TRAEX 1-57 Starts Spring Maneuvers; Vieques Area First

The Marine Corps' Amphibious Training Group 1-57 was officially activated here last Sunday. The unit, in the process of formation for the past two months, is scheduled to participate in the annual spring Caribbean training and maneuvers during March and April.

Commanded by Brig. Gen. Austin R. Brunelli, Navy Cross and Silver Star winner, Amphibious Training Group 1-57 will also participate in CARIB-EX. The Marines will join this combined Marine Corps, Army, Navy, and Air Force exercise in the Panama Canal Zone, after concluding training in the Vieques island area off the eastern coast of Puerto Rico, and the Panama Canal Zone.

Marines from posts and stations along the Eastern Seaboard will engage in the air-sea-ground training at Vieques. The Eighth Marines, part of the 2nd Division, is the principal ground unit of the 1957 training group. Other ground units include the 3rd Bn., Tenth Marines; "C" Co., 2nd Tank Bn., and supporting troops. Units of Cherry Point's 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing will provide logistical support for the ground elements during the training.

A Provisional Marine Aircraft Group, MCAS, Miami, Fla., major air component of the training group, will undergo training in the Panama Canal Zone prior to Operation CARIB-EX.

Both the Vieques and Panama exercises will stress adaptation of Marine units to the concept of "vertical envelopment" in warfare. This concept of combat technique employs helicopters to transport Marines inland with the purpose of seizing strategic areas ahead of troops being landed on the beaches via assault boats. Squadrons of helicopters from New River's Marine Aircraft Group (Helicopter Transport) (Light)-26 will carry the Marines involved in this type of assault.

General Brunelli's staff includes: Col. James R. Anderson, FMFLant, Chief of Staff; Lt. Col. W. H. Whitaker, 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, G-1; Maj. D. A. Panska, 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, G-2; Lt. Col. J. H. Jones, 2nd Marine Division, G-3; and Lt. Col. M. H. Clarke, 2nd Division, G-4.

Murt, One Killed Auto Collision; Traffic Death

Patricia S. Nestick, 19, Marine Company, became the second traffic fatality in 1957 when the car she was driving collided head-on with a motorcycle on Highway 17, near the Dixon high school.

The U. S. Naval hospital received five other Marines also involved in the accident. Edward A. Ornelas of MP Co., had lacerations of the face and a brain concussion; Pfc M. Francis of WM Co., had abrasions and lacerations of the face and legs; Pfc Quick of the Second Marine Division had lacerations of the face and legs; Pfc D. O. Dunlap, MCSS, had wounds on the face and internal injuries; Cpl. Don Granger of MCSS had a fractured skull and fracture of both arms.

The car was placed on the scene at this time, the figures showed that the car was identical with those involved in the Sunday afternoon 1957.

Instructors To Be Here Feb. 11

Leading Force Instruction Team MCS, Quantico, headed by Philip H. McArdle, will be here for two presentations at the Theater on Feb. 11-12. The presentation will be of two hours' duration, from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. each day.

The officers from the 5th, 8th Naval Districts and 1st from Camp Lejeune will attend. The 600 Marines are expected to be present at each presentation. Organizations are urged to have personnel attend. Those attending must possess proper clearance, according to Base G-3. Personal requests for attendance are to be made by phone to the Base G-3 office. The presentation is scheduled for May 23-24 and for Force Troops, 1st ITR, Air Facility are set for 18-19 and May 20-21.

Popper To Hq. Bn. Second Gets New CO

Lt. Col. Leslie A. Gilson relieved Lt. Col. Harry S. Popper, Jr., of command of the 3rd Bn., Second Marines, Wednesday, during ceremonies at the Camp Parade Ground.

Colonel Popper, who is transferred to Headquarters Bn., 2nd Division, led the battalion Marines during their recent tour of duty in the Mediterranean when they played a major role in the evacuation of American and United Nations nationals from Alexandria, Egypt.

Colonel Gilson was formerly the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-3, for the First Provisional Marine Force in the Mediterranean area.

During World War II he received the Purple Heart during the invasion of Guam and the Bronze Star Medal with combat "V" during the assault on Iwo Jima.

Graduated from Western Reserve University, Col. Gilson was

Barring Stipulations Top Three Masters May Request 'Out'

According to a Marine Corps Order, sergeants major, first sergeants and master sergeants may be discharged upon their requests, barring some stipulations.

Those exempt from the Order, (MCO 1910.3A) are those possessing critical MOSs; having completed less than 18 months' service following formal courses of instruction at schools where quotas are controlled by the Commandant; are in disciplinary or probationary status; are retained as witnesses at courts-martial; require medical treatment or are indebted to the government.

Such requests will be effected only upon written request from the subject sergeant, at his own request, for the convenience of the government, and made with the understanding he will not be able to reenlist within 91 days after discharge and therefore not entitled to a reenlistment bonus.

Marine Drowns In Area 5 Pool

An investigation has been ordered in the drowning of a Marine Monday afternoon.

Pfc Robert H. Duncan, 18, of Weapons Co., 3rd Bn., Eighth Marines, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Camp Dispensary. His body was found at about 3 p.m. February 4, in the Area Five swimming pool, following a period of recreational swimming.

Indications are that Duncan apparently returned to the pool for an additional swim after the group of men had been dismissed. He was noticed missing after the men left the immediate area, and his body was found at the bottom of the pool.

Laws Vary On State Taxes; Military Must File Return

Servicemen are not exempt from paying state income taxes because of their status. Laws vary from state to state.

Federal law provides that a serviceman does not have to pay tax on military income outside his home state.

For example: A man owning a home in Iowa but stationed at Lejeune, doesn't have to worry about filing a return in North Carolina. He must, however, check Iowa's laws.

The following states have no income tax: Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

No state taxes are collected in Ohio or Pennsylvania, but certain municipalities tax personal income.

In the District of Columbia, you must file a return if you are single and earn more than $1,000 or are married and have a joint income of more than $2,000. Send payment and return before April 15 to District of Columbia Income and Franchise Tax Division, Room 2033, Municipal Center, 300 Indiana Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

In Hawaii, you must file on any income from rents or a profession. File if you are single and earn more than $1,100, or married and have combined income of more than $2,200. You must file if gross income from compensation and for dividends exceed $2,850 if you are single or $5,900 if you are married. Service pay is excluded from gross income.

Returns should be sent to Bureau of Income and Miscellaneous Taxes, Territory of Hawaii, Department of

If you

WHEN DID THE THOUGHT OF
ENLISTING IN THE MARINES
FIRST CROSS YOUR MIND.

(asked of members of Woman Marine Company, Marine Corps Base.)

PVT. YVONNE C. MORRIS—While a junior in high school I made the decision that I wanted to do something different than just get a regular job in town like all the other girls did. I wanted to see places and be independent. The Marine Corps was my pass to these things. I felt that the Marine "boot" training would help prepare me for any problem in the future.

CPL. JANET L. FUTERER—While a senior in high school I had occasion to go into the post office and I encountered a Marine in dress blues there. In the course of our conversation I discovered the Woman Marines. Out of curiosity I went to the recruiting office. The recruiting sergeant showed me all the benefits of serving in the Corps. One month later I took my oath.

TSGT. ALICE MCINTYRE—Originally thought about entering the service early in 1943. I came from a small town and wanted to enlarge my circle of acquaintances and experiences. Due to local commitments I could not enlist until June, 1943.

Seeing a friend from my own home town on a pass from "boot" training at Hunter College, I decided the Women Marines was for me.

PVT. DOROTHY A. ROMAN—While attending high school recruiters came to the school, telling us the advantages of being in the Armed Forces. This made me investigate a little farther, my first choice was the Navy. However, upon going to the recruiting office, which was shared by both the Marines and the Navy I changed my mind and chose the Marines.

PFC BARBARA ZURELIA—In the year of 1953, I decided that I wanted to travel, see the world, and further my education. The Marines Corps seemed to be the answer to these desires. Three years later I enlisted. I have done some traveling, but I would like to do a lot more.

No Future In Moon-Shining Given As Reason For Shipping Over; Others Desire Education

Somewhere in the Marine Corps there is a corporal who weighed the advantages of Marine Corps life against a possible jail sentence for "moon-shining."

The Marine Corps won—because the Marine reenlisted for six more years.

The corporal's decision was included in a number of statements made by Marines who stayed in the Corps. Part of a study conducted by Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, required that each Marine who reenlisted write down a short statement listing the reasons which brought about his decision to ship over.

This is the corporal's terse statement: "My father will not let me live at home and I don't like digging ditches for a living and also moon-shining is illegal in Kentucky."

Not all the statements for reenlistment are as brief. For instance, one sergeant wrote a page and a half on the advantages of Marine Corps careers.

