at $3,000,000. President Eisenthe Navy's to $2,950,700,000, with drastic cuts in Naval avirelated procurements.

The gigantic Naval appropria-

the ship construction and maintenance.

Marine Trimmings
The Marine Corps has had $131.1 million from its facilities by the Army-designed budget. This means the new manpower the Corps will stand at compared to the previously

Corps will still maintain three di-

The reductions have been made into three categories, military personnel, aca $25,189,000 reduction in the old Reserve budget as set at $16,499,000. This was trimmed by $2,690,000.

Troop facilities were to be renew figure stands at

Navy Relief Carny Draws Throngs As Barkers Hawk Midway Debut

Reserve Units Start Arriving Here June 6

The Reserve Training Bn., under the command of Lt. Col. B. E. Cunningham, is preparing for the arrival here June 6 of the first of 63 units of the Marine Corps Reserve.

In the first contingent will be two units from Atlanta, Ga., and one each from Jackson, Miss.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Dayton, Ohio; and South Charleston, W. Va. The personnel and facilities of Marine Barracks, the 2nd Division and Force Troops, will host more than 6500 Marine Reserve officers and men during their annual two-week summer training periods which will continue to mid-September.

Woman Marines
The 63 units to train here include ten Woman Marine groups. The first of the Lady Leatherneck Reserves will arrive June 20.

Included in the training plan for each unit will be instruction in the field and classroom.

Topics to be covered will include night exercises, parades and ceremonies, field problems, and courses for selected specialists.

Reserve units will be attached to a regular Marine organization here with regard to similar nature and training purpose of the groups involved.

People thronged to a gaily arrayed Goettge Memorial Field House last night to launch Camp Lejeune's annual three-day long Navy Relief Carnival.

From 6 p. m. until 11 crowds swarmed along a midway featuring shooting galleries, dart games, children's movies, putting greens, and other carnival concessions.

Built and operated by Marine personnel here, the carnival has all the atmosphere, noise, and tumult of the "white top world."

The carnival, open to all Navy and Marine personnel, their families, and civilians, will be in full swing again tonight and tomorrow.

Following the appearance of two of the nation's most widely known bands, Spike Jones and Harry James, the annual carnival is a highlight of the month-long fund drive.

Much of the merchandise being received at the carnival has been donated by friends of Navy Relief from neighboring cities.

All proceeds from the carnival go to the Navy Relief Society, a non-profit organization designed to give financial assistance to active duty Marines and sailors in time of emergency.

RELIEVES GEN. GOOD

Maj. Gen. James A. Stuart, deputy commander, Marine Barracks, Camp Pendleton, will relieve Gen. George F. Good in the Office of Chief of Naval Operations, Washington, D. C. General Good will take command of the 2nd Division shortly.

Parade Biggest Of Year

More than 15,000 2nd Division Marines bid farewell yesterday to their departing commander with a huge parade and review in honor of Maj. Gen. R. McC. Pate, who will be detached tomorrow to leave for Korea and command of the 1st Division.

It was the biggest parade staged at Camp Lejeune this year. The thousands of khaki-clad Leathernecks paid impressive tribute to General Pate as they stood side by side across the width of the mammoth camp parade field.

Leading the marching Marines was Brig. Gen. Robert E. Hogaboom, assistant division commander and the commanding officer of troops for the parade. Only three battalions out of the entire division did not participate.

Colorful pageantry highlighted the ceremonies which preceded the division's passing in review. The 160-piece band trooped the line to begin the review. After a booming 13-gun salute, General Pate inspected the division with General Hogaboom from a special brass-railed jeep.

Pass In Review

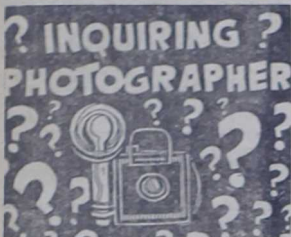

At the command of "pass in review" the troops paraded before Korea-bound General Pate and his staff in a spectacle of the division's strength more than a half hour long.

Gen. Erskine Ends FMFLant Command

Maj. Gen. O. P. Smith, commanding general at Camp Pendleton, Calif., has received orders to relieve Lt. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, commanding general of FMFLant.

General Smith will take over at Norfolk June 15. General Erskine's new assignment has not yet been announced.

Why Didn't You Qualify At The Range?

PFC WALTER BROWN, 6TH MARINES—I've been getting hot flashes all day and spots in front of my eyes from the sun. I can see the target clearly enough until I'm right there ready to fire. Then the flashes and spots start and I'm all through. I qualified last year; maybe my eyes are going bad.

