Red Cross Drive Kickoff Rally At Camp Theatre

The 1953 American Red Cross campaign at Camp Lejeune will get underway with a "kick-off" rally at the camp theatre Monday at 8:30 a. m. Unit commanders and designated subordinate unit Red Cross representatives will be addressed by Maj. Gen. H. D. Linscott, camp commanding general.

Plans for the campaign itself will be outlined by the Camp chairman, Col. P. W. John, commanding officer of the Marine Corps Supply Depot.

The campaign will run from March 2 to 31 for all units stationed or assigned here less the 2nd Marine Division. Due to maneuvers, the Division's campaign will run from April 1 to 11.

Civilians and personnel at the Naval Hospital will be covered in separate drives coinciding with the scheduled dates of the overall Camp Lejeune campaign.

Navy Relief Society Advances, Abilities Noted By Admiral

Admiral Vincent K. Murphy, USN-Ret., Executive Vice President of the Navy Relief Society, spoke at a meeting of the Navy Relief Auxiliary here, last week, at the Officers Club, Paradise Point.

Addressing the group, he said the Society's service had increased in 1952, due to the widespread wedge of the variety of help rendered to Naval and Marine personnel by the Society.

The Society aided 83,297 "service men" in 1952, while it handled 108 in 1951. Such activities included arrangements for hospitalization, transportation, housing allowances, etc., involving no direct financial aid.

Projects discussed were aid to aged, a new housing project for treatment for chronic illness, and activities, Admiral Murphy emphasized were worthy, but too expensive to finance, due to the amount of personnel involved.

Ability to pay loans made by the government and their families reduced in a 17 per cent increase in grant grants, while emergency financial assistance totaled $3,127, for 50,464 cases undertaken.

Payment of these loans amounted to $2,551,908 for 50,464 cases undertaken.

Contributions received exceeded those of the previous year, totaling $6,578 in 1952, more than $212, than the year before.

Tuesday morning the second class of Women Marines assigned to the NCO Leadership School here began indoctrination lectures that officially launch the four week leadership course.

There are 21 members in the current class, all designated by Headquarters Marine Corps. Three of the group are from the WM Company here. They are: TSgt. Hallie I. Jones, instructor, Basic Supply School, Montford Point, SSgt. Eleanor L. Judge, NCO in charge of students and training, WM Company, and TSgt. Juel Pensock, sergeant major, Joint Landing Force Board.

Although many of the students are assigned to the school on a TAD basis, some are assigned for further transfer on graduation.

The curriculum covers instruction in technique of command, use of training aids, basic leadership concepts, responsibilities of NCO's, military customs and courtesies, Uniform Code of Military Justice, and field trips.

"Any changes in the curriculum will be made after the second class graduates, we want to give the present system a fair showing," 1st Lt. June Connell, officer in charge of the school, announced.

Gen. Williams To Become Corps' I.G.

According to the Army-Navy-Air Force Register Maj. Gen. Samuel L. Howard, inspector General of the Marine Corps since June, 1950, and a veteran of 39 years Marine Corps Service, will retire on March 8.

Brigadier General Gregon A. Williams, presently Commanding General, Force Troops, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic will replace General Howard.

General Howard commanded the Fourth Marines at Bataan, and had command of all beach forces at the fall of Corregidor. He holds the Navy Cross for heroism under fire.

General Williams, after being repatriated from a Japanese prison led the Sixth Marine regiment at Saipan, and was Chief of Staff of the 2nd Marine Division during the Occupation of Japan. In July 1950 General Williams joined the 1st Marine Division as chief of staff, serving through the fall and winter campaigns.

Marine Reserve Pay Points For Retiring Set By Public Law

Marine reservists now on active duty, who are shooting for retirement on the Reservist lists, will lose their 15-point retirement credit which goes automatically with reserve membership even if they are on active duty.

Headquarters Marine Corps says that a full 15 points will be credited, retroactive to July 1, 1949, instead of being reduced by 1 1/4 points each month for a year spent on active duty.