Humorous or serious, thoughtful or off-the-cuff, the many remarks by the Marines had one thing in common. In every statement, there is the evident pride in the Corps and reward in accomplishments which every good Marine feels.

Generally, however, the reasons which cause men to reenlist fall into a number of broad classifications. Some Marines reported that the security of the military service was a deciding factor.

Others, mostly Staff NCO's with from 12 to 16 years' service, reported that the retirement benefits and their prior service were the deciding factors.

Change of duty stations and change of military occupational skill were other big reasons, the statements disclosed. Sergeants and below who reenlist are given options in choosing new duty stations or new training.

Some Marines found that the service life had definite appeals for them, and they reenlisted because they liked the life. Others reported that they had always considered making military service a career.

Of course, many statements disclosed that the writers reenlisted after they found out what one Marine termed "the hard way." They tried civilian life for awhile, and then decided that they would come back into the Marine Corps for the pay, security and retirement benefits.

Only one Marine mentioned the fact that he received a bonus for shipping over and this he accepted with some misgivings.

"Upon reenlistment," he wrote, "I received a $702 bonus, which I feel the Marine Corps has no need to offer career Marines. They didn't have to pay me the first time. Why make it look as if they have to buy you to get you to stay in? A good Marine would reenlist without a bonus. In fact, I feel we would have a far better Corps if they were to eliminate the bonus."

Consideration of personnel injured in combat was considered by several Marines—and to the advantage of the Marine Corps.

One Marine wrote "In combat, I'll feel sure that the Commandant of the Marine Corps will not send my parents a telegram saying, 'Your son is dead,' when later on they'll say, 'We are sorry, your son is alive.' That's something we can rely upon with confidence."

The other Marine wrote, "It is an outfit in which a man can be proud to wear the uniform. There are very few telegrams sent to the parents of boys in combat stating, 'missing in action.' Every man in the Marine Corps is accounted for, and I feel that is something to be proud of and that no other branch of service can do."

A technical sergeant who considered his past service as an investment for the future had another reason for continuing his service career.

"I came to the conclusion that it was the same as a man who had a college education and was not using it to benefit himself," the sergeant stated. "The Marine Corps has security and benefits for myself and my family."

The sergeant also added that he has always considered the Marine Corps as the best military service. Most Marines, the statements show, can't resist the opportunity to inject a bit of personal pride into their statements.

A master sergeant who first enlisted in 1938 remarked that he'd never intended anything else but a service career.

"I have seen many changes and expect to see many more before I retire," he wrote. "I have always believed in additional schooling and new methods which have proved more acceptable to the Marine Corps."

He stated further that there were new schools available for Marines, and it was to his advantage to be able to attend them.

Not all Marines are solitary soldiers, however. One corporal, quite frankly, he had found a life he liked.

"A man like myself, who not developed the skill of making money, has no worries in his room and board. The you can be broke two days pay day and still have meals a day and a place to sleep," he wrote quite candidly.

Another sergeant was frank in admitting he was a career Marine.

"In my youth, I was impressed with the esprit de corps amplified by my relative friends in the Marine Corps. Since my original enlistment, I have grown with the opportunities and advancement rank are unequalled in my life. I am a true career Marine. This statement reads:

Retirement benefits not considered by just timers, however. Many Marines stated they found prospects of an early retirement equally as promising other advantages.

A number of the young Marines who enlisted within 18 years of age admitted that the idea of receiving an income at 37 or 38 of age was a strong inducement for a military career.

One other young Marine realistic look at the leave pay, too.

"You receive 30 days' pay a year from the first you enter. As a civilian you would have to have about 20 years with a company your foreman would ever consider such a thing," the Marine wrote.

Significantly enough, service "fringe" benefits most civilians associate with military life—the post change and the commissary were not mentioned in any of the nearly 100 statements filed by the policy board.

While the statement did not point any particular aspect of service life or career benefit, the overall picture of factors may help reenlist officers in outlining a career to Marines whose terms are expiring.

Perhaps the best reason, however, for the statements was concluding remark of the sergeant who wrote a page and a half.

"In closing," he wrote, "I this will give some other something to think about," he says, "I'm getting out."

Collects 108 Diplomas

SSgt. Makes Career Pay Off In Education Opportunities

A staff sergeant from the 2nd Division's Shore Party Battalion received a correspondence course diploma last Wednesday from his commanding officer.

It wasn't anything too special except that it was the 108th diploma that SSgt. Harold F. Standish has received.

Entering the Marine Corps in March, 1947, with nine years of education under his belt, Standish decided that he would make the most of the education opportunities offered him in the service. He saw little chance of ever realizing his ambition of teaching Ancient History unless his schooling was greatly supplemented.

Since 1947, he has successfully completed 108 correspondence courses from eight different institutions. He has taken courses in subjects ranging from Biology to Criminal Investigation. Although his diplomas represent a great many diversified fields, he has specialized in his favorite, Ancient History.

Standish proudly admits that he has completed all the Administrative courses that the Marine Corps Institute has to offer and that he completed them in five months, a record difficult to duplicate. The mastering of these courses will suit Standish for a position in the office management field in civilian life.

He is currently engaged in taking a course in Law from the LaSalle Extension School of Law. This will probably be the hardest of all subjects to date, but Standish is confident about it. In addition to being the hardest, it is also the most expensive course he has taken. It alone costs practically as much as the combined fees for the other courses he has taken or about $250.

The sergeant spends approximately two to six hours a night studying, depending on the difficulty of the subject, and all afternoon Sunday. His diligent application to work has led the Marine Corps Institute to permit him to take as many courses at a time as he desires. Few men are allowed this privilege.

Through his efforts, Sgt. Standish has gained for himself the equivalency of at least two years of college education and has prepared himself for a well-paying job upon return to civilian life.

A DEGREE BY DEGREES—SSgt. Harold F. Standish of the 2nd Division's Shore Party Battalion, proudly displays several of his 108 correspondence school diplomas. He has taken the courses over a period of nine years from eight different institutions.

Pfc Sets New Mark

ABC Record Shattered

An old record was shattered and a new one established when Pfc Sam Kaplan graduated from the Atomic, Biological and Chemical Warfare school last Friday.

Kaplan completed the course with a near perfect average of 99.23 ousting the previous mark set at 98.23 in July, 1956. In obtaining this mark he competed against both officers and enlisted personnel.

The purpose of the ABC School is to instruct on the means and methods of Atomic, Biological and Chemical Warfare and to point out the appropriate defense measures to be taken in each case.

Kaplan is a member of Hq. Co., Hq. Bn., and works with the ABC section of the 2nd Marine Division.

Divvy Association Organized In 'Frisco

All men who at any time served with the 2nd Marine Division are eligible for membership in the Northern California Chapter of the Second Marine Division Association officially organized recently at the Marines' Memorial club in San Francisco.

The principal aims of the Association is the maintenance and enlargement of the Division Memorial Fund, and providing financial assistance for the education of sons and daughters of Marines killed while fighting with the Division.

LIVE WIRE—Pfc James T. Watson, H&S Co., Sixth Marines, re- ceives a diploma and congratulations from the Assistant Division communication officer, Lt. Col. J. B. Hill, upon graduating from the 2nd Division Communication School's Field Message Center Course last Friday. Watson's graduating was unique in that he headed the 111-man class with a near-perfect average of 99.12.

Divvy Comm School Posts High Average At Graduation

The Division Birthday last week was also graduation day for 111 men of the 2nd Division Communication School's Field Wire, Radio, and Message courses.

First to graduate this year, the men posted an overall 86.09 average and won congratulations from many Division Communication officials.

High averages for the four courses are as follows: 99.12 for the Field Message Center Course made by Pfc James T. Watson, H&S Company, Sixth Marines; 94.90 for the Field Radio Operators Course made by Pfc Robert C. Barrier, H&S Company, Eighth Marines; 93.50 for the first Field Wire Course made by Pfc Henry J. McGillicuddy Jr., H&S Company, Eighth Marines; and 90.95 for the second Field Wire Course made by Pfc Jack D. Richardson, 3rd Bn., Tenth Marines.

All four - week courses, the schools specialized in various departments of field communications. The radio operators course provided instruction in voice procedure, preventative maintenance, and field radio training.

Message center course offered operation of teletype machines, procedure, typing message preparation, security, map reading, and field exercises. The two wire courses featured tactics and techniques of field wire installation, operation, maintenance of field telephone and teletype equipment, and switch- board operating procedure.

Guest speaker for the ceremony, Lt. Col. J. B. Hill, assistant Division communications officer, spoke to the combined classes on the importance of communicators. He also commended the students and advised them to use their knowledge and training every day.

The men were transferred to communication sections within their units upon completion of commencement exercises.

Alabama Names 4 Insurance Agencies Put In Receivership

Four insurance companies with home offices in the State of Alabama have been placed in the receivership by the circuit court there. Their policies have been cancelled, the Navy Department was informed.