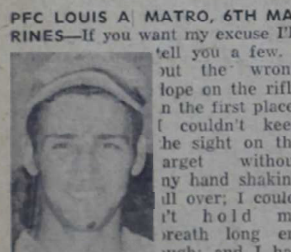

PFC JAMES P. HARRIMAN, 6TH MARINES—I didn't qualify but I can't blame my rifle or my coach. There was nothing wrong with the equipment or the coaching, but there sure was something wrong with me. I never could shoot anyway and I'm not improving any, either. I shot at the wrong target three times this morning.

SGT. EDWARD H. WISCH, 2ND ANGLICO—Every time I get there to fire and sight in at 6 o'clock, everything is fine until I think of my wedding June 13. That target just seems to make a picture of me getting married and I can't concentrate. If it isn't my wedding, it's the thought of the income tax I didn't pay in 1951. The government seems to think I didn't send it in but I know I did and they've been sending me greetings for months now. You can't qualify at the range with marriage and money on your mind.

CPL. ALLAN SHARP, 2ND ANGLICO—I was fine all day. I had something like 190 in the middle of the morning. I wasn't even trying anymore. I figured I'd qualified and I was just about the best shot firing today. Then they counted my score again. They had added wrong. I didn't qualify.

PFC LOUIS A. MATRO, 6TH MARINES—If you want my excuse I'll tell you a few. I put the wrong scope on the rifle in the first place; I couldn't keep the sight on the target without my hand shaking all over; I couldn't hold my breath long enough; and I had a rebuilt rifle that didn't work too well. On top of all that, I hate rifles and don't like to shoot.

41 YEARS LATER—On May 22, 1912, when Lt. A. A. Cunningham received orders to the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., for duty "in connection with aviation," Marine Corps aviation was born. This "Banshee" jet fighter is one of the results of the Corps' 41 years in aviation. Powered by twin J-34 Westinghouse engines, they have folding wings and are designed for carrier work. They are in the 600 miles-per-hour class (Official USMC Photo).

Mister Grant Makes Major In Minutes

4:20 p. m., a civilian . . . 4:22, a first lieutenant . . . 4:24, a major.

This may read like a timetable but actually it's the time it took Maj. Harley L. Grant, assistant camp G-1 officer, to be reinstated to his present rank last week after being discharged the previous day as a master sergeant.

Major Grant enlisted in the Marine Corps in August 1938 and by February of '43 had risen to gunnery sergeant. In September of that year he received a temporary commission as a second lieutenant. In 1945 he was upped to first lieutenant and in '49 received his captain's bars, both ranks also temporary.

The then Captain Grant received another promotion—to the permanent rank of master sergeant—in January 1950. In June he rose to major on still another temporary boost.

In 1949 Major Grant had applied for a permanent LDO (limited duty officer) commission in the administrative field. Headquarters Marine Corps gave him the choice of an LDO commission then as a second lieutenant or waiting until 1957 and accepting a captaincy. The major decided to wait.

Revise Rulings

The limited duty officer ruling was altered in 1950 so that everyone accepted by Headquarters for an LDO commission had to take it. Next year Major Grant had enough time in to get an LDO commission as first lieutenant.

But in order to accept it, the major had to revert to his last permanent rank and be discharged as a master sergeant.

The personnel Sergeant-Major of Marine Barracks, MSgt. G. W. Holland, discharged him Monday morning last week at 11 and for the next 30 hours Major Grant was Mr. Grant.

Wednesday afternoon, Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, camp commanding general, appointed the assistant G-1 officer as a permanent LDO first lieutenant, but still a temporary major.

Commandant Talks At Fifth Division Association Meet

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., commandant of the Marine Corps, will address the annual convention of the 5th Marine Division Association, composed of veterans of the bloody battle for Iwo Jima in World War II, in Boston, Mass., June 26-28.

General Shepherd will be the principal speaker at the banquet June 27, according to the president of the association, Col. Justin G. Duryea, USMC (ret.).

The famous flag that was raised on Mount Suribachi, thereby providing one of the most dramatic photographs of the war, will be taken from its permanent home at the Marine Corps Museum in Quantico, Va., and displayed during the convention in the lobby of the Hotel Statler, which has been designated convention headquarters.

Lt. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, former commanding general of the 5th Marine Division, will preside at ceremonies in connection with the display. General Rockey is honorary president of the association.

