Gen. Shepherd Stresses Proper Uniform Attire

A recent letter to all commanding officers by the Commandant of the Marine Corps stressed the apparent laxity on the part of Marine personnel in regard to their personal grooming and appearance.

The letter stated that personnel should dress according to the regulations set forth in the manual. Garrison caps and covers for the frame cap should be of the same fabric as coat and trousers. The garrison cap should be of regulation cut, with no "dip." The frame cap is to be worn squarely on the head, chin straps should be polished and taut, cap covers free of any wrinkles and the visor shined.

Same Material

Coats and trousers are to be of the same material as cap, the letter pointed out, and trousers and ribbons should be clean and worn in proper sequence. Regulations state 1/8" between rows.

Non-regulation jackets tailored without fullness or blouse may not be worn.

All summer uniforms must be of matching material. If a person wears tropicals his shirt, trousers, garrison or frame cap must be of tropical worsted material also. The same regulation applies to khakis.

The tropical garrison should be pressed with "military creases." In the front, one crease, running vertically from shoulder seam through the center of each pocket to the bottom of the shirt is regulation. In the back there should be three creases, evenly spaced, and running vertically from the shoulder seam to the shirt tail.

Right Ties

The tie will be knotted in the regulation four-in-hand style and if a tie clasp is worn it should be evenly spaced between the third and fourth buttons from the top of the shirt.

Trousers should fit loosely enough to prevent the pockets from gaping open. They should cover at least two inches of the back of the shoe and break slightly over the shoe in front.

The trouser belt should always be clean and the buckle tips are to be shined. The belt tip shouldn't be less than two, nor more than four, inches past (See GEN. SHEPHERD, Page 2)

Under-Secretary Thomas, Commandant Review March

The 2nd Division and Force Troops will step out down Holcomb Boulevard this morning to honor the under-secretary of the Navy, Charles A. Thomas, and the commandant of the Marine Corps, Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr.

Also in the reviewing stand will be Lt. Gen. O. P. Smith,

Combat-Clad Marine Draft Heads West

A draft, composed of members of the 2nd Division, Force Troops, and Marine Barracks, left here by train this past week end for Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, Calif.

The draft departed shortly after the 3rd Division had been alerted by Headquarters Marine Corps for rapid movement to Korea should truce arrangements break down completely or an armistice be violated after it is signed.

Distributing the alert movement as "purely precautionary," Headquarters further stated that if the commanding general of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic; Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, camp commanding general; Maj. Gen. George F. Good Jr., commanding general of the 2nd Division; Brig. Gen. Francis B. Loomis Jr., commanding general of Force Troops, Atlantic; Brig. Gen. Nels H. Nelson, G-1 at Headquarters Marine Corps; Brig. Gen. R. H. Ridgely Jr., director of personnel; and Col. M. G. Brown, representing the Supply Department at Headquarters Marine Corps.

Helmet-clad and marching eight abreast, the 2nd Division's infantry troops will be the first to pass in review.

This begins a procession that is expected to last a full 90 minutes, filling both lanes of Holcomb Boulevard as far as the eye can see. Tuesday's full scale rehearsal of the parade was clocked at one hour and 25 minutes.

Motorcade

The Division Band will break into the artillery song as the 10th Marines pass the stands. A motorcade of every type artillery weapon in the division is included in the 10th's show of strength.

Six Division supporting units will be next in line before the reviewing stand. All mounted, they will ride in trucks, jeeps, weapons carriers, "ducks," half-tracks, cranes, tank carriers, and in almost every conceivable military vehicle.

The 2nd Engineer and 2nd Shore Party Battalions will lead the support elements, followed by the 2nd Tank, 2nd Service, 2nd Medical and 2nd Ordnance Battalions.

An even dozen observation planes from VMO-1 will follow shortly after the division. Flying in a tight "V" formation, the light, two-place planes will hold an altitude of not over 150 feet.

Force Troops Units

Force Troops, Atlantic, comes next, represented in full strength by 13 regular units along with a staff and headquarters detachment.

HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT THE TRUCE IN KOREA?

