

INQUIRING PHOTOGRAPHER

What Prominent Person Would You Like To Speak To? Why?

TSGT. JOHNNY JOHNSON, OFFICERS MESS.—My wife, I know that she is not prominent in the sense in which the question is phrased, but she's the only one who's prominent in my life and the only one I would want to speak to. The reason is that right now she's out in Santa Ana, Calif., and I'm here. Sorry, I can't tell you what I would ask her.

PFC D. J. CROUSE, CAMP SPECIAL SERVICES.—I would like to speak to President Eisenhower. I'd ask him what his plans about the Korean crisis are and what would be the quickest way for ending it. Also, I'd like to know if he had had any doubts as to how his presidential election would turn out.

DT2 DAYMOND WINDHEIM, 2ND MEDICAL BN.—President Eisenhower. I would want to hear his views on the world situation, with particular attention to Korea. I'd ask what his plans are for bringing peace in Korea, and, if peace were accomplished, what about keeping UN troops over there. Also in connection with Korea, I'd like to see how he would propose plans for a unified Korea.

SGT. CHARLES GUENTHER, GUARD & SECURITY SECTION, MCSD.—I would like to speak to the President. In particular, I would like to ask him if his plans in connection with the Korean conflict include any extension of the draftees. The reason I would like to speak with him is that, judging from his pictures and publicity, he's the type of man with whom you could really sit down and get the lowdown.

PFC ALFRED GOLDBERG, H&S BN.—I'd like to speak to the fellow who blows the bugle so near my sack every morning. Each morning my dreams are shattered by the loud blasts from his horn. I'd want to ask him just one question—"Could you play that bugle using just a little softer tone?"

Marine Motif Colors Life Of Orangeman Leatherneck

The Leathernecks' adage, "Once A Marine, Always A Marine," has taken on an international meaning for Pfc Robert G. Gawley, of the 2nd Engineer BN.

At 27, the tall, red-haired native of Northern Ireland is a veteran of eight years' service as a Royal Marine Commando. Although not yet an American citizen, he plans to make the U. S. Marine Corps a career.

The Leathernecks' long military record began shortly before the outbreak of World War II when he left his home, 40 miles outside of hem drop in September 1944. From the European theater, Gawley went to Malaya to fight against the first Communist uprisings there.

Back in England, in 1945, he became a member of a regular parachute battalion and soon was on his way to the Middle East. Gawley's unit was stationed at Ismailia, on the Suez Canal, and later in Palestine during the Arab-Israeli war.

Released from the service in 1948, he worked in England as an engineer before traveling to Canada, where he worked on iron ore boats sailing the Great Lakes.

March of last year found him coming to this country to enlist in the Marine Corps.

Gawley received his recruit training at Parris Island, just as though he had never been anything but a civilian. His background, however, led to his assignment to Drill Instructor's School and he is now qualified to instruct recruits as well as to be an engineer.

As do Marines the world over, Gawley likes his liberty and has managed to see a good portion of the country in his off duty time. But even in recreation he's a true Belfast, to join the merchant marine. The ship on which he sailed was pressed into service at the historic evacuation of Dunkirk. He also crossed the Atlantic many times on convoy duty.

In 1941 Gawley joined the 42nd Royal Marine Commando in England and, after a year of basic training, entered the Special Air Services. This elite parachute unit was designed to perform strategic operations behind enemy lines. He remembers well the famous Ar-

Men Who Served On 'Pennsylvania' Hold First Reunion

Sailors and Marines who served aboard the USS Pennsylvania, flagship of the fleet until the USS Missouri took over, will hold their first reunion February 21 at the Naval Gun Factory in Washington.

The rally will be at 7 p.m., with a buffet dinner.

One of the ensigns who reported aboard the Pennsylvania in 1916 will be at the reunion. He is Admiral William M. Fechteler, now chief of naval operations.

Numerous officers and men who served in the Marine detachment aboard the ship will attend. Reservations may be made with Ralph J. Hopkins at 3362 with Ralph J. Hopkins at 3362 B. S. Wakefield St., Arlington 6, Va.

Paradise For Duffers Also Features Hunts, Horses, Skeet Shooting, Tennis

Ever bowl on a green lawn in the soft, warm winter sun? Like to ride, golf or hunt in the months when snow and ice cover most of the United States?

