Defense Dept. To Allot Some Reserves Mobilization Delays In Future Crises

In the event of future military mobilization caused by national emergency or war, certain Reservists will be allowed mobilization delays recently defined by the Defense Department.

Motivating the new policy is the U. S.'s desire not to cripple production by sudden drafts of essential men in the event of war or cause unnecessary personal hardship. Each delay will not extend more than six months, though some will be renewed.

Six main categories for temporary mobilization deferments have been established. They include men with a "critical occupation" or in a "key position," certain "apprentices," and "students." Also, "certain officials of the government," and men whose mobilization would cause "personal or community hardships" will be granted delays, according to the "Reserve Marine."

In Essential Industries

Men with critical occupations or serving in a key position will receive deferments only if their jobs are classified as being in an essential industry, or if activating such men would impair war production efforts.

Toyland Opening Slated For October 9

Once again Santa Claus is going to be lent a helping hand—namely Toyland—by the Marine Corps Exchange.

Toyland, located in Bldg. 1413 at the junction of East and Dogwood Streets in the Industrial Area, will open for business October 9.

Business hours will be Tuesdays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2 until 6 p.m. On Saturdays it will be open from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. and from 2 until 5 p.m.

1st Division Troops Try Metal Chevrons

A new metal chevron rank insignia is being worn by enlisted men of the 1st Division for 60 days in order to determine whether to accept it throughout the Corps.

Black, with a clutch-type fastener, the new insignia will be worn on cap, helmet, collar or shoulder, as appropriate, in the same manner as the officer rank insignia is worn.

Deferments will go to apprentices who meet the below qualification, among others: they must be preparing for a critical job in an essential industry; at the time of call they must have completed at least 2000 hours of such apprenticeship training; and they must require at least 4000 hours more training.

A Reservist who is a student may receive a delay if he is selected for enrollment or continuance in an approved training program; or if he is pursuing a full-time research program in a technical field. (See DEFENSE DEPT., Page 2)

Exchanges Here Shutting Up Shop For Inventories

Saturday exchange facilities here will start closing for their quarterly inventories. All facilities will be reopened for business by October 3.

Closing Saturday will be the Central Exchange, Central Annex, and Men's Shop. These exchange activities will reopen October 2.

The accessory and service departments of the Hadnot Point gas station will shut down Monday and resume business October 2. However, the gas station at Hadnot Point, as well as the stations at Courthouse Bay and Camp Geiger, will remain open until Wednesday and reopen Thursday.

Cleaning and pressing shops at Hadnot Point close Tuesday and open again for business October 2.

Shutting up shop Wednesday will be Case Lot Sales, all area and branch exchanges, Beauty Shop, Sandwich Shop, Alteration Shop, Central Coffee Shop, (Bldg. 4), Coffee Shop (Bldg. 203), Marston Pavilion, Golf Course exchange, all service clubs, Onslow Beach pavilion, Drive-In Movie exchange, Barber Shops in Bldgs. 1 and 2 as well as all branch exchange barber shops and the central barber shop.

These activities all will reopen for business October 2, except for the two coffee shops, service clubs, and Beauty Shop, which will resume business October 1. The Beauty Shop will be open that morning, while the coffee shops and service clubs will reopen that night.

Ceremony Tomorrow Hails Memory Of General Geiger

One of the most distinguished leaders in the history of the Marine Corps, Gen. Roy Stanley Geiger, will be honored here tomorrow at dedication ceremonies of a memorial plaque at the entrance to Camp Geiger, home of Force Troops Atlantic.

The dedicatory address will be made by Maj. Gen. Merwin

Base C of S Gets Boost To Brig. Gen.

Brig. Gen. Henry R. Paige, chief of staff, MCB, was promoted to his present rank in a ceremony Saturday morning in the office of Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, camp commanding general.

General Paige was selected for promotion early this month by a selection board at Headquarters Marine Corps.

Prior to reporting here he served as President of the Tactics and Techniques Board, Marine Corps Development Center, Quantico, Va. He became chief of staff here early in August.

General Paige was commissioned 26 years ago, following his graduation from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. Since then he has led an active Marine career, ranging from Nicaragua to Iceland to the Pacific islands during World War II.

Two Army POW's At Naval Hospital

U. S. Army Sergeants Thompson Morse and Archie L. Edwards, both of Morehead City, arrived here at the Naval Hospital recently after their release from prisoner of war camps in Korea. Both now are on leave.

Sergeant Morse, who spent from December 1, 1950, to August 25, 1953, in a prison camp, came here from Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco, Calif.

Sergeant Edwards arrived from the hospital at Travis Air Force Base, Calif. He was captured in May 1951, and released August 5, 1953.

