

in Spring Maneuvers anned For Local Troops

Gen. Austin R. Brunelli, assistant 2nd Division commander, commander of the newly-formed Amphibious Training Group 1-57, left to his Camp Lejeune headquarters last Saturday following a tour of training sites and facilities in the Caribbean area. General Brunelli, who was accompanied by members of his staff, conferred with members of Headquarters, Caribbean Command, Panama Canal Zone, where he inspected training sites and landing beaches. He also inspected training sites at Puerto Rico.

As call for Amphibious Training Group 1-57 to conduct extensive exercises in the Vieques area during March and April, 1957. The Marines, with units of the 2nd Marine Air Wing, will make operating force in the Vieques area.

Following the Vieques exercises, the Eighth Marines will be joined by Air Group-31 (Reinf.) to form a Marine Air-Ground Task Force which will participate in Exercise CARIB-EX, an amphibious and training exercise scheduled for the latter part of April 1957. The exercise will be in the jungles of the Panama Canal Zone.

CARIB-EX will be a joint Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air exercise, and includes movement of troops by air and sea. The exercise will be conducted in the Panama Canal Zone where they will engage in amphibious and air maneuvers against assumed aggressor penetrations on the island. Approximately 10,000 men, 135 Marine and Air Force tactical troop carrier aircraft, and about 24 Navy ships will take part in this exercise.

During the training exercises General Brunelli's staff will include: Maj. R. Anderson, FMFLant, Chief of Staff; Lt. Col. W. H. Whitaker, 2nd Division, G-1; Maj. D. A. Panska, 2nd Wing, G-2; Lt. Col. R. C. Burns, deputy chief of staff, 2nd Division, G-3; Lt. Col. M. H. Clarke, 2nd Division, G-4; Lt. Col. R. C. Burns, deputy chief of staff, 2nd Division, will be the Control and Empire Command during the CARIB-EX of the training exercises at the Panama Canal Zone.

RECON REPORT—Brig. Gen. Austin R. Brunelli, center, commander of Amphibious Training Group 1-57, FMF Atlantic, and his staff review terrain problems which may be encountered during TRA-EX 1-57 slated for early spring. The general and his staff returned last week from the Caribbean area where they looked over the terrain for the

Donations Reach $14,809 Campaign Nears Finale

Camp Lejeune's expected contributions to the 1956 United Campaign reached the halfway mark this week, just a few days before the scheduled end of the drive.

The drive will now end shortly before the Christmas leave period. Marine Corps Base is setting the pace both in percentage and contributions. MCB units have contributed a total of $6,268.68 so far, or about 65 per cent of the MCB goal.

However, many 2nd Division units have not reported yet, due to training maneuvers and assignments, and once the unit representatives make final reports, the Division is expected to go over the top both in totals and percentages.

Annual Rush Almost Here At Post Office

The Post Office here is starting to feel the effects of the Christmas mailing rush, according to Kermit Guthrie, Superintendent of the Camp Lejeune branch.

He added he expects the mailing "peak" to be reached locally about December 17.

He went on to advise that Christmas packages, second and third class mail, should be mailed by that date to insure delivery by Christmas. He suggests that dependents living in government quarters notify the post office if they are going on holiday leave so their mail can be held for them until they return.

The superintendent also stated that many people do not under-

Marine - Evacuated Family Arrives For Visit Aboard Base

Camp Lejeune Marines serving with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean have been in close contact with American Nationals in Egypt during the recent flare-up there, helping to evacuate them. This week Camp Lejeune had its own close-up of one of the evacuated families.

The Matthew Malkin family, evacuated November 1 with assistance from Lejeune Marines, arrived here this week for a visit with the family of Harry R. Fallers, HM1, in Tarawa Terrace.

Fallers, assigned to Naval Medical Field Research Lab, and his family, were stationed in Cairo for two and a half years, returning to the States last May. While there they were neighbors of the Malkins.

When bombs started falling (some as close as three blocks from the Malkin residence), the family locked the doors to their home and joined a motor convoy to Alexandria, where Med cruise Marines met them and assisted them aboard transports for transfer to Italy.

Mrs. Malkin had only the highest praise for the Marines who helped them, commenting that "the Marines aboard the Chilton gave up their living space aboard and slept on deck so we could have room."

Visiting Camp Lejeune Wednesday with the Fallers family, to witness a change of ceremony on the Camp Parade ground, the Malkins stopped by the GLOBE office to view photographs of the Egyptian evacuation in which they played a role.

and Sales Soar; Shoppers Reminded Purchase Early at Lejeune's Toyland are toward a new high, to date exceeding last year's mark by 18,000.

Although there are sufficient stocks of stock now on hand, Charlie F. Spakes, NCO in Charge, urged shoppers to make Toy purchases now as there will be a shortage between now and Christmas.

Spakes, battery-operated toys, and chemical sets, dolls, outfits (complete with iron, pard!), books and other toys are a few of the items now on sale.

Spakes added that the current in toy purchases seems to be toward sturdier articles; made of metals, in particular.

He commented on the behavior of children accompanying parents shopping trips. Breaking into a handling is usually a big problem, but signs posted throughout Toyland here, requesting "Off" seem to have turned back, along with parents' cooperation.

In added note, Sgt. Spakes urged shoppers that Toyland, located in the Central Exchange, would be open until 8 p.m. each day and Friday from now through December 21.

New Boundaries Placed On '96's

Tri-Command personnel who are granted extended liberty of 48 and 96 hour periods now have maximum boundaries up to which they may travel in the course of their liberty.

Overnight liberty geographical limitations include any location within 50 miles of the nearest Camp Lejeune gate. This includes More-

Pearl Harbor Day Parade To Highlight Divvy's Busy Slate

Highlighting three Division unit parades held this week will be a composite regimental Sunset Parade this afternoon when Royal Netherlands Marine Col. J. C. M. Nass, here on an official visit, will review the commemorative Pearl Harbor Day parade.

Lt. Col. R. E. North, CO, Headquarters Bn., will be commanding officer of troops to include Motor Transport Bn., Shore Party Bn., Headquarters Bn., and Engineer Bn.