As the last unit passed the reviewing officers, observation planes and helicopters from VMO-1 roared over the parade route.

FIRST TO FLY for the Marine Corps was Lt. A. A. Cunningham. While at the Philadelphia Navy Yard in 1911 he received permission from his commanding officer to try to fly this "No. 1" Results weren't too successful, as the contraption didn't fly. Next year he received orders to aviation duty (Official USMC Photo).

Marine Aviation Celebrates 41st Birthday Tomorrow

Marine Corps aviation will be 41 years old tomorrow.

Yesterday Marine helicopters continued their tasks of transporting supplies, directing artillery fire, and speedily evacuating wounded infantrymen; and last night fighter-bombers of the 1st Air Wing harassed and destroyed many a Communist soldier, bunker, supply line, and weapons position.

The same versatility and employment of many aptitudes has been a striking characteristic of Marine aviation's entire history.

It was on May 22, 1912, that 1st Lt. Alfred A. Cunningham was ordered to report to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., for duty "in connection with aviation," thus marking Marine aviation's birth.

For several years previously Lieutenant Cunningham had been a non-professional aviation enthusiast. While stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard in July 1911 he received permission from that base's commanding officer to use a field inside the yard to try to fly a rented contraption the young aviator had obtained from a local inventor.

Hops And Flops

The craft, aptly named the "Noisy Nan," never got off the ground except for bouncing hops and flops, and Lieutenant Cunningham's commanding officer predicted a certain disaster if it should.

Little over six years after its inception—during the First World War—total strength of Marine aviation was 250 officers, 32 warrant officers, 2,180 enlisted men, and 175 trained cadets.

During the 1920's Marine aviation distinguished itself with record-breaking long-distance flights, exploratory and experimental flights, and service in Central America. On December 5, 1929, Capt. Alton N. Parker became the first pilot to fly over the Antarctic Continent.

Dive Bombing

The use of dive bombing techniques in support of ground units was employed for the first time by Maj. Ross E. Howell, who led a flight of six Marine planes in bombing, strafing, and dispersing 500 bandits who unsuccessfully attacked a small Marine garrison at Ocot, Nicaragua, in 1927.

In November 1931 two Marine squadrons went aboard the USS Lexington, marking the first time in history that Marine pilots served on carriers. When Marine pilots supported the Attu landings in 1943 they again flew off flattops. In the past nine years

Marine pilots have flown intermittently off sea and land.

A world's altitude record in November 1933 by Maj. L. Fordney and Lt. Cmdr. G. W. Settle, USN, who stratospheric flight in a height of almost 12 miles.

Greatly Outnumbered

At the outbreak of World War II Marine aviation had been expanded, but found itself outnumbered in early encounters with the enemy. With only four Grumman Wildcats, Marine at Wake Island fought a battle against the Japanese dogfighting with ten times the number. At Midway, too, spearheaded the aerial attack bearing the brunt of a mined attack.

Guadalcanal-based fighters repeatedly challenged and numerically superior Japanese pilots destroyed enemy planes in the air, neutralizing the once powerful bases of Rabaul and Buna.

When Japan surrendered August 15, 1945, Marine aviation had expanded from a strength of less than 1,000 to more than 118,000 aircraft wings.

For almost three years Leatherneck flyers have been around the clock in Korea, supporting supplies, laying communication lines, spotting and evacuating wounded, and Marine ground troops, among the varied feats in tactical air support.

Sailing Instruction Now At Boat House

Effect Of Credit Control Removal On GI Housing Loans Clarified By VA

WASHINGTON—The affect of the recent removal of credit controls on Government loans to World War II or Korean veterans for home buying has been clarified by the Veterans Administration.

The credit controls which were first applied to veteran loans in 1950 shortly after the beginning of the Korean war have now been completely lifted. This action, made effective as of April 25, 1953, was authorized by the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Thus it is possible for veterans now to obtain home loans with no down payment and with a repayment term up to 30 years. It was emphasized, however, that since the loans are made by private lending institutions, the lenders will be the ones who make the decisions on the actual terms.

Also there is no longer any restriction on how the four percent gratuity payment may be applied. Formerly it had to be applied to the principal amount of the loan. The payment equals four percent of the guaranteed portion of the loan up to a maximum of $160.

The Veterans Administration also advised those seeking government loans to apply to VA regional offices in advance for certificates of eligibility. This will reduce delays in processing loan applications later. The certificates are necessary proof to lenders that the VA will guarantee or insure a loan if all other usual loan requirements are met.