Public Law 810 lists three ways for reservists to earn points to qualify for retirement and to determine the amount of pay when retired:

- (1) A 15-point credit for reserve membership each year except "during any period carried on the retired list, in the Fleet Marine Reserve, or on the inactive Status List." Previously the 15 points were reduced by active duty.
- (2) A point for each drill or equivalent instruction.
- (3) A point for each day on active duty. Total of points which can be earned any year is 365. Fifty points is required for a satisfactory year. After 20 "satisfactory" years, not necessarily consecutive, the reserve is eligible for retirement.

SpeedClocked By New Radar Meter In Area

A demonstration of the Radar Electromatic Speed Meter was given Friday on Route 24 at Midway Park, by members of the North Carolina Highway Patrol to determine the meter's value in regard to highway speed control.

Lieutenant T. B. Brown, in charge of the N. C. Highway Patrol, Troop "A" Hdq., of Greenville, explained the set up of the meter to Camp Provost Marshall, Lt. Col. William S. McLaughlin, with on-the-spot examples of how the system will help enforce the speed laws in North Carolina.

This system consists primarily of three Highway Patrol cars stationed along the highway at regular intervals, equipped with the Radar Electromatic Speed Meter or "Whammy," as it is sometimes called.

After the "Whammy" has registered the specific speed of a passing vehicle, the Highway Patrolmen stationed 200 yards distant from the meter are notified and given ample time to check license numbers or wave down the law breakers.

The meter will be located most usually in sections where cars usually speed. It will be in clear view of all motorists in the familiar black and silver patrol car, and will not be a speed trap. Only patrolmen who hold a Restricted Radio Operators License will be permitted to operate it.

This radar control is a result of the many speed mishaps in this section. With this meter, highway authorities hope to eliminate these repeated and unnecessary accidents.

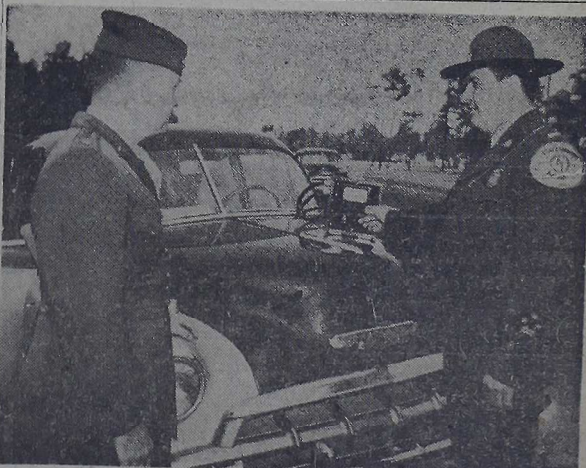

With statistical reports of traffic violations and accidents remaining steady instead of decreasing, some means of preventive medicine is in line.

So far this month, 38 accidents have occurred bringing the total for the year up to 113 involving personnel from this base. In the first week of February, 19 accidents with three deaths; in the second week, 13 with one death and so on throughout the month.

Korean casualties aren't the only names appearing on the "Roster".

SIXTH DIVISION DINNER

The seventh annual East coast dinner for officers who served with the World War II Sixth Marine Division will be held at Quantico, Va., April 1—eight years to the day since the Sixth's historic landings on the beaches of Okinawa.

McLaughlin, Camp Provost Marshall, watches approaching patrol car being clocked by "whammy" or radar electrometric speed meter, during recent demonstration. Lieutenant T. B. What Day of the Year
Do You Look Forward To the Most?

PFC. LOIS THOMAS, CAMP MES-SAGE CENTER—I'm inclined to look forward to every day because each day is a new adventure in our lives. We live from day to day and as an old Chinese proverb goes,
"We live for the instant." There's an old prayer that goes something like this which I think can answer this question pretty thoroughly: "What I can change I try to change and what I can't change give me courage to bear."

JAMES W. COOK, 1202 INCHON
ST., TARAWA TERRACE—Christmas Day, because that's the day when Santa Claus comes and brings us all our toys and gifts. On Christmas Day we have a big Christmas tree and we all put lights and tinsel on it. Daddy puts my trains up on that day. I hope Christmas Day hurries up and comes soon.

CPL. GORDON CARLSON, GOLF COURSE—This year the day that I'm looking forward to the most is November 19, my discharge day.
This day marks the end of my hitch in the Marine Corps and starts me on the way to civilian life again. I plan to be a professional golfer when I'm discharged and that day will commence the beginning of my career.