WO JAMES M. PLATTER, FORMS AND REPORTS CONTROL OFFICE

—Naturally, I'm happy that the shooting has stopped, although I'm in doubt as to whether a lasting peace in Korea has been achieved as a result of this truce. I do feel, though, that the signing of the truce was a preliminary step necessary before anything else can be accomplished.

1ST LT. ROBERT A. DUKES JR., 8TH TANK BN.

I think the signing of the truce is a step in the right direction if it will bring a lasting peace over there. I do believe, though, that there's a good chance the Communists will break their word, but we have to take that chance. Even if the truce fails to last, I feel that, basically, the United Nations has accomplished its purpose in Korea for we've definitely shown the Communists we will resist aggression.

SGT. WARREN M. SCHLEGEL, 2ND ENGINEER BN.

—Actually, I don't think we have accomplished our purpose in Korea, but I really was happy to hear that a truce had been signed. I feel that we were too lenient in the terms of the truce, but we had to be to get a truce now. I believe one of the factors contributing most to the signing at this particular time was the general feeling of the people at home.

MSGT. JAMES H. DICKINSON, HQ. BN.

I was very glad to hear that they had, at last, signed the truce, although I am doubtful whether it will actually last. I only hope it does. I hope the United Nations will be able to settle any future outbreak of Communist aggression in less time and with less loss of life than it cost us in Korea.

SGT. HORTON N. JARRETT, H&S BN.

I was very happy to hear that the shooting had actually ended, and, under the present conditions, I feel the truce terms were equally fair to both sides. I served in Korea in the early part of the war, having landed with the 1st Provisional Brigade in 1950, and I believe a truce should have been signed when the negotiations first began.

NO SOAP—Maj. C. E. Gardner, officer in charge of Camp Property, refuses stock goods to MSgt. J. H. Diffess of H&S Bn., who shows that he has no money. The picture illustrates the new stock accounting system of the Marine Corps, the Marine Corps Stock Fund Account, which is the agency from which Commanding Generals of all Marine activities are now buying stock items with allocated funds. Heretofore, such items were drawn out free of charge (Official USMC Photo).

Take It Easy

New Executive Order Compels CG's To Foot The Bill For Units' Staples

Careful, Marine, that broom you're wielding was bought by the commanding general; so was the light bulb you just dropped, and the organizational clothing you were issued.

No longer do the commands here, or at any other Marine Corps installation, draw common stock items free of charge. The commanding generals of each unit now have the job of purchasing these items as they need them with money allotted by the commandant of the Marine Corps.

Heretofore, all inventories of items of common stock were issued free of charge by depots. This is no longer so. The base and unit or depot commander now get the money and make purchases from the Marine Corps Stock Fund Account, the inventories of which are financed by MCSF.

Revolving Fund
It all grew from a directive from the government's executive department that set up a "revolving fund" which could be used to manage the purchase and distribution of common stock items such as brooms, motor vehicle repair parts, issue clothing, and many others.

Set up mainly to give a clearer record of the actual consumption and inventory transactions of these items throughout the Corps, the new system was explained to personnel of the Supply School Bn. here recently by Lt. Col. Frank M. Platt Jr., of Headquarters Marine Corps.

During his lecture, Colonel Platt stated that Headquarters, when it learned of the new order, decided to experiment with the Marine Corps Supply Depot here at Camp Lejeune.

Lejeune Most Important
"The Lejeune Supply Depot is the most important one in the Corps," the colonel said, "so we decided to give it a try here. We were sure that if it did work out here, it would do the job at any other depot or base."

"It worked well, and they (the local MCSF) are probably doing the most outstanding job in the Marine Corps."

In brief, here is how the fund operates.

The Marine Corps secured, at the end of the last fiscal year, $40,000,000 from various unexpended funds throughout the Defense Department. This money then was set up as the cash capital basis for the revolving fund.

Maintain Inventory
With it, Headquarters will maintain the basic inventory until enough funds have been collected to reimburse the capital. The basic inventory coming under the MCSF includes clothing, non-perishable subsistence articles, and vehicle repair parts, but excludes such large or more expensive things as trucks, tanks and guns.

At the beginning of the fiscal year, each command buys these articles from the fund, reimbursing it, and the money is used to buy new similar items. Thus, instead of having to ask Congress for money each time it needs a new set of brooms, the Marine Corps will now have money on hand at all times to keep inventories at the right levels.