A change of command parade took place Wednesday afternoon when Lt. Col. Robert D. Kennedy, former executive officer of the Eighth Marines, relieved Lt. Col. Harry D. Pratt as commanding officer of the 1st Battalion. Colonel Pratt is slated to join the 1st Provisional Marine Force, under the command of Brig. Gen. Randall M. Victory, in the Mediterranean area.

Tomorrow morning at 9:15, the 3rd Bn., Tenth Marines, will likewise hold a change of command parade. Lt. Col. Lewis A. Jones will relieve Lt. Col. Paul L. Andre Jr. as commanding officer of the 3rd Battalion. Colonel Andre will leave shortly for Albuquerque, N. M., where he will be associated with the Air Force Special Weapons Project. Colonel Jones previously served as regimental executive officer.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT—"Baah, humbug!" say these three Marines at the main Post Office as the incoming Christmas mail rush starts to pile up. The assistant Postal clerks are: Sgt. Ronald L. Marston, left, Cpl. Fred J. Jones and SSgt. Vernon H. Heppler, all of Hq. Bn., MCB.

Sixth Fleet Marines Assault Sardinia In MEDLANDEX

WITH THE SIXTH FLEET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN (by dispatch) — Units of the 2nd Division, backed by a power-packed U. S. Sixth Fleet, hit the beach at Porto Scudo, Sardinia, last Thursday in the assault phase.

of a fleet training maneuver labeled MEDLANDEX 6-56.

Employed as a unit of the 1st Provisional Marine Force, the 3rd Bn. (Reinf.), Second Marines, was put ashore by a 14-ship amphibious task force headed by the attack transport Cambria.

Two days previous to the landing, a minesweeper force cleared assault lanes in the objective area and an underwater demolition team in the high speed transport Burdo removed obstacles and provided beach reconnaissance.

For the first time in an amphibious exercise, small landing craft especially equipped with minesweeping gear, were used to clear the shallow-water areas of mines.

The Marine landing was supported by simulated gunfire provided by the heavy cruiser Salem, flagship of the Sixth Fleet, and an attached destroyer division.

Close air support for the landing was furnished by the attack carrier Division Two of the Sixth Fleet, led by the Coral Sea.

Two hours after the first boat had hit the beach, Marine troops had attained a strong beachhead from which they pushed steadily inland to join forces with constructive Marine units north of the objective area.

The landing exercise was designed to provide realistic training in various phases and techniques of amphibious warfare for Marine personnel and amphibious ships currently serving with the Sixth Fleet.

Included in the amphibious task forces were all the ships which earlier in November evacuated approximately 1,800 Americans and foreign nationals from Egypt and Israel.

Giant 'Copter Due At Lejeune; Carries 26 With Full Gear

First operational models of the most powerful troop and equipment-carrying helicopter yet created for the services—the Sikorsky HR2S—are expected to go to work at Camp Lejeune in March, 1957.

This movement of the speed and weight record-breaking 'copters to the Lejeune area will be preceded by additional Marine Corps tests at Quantico where logistical data will be compiled and pilots will be trained to handle the new aircraft. The work at Marine Corps Schools will be done on the first production models of the HR2S.

When these Fleet Introduction tests which normally run from six to eight weeks are completed a 15-copter squadron will be formed here.

The giant 'copters, about the size of a DC-3 transport plane, are expected to provide a more powerful punch in the Marine Corps program of vertical envelopment. It is on the HR2S that the Marine Corps pins its immediate hope for development of the ability to tactically airlift its three divisions and wings under the "VE" concept of waging war.

The HR2S, equipped with an automatic pilot, de-icing gear and retractable landing gear, can airlift 26 combat Marines into action, from three to two times the payload of the HRS and HUS helicopters.

DOWN—Col. J. C. M. Nass, staff officer of the Royal Netherlands Marine Corps, alights from a helicopter at the Marine Corps parade ground. The colonel arrived here Monday for a one-day visit to observe techniques and developments in MCB, FT Division units. He is scheduled to leave Lejeune Monday. The crew-member of the helicopter are unidentified.

FOUR IN CORPS

Warrant Officer Aboard For Duty

Headquarters Bn., MCB, will start 1957 with a Woman Marine Adjutant, when WO Margaret Robertson assumes her new duties after the first of the year.

Miss Robertson is one of four Woman Marine warrant officers in the Corps and was appointed to her present rank on September 21 of this year. At that time, she was serving as First Sergeant of a NATO Detachment in Naples, Italy, consisting of WAC's, WAVE's, WAF's and Woman Marines.

She enlisted in the Marine Corps on May 5, 1943, and was discharged as a staff sergeant in October, 1945. Miss Robertson returned to active duty in 1949 and served in the engineering field as a cartographer.

Her past duty stations include Camp Elliott, Camp Pendleton, Quantico, Norfolk, Washington, D. C., and Naples.

She reported here December 2 from Quantico, Va., where she attended the six-week Warrant Officer's Indoctrination Course.

WO Robertson has been assigned temporary duties as Battalion Personal Affairs officer.

WO Margaret Robertson awaits her assignment as adjutant, MCB, adjutant, which she will assume after January 1. She was temporarily assigned as Battalion Personal Affairs officer at Quantico.

Marines See Officers Change This Week

Important changes of command place in the Eighth Marine Division this week when one commanding officer left the regiment and the 1st Provisional Marine Force.

Lieutenant colonels and majors are figured in the changes and new commanding and executive officers join the 1st Battalion and a new executive officer into regimental headquarters.

Harry D. Pratt, former commanding officer of the 1st Bn., left the battalion for the Mediterranean command.

Robert D. Kennedy moved from regimental headquarters where he served as executive officer, to fill the vacant position of the 1st Bn. Assistant Division Chief.

G.2, Lt. Col. Louis G. Pratt, former post with the Eighth Division, will take over the duties of the 1st Bn. officer for the 1st Bn., Marines.

Don't Be Square, Pick Right Duds

Levi's and blue jeans, complete with clodhoppers, might be just the thing for a Saturday dance down on the farm, but at Lejeune the above items of apparel are frowned upon.

Not that you can't wear Levi's. It's just a matter of picking the right clothes for the right place. Busting brones or pitching horseshoes, for example, are two cases where Levi's, or other trousers normally associated with (shudder) work, might be worn. Otherwise—no soap!