This is a change from the past when the lending institution was able to obtain the certificate on behalf of the veterans. Additional information is now required such as: whether the applicant is a veteran of World War II or the Korean action, or both, what prior use he has made of his loan guaranty benefits, or the status of any prior government loans.

The final date by which most World War II veterans must apply for home loans is July 25, 1957, while those who have had service since the beginning of the Korean war have until ten years from the end of the current emergency.

11 Naval Reserve Chaplains Fly Here

Eleven Reserve Navy chaplains arrived here by helicopter Tuesday afternoon for a 24-hour tour. Coming from Cherry Point, where they underwent a similar tour, they were met by Chaplains Abbot Peterson, Eric Arendt, B. N. Wolfe and A. L. Gendron.

As part of their two-week active duty training program, the chaplains tour various Marine and Navy bases for familiarization.

Among facilities they visited here were the Field House; the Protestant Chapel; and the Tank Park of the 2nd Tank Bn., where they were given lectures and a demonstration on the latest tanks employed by the Marine Corps.

N. C. Legislature Tightens Laws On Tarheel Drivers

North Carolina's legislature revised old traffic laws and passed several new measures last week, indicating a marked tightening on Tarheel speeders, "hot-rodgers," and people driving with invalid licenses.

'Skysweeper,' New AA Gun, Shown Here

The Marine Corps' new 75 mm "Skysweeper," a large-caliber automatic anti-aircraft artillery weapon was unveiled to the public here on Armed Forces Day, Saturday, by the 1st 75 mm AAA Training Btry., Force Troops.

Under the command of Maj. G. D. McPherson, the battery has four "Skysweepers." Formed this January, it is the first unit in the Marine Corps to be equipped with this amazing new weapon.

The new gun, which can find and track approaching aircraft 15 miles away, is capable of firing on and defeating air targets four miles away. The weapon, equipped with radar, computer, and gun on one carriage, can operate day or night regardless of weather conditions, even when aircraft are invisible in a blanketing fog.

The gun displayed here weighs ten tons and is 25 feet long, eight feet wide, seven feet high, and is air-transportable. Its development started late in World War II when a weapon was needed to overcome the limitations in defense against high-speed, medium-altitude aircraft.

Clamps Tightened By Defense Dept. On Deferment Issue

A recommendation to cancel the deferments of fathers who previously obtained deferments as students has been endorsed by the Secretary of Defense and the acting Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Administration officials have stated that President Eisenhower feels the present situation constitutes a loophole that should be closed if the burden of military service is to be spread equitably among the nation's young men.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, who made the recommendation, stated that students were given deferments in the expectation that they would serve in the Armed Forces after completing their education.

If the president approves the recommendation approximately 20,000 men will be affected.

It is now mandatory that motorists convicted of speeding over 70 miles an hour have their licenses suspended for 30 days. A second conviction within one year will bring a 60-day suspension. Besides speeding, other reckless driving offenses are now punishable with suspension of operator's permit.

A law has been passed providing that drivers involved in an accident resulting in death, personal injury, or property damage of $100 or more must be able to post security or show an insurance policy covering damages.

Suspend License

In the event the driver cannot show a policy or post such security, his driver's license can be suspended. In this case the vehicle operator or owner must deposit security with the Motor Vehicles Commissioner sufficient to cover costs arising from the accident.

"Hot-rod" drivers, or owners of cars altered to increase their speed, will be charged automatically with speeding offenses if an officer is able to copy the driver's license number, even if unable to catch the car.

Also, minimum penalties have been established for drivers operating vehicles without valid driver's licenses.

Indiana Inaugurates Bonus Payments To WW II Veterans

Indiana will begin paying a bonus to non-disabled World War II veterans beginning June 1. The bonus will be paid on a "first-come, first-served" basis and applications from eligible veterans will be accepted immediately. None will be accepted after June 30.

All honorably discharge veterans, or those still on active duty, who served at least 90 days between December 7, 1941, and September 2, 1945, and had at least six months' state residence immediately prior to induction or enlistment, are eligible.

The payments will be computed at the rate of $10 for each month of stateside service and $15 for each month overseas. Payments to disabled veterans, who get an additional $100 if rated ten percent or more disabled by the VA, and to next-of-kin of deceased veterans already are underway.

Applications should be sent by registered mail to the Bonus Division, 431 North Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind.