The new accounting system has all the aspects of a large chain store stock department, without the profit-making motive. Prices are fixed according to purchase schedules and will maintain one certain level in the fund.

Heavy Loss
The only time Congress will have to be approached for additional appropriations would be in the case of heavy loss due to accident or fire, or in time of an expansion in activity.

With the new accounting, Commanding Generals become the business managers of their plants as well, and have closer control as to what equipment and supplies are on hand.

Another great advantage of the system is the ease with which Headquarters can keep tabs on inventories at the various bases. If one depot becomes overstocked, the items can be moved to another. Also, it shows exactly how the money was spent, where, and by whom.

Also in the review will be the 8th Signal Bn., 2nd Air-Naval Gunfire Co., 8th Engineer Bn., 2nd Provisional Marine Aggressor Co., 2nd Amphibious Reconnaissance Co., and the 8th Motor Transport Bn.

According to Col. Donald M. Weller, commanding officer of troops, the parade is the largest held at Camp Lejeune since last July, when the division and Force Troops staged a similar parade for General Shepherd.

New Officers Start Course In Riflery, Range Operation

Following the first class of officers who attended a formal course in marksmanship training and range management at the Rifle Range here, 114 graduates of the Officers Candidates Screening Course at Quantico started class No. 2 last week.

The newly-commissioned second lieutenants will receive instructions in such subjects as administration, coaching, rifle range management, and range procedures. In addition, the OCSC officers will act as officials at the NRA Regional High Power Championships, to be held here Monday through Thursday next week.

Following their tutoring at the Rifle Range, the officers will be attached to the 2nd Division, where they will receive on-the-job training. On September 8 the lieutenants will leave Lejeune and go to Quantico, where they will attend Basic School.

Dad Recruits Son Into Corps Before Leaving Lejeune

Saturday was a busy day for MSgt. William J. Carson, first sergeant of "B" Co., 2nd Engineer Bn., who was "squaring things away" before leaving on a draft for the West Coast.

But he also had a very important appointment which he could not miss: the swearing in of a new recruit for the Marine Corps, his 19-year-old son, Thomas.

Tom said his "dad didn't" have much of a recruiting job, though, as he was very familiar with Marine Corps life. He'd been with his father, who first enlisted in 1923, when he was stationed at Pearl Harbor, Philadelphia, and Camp Lejeune.

Sergeant Carson's son, who lives with his parents and brother, George, near Jacksonville, was sworn in by Lt. Col. G. L. H. Cooper, commander of the 2nd Engineer Bn.

Illinois Tech Grants K-12 Scholarships

Korean emergency veterans eligible for half-tuitionships at Illinois Institute of Technology, the country's leading engineering college. Illinois established 100 such scholarships each valued at $325 a year to supplement the veterans' funds.

Under the terms of the GI Bill, veterans receive straight monthly allowances from the government and their own college tuition from the I.I.T. scholarship reimbursement by one-half, so veterans $325 a year.

The tuition grants are year, but may be renewed additional years providing the student's academic performance is satisfactory.

Three Divisions

The scholarship may be any of the institute's divisions: engineering, which has 14 curricula, including departments of food and fire protection and safety, and the Institute of the division of liberal studies, including seven departments of the graduate school, which advanced degrees in engineering, science, and liberal studies.

The Illinois Tech scholarships are awarded on the basis of previous academic records, school, or on performance in I. I. T.'s entrance examinations. Veterans wishing to enroll in Tech in the fall, which begins September 1, should apply immediately for a scholarship and information by writing to the Director of Admissions, Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago 90.

297 Officers Get Selection As Regulars

A group of 79 captains, 106 first lieutenants, and 112 second lieutenants, all Reserve and temporary officers of the Marine Corps, have been selected for appointment to commissioned rank in the regular Marine Corps, according to Almar 18.

These figures include both principals and alternates but alternates will be selected only if principals decline appointment or fail in physical qualification.

Any officer whose name appears on the list who does not plan to accept appointment when it is offered is directed to notify the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Though the ranks shown in the Almar are ranks at time of application, appointments will be made in the officers' present grades.

