A-Bomb Kaleidoscope Of Chaos

ST. PHIL SANBORNE
ed in a trench—just two ort of an atomic bomb—e most comfortable feel-e world.
e men of the 1st Bn., 8th
e. They can tell you. They ere.
g through the cold, still of a desert night five n, they could barely see ous looking 300-foot steel op which a red light im-y blinked the seconds

Below The Light
The rascination which the tower held for them was understandable.
For below the blinking light rested man's most feared weapon.
They had arrived at the trench area at 2 a. m. Saturday morning a clear and bitter cold night.
They had exactly two hours and 35 minutes to wait—for the atomic bomb.
Crouched in their four-foot deep trenches, they waited. Some, exhausted by days of strenuous atomic drills, slept peacefully as the hour approached. Many huddled around the sage-brush fires they had made to keep warm, joking, talking, and laughing just a little nervously.

To keep them company, a cold and seemingly disinterested voice droned over a public address system the life and death instructions which spelled out survival in the face of an atomic explosion.
Well Chosen Words
"At H-minus ten minutes you will drop into your trenches—and stay there," said the voice. "At H-minus two minutes a siren will sound signalling you to crouch low in your trenches, lean against the forward wall, and look down with your eyes open. Do not raise up until the shock wave has passed.

We emphasize DO NOT raise up
until the shock wave has passed."
No dissenting opinions were heard.
Time raced by, the siren
sounded, 2200 Marines disappear- ed below the surface of the des- ert floor, and all was silent, save for the ever present counting vo- ice, five . . . four . . . three . . .

An indescribably brilliant light—like the flash of a million flash-bulbs exploding at once—turned the brown dirt trench walls to snow-white for an instant, and then was replaced by the orange-amber reflection of the churning fire ball as it boiled its way skyward.
The Earth Shakes
No one moved as they waited for the expected shock wave. Suddenly the earth began to shake, first slightly, and then jarring and pounding.

What Points Do You Think Should Be Stressed In The Suggested Charm Courses for Service Women?

CPL. JOSEPH CALIGUIRI, CAMP LIBRARY—I think the personalities of a lot of service women could be improved upon. They could try to be a bit nicer to talk to and to be with. Perhaps some additional instruction in discipline also would help. Some of the service women I've seen are short on this point.

SSGT. S. L. McGOWAN, 3RD BN., 2ND MARINES—The greatest shortcoming of the majority of service women here is that they don't know how to wear their lipstick; many of them wear too much. They also might learn to wear "squared away" uniforms. If it could be arranged to supply expert advice on how to select prettier civilian clothing, they might make better impressions on dates.

SGT. BARBARA STIDHAM, JOINT LANDING FORCE BOARD—I'll admit that I've seen a given percentage of women who should have more pride in the uniform they wear. Perhaps a course in the development of self-pride would do the most good. Many of the women fail to get their uniforms altered to fit, and often look as though they never went to "boot camp."

PVT. BETTY BROWN, WM COMPANY OFFICE—Women Marines

are no different from most civilian women when it comes to charm. All women should sit and talk and walk to the best of their ability. I don't think any special courses should be given—if a girl is interested in how she looks, she will make an effort always to be her best. Although it isn't exactly a point of charm, some WMs could learn how to conduct themselves better in public.

PFC PATTY STAMPLER, WM CO.—A lot of service women have bad reputations in the eyes of many civilians. Because of this, we have to take extra steps to be charming in manners and how to be lady-like would help a lot. Of course, if a girl wants to be just ordinary, no amount of classroom instruction ever will help.

'Top' Sergeant's Hustle Gets Mrs. Huss Housed

Thanks to a "Tough Top Kick," the young wife of a Marine in Headquarters and Service Co., H&S Bn., 8th Marines, found friends she never knew existed.

One recent Friday, Mrs. Janet Huss, wife of Pfc Robert Huss, decided she should be here with her husband. About the same time her husband decided he should be at Fort Wayne, Ind., with her.