At Pinehurst and Southern Pines, in the sandhills of eastern North Carolina, you can do all of these things and still have recreational resources left over.

Easily reached from Camp Lejeune by following Highway 24 to Fayetteville and 15-211 from Fayetteville, Southern Pines offers reasonable vacation living at fine motor courts and economical hotels.

There are several 18-hole golf courses open to the public on payment of a small greens fee, and golf events draw spectators from all over the country during the late winter season.

Tally Ho!

Fox hunting is a Southern Pines specialty and hunts go out three times a week with the famous Moore County hounds. Some of these are drag; others follow live game.

Reserve Training Conferences Slated

Marine Reserve pre-summer camp training conferences will be held at major training commands between March 2-25. The conferences will determine the type of training to be given each of the more than 200 organized reserve ground units, including 14 attached Women Marine platoons.

Where possible, the commanders of these units will do their advance planning at Camp Lejeune; Parris Island; Troop Training Unit, Atlantic; Little Creek, Va.; Camp Pendleton; San Diego; and Troop Training Unit, Pacific, Coronado, Calif.

Scene of the 1951 Ryder Cup golf matches, Pinehurst lies six miles west of Southern Pines. Here luxury is the keynote: a week-end at this winter sort should check his finances before planning to spend a day.

There are four golf courses at the Pinehurst Country club they're open to guests. Spectators flock to the annual North South Senior Championships which opened there last season.

Background

Pinehurst itself was established in 1895 by the Tufts family of England and continues to the present day as an unincorporated village. Famous clothing stores, restaurants, and even a Wall Street brokerage office make up their mess district.

There are facilities for bowling on the green, skeet shooting, riding, and tennis, and at the nearby tracks, pacers and trotters work out for the coming horse season. Spectators are invited to the many practice races.

Other spectator events will take place annually in this area: national field trials and steeplechases, plus numerous gymnastics and horse shows scheduled for winter and early spring.

Probably the outstanding feature of the area as a whole is its warm, fairly dry climate most of the winter. It is situated in a thermal belt and retains heat more easily than other locations because of the sand in its soil.

Dogwood, peach trees and azaleas put in early spring appearances here, while the dominating pine is the long leaf pine.

Its proximity to the Big Game sports area makes this doubly popular during the fall and winter basketball season.

A fourth patrol slid into the icy upstream water and swam down to the bridge, but the defenders detected the "frogmen," who withdrew to their boats.

"The 2nd Engineer Bn. showed high caliber in both construction work and defensive combat," explained CWO E. H. Dupre Jr., battalion intelligence officer. "The reconnaissance platoon, a very small unit to attack a battalion, demonstrated its mastery of infiltration."

Maj. D. V. Nahrgang, executive officer, commented, "It was a very satisfactory operation which proved again that the 2nd Marine Division is ready to hand out a tough fight, anytime."

Colonel Towle Views WM's Rise In Corps

"It is my feeling Women Marines are settled at Camp Lejeune, and have been accepted here, as well as in all the other places in which they serve," Col. Katherine A. Towle, director of Women Marines, declared in an interview Friday during her visit here.

Colonel Towle is retiring from the Marine Corps May 1, and has seen Women Marines grow from a mere handful to today's strength of 2500.

In recalling the early days, when the first Women Marines arrived here, Colonel Towle referred to the feeling of doubt and skepticism that greeted the idea of establishing a Women Marine company here among so many men.

Photo Contest For Military Personnel To End On May 15

An Inter-Service Photography Contest, conducted jointly by the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, will be held at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C., on or about May 15.

The contest, the fourth of its kind, will judge all black and white photographs and color transparencies taken since January 1, 1951. The pictures must have been taken by the contestant.

The Chief of Naval Personnel will set up a screening board to select the ten best entries from the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard for final competition in the in the contest. These contestants will receive certificates of achievement signed by the Secretary of Defense.

Professionally recognized photographers will judge the final entries and trophies will be awarded to seven winners in black and white competition. Another trophy will be given to the most popular entry as determined by public ballot at the conclusion of the first week of exhibition in the Pentagon.

Second Marines' Maneuvers Bring Helicopter Savvy

Leathernecks of the 2nd Bn., 2nd Marines, are learning how to be first to land on an enemy island—without getting their feet wet.