Reserve officers at present on active duty who are named in the list will not be released to inactive duty until such time as the program is completed, with the exception of those officers declining integration and scheduled for release prior to completion of the integration program.

Tax Exemption Bill Set For Combatmen

The House of Representatives last week unanimously approved the extension of income tax exemptions for servicemen in a combat zone until January 1, 1955.

Under provisions of the bill, enlisted men and warrant officers pay no income tax in combat zones, and officers are income tax-free on the first $200 of their pay.

With over one-half of the summer Reserve training program completed, the Reserve Training Bn. released eight eastern sea-board Reserve units to their roles as "Citizen-Marines" this past week end, and took in an additional 12 organizations totaling over 1000 men and women.

In all, over 60 Reserve units, totaling almost 4000 men and women, will come here to partake in their two-week training program which started June 6 and ends September 5.

Officer Promotion Activities Buzzing At Washington HQ

The selection of 593 inactive Reserve officers for promotions, the impending convention of a board to select new major generals, and the announcement that a list of promotions to captain was due to come out soon highlighted recent officer promotion activities at Headquarters Marine Corps.

Dates of rank for the 593 new Reserve lieutenant colonels, majors, captains, and first lieutenants range from September 1951 to July 1953.

The list of future captains numbers 729, and includes only regulars and Reserves on active duty at present.

Time Regulations Changed On Good Conduct Awards

Time toward the eligibility requirement for wearing the Good Conduct Medal now may be compiled by using "broken time" served during a national emergency or when the country is in a state of war.

Heretofore, time for eligibility had to be served consecutively, whether in war or peace. However, peacetime service toward the award still must be unbroken.

In order to be counted in the accumulation of time, service must have occurred between September 8, 1939, and December 31, 1946. For time in service during the Korean conflict, June 27, 1950, and a date yet to be established provide the time limits.

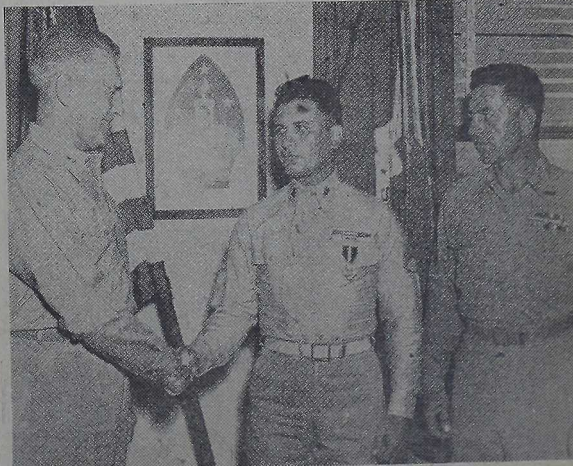

When the first period of service in "broken time" ended before December 10, 1945, a total of four years' service is required for the award, as contrasted with the present three.

Also, in order to be eligible for the Good Conduct Medal, the person who meets the time and other requirements, cannot have any convictions by courts-martial, and can have no more than two non-judicial punishments under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Tenth Battle Star Slated For Korea

A tenth Korean engagement star has been authorized by the Chief of Naval Operations for a period to be known officially as "Korea, Summer-Fall, 1953." The period commences May 1, 1953 and extends to a date not yet announced.

Concurrent with the announcement of "K-10" was the setting of the terminal date for eligibility for the ninth Korean engagement star, for the "The Third Korean Winter." The terminal date has been set at April 30, 1953.

"I am informed that you may wish a meeting to discuss an armistice." Several minutes later North Korea's Prime Minister, Kim Il Sung, answered Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway's message. "We agree to meet." That was 26 months ago. This Sunday at 8:01 p. m. (EST) Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr. signed the truce which called for a cease fire, quelling three years and 32 days of war in Korea. The fighting has taken 24,965 American lives, 101,368 wounded, and more than 10,000 others captured or missing.

The truce document, 7000 words long, sets out a preamble and five clauses with many subclauses. Principal provisions are these: both sides withdraw a mile and a quarter from the final battle line to form a neutral zone; both sides accept restrictions on troop reinforcements and airfield construction; all prisoners on both sides who want to return are to be repatriated immediately; a high-level political conference is to meet in 90 days from the truce signing to discuss the withdrawal of all foreign forces in Korea.