H. Silverthorn, commanding general of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. Ceremonies will start at 2 p.m. and the public is invited.

General Geiger, Marine aviation pioneer and holder of two Navy Crosses, became the first Marine general in history to command an entire army.

Held Law Degree

Born on January 25, 1885, in Middleburg, Fla., Roy Geiger joined the Marine Corps as a private after receiving a Bachelor of Laws degree at Stetson University in 1907. He was commissioned a second lieutenant on February 5, 1909.

In 1916, he was assigned as a naval aviation student at the Naval Aeronautic Station in Pensacola, Fla., and received his wings as the fifth Naval aviator in history.

WHO DO YOU THINK WILL WIN THE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT BETWEEN MARCIANO AND LA-STARZA?

SGT. JOSEPH C. SZABO, 8TH MARINES — Roland LaStarza will be the new heavyweight champion of the world. He is faster, smarter, and can hit just as hard as Marciano. You can't rate Rocky with the great champions of the past. He doesn't have the class or the ring intelligence. LaStarza will win by a knockout in the tenth.

1ST. LT. D. S. WALDKOETTER, 2ND MARINE — I pick Marciano to win by a knockout in the late stages of the fight, although it will be his toughest bout to date. LaStarza is a young, clean boxer, and has been pointing for this fight ever since their last meeting three years ago. But I believe the champion has the necessary punching power, aggressiveness, and experience to retain the title.

CPL. NELSON L. SPEASE, 10TH MARINES — I think Marciano will win by a knockout in the seventh round. Both boys can take a good punch, but Rocky has more power. He won the first fight, which was very close, and I believe he has improved more since then than LaStarza. If it should happen to go the limit, Marciano would get the decision because of his aggressiveness.

SGT. EDWARD C. TETREAU, 4TH BN. — It's going to be a very close fight, similar to their last meeting, and again will go the full distance, but Marciano will gain the nod because he is the champion. It shapes up as a fight between a really good boxer and a deadly puncher.

PVT. JOSEPH J. CAMERON, 4TH BN. — Marciano will win. They fought previously and Rocky won a disputed decision, but I believe he has come along a lot farther than LaStarza since then. Marciano has had more fights against better opponents, with the result that many of the shortcomings he had in the last LaStarza fight have been overcome. Rocky will knock him out in less than eight rounds.

Lejeune's Chief Sleuth Goes To J'ville Detective Post

Elmer C. Casper, former chief criminal investigator for Camp Lejeune, arrived here first as a sergeant in the 2nd Division in 1950. Then, too, he served as a criminal investigator.

Receiving a dependency discharge from the Marines that year, Casper returned here as a civilian investigator in 1951, was promoted to chief investigator in 1952, and served in that status until last Friday, when he resigned his post to become a detective sergeant on the Jacksonville, N. C., police force, a job he will take tomorrow.

Casper felt at home with the Marines, too. Born at Quantico, Va., the son of a retired gunnery sergeant who gave the Marines 28

Between his discharge from the Army and his matriculation with the Marines, Casper worked on the Investigation Squad of the Norfolk, Va., police force. During this period he learned plenty, and used up plenty of luck. He was shot at, crawled through holes in walls after burglars, and generally ran the gamut of close calls.

When he took over his post here, Casper was seasoned for the job. He says that the most amazing case in his experience was one here, though.

"One night," narrates Casper, "the phone rang at the house—being a policeman is like being a doctor, no time off—and an excited individual informed me that a B-36 was chasing a Sherman tank around his front yard and making a heck of a disturbance. He asked me to get out of there as fast as possible."

It turned out that the marauding machines were purely in the mind, but Casper, always thorough, made an investigation.

Administrative head of a group of nine investigators here, he and his crew cleared 85 percent of all criminal cases on this base since 1951.

On the whole, Casper says, "The Marines are good citizens."

ELMER C. CASPER

years' service, Casper spent his youth with Marines. Then, in 1937, Casper joined the Army, and was discharged as a "buck" sergeant in 1945.

Asked what his father said about his military selection, Casper replied, "I don't remember all he said, but he had plenty to say. I joined the marines in 1950. . . I think in self defense."

Research Openings At Kendall Mills Co.

Marines who soon are to be released from active duty and possess a scientific background will find job opportunities aplenty with the Kendall Company, a multi-branched textile concern with textile mills in North and South Carolina, a finishing division in New England, and a Bauer and Black division in the Mid-West.

Men with backgrounds in chemistry, electrical and mechanical engineering, and physics will find excellent openings with the company's research department.

Information may be had by contacting the camp personal affairs officer at the Camp Theater.

Ceremony

From that time until just prior to the outbreak of World War II, General Geiger was active as one of the primary developers of Marine Corps aviation. He rose to the post of commanding officer of Aircraft One, Fleet Marine Force, in 1935.