And it isn't done on stilts.

Borne aloft by helicopters from aircraft carrier decks they can land behind enemy defensive positions before the first assault wave comes ashore.

Putting this technique into practice here recently, the 650 Marines went through their paces with ten helicopters of HMR 262, based at Cherry Point.

Before any flights were made, the pilots spent an hour instructing the men in the operation of the "whirlybirds," safety precautions, and emergency procedures.

The battalion then was split up into five-man teams which practiced getting into and out of the helicopters. It takes only eight seconds after the wheels touch ground for the entire team, with full equipment, to be free of the aircraft.

Repeated take-offs and landings, including a mile in flight, were made to accustom the men to the feel of the machines.

Col. R. F. Scott, commanding officer of the 2nd Marines, witnessed the exercise.

Revised Recruiting Set-Up Starts Soon

Marine Headquarters recently approved T-OS and named top staff officers to head the merged recruiting areas and reserve districts. The revamped setup is scheduled to begin operation by April 1.

Although T-OS vary because of local situations, a move has been made to organize all seven districts headquarters on the same basic pattern. A colonel will be named as Director, and another colonel appointed as Assistant Director of each district, except in a few special cases.

Publication Offered On VA Home Loans

"Prospectus for Investors," a publication emphasizing the high investment caliber of Veterans Administration direct loans, is now available at all VA regional offices. Ernest Elliott of the New Bern VA office has announced.

Approximately 841 home loans, with an aggregate principal of more than $5,629,000 are available in North Carolina for sale by VA to private investors. As a general rule, VA makes direct loans only in the smaller towns and semi-rural areas.

VA's direct loans are sold at par and are guaranteed up to 60 percent of the loan in the same manner as a GI loan made by a private lender. They all carry an interest rate of four percent a year.

Eighth Anniversary Today Of Raising Flag On Suribachi

Today mark the eighth anniversary of the historical flag-raising atop Mount Suribachi on Iwo Jima.

It was at 9 a.m. February 19, 1945, that the first assault wave of the 5th Marine Amphibious Corps, composed of the 3rd, 4th and 5th Marine Divisions, hit the beaches of one of the strongest Japanese positions.

After 23 days of bitter fighting the casualties were recorded; Marines suffered more than 5000 killed and missing and about 15,000 wounded.

Now, eight years later, a huge monument to this American bravery and sacrifice is being erected in Washington, D. C.

Work on the gigantic bronze statue, 110 feet tall, and weighing over 100 tons, depicting the flag-raising, can be continued only if new funds are raised. An appeal by the Commandant of the Marine Corps has been sent to all Marines to contribute.

The 2nd Division ended its drive February 6 and the Marine Barracks drive closes Saturday. Force Troops has to March 15.

Seek Scoutmasters For Lejeune Cubs

Camp Lejeune's Cub Scouts are in great need of cubmasters, as evidenced by the splitting of Cub Pack 90 into two packs because of high membership. The only requirement for being a scout leader is a genuine interest and desire to help these young lads.

Anyone interested may contact Chaplain Oglesby, Community Bldg., Midway Park, by calling 2109.

ATTENDANCE TROPHY TO RESERVE OUTFIT

The two weeks summer training that Reserve units undergo here has paid off in more than one way for Boston's 2nd Infantry Bn.

The outfit recently was awarded a trophy for attaining the highest percentage attendance of any battalion attending last summer's annual field training.

The trophy, named after Marine Reserve Cpl. Joseph Vittori, who was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for heroism in Korea, was presented to Lt. Col. Ira J. Irwin, commanding officer of the battalion.

Change Boundaries For N. C. Reserves

Chaplain's Corner

STAR GAZING

Christian people have always been accused of being star gazers. Someone has said that they seek after "a pie in the sky by and by." The Communists put it this way: "Religion is an opiate that puts people to sleep and makes them forget the here and now." Whichever way you word it, the critical eye levels its beam against anything which is other-worldly. Keeping our feet on the ground is the emphasis.

In defense, Christendom reminds us of the testimony of bygone days. Whenever a nation or a people have tried to live in one dimension, the horizontal, they have soon found themselves sinking below sea level. This sort of life may be likened to certain beams that go in a straight line rather than following the curvature of the earth's surface. Eventually they either run into the ground or shoot off into the sky.