The superintendent of insurance for the State of Alabama informed the Naval authorities that the Trans- American Insurance Company, Professional Mutual Casualty Company, Inc., Lawyers Fire and Casualty Company and the Legal Mutual Insurance Company have had their policies cancelled by the circuit court.

These companies should not be confused with companies having similar names operating under the laws of other states. Commanding Officers were instructed to give wide distribution to personnel insuring with these companies in order that they may take appropriate action to obtain new automobile liability insurance.

Three Evacuations Highlight Med Tour

Returning from six months duty as Commander of Amphibious Forces, Sixth Fleet, Brig. Gen. Randall M. Victory, Assistant Division commander, and his staff landed Friday afternoon at Peter- field Point. The general was greeted by Col. T. F. Riley, Chief of Staff, for Maj. Gen. Reginald H. Ridgely, Division commander.

During his tour of duty in the Med, General Victory commanded troops which assisted in the evacuation of citizens from Alexandria, Haifa, and the Gaza Strip. The general's forces participated in an over-all evacuation of nearly 2,000 persons from the three ports.

General Victory also directed embarkation proceedings aboard the Cambria which went to Gaza and evacuated 24 members of the UN truce team during the Arab- Israeli fighting. When the Israelis had assumed control of the strip, members of the truce team were again set ashore to resume nego- tiations.

Second To None

Subject Variety Offered At MCSS

(This is the first in a series of three articles about service schools available at Montford Point)

By SGT. JAMES V. GRAHAM
GLOBE Staff Writer

Marine Corps Supply Schools at Montford Point, second only to MCS, Quantico, in size, but second to none in quality, operates on a year-round basis turning out trained personnel for all major commands in the Marine Corps.

The school was moved to Camp Lejeune in 1942, when it was designated as Quartermaster Battalion. It retained that title until January, 1947, when it was re-designated as Supply Schools Battalion.

The school site was moved to its present location at Montford Point following the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

The name of the school was officially changed to its present designation of Marine Corps Supply Schools in August of 1954.

The school operates on a tight schedule and the student's time is outlined prior to arrival.

School hours are from 7:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on weekdays and from 7:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. on Saturdays. However, all is not work as the school includes recreational activities in its schedule with each student participating.

Supply Schools has three major school companies in its curriculum with several attached units.

The Food Service School is the only one of its type in the Marine Corps with the exception of special classes conducted by parent organizations.

Supply Schools Company is the outgrowth of the old Quartermaster School and still retains practically the same overall mission. This unit trains a large percentage of supply and disbursing officers in the Marine Corps and also handles a number of Staff NCO's trained in stock accounting and warehousing.

The Motor Transport School is also the only one of its kind in the Marine Corps. This school graduated about 1,100 men during FY 1956 and has a present enrollment of 280 students, of which 20 are company grade officers.

Five courses are taught at this school with subjects ranging from basic operation of a vehicle through motor transport operations from the battalion level.

The school has an instructor's staff of 60 with Maj. George G. Abadie as officer in charge.

Sergeants and below receive 13 weeks' instruction in the automotive mechanics course which covers engines, carburetion and ignition, brakes and chassis, hydraulics and preventive maintenance. Staff NCO's receive 19 weeks' instruction in this course with schooling slanted toward a more advanced level.

Tactical operations and problems, such as transport operations in a war zone, stream fording and convoy driving under air attacks are some of the subjects covered in the courses for officers. The Motor Transport course for company grade officers is of 17 weeks' duration and the special officers' course for field grade officers lasts 11 weeks.

In the stream-fording phase of the course, a vehicle is prepared so that it can operate while completely submerged. An eight-hour familiarization course is given on the operation and maintenance of the famed "Otto." This is in conjunction with the above course and with amphibious doctrines of the Marine Corps.

A five-week course on vehicle operation is taught at the request of FMFLant and is begun only when enough personnel are assembled. This class covers basic driving, convoy driving and night or blackout driving.

Each Marine that is graduated from the Motor Transport School at Montford Point has the professional knowledge that is required to maintain the mechanized efficiency of the Corps.

CAMEL CORPS—1st Lts. J. J. Barry and J. V. Walsh, 3rd Bn. (Reinf.), Second Marines, prepare to leave the USS Thuban with their camel saddles shortly after the ship docked at Morehead City Thursday. The 3rd Battalion returned from six months' duty in the tense Mediterranean area.

THREE IN A ROW—Sgt. Robert E. Carver of Casual Co., Hq. Bn., MCB, receives his third meritorious promotion in a row. Carver was awarded a third stripe because of his efficiency in duties. Col. R. K. Miller, commanding officer of Hq. Bn., makes the presentation.

RECOMMENDED FOR MEDAL—Sgt. Bryan L. Green is congratulated by Colonel Shuford, left, commanding officer of the 2nd Composite Service Group, and by Lt. Colonel Lee, commanding officer of Supply Bn., for his heroic action and presence of mind when he pulled a man off a live wire. The colonel is taking action to have the Naval and Marine Medal for Heroism awarded to Sgt. Green.

Reenlistment Figure Upped 10 Percent

A steady increase in the number of Marines who chose to remain in the Corps has raised Marine Corps Base reenlistment figures nearly 10 per cent in the last year.

During 1956, the reenlistment rate rose steadily from a mark of 22 per cent in January to a final mark of 34 per cent in December. The average rate of reenlistment through the year was 31.7 per cent.

The percentage is based on the number of Marines reenlisting from the number who are eligible to remain in the Corps.

High months in the stepped-up program to keep trained Marines in the Corps were April with 35 per cent and October with 35.9 per cent.

Lowest month was September, when the percentage dipped to 23.8 per cent.

The percentages show that Marine Corps Base is climbing toward the goal desired by Headquarters, Marine Corps. Forty per cent reenlistment is the announced goal of the Corps in its shipping over campaign.

Indications are that the Base program is continuing to rate high. A percentage of 34 per cent was reached in January, 1957, or 10 per cent higher than a comparable month last year.

Reenlistment percentages from Marine Corps Base through the year are: January 32.0; February 28.1; March 23.0; April 35; May 31.8; June 27.7; July 31.9; August 32.7; September 23.8; October 35.9; November 32, and December 34.

Pay And Allowance Course Available To Disbursing Men

The Marine Corps Institute, realizing that such a complex field as disbursing poses many problems to the average Marine, have released a new course entitled Pay and Allowances (01.11).

Primarily designed for Staff NCO's, it has extensive value for administrative personnel performing duties associated with disbursing.

Composed of six lessons, the course emphasizes practicability, and acquaints the student with general information regarding pay and allowances, travel, allotments, rates of pay and allowance of enlisted personnel, regulations governing registration and stoppage of allotments and basic allowance for quarters.

The only prerequisite required for enrolling in the course is that the student enclose, with his application, a statement from his commanding officer, certifying that the publications not furnished by the Marine Corps Institute will be made available for the student for study purposes.

Red Cross Reports On Aid To Marines

The annual report of assistance extended to Marines of Camp Lejeune was issued this week by Ira Lay, Red Cross Field Director here.

The report stated that the local Red Cross center handled 8,957 cases during 1956 involving Lejeune personnel. Of this total, financial assistance was given to 1503 personnel, totalling $79,449.

The Red Cross chapter also served the Marines by sending 10,847 messages on teletype. These messages were sent to all Red Cross chapters in the United States and foreign possessions.

The local chapter was instrumental in conducting two classes in water safety. Personnel instructed in these classes conducted 20 more classes in their parent organizations for non-swimmers.

From November, 1921, to March, 1922, the Marines proved so effective at guarding the mail and preventing robberies that after March, they were no longer needed for this purpose.

Short Round

Something back-fired for a senior NCO at Engineer School last week. He was to deliver a lecture to a group of self-preservation and chose judo for this subject. Trying away from boring lectures, he decided to demonstrate, with of another NCO, various grips and holds. The two practice practiced until it was down pat; the instructor was to throw the other man would do the throwing. Things went fine during the. The instructor learned to roll with the throw, landing unhurt on the mats. Came time for the actual class and the instructor came up behind the NCO to be thrown. Grabbing the instructor NCO forgot it was just a class, whipped the other man on shoulders and heaved him on the ground. It was a beautiful move but the instructor apparently didn't favor it. His selection next class will be, "Cold Weather Clothes and Their Protection."

Treasure Island's Marines exchanged views with "Miss Embassy Guard" a short time ago. The talented 21-year-old actress-vocalist, Margaret Reardon, viewed the base, while the Marines viewed beautiful Miss Reardon. From Melbourne, Australia, she was selected by Marines in Paris, who chose her title. She is expected to ink a recording contract here in the States.