Two Navy Crosses

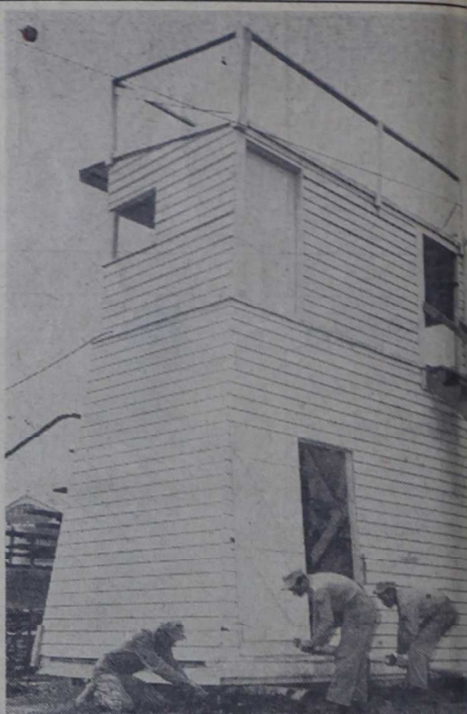

Described by General Holland M. ("Howlin' Mad") Smith as "a heavy set, bear-like, and totally fearless man," the Marine hero was awarded the Navy's second highest honor, the Navy Cross, twice—once for distinguished service during numerous bombing raids in Europe in the First World War, and the second time for his outstanding leadership and courage as commanding general of the 1st Air Wing during the bitter 1942 Guadalcanal campaign.

As tribute to Geiger, General Smith once stated, "I imagine that I am correct in asserting that no military aviator since the Wright brothers has ever exercised, quite interchangeably, such major air and ground commands, all in one war. . . He had flown and commanded almost every kind of aircraft or aviation unit that ever existed."

General Geiger died on January 23, 1947, two days before his sixty-second birthday. He was awarded his fourth star posthumously by the 80th Congress, which made the date of rank retroactive to the date of his death.

Maintenance Crew Keeps Sport Spots In Sporting Shape

Keeping the sporting spots of Camp Lejeune in top playing condition is no easy task, but in fulfilling this job the Camp Special Services maintenance crew show that they're real big leaguers.

This eight-man outfit, with MSgt. Lawrence Holdren as the NCO in charge, are the unheralded "men with the hoes" behind varsity sports.

They're responsible for erecting bleachers for the football and baseball games, setting up the boxing ring, and nursing the track. Just before the football season they moved the press box overlooking Liversedge Field back 25 feet, a feat many thought impossible without dismantling the structure.

One of their most recent jobs was waxing the vast 178x140-foot floor of the Field House, a feat involving 30 gallons of wax and four working days. At present they're numbering the more than 4000 seats in the Field House.

Without a doubt it's the maintenance crew which lays the groundwork for varsity sports at Camp Lejeune.

Elizabeth City Band Visits Camp, Plays For Naval Hospital

Band members of the Elizabeth City (N.C.) High School visited Camp Lejeune Friday before attending the Elizabeth City-Jacksonville football game.

Upon arrival here, they lunched at the Civilian Cafeteria and proceeded to the Naval Hospital, where they demonstrated the music and marching for which won the band sixth place in the latest North Carolina high school competition.

Guided by Women Marine members of the Camp Public Information Office, Pfc's Becky Carper, Regina Fevola, and Marianne DuBrock, the band toured the camp, visiting the recreational facilities of Hadnot Point.

At the Camp Protestant Chapel, Chaplain G. L. Barger, assistant Camp Protestant chaplain, summarized the religious opportunities open to Marines on this base.

The Elizabeth City High School Band consists of students from the ninth through twelfth grades.

HQMC Warns Of Discrepancies In Wearing Uniforms

Modification in the male uniform, along with observations on discrepancies in dress, have been promulgated by Headquarters Marine Corps in Marine Corps Memorandum 60-53.

A new raincoat cover for male personnel has been adopted as an optional item of uniform for wear with the service and dress cap frame when the M-1950 raincoat or officer's trenchcoat is worn. It will be made available through Marine Corps Exchanges.

Some discrepancies in the wearing of the dress and service coats have been noted by the Commandant on recent inspections. The most prevalent is insufficiency of material at the back vents and front closures of the coats. These coats are supposed to be tailored so that there is a slight flare in the skirt.

Headquarters Marine Corps has informed male officers that the officer's dress white uniforms should be of cotton twill, cotton gabardine, or cotton duck. Officers having dress white uniforms manufactured of white linen or "Palm Beach" material may continue to wear such uniforms until a replacement is required, but not later than July 1, 1955.