On the other hand, knit upper garments, sport shirts, coats or jackets and slacks and trousers are O.K. for outer wear as long as they conform to proper standards. No drapes, please!

However, knit wear, including sweaters, is not considered appropriate male attire for dances or other similar social events.

Take a look in the mirror before you leave on liberty. If you don't like what you see, chances are you're right!

Ask The Man Who Has One!

Bad Discharge No "Easy Way Out"

By MSGT. JOHN FUNK
GLOBE Staff Writer

Every Marine looks forward to the day when he will receive his discharge from the Corps. The career Marine sees his separation as the gateway to a new life and he is secure with the knowledge that he has a pension and family protection for the many faithful years he has served. The young Marine on his first or second cruise views his honorable discharge with pride and satisfaction for time well spent in the service of his country.

Then we have the other type of separation—the punitive discharge. There are three types of punitive discharge: dishonorable, bad conduct by Special Court-martial, and bad conduct by General Court-martial.

The question naturally follows: What does the recipient of a punitive discharge have to look forward to? For one thing, the man who receives a BCD or DD can look forward to an economic loss of $20,000 or more.

These are some of the benefits that are lost to holder of a DD or BCD by General Court-martial; travel allowance, retention and wearing of the uniform, mustering out pay, National Service Life insurance, in some cases; federal vocational rehabilitation apprentice training, educational rights, loan guaranty (home and business) and employment assistance from the Federal government (GI Bill).

Also, readjustment allowance, re-employment rights, federal civil service preference, compensation for service-connected disability, pension for disability (not service-connected), hospital care in a Veterans Administration facility, medical care and prosthetic appliances, domiciliary care, compensation for death due to Naval service, pension for death not due to Naval service, federal burial allowance and burial in a Federal cemetery.

The man who receives the punitive discharge will also lose special Federal rights in homesteading, state bonus and most other stia privileges offered to veterans. The Veterans Administration determines how many of these benefits are lost to those persons who receive a BCD by Special court-martial.

The holder of the BCD or Dishonorable Discharge must be satisfied to accept the low-paying jobs in civilian life which offer little opportunity for promotion. In slack times, he is the first to find himself out of work.

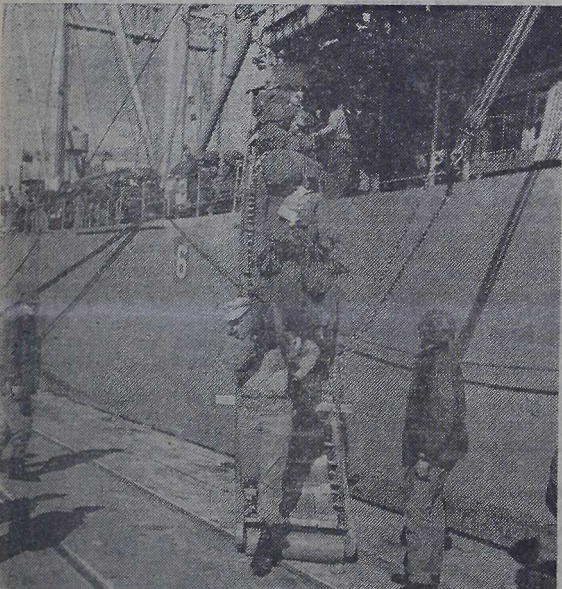

Assume that an average young man has 25 years or more or employment ahead of him when he receives his discharge. A loss of $10 per week in earning power because of the nature of his separation would be a conservative estimate. This would be a $520 loss per year or $13,000 over the 25-year period. Add to this the loss in education benefits, loan possibilities and medical benefits and one can easily see that the $20,000 figure is actually a mild estimate.

These economic losses should be enough in themselves to deter a Marine from being placed in the position where he might be subject to a court-martial; however, there are other serious social consequences which may be far more detrimental to his (See DISCHARGE, Page 11)

'K' Company Had The Duty, So-o-o . . .

Boot Sentry Pays For Dec. 7 Shot

By "SGT. SAM"

To coin a phrase, "It all started on December 7th." That was back in '41, when the Japanese sort'uv nudged the wheel of fortune. But this story didn't take place at Pearl Harbor at all. It takes place at Camp Elliot, Calif. There wasn't any Camp Pendleton then and the 2nd Marine Division was at Elliot which is about 15 miles north of Diego as the liberty bus flew. All except the Sixth Marines, that is—they were playing "igloo" with the Icelanders up in Reykjavik.

Anyway, "K" Company got the guard of the day and so everyone was kinda cautious. That's because every time "K" Company got the duty something extraordinary happened.

With "K" Company on guard, everybody was just waiting around to see what would happen. Sure enough it happened! Pearl Harbor got attacked!

When Elliot got the word they doubled the guard, called in all hands from liberty and added one more post to the guard. This was the sentry who had the important task of guarding the water tower.

There was only one supernumery left; he got the water tower post. He was just out of boot camp and 17 if he was a day. Anyway, he was instructed about the importance of his post and was also reminded of what happened to sentries who were negligent during a "state of war."

So, armed with these instructions, an '03 rifle, and five rounds of Ball ammunition, our hero assumed the duty.

All day long the water tower was in good hands. No one came within 50 feet of it, slant eyes or no slant eyes. The fleet was smashed at Pearl Harbor but the water supply of Camp Elliot was still safe, thanks to our hero.

Either there was a shortage of guards or someone forgot about the sentry at the water tower because at nightfall our hero was still busily keeping everyone away.

Since the enemy was expected to land all over the West Coast at any minute a complete blackout was ordered. Not a light was burning anywhere—except the red light atop the Elliot water tower. This was placed there for the convenience of low-flying aircraft in peacetime. But this was wartime! It could be a direct guiding marker for a Japanese bomber looking for Camp Elliot. It must be extinguished!

The OD was the first to notice it. He sent the Sergeant of the Guard for a quick-see.

Short Rounds

This week it happened. Down at Bldg. 1005, which houses the C Disbursing office, the alarm sounded, loud and clear. But the disbursing crew was ready and well trained for just such an event. Because the responsibility for large sums of money they knew exactly what to do in the event of a fire. Quietly, but quickly, all windows were closed—all money was placed in the fireproof vaults and the vaults locked, lights were turned out, all hands walked (not ran) to the nearest exits. That is all except one man—Pfc Brian J. Peterson—he saw reason for all the commotion. After all, he was merely testing alarm on the clock he purchased at the Marine Exchange!

