Wind-Driven Flames Sweep Grandstand Early Sunday

By PFC EMIL DANSKER

Plans for night baseball here this season were delayed indefinitely by the fire that destroyed the baseball field bleachers early Sunday morning.

The season's opener, originally a night contest, has been rescheduled for 2 p. m. Monday. The game, the first of a four game series against Springfield (Mass.) college, will be played on the diamond near Goette Memorial field house.

All previously scheduled night games will be played at 2 p. m. the same dates, according to the Camp Special Services office.

Driven by winds estimated at more than 18 knots, the flames burned off the baseball infield and scorched the outfield fence more than 400 feet away.

Three Camp engine companies—1, 3 and 5—and the department's rescue squad poured more than

The bleacher blaze was the second of two major fires fought by the Camp Lejeune Fire Department last week.

Lejeune Dogs, Cats, Must Be Registered, Have Shots By Sat.

Just another hint to all Lejeune dog and cat owners to make sure their four-footed pride and joys get in line for the rabies inoculations this week. The deadline is March 20.

Owners are reminded to register or re-register pets at the Pass and Identification office, Bldg. 50, also by March 20.

Arrangements have been made for a veterinarian to be at the following locations at the times indicated:

Midway Park fire station, 2-4 p. m., today; Bldg. 11, Hadnot Point, 2-4 p. m., tomorrow and Camp Geiger trailer park administration building, 2-4 p. m., Saturday.

The Camp Provost Marshal also reminds owners that there will be a strict leash quarantine from March 21-April 1. All dogs and cats not restrained will be impounded by the provost marshal, and held three days prior to disposal.

VA REPRESENTATIVE

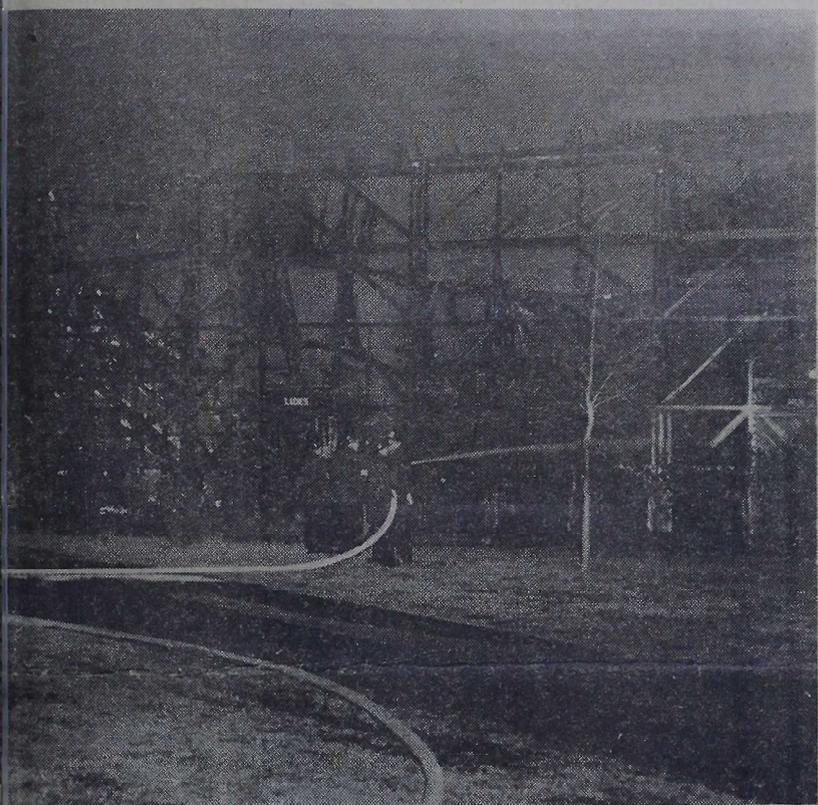

The VA representative from Wilmington will be in the Camp Education office, Camp theater, next Wednesday. He will be available for consultation.

1,300 gallons of water a minute on the two-alarm blaze during the four-hour fight.