1st. LT. ELMER P. REISER, 2nd SHORE PARTY BN.—I always look forward to Christmas Day because on that day I usually get a chance to get home and visit with my family and friends. Also people always have a warm friendly feeling towards each other and it seems as if everyone is always the happiest on that day.

CPL. LESTER MEILLER, ELEC-TRONICS DIVISION, SUPPLY DE-POT—The day of the year that I look forward to the most is my wedding anniversary, September 29. That day brings to mind the memories and thoughts of the wonderful times that my wife and I have had together. This September will mark our second anniversary and I'm looking forward to many more.

ment of the actuator tube and buffer group in the BAR by Cpl. A.

LETTER OF COMMENDATION—Cpl. Theodore A. Dezzo was presented a Letter of Commendation medal with Combat "V" for bravery in action against the enemy while serving in Korea. The presentation was made by Capt. John F. Mader, commanding offi-

Lejeune's Ordnance Supply Mainspring Of East Coast

Maj. Howland G. Taft, officer in charge of Ordnance Supply, MCSD, holds a job comparable to that of the president of a large corporation. He and a staff of over 300 Marines and civilians are responsible for the maintenance and supply of ordnance and ammunition for all posts and stations east of the Mississippi, including Organized Reserve Units.

The items include anything from a two-ounce watch to a 92,000-pound M-47 tank. And like all major corporations, Ordnance Supply is divided into specialized sections.

Capt. H. Rossmann, munitions officer, is in charge of the ammunition magazines and is assisted by men who are ammunition technicians and specialists. The ammunition unit handles all requirements of training and recreation, furnishing anything from .22 caliber bullets to 155-mm shells.

Shipping and Receiving—
The heart of Ordnance Supply is the Shipping and Receiving section. After a requisition is received at the "home office" in Bldg. 1 it is screened to determine whether or not the amount requested within its quota. It is then loaded in and sent to Shipping and Receiving. Once received here requisition is sent to the Logistics Section where with the help of IBM machines, the stock is lo-

The shipping section has own packing and crating station and is kept on the go making special crates and boxes for materials to be shipped. Some shipments are made at times, instance, take two one-ounce of oil, which must be shipped freight since they're too small to be stenciled for mailing, or pounds of rags.

Here, too, shipments are made posts and stations on the Coast. Machine gun frames, a Risburg, Pa.

Vehicle and Artillery—

The most impressive of them is the Tracked Vehicle and Artillery Repair Shop, where the hemorrhoids of battle are overhauled.
The machine shop here is capable of doing any work connected with ordnance repair with its battery of lathes, milling machines, grinders, and drill presses.

Parts can be made from specializations or blueprints. Tools so are made when needed. L-3's, M-47 tanks, and other heavy ordnance equipment are easily handled by the 60-ton overhaul crane, equipped with a ten-ton auxiliary hoist for light work.

Eight hundred horsepower tractors are overhauled; quad-50 caliber gun mounts on half tracks installed; treads or bogies on tanks are repaired.

Optical Devices—

The Fire Control and Instrument Repair Shop is devoted to optical instruments, sight mounts, fire control directors, computers, remote control systems—and even the

Adjacent to the Fire Control
Shop is the Small Arms Repair Shop, where weapons such as BAR's, mortars, machine guns and rifles are rebuilt on an assembly line basis. The first step is cleaning and salvaging, since some of the material may have been exposed for a long time.

They then are degreased in vapor bath and sand blasted. If the barrel is no longer in shape, a process called "Parkerization" is applied. Barrels are plugged and dipped to a solution for 30 to 45 minutes giving the metal a dull grey finish.

Once on the line the weapon assembled, tested and made ready for storage, either by cosmoline or dipping in wax and packing grease paper.

If its artillery or ordnance,
it be made like new.

Navy Conscientious
Objector Wins 5
Medals In Korea

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DI-VISION IN KOREA—Alvin L.
Joyner, 23, is a conscientious ob-jector to bearing firearms independence of his country.

To date on the battlefields of Korea he has received three Purple Heart Medals, the Silver
Star Medal, and the Bronze Star Medal.