About noontime last Saturday a Marine came driving down Holcomb boulevard headed toward the traffic circle. As he neared the entrance driveway at Bldg. 1, his left front hub cap came off and continued its journey down the boulevard paralleling the car. Finally it slowed, cut behind the car, turned into the driveway and rolled up to the curb and stopped—right in the commanding general's reserved parking space! The Marine wasn't cited for illegal parking!

★ ★ ★ ★

For some reason this reminds us of the story that appeared in the papers last year, involving the unfortunate guy with the stalled car. A woman motorist came by and offered a helping hand. She agreed to give him a push. The man was very grateful and informed her that since he had automatic shift she would have to attain a speed of 30 or 35 miles per hour before his engine would "kick over." She said she understood so the man climbed back into his car, put it in gear, turned on the key, and waited. He waited and waited and finally wondering what the hold-up was, looked over his shoulder and, sure enough, here she came—at 35 miles per hour!

In Long Beach, California, a man was arrested for stealing a load of doughnuts. He told police, "I don't know why I did, don't even like doughnuts." This reminds us of the Marine who sent to see the Camp psychiatrist. The doc asked, "Why are you here?" Our hero replied, "Because the first sergeant thinks I'm crazy, I'm not." "Well," said the doc, "Why does he think you are?" The hero answered, "Well, it's only because I happen to like hotcakes." The doc smiled and said, "Well, there is nothing wrong with that. I like hotcakes myself." That's when our hero became real serious leaning forward, said, "You do, doc? Well, come on over to the barracks tonight. I've got two seabags full!" (Ever since we heard that we have been wondering if the doc brought enough syrup and butter.)

WM Maneuvers

By CPL. JEAN DAVIS

This past weekend turned out to be a busy one for several WM's, what with discharges and marriages. Turning in her ID card Saturday was Pfc Marylou Greninger, who by now is home in Pennsylvania. Saturday also saw the marriages of Pfc Eleanor Cook and Pvt. Deanna Alexander. Between birthday celebrations and wedding receptions, Satur- day was a quiet night in the bar- racks.

Hawaii is still on the list for an appealing duty station, and Pfc Norma Hudnall is now on her way to the land of swaying palms and grass skirts. Norma transferred the 27th of Novem- ber.

CPL. DAVIS Report- ing aboard yesterday from Quan- tico, Va., was WO Margaret Rob- ertson. WO Robertson recently completed a tour of duty in Na- ples, Italy, with SSgt. Marilyn McCarthy.

Pfc Marcia Wallace will cele- brate her birthday tomorrow. Many happy returns of the day. . . . Congratulations to Linda J. Kleiman on her recent promo- tion to corporal and goodbye to Pvt. Mary C. Luenberger, who was discharged yesterday.

Although no official welcome was given, everyone was glad to see Capt. Mary S. Mock return from the Naval hospital.

The Christmas holidays this year will find several WM's re- maining aboard in comparison son with the usual amount of holiday leaves taken in the past. Plans are being made for decorat- ing the main lounge, outside area and individual squadbays and areas. Some of us will participate in the annual Christmas Carol tour of the MOQ. An all-out ef- fort is being made by all con- cerned to make the holidays pleasant for those women who can't make it home. How about everyone contributing whatever talent they may have to make the barracks have that Christmas ap- peal?

TV CANTATA

Camp Lejeune's Protestant Chapel choir will be presented in a Christmas cantata over tele- vision station WITN, channel 7, at 5 p.m. next Saturday, Dec. 15. The hour-long cantata has been arranged by the Base Chaplain's office and 1st Lt. W. L. Mundell.

HIGH SCHOOL AWARD—Miss T. D. Love, executive secretary of Wilmington Merchants, Chamber of Commerce, awards $50 second prize to Camp Lejeune high school principal B. A. Barringer, as a result of last week's Christmas parade in Wilmington, where the local high school's float entry was judged runner-up.

Tourney Tally Show Champ Everett Low

A "Ducky Miller" tournament held last Tuesday by the Women's Golf Association featured a low score on par four holes with one-fourth handicap.

Low gross for the December 4 tourney went to Mrs. Allen Ever- ett, 1956 WGA champ, who fired an 81.

In "A" flight Mrs. James Cal- lender had a low gross of 90, but took first place with a point total of 45. Following close behind in points was Mrs. Everett who had a gross 81 and 46 points. The "B" flight wound up in a tie between Mrs. Vincent Cleve- land and Mrs. Dale Heely. Mrs. Cleveland had a gross 95 and 46 points, while Mrs. Heely shot a 97 and 46 points with handicap. Another tie resulted in the "C" flight between Mrs. B. J. Thobe and Mrs. Stanley Myzienski at 50. "D" flight was won by Mrs. A. G. Folsom with a 54.

ARCH OF SWORDS—Sgt. Eugene R. Lauer, of "C" Co., 8th Motor Transport Bn., and the former Miss Geraldine Wilkes, of Lumber- ton, N. C., smile as they leave the Camp Geiger Chapel after their wedding last Sunday. The couple are honeymooning in New York.

Wilkes-Lauer Rites At Geiger Chapel

Miss Geraldine Wilkes, of Lum- berton, N. C., and Sgt. Eugene R. Lauer, of "C" Co., 8th Motor Transport Bn., Force Troops, were married last Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Camp Geiger Chapel. Comdr. Cyril Best conducted the service.

In a ceremony complete with dress blues uniforms and an arch- way of swords, the bride was given in marriage by 1st Lt. Bobby E. Clarke, CO of "C" Company.

The bride wore an original waltz length gown of chantilly lace with a fitted bodice and long sleeves. Al- so an illusion veil held by a match- ing lace halfcap. She carried a bou- quet of white carnations.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Cath- erine McCloud of New York, sister of the groom.

COMMISSARY HOURS

R. S. V. P.

You don't know me.

No, you don't know me personally, though you may have known some of the people who have met me. I meet so many people, especially around this time of year. This is my favorite season because I get to meet so many of you.