Twenty-four marine and civilian firemen were at the scene, in addition to Fire Chief Frank J. Schlarp and two assistant fire chiefs.

Despite the rapid spread of the timber-fed flames, the foundation of the 2,400-capacity structure was saved, according to Chief Schlarp.

Built in 1950, the structure cost approximately $25,000. It was the only Camp baseball field lighted for night play.

FIGHT—Small flickers of flame signal the near-end of the blaze that destroyed the 2,400-capacity bleachers at the baseball field here early Sunday morning. Ruin of the bleachers around the diamond lighted for night baseball caused Monday's opener to be shifted to 2 p. m. All other pre-scheduled night games will be played at 2 p. m. the same dates until further notice (Official Photo).

Four Games With Springfield Lead Off 16-Tilt Home Stand

Baseball begins Monday!

Against a backdrop of burned-out bleachers, Camp Lejeune will open the '54 season against Springfield college of Springfield, Mass., at 2 p. m.

They will play on an open diamond just off the Camp parade ground and near the ruins of the grandstand that went up in flames early Sunday morning.

The local Leathernecks face 20 home games between now and May 4 as they begin their campaign to cop the All-Marine, Atlantic Fleet, Inter-Service and National Baseball Congress championships.

Fifteen Abandoned Cars Impounded By Provost Marshal

Fifteen vehicles removed from the Midway parking lot due to lack of parking stickers have been impounded by the provost marshal and stored at the open storage lot on Holcomb Blvd.

The owners, or anyone knowing the whereabouts of the owners of any of these cars, may contact the provost marshal at Bldg. 50, phone 5681.

ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF MARRYING WHILE IN SERVICE?

CPL. FRANK HOMER, MT. CO., MCB — No! I don't think you make enough money to support a wife, and children while in service, especially on the pay of sergeants and below. If you have rank, then it's all right. Also the housing conditions on some bases aren't too good. Here it would be all right, but on some other bases, I'd say no.

SSGT. T. J. WHITE, MT. CO., MCB — Sure thing! Wives with their husbands in service have a lot of privileges that they wouldn't have in civilian life. For instance, medical care in the service is free. On the outside it isn't. Besides, a married man makes a better marine. He has his family to look forward to at the end of the day.

CPL. WILLIAM LANDON, MT. CO., MCB — No, because of the possibility of going overseas and being away from her. I believe if you are married you should be with your wife all the time, and in the service, that's almost impossible.

CPL. JOHN SHILL, MT. CO., MCB — No. You're parted too much while in service and you don't have time to enjoy married life. Being together is the most important thing in life and with the world the way it is, that usually can't be. Nine times out of ten you're sent overseas. There's too much heartbreak for married people.

SGT. E. A. DUBOIS, MT. CO., MCB — Sure, I've been married now for nine years and I got married while I was in the service. My wife is well satisfied with me being in the Marine Corps and it's a sure bet that I am.

SGT. E. W. WRIGHT, MT. CO., MCB — I'm definitely in favor of being married while in service. I think that after a man has served a year or two he knows what he wants out of life, and being married is one of the nicest things you could possibly get out of life.

Stork's Arrival Brings Joy, Confusion; Sergeant's New Daughter Also His Niece

BY TSGT. BILL DAUM

When his wife, Betty Ann, presented him with a seven pound, 10 ounce daughter at the Naval hospital March 9, Sgt. John R. Merritt, 2nd Tank Bn., became a father and uncle simultaneously.

Confusing, huh? Not really, when you take all the fact into consideration—such as the couple's marriage at Quantico in January, 1952, when Betty Ann shed the title of John's other step-sister to become John's only wife!

Or the fact that John's mother, who is also his mother-in-law, seeing that she married Betty Ann's father (who is also John's father-in-law as well as step-father), is actually the new baby's grandmother and great aunt as well.

Oh, we could go on and on with the Merritt saga!

The fact remains that John almost missed the boat Tuesday night, when Betty Ann called from their Camp Knox trailer home.