Fifteen minutes after Huss boarded a friend's car to leave on a long week-end to Fort Wayne, his wife sent a wire saying she would arrive the following morning.

Big Surprise

Huss's "Top", MSgt. H. D. Hale, was phoned by the Western Union office here asking him to deliver the message. "Some girl is in for a big surprise," mused the top as he received the message.

After an unsuccessful attempt to stop Huss at the main gate the incident was forgotten—until Saturday morning.

A few hours before Mrs. Huss' bus was due to arrive here, the traveling husband arrived at Fort Wayne. Learning of the situation he immediately sent a wire to a friend, asking him to meet his wife when she arrived.

Again the "Top" received the message. Huss' friend was away, leaving him the job of meeting the Lejeune-bound wife.

Paging Mrs. Huss

Getting a description of the Pfc's wife by having the Jacksonville Bus Station page her, he met Mrs. Huss, and her five year old daughter when they arrived.

Mrs. Huss, he found, had made no room reservations.

Immediately he and two Western Union girls, Mrs. Bee Long, and Mrs. Joan Ross, started phoning various places in Jacksonville, trying to find a place for Mrs. Huss to stay, but to no avail.

Travel Weary

Sgt. Hale then phoned some friends who operate a tourist court in Wilmington, and was able to get the now travel weary Mrs. Huss a room for the night. Sunday, however, Sgt. Hale was again confronted with the problem of finding Mrs. Huss a room.

The wife of Pfc Thomas E. LaRose, a clerk working with Hale, heard of the plight and came to rescue by saying, "We can't leave that girl and a five month old baby all alone! Bring her here to stay with us."

When Huss returned Sunday night he found his wife well taken care of, and a special liberty pass for 48 hours.

The "Top" gave his specific instructions to go out and find a place to stay.

fore they had moved 500 yards forward from their foxholes. The advance was held up by radiological safety teams which declared the area too contaminated for troop safety.

In the forward area, equipment and cactus lay smoldering from the heat, radioactivity, and blast of the bomb that completely disintegrated the 300-foot tower on which it was detonated.

Blinded Observers

Termed one of the largest nuclear explosions ever set off on this continent, the bomb's brilliant flash momentarily blinded observers on Mount Carleton, 35 miles from the detonation point.

Sixty-five miles away in Las Vegas, it brought brilliant daylight to the gambling city. The flash was seen faintly 850 miles away in Montana and plainly 300 miles to the southwest in Los Angeles.

Volunteers

One phase of the exercise, labeled as top secret, was the part played by six Marine and six Army volunteer officers who weathered the blast in a six-foot trench somewhere in advance of the main body of troops.

After completing the atomic maneuver, each Leatherneck was checked carefully for any radiation which might linger on his clothing or equipment.

This was the first time in history that helicopters have been used in an atomic explosion. Brig. Gen. Wilbur S. Brown, who commanded the 2d Marine Corps Provisional Atomic Exercise Brigade, explained that "vertical envelopment—third dimension attack—means going up and over."

Back at Camp Lejeune, Lt. Col. Lawrence P. Harris, commanding officer of the 1st Bn., 8th Marines, stated, "It was a wonderful opportunity for all of us to observe at first hand the true strength of atomic devices. More important, it showed the troops that infantry most definitely can be used in conjunction with this devastating weapon."

Former Marine Pens World War II Novel

Former Marine Pfc Leon Uris will break into print Monday as the author of "Battle Cry," a novel of the Marine Corps in World War II to be published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

Concerning the author's experiences as a member of a radio squad in the Sixth Marines at San Diego, New Zealand, Guadalcanal and Tarawa, "Battle Cry" has been commended by Brig. Gen. Verne J. McCaul, director of the Division of Public Information, as "the finest novel I have yet seen dealing with World War II."

FROM MONEY TO MOZART is an easy change in schedule for Edwin Sheldon, an Addressograph operator in the division dining office, who renders the classics two nights a week for Hostess House diners (Official USMC Photo).