Divvy MSgt. Ships For S Reached The First Plate

A young recruit pondering the possibilities of making a career out of the Marine Corps might well question MSgt. S. Whitehouse, Hq. Bn., 2nd Division, on the advantages of the career.

The sergeant is an avid booster of the career program offered to enlisted personnel. This is proved by his recent signing for six more years which will give him a total of 27 years in the Marine Corps upon completion.

When asked if he would be a career Marine if he could relive his life, his reply in the affirmative left no room for doubt. "I have probably made more money in the Marine Corps than I could have in civilian life as I have no technical training. I am well satisfied with my time spent in the Corps and the training I have received here will equip me for a good civilian job."

A member of the Marine Corps since 1935, Whitehouse is currently serving as supply chief for Headquarters Battalion. Including four years in the Navy, he has served a total of 25 years in the Armed Forces.

Entering the Navy in 1924 as a hospitalman, Whitehouse served at Newport, R. I. He attended Pharmacist's Mate School and upon graduation was sent to the Naval hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y. He ended his Naval enlistment aboard the USS Dobbin in 1928.

After seven years of civilian life, Whitehouse enlisted in the Marine Corps. Since 1935 he has served at a variety of posts and stations on both East and West Coasts. He left the United States for the first time in 1938 for two years of duty in China. During this time he witnessed the Japanese invasion of

WM Maneuvers

By CPL. JEAN DAVIS

This week's column is submitted in the form of an absentee ballot, coming your way from Mess Hall 54. Between meals, one has enough time to snoop around and find out all that's happening in the company, but for some reason all's quiet on the WM home-front and not much news has seeped in through the chowhall doors.

CPL. DAVIS

One discharge, Pfc Frances Jones, and one joining, Pvt. Patricia M. Fraser of Artesia, Calif., have taken place within the past week.

When the 13th of this month rolls around, with it comes the 14th Anniversary of the Woman Marines. WM Company, Camp Lejeune, N. C., will be celebrating along with all the Woman Marines over the country, from New York City to Honolulu, from El Toro, Calif., to Paris, France.

In our own little corner of the map, WM Company will celebrate this anniversary with a special meal in the messhall and a party at the Central Area Service club.

CAKE-CUTTING CEREMONY—Albert J. Ellis, left, chairman of the local USO Operating Committee, joins Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, Base commanding general and vice-chairman of the committee, in the cake-cutting ceremonies at the USO's 16th anniversary celebration in Jacksonville last Sunday.

McAlpin - Norrish Get Posts With FRA Here

Two members of the recently-activated Camp Lejeune branch, Fleet Reserve Association, have been named to national committees in this career Navy-Marine Corps organization.

LT. McALPIN

Sergeant Major, a member of the Navy and Patriotic Holidays Com-mittee.

A former enlisted man in both the Navy and Marine Corps, Lieuten-ant McAlpin will help formulate and recommend policies for treatment of retired and Fleet Reserve personnel and their fami-lies. His commit-tee also works for better relations between patients and Naval and VA hospitals.

In the future, if civilian medi-cal facilities are made available to retired personnel and families, the committee's work will be enlarged to cover this new phase of medical care.

MSgt. Norrish and his commit-tee will help in the planning of proper publicity for commemora-tion of all patriotic holidays to keep the traditions and deeds of the Navy and Marine Corps before the American public.

Home Agent To Deliver Lecture

This month the Home Demon-stration agent is offering an illus-tration of special interest to all service wives at the USO Club, 9 Tallman St.

The demonstration is entitled "Better Meals For Your Money", and will take place on Wednesday, February 13, at 10 a.m.

The service wives are cordially invited to attend and to bring their children if necessary. Facilities will be provided to care for the children.

Officers' Wives Clubs Schedule Weekly Meetings; Reservations Can Be Made

Group I of the Officers' Wives club will hold its monthly luncheon on Valentine Day, February 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the River room of the Paradise Point Club. Wives of the Naval Medical Field Re-search Laboratory officers will be hostesses for the day.

There is no planned program so that a social hour can be held.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. A. J. Fristoe at 6-6572. Sitting service reservations should be made at least 24 hours in advance by calling 6-6723.

Group IV of the Officers' Wives club will hold their February luncheon at the Paradise Point club on February 12 with social hour from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. and luncheon to be served promptly at 1 p.m.

Wives of the Second Service Regiment will sponsor the luncheon. Miss Mary Wilson of the Caro-lina Power and Light Company will give a cooking demonstration.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Harlan Cooper at 6-6492 or Mrs. Charles Westbrook, Jville 6662. Reservations for the luncheon must be made or cancelled 24 hours before date of luncheon. Reservations not filled must be paid for. A chit system has been set up for payment of luncheon whereby members may sign chits and have luncheon charged to club bill.

Wives desiring to use the chit system must have the husband's membership number.

Sitting service is available by calling 6-6723 in advance.

An interesting program is planned for the Group VI luncheon to be held on Wednesday, Febru-ary 13, in the River room of the Paradise Point club. There will be a "Get Acquainted" hour from 12 noon until 1 p.m., and lunch will be served at 1 p.m.

First Battalion, Eighth Marines is sponsoring the luncheon, and reservations should be in prior to noon Monday, February 11, by calling Mrs. Rodger T. Smith, Jville 3326

TT Teen-Agers To Aid Polio With Bop

"Walk with Salk, so you can rock 'n roll," is the slogan of North Carolina's Polio Fund raising drive. Members of the Tarawa Terrace Tenn-Age club are all for the idea.

Starting at 4 p.m., tomorrow night at the Tarawa Terrace Community Center, the Teen-Agers are holding a dance, turning all proceeds over to the Base polio drive.

The Deacon Demons are donating their time for the cause, and will let loose with the latest in bop and rock.

Admission will be 50 cents per person, with all, regardless of age, invited to attend. Refreshments will be available at the dance.

The idea for the dance was originated by the Teen-Agers, submitted as a written request to the commanding general, who approved it, and the first note of music will be heard at 4 p.m., lasting until 7 p.m.

They Are Marines

This seems to be the season of the year for celebrations. Last week it was the Division birthday and the anniversary of the United Service Organizations. Next week, part of the Marine Corps celebrates another birthday. It is the 14th anniversary of the Woman Marines.

We feel that no greater tribute can be paid a service woman than to call her a Marine. There was a good deal of criticism when it was decided that our female counterparts would carry the same title as the men. The consensus seemed to be that the title "Marine" was synonymous with battle-field laurels, and, after all, how does a woman fit into such a picture?

It can be safely said that if it hadn't been for the Woman Marines, many a platoon in World War II and Korea would have turned up short. Their motto during the war years was "free a Marine to fight" and this they did and did well. In certain fields of work, they do their jobs much better than their male counterparts. They stand duty-watches, police details, parades and have their share of harassment the same as any other Marine.

Next Wednesday, the women in Barracks 60 and 62 celebrate their 14th anniversary. We would like to take this opportunity to say, "We're glad to have you aboard, Marines."

Awards

As a stripe displays rank and a "hash" mark time in service, a personal decoration, ribbon or medal awarded also commands respect.

Whether it is a Marksman badge or a higher personal decoration, the award should be worn, and worn with pride for it shows that something was done and done right when needed.

Here on the Base, many men look sharp and squared away at all times, but something noticeable is lacking from their uniforms. No matter how sharp the crease, or how glossy the shine, a uniform without medals or ribbons on a man has a decided barren look.

True, there are many men who entered the service too late to be awarded any of the ribbons for Korea, or too late to be presented the National Defense. Then, too, some did fail to qualify on the rifle range. It happens.

The main point is that awards are made for a purpose. They show that the Marine Corps appreciates the effort that was put forth by the individual.

There is another purpose behind the presentation of an award. They encourage other Marines to expend extra effort so that they, too, may someday wear a personal decoration. This second purpose is sadly defeated when Marines keep their awards buried in the bottom of a seabag.

Driving Courtesy

Why not try a little more courtesy on the highway next time you're in the driver's seat? It costs so little and can save so much. As a pedestrian, most of us make courteous gestures to one another in our daily encounters.

It might be a greeting, a salute or a tip of the hat. Even in a busy doorway, one person will usually step aside to let another pass, if only to avoid physical contact.

How much safer our highways would be if we would use more of that policy when we get behind the wheel of a car. Think of the physical contact that might be prevented between precious lives and expensive cars.

Next time a car attempts to pass, a sensible gesture would be to ease off the accelerator, and help it get by. Until the other car is safely by, both cars are in a dangerous spot.

On most cars, a flick of the finger will show where you are going to drivers in front of you and in the rear. And most drivers will appreciate and respect your signal.

Many attempts at hand signals indicate nothing more than the fact that the driver's window is cranked down. A little more effort on the part of us, the driving public, will help protect all.