Yes, the highways are wet and slippery—visibility is limited—more of you are trying to get home for a visit—everyone is in a big hurry—and this increases the chances of you and me getting together.

I have no friends but people call me Grim Reaper. Since you and I may be on intimate terms soon, you may call me GR if you wish.

I am looking forward to meeting you. I met some of your friends from Lejeune this year. You remember them—there was Weaving Willie, Do-or-Die Danny, Sleepy Sam, Hurry-up Harry and—oh, many more.

It was inevitable that Weaving Willie and I should get together when he left Washington, D. C., and headed back to Camp Lejeune. The way he weaved in and out of traffic on Highway 301 I was sure we would meet up in Virginia, but he made it all the way to Kinston before he weaved out and in—into an oncoming car and into my waiting grasp.

Oh, I could go on and on and tell you about Sleepy Sam and Hurry-up Harry, but you probably know about them anyway. It's really Joe that I would like to tell you about. You see, Joe and you are so much alike. Yes, there is almost no difference between you and Joe; only Joe is dead. I met him last year just about this time.

Joe was what you might call a good driver. He had plenty of driving experience. He knew the road like the back of his hand, just like you do. Joe seldom ever really speeded. Oh, he picked up to 60 or 65 mph on an open road just like you do sometime but he was no speed demon. Joe knew better than to drive when got too sleepy. He would stop for coffee now and then and if he got too sleepy he'd pull over for awhile; you know, like you do.

Well, anyway, when I met Joe he had been on the road about seven hours. He wasn't sleepy, he wasn't speeding, he wasn't weaving in and out of traffic or anything like that. It's just that his reflexes had slowed down just a wee little bit. Not much, mind you, just a little bit.

Maybe if he had been only a fraction of a second faster when he saw that stalled car on the road he'd have made it!

Well, I have to get going. I'm so busy this time of the year meeting new faces. But before I go I want to warn you that there are some people at Lejeune starting a campaign called "Back the Attack." This is another of those "drive-safely during the holiday" campaigns. It's a deliberate attempt to keep you and me from getting together, but I'm sure you won't pay them any mind, will you?

Why Wait?

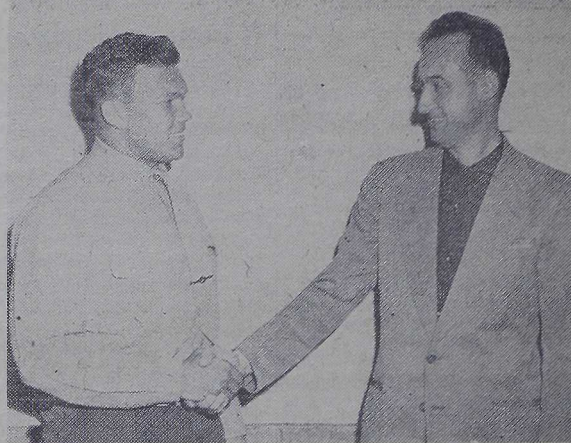

Figures released just last week by the Navy Department reveal that that while Navy men are investing more money in savings bonds, Marines are falling way behind.

As a matter of fact, the net loss in military bond allotments in the Department of the Navy is due wholly to this failure by Marines to take advantage of the safest method we know in preparing for that proverbial rainy day.

Actually, $257,000 less was set aside by Marines during October, 1956, as in the corresponding month last year. Spelled out, it means nearly 10,000 fewer Marines were taking out bond allotments this October. It doesn't make sense, does it?

What better way of setting aside a few dollars each payday? That old chestnut: "If you don't see it, you won't miss it," certainly holds true with these allotments. Besides, where can you find a better investment than the U. S. Government?

Get on the Bond Wagon now. It's never too late; but why wait?

MR. COUNSELOR—Dwight M. Leonard, new Veterans Employment representative aboard the base, is welcomed to the Camp education office by 2nd Lt. Gerald O. Witt, officer-in-charge. Replacing Wiley L. Wall, representative here for the past five years, Leonard will be available at the education office for interviews each week-day morning. Separates desiring interviews will receive assistance in local, state and national employment; re-employment benefits under the GI Bill, and forwarding work resumes to possible civilian employers.

Chaplain's Corner

There are times in our lives when we need to stop and take a backward glance in order to determine what course our lives should take in the future. Thus, by self-examination, we become aware of the many factors which have made us what we are. This contemplation may or may not reflect such a pretty image of which we may be proud.

There are so many varied influences which affect us, some stand out more vividly than others. Among these are the influence of our parents, the association with our friends and now the impact of service life. Each of us will evaluate these factors for whatever value they have for us in terms of what we are today. So the question naturally arises, where do I go from here.

Talking with many men it is apparent that they are not sure. There seems to be no firm motivating and guiding influence. It is as if they were floating along on the sea of life without thought about their destination or the best means of getting there.

We all have our future before us. What this future holds is determined to a great extent by how concerned we are with the past. If we are complacent and satisfied, then our activities from day to day will be determined by that fact. If we are honest about our shortcomings, then we will seek in the best way we know how to develop those characteristics which make for peace of mind and untarnished character.

The words of Micah are most appropriate in such a situation as this: "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." If this can become our vision of the future we can face it with firm determination and resolute hope.

—DON M. MICHAEL,
Eighth Marines.

Lejeune Places Eleven On All-Marine

Four Backs, Seven Linemen Selected For Top Grid Honors

Camp Lejeune's East Coast Marine champions landed eleven players on the tenth annual All-Marine selections made by LEATHERNECK magazine.

Lejeune placed four players on the first team, three on the second and four players received honorable mention.

Frank Morze at tackle, Don Gautreau at guard, Ernie Brown and Don Daly in the backfield were the locals that captured spots on the first team.

Morze was consistent all year in the Marine line on both offense and defense. He kicked 13 of 14 PAT's and did some of the team's punting. He and Gautreau provided effective blocking on offense and were always in the opposition's hair on defense.

Brown and Daly were kingpins of a smooth-operating Lejeune backfield all season. Brown, a clever field general, beat more teams than one with his pinpoint passing. He passed for nine TDs during the season and scored one himself.

Daly was the team's leading scorer with 36 points and was a constant threat with his broken-field running. He was also one of Lejeune's best pass defenders in the secondary.

