Of China's Nationalist Marines Base 2 Days

Chow Yu Huan, commander of the Chinese Nationalist Marines, arrived here Tuesday by air for a two-day visit to the facilities.

The 60-year-old commander of the 2nd Marine Division arrived at San Francisco on February 2 for an arrival ceremony.

During the morning the visiting general was given military honors at the camp parade ground. He was escorted by General Henry D. Linscott, commanding general of the 2nd Marine Division, and Marine Col. James M. Landrigan, 2nd Marine Air Wing.

General Linscott, 2nd Marine Air Wing, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and Col. B. T. Holcomb, 2nd Marine Air Wing, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, opened the celebration.

Following a prayer by Cmdr. Eric H. Arendt, division chaplain, the colors were presented to the reviewing officer.

A narration giving a summary of the 2nd Division's history was read by Maj. Francis E. Blake, staff secretary.

The reviewing party in addition to General Harris and Maj. Gen. R. McC. Pate, Division Commander, included Brig. Gen. John N. Hart, deputy commanding general, Air, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and Col. Marion L. Dawson, deputy commander, 2nd Marine Air Wing, Fleet Marine Force.

Warrant Officer Martin D. Eichman conducted the 2nd Division Band in a series of military marches while units of the division passed in review.

All units of the division were represented except the 6th Marines, currently training in the Caribbean.

While units of the 2nd Division celebrated the organization's twelfth anniversary last week with a giant parade, three civilian agencies added to the occasion by sending congratulatory telegrams to Maj. Gen. McC. Pate, division commander, expressing the pride and confidence in which the division is held by the nation.

Sears Roebuck and Company's manager in Jacksonville, Horace W. Meyers, telegraphed: "Congratulations to the 2nd Marine Division on their twelfth anniversary. It is indeed a pleasure to serve the men of your outstanding division."

From the executive director of the State Ports Authority, G. W. Gillette, came: "Please accept our heartiest congratulations and good wishes for the 2nd Marine Division and be assured of our eagerness to serve to the full extent our ports facilities can offer any time."

Holiday routine for Lejeune personnel will prevail Monday, February 23, since Washington's birthday falls on the preceding day.

Although the 1953 March of Dimes campaign here came to an official halt last week, $403.14 straggled in this week, bringing the 1953 total to $36,619.80.

Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, camp commanding general, this week praised personnel here who contributed to the Lejeune campaign against polio.

"Through the generous support given the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis here financially this year," the general said, "the Foundation will be greatly aided for another year's fight against the dreadful disease, polio."

The Supply Depot Special Services safety display which was held in the Industrial Area has been moved to Bldg. 126 at Montford Point. It is open daily from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Personnel with automobiles with the Camp Provost are required to present registration to the Pass Office, Bldg. 50, on the first day after the 1953 license expires.

The Supply Depot Special Services safety display which was held in the Industrial Area has been moved to Bldg. 126 at Montford Point. It is open daily from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

3500 Competing For 500 Second Lieutenant Billets

With 500 second lieutenant commissions soon to be handed out, some 3500 Marine non-commissioned and warrant officers are competing within the program.

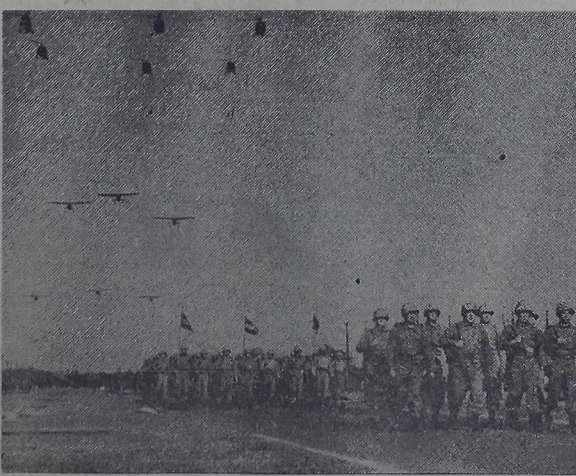

The program differs chiefly from last year's plan in that the maximum age was lowered from 36 to 30 years and educational requirements were eased.

After a board now in session selects the 500-odd applicants for temporary second lieutenant bars, the selectees will be required to take a five-month special basic course for officers at Quantico, Va., and will be sent directly to the Fleet Marine Force following graduation.

Qualified regular and Reserve commissioned warrant officers, warrant officers, master sergeants, technical sergeants, staff sergeants, and sergeants were eligible to make application.

HOLIDAY ROUTINE

Holiday routine for Lejeune personnel will prevail Monday, February 23, since Washington's birthday falls on the preceding day.

AERIAL TRIBUTE is paid to the parading Leathernecks of the 2nd Marine Division by six helicopters and observation planes of VMO-1, the division's observation squadron, in honor of the Division's 12 years of service to the nation (Official USMC Photo).