In any event, they do not get very far. They have no destiny or distinct purpose except what is found in their little play house in their own backyard. Apart from the upward look, instead of being "this worldly," men deteriorate to selfish entities. Reality is never found in one level. Look around us. We only see life as a whole when our look around includes an upward glance.

Poses Question

The other night Ed Murrow, the news commentator, posed this question, "Is it best to keep your eyes in the stars or your feet on the ground?" The Christian faith answers this question by changing the word order: We can only keep our feet on the ground by having our eyes in the stars. The horizontal is kept on an even keel only by placing a sturdy perpendicular as its anchor and source of balance.

The other day I asked a man to use prayer as a source for solving his problem—and I laughed. What he made light of was the greatest resource at his disposal. Why are we so content to sludge along in the mud when we could be "ascending the heights of the Lord."

Let's not kid ourselves. Our lives and the destiny of our nation are never going to be worth the cents unless we seek out the answer to the hunger of our heart. That answer is only found as we relate ourselves to God through Jesus Christ. That is what it means to place your eyes in the stars. It is as essential to life as a huddle is to offensive football play. Don't be afraid of the clouds and the spiritual stratosphere. The air is not so thin up there as you think. CHAPLAIN PAUL A. JOHNSON, 2nd Medical Bn.

43 Graduate From Motherhood Class

Forty-three members of the Motherhood Class were awarded diplomas in a graduation ceremony in the auditorium of the Navy Medical Research Laboratory Monday evening.

Mrs. Bula McBrier, Navy Relief nurse, conducts the weekly class sponsored by the Navy Relief Society. Expectant mothers receive instruction in pre-natal care, nutrition, care of the newborn baby, and home care of the mother.

The next motherhood class instruction will begin March 1. Anyone wishing to attend this course of instruction may contact Mrs. McBrier at the Navy Relief Office, Bldg. 41, or phone 5584.

WM Maneuvers

By CPL. ELOISE TURNER

One might say that, in addition to the Women Marine tenth anniversary ceremonies here, the Marine Corps Exchange presented members of Women Marine Co. present and future, with a birthday present in the form of a revamped service club.

The bar has been doubled in size and is now 23 feet long. A shiny new fountain, built especially for small kitchen activities, has been installed.

In addition to the usual sandwiches, milk shakes, soft drinks and beer available at the club guests may feast on hot soup, coffee, hot dogs, and ice cream sundae with all the calorie building garnishes.

Two girls will be assigned to operate the bar and fountain.

Meet Tonight

Second Lt. Helen M. Dunkelberg, assistant area exchange officer, Post Troops Service Club, has announced a meeting of the Service Club council will be held tonight at 5:30 in the training office, Bks. 60.

Lieutenant Dunkelberg and members of the council—TSgt. Dorothy Tolson, Sgt. Mabel Blackard, Cpl. Eloise Turner, and Pfc Helen Neiderland—will discuss future plans and air new ideas for the club.

Three Women Marines are slated for release on the marriage bill this week. They are: Sgt. Billie J. Sides, Navy Relief Office; Sgt. Jerry Buote, H&S Bn. adjutant's office; and Cpl. Patricia A. Smith, camp adjutant's office.

Transferred

Sgt. Elizabeth White, ordnance supply, Supply Depot, has received orders for transfer to Headquarters Marine Corps. She will be leaving tomorrow.

Hawaii-bound on thirty days leave—Pfc Shirley Kaiwi and Sgt. Olive Dolan, both of Joint Landing Force Board, and Pfc Myra Figueroa, camp legal office.

General Hart Gets Honorary Degree

Lt. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, commanding general, FMFPac, recently was voted an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by Alabama Polytechnic Institute, from which he graduated in 1915.

He is the first to receive such a degree since 1945, when Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith (ret.), a member of the class of 1901, was similarly honored. Only 28 such degrees have been awarded in the history of the institution.

DRAMATIS PERSONAE of the "Operation Small Fry" program are: Cpl. Garrett Kaufman, colonel of Horse Marines; Cpl. Marshall Stone, director of program and sound effects; Sgt. Albert Coleman, the hero, Sergeant Troop; MSgt. Tom DeCastro, producer and narrator; SSgt. James J. Ogerino, villain, sound effects, and off-stage voices (Official USMC Photo).

