holds to put together the necess Federal income tax returns due rush can produce many careless mistakes. (April 15 falls on a Sun-day this year, making April 16 the deadline.) Most of the errors are very sim-ple. For example, about a million returns are filed every year with signatures missing. Little slips in arithmetic last year resulted in OVERPAY. MENTS by taxpayers of $18,-000,000. Although these over-payments are returned eventu-ally, the taxpayer shouldn't rely on the government to save him from all his mistakes. Mistakes of arithmetic favoring the taxpayers were more numerous —perhaps not entirely by coinci-dence. All returns are checked and when an underpayment is discover-ed the government collects the difference—plus interest. Apart from obvious mistakes, many taxpayers overlook opportun-ities to_claim exemptions and de-ductions, and other ways to re-duce their taxes. To help you avoid such pitfalls. AFPS is publishing time series that may save you money. The first step, whether or not to file a return, is fairly well resolved for service personnel. In most cases, gross income for 1955 was more than the mini-mum of $600 and few, if any, servicemen were 65 or older with less than $1,200 gross income. Thus a return is required. Don't forget that a tax excess may have been withheld on your service pay and the only way to recover this money is to file a return. A common mistake is the filing of a separate return by a wife who had a small income. If she files a separate income, she is not per-mitted to file another return joint ly with her husband, nor is her husband allowed to claim an ex-emption for his wife on his sepa-rate return.

Randolph McCall Pate, during ceremonies at Washington's Navy Annex on December 30. General Pate officially assumed his four-star post as 21st Commandant of the Marine Corps on January 1, when he re-ceived the oath for the Navy Judge Advocate General.

KING-SIZED—Marines stationed at MCAS, Maimi, Fla., stand aboard the 'M-1' float which participated in year-end Orange Bowl Classic festivities. The float, sponsored by a Florida concern, was displayed along with 52 others in a downtown Miami parade, preceding this year's Orange Bowl game.

COMMANDANT'S CONCERT—Members of the Marine Band car-ried out the traditional serenade to the Commandant of the Marine Corps on January 1, when Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, who that day assumed duties as the 21st Commandant, and Mrs. Pate, received their first annual serenade at the rear of the CMC's quarters at Washington's Marine Barracks.

President Praises Armed Forces' Role

In Annual Message WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Presi-dent Eisenhower in his recent State of the Union message to Con-gress paid tribute to the members of the armed forces for the import-ant role they play in the nation's defense.

gress paid tribute to the members of the armed forces for the import-ant role they play in the nation's "In the last analysis," he said, "our real strength lies in the cali-ber of the men and women in our armed forces, active and reserve." Although much has been done to attract and hold capable military personnel, "more needs to be done," the President asserted. He renewed his request of last year for legislation to provide proper medical care for military depend-ents and a more equitable surviv-ors' benefit program. "The administration," he added, "will prepare additional recom-mendations designed to achieve the same objectives, including career incentives for medical and dental officers and nurses, and increases in the proportion of regular of-ficers." Teacher Shortage In Critical Fields Boon For Retireds

Retired members of the Armed Services are being recruited to fill certain teaching positions, listed as suffering a critical shortage, in the Nation's high schools under a program started by the Labor De-partment's Bureau of Employment Security.

Security. Fields listed as needing teachers are mathmatics, industrial arts, commercial and general science, and, according to the Bureau, past experience has shown that many retired officers and enlisted per-sonnel are qualified to hold these ports sonnel are qualified to hold these posts. Applications are sought and should be filed with local Public Employment Service offices. Local PES officials can steer the appli-cants to the appropriate school euthorities. In some cases, applicants will have to meet local regulations and it may be necessary for former military men and women to take additional courses before they will be able to teach. No exact number of positions open was released by the Labor Department, but it was indicated that the majority of applicants would have little difficulty in ob-taining a teaching certificate.

WM Maneuvers By PFC ELSIE POCHEL

The argument waxed hot and heavy during a recent barracks gab session. An impartial eavesgab session. An impartial eaves-dropper would have been in stitches to hear the topic under-going a thorough working over from every angle. Does one call them mashed potatoes or cream-ed potatoes? Just what was the difference? It's nice to know that WMs still worry about little do-mestic things like cooking!

Inguist experts hash things over, it couldn't very well be called English. Stealing "Short Rounds" KUDOS, may they be applied to a pair of WM corporals with many and varied talents, mat-ter-of-factly classified under the title "police sergeant." Carol Lau and Angie Darby are always on call to repair a washing machine or put a washer in a faucet or pound locks off lockers when the keys suddenly turn up inside. Wax buffer insides are fami-liar objects to these two, and they can effectively finker with sewing machines.

They jealously guard their rights as Company mechanics and fix-it girls, and woe unto the WM who decides to repair that washing machine by her-cole

Besides being frustrated me-chanics, Carol and Angie are re-sponsible for lighting conditions in the barracks, linen call and supplies, furniture, stowing gear for WMs going on leave—to name only a few jobs that while away their day.