A modification in the male officer's topcoat and the enlisted man's overcoat has been made, changing the full belt to a half belt.

Officers now possessing a topcoat are authorized, at their own expense, to forward their coats to the Officer's Uniform Shop, Marine Corps Depot of Supplies, 110 South Broad St., Philadelphia, Penn., for the modification. Officers must make this change by November 1, 1953.

Camp Baker Butters His Own Bread By Shipping For Six

Sgt. Phillip B. Smith, a baker at mess hall 1209, supply depot, signed on the well-known dotted line last week for another six years with the Marine Corps.

He first enlisted in November 1944, but was released on that enlistment in 1947 and worked in Durham, N. C. Three years later he decided on a career in the Marine Corps and re-enlisted in September 1950.

During his first enlistment Smith spent 14 months at sea aboard the USS Boston. His last duty station before reporting to Lejeune was the Naval Air Detachment at Charlotte, N. C.

Officers who report to MCB after October 31 should be directed to Bldg. 15 for their physical check-ups. Those whose health records are not on file at the infirmary should present them to the examining board at the time of the physicals.

Any complete physical examination previously conducted and reported to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery during this calendar year excuses the officer concerned from the coming examination. However, all such officers will report as directed in order that their health records may be verified and immunizations brought up to date.

MCB Officers' Annual Physicals Starting October 1

Annual physical examinations for officers attached to Marine Corps Base will be conducted by a Board of Medical Examiners at the Camp Infirmary, Bldg. 15, starting at 1 p.m. October 5, and ending October 16. No officer will be excused from these examinations without prior approval of the chief of staff, according to Camp Memorandum 315-53.

A list of officers, and their inspection dates, has been compiled, and is attached to the above memorandum. Lieutenant colonels and below who do not appear on this enclosure are requested to call HM2 E. E. Fowler, extension 3236, for appointments. All annual physical exams must be completed prior to December 31.

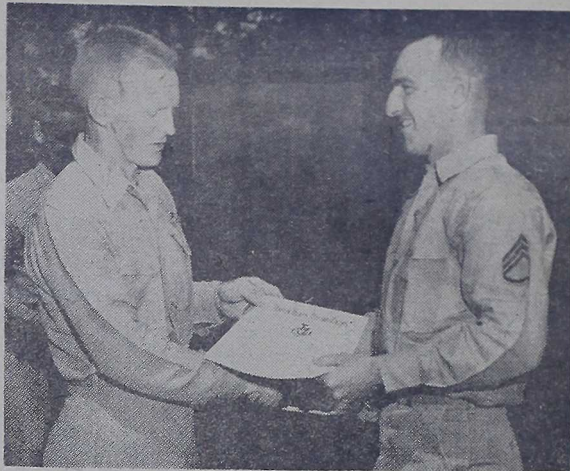

Officers who report to MCB after October 31 should be directed to Bldg. 15 for their physical check-ups. Those whose health records are not on file at the infirmary should present them to the examining board at the time of the physicals.

Geiger, M. P. Clubs Going Independent

Next Thursday will bring the birth of twin independent entertainment facilities at this base.

The Staff NCO Clubs at Montford Point and Camp Geiger will be established as independent operations under the over-all administrative control of the commanding general of the Marine Corps Base. Heretofore these clubs were annexes of the Hadnot Point Staff Club.

33 Medical Men Arrive For Conclave

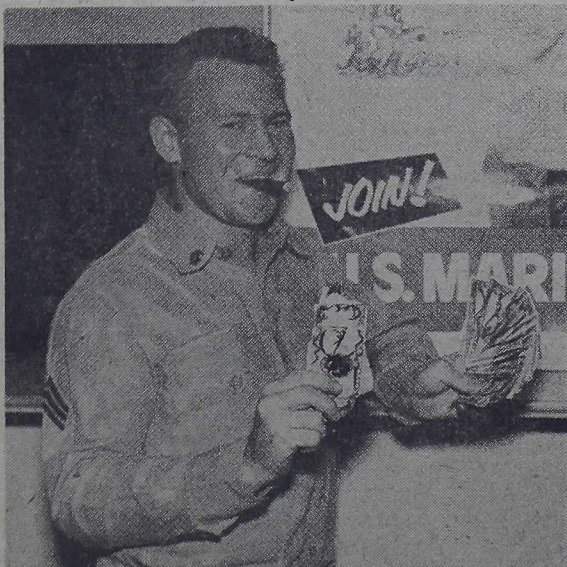

Thirty-three Army, Navy and Air Force officers arrived here Tuesday to discuss medical supplies and equipment utilized by tactical medical units throughout the services.

The group, comprising the Surgical Panel of the Armed Services Field Medical Material Group, which represents 12 Armed Forces establishments, began its three-day discussion yesterday.