$57 Million Refund To Gov't By Corps

The Marine Corps has long been known as an economy outfit and recently, Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., commandant, proved it still further. Appearing before the House Armed Forces Services Committee the commandant reported that, by eliminating purchases of unneeded equipment, the Corps has managed to refund $57 million to the Treasury during fiscal 1953.

Chaplain's Corner

Four times in the trial of Jesus He was "handed over" to someone else on the plea that He was their affair. The high priests handed Him over to Pilate. Pilate referred Him to Herod. Herod handed Him back to Pilate. Pilate finally "washed his hands" of Jesus by turning Him over to the crowd.

"This 'passing of the buck' is no foreign practice in our day. In fact it is altogether familiar to all of us. Our finger is forever being pointed in other directions as we side-step our way out of any given situation."

The whole trial of Jesus was a looking glass for humanity. Jesus presented to these officials a situation about which they would actually have to do something. That sort of thing is too bothersome. These men, and we with them, would rather hand down responsibility to others.

"It wasn't my fault" . . . "go see so-and-so; he's the one who should do it" . . . "I am only human; what can you expect?" . . . and so we pass on the responsibility around the circle with a vigorous shove away from ourselves.

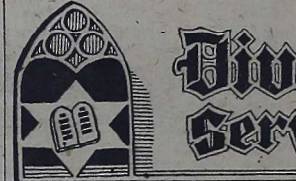

We need men who will stand up and surprise the world with those great words of the Apostle Paul, "What wilt thou have me to do?" How different this sorry mess which we call civilization would be if someone would break the vicious circle of evasion and say, "I'll take this upon myself. It is my affair."—Chaplain Paul A. Johnson, 2nd Medical Bn.

WM Maneuvers

By CPL. ELOISE TURNER

Comment, speculation, and mistaken ideas are rife in WM Co. regarding the Woman Marine Taxi Dance at the Navy Relief Carnival in the Field House.

Some of the girls have an aversion to the words "taxi dance," saying it gives an impression of dance hall girls. That's all wrong reasoning.

First of all, the taxi dance is for charity. The dimes collected for the dance will go to the Navy Relief fund. The benefits and function of Navy Relief have been explained fully at WM training programs by Chaplain Glynn Oglesby.

Be Prepared

In fact, when you attend the carnival, be prepared to see your chaplain working as a "barker," complete with straw hat and cane. Your working supervisor, or officer in charge, may be selling hot dogs and sodas, or he may be dressed as a clown and surrounded by monkeys on a stick.

Why? Because every person you'll see at the carnival, whether he's giving his talent or patronizing the various concessions, is working to make the 1953 Navy Relief Drive a success.

The taxi dance has been organized as a means by which we may contribute our bit to making this carnival a winner. The lobby of the Field House will be the scene of the dance. A Woman Marine officer will be present throughout the evening. Privacy from on-lookers is insured because the lobby will be closed off from spectators.

In "Civvies"

Ten Women Marines, dressed in attractive civilian clothes, will be inside the lobby ballroom, dancing to the music of the Divisionaires and the Supply Depot Combo with fellows who have contributed their dimes for the dance.

Monday night Marston Pavilion will be the scene of a party given by the company of the 2nd Division's variety show, "Saddle Up." Women Marines are invited. Food and refreshments will be served and transportation will be provided.

Motherhood Classes End Monday At Building 65

The final class of the "Preparation for Motherhood" series will be held Monday at 8 p. m. in the Medical Field Research Lab Lecture Hall, Bldg. 65.

The meeting will consist of a film, guest speakers, and presentation of certificates to the mothers-to-be who had perfect attendance records.

Marines Dash Past Army In AFD Dual Meet

Camp Sees Streak End But Wins 3

FORT LEE, Va.—Camp Lejeune saw its 11-game win streak halted here Thursday night when Fort Lee's Jack Heinen limited the Marines to five hits as his mates climbed all over Bob Grim and Bob Reich for a 9-2 win.

For Grim, it also brought to a close a personal string of nine straight wins. He was lifted in the seventh in favor of Reich after giving up seven runs, including a grand-slam home run to Lee's Bob Stalker in the fourth.

Lejeune jumped off to a short-lived two-run lead in the fourth on three successive hits. In the bottom half of the inning, Lee bounced back as two scratch hits and a walk set the stage for Stalker's circuit blow and a 4-2 lead. Another three-run outburst in the seventh by the Travelers sent Grim to the showers.

Lee's final two runs came off the slants of Reich in the eighth to end the scoring.

Second baseman Dave Krings of the Marines got an early shower when he was thrown out of the game in the first inning after a heated dispute with the umpire. Nev Pelleshi received his walking papers for the same offense in the fifth.