Stop And Think

Each year, all of us are asked to contribute to numer-ous charitable causes. A list of these charities would stretch almost endlessly. Some stand above others, however. One of the foremost is the annual March of Dimes. Before you turn the page with a shrug of "here's the same old pitch," stop and think about the persons you've seen afflicted with polio. Stop and and think. Then turn same off Dicte, stop and think about the persons you're seen afflicted with polio. Stop and and think. Then turn the page! Polio can strike ANYONE, anytime. It's no respector of rank, age or religion. Polio wards in hospitals through-out the nation provide mute testimony to that fact. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis needs nearly $48 million this year to properly conduct its ef-forts toward curbing and curing polio. That sounds like a lot of money. However, if every adult in the U. S. shell-ed out with a dollar, the polio foundation wouldn't have a bit of trouble surpassing that goal. Here at Lejeune we're aiming to better last year's March of Dimes contributions. There's no definite quota here. It's up to the individual to donate as much as he can. Some will dig deep; others not at all. Nobody's going to condemn you if you fail to contribute. Maybe your conscience—nobody else. Stop and think when you pass that March of Dimes collection box. Stop and give.

Don't Miss The Point

Our boy Sturdley has done it again. Sturdley, you may remember, is the guy who gives just enough—and not a drop more. Sturdley does his share of griping on all matters and saluting is no exception. But Sturd is a smart cookie. He puts an extra snap into the highball when his CO, or another officer on post, passes by. When our boy is off base or on leave, however, he conveniently forgets about the salute. No one is going to go to the trouble of stopping him in town, he figures.

As in other matters, Sturdley misses the point. Salut-ing, basically, is a military courtesy. It's a greeting be-tween comrades in arms. Actually, someone who resents saluting has no respect for his fellow servicemen. A confident serviceman doesn't shun the salute. He knows that when you exchange salutes it gives you a feel-ing of really belonging to the honorable profession of arms. (AFPS)

Ask 'Em!

One of the most easily overlooked of the benefits available to servicemen is free legal counsel. Unfortunate-ly, too many of our servicemen look to the sea lawyer when they are beset with legal problems—sometimes with dire results.

The services provide a capable man to assist service-men in legal matters. That man—the legal assistance of-ficer—has the correct answers to the knottiest legal questions. If he doesn't have the answer on hand he will get it for you.

The legal assistance officer will give you accurate— and free—counseling service and advice on all legal problems. Matters brought to him are kept in strict con-fidence.

How important am I?

Such a question strikes home to most of us at one time or another. There are times we are trouble over being important to someone. Our Creator has great concern over us and con-siders each of us vitally importhere are times when we feel so isignificant that we ask boldly, "How important am -1?" or "who would miss me if I faded out of the picture?"

the picture?" You are important! What you do is a vital link in the scheme of life that your presence is es-sential. Maybe you feel as though the job you are doing is so unimportant that you are not needed. But such is not so. There are no small jobs, only small people, and they exist only in the minds of the individuals themselves. You may feel that in the Marine Corps you are just another individual and your presence is not needed. What job could be more insig-what job could be more insig-nificant than that of he who in-stalls bolt number 1,354 in an automobile? Yet, elimination of such a bolt weakens the entire machine. Your absence from your job weakens the work of all concerned.

How important am I? Christ taught that since God cares for the birds of the air and the grass of the fields, He also will care abundantly for you, for you are indeed important in His plan. If then, you are important to God and His plans, then you are important to those with whom you live and work.

Boxing Team At Quantico In Return Meet Wednesday

The Camp Lejeune boxing team increased its training tempo this week in preparation for the grudge match at Quan-

sided duel. The local team was strengthen-ed this week with the transfer of bantam-weight Ken McCurry, from Argentia, Newfoundland. Formerly South Carolina flyweight novice champ, and North Carolina fly-weight champ in the Golden Gloves, he boxed with Quantico and reach-ed the Gloves finals in Washington, D. C. During last year's All-Ma-rine finals, he lost to Basil Black-son, Lejeune's bantamweight rep-resentative.

Baseball Hopefuls Meet Wednesday

The first pre-season meeting of 1956 Leieune baseball appli-cants was held af Goettge Me-morial field house Wednesday, with 45 persons attending. This season's diamondmen (Sootty) Harris, former coach for the Camp Pendleton nine. Last year, Lejeune's team, notentially great on paper, fin-sished its season with a 29-25 rec-ord. Teams they were suppose to beat, they dind't; the tough teams, they knocked over. This year's first practice seas for is tentatively planned for January 23.

the locals a lot of trouble during the present season. In November, Lejeune fought to a 5-5 draw, though winning tour of the seven scheduled bouts. Two matches were forfeited in two weight classes for Lejeune, while Quantico failed to enter a man in the featherweight class.

Following the match with Quan-tico, the leather-throwers will meet Cherry Point on January 20 on op-oponent grounds. Following the draw, Quantico edged Lejeune in the Florida Ama-teur Athletic Union tournament at Coral Gables in the open division, 35-29, to cop the team title. Edenton's team bested the Ma-rine Flyers by three fights where-as Lejeune onslaught stole the en-tire card from Edenton in a one-sided duel.