Camp Lejeune Presents Its Answer To 'Captain Video'

Usually, the word "operation" to any Marine immediately brings to mind some sort of maneuvers or training program, but to the kids at Camp Lejeune "Operation" followed by "Small Fry" means a half hour of fun, quiz games, comedy and interviews.

The show, written by MSgt. Tom DeCastro and directed by Cpl. Marshall Stone is presented every Wednesday evening over WJNC from 5 to 5:30 p.m. Having its basic appeal to the kids it has received some enthusiastic response from the oldsters as well as the young.

The program's format consists of an interview from a base or neighboring grade school, a quiz contest called "What's It For," children's records, and a serial, "The Adventures of Troop and Stomp, Horse Marines."

On The Spot

The interviews are on-the-spot, with DeCastro and his assistant, Sgt. Al Coleman, recording them in the schoolroom. Every child whose voice appears on the show receives a souvenir record album or a recording of his voice.

Each week a new question is asked of the youngsters in the "What's It For" contest. The children mail in their answers to "Operation Small Fry," Camp Public Information Officer, Camp Lejeune, N. C., and the winning answer receives a "Mr. Boss" record album.

"The Adventures of Troop and Stomp, Horse Marines," is a weekly serial built around "Sergeant Troop," an "old corps" type of character, and Pfc Stomp, a slow-thinking, simple, but lovable leatherneck.

They have dedicated themselves to the fighting of evil and the upholding of the rights and freedoms of the people of the U. S. Troop is played by Sgt. Al Coleman, Camp PIO, and Stomp is charac- terized by Corporal Sgt.

MAISAC Tourney Begins 23rd; WM's Win Their

Service Fives Starting Play Monday Night

Seven teams, including the host, Camp Lejeune, start the quest for one of the biggest service basketball prizes, the Middle Atlantic Inter-Service Athletic Conference championship, Monday night at the Gostige Memorial Field House here.

The seven teams will vie in a double elimination tournament with four games slated daily and the final game to be held either February 27 or 28.

In a double elimination tournament, a team must lose twice before bowing out.

Aces Missing

Camp Lejeune will go into the tournament hampered by the loss of three star players, Leroy Smith, Skippy Whittaker, and George Lebby. The trio start practice with the Cherry Point squad in preparation for the Atlantic Fleet tournament to be held here March 4-11.

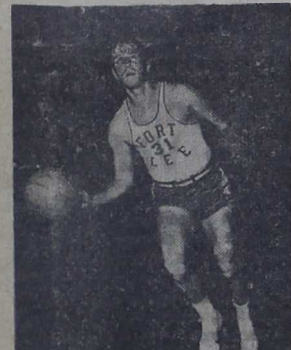

The loss of the talented cagers will hurt Lejeune considerably and diminish hopes for the title.

Four Army squads and two Navy teams will fill out the tourney roster. Fort Lee, the Fort Belvoir Engineers, the Camp Pickett Chargers, the Walter Reed Army Medical quintet, the Norfolk Naval Receiving Station "Sea Chargers," and Norfolk Naval Air Station are the participating fives.

Lee And Belvoir

Fort Lee, considered one of the finest teams on the coast, and Fort Belvoir will go into the tourney as co-favorites. Belvoir is sparked by two former LaSalle players who competed in the National Invitational Tournament last season, Jack George and Buddy Donnelly. Lee toppled Lejeune by 30 points in a regular season match.

Camp Pickett, Norfolk Receiving, and Lejeune could come through the tournament to victory. Their best chance lies in losing an early game and working their way through the losers' bracket, containing the weaker teams.

Walter Reed, a little-known quintet, shapes up as the dark horse, with a possibility of scoring a major upset.

Lejeune Ring Trio Score Victories In MAISAC Slugfest

Three Camp Lejeune boxers carved out first-round victories Monday night in the Middle Atlantic Inter-Service Athletic Conference tournament at Fort Myer, Va., but highly regarded Lejeune heavyweight Bud House dropped a decision.

House, a hard-punching batterer, went down to defeat by one point to Zoro Folley, Fort Eustis' All-Army champ, in one of the night's closest bouts.

Dave Gilyard was the first Lejeune man to notch a victory, decisioning Al Eyree, Fort Lee. "Bomber" Bill Jones, Lejeune's 139-pounder, unloaded one of his powerful left hooks to annihilate Lee Brazery of Fort Lee in 1:02 of the first round.