The win was the thirteenth in a row for the Travelers. For Lejeune it was the third loss of the season as against 36 victories up to that time.

Four-Run Landslide Trims Ft. Lee, 6-5

FORT LEE, Va.—Bunching four hits, a walk, and two Fort Lee errors for four runs in the seventh inning, Camp Lejeune eked out a 6-5 win over the Travelers Friday night to square the two-game series at one win apiece.

The Marines collected nine hits and all their runs off Chet Nichols, fireball pitcher of the Milwaukee Braves. The losing pitcher, Nichols, was lifted in the seventh for a pinch hitter. For Ben Johnson, it was his sixth win of the year against no setbacks.

Johnson ignited a four-run spurge in the seventh with a one-out double to right-center. Singles by Dave Krings, Paul Donovan, and Babe Daskalakis, plus an error at home by ex-Chicago Cubs catcher Harry Chiti, helped push the runs across.

Lee tried vainly to knot the count in its half of the seventh. Eric Rodin blasted a pinch-hit home run with the bases clear to start the uprising. Two walks, a single, and a long fly produced two more tallies.

In his first Force Troops League start of the season Wednesday last week, Reggie Lee, stylish southpaw pitcher of the Automatic Weapons baseball team, fired a no-hit, 6-0 victory against 8th Engineer Bn., the first such feat of the current campaign.

Named Force Troops Player of the Week during football season, Lee duplicated the honor as a result of his baseball triumph last week. Prior to entering the Marines, Lee was set to sign with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Range Sergeant Fires New High

Camp Lejeune's bullet-riddled M-1 record for 1953 took another blasting Friday as SSgt. W. C. Rose of the Rifle Range Detachment fired a sizzling 240 out of 250 over his home course. This topped the score of 233 set the previous week by Pfc Bernard A. Sekely, Maintenance Bn., 2nd Combat Service Group.

Sekely's mark, though the same as that previously fired by Cpl. Lloyd Courtney of the 8th Marines, made him Lejeune title-holder for a week. His higher score from the 500-yard line broke the tie, according to range rules.

Williams, Walters, Rivera, and Bibuld, all of whom will compete in the All-Marine Meet.

Barnard took third place in the 1952 110-meter Olympic hurdles.

Marine sprinter Montgomery set a new track and Camp Lejeune record with a brilliant 9.6 in the 100-yard dash at Fort Jackson, S. C., Saturday. A former track star at Colby College, Montgomery holds the State of Maine 100 record, also with a 9.6, and was a semi-finalist in the 1952 Olympic trials.

Another national name in the track and field events is javelin man Bill Miller of Camp Pendleton. Miller, a former Penn Relay champ from Arizona State College, was runner-up to Cy Young in the 1952 Olympics. He recently won the Fresno Relay javelin throw with a toss of 234 feet.

Camp's Montgomery Sets New 100-Yard Dash Mark

Roger Montgomery set a new Camp Lejeune and Jackson record with a brilliant 9.6 in the 100-yard dash at Columbia, S. C. base Saturday afternoon, highlighting Armed Forces Day dual track meet between the Marine and the Army. Lejeune won the meet, 72 1/3 to 57 1/3.

Intramural Activities On In Division

The weatherman came through last week, allowing the 2nd Division to play its first complete week of intramural sports in the three-week-old season.

Three of the division's five leagues were busy in three sports. In the 8th Marines league the 1st Bn. won two baseball contests to gain a tie for first place. In the first game of the week the 3rd Bn. bowed to the 1st, 7-2.

The 1st made it two in a row by defeating the Composite Bn., 8-4. In the only other 8th Marines tilt the 4th Bn. overpowered the Composite Bn., 10-7.

The 3rd and 1st Battalions are tied in the standings with 3-1 records. The 4th Bn. has a 1-2 record, with the Composite Bn. holding down bottom place with 1-4.

Softball Leader
The 3rd Bn. also holds the lead in the regimental softball league with four wins and no losses. Second place is held down by 1st Bn. with 2-1. The Composite Bn. is in third place with 1 and 2, while low on the softball totem pole is the 4th Bn.

Golf Tournaments Now In Full Swing

Tournament competition at the Paradise Point Golf Club swung into high gear this week when the Staff NCO Tournament entered its second round of eliminations in three flights and women golfers completed qualifying rounds for the Women's President Cup Match Play tournament.