Among the officers present are: Rear Admiral T. F. Cooper, MC, USN, Chief of Medicine and Surgery for Material, Washington, D. C.; Capt. W. M. Montgomery, USNR, Engineering Development Division, Armed Services Medical Procurement Agency, Fort Totten, N. Y.;

Capt. W. S. Lawler, MC, USN, U. S. Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va.; Col. J. N. Cole, MSC, Medical Station, Army Field Forces Board No. 2, Fort Knox, Ky.; Col. H. F. Eyerman, MC, USA, Armed Services Medical Material Standardization Committee, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.; and Col. Schindler, MC, USAF, Surgeon General's Office, Washington, D. C.

Two liaison officers from the Royal British Army Medical Corps and the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps are here as observers.

2nd Tank Bn. Sgt. Top NCO Graduate With 92 Average

SSgt. Joseph A. Donnelly, of the 2nd Tank Bn., headed the 40 graduates of the NCO Leadership School's twelfth class last week with an average of 92 percent. Donnelly, maintenance chief of "A" Co., 2nd Tanks, will leave next week for Officers Candidate Course at Quantico.

The graduates were addressed by Lt. Col. William A. Stiles, commanding officer of the 2nd Marines.

SSgt. Herman Harlan, 10th Marines, and SSgt. Hugh A. Hanna, Signal Co., had the next highest scores, posting identical marks of 90.75.

70 Applicants Selected For OCC Training

A Marine Corps selection board has chosen 70 college-trained enlisted men of the ninth Officer Candidate Course class at Quantico. The 70 men were picked from a group of 270 who qualified for OCC under the Marine Corps' new educational requirements.

The selectees are being notified individually and will be ordered to the class, which commences October 5. Following graduation they will be given second lieutenant commissions.

Those not selected may reapply for later consideration under instructions to be issued next month.

The candidates were selected under the Marine Corps' new qualification policy of accepting applicants for OCC only if they have a college degree or have passed a four-year college equivalency test.

The October 5 class is the only Officer Candidate Course session planned for 1953. Next scheduled classes are expected to meet in March and July of 1954.

Uniform Changes Effective Thursday

Beginning next Thursday and continuing through October 18, the uniform of the day during normal working hours will be summer service worn with a necktie. During other than normal working hours either the summer service or winter service uniform may be worn.

On liberty the uniform may be either summer or winter service.

"Greens" will be the uniform of the day commencing October 19.

From October 19 through November 15 white cap covers must be worn with the blue uniform. After that date blue cap covers will be worn.

GLOBALS

"Oh What A Crocodilian World This Is."—Francis Quarles

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has announced that 1,047,290 major crimes were committed in this country during the first six months of this year. His statistics show a major crime to be committed every 14.9 seconds with a murder or negligent homicide every 40.3 minutes, one rape every 29.4 minutes, one robbery every 8.8 minutes, one aggravated assault every 5.71 minutes, one burglary every 1.12 minutes, one larceny every 25.6 seconds, and one auto theft every 2.31 minutes. And this week crime took a new and bizarre twist.

Estela Diaz Gonzalez, a 26-year-old from Mexico, elected New York City's St. Patrick's Cathedral to practice her nefarious trade, that of a pick-pocket. Her method of stealing was to rifle the pockets of those absorbed in prayer at the altar of St. Patrick's. New York cops had received reports of $1000 missing from worshippers prior to Estela's apprehension. When caught, she possessed a purse containing $85 and a string of rosary beads a policewoman had watched her filch. Estela's motto: there's nothing easier than picking a praying person's pocket.

For A Long-Sought Craft, Cash And Comfort

Tuesday another theft was reported. Senior Lt. Noh Keum Buk, a North Korean aviator, stole a new Russian-made MIG15 or MIG17, and delivered it to the U. S. via a perfect landing on South Korea's Kimpo airstrip. Lieutenant Noh will be rewarded with $100,000, as promised by General Mark Clark, and given asylum in the U. S.

This, however, will be deemed a small loss to Russian security if the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee's statement proves valid that Lavrenti P. Beria and three of his top aides have escaped from Russia and are in contact with U. S. investigators. Beria was head man of the Soviet atom and hydrogen bomb projects. He was in charge of military intelligence and internal and frontier security, and had charge of the U.S.S.R.'s guided missile program.

For Top Communists, Cloaks And Daggers

Beria's reputed escape from behind the Iron Curtain revealed a real cloak and dagger intrigue. A group of U. S. citizens reportedly have pooled financial resources to assist in sneaking disaffected Communist leaders out of Russia. Clendenin Ryan, independent candidate for governor of New Jersey, reportedly put up $50,000 personally to help get Russians, including Beria, out. Russia's one-time secret police head is supposed to be hiding in "a Latin-American country."