Joe Davis put on one of the most stirring combats of the evening to decision Eustis' Lonzo Johnson after being down twice in the first round.

Patrick H. Rose, San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot middleweight boxer, won the Brockton, Mass., Diamond Belt lightweight title in 1949, and the New England Golden Gloves middleweight crown in 1951.

Diamondmen Up Tempo As Season Nears

With the season only a little more than a month away, Camp Lejeune's varsity baseball team is intensifying its practice sessions.

Managers Lester Viegel and Charley Ziober are running their charges through calisthenics and hitting and fielding drills.

The arrival from Parris Island of first sacker Babe Daskalakis and third baseman Jimmy Brown added impetus to the team's drive for the opener, against Springfield College March 23.

Babe At First

Daskalakis, a fine hitter and fielder, will probably nail down the first base slot, and Ziober will attempt to transplant his other two first-sackers to the garden.

The managers are especially interested in watching Jimmy Ryan in the outfield. Ryan has been hitting a long ball in practice sessions. The other first baseman to move will be John Reek.

The two newcomers give Lejeune two good men to every infield post, and should insure some battles for the inner berths.

The catching spot will be a three-way fight between letterman Andy Payonk, Bob Stinson, a vet of five years' pro ball, and Jim Gingerella, one of last season's Force Troops standouts.

Player Of Week Honor To Williams

Orville "Speed" Williams, a 204-pound defensive back on the Camp Lejeune varsity during the past football season who currently works the pivot spot for Aggressor Co. in the Force Troops Basketball League, has been named the league's Player of the Week.

Though comparatively short for his position at 5-10, Williams is having little difficulty scoring. In 18 games he has hooped 366 points, a 20.6 per game average.

From Indianapolis, Ind., Williams formerly starred in football and track at Butler University.

Femmes Edge Out For East Coast Crown

The Camp Lejeune Women Marine six maintained spotless service competition record here Friday night, as Parris Island, 32-30, to win the East Coast Woman M. Tournament championship.

Receiving the opening toss-up, Lejeune lost the by the fast-trotting PI guards.

Cagers Sink ComServLant In Norfolk Go

NORFOLK, Va.—The Camp Lejeune varsity basketballers swamped ComServLant, 89-74, here Saturday, after playing a tightly-fought first half which saw them lead by a narrow 43-42 margin.

The score was tied at least five times in the first period, but finally a one-hander by Dippy Carosi broke a 9-9 tie and put the Marines ahead to stay for the rest of the contest.

The first quarter ended at 21-16 in favor of the Lejeuneurs, who pulled into a nine-point lead early in the second chapter. The White Hats then came up within three markers, at 41-38, as their big center, Dave Jones, poured in basket after basket.

Jones Hits High

Jones was high man for the night with 24, and Dippy Carosi runner-up with 17. Leroy Smith, playing only about 13 minutes with a badly strained back, was second high for the Marines with 16.

In the second half, Lejeune forged ahead on five field goals by Smith, four by Skip Whittaker, and fine offensive play making by John Anderson and George Lebby.

The Marines tallied 30 in the third frame and held the White Hats to 17, to lead 73-55. In the last quarter it was mostly foul shooting on both sides, with Lejeune losing three points, in the spread for the final winning margin.

Scorers besides Smith and Carosi were Sailor guard Bob Tart with 15; Skip Whittaker, ten; John Anderson, ten; and White Hats Carl Wheeler and Bill Johnson with ten each.

The rebounding in the contest was all Lejeune's, with Anderson and Ray Chakey doing most of the damage. The Sailors only took about five offensive rebounds in the whole game.

Two Tournaments By Woman Golfer

Mrs. S. S. Ballantine, playing Class C, won two consecutive "Bangle Bangle" golf tournaments as Lejeune's women golfers continued their activities on Paradise Point course. Mrs. Ballantine scored 13 points the week and 15 the following to both events.

In the first week's play Mrs. F. Cable and Mrs. Fraser tied 16 points to top class A play.

J. F. Sudduth, with nine points, headed the B golfers.

Mrs. C. L. Lee, scoring 15 points took top place in a class in second week of play, and Mrs. Ramy, with 14 points, headed B.

med Forces Press Service has announced a new plan whereby national service championships will be decided in an organized, finally ending the seemingly ever-present string of claimants mythical title.