Two more tournaments are in the offing. Plans are being made to run a mixed threesome tournament soon that will have one woman playing with two men. This tournament will have an entry fee of 50 cents with golf balls going as prizes.

Over the Memorial Day holidays a flag tournament will be played. Each contestant is limited to a certain number of strokes, depending on his handicap, and places a flag in the spot where his final ball falls. The object of the tournament is to see how far around the course the golfer can get.

The mark equals his S. Maine record and better than the All-Marine record of 9.6 by Camp Pendleton's Walter in 1951. It is one of the 100's run anywhere in the world this year.

High scorer for the meet
Fort Jackson's Jim Cooke took first in the discuss event and tied for first in the jump. Harry Bright, Seton Hall star, won the hurdles, the 440-yard run placed third in the broad for a total of 11 points.

Close all the way, the wasn't decided until Lejeune G. Young took second in the mile relay event in the breaking time of 3:23.3.

Although strong in the events and hurdles, the were lacking in the distance middle-distance events, v Marines sweeping first, and third in the mile, half and two-mile.

One of the thrillers of the noon came in the broad jump Army had the first two jumps over 21 feet and 1 "Mugs" Van Sant had a left. He took to the grass, the usually soft runway, the board, and took off for 22 feet, one-quarter in ing all previous jumps of the noon.

Cpl. Steve Gerstel, GLOBE sports editor, currently is afield baseball team. In his absence Cpl. Sebastian Sommer, track, is occupying the "Sidelines" seat.)

Human animal is about the slowest one on earth. A deer can dash at 40 miles an hour, a horse can dash faster, and cheetahs clocked at sprints up to 75 mph. But Mel Patton, called by his "the fastest living human," has been clocked at only his supreme effort for the 100-yard dash under ideal conditions. The world's greatest milers have been striving for the magical mile, and yet the best effort was short by one and four-hundredths.

It is the barrier which keeps these records from being broken. Once in a while some new sports figure rocks the world ring a mark, but usually it is only by tenths of seconds. And some of the members of the Lejeune track team, which recently sporting a five-won, one-lost record, and beyond the fact that man has only two legs to the quadrupeds' four, an interesting answer was that track men all are using the same sets of muscles.

During this, we found out that there are rigid routines which are followed week after week. These nearly same routines are set by men all over the country, and just as in other sports which require time or an individual score, they tend to develop the same routines and the same sets of muscles.

A Rigorous Schedule

Clarence Williams, a steady performer in the two-mile for 12 miles on Monday, four or five on Tuesday with 220-yard sprints, about the same on Wednesday with a few sprints thrown in, and then tapers off on Thursday and Friday on Saturday. The same general routine for workouts is followed by most distance men. It amounts to some 30 miles of work a week, but pays off during the meet.

Workout for a sprinter is lighter in distances, but heavier in effort. Again the major work comes in the middle of the workout. According to Ed Greenidge, who has run a few near-23 mph sprints.

Timing is a big factor for a good sprinter. He has to know, at a good start, how to pace himself and when to make his fast finish," says the portly Greenidge who still runs a 10-10 despite his 30 years and heavy frame.

Holds True In Field

Going further, we found that the same sort of set routine goes on in field events, with variations according to the particular event. Layne, who heaves a 49-foot shot put, goes strictly by the book. His association with Dean Cromwell at Southern California led him to use routine and more routine. "Once you let it go for a day, you've got a heck of a lot of work to make up."

Listening to Layne describe a day's workout is more like listening to a radio commentator's play-by-play of a decathlon. First a, then wind sprints, run a few hurdles, build up spring on parallel bars, throw a few shots for form, do some setting-up sprints. Tiring just to think about it.

Coming to the conclusion that the only way to break records, is to get the natural assets and abilities, is to devise an entirely new system of workouts, and then set your whole life toward those records.

ie, the fish are biting savagely. So savagely, as a matter of fact, they are biting people. At least that's what Aycock Brown, a Dare County, writes. He claims that J. S. Whitley was fishing at Orethis week with pretty good success. But in a vague moment of for a soft drink that was next to his chair. Instead of placing a drink to his lips he mistakenly picked up a bluefish and was bitten on the mouth—some soft drink.

ally, though, the fish have confined their biting to fish and how. Last week TSgt. Charlie D. Crombach, TSgt. Ed Stein, and MSgt. John Parsley (ret) went to Southport and back 261 bluefish to the good. Trolling off shore about 10 miles, the party caught most of the fish between noon and 2:30. It. Crombach, "It was terrific."

largest catches registered along the Carolina coast this week were in Camp Lejeune's own back yard, Sneads Ferry. The 32 boats at Sneads Ferry are in clover. Maybe kingfish, or king would be better. Massive catches have been made all week. They averaged 52 fish a day, ranging from four to 12 pounds. The biggest catch was made by Capt. George Lewis, skipper of the "Awn." His party boated 84 kings in a single day.