The second team selections were Bob Warren at end, Don Tate at guard and Dick Frasier at center. Warren was the Marines' most effective pass-receiver as he caught five TD passes. He had a 40-yard punting average, and handled all kick-offs.

Tate and Frasier were stalwarts in the middle of the Lejeune line and Frasier played 60 minutes in two contests.

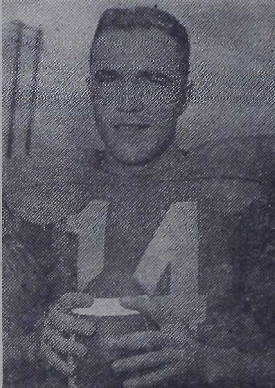

Receiving honorable mention were John Honse, tackle, Ed Patterson, guard, and John Dixon and Dick Watkins in the backfield. Both Honse and Patterson were standouts of the Lejeune forward wall, as they went both ways.

Dixon was the workhorse of the Marine attack and Watkins with his elusive running broke away for long gains all season.

The entire LEATHERNECK selections were:

FIRST TEAM

Ends: John Rushing, Camp Pendleton; Ron Beagle, Quantico; Tackles: Frank Morze, Lejeune; Ernie Cheatham, San Diego; Guards: Fred Buccell, Quantico; Don Gautreau, Lejeune; Center: John Damore, Quantico; Backs: Worth Lutz and Doug Cameron, Quantico; Don Daly and Ernie

Brown, Lejeune.

SECOND TEAM

HONORABLE MENTION

FAMILIAR SOUND—Echoing throughout the field house these days is the familiar thump of leather against wood as the winter activities begin to take the spotlight on the sports scene. Besides the varsity basketball team, various intramural cage teams are going through the paces to get ready for the coming season.

RHYTHMIC BEAT—The steady beating of the punching bag is another sound that can now be heard as fistic hopefuls are answering the call for training. CWO Benson, boxing coach, greeted the first of these Monday and with the All-Marine Boxing Tournament coming up February 19, the boxers wasted little time in punching the bags and shadow boxing. Some of the boxers who answered the call are: Ron DeCost, Carmen Scallaba, Bob Powell, Bill Rooks and Roosevelt Charles.

While on the subject of boxing: Ken McCurry, formerly with the Camp boxing team, is now fighting pro in Miami. He is undefeated in six fights, winning four by knockouts and two by decision. His last win came a week ago Thursday at the Miami Sports auditorium.

OLYMPIC BOXING—Two boxers who were seen here in the Inter-Service Tournament last October have added more glories to their boxing careers, this time in the form of Olympic Gold Medals. Peter Rademacher, who won the 1956 Inter-Service heavyweight title for the Army, stopped Lev Moukhine of Russia for his Gold Medal; and James Boyd, also of Army and 1956 Inter-Service light-heavyweight champ, outpointed Gheorghe Negrea of Romania for his. Jose Torres, another Army boxer, won a silver medal in the light middle-weight class.

SIDELINE GLANCES—The basketball team got off to a good start by taking two out of three games on their first road trip. . . . Don Laketa scored 68 points for the three games for a 22-point game average. In the first game at Norfolk, Laketa hit 12 of 15 free tosses and made good on 11 of 19 in the second. . . . Jack Beck hit 11 consecutive free throws in the first game before missing his last two tries. . . . Norm Pahmeier, out of the first game with a pulled muscle, played 10 minutes in the second and hit four of five set shots from the outside. . . . Lejeune has hit on 72 of 110 free throws for a .654 percentage and on 95 of 220 field goal attempts for a .433 percentage. . . . Wally Berko, playing for the N. C. State Frosh, was the big gun against the Marines with 26 points. Second Division fans will remember him as the same Wally who played with the Sixth Marines last year. He was chosen for the 2nd Division all-star team and in the championship playoff last year he averaged 22 points.

LOCKER ROOM HUBBUB—Marine Reserve 2nd Lt. Thomas Charlton Jr., who will report for active duty soon, was boatman for the victorious Yale eight who won an Olympic Gold Medal by beating Canada and Australia in the finals after losing in the opening heat. . . . The Poinsettia Bowl football game has been cancelled this year.

Tatum To Be Guest Speaker At Football Banquet

"Big Jim" Tatum, head coach of the North Carolina Tarheels, will be main speaker at the 1956 Football banquet December 12 at Marston Pavilion.

The banquet, annually sponsored by Camp Special Services, will honor this year's East Coast Marine champions who compiled an 8-2 record.

Tatum, a man who is bound to be recorded in football history as one of the great coaches of all time, returned this year to his alma mater to take over the coaching reins for the second time. His first position as a college head coach was with the Tarheels in 1942, when his team compiled a 5-2-2 record.

A 1935 Carolina graduate where he was a star tackle and catcher, Tatum scaled the heights in his possession during his nine years at Maryland from 1947-55.

Shortly before the opening of the 1955 season, the NCAA announced that Jim Tatum had the best 10-year record of any of the nation's active football coaches. This includes one year as head coach at Oklahoma in 1946. During that period, his teams achieved 76 victories, lost 19 and tied six. Including the 1956 season, when he turned out an undefeated team for the third time at Maryland, and his one year at North Carolina in 1942, his record shows 86 victories, 19 defeats and six ties.

Tatum had three undefeated, untied teams at Maryland, five bowl games and one national champion. In 1953 he was honored as "Coach of the Year."

His 1955 Terp team was first in the nation in rushing defense, second in total defense, and shut-out four opponents, including Rose Bowl entry UCLA.

Up to this season, he has never had a losing team anywhere and he took his Oklahoma team to the 1946 Gator Bowl for over N. C. State. His of six games shows the defeats and a tie.

During his nine-year Maryland, he was chosen "Coach of the Year" three times by the Atlantic Coast Conference. Maryland teams have won the Gator Bowl in Georgia 20-20 in 1952, featuring Missouri 20-7, 1952 Sugar Bowl, de-

MCB Intramural Basketball Under Eight Teams Seek Base Champions

Competition for the General's Cup goes into another round as MCB Intramural league teams open the basketball season this week.

Eight teams are entered in the race that comes to a close in mid-February. There are 56 league games on the slate, each team meeting all others twice.

All games will be played at Goette field house at times announced in the schedule. The team designated the home team will furnish basketballs and a corpsman.