THE BIG PAYOFF—A check for $10,600 is the source of the big smiles on the two individuals above. Col. R. M. Wood, left, commanding officer of the Tenth Marines, is presenting the check to MSgt. Joseph M. Sullivan. MSgt. Sullivan reenlisted for two years last Wednesday, after 18 years of satisfactory service. The check is the result of years of saving in the Marine Corps Bank and Sgt. Sullivan's reenlistment bonus.

The Old Corps

Ten Years Ago This Week
Secretary of State Marshall last Wednesday abandoned all hope of peaceful mediation of China's Civil war and gave the command to withdraw all U. S. Marine forces from the war-torn country. Recall of the Marines will ease increasing tension between the U. S. and Soviet Russia in that area.

Fifteen Years Ago This Week
Maj. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, who commanded the Marines in their heroic stand against the Japs in Guadalcanal, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor by President Roosevelt last Friday in Washington.

The new Staff NCO club opened in Bldg. 125 at Hadnot Point. The club is the same type of building as the regular Service Men's club, and has the approval of the Post Council.

PTA MEETING

The Midway Park Parent-Teachers Association will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Midway Park school auditorium.

John H. Bender, District Principal of Jacksonville schools, will speak on "The North Carolina Schools and the PTA."

Small Print 'Large' In Sales Contracts

North Carolina conditional sales contracts offer practically no protection to the buyer, according to 1st Lt. Donald W. Winne, Base legal assistance officer.

Lieutenant Winne stated that Marines should examine the small print usually found on the back of the contract. Most of the dealers provisions are found here and the majority of Marines purchasing a car never read these clauses.

Some of the conditional sales contracts provide for immediate repossession by the dealer if the Marine is late at all with the payments. The dealer can repossess by the self-help method which means the dealer can take the automobile almost any way possible.

Simply giving the vehicle back to the dealer does not clear up the contract and the Marine is still liable for the debt even though the car is in possession of the dealer, Lieutenant Winne said.

The Marine can also be billed for any repairs needed on the automobile and for all expenses incurred by the dealer in the repossession act.

Lieutenant Winne further stated that it is often too late for the legal office to be of any help once the car is actually repossessed.

SCOUT WEEK SERVICE

To climax Scout Week (February 6-12) there will be a special service held at the Camp Protestant Chapel at 9 a.m. on February 10.

Explorers, Boy Scouts, and Cub Scouts from Camp Lejeune Troops 90, 190, and 390 and Cub Packs, 90, 190 and 390 will participate.

Chaplain Daniel G. Stone, Assistant Base Chaplain, will present the service. The scouting message will be by Chaplain E. Vaughn Lyons, Jr., Senior Protestant Chaplain, Marine Corps Base.

KEY TO YOUR FUT

The most important thing in your life is not immediate success, but a successful goal. Put it in plainer words, what you want and to get it.

The difference between success and failure is the difference of goals. St. Paul framed the pattern of a future: "Forgetting those things which are behind . . . I will press forward to the mark." In a race of life there are goals won which can be won, we stick to it. The Olympic Athlete may not break the world's record but the goal beckons makes a great, unknown, athlete out of him.

Success is not a momentary victory, but a pattern of achievement. So many, instead of exhausting their own abilities, wish we something or someone. Success is the old adage "a quitter never wins, and a winner never quits."

If you refuse to quit when the odds are against you—it is then they begin to be a winner. The code of an American Fighting essentially this "stick-to-it-against-everything." It is the code of every successful man in life.

The failures of the most successful men would break the ser men in our society. The son that great men become is not, as most people think, a chain of successes that lead to another chain of success. It is rather a chain of failures gotten that made them swing into the deep to press on the mark. So, forget your mistakes or failures and out your chest to press on your mark.

Woman Marines To Celebrate Anniversary

Woman Marines, from Hawaii to Italy and Germany, will observe their 14th anniversary next Wednesday.

Woman Marines have been part of the Regular armed forces since 1948, but celebrate the first enlistment of Reserves on Feb. 13, 1943, as their birth. That date signifies the women's answer to the Leathernecks' appeal to "free a Marine to fight", and some of them have remained in uniform.

Since their first director, Major Ruth Cheney Streeter, to the present director of Woman Marines, Col. Julia Hamblet, many women from all parts of the country and territories of the U. S. have passed through the rigors of recruit training, this training first taking place at Hunter college in New York City, later at Camp Lejeune and presently at Parris Island, S. C.

Woman Marines are serving at all major Leatherneck posts and stations and in reserve and recruiting district headquarters, not to mention various duty station in Europe and Hawaii.

They are being assigned almost every type of non-combat duty, including motor transport, maintenance, supply, photographic duties and even some phases of aviation.

There are now approximately 2,600 Woman Marines, regular and reservists, who will meet in cities, towns, bases and posts from New York to Honolulu to celebrate this 14th anniversary.

CONFERENCE . . . WITH CHESTY—Chesty, the WM Company mascot, is here during his weekly meeting with the high command. Capt. Mary Sue O of WM Co.; 2nd Lt. Barbara Boyd, executive officer, and MSgt. Oliva First Sergeant, seem to be in complete agreement with Chesty.

COMPANY OFFICE—Pfc Joan Kazalonis, left, Pfc Margaret Petrucelli and Pvt. Catherine Nellis handle administrative details for the WM Company in the office. This office functions practically the same as any military office and with the same efficiency. All matters are given strict and prompt attention by the office personnel.

WAS NEVER LIKE THIS—WM's find that housecleaning is different in the Marines than at home. Here, Cpl. Barbara Boyd, left, and Pfc Dian Huston get their equipment ready to clean blinds in the barracks during the weekly field day.

READY FOR INSPECTION—Pfc Betty Maupin proudly stands at attention, ready for inspection by her commanding officer. WM's are required to stand inspections weekly.

—The technical meaning for T. A. L. may be Training Aids but when it comes to Pfc Wanda M. Laddeck it should be used to read Talent At Large. Wanda, who works in the art of Training Aids, shows how Old English lettering to use in the construction of a letter of appreciation plaque the making.

DISHPAN HANDS—Pvt. Dorothy Colgan doesn't seem to be worrying about dishpan hands, as she cleans some cups in the messhall during her turn of mess duty. WM's below the rate of sergeant usually catch this duty once a year.

SSGT. HARRY DUKE

GOOD SHOW—Tomorrow and Saturday nights, Lejeune cage fans will be in for a treat when Ft. Jackson invades the local court for a two-game series with the Marines.

Jackson, loaded with plenty of ex-college players, have already trounced the locals twice this season by 100-83 and 74-59 wins, but the games this weekend may be a different story.

Although the locals offered no excuses for the two losses, they were playing without the services of three of their top players. Jack Beck missed the first game, and Terry Telligman and Marv Leggett were absent from the second game. With these three key players in the lineup this week, Jackson could be in for a surprise.

JACKSON STARS—Scheduled to see action with the Eagles will be Darrel Floyd and Rudy D'Emilio. These two lads, backed by other terrific performers, give the Eagles a strong squad.

Floyd, 6'1" 180-pounder, was the talk of the nation during the 1954-55 and 1955-56 seasons when he was playing with Furman university.

During the above seasons with Furman, Floyd, among other things, was the team captain, All-Conference, All-Southern, Conference most outstanding player two years, athlete of the year in the Southern Conference, and made the All-

American team in his junior and senior years.

He was also the nation's leading scorer in 1954-55 and 1955-56, and set a tournament record in the Southern Conference with 43 points.

D'Emilio, another great player, starred for four years at Duke university where he captained the team. He was selected on the Atlantic Coast Conference team for three years and the All-Southern once.

These two boys, along with Lejeune's Beck, Laketa and Telligman, should give Lejeune cage fans something to talk about for a long time.

Marines Drop Flyers 84-66

In a game played at Goettge Memorial field house last Tuesday night, Lejeune defeated Shaw AFB, 84-66, running their season record to 19 wins against 12 setbacks.

This victory put the Marine cagers one game over last year's win record of 18.

In a game earlier this season, the Lejeune quintet clipped the wings of the Flyers, 100-66.

After the opening tipoff, Andy Juhl, Shaw's forward, sank two free throws to put the Flyers in the lead 2-0. This lead was short-lived as Lejeune's leading scorer, Don Laketa, pumped in one from back court to put the Marines on their way.

The first half of the show was run exclusively by Lejeune and the period ended 41-39 in their favor.

In the second stanza each team exchanged buckets until the last 10 minutes when Lejeune exploded for 30 points, while holding Shaw to a mere 13.

Jack Beck, with his velvet touch, pumped his way to the top of the scoring column with 24 points on 10 field goals and four free throws.

Shaw's commander on the scoring ledger was Andy Juhl, netting 19 counters on six field goals and seven free throws.