"I think I'd better go to the hospital, John!"

On duty as sergeant of the guard at 2nd Tanks, John was promptly relieved by a sympathetic OD. He made his way home, picked up Betty Ann and the ready-packed suitcase, and scurried to the hospital.

It was 7:30 p.m. A short time later Loretta Lee Merritt made her grand entrance into this world, with mother-aunt Betty Ann a featured player.

"Nothing to it," said John, who managed to get a half-hour's sleep within the next 24 hours! Any more Merritts?

Well, Betty Ann has eight (count 'em, eight) sisters, who are naturally John's step-sisters. John, on the other hand, has four sisters, all step-sisters to Betty Ann. Then there are a few brothers (step-brothers) somewhere along the line. . . .

Loretta Lee has no comment at this time!

Divvy Hobby Shop Makes Plans For Woodworking Room

The Division Hobby shop this week announced plans for the addition of a woodworking room with facilities for 35 craftsmen.

Lt. William R. Gardner, officer in charge of the shop, said the new room will open sometime in April. He said it will include a variety of tools, saws and lathes.

The lieutenant also announced that 500 items are now in stock, including model kits, painting sets, leathercraft kits, and model railroad gear.

Experienced hobbyists are on hand for those needing aid or instruction with their projects, he added.

The shop, located in Bldg. 441 can presently accommodate more than 100 men at one time.

Ride Soliciting Hit By New D. C. Rule

The following is a newly-adopted District of Columbia police regulation:

"No person shall accost, solicit or make personal approach to any other person within any railroad or bus station or depot or on the grounds thereof, or on public space in the District of Columbia for the purpose of securing a passenger or passengers for transportation for hire."

Conviction on this charge may result in a fine of $300.

Korean Veterans' Draft Status Fixed

Enlisted Korean veterans will not be assigned as replacements for FMF Far East unless directed by the Commandant of the Marine Corps or unless the individual waives "Korean veteran" status.

A recent Headquarters, Marine Corps directive authorizes commanding officers to use Korean veterans to fill replacement drafts only when the veteran volunteers, is ordered by the Commandant and signs the following waiver: "I hereby request assignment to the Far East as a replacement and waive my Korean veterans' status for this purpose."

Swamps, Rain, Mud, Ice Fail To Stop 8th Engineers In Cherry Point Operation

If Cherry Point had any mountains to be moved, the 8th Engineer Bn. could do it.

But since the Marine Air Station has no mountains, very few hills, the men of this Force Troops unit have contented themselves with altering the landscape a bit there.

Since last fall the local "mud marines," commanded by Lt. Col. W. K. Schaub, have battled rain, muck and freezing weather in one of the largest peacetime construction operations ever undertaken by Leathernecks.

The idea is to make Cherry Point a safer place for all hands. For instance:

CHARLES S. THOMAS

SecNav Candidate Called July Visit To Base 'Big Thrill'

Charles S. Thomas, nominated last week to succeed Robert B. Anderson as secretary of the Navy, is well acquainted with Lejeune.

He officially toured the base last summer and called the visit "one of the biggest thrills" of his life.

The former investment banker was chosen by President Eisenhower to fill the vacancy created when Anderson was named an assistant secretary of defense succeeding Roger Kyes.

As under-secretary of the Navy, Thomas reviewed 2nd Division and Force Troops units here July 30 with Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps, and Lt. Gen. O. P. Smith, commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic.

He also visited Marine Corps Base, Division and Force Troops facilities.

Before departing he said, "Visiting Lejeune was one of the biggest thrills of my life. I could really see the fine morale of the troops. It was apparent everywhere I went."

The area surrounding the station's water treatment was poorly drained. It accompanied a hurricane contaminated the entire area.

Lejeune's engineers work. They built a drainage ditch leading to the area along the station road. Result: No further flooding.

Problem number two: range impact embankment. It was considered engineers moved 25,000 cubic feet of earth to raise the embankment five feet. For good measure the embankment making room for eight feet.

Number three: Plan another beacon tower flyers to runways at Cherry Point because the swamp seemed inaccessible.