The Armed Forces will conduct annual baseball, boxing, basketball and track and field tournaments. We hope that, if the ex-ecutives in these sports work out favorably, the plan will be ex-tended to include other sports, such as wrestling, tennis, soccer, other so-called minor sports.

The plan calls for each of the four services—Marine Corps, Army, and Air Force—to hold its own eliminations, and then the top teams, one from each branch of the service, will participate in the next.

Championships' Schedules

A basketball championships will be held at Offutt AFB, Neb., on 7 and 18 and the boxing on April 24 and 25 at Norfolk, Va. Track and field is scheduled for Fort Jackson in June and a Marine installa-tion play host to the baseball tournament on September 18 and 19. The one sport that we feel should be there right from the be-gin is football. For some reason there are always a number of which feel they rate the top spot in the country, this feeling times being backed by a poll.

A big argument on football would be the few number of games which would leave some doubt as to the top team in the various es.

How To Overcome Difficulties

ere would be two ways to overcome this hurdle if it arose. First, people who schedule the games could leave the first Saturday in ber open for such an emergency. The other way would be to the verdict of some system, such as the Williamson Grid Rating

The preliminary games could be played during the second week of December, leaving the finals. The final contest, which should be an attraction with the great number of ex-colleagues in the serv-ice, could be offered to some bowl committee, such as the Salad officials in Phoenix, Ariz.

The move portends a greater integration of service sports, putting in a higher plane and increasing their scope.

Not Quite As Expected

last week's column we mentioned that four former PI players headed here, but only two have come and the other two aren't. The new members of the Lejeune team are Babe Daskalakis, and Jimmy Brown, third.

Purely from a baseball and value-to-the-team angle we'd like to have seen the other two, Neil Chrisley and Paul Donovan. The who didn't come are outfielders and the need here is for out-ers.

Subless, Daskalakis and Brown will help. It's just that it leaves a field situation in the same weak condition.

Parris Island, for a change, seems to be having trouble getting a baseball team. Only 36 candidates turned out, compared to 200 here. The "Boots" have only one returning letterman, Bob 4, who had a 1-1 mound record last year.

Lejeune football players who've played two seasons here are being sent to other bases. Guard Carl Plantholt and fullback "Ski" wski are at Parris Island and halfback Bobby Gualt is heading mp Pendleton.

its face it. North Carolina waters offer a huge variety to the fisherman. More than 40 species of game fish are found from the Stream to the mountains of western North Carolina, some of the best ranges along the eastern seaboard.

North Carolina has a 320-mile coastline, which is patrolled fish throughout the year ready to take your hook. Twenty-counties in western North Carolina have over 1,105 miles of green water stocked with brook, brown, and rainbow trout. There are 75 mountain lakes that harbor small-mouth and black crappie, bream, wall-eyed-pike, and even that super-powerful her of the pike family, the mighty muskellunge.

Coastal fishing provides as varied an assort ment of scaled ers as an angler will find anywhere. Among the most highly are channel bass (red drum), sailfish of the Gulf Stream, along with amberjack, dolphin, bonito, barracuda, king mackerel, and cabio. Also bluefish, striped bass, spot, drum and weakfish haunt the sounds, tidal rivers, and creeks. These fish range from small to huge. Like the big amberjack to the left, caught off More-head City, when they are big, they are very, very big... and very very tough. An amberjack is a sea going bulldozer. They hit like Marciano, and fight with an endurance and rugged determination that is almost unparalleled in the angling department. Not spectacular performers like the sailfish, they make up for their lack of aquatic finesse by pure bull-headed brawn. They are easy to catch during the weather in the offshore waters all along the Carolina coast.

Good News

om along the coast we have received some good reports in the department. Anglers have had some success with redfish at slow Beach Bridge, as well as with sheephead.

A few sea trout still are ranging the Intracoastal Waterway, with the dark moon now over Carolina, flounder fishermen been having fair results in New River. Striped bass are still in the waters of the Wilmington-Southport area, and sev-er good catches of channel bass along the coast have been re-ported.

ere comes a time in this profession when news grows scarce, such periods—as always—letters, phone calls, and communica-any kind are gratefully received.