Joyner is a Navy Hospital Corpsman Third Class who has served with the 1st Marine Division since last June. He is a Seventh Day Adventist.

Silver Star

On the night of last July 28, he accompanied a 13-man patrol in blazing action on Bunker Hill. Eleven of the Marines were wounded.
So was Joyner. He treated them all, and won the nation's third highest award.

He was wounded again on August 17 and August 27, and on August 30 won the Bronze Star Medal for attending Marine casualties under an enemy mortar barrage after he was wounded.

Joyner now is an X-ray technician with Able Co., 1st Medical Bn., and hopes to follow this vocational when his four-year enlistment expires.

By entering the medical service he did not have to bear arms.
He asked to serve with Marines.

"I had heard that the Marines were a crack outfit and held a great respect for Navy corpsmen such as myself," he said. "This I found to be 100 percent true."

Camp Elmore Named For Marine PFC

NORFOLK, Va.—For the first time in its history, the Marine Corps has named a camp in honor of an enlisted member of the Corps. At a formal dedication ceremony held February 11th, Camp Elmore, new home of Headquarters, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, was named after Navy Cross-winner, Private First Class George W. Elmore of Blade, Spring, Va.

A Marine Reservist, Elmore was killed February 26, 1951, while serving in Korea with the Fifth Marine Regiment of the First Marine Division. As an automatic rifleman, Elmore was covering the evacuation of casualties from an unprotected position when enemy fire fatally wounded him. For this action, he was posthumously awarded the nation's second highest award.

The dedication was officially made by Lt. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic.

The event was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Elmore, the parents of the Marine hero as well as other members of his family.

Dorothy Cacharelis adjusts the wreath which Mrs. Elmore had just placed at the base of the temporary plaque honoring her son, Private First Class George W. Elmore. Loan Certificates Required To Get Second GI Boon Veterans of World War II who all their homes bought with a government loan, when the purchasers assume the four-percent loans, will be given "conditional certificates of eligibility" when they apply for new loan guaranty benefits under the GI Bill.

These conditional certificates will serve notice to the lender that the veteran's entitlement is subject to reduction owing to the VA's liability on the original World War II loan.

However, if no default of claim outstanding on the World War II loan on the date the new loan application is received from the lender, the VA will issue a commitment for the full guaranty requested.

New Loans
When an application for a new loan is received and a default or claim is outstanding on pending on previous loan for which the veteran is still liable, the amount of guaranty granted under the World War II GI Bill of Rights.

Veterans who sell their real property and pay off the original loan will be issued unconditional certificates of eligibility.

World War II vets qualifying as post-Korea veterans and who still hold title to property will not receive the balance of guaranty remaining under the original World War II Bill of Rights.

Full Guaranty
Veterans of World War II who have business loans not involving real property still outstanding may obtain full loan guaranty benefits on homes or farms under the K-1 bill without disposing of their businesses.

Deadline for using loan guaranty benefits under the World War II bill for most veterans who have served since June 27, 1950, is July 25, 1957.

Veterans of World War II who served since the beginning of the Korean campaign like all post-Korea veterans, have until 10 years from the end of the present emergency—a date to be determined by her concurrent resolution of the Congress or Presidential proclamation—to use their loan guaranty benefits. (AFPS)

Announce Camp Roads Closing

Marine's road and Verona Loop will be closed to all traffic, pedestrian and vehicles, on February 25, from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. the following days, Thursday 1 Friday, February 26 and 27, 1 Marine's Road and Verona Loop will be closed from 8:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. for the purpose of road firing by the 2nd 155 mm Battalion.

The Gray Point Sector 5 of New River (Stone Bay to Wrench Creek) will be closed to all navigation during the same dates and times as above due to military necessity.

Dependents Advised On Compensation

Facts about Unemployment Compensation may be obtained by wives of Marines living in this area, from Mr. Wiley L. Wall, the Veterans Employment Representative for Camp Lejeune.

Whatever state the applicants are from, it is likely that they are eligible to file claims for Unemployment Compensation if they meet certain requirements. Basically, applicants must have worked with some employer within the last twelve to eighteen months who paid Unemployment Compensation Benefits on his employees.