Cagers Split Four Game Road Trip Win Over Duke Frosh, Fort Eustis

Camp Lejeune's cagers returned home last Tuesday after a four-day road trip saw them split a four-game series, posting wins over Duke freshmen and Ft. Eustis and feats at Eustis and Little Creek.

On the first leg of the trip, the Marine cagers locked horns with the Duke university freshmen squad and came away with a 75-63 win as Jack Beck, Lejeune's leading scorer, went on a 33-point rampage. Beck, hitting from all over the court, garnered 11 field goals and 11 foul shots of 13 attempts.

After a 36-33 lead at the half, Lejeune turned on the steam and collected 35 points while holding Duke to 21 during the first 10 minutes of the second half and then coasted the rest of the way for the win.

Lejeune then traveled to Ft. Eustis, Va., to engage the Eustis Wheels in a two-game series and had to settle for a split in two close games, losing the first, 88-84, and winning the second 87-85.

In the first meeting the two teams traded basket for basket during most of the game, and before the final buzzer had sounded the score was knotted 16 times.

Ft. Eustis held a slim, one-point, 47-46 lead at halftime but increased it to three points after the start of the second and managed to stay ahead until the final whistle sounded.

John Keshock, 6'5" center formerly of John Carroll university, led the scoring parade with nine field goals and five charity tosses for a 23-point total. He was hard pressed by Lejeune's Jack Beck, who threw in 21 markers on seven field goals and seven foul shots.

The second meeting between the two teams proved almost a replay of the first. Except, this time the Marines walked off the court with the win when Jack Beck got fouled with just one second remaining on the clock and the score tied, 85-85. Beck, always accurate at the foul line, sank both shots for the win.

Terry Telligman, Lejeune's center, came through with his finest scoring effort of the season to take the game's scoring honors with 27 points. Happy Nahfouz led the Wheels with 25.

Before returning home, the Marines stopped off at Little Creek and dropped an 85-77 decision to the Gators.

Moving into the lead on the tip-off, Lejeune stayed a couple of jumps ahead of the Sailors. After 10 minutes of play the Marines held a 26-19 advantage and managed to stay in front at halftime by a 50-45 margin.

In the second half, the Gators let loose with a bombardment of field goals that snowed under the Marines, and went on to take the win.

Center Terry Telligman was high for Lejeune with 19 markers. Don Laketa and Jack Beck followed with 18 and 17 respectively.

Two players from Little Creek tied for high game honors. Terry Cumming and Jim Ward each posted 20 points.

Tri-Command Keg Meet Set For February 12-16

The Tri-Command Intramural Bowling Championship will be held February 12-16 at Area No. 1 Service club.

Winners and runners-up of each command's tournament, currently being run, will qualify for the Tri-Command championship.

The team with the highest total amount of pin fall for the four-day meet will be declared champions.

Each command will enter two five-man teams with two alternates. Special Service officers of each command will designate teams 1 and 2 and submit a roster of each team to the Base Athletic Officer prior to February 8.

Team composition will be limited to 50% officers, although there is no limit to the number of officers that can play at one time.

HOG-TIED—Mel Roach (14) has the ball, but Lejeune's Terry Telligman and Don Laketa (53) make sure that he can't do anything. Roach holds the Goettge Memorial field scoring record, scoring 41 points in a single game last year. Lejeune dropped this to the 'Gators of Little Creek during last week's road trip.

MCB Lead Knotted

Headquarters Tumble MCB From Unbeaten Ranks 52-

In probably the best played MCB intramural basketball game to date, Hq. Bn. edged a very strong MCSS five knocking the loop leaders from the ranks of the undefeated.

The win by Headquarters avenged an earlier loss to the Supply Schools squad and threw both teams into a two-way tie for the loop lead. Both teams now sport a 12-1 record.

Supply School, led by guard Charlie Holmes, jumped to a quick four-point lead but fine outside shooting by Billy Green and excellent rebounding by Malcolm Potts enabled Headquarters to stay within reach.

The first half ended with Supply Schools in front by two points, 25-23, with Holmes hitting for 12 points.

In the second half, Dave Jensen, given the task of guarding Holmes, came up with a tremendous defensive effort by holding the high-scoring Holmes to two points, which proved a deciding factor in the win. Potts, continuing with his top rebounding work, on both the offensive and defensive boards, aided the cause by holding John Mills to four points.

The big gun in the Headquarters attack was Billy Green, who netted 20 points to take the game's high-scoring honors. He was followed by Potts and Jensen with 17 and 14 points respectively.

Charlie Holmes led the losers with 14 and John Mills followed with 12.

In other games played last week, the Rifle Range gained a win over Engineer School Bn. while losing two games to Service Bn. and MCSS.

Opening with Service Bn., the Rifleman lost a heart-breaking 44 decision at the foul line fouled as the final buzzer sounded and the score at 45-44, a chance to win the game in two shots or at least the game into an overtime by one. With the pressure missed both.

Reynolds of Service Bn. all scorers with 29 points. James netted 19 for the cause.

In their second game last night, RR jumped back into the umn with a 63-39 win over Engineer School Bn. as three hit double figures.

Led by L. R. Lecce, H. and J. G. Keiser, who hit 10 and 10 points respectively, flemen held a 33-25 half-time and were never in serious J. D. Knight led the losers points and W. G. Swenken tributed 11.

MCSS, still smarting from first loss of the season, took on the Rifle Range the next game and showed no mercy as they romped 71-33 win.

Pouring on the steam after opening whistle, Supply took a quick 20-5 advantage had no trouble in moving to lead at the half.

Top scoring honors went to Supply Schools' Miller with 14, John Mills and Charlie Chippin with 13 each. Johnson and J. G. Keiser, losers with nine and seven respectively.

MCB Table Tennis Tourney March 4-8

According to Base Bulletin 1710, the MCB Intramural Table Tennis tourney will be held March 4-8 at Goette Memorial field house.

Each unit will hold its own tournament to determine the winners who will represent them in the MCB tourney.

A roster of the men for singles and a roster of two-man teams will be submitted by each Base unit to the Base Athletic officer prior to February 28.

Base Special Services will furnish all equipment for the tourney except personal equipment which will consist of white-soled tennis shoes.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners-up in both singles and doubles competition.

Division Cage Roundup

Divvy Cagers Wind Up Intramural Season; Prep For Tourney Monday

Paced by playmaker Bill Price's second half scoring spree, 3rd Bn. upset 2nd Bn., 56-51, in the feature game of the Tenth Marines' Intramural Basketball League, January 30, at the Area 5 gym.

The surprising defeat by 2nd Bn. handed Regt. H&S the championship and a playoff berth in the Division Basketball Tournament.

Overcoming a 23-22 halftime deficit, 3rd Bn. raced to an eight-point lead early in the final quarter chiefly on the outside shooting of Price. A 6-2 forward, Price tallied 20 markers, to shatter any championship hopes for the losers.

Center Ken Lutton kept the losers in contention throughout by tallying 25 points for high game honors.

In other contests played last week, Regt. H&S walloped 2nd Bn., 76-64, and 3rd whipped 1st Bn., 72-60.

Second Bn. swept to its ninth consecutive victory in the Eighth Marines' competition, defeating Composite Bn., 85-42.

With the scoreboard reading 44-22 at halftime, Don Dawson, Ulysses Grant and Don Lindsay combined their scoring talents to roll up a 25-point spread at the third quarter mark.

Dawson poured in 24 points for individual honors while Grant and Lindsay tallied 20 and 18 markers respectively. Roy Dennison topped the losers with 18.

A late second half scoring surge provided 1st Bn. with a 54-59 win over Provisional Monday afternoon and top position in the hectic Second Marines race.

Behind 25-20 at the halfway point, forward Bill Stein and guard Doug Press rallied the winners to a five-point lead in the last two minutes of play.

Stein finished with 20 markers, while Press collected 16. Bob Mollie mustered 13 points with Larry Cantwell, runner-up, tallying 10 for the losers.

In the final game in Group II

8th Engineers Hold Staff NCO Keg Lead; End First Half Play

Eighth Engr. Bn., Force Troops, who took over the lead in the Staff NCO Bowling league last week, continued their rampage and defeated 2nd Topo Co., 3-1, to remain atop the standings as league play reached the halfway mark.

In winning, the Engineers took two of the three games bowled and put together a total pin fall of 2,422 to the losers' 2,383.

In other games played this week, Serv. Regt. tripped 8th Tanks 3-1, Regt. H&S, Sixth Marines, lost 3-1 to 2nd Service Regiment and four teams split their games 2-2, MP Bn. knotting 2nd MT Bn. and 8th Tanks tying 3rd Bn., Sixth Marines.

Individual weekly honors went to P. J. Phillips of 8th Engineers, who bowled high series with 561, and A. J. Kacar of the MP Bn., who toppled 208 pins for high game.