Women Marines Hail 10-Year Anniversary

Tomorrow Women Marines celebrate their tenth anniversary of service to the nation.

The 2nd Marine Division celebrated 12 years of service to the nation last Thursday in a gala anniversary ceremony featuring 10,000 combat-clad Leathernecks parading in review.

A 13-gun salute to the reviewing officer, Maj. Gen. Field Harris, deputy commanding general, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and commanding general, Air, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, opened the celebration.

Following a prayer by Cmdr. Eric H. Arendt, division chaplain, the colors were presented to the Commanding Officer of Troops, Col. Bruno A. Hochmuth, and to the reviewing officer. A narration giving a summary of the 2nd Division's history was read by Maj. Francis E. Blake, staff secretary.

The reviewing party in addition to General Harris and Maj. Gen. R. McC. Pate, Division Commander, included Brig. Gen. John N. Hart, deputy commanding general, Air, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, and Col. Marion L. Dawson, deputy commander, 2nd Marine Air Wing, Fleet Marine Force.

Warrant Officer Martin D. Eichman conducted the 2nd Division Band in a series of military marches while units of the division passed in review. All units of the division were represented except the 6th Marines, currently training in the Caribbean.

Civilians Laud 2nd Division's Anniversary

While units of the 2nd Division celebrated the organization's twelfth anniversary last week with a giant parade, three civilian agencies added to the occasion by sending congratulatory telegrams to Maj. Gen. McC. Pate, division commander, expressing the pride and confidence in which the division is held by the nation.

Sears Roebuck and Company's manager in Jacksonville, Horace W. Meyers, telegraphed: "Congratulations to the 2nd Marine Division on their twelfth anniversary. It is indeed a pleasure to serve the men of your outstanding division."

From the executive director of the State Ports Authority, G. W. Gillette, came: "Please accept our heartiest congratulations and good wishes for the 2nd Marine Division and be assured of our eagerness to serve to the full extent our ports facilities can offer any time."

General Linscott will read the birthday message from the Commandant and will introduce Colonel Towle, who will speak.

In the event of inclement weather, the assembly will be held at the Camp Theater.

Special Luncheon
At noon the company will march to Mess Hall 54 for the cake-cutting ceremony and the special luncheon. The menu for the luncheon consists of sliced ham, roast beef, cold cuts, potato chips, relish, olives, celery sticks, potato salad, carrot sticks, coffee and birthday cake.

Following the luncheon, the Woman Marine Director will attend the graduation ceremony of the first class of students attending the Staff NCO Leadership School. The graduation exercises will begin at 1:30 p.m. Colonel Towle will present the 25 Women Marine graduates their diplomas.

Do You Believe In Love At First Sight?
PFC JOHN HERNE, 4TH BN., 8TH MARINES—Yes, I do. With me it is all in the eyes. By looking into a girl's eyes I find you can tell whether you can get along with her or not. I think that a girl's eyes tell what kind of a girl she is. They reveal most of her characteristics.

TSGT. CHARLES F. CHANEY, MAINTENANCE BN. 2ND COMBAT SERVICE GROUP—Yes, because that was the way it was with me when I met my wife. Of course I can't speak for everyone because of people's different characteristics. In times like this and with liberty conditions the way they are around here, I imagine the fellows would be much inclined to fall in love at first sight.

SGT. JULIE REITER, CAMP PHOTO LAB—Yes. Usually, you can tell at once if you care for someone or not. Many times I've fallen for a girl at first sight and so far I have never been sorry. I've found that most of the girls you go out with judge a fellow on the first glance and draw their conclusions from that. My system may be a bit off, but it usually has worked out alright for me.

DN DON SIMON, CAMP DENTAL LABORATORY—No. Love is something that is built up gradually between two persons. Before you love someone you have to know a little something about her. At least, I do. I like to find out what her personality is like and whether she's good company. I think many a fellow can be fooled too easily by a wistful smile.

MRS. C. D. MITCHELL, P. O. BOX 71, HUBERT, N. C.—Before I met my husband I didn't, but when I met him I changed my mind. We were introduced to each other in Kinston, N. C., and right then I thought, "that's the man for me." We were engaged a week later and now, after seven years of being very happily married, we have three children.

Clearance Sale Set For Central Annex

Battalion Returns From 'Med' With Memories Galore

The 3rd Bn., 2nd Marines (reinforced) returned to the United States and Camp Lejeune last week after completing one of the most interesting and colorful six-month tours of duty since the Mediterranean cruises were initiated in 1943.

Last fall the battalion, serving aboard ships of the U. S. Fleet, participated in two of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's biggest displays of might, "Exercise Mainbrace" and "Exercise Longstep."

The "Mainbrace" operation in September, involving eight NATO nations, was the largest peacetime joint-naval exercise in world history and culminated in the landing of almost 2000 Lejeune Leathernecks on the Jutland peninsula of Denmark.