YOUR WAY OF

Have you considered how you live, act, and fellow man? The Psalmist says: "What is man, that he should be mindful of him?"

Or the Son of man, who visiteth him? Thou madest him a little lower than the angels; Thou crownedst him with glory and honor.

And didst set him above the works of Thy hands. Thou didst put all things in subjection under his feet.

If you were to consider the frailty of your life as a little lower than the angels, having been crowned with honor and having been given authority over creatures of your own kind?

By your conduct, your fellow man, you are known to be son of God. We should say as Paul put my trust in Him, "Him to make of us the man that we were intended."

Flyers Hold Key To East Coast Championship

MOUNTAINOUS HILL—Quantico's Tom Venditelli finds that out much to his chagrin Thursday night when he tries to score from second on a base hit. Harry Hill, Lejeune backstop, puts the ball on him for the final out in the fourth inning in a game that Lejeune won, 9-6, at the Virginia base (Official USMC Photo).

NRA Shoots Begin Here Monday P.M.

Monday at 1 p. m. the National Rifle Association Regional High-Power Rifle Championships will open with a bang at the Rifle Range here, and keep banging away until Thursday, when all nine matches end.

Although invitations have been sent only to shooters in the southeastern region of the country, anyone can enter the matches providing he hasn't previously participated in a regional high-power championship elsewhere this year.

Force Troops, 2nd Division, the All-Marine Corps Rifle Team (presently at Parris Island), and Cherry Point's 2nd Air Wing and Air Facility all have entered teams in the matches. However, entries have just recently started pouring in, and almost every Marine station on the southeastern Atlantic seaboard is expected to enter marksmen. A few Army teams have sent in entries and more are expected.

Individual entries must be received not later than Monday, preceding the opening of the tournament, and team match entries by 6 p. m. the day before the desired match is to be held.

Among the prizes will be over 20 silver awards, plus gold, silver, and bronze medals, metallic thread brassards, and numerous NRA certificates. In addition, the winner of the Regional Championship Aggregate will receive a free trip to the 1953 National High Power Rifle Championships, to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio.

MCSD Holds Lead In Marine Barracks Baseball League

Rain, postponements, and forfeitures dimmed activity somewhat in the Marine Barracks intramural baseball league last week with only three of six-scheduled games being played.

Supply Depot had its lead sliced by one-half game even though it won one game from the Rifle Range, 18-4. Supply School bounced the Naval Hospital, 8-0, and won a forfeit from the defunct Engineer School, 9-0, to hike its record to 16-5. The depot (See MCSD, Page 7)

Locals Split At Quantico; Crown Decision Postponed

QUANTICO, Va.—Camp Lejeune and Quantico met head on Thursday and Friday in a two-game series to determine the East Coast Marine baseball championship, but when the smoke had cleared the final outcome was still stalemated. The two rivals split a pair of games, Lejeune winning the first encounter, 9-6, and Quantico coming back to take the second, 4-0.

In the first game Lejeune's power-laden bats sent Quantico ace Jack Thomas to an early shower with a six-run barrage in the second inning. Quantico retaliated with a five-run outburst in the fourth, sending Lejeune starter Bob Reich to the exits and tied the game in the fifth with another run. A three-run seventh gave Lejeune enough to win, 9-6.

The Lejeune half of the second inning started inauspiciously enough with Don Brown leading off and being picked off first by Thomas. Babe Daskalakis walked and went to third on Harry Hill's single to right. But Thomas fanned Ed Kababek for the second out and, with the pitcher coming up, the big inning seemed doomed.

However, the roof caved in for Thomas and Quantico. Reich walked, loading the bases, and Ralph Russo stroled to force in the first run of the game. Dave Krings stepped to the plate and belted a 1-1 pitch over the left-center field.

Preliminary Drills Kick Off Monday For Footballers

Potential varsity gridders get their first opportunity to display their wares Monday. Sessions will be held through August 7 from 4:30 to 7 p. m.

Candidates are asked to report to the practice field behind the Field House and draw shorts, jerseys, and shoes from their unit Special Services.