But the game of international osmosis of diplomats and other big guns works both ways. The Burgess-Maclean intrigue blazed anew this week when Mrs. Maclean and her two children disappeared mysteriously from Switzerland. Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, both members of the British Foreign Service, vanished on the night of May 25, 1951, between St. Malo and Rennes, France. Both had inside knowledge of Anglo-American secrets and were believed spirited off to Russia, voluntarily.

For An Unstable Intellectual, Life (Maybe)

Both had risen fast in the Foreign Service and Maclean was regarded as a brilliant officer. But the men had a reputation for instability and had also flirted with Marxism in their youth and possibly been members of the Communist party. Following the disappearance of these two well-informed diplomats came unofficial reports that they had been shot dead behind the Iron Curtain by British counter-espionage agents. The recent vanishing of Mrs. Maclean seems to indicate that Maclean, at least, still is alive.

America's National Security Council has recommended that U. S. aid to Indo-China, in the seven-year-old war there, be raised from 400 million to 785 million dollars. This move has been made, say news pundits, to speed France's active participation in the European Defense Community, which binds the forces of West Germany with France, Italy, and the Benelux countries in a unified command directly under NATO. France has remained aloof from the E.D.C. heretofore, leaving a conspicuous weakness in the Anglo-European defense structure. (FLY)

Episcopalians Plan Confirmation Talks

A meeting will be held Friday night in the Camp Protestant Chapel at 7 for all Protestant personnel wishing to receive confirmation and baptismal instruction in the Episcopal church.

Chaplain A. Newman Barringer will preside over the meeting and will discuss plans as to when the instruction will begin.

The familiar eagle, globe, and anchor emblem of the United States Marine Corps was adopted in 1868.

Sunday School For Teen-Agers Started

A new Paradise Point Sunday School class for teen-ager children, 13 and up, will begin October 4 at the Camp School from 9 to 10 a.m. Mrs. Frank Morton, wife of Chaplain Morton at the Naval Hospital, will be the instructor.

Bus service will be available for this class.

Sunday School classes for children in the two through 12 age group already are in progress.

The Army's Coast Artillery Corps was established on Jan. 25, 1907.

PIO Staffer Top Man In Scribe School

SSgt. James J. Oggerino, of the Camp Public Information Office, topped an 18-man class when he graduated from the Naval School of Journalism at Great Lakes, Ill., with an average of 91.2 recently. The 12-week course, open to Naval and Marine personnel includes newspaper layout and make-up.

SSGT. JAMES J. OGGERINO

English, photography, and Marine Corps history.

Sergeant Oggerino enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1945 and was released the following year. Upon release he joined the Reserves and in 1950 volunteered for active duty. On active duty for a year, Oggerino again was released in 1951.

The following year he requested active duty once more and, while attending Journalism School, integrated into the regulars.

While at school Sergeant Oggerino received an almost perfect score in Marine Corps history. His mark—99.5.

Ex-Navy Tar First Greek Priest Here

Lt. (jg) Nick S. Karras, one-time Navy seaman, Monday became the first Greek Orthodox priest to join the staff of the 2nd Division clergy here.

Stationed on Guam following his Navy enlistment in February 1952, Seaman Karras was recalled to the United States and was commissioned in his present rank at Treasure Island Naval Station, San Francisco, Calif., last May.

Chaplain Karras served as pastor of the Greek Orthodox Church in Sacramento, Calif., before entering the Navy.

Prior to reporting here, he attended Chaplains' School at Newport, R. I. The chaplain received his theological training at the Religious College in Corinth, Greece, from which he graduated in 1941, and later at the Holy Cross Theological Seminary, Worcester, Mass.

Chaplain Karras, on his arrival here, expressed a desire to meet all men of his faith at the Division Chaplain's Office. He announced that regular meetings would be scheduled shortly.

Chaplain's Five Minutes

The expression "to mull" means to suffer and final defeat and for the haughty upstart. But for the great Duke it was a great victory. Wellington is quoted that British soldiers are more than Frenchmen, but they could be brave five minutes. It was not just how to place and maneuver men and weapons that counted to the British and their day.

Principles of moral were involved here, ample, in the building spirit to be brave five minutes longer. Without troops to be brave five minutes the strategic skill of a general might have been little or nothing.

As individuals we should desire and to attain minutes longer" that may interfere between success and failure.

When the difficulties are too great for us, let us give us the gift of the bravest or the greatest in the world but only to be brave five minutes in the crisis.—Chaplain Reynolds, 10th Marine

Navy Relief Classes Election Slate Set For Pine Grove

The Camp Lejeune Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society, which will conduct a training course for volunteer women workers in Navy Relief aid, has switched its instruction room from Bldg. 1 to Bldg. 59, Joint Landing Force Board.