These wild runs of fish seldom occur more than twice a year, you are a fisherman, or want to become one, just brace up in the back end of a fishing boat, and watch big streamer-fish torpedo into your lures, shred the line off your reel, and really make mighty mayhem.

organizational meeting of Camp Lejeune's proposed Sportsmen's Club will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the library wing of Mess Industrial Area. The meeting will be under direction of Maj. J. M. A. Mathews, Capt. B. L. Turner, CWO E. H. SSGT. R. L. Rowe, TSgt. E. A. Myers, and TSgt. J. A. Miller. The group will discuss the formation of a Sportsmen's Club here, aiming and hunting. Football Workouts End For Spring; Resume In August

With spring football practice ending last week on a note of review and light practice, King Football has gone back into hibernation until August.

Players and coaches spent the final week reviewing errors noted in scrimmages and the recent intra-squad game, and going through light workouts, to practice the system that Coach Biff Crawley is introducing in his first year here as grid mentor.

Crawley, in summing up the spring workouts, praised a number of this fall's prospective lettermen, but was quick to add that it is far too early to determine which of the candidates will gain starting berths.

Crawley's coaching staff has already been set. 1st Lt. Bill Samer will handle the ends, Capt. Bill Jones, the linemen, and 1st Lt. Hal Killeen will be the backfield coach. Assistant line coach and chief scout will be 1st Lt. John Connor.

Workouts will begin August 1 for newcomers to the team and August 17 for the spring performers. Crawley will devote the period between August 10 and 17 to weeding out the newcomers, who will vie with the spring gridders for spots on the varsity.

Chronopoulos Hurls Victory Over Meade

FORT MEADE, Md.—Chuck Chronopoulos pitched effective ten-hit ball Saturday night, hurling Camp Lejeune to its thirty-eighth win of the season over Fort Meade, 6-1.

Chronopoulos struck out 12, walked two, and was in trouble only in the seventh inning when the lone Meade run scored on his own error, the Lejeune hurler dropping the ball while tagging a runner at the plate.

Lejeune pushed across singletons in the second, third and fifth and sewed up the game with three markers in the seventh.

Camp Nine Crushes Fort Meaders, 10-4

FORT MEADE, Md.—The power-laden bats of Camp Lejeune came to life in the seventh and eighth innings Sunday as the Marines overcame a slim Fort Meade lead to pound out a 10-4 triumph over the Generals for a sweep of the two-game series.

Heading into the seventh inning facing a 4-3 deficit, Lejeune ripped into Fort Meade's Chuck Cardosi for four hits and a walk that were good for four runs and a 7-4 edge. Lejeune put the game far out of reach in the eighth with three more tallies.

Boxers, Grapplers Feted At Season's End With Banquet

The curtain fell Wednesday evening last week on the 1952-53 boxing and wrestling seasons when Lejeune's pug and grapplers were honored at a banquet in the Chinese Room of the Camp Cafeteria.

Guest speakers for the affair included Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, camp commander; Col. J. A. White, camp special services officer, Cmdr. A. V. Hollowell, senior assistant medical officer; Lt. Col. S. J. Altman, assistant camp special services officer; and Capt. Glenn McComas, Lejeune boxing mentor.

First Lt. Dan Moser, coach of the wrestling team, was unable to attend, having been released to inactive duty May 1.

General Linscott presented scarlet and gold jackets to members of the boxing team. The wrestlers had received similar awards earlier.

league featured two baseball tilts last week with the H&S squad splitting in two games. The H&S nine dropped the first contest to the 3rd Bn., 11-6, and made a comeback in their second tilt by up-ending the 4th Bn., 9-2.

In the 10th Marines softball league the 3rd Bn. grabbed the spotlight by coming out the loser in both featured contests. The 2nd Bn. shut them out, 10-0, in the first game, and the H&S softballers gave them another whitewashing by a 3-0 score.

Independents' Action

The third league seeing action last week was a combined league of independent battalions. The featured sports in this league were softball and golf. The softball league standings are: 2nd Engineers, 3-0; Hq. Bn., 2-1; 2nd Tanks, 0-2; 2nd Service Bn., 0-2.