The engineers took on the job. Then they built a road through the swamp. It was no easy job, but to it they had to cross one of the most treacherous swamps on the base. For 10 days they used tractor enough earth to fill the marshland.

Number four: The range embankment, using aircraft gunights chopped down by mountain. To prevent danger from the men of the up again.

After that they began crash roads. When a down in the boondocks, lot's chances of slight when rescue team reach him quickly.

Now, thanks to the 8th, a series of roads through the wilderness, providing access to any area.

To complete these projects a few of the many since last August, the often forced to hack their way through the jungles. They stumbled over snakes. After every worst slims mud, one worst antagonists of machinery.

Une Troops Storm Island Free 'Captured Scientists'

UES, P. R.—"American scientists" were freed from camps here last week as marines of the 2nd Division hit the beaches in mock combat and pushed inland against "aggressor" forces to effect the liberation.

The assault included the 2nd Marine Air Group, the 2nd Marine Amphibious Force, and the 2nd Marine Division. The "aggressor" forces were the 6th Marine Amphibious Force, the 6th Marine Amphibious Force, and the 6th Marine Amphibious Force.

The bombardment by ships of Amphibious Forces, Atlantic, forced "aggressor" troops back into the hilly countryside and allowed the landing units to establish their beachhead.

Continuous air support by Marine Corsairs aided the Blue forces as they drove inland. Helicopters of Marine Air Group 26 of the 2nd Marine Air Wing, carried Blue troops to strategic points where attacks were launched against the "aggressor."

Units involved in the operation were: Second Marines, commanded by Col. David W. Stonecliffe; Marine Air Group 31, commanded by Col. Robert A. Beard Jr.; Marine Air Group 26, commanded by Col. Robert W. Clark; Sixth Marines, commanded by Col. Charles M. Nees and Force Troops units, commanded by Lt. Col. Theodore P. Watson.

Among observers were Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps; Lt. Gen. Oliver P. Smith, commanding general, FMFlant; Lt. Gen. W. O. Brice, assistant commandant of the Marine Corps for Air and Vice Adm. Frank G. Fahrion, commander, Amphibious Forces, Atlantic.

Lt. Bates will go into private practice in Greenwood, S. C. Before coming to Camp Lejeune, Captain Callaway was 3rd Division surgeon at Camp Gifu, Japan. He left the States in August, 1953, and returned in January, 1954.

A Naval Reserve doctor since 1934, Captain Callaway has been on active duty since 11 days after Pearl Harbor, 1941. He served 21 months with the 3rd Division in the Pacific during World War II.

Captain Callaway holds the Bronze Star for his part in the Bougainville campaign and the Legion of Merit with combat "V" for the Guam campaign.

Mrs. Callaway will join her husband here.

Smoke Overcomes 1 Lejeune Fireman; Six Escape Falling Wall In J'ville Fire

One Camp Lejeune fireman was overcome by smoke and six others narrowly escaped injury under a falling wall last week during a fire at the Onslow Motor Co., Highway 17, south, in Jacksonville.

Sgt. John J. Foley, Engine Co. 6, Camp Geiger, was overcome as the Camp Fire Department went to the aid of the Jacksonville firemen.

Jacksonville Mayor M. A. Cowell in a letter to Brig. Gen. Matthew C. Horner, acting Camp commanding general, this week commended the Camp Lejeune fire department for its efforts in the Onslow Motor Co. fire.

Wrote Mayor Cowell: "... your fire department immediately responded. I should like to commend your firemen for their (cooperation) with us and thank you ... for valuable assistance rendered."

in the blaze. He was treated at the scene by Comdr. Warner D. Bundens, Force Troops Medical Officer.

Later taken to the Camp infirmary, Sgt. Foley was returned to duty the following day.

The near-injuries came in the sudden collapse of a portion of the brick wall of the garage.

Camp Lejeune Fire Chief Frank J. Schlarp estimated the damage at more than $200,000. The fire destroyed two-thirds of the main building and wiped out the garage's paint and machine shops and the parts room.