MC Reserve Policy Board Asks Topics

Recommendations and suggestions for the formulation of Marine Corps Reserve policies by the Reserve Policy Board are invited from all Reserves and regulars.

The Policy Board is scheduled to convene about June 15 at Headquarters Marine Corps. Anyone wishing to send in a topic for consideration should forward it to the Commandant of the Marine Corps (Code AF) in letter form, with a brief explanation of the subject matter, if necessary.

Recommendations should be in Headquarters by May 15.

A-Bomb

The earth literally jumped and shook underfoot, pounding the Marines against the walls of their trenches and making them feel, as one Leatherneck put it, as though they were rolling around in a huge bowl of jello.

The shock wave roared over the trenches with the sound of a thousand artillery pieces firing at once. Dirt, dust, and rocks showering into the emplacements brought visibility down to a brown zero.

As the shock wave passed the Marines stood up to be greeted by the most beautifully destructive and frightening sight ever created by man.

Going Up

Framed in the dirt-filled air, the purple-lavender mushroom boiled skyward like a huge fire-filled volcano. In ten seconds the cloud was 4000 feet above Yucca Flats and measured a mile wide. It didn't take long to climb 40,000 feet.

As the troops leaped from the trenches and charged forward they saw a vast scene of atomic destruction. Stretching across the desert floor in an eerie torch-like procession were hundreds of scorched and burning Joshua trees, fired by the flash of the explosion.

Jeeps and trucks were literally torn apart. One tank was hurled through the air, its turret completely ripped off. An LVT was hurled far from its original position and damaged beyond repair.

Dummies, wearing Marine clothing, which were standing upright, were torn and burned apart. Those lying prone on the ground were either not damaged or else burned slightly.

It was a scene of destruction few will forget. As one 8th Marine Leatherneck put it, "It makes you feel real unnecessary."

Chops, Chop New Hostess House Fare

BY SGT. BOB WARNER

The Hostess House has highbrow with a recent addition to its menu—Mozart.

It discovered Cpl. Ed Sheldon, a "long hair" Ivory music, a passion for Mozart, Chopin, Beethoven, and Bach. Hostess House diners were surprised to hear the swiftness of a Beethoven sonata, delicate Chopin waltzes without tacking a steak, but they registered a lot of enthusiasm for the new musical look.

Ed has spent many a night at the Hostess House lounge where his fingers limbered up. He has private piano lessons for years and has studied orchestration at the New York College of Music. During his 17 months in the Marine Corps he's tried to keep his musical shape, practicing wherever he could find the base.

Hostess House listeners enjoyed his high spirited interpretation of the classics so much that the management finally put the piano into the dining room and told Ed to fire away.

For Cpl. Ed Sheldon now music at night and money in the day. He operates an addressograph machine in the dining office, making up playlists and checks. At night he feeds his audiences with classics for dessert—and the rest.

Documentary Film Supper At Trailer Park On Sunday

A Christian film, "Out of the Night," will be shown at the Recreation Hall. All families are invited to bring a picnic supper to the Trailer Park on Sunday. The film is a documentary story of a drunkard's back from Chicago's Skid Row.

Preceding the film there will be a "carry-in" supper at 6 p.m. at the Recreation Hall. All families are invited to bring a picnic supper to the Trailer Park on Sunday. The film is a documentary story of a drunkard's back from Chicago's Skid Row.

Joint Study Finds Answer To WO Riddle

A joint service committee, which has been studying a limited-duty officer program as a substitute for warrant officers, has proposed a system to create "technical duty officers" in all services.

Under this system all warrant appointments would cease. Existing warrant officers could: pass tests or selection, or both, for an appropriate technical duty grade; remain warrants for the rest of their careers, with opportunity for advancement through the warrant pay brackets; or revert to permanent grade, if they are temporary warrants.

The number of temporary duty officers would be such as to allow enlisted personnel the same chance for advancement as they have now.

TDO's would compete among themselves for advancement in the same manner as special-duty and limited-duty officers and would perform the same types of duties as warrants.