Those showing varsity talent will be retained for the start of regular fall practice, beginning August 10 at 1 p. m. Holdovers from spring practice will report August 17.

The greatest need of the varsity at the moment is quarterbacks. Any experienced T-formation quarterbacks are urged to come out by Maj. "Biff" Crawley, head coach.

wall, good for four runs and a 5-0 bulge. Jim Ryan then duplicated the Krings blow by hitting the first Thomas serve over the right field wall to make the score 6-0.

Quantico came back strong in the fourth, scoring five runs on a like number of hits. The biggest blow of the frame was Frank Seastrand's double to deep center that scored one run and set up two more. The Virginia Marines tied the game in the fifth with one run off reliever Ben Johnson on a brace of singles sandwiched around two walks.

Glenn Harshbarger, who had relieved Thomas on the mound, pitched air-tight relief ball until two were out in the seventh. At one stage he retired ten straight men. But his wildness and two timely base hits led to his downfall.

Camp Bogs Down, Giving Fort Myer Second Win, 5-4

FORT MYER, Va.—Fort Myer scored a two-out run in the ninth inning Saturday to nip Camp Lejeune, 5-4. The win gave the Army men a 2-1 edge in the three games played between the two clubs this year.

Charlie Chronopoulos went all the way for Lejeune and suffered his fifth setback. The right-hander was wild, giving up seven walks and a costly wild pitch. Lejeune scored singletons in the first and third frames in a game that was originally scheduled for seven innings. Trailing by two runs heading into the seventh, the Marines scored a pair of runs to tie the game when Paul Donovan looped a single into right to score Charley Ziober and Don Brown.

Camp Softballers Set For Play-Off

The 1953 Camp Championship Softball Tournament will begin Monday and last until next Friday.

Two teams from the 2nd Division, Force Troops and Marine Barracks will enter the double elimination championship tourney.

Lejeune, Quantico Tackle Flyers In Playoff Series

Five months of bitter baseball campaigning reach climax this week when Camp Lejeune and Quantico finale their bitter rivalry for the East Coast Marine championship.

But Cherry Point, mathematically eliminated almost months ago, through a quirk of the schedule, will have a deciding say in who reigns.

Baseballers Smash Charles Town Club In Four-Run Tenth

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Camp Lejeune exploded for four triples, good for four runs in the tenth inning Sunday to defeat a stubborn Charles Town American Legion team, 7-4.

Making his first start in over a month, portsider Jimmy Waugh toiled nine innings and received credit for his eighth win of the year. Ben Johnson pitched the tenth and was touched for a lone run. Waugh would have won easily in the regulation nine with better fielding support from his mates, who committed six errors.

With the score stalemated at 3-3 entering the tenth, Jim Gingerella started the string of three-baggers when, with one out, he hit a ball 370 feet to dead center. Paul Donovan followed with a triple to left to dissolve the tie.

Gil Miller relieved Legion hurler Gene Walters on the mound and was promptly greeted with another three-bagger, this one to right off the bat of Jim Ryan, scoring Donovan.

Babe Daskalakis fanned for the second out but George Dingler kept the rally alive by reaching first on a scratch hit down the third base line, sending Ryan across. Ed Kababek completed the quartet of triples, blasting a three-master to right to score Dingler with the seventh Lejeune run.

and for all the notion that athletes are privileged characters Lejeune has been dispelled. The football players, basketball and the boxers went right along with the rest last week-end, was no holding them back.

Most striking example was the loss of the Camp Lejeune back corps, consisting of O. M. Sacnlon and Bill De Chard. Each "Biff" Crawley found out, he pulled out a justified wel and started talking in terms of single wing, at the same time others like Frank "Mouse" Nastro, Rex Boggen, Billy and other potential key players wouldn't be called.

Sunday Crawley was on the track of new quarterbacks. He ob Seaborn and George Hilderbrand, in his files and made hadn't been taken. He got word of a third, Bob Bechtel, stationed at Montford Point, and by the beginning of the week things were up.

Biff's Been Through It Before.

players isn't a new experience for Crawley. The same thing in 1950 when the Korean war started and Crawley lost most of his football team. That was the year the Pendleton base-including Lejeune's "Moose" Russo, had its season terminated.