Lejeune Engine Co. 6, Camp Geiger, and Engine Co. 8, Montford Point, as well as 11 off-duty firemen, answered the alarm. Water was drafted from the New river to help fight the blaze.

Texas Insurance Company Defunct

The Camp Provost Marshal has been notified that United Lloyds Insurance Co., El Paso, Tex., has gone out of business.

Provost marshal representatives noted that a number of marines stationed here have automobile policies with the company, and must report to the Pass and Identification office, Bldg. 50, for re-registration.

It was also noted that anyone driving an auto carrying insurance with the now defunct company would be liable under the North Carolina insurance law, which calls for auto insurance with a state-recognized organization.

Home accidents kill more children from 1 to 14 years of age than any disease.

Vieques Troops On Air Saturday

Members of the Sixth Marines, now on TRAEX maneuvers at Vieques, will be featured during a program over radio station WJNC this Saturday afternoon. Tape-recorded interviews made on-the-spot by Lester Gould, station owner, feature local marines at work and questions on liberty at historic Puerto Rican sites.

The program is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Delayed Action

In a quonset hut at the 1st Division's Mine Warfare school in Korea last week an instructor held up a supposedly disarmed Communist mortar shell. He began his lecture on how an American-made fuse could be adapted to it.

The shell somehow got out of his hands. It fell to the deck and exploded. Six marines including the instructor were killed, and 30 were injured, 12 seriously.

as compared to the Army's 8.5 percent, the Navy's 9.98 percent and the Air Force's 13.69 percent.

All percentages will be increased next fiscal year so that by June, 1955, the Marine Corps will have one officer for every 11.1 enlisted men, the Army one for every 9.9, the Navy one for every nine and the Air Force one officer for every six enlisted.

A MAN'S RELATION TO GOD

The book of Jonah has a lesson for all of us. It is many people think of the story as a fish story. The fish is dental. This is a story about a man. And, very likely, it about you.

Jonah heard the call of God to God's service. But he the other direction; he took a ship for Tarshish. He could not the call of God, however. There was a storm at sea and, series of incidents we find Jonah in the belly of a fish w great spiritual agony, he offers a beautiful prayer conclude the words, "Salvation is of the Lord." When he spoke these v found himself not in darkness but in the light. When G called him to service he answered and became a prophet he still had much to learn about God's will.

The spiritual message of the book to me is simply that n ignore the call of God to God's service and escape the great d engulf his soul and remains there until the man comes t recognizes that salvation comes from the Lord and makes his to God. When this is done the darkness is driven away b of God's countenance which always smiles on those who s God's will.

There are many young men in the service who are the same reason Jonah was on the ship for Tarshish. T running away from parental authority, from local social cus convention, from family responsibility, yes, even from G to the ministry. And these men are unhappy. They dwell i darkness. If you are in this category, you understand what

Now the solution is simple but it is not easy. The soluti plete surrender to God's will for you. This does not mean g from the Marine Corps. For God can always use a man lives. The realization that "salvation is of the Lord" is that turns on the light in darkened lives. If you would k about this change from darkness to light, see your chaplain.

Trio Trades Chic Fashions, Hot Lights To Become 'Model Marines' At Lejeune

By BECKY CARPER

In a New York photographer's studio, an attractive young woman was seated upon a satin-draped bench while the camera focused upon her shining blond hair. She flashed a dazzling smile, the shutter clicked, and the picture was purchased by a well-known shampoo company.

In North Hollywood, Calif., a pretty, auburn-haired teen-ager posed in a frothy, white evening gown before a backdrop of the sea bathed in moonlight. After the sitting, she returned to her high school classes.

On a bridge high above the Hudson river, another model posed dramatically in a fashionable suit and coat ensemble. The wind whipped the coat about her, but she stood for over an hour in the biting cold as the cameraman shot numerous angles.

The glaring hot lights, the long hours, and the little promise of a continuing job soon grew bore- some to the three young ladies.