FINDING LIFE'S FULLNESS

Suppose that a poll could be taken to find what people would ask for if they could have just one wish granted. The requests would include nearly every event or thing imaginable.

Now suppose that the personal longing or motive behind each wish could be known. Instead of variety, uniformity would be apparent, with each wish representing that which the individual concerned hoped would bring the fullest measure of satisfaction and happiness.

The majority seem to feel that the possession of things can bring happiness; but such never proves to be the case. The satisfaction of one desire merely gives rise to another, or several others, and so they live in a constant round of striving for that which is always just out of reach.

Not All Gloomy

Yet men need not be completely discouraged, for there is one bright ray of hope in the otherwise gloomy picture. It is the Gospel, which brings to men the good news that the salvation provided by Jesus Christ also includes the satisfaction of life's deepest longings.

Our Lord taught His followers that He came that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. The fullness of life, however, does not consist in the abundance of things possessed, but in a vital relationship with God.

Men must be reborn, spiritually, and it is only as they receive Him and believe in Him as the One who died for their sins that this divine sonship can become a reality.

The Living Way

Reader, how is it with you? Are you still seeking, yet never finding? If so, turn to Jesus Christ. He is God's gift to needy humanity, the Saviour of all who will put their trust in Him, the One who can fill all life with meaning and satisfy its deepest longings.—Chaplain W. R. Griswold, Hq. Co., Force Troops.

Johansen Awarded Silver Star For Korean Gallantry

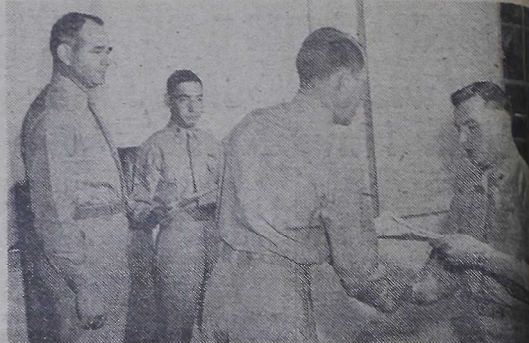

SSgt. Peter J. Johansen, 8th Tank Bn., recently received the Silver Star Medal for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy while serving with a Marine tank company in

SSGT. P. J. JOHANSEN

Korea last August. Johansen killed 13 enemy soldiers in the encounter for which he was decorated.

When a group of Marines on an outpost position was ambushed by an enemy force, he was assigned to deliver close fire support for the infantry aiding in the relief. When he saw the enemy reinforcing their positions, he maneuvered his tank to within 150 yards of the hostile troops. Expressing complete disregard for his personal safety, he unhesitatingly exposed himself to intense enemy artillery, mortar, and small arms fire in order to employ his anti-aircraft machine gun.

Camp Diamonddeers Face Pony League Pros Here Tonight

Camp Lejeune's varsity baseball team gets its first taste of professional opposition of the season this week, hooking up in a four-game series with Corning, N. Y., of the Class D Pony League.

Lejeune, having completed a session at Norfolk, Va., against three Navy teams, tackles Corning here tonight and tomorrow night. Saturday's and Sunday's games are scheduled for Kingston, N. C. WJNC will air tomorrow's.

A single game against Mitchell Air Force Base Monday night completes the week's card. The contests are the start of a three-week home stay for the Marines.

ON VICTORY TRAIL

Friday—Lejeune beat Norfolk NAS 8-2, Johnson winner, Brown homered.

Saturday—Lejeune beat Norfolk NAS 6-5, on Brown's single in ninth scoring Russo and Hawkins, Waugh winner.

Gators Swamped By Diamondmen At Little Creek

NORFOLK, Va. Tuesday—Camp Lejeune pounded three Little Creek hurlers for 16 hits to swamp the Gators, 11-4 here today giving the Marines their 25th win of the season and their twentieth in a row.

Bob Reich, getting his third win of the year, gave up 11 hits but stayed out of trouble by issuing only two walks. Little Creek scored in the second, fourth, and eighth.