All games will be played in accordance with the NCAA rules, with the exception of eight-minute quarters.

Each team will supply a score-keeper and the home team has the responsibility of reporting the results of the game to the Athletic Officer within 24 hours.

The winners and runners-up of the league will qualify for the Tri-Command Championship.

Waters Takes First Race In Frost Bite Series; Misura 2nd

After weeks of delay, the first of the "frost bite" sailing series got under way last Saturday at Wallace Creek.

With moderate winds up to 10 knots lending a helping hand, Ray Waters got off to a fast start and was never headed as he brought his boat home in the best lead of the season—four and a half minutes in front of Emil Misura. Walter Pohlmann came in third.

Next week, the second of the new series will begin at 1 p.m., with drawings for the boats taking place at 12:30 p.m.

Good weather over the weekend brought the water enthusiasts out in droves. Canoes and motorboats had their share of the crowd, with the only hitch developing when the boathouse ran out of gas.

Contrary to rumor, the boathouse does not close for the winter, and maintains the regular hours and days that it has throughout the year. So if you still crave the outdoor life in your spare time, the boathouse will be there to fill your needs in boating.

Archers Plan Deer Hunt

Bow and arrow enthusiasts who would like to stalk a deer with the idea of putting some venison in the family larder are invited to an organizational meeting to arrange such a hunt.

The meeting is being called by Maj. E. T. Carlton and has been set for 7 p.m. next Monday at the Girl Scout hut next to the Camp Kindergarten. All persons interested are asked to attend the meeting. Maj. Carlton can also be contacted by phoning 5-7101, Ext. 26.

FRESH MEAT

Camp Lejeune hunters finished another successful day in the woods when they came home with 26 kills as a result of their efforts last Saturday. This hunt ran near true to form, being just one shy of the number taken the previous week. Area 5, the usually productive group, had to take a back seat to Area 1, which took the day's honors with nine kills. Capt. R. M. Blessing, USMC, of the Second Division, was huntmaster of Group "G" which made this fine showing. Others groups and their kills were: Group "A", Area 4, four kills; Group "B", Area 5, two kills; Group "C", Area 2, two kills; Group "D", Area 6, four kills; Group "E", Area 3, one kill, and Group "F", Area 7, four kills.

Tomorrow, the next to the last special deer hunt will take place with Lt. Col. W. W. Kaenzig as huntmaster. Last week this column printed the boundaries designated for special hunts. This area takes in a lot of territory that is close to many quarters. Hunters have already been warned and will be warned again come Saturday to be extra careful. As a word of precaution, parents in the MOQ area are asked to instruct their children not to wander into the woods. Nature lovers who may be out for a walk are reminded of the same. Here is the designated area again: That portion of the bird refuge bounded on the north by Northeast Creek, on the east by Holcomb Boulevard, on the south by Wallace Creek, and on the west by New River.

MORE WORD OF CAUTION

Col. M. I. Shuford of the Second Combat Service Group called the other day in regard to some surplus No. 8 shotgun shells, tracer type, which he discovered was being used by some hunters. While walking through the woods, he found some of the expended shells and realized how dangerous they could become. It seems that Special Services was given a supply of these shells which the Navy had found defective. These were put in use by the skeet range at Peterfield Point where the shells would fall harmlessly into the water. Although these shells were classified as defective, who can tell? Remember all those duds that end up going off? Well, if one of ten of these shells is active, it could very easily set the woods on fire and this could mean calling out hundreds of Marines to fight fires. Lejeune is fortunate to have such a fine area for hunting. Let's not spoil it by setting fire to it. Use your head and keep the tracer type ammunition in areas where it is safe.

RABBIT HUNTERS TAKE HEED

With the rabbit hunting season that went into effect on November 22 getting into full swing, Marines should be particularly careful of Tularemia, or rabbit fever. This advice was given by Dr. Martin Hines, State public health veterinarian.

Dr. Hines suggested wearing rubber gloves while cleaning and dressing rabbits and cooking the meat thoroughly "until there is no red meat on the bones."

"Tick bites can cause rabbit fever," Dr. Hines said, "but the great majority of hunters who contract the disease get it from infected rabbits during the hunting season. It is contracted most often while skinning the game or eating it improperly cooked."

"Rabbit fever is seldom fatal," Dr. Hines said, "but the disability period frequently is weeks."

FISHING PARADISE

If you're headed for Camp Pendleton, you won't have to look far for a good fishing hole. According to reports from the West Coast base, sportsmen will have a fishermen's paradise available to them next spring. This will come about by the combined efforts of the Base Game Section and the California Department of Fish and Game, who are weeding out and restocking Lake O'Neill with thousands of catchable-sized bass. Draining began in early October and it is expected that the Fish and Game department will begin stocking the lake in February when rainfall and runoff refills the lake. For the first year, fishing will be controlled with a count kept of all bass taken. The fish that have been caught will be replaced with frequent restocking. Later, the fish are expected to reproduce enough on their own to maintain the population.

Bearded

Bob Winterburn from New York. He has averaged 26 points a game over the last three years and likes to do his scoring underneath the basket.

Equipped with the reputation of being the best rebounder to come into the cage circles during the last few years, Ed Lindberg is a natural for the guard slot. He is adept at ball-stealing and is gifted with big hands.

Manning the other guard spot is another tall player with a knack for ball-heisting, Bill Burkholder. His distinction is that of being the fastest man on the team and is deadly with set shots from both sides of the court.

The tallest player on the squad is six-foot-six Gene Blakemore, their center. He handles a basketball like it was a baseball, and has an uncanny way of faking everybody out of their shoes.

Gametime will be 8 p.m. and no admission will be charged.

Following the game on Saturday, the Camp team will leave Monday for a swing through the Southland. The trip will include games with MineLant in Charleston, S. C., on Monday night and with Fort Gordon, Ga., on Tuesday night.

The tour will be climaxed by the Christmas Tourney at Shaw AFB, which includes six Service teams, beginning on December 13.

SNCO Bowlers Elect A. J. Kacar Prexy

A. J. Kacar was named president of the newly-formed Staff NCO bowling league at the first meeting of the group held November 28.

Other elected league officials were W. L. Robishaw, vice president, and D. L. Donnell, secretary-treasurer.