Give Us The Word

is hoped that some of the Marine anglers here will drop this a line, report some catches, send in some pictures, or ask some ns. We will do our best to handle any information that comes y, but let us hear from you. The GLOBE telephone number is

ComService Quint Takes Over Second In FT Hoop Circuit

Combat Service Group broke a second-place stalemate with Auto-matic Weapons and moved into sole possession of that spot last week in the Force Troops Basket-ball League by tagging an aveng-ing 49-39 loss on its arch-rival.

In an earlier meeting this season, the Combatmen were beaten by AW. Their victory last week was an especially important one since both teams finished the first half as runners-up to top place 2d 90 AAA with 13-2 records.

Combat also added another win during the week, downing 8th Signal Bn., 78-66. Meanwhile, 2d 90 AAA kept its record unmarred by tripping 8th Tank Bn., 61-53.

Clark Still Tops

Charlie Clark, Amtrak's center, heaped a bundle of points on his league-leading scoring total by de-tonating for 26 against 8th Motor and 43 against 8th Signal.

The latter outburst equaled the season's high mark, set by Clark in a first half tilt against Head-quarters Co., and brought his present accumulation to 628 points, a per game average of 26.4.

Other scores: 8th Engineer 44, 4.5 Rocket 36; Aggressor 32, 4.5 Rocket 40; Reconnaissance 64, Armored Amphib 53; Amtrak 53, 8th Motor 51; Amtrak 62, Aggressor 42; Automatic Wps. 74, 8th Signal 49.

Amtrak 75, 8th Motor 42; 153 Gun Bn. 73, Reconnaissance 51; 8th Signal 70, Amtrak 71; Hq. Co., F.T. 68, 8th Tank 65; 8th Motor 75, 4.5 Rocket 44; 153 Gun Bn. 64, 8th Engineer 50; Amtrak 55, 8th Signal 51; and 8th Tank 54, Recon-naisance 52.

stated, "The service uniform, trenchcoat, shirts, ties, and over-coat are now in production," and expressed the belief that by summer every Woman Marine will have at least one new summer uniform.

Following her tenth WM anni-versary visit here Colonel Towle left for Cherry Point. She re-turned to Headquarters Marine Corps Tuesday.

To date there is no official in-formation available regarding Colo-nel Towle's replacement as direc-tor. On retirement she will assume the duties of dean of women and associate dean of students at the University of California.

FT Man Awarded Marksmanship Prize

MSgt. Robert R. Harvey was re-cently awarded a "Leatherneck" Certificate of excellence for marksmanship and a one-year subscrip-tion to the magazine.

Col. A. B. Swencski, Force Troops chief of staff, made the presentation.

Sergeant Harvey is on temporary additional duty at the Rifle Range, where he is trying out for the rifle team; from the 2d 90 mm AAA Bn.

Pfc Derral Davis, guard on the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot's basketball squad, was a Look magazine high school All Ameri-can high hurdler when a prep stu-dent in Texas.

Pfc George V. Jenzen, guard with San Diego Marine Corps Re-cruit Depot's basketball team, who earned all-conference mention twice at Colorado A & M, also is active in basketball and tennis.

Quantico Dumps Camp To Take East Coast Championship

QUANTICO, Va.—Paul Arizin dumped in 28 points to lead his teammates to the East Coast Marine Corps championship by de-feating Camp Lejeune, 88 to 73, in a well-played, hard-fought con-test here Thursday.

Using a tight zone defense, the Lejeune Marines held Quantico to one of their smallest point spreads in Marine competition this year. The Marine Corps Schools quintet has vanquished all Marine teams in sight and is in undisputed top place on the East Coast with five wins in as many starts.

Lejeune's Leroy Smith was held to 15 points, but played a very effective defensive game.

Quantico led at the start and was never seriously threatened, al-though the North Carolina Marines staged a rally in the last quarter which was staved off by Arizin and Co.

The home team took the first period, 21-13, the half, 44-39, and had their biggest lead at the end of the third quarter, 64-46. Three Lejeuners hit for double figures: Smith, Jarm with 13, and Dippy Carosi with 10.

Pfc Glendon Anderson, star forward with the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot basketball team, twice earned All-Skyline Six honors at Colorado A & M, and played with Denver Industrial Bankers, winning All-AAU laurels.