But Lejeune was the team that put on the offensive. Included in the 16-hit barrage were Reich's first homer of his career, a 350-foot shot over the right field fence, a 40-foot triple by Bill Hawkins, a triple by Davie Krings and a pair of doubles by Paul Donovan.

Nuxhall Jumped

Lejeune jumped starter Bob Nuxhall for three runs in the third, Reich leading off with a homer to tie the game.

Nuxhall held Lejeune scoreless until the sixth when the Marines pulled away with four more runs, a balk and a wild pitch helping out.

In the seventh Lejeune chased Nuxhall and started working over

Grapplers Garner Honors In National AAU Tournaments

Camp Lejeune, Carolinas AAU wrestling champion, garnered 12 points to take fifth place in the National AAU Championships at Toledo, Ohio, April 9-11. The Marine matmen, coached by 1st Lt. Dan Moser, took unofficial first place in the Greco-Roman national championships next day.

Lejeune's heavyweight, Ed "Tiny" Albers, won his first two matches in the freestyle by decision, but lost the last two to Bill Kenslake, former Olympic wrestler, and Herb Haberlack. The latter took first and second, respectively, in the heavyweight class of the freestyle tournament, with Albers third.

Charles Lindstrom, the Marines' entry in the 191-pound class, pinned Dan Segura to take fourth, despite being decisioned by Michigan State's Dale Thomas.

Placing one man in the national championship role, and taking one second and a third, Lejeune swept the field in the Greco-Roman competition the following day with 16 points.

Strictly a European form of wrestling, Greco-Roman forbids the use of legs. If a grappler touches his opponent's leg, he loses by default.

The Marines' national champion in this tourney is Jerry Wilson, in the 136-pound class, who defeated two men by pins and one by decision.

Other men placing for the Leathernecks were Joe Gasquez, who took second in the 160-pound class, and Henry Carmichael, third-place at 147.

First place in the freestyle tournament was taken by the Oregon Olympic Club, and second by 11th Naval District.

Runner-up in the 50-man field of the Greco-Roman meet was Toledo University, host for the two national championships.

FT Softball League Underway As CSG Loses To Tankmen

The Force Troops Intramural Softball League went into full swing this week as five games were played at Camp Geiger field.

In the game of the week, 8th Tank Bn. defeated Combat Service Group, the defending camp champions, 9-3. Combat Service, which had three of last year's regulars returning, was ineffective against Tank pitcher Art Schimmoeller, who struck out 18.

In other games, 2nd ANGLICO walloped 8th Engineers, 28-9. Second AAA A-W defeated 2nd Am-Trucks, 13-3; 45 Rocket defeated 8th Motor Transport, 20-5; and 155 Gun Bn. downed Hq. Co., 19-10.

Duke Dashers Top Marines By 10 Points

Joel Shankle, Duke University's one-man track team, amassed 25 points to lead his teammates to a 70½-60½ victory over the strong Camp Lejeune cinder squad at Durham, N. C., Friday afternoon.

Shankle took easy firsts in the broad jump, high jump, pole vault, low hurdles, and high hurdles for his point total.

Sparkling times were turned in during the tight meet by Lejeune's Roger Montgomery, Frank Rivera, and Clarence Williams. Montgomery completely outran the field in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, while Rivera turned in a 49.6 time in the 440, and Clarence Williams broke his old Lejeune record of 10:20 in the two mile run with 10:14.3.

Frank Womer, the Marines' ace pole vaulter, hit 13 feet for the first time in his life to break his old Lejeune record of 12 feet, eight inches, only to be beaten out for the first place by Duke's fabulous sophomore Shankle who leaped to a 13-foot, four inch mark.

Highlight of the afternoon was the Marines' winning of the mile relay event in the fast time of 3:26.6, another new Lejeune record.