Della Tucker wanted to see more of the world. A native New York- er, she had modeled since gradu- ation from the Julia Richman High school. As a Walter Thornton model, she enjoyed posing for beauty ads, but she was restless.

In January, 1953, she enlisted in the Marine Corps.

Lillian Whitaker, who became a model at 15, started her career with Lola Whitehead agency in Burbank, Calif. She did tea-room modeling at the Pepper Tree lodge in Hollywood after being graduated from the John Bur- roughs High school in 1951, but she wanted excitement.

In August, 1953, she enlisted in the Marine Corps.

Joan Bazin graduated from the Scotch Plains High school in Fan- wood, N. J., and traveled to New York City to become a model with Harry Conover, Inc. Her profession took her to Orlando, Fla., and society modeling, but she didn't consider her work profitable.

The models met in Bldg. 1 where they worked as typists. Lil- lian was secretary to the Camp Legal Assistance officer, while Del and Joan worked together in the Camp Personnel section.

Della, who became Mrs. James Segars last September, was dis- charged this morning. She'll join her commercial artist hus- band, a former Marine, in Mi- ami, Fla. There, she hopes to combine housekeeping with modeling.

The trio agreed that even though they were accustomed to chic fash- ions and seeing their pictures in various magazines, they enjoyed being "model" marines.

Major Weddell Named New Lejeune Baseball Mentor

Major Arthur O. Weddell, formerly Force Troops Special Services officer, is the new Camp Lejeune baseball coach.

The new coach, backed by 21 years experience in baseball, will lead the Lejeune team in its first game Monday against Springfield (Mass.) college.

MAJOR WEDDELL

Major Weddell, veteran of 30 months in the Pacific during World War II, began his baseball career as a catcher for Madora (Ind.) High school. He later caught four years for Indiana Central college.

At Indiana Central the 36-year-old Reservist was an outstanding basketball player and captained the baseball team in his senior year.

Offered a contract with Evansville (Ind.) in the Three-I league after graduation, Major Weddell said he decided to go right into coaching while he had the opportunity—because of the unstable world situation.

Before his recall to active duty in 1952, Major Weddell was principal and athletic director at Madora High school. He has his master's degree and three year's work on his doctorate at Indiana university.

TSgt. Ralph V. Russo is assistant coach.

FMF Cage Team Takes Third Place In Norfolk Tourney

Four star basketball players from the 2nd Division sparked the Fleet Marine Force quintet to 3rd place in the 1954 nine team double-elimination tournament held last week at Norfolk. The FMF team fought to retain last year's title despite injuries within the squad.

The Marine team was inactive during the first round of the tournament but found themselves in the hottest contest of the second round as they faced a strong PhibLant team, sparked by Jerry Moye, ex-Fordham center. The PhibLant team handed the marines a 102-90 defeat with Reggie Lee and Skip Whitaker of the 2nd Division scoring consistently in the closing minutes.

In the losers' bracket of the tournament the FMF team encountered the MineLant team and won 115-74. Leroy Smith, hampered by an injured right hand, was credited with eleven assists, using his left hand to feed the ball to his teammates.

The marine squad defeated BatCruLant by the score of 116-90. The FMF team led by Don Cramer of Cherry Point, who scored 23 points, Leroy Smith of Lejeune who scored 21, and Skip Whitaker of Lejeune who scored 20, showed the same spark and determination which gained them last year's crown.

The final game found the marines losing to DesLant 98-81.

Camp Boxing Team 2nd To Fort Bragg In MidLant Tourney; Hill Takes Title

Four members of the Camp Lejeune boxing squad won championship titles, but the team wound up in second place in the Middle Atlantic Interservice Athletic boxing tournament at Fort Myer, Va., last week.

The 82nd Airborne paratroopers from Fort Bragg won top honors, outfighting the locals, 35-29, in the final team point tabulation. The paratroopers won only two championships but their many entries enabled them to annex enough points to take the team trophy away from Lejeune, which held it for three years.

