullivan, Dennis O'Keefe and Mona Freeman join acting abilities in a historical action drama dealing with the massacre of passengers on a stagecoach in Arizona's Apache country in the 1880's. CinemaScope and DeLuxe color.

RIDERS TO THE STARS (2 Belts) A space fiction color film of well above average order, carefully documented. An account of a trip into space to gather meteors for the government in order to build a space platform. Stars William Lundigan, Herbert Marshall, Martha Hyer and Richard Carlson.

KING AND FOUR QUEENS (2½ Belts) Gable's back, and Eleanor Parker, Jo Van Fleet, Jean Willes, Barbara Nichols and Sara Shane all try to get him. A pleasantly different western, it has a humorously hard-boiled attitude. Gable's looking for gold... with all those gals running around. CinemaScope and Color.

HEAVEN KNOWS MR. ALLISON (3 Belts) This is the story of a gentle man (Deborah Kerr) and a rough, tough Marine (Robert Mitchum) stranded on a Pacific island under hazardous wartime circumstances, and of their primitive efforts to survive the violence of war, the elements and land and sea denizens. A totally different "war story."

THUNDER OVER ARIZONA (1 Bell) Essentially a standardized western yarn going back to legendary heroes. A one-man crime wave in Arizona, a fast shooting stranger and, as always, the pretty girl make up the plot. Stars Skip Hower and Kristine Miller.

THE VINTAGE (2 Belts) Good name cast! Pier Angeli, Mel Ferrer, John Kerr, etc., but a very leisurely-paced film. Two brothers crossed the border from Italy into France as pickers in a French pose of the crossing is the brothers is wanted for murder one finds the girl he loves brother gets killed trying to