They must be able and available to accept suitable employment while filing, and separation from their last employment must meet the requirements of their states.

State laws are flexible and different, thus applicants should contact the Employment Security Commission office opposite the Labor Board at the main gate for more information.

Mr. Wall is available during working hours Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of each week to give job information and Employment Counseling to those men being released from service. He furnishes job information and leads for local, national, and foreign employment. His office is located in the Goette Memorial Field House, where tests may be taken to assist in determining a vocational choice.

Marine Art Show Draws City Wide Praise In Capital

Marines from all over the world who submitted paintings to the Marine Corps Institute's Third Annual Art Contest last November have a sort of international art gallery of their own in the Nation's Capital.

The gallery is located in the window and on the second floor of the George F. Muth Company, one of Washington's largest dealers in art supplies. More than fifty of the three-hundred pictures that were entered in the contest comprise the display that has attracted city-wide attention.

Spectators at the exhibition in this downtown shopping area have ranged from amateur and professional artists to housewives and lunch-hour diversion seekers. However, the comments noted have been unanimous in praise of the fine talent and workmanship.

These samples of Marines' art that may do much to influence future trends in painting here will be packaged and shipped to the various Marine posts throughout the country soon after the two-week display at Muth's is ended. Prizes for the contest's winning entries have already been awarded by the Institute.

Board To Name Reserve Majors

A Marine Corps selection board will be convened at Marine Corps Headquarters February 16 to consider for temporary promotion to major those Reserve captains who were not on active duty last May 15 when their regular running mates were considered for temporary promotion. Some 1500 Reserve captains are to be considered for selection if found "fully qualified."

Marine Dependents Urged To Continue Medical Insurance

Headquarters Marine Corps has urged Marine dependents to continue their civilian hospitalization and medical care insurance instead of dropping it as so many have been doing.

This appeal has been made because of the erroneous belief that Marine dependents are entitled to free hospitalization or doctors' care from civilian sources if military medical facilities are not available.

Leatherneck families are allowed free medical care at military facilities. When medical care is not available in military areas, dependents can be admitted to hospitals only on acute medical or surgical bases.

In patient or out-patient care can be given only at Armed Forces medical activities where facilities exist, and then is subject to the discretion of the commanding officer.

Armed Forces Day Ceremonies To Be Held On May 16

The traditional observance of Armed Forces Day will again be held on May 16 according to Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense.

Mr. Wilson stated that "Power for Peace" will be the official slogan for the observance.

As is the usual custom, Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, and Coast Guard installations will hold "open house" programs and will participate in developing community awareness of the relationship between the Armed Forces and all other elements of American life.

Last year an estimated 2,500 guests arrived for the Armed Forces Day ceremonies at Camp Lejeune. Military exhibits featuring displays at Hadnot Point, Onslow Beach and Courthouse Bay. A regimental parade consisting of units from the second Marine Division and Women Marines passed in review.

Marine Cooperation Rated As Excellent

Brigadier General Robert W. Johnson, USAR, recently resigned from the Sarnoff Commission, gave his observations on the cooperation of the various services.

According to the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal General Johnson described the attitude of the Marine Corps as excellent, the Air Force, co-operative and open to greater progress, the Army, spotty with large areas of resistance, the Navy as militantly resistant and the Civil Service as disinterested.

Expand Scope Of Volunteer Reserve Training Program

Volunteer Marine Reservists coming to Camp Lejeune this summer will face a training program that will exceed in detail and scope the schedule followed last year. The 1953 training to be conducted at several of the Corps' bases, covers more than 1950 subjects and courses.

Marine Reservists will have opportunity not only to train in their particular functional fields, but also to work at levels appropriate to their military experience.

Training in most of the occupational fields will be included. All courses in the summer sessions will be conducted at Marine installations on the east and west coasts.

Time Factors
Dates for active duty training have been set up so as to make it as easy as possible for Reservists to fit training into their civilian routines.

The Field Officers' Advanced Amphibious Course, is the most important addition to the 1953 schedule. This will be held at the Troop Training Units, at Coronado, Calif., and Little Creek, Va. Reserve field officers who take the course will be brought up to date on modern equipment.