The instructions are designed to teach procedure in interviewing and processing applications for emergency help from the society.

The classes will be held from October 12 until November 6 and will be from 9 until 11 a.m. In the afternoon, from 1:30 until 3:30, the same class will be repeated, in order to accommodate a larger number of applicants.

Applicants may enroll at the Navy Relief Office, Bldg. 41, phone 5584, or by calling Mrs. C. C. Galloway, chairman of Volunteer Women of the Camp Lejeune Auxiliary, at 6168.

STAG PARTY

The Staff NCO Club, Courthouse Bay, will hold a stag party and buffet supper for members only tomorrow night. The frolic will start at 4:30 p.m. and last until a pro-rated amount of fare is expended, according to TSgt. James A. Burns, treasurer-manager.

Opportunity Knocks When Opportunity Shop Opens Oct. 7

The Midway Park Opportunity Shop will re-open its doors for business at 2 p.m., Wednesday, October 7.

The latest drive for saleable merchandise got underway with a house-to-house canvass of Tarawa 1 and II and Paradise Point Saturday.

According to Capt. Charles R. Stiles, officer in charge of the shop, the first day's collection totaled more than $1000 worth of clothing alone. Included among the many classes of items assembled for sale at the shop are housewares, toys, cribs, high chairs, and even a 1937 model refrigerator in a "very fine working condition."

The strenuous job of collecting the items was handled by both volunteer workers from the shop and local Boy Scouts. It took six trucks to deliver the goods to the store.

Anyone wishing to donate items to the shop can phone Captain Stiles at 5267.

Parent-Teachers Association Starts Membership Drive

The Parent-Teachers Association of Camp Lejeune will begin a six-week membership drive Monday. Mrs. C. L. Post, chairman of the drive, has announced that flyers will be sent out via school children to all parents in the area.

When the drive ends, ten dollar prizes will be awarded to each classroom whose pupils' parents have a 100 percent membership in the PTA. Last year 13 classrooms received the cash award, which is paid from funds collected in PTA membership dues.

In the event that not all the parents are contacted through the school children, a booth will be set up at the next PTA meeting and picnic, which is scheduled for October 5, to handle anyone who has not been contacted previously.

Safety Experts Discuss Methods Of Water Rescue

American Red Cross first aid and water safety representatives and chapter directors of the South- eastern First Aid and Water Safe- ty Program closed a five-day train- ing conference here Friday.

Under the technical supervi- sion of Joseph Hasenfus, assist- ant national director of Water Safety Service, Washington, D. C. the conference covered rescue techniques and operation of var- ious types of small craft with em- phasis on safety precepts.

Other instructors were Eugene Jones, of Moorehead, Miss., who taught boat handling and general boating activities, and Holman Marks, of St. Petersburg, Fla., who taught sailing.

Twenty-eight chapter directors, including the staff, completed the course.

Pistol — (386 of 400) — MSgt. R. J. Weimann, 8th Marines, Div.

Camp Lejeune archers didn't score an attendance bullseye at their meeting Monday, set to discuss the merits of forming an archery club here. However, several enthusiasts, including SSgt. Tomberlin, Sgt. Jack Folio, Capt. Martin Capages, SSgt. E. M. Pottgieser, 2nd Lt. E. C. Dowling, Capt. J. Gorman, and Pfc Cascone, registered their in- terests in a bowman organization. Undiscouraged by the small turnout, 1st Lt. Rex W. Cook, who has been the moving spirit in forming an archery club, set 7 p.m. Monday at the Goettge Memorial Field House, Hadnot Point, for another meeting of bowmen.

Provided enough interest is displayed to warrant the formation of an official archery club here, Lieutenant Crook feels the objects of such a club would be: (1) to erect a regulation field archery target course; (2) to arrange for competitive shooting with other clubs as well as among its own members; (3) to conduct hunts for predators and other game; and (4) generally to encourage interest in archery. Lieutenant Crook can be reached by calling the Mont- ford Point printing plant, 60-158.

Bow and arrow hunters will have a special nine-day deer hunt staged for them in North Carolina's Pisgah National Forest starting November 16. Archers will be given the run of the Bent Creek section of the National Forest, where deer abound. November 21 the North Carolina Archery Association will meet in that part of the forest, located near Asheville.

Things Better On Wildlife Scene

Faring better attendance-wise and business-wise than the archers was the last meeting of the Camp Lejeune Wildlife Club, September 16. Tops on the business docket was the selection of hunt masters and assistant hunt masters for the forthcoming deer season. A capacity crowd attended the meeting, making it seem impossible that three months ago the organization had but seven members.