The 880 provided another thriller as Duke's captain, John Tate, paced a torrid first lap in 52 seconds, leaving Lejeune's Seymour Bibuld behind. Bibuld made his move on the last turn, passing the whole field and falling inches short of catching Tate at the finish line.

The Marines now have a two-win, one-loss record, having defeated N. C. State and Quantico previously, while the Duke record stands at 500 with two losses in four starts.

The next meet for Lejeune is on May 1, when they will tangle with Greensboro A&T here.

Hill took the middleweight while House copped the heavyweight crown.

The ten championship bouts of the final night climaxed four days of fighting. It required bouts and two defaults to mine the ten title-holders.

Hill, the workhorse of the Lejeune squad, slammed his way to the middleweight crown with a foregone conclusion knockout, one TKO, and a unanimous decision over James Gram, MCRC, San Diego, in a wind-up.

Hill had little trouble in dispatching his first two opponents, Prince of Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, and Charles Ogden of the Air Detachment, Jacksonville. The Lejeune fighter dominated Prince at 2:38 of the second round. Ogden went to sleep at the first.

Into The Finals
A TKO over hard-hitting Erickson from El Toro put Hill in the finals. Hill cuffed Ingram rights and lefts in the early rounds of the fight and weathered a rally by the West Coast star for the title.

Courageous Bud House, feeling the effects of a bad left hand he received in the Atlantic Fleet heavyweight crown, fought three times.

His hardest fight occurred opening set-to when he met Woods, a lumbering 206-pounder from El Toro. Displaying boxing skill House and Wood got it out in hopes of a knock-out but a unanimous not the officials.

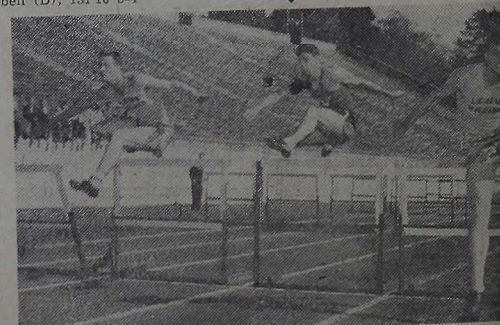

Takes Title
Unanimous decisions over man Ramquist from Camp Iton and Charles Katzakian of Marine Force, Pacific, won the title.

Ev Galligan in the light-heavyweight division was the only Lejeune boxer to take a trophy. Galligan lost to Byars from Fleet Marine I, Pacific, in the finals. Byars layed more on ring antics and cycle legs than boxing, jabbed and ran his way to win.

The award for the outstanding fighter of the tournament went to light-heavyweight Irish Pat Murry of El Toro. McMurry played uncanny ability in knockout and Barrett Kiff of Quantico semi-finals and copped a split decision from Jesse Barber of Camp Lejeune in the finals.

Sportsmanship
The award for sportsmanship went to little Johnny Funder of Cherry Point. The smallest fighter in the tournament, Funder won the flyweight title.

Al Hood, who plied his wares for Camp Lejeune for years, hasn't stopped winning now fighting for Cherry Point. (Continued on Page 7)

McComas Coaches Marine Pugs For Inter-Service Tilt

Capt. Glenn McComas, coach of the Camp Lejeune boxing team, was chosen head coach of the Marine squad that will take part in the Inter-Service Boxing Tournament at Bainbridge, Md., this week.

McComas will lead the ten finalists from last week's All-Marine Boxing tournament and two alternates, Jesse Barber of Camp Pendleton and Harold Conklin from Quantico.

As his assistants Coach McComas has chosen Freddie Lenn, El Toro's boxing mentor, and Paul Moretti, who holds the fistic reins at Cherry Point. Walt Deminds, assistant to McComas during the season, will accompany the team.

Lejeune's Bud House, who won the All-Corps heavyweight title, will not fight at Bainbridge. During the bouts he aggravated a broken left hand he suffered at the Atlantic Fleet Championships last month. McComas plans to substitute either Pat McMurtry, the light-heavy champ, or Charles Katzakian, runner-up in the heavy class.