The basketball team lost one of its big centers, Bob Jarm, and was robbed of some potential regulars. These instances serve to emphasize the fact that varsity athletes in the service are being.

Being an athlete is a "good deal." There aren't many who can play ball than lug a rifle, drive a truck, or pound a mallet. But basically there's little difference between members of the other Marines on the base. Reveille goes at the same time, the chow isn't any different, except for the football team, which has a training table. The football players pulled MP duty during the season. In the afternoons they do strenuous drills, which add to a pretty full day. The same goes to the baseball team. They don't stand guard, but they go to the Field House for duty, readying the diary, doing other Special Services jobs. At night they play ball.

What's A Week-End?

The greatest equalizer is the week-end. There is no such thing as a week-end for the players. Maybe once or twice during the week they have both Saturday and Sunday off, but the usual program consists of a pair of games under a hot sun that drives the spectators to the beaches.

Baseball players go through September without a leave, a stretch few other players can make.

Baseball trips do make up for the loss of week-ends, for all but the players. Nor is anyone attempting to point out that varsity athletes are being discriminated against. Athletics still remains one of the best things on the base. It just isn't quite the "racket" some people think it is.

Marines Leave Help Conduct Rifle Match

The 2nd Marines, Bn., 2nd Marines, Bn., for the next few weeks will be participating in the Provisional National Match Rifle and Pistol Match. The match will be held at Perry, Ohio, where the 2nd Marines will help conduct the match. The match is part of the 1953 National Rifle and Pistol Match. A large party of 200 officers and men left yesterday for Perry, Ohio, where the match is located on Lake Erie, about 10 miles from Toledo. The match is one of the largest of the year, with over 700 officers and men participating.

'Divvy' Diamond Play Reaches Finals

Intramural softball in the 2nd Division began its final week of play this week with winners in all six leagues fighting for the Division intramural crown.

The double elimination tournament swung into action Monday with two games. In the opener the 2nd Marines were downed by the 10th Marines, 3-0. In the second game the 6th Marines whitewashed the 8th Marines, 11-0.

Final day of tourney play is tomorrow, with two games slated. The semi-finals will be held at 10 a. m., with the finals slated for 2 p. m. The winning team will receive a team trophy and individual awards.

8th Tankers Win Softball Laurels In Force Troops

A forfeit victory over Aggressor Co. in the last game of the season allowed the undefeated 8th Tank Bn. team to capture the championship in the Force Troops Softball League last week. This victory marked Tank's fourteenth in a row and gave the squad the right to represent Force Troops in the forthcoming Camp Championship Tournament as well as the FMF Tournament.

Although the champions won their final game by forfeit, their record throughout the season shows clearly that they deserved the title. During regular play they decided easily every other team in the league. Their nearest competitor was the A/W team, which finished second, a full game behind the leaders.

The Tank team finished the season with a .286 team batting average and a .352 fielding average. The outstanding team star was Art Schimmoeller, the squad's ace right-handed fastballer, who chalked up ten of his team's 14 victories and pitched three no-hit games in the process.

Upon completion of the Camp Tournament, which runs from Monday through Friday, the Tank team immediately will become the Force Troops representative in the FMF tournament, which will be held at Camp Geiger a few days later.

Locals Split

Kalakakis and George Dingler walked. Kababek singled through short to load the bases and Johnson came through with a one-base knock to right, scoring Babe and Dingler. Neil Chrisley fumbled the ball and Kababek wheeled all the way around from first to score and run the total to the winning 9-6 margin.

Thomas completely reversed himself Friday and spun a neat four-hitter against Lejeune as his mates scored three times in the first off loser Bob Grim and salted the game away in the third when Bob King homered over the left-center field wall to make the final score 4-0.

Jim Parker led off the opening canto by reaching first on a high infield pop-up that fell between Daskalakakis and Krings. Walks to George Uremovich and Seastrand loaded the bases. Hal Naragon then doubled to deep center to score three runs.

Lejeune's biggest scoring threat was in the sixth. Grim got the first hit off Thomas by singling down the third base line and Krings advanced him to second with a single through the box.