Another important course added to this year's schedule, the Administrative Review and Naval Justice Course, will bring Reserve captains and above in all occupational fields up to date on changes in administration procedures during the past two years. Also in this course is an introduction to the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Included in the comprehensive schedule are courses for aviation personnel, both past two years. Also in this course is an introduction to the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

BONDS POPULAR

There has been a noticeable increase in support of the Defense Bond Program by Marine Corps personnel. In effect at the end of January were 65,028 allotments, by the Marine Corps. Since a year ago, 12,761 additional Marine Corps members have registered "Saving Bond Allotments."

Tankmen Add Anglo-Saxon Twist To Manual Of Arms

Two Marine corporals, recent additions to the Second Marine Division after a 27-month tour at sea together aboard the aircraft carriers Wasp and Oriskany, are showing fellow Leathernecks how to put "English" into rifle drill here.

On a Mediterranean port-of-call at the island naval base of Malta, the corporals, Harold W. Hiott and Joseph N. Boyle, became acquainted with members of John Bull's counterpart to the U. S. Marine Corps—the British Royal Marines.

The Royal Soldiers-of-the-Sea displayed a unique manual of arms dating to the outfit's organization by John Churchill, Duke of Marlborough in 1664, the pair explained.

The Duke's original unit developed an arms manual which is executed silently without the benefit of a single vocal command. Known as the "Queen Anne Manual," the drill exercise depends entirely upon each individual's razor-sharp coordination.

Good Show

Boyle and Hiott watched the Royal fighters drill at Malta, and after careful planning and much practice developed a modified version of the "Queen Anne Manual" including one phase of the Royal legendman appropriately titled the "Queen Anne Salute."

The salute involves a swift twirl of the rifle from a semi-kneeling position, climaxed with the weapon balanced upright on the turf and the left arm crossed over the chest in a sign of faith.

Transferred from sea duty to Camp Lejeune, Boyle and Hiott were soon urged by their buddies in the 2nd Tank Battalion to perform before their unit commander, Lt. Col. Leonard D. Reid. The pair gave a dazzling show at a stag-dinner staged by the battalion recently to raise funds for the National Marine Memorial.

Hiott joined the Marine Corps in March, 1950. Corporal Boyle joined a month before his Leatherneck pal, and says: "I'm a career man in the Corps all the way."

Boyle's brother, Donald, served as a hospital corpsman with the Fourth Marine Division during World War II.

Will Teach

The two corporals serve here as tank crewmen. Much of the pair's spare time is devoted to perfecting their rifle drill and adding new twists to their delivery.

Both say they are ready and willing to teach other Marines the "Queen Anne Manual" with of course, the Hiott-Boyle variations that put "English" into rifle drill.

Pa. Twins Do Double Corps Duty

There have been plenty of "deuces" in the lives of Pfc's Raymond and Rogston Dickert, twins from Seward, Pa.

In fact, the pair of Leathernecks have gotten so used to the number two following them around that it just seemed natural to them that they should be assigned to the 2nd Bn., 2nd Marines, of the Second Division.

And it didn't even begin there. For, after enlisting in the Marine Corps last August, just one week after celebrating their seventeenth birthday, the soft-spoken brothers were assigned to the 2nd Recruit Training Bn., at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Depot Difficulty

Though not identical twins, the sandy-haired brothers were still a source of visual bewilderment to their recruit drill instructor who out of desperation dubbed them with the names of "Heckle" and "Jeckle."

Now serving as riflemen with the infantry regiment they admitted that it was their 23-year-old Marine corporal brother, now serving at Camp Del Mar, Calif., who had sold them on the Marine Corps.

The clincher to their "double" life came, they said, when they learned the nickname of their new outfit—the "double deuces."

Chaplain's Corner

To Sustain in Time of Trouble

A study of people in difficult circumstances showed us that some were miserable and some were happy. Furthermore it was found that the ones who were happy were not the ones whose troubles appeared outwardly to be less, but those who possessed a "sustaining philosophy." The people who live to satisfy themselves cannot achieve happiness because they are no living in accordance with the unchanging laws which God has established for man. Those who have a sustaining philosophy are the ones who practice the truth that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." Gifts of money are of course a part but not all of giving. They who truly give, give of themselves. They give kindness where there is cruelty, a light where there is darkness, love where there is hate.