Team honors went to the MP Bn., who dropped 2,460 for high team series, and 2nd Service Regt., who walked off with the high team game of 867.

High honors for the first half of the season were taken by T. J. Yoesting with a high series of 584, S. T. DeLong, high game, 225, and 8th Engr. Bn., who took both team high series and high game with 2,555 and 942 respectively.

play, 2nd MT Bn. overwhelmed Medical Bn., 96-77, last week at the Area 3 gym.

Motor Transport center, Pete Penlon, tallied 32 markers, while guard Henry Zimmerman registered 26.

Mike Contant of the losers topped all scorers, accumulating 36 points with his deadly outside shooting.

Second Engineers clinched the Group I championship last Friday afternoon, whipping 2nd Tanks, 79-76.

George Gilford collected 30 points for the winners, while forward Johnny Keaton was high man for 2nd Tanks with 29.

The league champions moved into the deciding contest earlier in the week by notching a 65-58 verdict over 2nd Shore Party Bn.

With three players hitting in double figures, 3rd Bn. rolled to its 10th victory of the year by defeating 1st, 77-74, in a Sixth Marines game played last Friday.

Player-coach Tom Hague hit for 28 points, while forward Art

Roschboro and John Martin were runners-up with 20 and 17 respectively.

Gary Gilbert had 26 for the losers, while Gil Jones collected 15 markers.

Third Bn., earlier in the week, edged Provisional, 69-64, after holding a close 35-33 halftime margin.

In probably the finest contest of the week, 1st squeaked past Provisional Bn., 68-67, in a hard-fought game at the Area 1 gym.

Gilbert tallied 18 and Jones and Don Healey 16 and 15 points respectively for the winners. Guard Dick Reynolds topped all players, scoring 24 for the Provisional five.

General Supply Service Co. clinched the 2nd Service Regiment Basketball crown last week, dumping Ordnance, 70-60, avenging an earlier 58-57 setback.

In other league action, Regt. H&S swamped Motor Transport, 67-48, Dental Co. overwhelmed Motor Transport, 60-24, and Regt. H&S displayed a second half scoring drive to submerge Ordnance Co., 56-48.

Group I Belts 6th Marines 3-1 In Divvy Keg Tourney

In one of Camp Lejeune's most heated "alley" battles, Group I (2nd Engineer Battalion) upset present competition standings by defeating a determined Sixth Marines quintet, 3-1, last Tuesday, the second day of the Division Intramural Bowling Tournament.

Paced by Bernie Kaasman and Henry Hayes, the Engineers won the first two of a three-game series by only one point, 785-784 and 822-821, respectively. The Sixth won the last tilt 877-876, but the victors had tallied 2,483 pins over the former's 2,482.

Second day developments in the tournament shows that Group I and the Sixth will vie for Division top bowling awards. Each having only won one scheduled match last Monday.

The Eighth and Tenth Regiments reversed the tables by winning two matches each Tuesday, thus moving Group II and Serv. Regt. to fifth and sixth places, respectively.

Bernie Kaasman rolled 230 to place as the highest individual game winner during the hectic race for the Divvy crown.

Sixth Marines' Herb Hodge led the tournament with high series laurels of a 620 marker which has yet to be broken.

Over a two-day period, other bowlers who might represent the Division in the Camp play-offs are: Sedlak, Joe Dimarco, 2nd Engr.; Johnny Warpole, Herbie Butts, Sixth Marines; Jerry Davison, 2nd Serv. Regt.; and Rudy Flores of the Eighth.

FISH & WILDLIFE

BY THE "OLD ANGLER"

Phone 7-5821

GIGGING FROM BOATS REQUIRE LICENSE—After last week's report on the gigging activities at Swansboro, I received a call informing me about license requirement for those who do their gigging from boats.

It has been brought to my attention that any person who catches fish with nets, by gigging or by any method other than rod and reel must have a boat license.

License fees are based on boat size and here are a few figures that were quoted to me. The license for any boat under 18 feet, both inboard and outboard, cost $2. Over 18 feet, 50 cents a foot up to 25 feet, and from 25 to 30 feet, 75 cents a foot.

With such a license the fisherman has the privilege of selling his catch to fish houses.

The license requirements also apply to all boats in the inland waters, so if you plan to do any gigging you better check up and be sure you know all the dope. It's a lot easier and less costly to pay for a license than it is a fine.

FISHING REPORT—This week's report comes from the Surf City pier. Sgt. Stanly Reed of the Food Service School Co., Montford Point, reported that fishermen at the pier were having a ball with sand sharks last Sunday. A good two dozen were caught within a two-hour period, the biggest about four feet long.

REPAIR WORK—By the way, if you are having trouble with your rods and reels and are looking for a good hand to fix them up, I know just the man. He is the same Stanly Reed mentioned above. Reed has plenty of experience in this type of work, doing a lot of it in Colorado and at Surf City pier. If that reel needs fixing, give him a call now. He can be reached by dialing 9-8130.

WHEELS TURNING—The wheels to get the Fish and Wildlife club back on the track have been set in motion and I thought I was going to have a good report for you this week. But, I won't have any real news until next week's GLOBE.

The reason for the delay is due to the fact that the treasurer of the club is on TAD orders and will not be back until this weekend. A meeting of the club officers has been called for Monday.

I have been assured that I will get a report on the meeting and will pass it on to you via this column next issue.

General Supply Service Company Wins Second Serv. Regt. Crown As Predicted

Last month Eddie Marrier, General Supply Service Company's player-coach, stated, "Our starting five has strong enough scoring potential to provide us with the 2nd Service Regiment basketball championship and a playoff berth in the 1957 Division Tournament."

No truer words were ever spoken by any cage coach.

This past campaign, Gen. Sup. Serv. Co. led the five-team regimental league from the opening whistle, reeling off six victories against only two setbacks. The Supplymen clinched the title by defeating Ordnance, 70-60, last week at the Area 3 gym.

Serving in his first year at the reins of a service team, the prophetic Marrier plays the roving pivot in Supply's four-man offensive weave. The lanky 6'1" 110-pound center paced his teammates in scoring during the regular year, averaging 19 points per contest.

Forward Bill Boyce, a 6'3" 180-pounder, sported a 16.5 mark in the eight league tilts, to hold runner-up position in the team's scoring. Boyce, in the deciding contest against Ordnance Co., tallied 36 markers for individual scoring honors in regimental basketball this campaign.

Manning the other forward slot is Roy Bartholomew, a 6'2" 175-pounder, who is generally assigned to guard the opposition's top point-maker, always turned in a remarkable performance and still managed to maintain a 13-point per game mark this year.

Playmaker on the club is guard Stan Kujawa, a 5'7" speed demon who tallied the majority of his points on the driving layup.

Coach Marrier, when he wishes his team to "freeze" the ball during a close contest, which happened occasionally this past campaign, can always rely on guard Laten Tyler to accomplish this purpose.

The diminutive Tyler, a 5-6 defensive stickout, is an expert dribbler and has been chiefly responsible for the great success of this winning quintet.

Dave Henry, a jumpshot specialist, Norwood Lowman, an above-average defensive player, Frank Oliver, George Neugirge and Ned Fairbanks provide the bench strength which is long on determination but short on actual game experience.

Without question, 2nd Service Regiment will be top contenders in the Division Basketball Tournament to be held February 11-18 at the Goettge Memorial field house.

GOLF SLICES

A Mulligan Tournament, using a full handicap, will be played at Paradise Point No. 1 course this Saturday and Sunday. Players will sign up with the starter on the first tee.

The Carolina Golf Association has just published their 1957 schedule and military personnel have been invited to participate for the second year. Ducky Miller, Paradise Point pro, has applications for any amateur who may be interested.

Cherry Point 'Jets' Here For 2 Games

Camp Lejeune's lady cagers, currently atop the East Coast Woman Marine conference, will host the Cherry Point "Jets" in two conference games this weekend.

The first game will take place Saturday night starting at 6 p.m., preceding the varsity game between Lejeune and Fort Jackson. Sunday's contest will start at 2 p.m.

Lejeune, unbeaten in Marine competition this season, will be seeking their third and fourth victories over the Jets after taking two previous games at Cherry Point by 48-47 and 59-37 scores.

Norfolk NAS Halts WM Cagers 58-49; Stephens Sinks 27

Despite a 27-point effort by Elsie Stephens, Norfolk's NAS Waves took a 58-49 decision over the WM cagers in a game played here last Sunday.

Stephens' 27 points led the scorers of both teams.

The locals stayed close to the Waves in the first half and were behind only one point, 29-28, at halftime.

It was during the third period that Lejeune ran into trouble when they were held to only seven points while the Waves were hitting for 12 to insure the win.

Pauline Piskorik and Carol Cowan scored 16 and 6 points respectively for the losing cause.