In their first games, T. J. Yosting rolled high individual game with a 207 and scored high individual series of 584.

The 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines, racked up high team series with a total of 2469.

League meetings will be held each Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

GOLF SLICES

The Paradise Point Golf club held a Scotch Foursome tournament last Sunday. Members of the men's golf league invited women golfers for the match with partners being drawn from a hat.

Low nine-hole total went to Capt. W. H. Groesbeck and Mrs. Frank A. Gunner, while low front nine honors were taken by Vince Cleveland and Mrs. W. H. Groesbeck.

Maj. George Bryant and Mrs. James M. Callender were the winners of the low back nine.

In the low gross for the 18-hole course, a tie developed between MSGT. Henry Kaidacz and Mrs. Grover H. Nix and Lt. Col. Frank Gunner and Mrs. Ward W. Croyle.

Merchandise prizes were awarded to members of the winning team.

Cherry Point Golf club officially became a member of the United States Golf Association Green Section when the membership was approved by the Association last week.

Membership in the organization permits the sending of greenskeepers to Tifton, Ga., for the purpose of keeping the local course up-to-date on maintenance and coverage by personnel sent from the association to check on the course.

2nd Bn. Cagers Have Tale To Defend 8th Regt. Crown

By SGT. DON SCHAEFER

2nd Division Information Office
With four holdovers from last year's championship team, the 2nd Battalion again is expected to cop the Eighth Marines' Regimental Basketball League crown, and thus enter the Division tournament next February.

Second Battalion coach, Sgt. John L. Gordon Jr., has the second and third highest scorers in regimental play last season at his disposal.

Ulysses S. Grant, a huge 6-4, 215-pound center who possesses a wide assortment of jump and hook shots, is the top rebounder. The former Connecticut all-star high school player averaged 20 points per contest in 1955-56 while Guard Don Dawson, a six-foot, 180-pound set shot specialist, sported a 17-point per game mean.

Dennis Chagru, guard, and Ron Lindsay, a six-foot, 195-pounder, give added experience to a 13-man squad that has speed, height, and good player depth on the bench. Lindsay, a hard-driving forward off the fast break, tallied almost 14 markers per contest.

Coach Gordon has installed a four-man weave on offense with Grant, the big pivotman, supplying the scoring punch. A man-to-man defense, which proved so successful last campaign, will again be employed.

This well-rounded quintet registered a 9-3 won-lost record in 1955-56, placing third in Division tournament competition.

Battling the defending champions for regimental cage honors will be Composite Battalion, coached by 2nd Lt. John D. Murphy. The success or failure of this team rests mainly on the shoulders of Roy Dennison and Dean Smith. This one-two punch is expected to lift the squad into serious title contention.

Although Composite Battalion finished a dismal last in the league race this past season, Dennison still managed to pace the scoring parade, scorching the nets with a 21.7 point per game mark. This 5-10, 165-pound guard has the best one-hand set shot in the league. A former Kentucky all-star high school cager, Dennison has been offered numerous college basketball scholarships.

Smith, with an accurate shot, tied Lindsay last year a 14-point average. An all-around player while at (N.J.) High, Smith continues hoop sport at Seton Hall university. This 6-1, 195-pounder should provide a valuable during a rugged 12-game rule.

Forward Vinnie Richards, a tall rebounder, and five guard, Dick Young, furnish speed and both are deft standouts.

Composite Battalion, although possessing several outstanding players, lacks a good offensive center with scoring potential as capable reserves. With Smith the tallest man at six-foot height disadvantage may prove a tough obstacle to overcome in team's championship hopes.

First and 3rd Battalions, coached by Lt. (jg) Jesse Eberdt and Lt. Don Daly respectively, have holdovers and so far pose no threat in the Eighth Marine regimental race.

The four battalions have been practicing for the last week Tuesday afternoon, in preparation for the league action. First opposing 2nd Battalion, and 3rd faces Composite at the Area 4 gym.

Eightballs Decline In Officers Wives Keg Loop Standings

Another week of bowling the Officers Wives Bowling League saw only one change in the standings, with the sixth Eightballs changing places with seventh place Deadpans.

High average for the night to Mrs. H. Lightle with 142. High game with handicap a tie between Mrs. George B. and Mrs. Mrs. Bird, who rolled 190.

Mrs. Harold Walters took series with handicap with a 4-0 record.

Discharge

the boy discovers the truth.

These are the things the young Marine should think about before he considers using the DD or BCD as a pass to civilian life. The Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force are being plagued with requests for remittance of punitive discharges by persons who have found out too late the consequences of this type separation.

The fact that he is going in business for himself or going to work on a farm where he thinks a honorable discharge is not necessary is a weak argument for accepting the punitive discharge. A business or farm loan may be just the thing he might need one day. There is no business or farm that we know of that can operate successfully starting out with a $20,000 deficit.

Those inclined to think of a BCD or DD is a way out of the service should ask themselves who they know in civilian life who has gained distinction while holding a punitive discharge.

The third film in the International Film Service will be shown Wednesday evening, December 12, at the Camp Lejeune High school auditorium at 8 p.m. The feature film will be THE STONE FLOWER, directed in the U. S. S. R. The story is based on a volume of Russian folk legends by Pavel Bazhov and is the tale of a young stone-carver whose artistic sense urges him to create a perfect flower in stone. The film has an unusual color process and a melodious musical score. The short subject, AL-YE, tells the story of mankind's voyage through life as told by impressions and images.

and the result is a delightfully revealing and humorous book

For a superior Western novel we recommend THESE THOUSAND HILLS by A. B. Guthrie Jr. The author writes with an authentic sense of time and place as he tells the story of the cattle kingdom in development in Oregon and Montana in the 1880's.

The library has recently received the second volume of Winston Churchill's four-volume HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH SPEAKING PEOPLES. This second volume, THE NEW WORLD, begins with the Tudors, England's most powerful line of sovereigns,

The instrumentation of saxes and clarinets, two and tronebone, plus piano and drums, gives the band a sound resembling a mixture of the Guy Lombardo and Welk.

One of the main reasons for the band's distinctive sound is the arrangements by Gus Don also arranged for Lawrence.

One of the many played by the Bair or was the Melody Mill Ball cago.