Since last encountering Quanti-co's sluggers, the local mittmen took a full card from an inexperi-enced Edenton club in 18 boxing minutes, running their undefeated status in dual bouts to 10.

Lejeune has not lost a dual bout since February, 1954, with Quantico the last team to top the locals.

Welterweight Larry Redmond, with a 4-0 record, and light middle-weight Julius Jackson, 3-0, have won seven of Lejeune's 26 wins dur-ing the first half of the '55-'56 season. Flyweight Al Daniels won a sur-prising upset over Phil Ortiz, 1955 All-Marine Flyweight Champion of Quantico, and will be re-matched when Lejeune invades their oppon-ent's home ring.

ent's home ring. Other matches (unless weights change or injuries interfere) will find All-Marine lightweight Cham-pion Terry Downes meeting Le-jeune's All-Marine Light Welter-weight champion, Nick LaRosa. Downes has edged LaRosa in two previous meetings.

Lightweight Randy Horne, who has taken two fights from the Ib-cals, will face Jay Reardon in another grudge match. Horne took an unpopular decision from Reardon during their last meet-ing in Miami.

Quantico's Richie (Sugar) Hill will fight on the card as light mid-

Guard Bill Tompkins of Lejeune and -White Hat forward Stan Potonski then traded long set shots, Potonski's coming with only four seconds remaining and eve-ning the count at 72.72. Lejeune put the ball in play after a time out had stopped the clock, and Bingham, playing for the first time since he suffered a broken nose last week, popped in his game-winning two-pointer. Yoong, former Canisius cager, was high for the White Hats with 27, mostly on long two-hands and Bingham also hit double fig-ures for the winners with 15 and 12 respectively. The locals, who again had a poor shooting night, hitting on on-ly 29 of 73 shots from the floor, trailed nearly all the way, falling behind by nine points twice in the second half, 50.41 and 62.53. Down 19-18, 42-37 and 62-53 at the quar-ter marks, Lejeune outscored Serv-Lant 21-10 in the final stanza to pull the game out of the fire. IN OHIO, voters will decide at the Nov. 6, 1956, election whether to issue bonds to finance the pro-posed Korean bonus. If the bond issue becomes law, Ohio vets who served between June 25, 1950, and July 19, 1953, will get $10 for each month of Stateside service and $15 for each month of foreign service, up to a maximum $400.

up to a maximum $400. Honorably discharged veterans and service personnel still on active duly must meet a residence re-quirement of a year in Ohio im-mediately before entering service.

Only Handful Apply Under Housing Act

Since the passage into law of the National Housing Act of 1954 16 months ago, less than one per cent of the total Armed Forces have applied for home loans.

The FHA said that 9,082 applica-tions have been received from service families—7,800 of that num-ber have been completely approv-ed and processed—under the pro-visions of the new law which per-mits GI bill-type home financing at 4½ per cent for active duty personnel.

Of the original applicants, 2,300 were for new construction and the remaining number for homes al-ready built.

were for new construction and the remaining number for homes already built. Active duty members of the services are authorized to obtain low-interest rate, Government-insured mortgage loans with five per cent down payment and a maximum of 25 years to pay. Provisions of the law further state that the Defense Department funust certify that the member needs housing and will be on active duty for at least two years. Mortgages under the law, specifically its Sec. 222, are subject to the same limits on amounts as those insured under the regular FHA sales housing program. And, to show more liberal treatment to servicemen, the law provides that the maximum ratio of loan to value can exceed the maximum perscribed under the FHA plan. Homes can be located anywhere in the U. S., Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands. To obtain a loan, the serviceman must make application on Defense Department Form 802.

2 New Housing Projects Slated For Marine Bases

Plans to build Capehart housing projects at two East Coast Marine Corps installations have been given the green light, according to Navy Times.

Approved are a 160-unit project at the Supply Depot at Albany, Ga., and the first of 2,565 units at the Auxiliary Landing Field, Beaufort, S. C., scheduled to be come a master jet station. The Beaufort base will be com-missioned a Marine Corps Auxili-ary Air Station in March or April but will not be ready for use by Marine fliers until January, 1957. At that time 550 Capehart housing units will be built until the new housing plan.

"The hand all America

"The band all America wants to hear," Ernie Rudy and his orches-tra, are booked for a one-nighter at the Camp theater at 7.30 p.m. Wednesday, January 18, and a dance for sergeants and below at histon Pavilion the same night. The sammy Kaye orchestra as "the Daffy Drummer." The mainstay of the Kaye band for 18 years, helft the orchestra in July, 1952, and formed his own aggregation. Haendle is responsible for the versatile library of the Rudy band which contains over 500 arrangements, the largest of any band today. This enables the group to play anything from cur-rent hit parade favorites to songs that go back to the turn of the form sweet or swing to South American or dixieland.