Leading scorer for the Waves was Nancy Lewis who gave Stephens a good battle for top honors with 22 points. Rose Valdez and Liz Martin added 17 each for the winners.

Dunderheads Again Lead Loop In OWB

Dunderhead Keglers, pushed out of the top spot last week, didn't like the climate in their third place position and came roaring back to take over the lead of the Officer's Wives Bowling league after another week of play.

Meanwhile, the Hep Cats who enjoyed the top spot for just one week tumbled into a two-way tie with Ten Hopes for second place, each with 39 points in the standings.

The best high average of the weekly matches was a 144, posted by Mrs. Harold Walters of the Hep Cats.

Honors for high game with handicap went to Mrs. Lester Kuehler of the Deadpins with a 200 score. Mrs. Kuehler, using a three-game handicap of 26, rolled a scratch score of 174 to take this department.

Mrs. Henry Hadd, using a 24 handicap (8 points per game), bowled a scratch series of 489 to take the high series with a total score of 513.

Med Battalion Returns With Sea-Bag Of Tales

By TSGT. H. H. HAEBERLE
2nd Division Information Office

Leathernecks of the 3rd Bn. (Reinf.), Second Marines, began settling down to barracks life this week after returning last Friday from the Mediterranean and six months' duty with the Navy's Sixth Fleet.

By mid-week, all attached units and personnel had been transferred to their parent organizations.

Third Battalion Marines played a major role in the evacuation of American and United Nations nationals from Alexandria, Egypt, when the tense Middle East erupted in open war last November.

Relieved by the 2nd Bn., Sixth Marines, at Gibraltar in January, the 3rd Battalion ended their Mediterranean tour of duty where it began almost six months before.

Touring the Old World sea as "good-will ambassadors," the Leathernecks visited such ports of call as Athens and Salonika, Greece; Naples, Italy; Barcelona, Spain, and the French Riviera.

Training in amphibious exercises kept the 3rd Battalion Marines in a tip-top degree of readiness. Amphibious landings were made on the islands of Crete and Sardinia, while an amphibious demonstration for Greek War College students were conducted when the battalion visited Salonika.

Highlighting the battalion's tour of duty in the Mediterranean was the evacuation of some 1,500 American and United Nations nationals from war-torn Egypt.

The battalion had just arrived at Suda Bay, Crete, for training exercises when the order was received to evacuate the civilians. Steaming for Alexandria, Lt. Col. Harry S. Popper's battalion command ship, USS Chilton, along with two other amphibious ships, arrived at the Egyptian port early on the morning of October 31.

Preliminary evacuation arrangements were made by the American Consulate, and as soon as the Marines set up their processing center the next day, the evacuees began boarding the Navy ships.

During the two-and-a-half-day period the ships were in Alexandria, British and French planes bombed the city's airfields and military installations. As Egyptian anti-aircraft guns from nearby ships and shore batteries blasted away at the planes overhead, Navy landing craft shuttled back and forth carrying the men, women and children from the evacuation center to the anchored transports.

After the evacuees were aboard and the ships ready to sail, a message was received from the Egyptian military authorities, claiming the planes had dropped mines in the harbor entrance.

A quick message of inquiry was radioed to the British and French, and during the tense waiting for an answer, Marines and sailors gave their life jackets to the civilians who were not told of the mines. An emphatic negative reply was received, so the ships set sail for Suda Bay, Crete, where the civilians were to board another ship for the next leg of their journey to Naples, Italy.

Upon arrival at Suda Bay, the evacuated families were transferred to an awaiting Military Sea Transport ship. A regular shuttle service was set up as Marines and sailors carried small children and luggage from one ship to the other by landing craft.

At Christmas time, when the 3rd Battalion visited Naples, the Marines renewed acquaintances with many of the evacuees, who were staying in Naples while awaiting permission to return to Egypt.

Following the settling down period after returning last week, the battalion will resume normal training schedules with the Second Marine Regiment.

Let's Read

By JOYCE DUNN

For a starkly, realistic book with no literary pretensions and one which should provide interesting and entertaining reading for all Marines is THE LAST PARALLEL by Martin Russ. It is a Marine's journal of the Korean war covering 13 months the author spent as a corporal with the 1st Division near the Imjin river. His jottings are re-produced almost exactly as he wrote them, providing a portrait of a young man growing to maturity as well as an intimate view of war as seen by the common, gripping foot soldier.

INTERNATIONAL FILM SOCIETY

The fourth film in the series will be shown at the Camp Lejeune High school auditorium February 13 at 8 p.m. The feature is the French film, BEAUTY AND THE DEVIL, a new treatment of the Faust theme, directed by Rene Clair, with the short subject, THE MOOR'S PAVANE, a variation on the theme of Othello, as danced by Jose Limon and group. Admission will be by membership series ticket only. No single admissions will be sold.

Ernest Gann, the author of THE HIGH AND THE MIGHTY, tells an equally suspenseful story of the sea in his latest book, TWILIGHT FOR THE GODS. David Bell, master of the three-masted "Cannibal," stakes all that remains of his career on a voyage from the South Pacific to Mexico with a few paying passengers. The voyage becomes an ordeal of heroism as the ship fights for its life in heavy seas with a mutinous crew.

THE STORY OF GABRIELLE, by Catherine Gabrielson, is the moving true story of a little girl's last days on earth. Lacking in the sentimentalism that books of this type are apt to contain, its power lies in the directness with which Gabrielle meets her crisis, conveying to the reader the comforting reassurance that nothing in life is too great to face.

SSgt. Leddy Given Commendation For Outstanding Work

A decoration given to only a few Marines was awarded SSgt. William F. Leddy Jr. last week in a ceremony at Base Material Co.

Leddy was presented a Letter of Commendation from the Commandant of the Nationalist China Marine Corps for his assistance in setting up a General Supply System for the Chinese Nationalists in Tsuying, Formosa.

Using the U. S. Marine Corps supply system as a guide, Leddy worked at his task from July 1955 until December 1956.

Although he has worked in the supply department for the past six years, this was Leddy's first experience in setting up a complete supply system.

Praises Galore For Local Bugle Corps

Plaudits and praises continue to pile up for the 2nd Marine Division Drum and Bugle Corps.

The latest praise came from Tampa, Fla. Mayor Nick Nuccio proclaimed that the Camp Lejeune-based drummers were a "well organized, precision unit which couldn't be topped" in the annual Gasparilla Pirate Festival held in Tampa last Monday.

Applause rippled through the estimated 100,000 spectators lining the eight-mile parade stretch each time the Drum and Bugle Corps went through one of its unusual routines. And, although the temperature hovered around 90 degrees throughout the march, the Marines were as fresh at the end as they were at the beginning.

Topped only by Mardi Gras in New Orleans, the Gasparilla Pirate Festival annually draws crowds from all over the United States to witness the colorful parade.

Sgt. Major Decides To Try For Thirty

Sgt. Major Walter L. Gibson, HMR-262, has reenlisted for six years. He was eligible for retirement with a total of 19 years four months before going for this next cruise.

One of Sgt. Major Gibson's reasons for shipping over is to further his education, while the sergeants has been in the Marine Corps he has graduated from high school through MCI courses and US-AFI. He is now taking extension courses offered through the University of Alabama, working towards a college degree.

During the years 1944-45 he participated in three major operations, Guam, the Marshall Islands and Okinawa. He received a letter of commendation from the Commandant for distinguished service during combat. He also received the Purple Heart in 1945 at Okinawa.

Sgt. Major Gibson has been attached to MAG-26 since 1952, and to HMR-262 since October, 1954.

Hudson Plays For CT-Pavilion Crowd

Dean Hudson was born into musical parentage, being one of the three sons of T. N. Brown, the famous trumpeter with John Phillip Sousa and later the conductor of the Lake Worth Symphony.

Dean now has, his greatest band and still enjoys the distinction of having played more return engagements at more schools, clubs, and service installations in the East and South than any other single orchestra. He is now known by many as "The Moon Over Miami Man."

One of the newest additions to Dean's orchestra is Mary Lou Martin, a lovely young vocalist who will be featured with him in his appearance here.

Miss Martin is a comparatively new personality in the entertainment world, and little of her background is known.

Hometown Pinup

SHORT AND SWEET—Miss Carol Pepus of Cleveland, Ohio, 16-year-old beauty above. Standing four feet 10 inches tall, weighs 101 pounds, and has brown hair and eyes. She's the heart of Pvt. William E. Jackson. Carol is a straight "A" student at John Adam's High School.

Local favorite Dean Hudson returns to Camp Lejeune next Wednesday night, accompanied by lovely Mary Lou Martin. Hudson's aggregation will play at Marston Pavilion from 9 p.m. until midnight, with hostesses attending from surrounding communities. Prior to the dance, the orchestra will perform at the Camp theater from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.