Lejeune's Richie Hill won his third championship title of the current boxing season by copping a unanimous decision over Leonard Maddox, 82nd Airborne, in the 165-pound class Saturday night. Hill fought four times in the tournament, winning two bouts by decision and two by ko. He also has won the Carolinas and Eastern Golden Gloves light heavyweight championships.

Nick LaRosa copped the 139-pound class championship by a decision over Allen, Naval Receiving station, Washington, D. C. LaRosa fought four times, winning two by ko and two by decision.

Joe Davis brought home the 156-pound championship with a unanimous decision over Eugene Walden, 82nd Airborne. Davis won the Carolinas middleweight championship and was runner-up in the middleweight division in the Eastern Golden Gloves tournament this year.

Bud House won the heavyweight championship. With only six participants in the heavyweight class, House drew a bye, putting him in the quarter-finals. He won this bout which automatically put him into the finals.

He was paired against Lejeune's Lou Morgan who had to forfeit because of a cut eye sustained in the semi-finals.

The only Lejeune fighter to lose in the finals was Randy Horne, who dropped a close decision to Willie Thrash, 82nd Airborne.

The Leathernecks fought 30 bouts. They won 20, nine via knockouts.

Three Local Boxers Begin Workouts For Inter-City Matches

Three members of the Camp Lejeune boxing team, who are also representing the Carolinas, reported Monday to New York to join the Eastern team for the annual Inter-City amateur boxing matches between New York and Chicago for the National championship.

Light Heavyweight Champion Richie Hill, Middleweight Joe Davis and Bantamweight Basil Blackson were picked by New York coaches after the recent Golden Gloves tournament there.

The Eastern team will train at Bear Mountain, near West Point, for a week before the matches March 22 at Madison Square Garden.

Lt. Mike Capriano, who coached the Carolinas team in New York will accompany the three fighters to Bear Mountain and will handle them in the fights.

Lady Golfers Hold Point Tournament

keep Braves chain for mound in the inaugural.

After the four-game series Springfield college, the Lejeune team plays the University of Carolina on Saturday, and that with a four-game series against the University of Carolina here March 29-April 1.

Coch Weddell will have a tough time trying to better the year's overall record of 1953. Noting practice showings, however, the new coach is optimistic about prospects.

Over 100 candidates for the team have been pared down to 26 who will don the flannel day.

On the basis of experience and past records, the catching staffs look particularly strong as contrasted to the outfielders, but some promising hitters are in the outlook brighter in the department.

The squad roster includes seven catchers, seven pitchers, five infielders and six outfielders. They play Parris Island their first away game, April 6.

Two Golf Tournaments At Paradise Point Club This Week

Two tournaments are scheduled for Paradise Point golf course this weekend.

The "best ball" meet is for all golfers with an estimated handicap of 18-holes. The tournament will be held at Paradise Point Golf Club. The Camp headquarter will carry the score of their best score on each hole. Play will be with full handicaps.

The mixed Scotch tournament will tee-off at 11:30 a.m. and will drive from odd-numbered holes. The tournament is open to women from even-numbered holes. The tournament will be followed by alternate shot.

The last meeting of the committee pointed up that all golfers applying for a card permitting them to play on Course No. 1 will be required to pass a test.

Each applicant must be accompanied by a member of the committee, and must answer questions concerning golfing and rules of play.

FUR WHOM THE BELLS TOLL—Luscious Ava Gardner can be seen on Lejeune screens this week in the three-bell movie, "Mogambo." Clark Gable also stars. We can't explain why she's entangled in all that fur. We never thought of her as the cold-natured type. Incidentally, she was just named the No. 1 female film star of 1953 in a Box Office magazine poll (Photo Courtesy Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer).

This Week's Movie Review

YANKEE PASHA (2 Bells) Jeff Chandler and Rhonda Fleming star in this Technicolor movie based on the novel by Edison Marshall. It's the usual sword-fighting, harem-scene thing, this time with an American cavorting through it making love to a native beauty.