Brown tried vainly to keep the rally going, hitting a hot grounder by the mound that was ticketed for center field and a base hit. But Tom Venditelli raced far to his right, scooped the ball up, and shoveled it over to shortstop King to force Krings and end the inning.

CSG Strengthens First-Place Position By Downing Motor

In the last week of regular season play Combat Service Group beat a powerful 8th Motor nine, 1-0, to widen its league-leading margin over second-place Automatic Weapons to one and a half games. The final league standings will not be decided, however, until all the teams play the games rained out.

Combat has only one game to reschedule while its arch rival, Automatic Weapons, will have to make up four.

Combat survived one of its toughest battles in downing 8th Motor. Bob Russell, who pitched for CSG, gave up four hits, one more than his opponent, Clyde Monroe. In the sixth Monroe threw a fast ball to Bob Fritz, who blasted it for a home run.

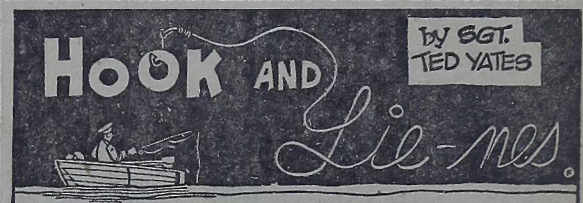

Most of the other action in the league was postponed because of rain but one other game was played. Third-place 155 Gun put on a fast finishing kick to defeat 8th Tank, 9-6.

Leather-slippers annexing division crowns will later fight under the 2nd Division banner against the best Force Troops has to offer. Then the "Divvy" champs will take part in the Camp Tourney to be held this fall.

What is expected to be the last organizational meeting of Camp Lejeune's recently sanctioned Fish and Wildlife Club will be held at Bldg. 1404, Industrial Area, Hadnot Point, at 8 p. m. Wednesday. This will also be the last meeting where charter members of the new club will be signed in. All personnel here who attend will automatically become charter members, indicating that they were among the pioneers of the camp's first outdoor club.

This club will appeal to enthusiastic outdoorsmen, and men and women interested in bettering the natural wildlife resources, both fish and game, here. Already more than 50 Marine and Navy men and women have joined the club.

Docketed for the forthcoming meeting will be further election of officers, and plans for the club, entertainment and conservation-wise. Already, most of the best fishermen and hunters here have joined the club, and it is hoped that men new to the sports, or unfamiliar with the fishing and shooting facilities here, will turn out for the meeting to get some straight "scoop" from the men who know.

Again the sea was added by week-end north-east winds. But now a calm has come and with it schools of hungry fish. Monday a clear sea yielded large catches of Spanish mackerel, which had been on an apparent hunger strike during the week-end blow. Some catches ranged as high as 40 head.

Fresh water fishing, too, was reported better early in the week. Fresh water catches included bass, bream, and mosquito bites. Those mosquitoes showed up en masse early this week and caused all but the most stoic fishermen to withdraw from the fishing fronts.

New personnel here who are in a quandary about getting fishing tackle are urged to see their unit special services. They have rods, reels, hooks and line, all to be had for the signing.

Grant Hudson Golf Tourney

Hudson with a total of 107 took top honors in last year's "Point for Par" tourney at the Paradise Point golf course in full swing. W. H. Cuenin and Capt. Honny raked up 18 points in second, while MSgt. W. J. TSgt. T. J. Buczik wound up in third with 17.

"Ball of Partners" tourney scheduled for this week-end is a round to be played Monday or Sunday.

Hands Off! 'Dead' Duds Are Deadly

Ammunition was made to kill, not to play with. Don't pick up so-called "dead" ammunition — it might kill you!

Duds, fired but unexploded shells from all types of weapons, cause hundreds of deaths and maimings every year as the uninitiated find them lying about the countryside and pick them up as souvenirs.

Because of the heavy summer training schedule, there is a lot of firing going on in the Lejeune area. A few of the shells land unexploded.

The areas in which these duds land are restricted and no one is allowed to enter them. However, some people won't pay attention to the rules, despite the fact that duds are explodable unless handled with extreme caution by experts.

If you find a shell, DON'T TOUCH.

Call the nearest police officer, or notify the Range Officer (phone 5161) here, giving the location and a description of the shell.