The 1953 hunt masters and their phone numbers, and assistant hunt masters, and their phone numbers, listed by party in that order, are: Party A, Maj. W. H. Kay, phone 5530, and CWO H. F. McCulley, phone 5537; Party B, CWO G. J. Gottschalk, 69-264, and CWO J. F. Sparrow, 69-452; Party C, Maj. Louis P. Penney, 5262, and CWO J. W. Mikell, 60-92; Party D, Capt. E. R. Hering Jr., USN, 60-21, and Capt. L. L. Wilson, USN, 5618; Party E, Lt. Col. T. P. Watson, 69-454, and CWO E. H. Dupre, 3404; Party F, Col. S. S. Ballentine, 5597, and 2nd Lt. C. M. Hayes, 69-250; Party G, Capt. W. L. Hill, 30-58, and Lt. J. E. Hutcheson, 30-36.

These seven hunt masters and their assistants each will be responsi- ble for the hunting in their authorized areas on October 17 and 21, November 14 and 28, December 12 and 26. These hunt masters are authorized to appoint additional assistant hunt masters if necessary.

How To Get On A Hunt

Personnel here interested in joining a deer hunt this season must FIRST purchase a North Carolina hunting license at the Men's Shop of the Camp Exchange, and then obtain a Camp Lejeune permit from the Camp Provost Marshal, Bldg. 50. Then they should call any of the above listed hunt masters, or assistants, for a berth on a hunt.

In addition to these scheduled hunts, three special hunts will be held in the Paradise Point area October 24, November 21, and December 5. Individual applications will be submitted to, and speci- ally screened by, the Wildlife Club. Final approval will come from the commanding general.

The last Wildlife Club meeting was graced by N. W. (Willie) Hen- derson, Camp Lejeune's chief game warden; T. M. Jeffords, secretary for the Wilmington, N. C., Wildlife Club; and J. L. Musselwhite, North Carolina State Wildlife Protector. Also, films on channel bass and striped fishing were shown. MSgt. (ret.) Jay C. Alexander offered to mount free of charge the head of the largest deer killed by a Wildlife Club member during the '53 hunts aboard the base.

The next scheduled Wildlife Club meeting is set for next Wednes- day at 8 p.m. in Bldg. 1404, Industrial Area, Hadnot Point. More hunt- ing and fishing problems will be discussed, and tentatively scheduled are outdoor films.

Amusement Bubble Scheduled To Burst At OM Saturday

A bubble of entertainment will burst at the Officers Mess at Paradise Point Saturday night, as Bubbles Becker and his versatile Spotlight Revue blend dance music, juggling, comedy, novelty dancing, and torch singing from 9 until 11 p.m.

In addition to the Revue floor show, a very capable orchestra creates very danceable music. The ten-man outfit includes Norman Murphy, who formerly tooted for drum-man Gene Krupa's orchestra, on trumpet.

A band leader and MC for many years, Becker has led his current crew to many leading resort hotels, and his music has been aired over NBC for two summer seasons.

Local Linksters Form Golf Assoc.

Representatives from Camp Lejeune, the New Bern Country Club, Cherry Point, and the Kinston Country Club met recently at New Bern to form a golf group called the Tidewater Golf Association.

Rules were adopted and a schedule of matches drawn up. The matches will be held twice monthly, starting at 12:30 p.m. Teams will be composed of a minimum of 16 players and a maximum of 26.

The Lejeune schedule: September 27, Kinston at Camp Lejeune; October 11, Camp Lejeune at Cherry Point; October 25, Camp Lejeune at New Bern; November 8, Camp Lejeune at Kinston; November 22, Cherry Point at Camp Lejeune; December 6, New Bern at Camp Lejeune.

ROAD CLOSED

Due to military necessity Lyman Road will be closed to traffic today from 8:15 a.m. until 1 p.m. (EDST).

Dig Those Crazy Asbestos Suits—It's The Dante Trio

After burning up the dance atmosphere at the Officers Mess and the Hadnot Point Staff NCO Club, the Dante Trio continues to set a fiery path across Lejeune.

Tuesday night the trio will hot-foot it to the Camp Theater, where they will give two performances, each show beginning a half hour before each of the movies which are scheduled at 6 and 8:30.

Wednesday evening they'll blaze a trail to Marston Pavilion, where they will continue to set a hot tempo by night until October 4. Next Thursday, Camp Special Services has made arrangements to bring hostesses from Wilmington, Goldsboro, Kinston, and Morehead City. On the other nights it'll be "stag or drag."

The Dante Trio is an organ-drum-piano combo. Before setting smoke signals for Lejeune they played a pretty heated stint at Jack Dempsey's famed New York restaurant, a far cry from an inferno.