It is not because happiness results from living for others that we should do so, but because it is the will of God. This is in fact the only good reason for doing anything. If we do good merely to receive the reward of happiness we defeat our own purpose. We should love others so much as to be willing to lose our own happiness for their sakes. Moses did so and Saint Paul also, who loved his race so much that he would willingly be accused himself if that would save them. May we have such leaders and people with such a spirit in these troubled days.

Chaplain Stephen M. Reynolds

Information Available On Hawaiian Housing

Information concerning housing and entry of dependents in the Hawaiian area has been placed on file at Camp Headquarters file room, Building 1.

All personnel assigned to the Hawaiian area for duty will be furnished, on request, information regarding the present housing conditions, other available facilities, and procedures for obtaining entry for dependents.

Procedure

To obtain approval for entry of dependents a message should be sent to the Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force Pacific, requesting approval for entry. Approval will not be granted unless housing arrangements have been made on the island of Oahu. FMF Headquarters will make hotel reservations if they are desired.

The request for approval should contain the following information: name and rank of applicant; number of dependents and age and sex of children. If hotel reservations are not desired, the address on Oahu where dependents will initially live; (BOK) address is not acceptable; estimated time of arrival in San Francisco; and mailing address in the United States.

Whom To Address

Fleet Marine Force Headquarters will obtain approval for entry and will inform the Commandant, 12th

Naval District, Headquarters, Department of Pacific, and will also inform the originator of the request by message.

On receipt of approval for entry a request for transportation should be addressed to the Commanding General, Headquarters, Department of Pacific.

Personnel ordered to organizations located at the Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, on Oahu, should address inquiries concerning permanent housing to the commanding officer of that station. However Headquarters FMF will obtain approval for entry of dependents for all personnel ordered to the area.

Routine initial immunizations are required for all dependents over the age of six months. Immunizations should be started and completed if possible, prior to leaving the States. If time will not permit completion of immunizations they will be finished on arriving at Oahu.

Waiting Period

Navy housing, public and rental quarters, is available in the Pearl Harbor area. In most cases a wait of eight to ten months for public housing should be anticipated.

All Korean veterans are given half time credit on the waiting list for housing for time spent in the Far East, provided they report directly to Headquarters FMF from the Far East.

The Pearl Harbor Housing Pool maintains a limited number of houses that are primarily intended for housing officers' dependents during the period they are awaiting arrival of their household furnishings. These houses are assigned on a temporary basis, not to exceed three months. If there are no vacancies in the housing pool, hotel reservations will be made.

Tips

Private housing, though scarce, is available in the city of Honolulu. Rent for private housing ranges from $75.00 to $150.00 per month.

Arrangements for shipping automobiles must be made with the Freight Transportation Division, Depot of Supplies, 100 Harrison St., San Francisco.

Personnel transferring to Hawaii are reminded that only summer clothing is necessary. Raincoats should be included but may be purchased in the area at reasonable prices.

Adequate medical care for dependents is available in the vicinity of Pearl Harbor. In the education field, schools compare favorably with those in the United States. Banking facilities are also available.

In the Naval Housing area residents may attend churches of all faiths, Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish.

Here's One Boot Who Really Knew All The Answers

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIRCRAFT WING IN KOREA—a small group of Marines, huddled about the pot-bellied stove in their tent at a forward air base, were swapping stories.

One grimy, tired Leatherneck pulled the helmet he was sitting on a little closer to the stove and recalled: "When I was in the boot camp, one of the guys in the platoon knocked on the door of the DT's hut and said, 'This is Private Baker, Sir. Platoon 61, requesting permission to speak to the drill instructor.'

"The answer came rattling back, 'I can't hear you!'"

"The recruit, undaunted, repeated the well memorized introduction at the top of his voice after beating on the door with his first.

"Again the answer came, 'I can't hear you!'"

"This time the chagrined boot had but one thing to say: putting his lips to a crack in the door, he whispered 'Then how do you know I'm out here?'"

Maj. William Pelon, battalion executive officer, presented the award to Townsley for "meritorious service in the line of his profession while serving as a radio technician in the Communication Section of the 1st Marine Air Wing in Korea."