A deep water plug did it in three casts. SSgt. Ronald L. Lowe chucked a yellow river runt plug into the dark waters of Wallace Creek and retrieved it slowly. Then, slam, the fine four-pound pickerel pictured here with Lowe went blind with greed, struck the plug and really got hooked.

Lowe, who holds the North Carolina state record for pickerel with a six-and-a-half-pounder, only two-and-a-half pounds under the world record, believes that this four-pound fish is the largest pickerel that has been caught aboard Camp Lejeune. The fish was caught in Wallace Creek near where it runs under Holcomb Boulevard.

According to Lowe the fresh water fish haven't started feeding hard yet. Fish that have been caught have all had empty stomachs. He says that when the warm weather hits, though, the weather isn't all that's going to get hot. Fishermen, says Lowe, can look for some good fresh water angling.

There was a tug. Then there was a surge of power that brought the line taut, flexing the rod in a stiff bow as it resisted the power of an unseen fish. The power was produced by a four-pound catfish. And when the big cat was landed it brought TSgt. Mendal W. Krueger, section chief for Camp Special Services, a fine fight, a fine meal, and ten dollars.

Fishing in Lake Cole, a man-made lake located near Piney Green and well stocked with bottom fish, Sergeant Krueger baited with a piece of cut mullet, and when the four-pound catfish had been landed it turned out that his finned foe was worth two "fins."

Day prizes are given at Lake Cole for the three biggest fish caught. Krueger was second-money winner with his four-pounder. First place was taken with a four-and-a-half-pound carp.

According to statistics one man in every four is prone to fish. With women it's one in 15. Though this is a good ratio and certainly holds good on this big base, the many fishermen here are an independent lot. But the idea of starting a Camp Lejeune Sportsman's Club has been broached in an effort to consolidate the errant anglers.

SSgt. Ronald "Red" L. Lowe, General Supply, MCSD, suggests that efforts be made here to initiate such a club. He feels that such action would stimulate hunting and fishing here and also could be put to good use in the conservation lines.

Also such a club could feature such things as fishing contests, fish fries, and fishing trips. Personnel who might be interested in forming such a club are urged to contact Sergeant Lowe by calling 3217 during working hours.

Archibald Doghoused As New Camp Mascot

Camp Lejeune's new mascot, Sir Archibald of seararium, who has been chosen to follow in the footsteps of Sgt. Sir Dusty of Dreadnaught (died July 1952) was presented to Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, camp commanding general, Monday, 16 days after his enlistment.

In the shadow of Sir Dusty's grave (the lawn outside the Goettge Memorial Field House) General Linscott gave the order to open Archie's Service Record Book officially.

Pvt. Archie is a pedigreed English bulldog with a family background similar to that of the late Sir Dusty. He is wholesome, brown and white, and a typical Marine.

Donated To Corps
Archie was donated to the Marine Corps by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kellie, of Hartford, Conn., after the death of their son, SSgt. Eugene A. Kellie, who was stationed here with the 6th Marines.

He is already a veteran of the skies, having been escorted to Lejeune in a Marine Corps plane by Pfc Marianne Bauer of Camp PIO. Showing true Marine blood, he took the trip in stride.

Pvt. Archie is going through his "Boot Camp" now at the Camp Geiger Brig, where CWO Pearly A. Stone, ass't. brig officer, is teaching him what is expected of a Marine mascot. After 90 days, if the young bulldog has shown that he is capable of holding down his position, he will be promoted to private first class.

SKIFF PROPOSITION

The following message was received this week by the GLOBE from Col. J. N. H. Hudnall, camp assistant chief of staff G-2/G-3:

"Will the prankster who took my 12-foot Barbour-built plywood skiff from in front of my quarters, by cutting down the tree to which it was locked, either return the boat or buy from me the new Evinrude motor."

"Will provide him free with duplicate keys to the lock. Nature will provide another tree but will not provide me with another skiff."

Colonel Hudnall may be contacted by calling his office, phone 5572, or his home, 6234.