KILLERS FROM SPACE (2 Bells) Science fiction addicts will find a new twist in this story which delves into the weird and fantastic. Strange creatures from another world have secretly arrived and are now plotting to take over the earth. They are harnessing the energy given out by atomic blasts to create enormous reptiles and insects to eliminate the early race of man. Peter Graves in the lead role as a scientist who falls into the hands of the villains.

IT STARTED IN PARADISE (2 Bells) It's an English film in unusual Technicolor that is somewhat overdone. It's one big fashion show with a plot vaguely reminiscent of "All About Eve." In that it shows how one woman tries to outdo another in a profession, which in this case is fashion designing. However, it lacks the clever dialogue and superb acting of the former. Cast includes Sheila Graham, Ian Hunter and Martin Hunt.

BAIT (2 Bells) In this one, Hugo Haas is unable to locate a gold mine he discovered 15 years earlier. He makes a deal with John Agar for half interest in the mine if he helps him find it. When the mine is rediscovered Haas regrets the bargain and plots murder, using his wife, Cleo Moore, as bait for Agar. The plot is fairly effective, the acting is convincing and Miss Moore—nice.

VOLCANO (3 Bells) This one is for adults. It was made in Italian, but English dialogue has been dubbed in which sometimes causes a disjointed effect. The star is the celebrated Italian actress Anna Magnani. The cast also includes Geraldine Brooks and Rossano Brazzi. Magnani portrays an immoral woman in a very moral little Italian fishing village. When her lover, a villainous debauchee, she is hired by a younger sister, she nobly poisons him off in an unusual manner and then holds a climactic rendezvous with an erupting volcano.

TEXAS CARNIVAL (3 Bells) This is strictly comedy starring Red Skelton and Esther Williams. The story takes place in a varied and elaborate background consisting of scenes from a carnival and luxurious resort hotel. Red is a past master of the art of slapstick comedy and some of the scenes are eye-filling performance with capable assistance from Ann Miller and Howard Keel. It's an old picture, back for a second run.

DRUMS OF TAHITI (3 Bells) Here's another one of those Technicolor South Pacific Island jobs. The hero, Dennis O'Keefe plots to overthrow French control on Tahiti. He smuggles guns into the island. Patricia Medina supplies the romantic interest which she is hired to pose as O'Keefe's bride. Francis L. Sullivan, member of the French police attempts to expose the plan. The picture comes to a climax when a volcano erupts and a tropical storm hits the island at the same time. Since the picture was originally photographed for 3-D, we can almost see the mad logic behind the thrilling but far-fetched ending.

MA AND PA KETTLE AT HOME (2 Bells) Everyone should be familiar with the Kettle family by now, so you should know what to expect. It's homespun, not the greatest, not the worst. It's an evening of very light entertainment. Stars Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride.
STRANGER ON THE PROWL (2 Bells) Paul Muni gives a forceful characterization of a dejected man who accidentally kills a woman in a desperate moment. While on the run he meets Victoria Maer after a fear-sticken poor boy fleeing after a petty offense. While in hiding the two become friends. After this there's too much gush and a meaningless subplot about an unprincipled tractor rather than adds to the LOVE HAPPY. No word available on this. RANDOLPH SCOTT is back in again, or was he ever out? he's co-starring with Barbara who helps. The usual horror color.

HIGHWAY DRAGNET (2 Bells) A discharged marine, Rico becomes entangled in a mu. Vegas. He escapes from po. give a ride by two women. women gets pretty, thinking going to kill them. She t. him, but he's saved by the Joan Bennett and Wanda her. an excellent supporting cast sense piece.

RIDING SHOTGUN (2 Bells) Here's old, indestructible Scott again. This time he's Scott against a guard, who i. from his coach to get ev. outlaw who is responsible fo. of his wife and son. While h. cents is held up and severa. Joan Weldon, here last w. USO show, supplies the rom. est.

TENNESSEE CHAMP (2 Bells) Dewey Martin is a deacon believes he's murdered a ma. Keenan Wynne shows him. runs into the man he. killed, in the ring. Coincid. Shelley Winters does a. as Wynne's wife.