In Mediterranean "Exercise Longstep," the largest peacetime Allied maneuvers ever held in the Mediterranean, involved 170 ships and 500 planes of six NATO nations. It ended with the amphibious landing of Marines, Greek Raiders, and French and Italian Commandos on the shores of Turkey.

In this exercise the Lejeune Marines had the honor of being the first United States troops to participate in this first joint amphibious maneuvers conducted by NATO.

While in the Mediterranean the reinforced battalion also made a shakedown landing on the island of Sardinia and later returned there for five days of live-firing problems.

During their six-month tour of duty the Leathernecks visited many famous ports and cities of Europe and North Africa and also had an opportunity to take tours of four famous capitals, London, Paris, Rome and Madrid.

'Leatherneck' Adds New Divisions To Rifle Competition

A bigger Leatherneck Rifle Competition for 1953 has been instituted by "Leatherneck" magazine with three new divisions of shooters being added to those now qualified for the prizes, according to 1st Lt. Leon C. Randell, business manager for the magazine.

Now qualified to shoot for the "Leatherneck" awards are: all reserve officers on active duty, enlisted men of the organized reserve, and officers of the organized reserve.

Prizes for the competition include Winchester rifles, shotguns, and cash, plus gold, silver and bronze medals. "Leatherneck" subscriptions go with each prize. Officers will not receive cash prizes.

Qualified shooters may compete for the prizes by obtaining a card signed by their range officer attesting to their scores.

Wives Can Record Hellos To Hubbies

Marine wives, whose husbands are in Vieques, will be afforded the opportunity to send recorded messages in the voices and those of their children to their husbands. Lt. Col. J. K. Lynch, commanding officer, rear echelon, Sixth Marines, has announced that tape recorders will be available at the regiment's rear echelon headquarters, Bldg. 123, Monday and Tuesday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

After the recordings are complete, they will be shipped to Vieques in the care of Maj. R. Cook, 2nd Provisional Marine Aggressor Co., who has made the machines available.

Women Marines Mark Anniversary Ten Years' Service With Corps

From Hawaii to Italy and Germany, Women Marines will mark the tenth anniversary of their service with the U. S. Marine Corps tomorrow.

The past year has brought them duty in Europe for the first time; stylishly redesigned uniforms by Mainbocher; first "dress blues;" and a reorganization of the Organized Reserve, which was mobilized to answer the emergency.

Women Marines have been part of regular armed forces since 1918, but they will celebrate the enlistment of Women Reserves on June 13, 1943. On that date, they answered the Leathernecks' call to "free a Marine to fight," and some of them have been in combat since.

Enlistment of Women Reserves was successful in World War II. By June 1944, the authorized strength of 18,000 had been reached. Peak strength came on July 5, when 331 officers and 17,000 enlisted women were on duty.

Early Days
The first director was Maj. Cheney Streeter, who even was promoted to colonel. Enlisted women first were trained at the College, New York City. Women officers at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., were Reserve officers and retraining was transferred to Camp Lejeune in 1943.

Women were assigned to almost every type of non-combatant duty, including motor transport, maintenance, supply and photographic. About 40 percent were assigned to some phase of aviation. The Marine Corps finally accepted 700 Women Reserves on duty. The first contingent of five officers and 160 enlisted Reserves arrived in Hawaii in January 1945. After Japan's surrender and demobilization got under way, a hundred Women Marines remained at Headquarters to handle the clerical work. Colonel Streeter returned to civilian life in December 1945, and was succeeded by Col. Katherine A. Towle of Berkeley, Calif.

Colonel Towle supervised demobilization and planned the organization and training of a post-war Women's Reserve. She retired to inactive duty in August

September of that year, the first Lt. Col. Julia E. Hamblet recalled to active duty as Director of Women Reserves. Volun-

K. KATHERINE TOWLE

Units for women were organized in 14 cities. Without pay, they assisted male organizational reserve units with administrative work.

First Director
The enactment of the Women's Services Integration Act in 1948, Colonel Towle was recalled to active duty and sworn in, November 4, 1948, as first Director of Women Marines. The regular Women Marines were enlisted veterans of World War II. In 1949, officer and recruit training programs were opened to civilian women. Recruit training was transferred to Parris Island; an Officer Training Course to Marine Corps Schools, Quantico.

Today, the Marine Corps is the only branch of the armed services to form separate units in its Organized Reserve. The thirteenth such unit was established at Dallas in 1950. The outbreak of Korean fighting in June 1950, women of the Organized Reserve were called to active duty. All 13 platoons were mobilized with men of their parent units, and 98 per cent of the organized enlisted women Reservists were accepted for active duty.

In the fall of 1951, the Marine Corps made plans for activation of 18 Women's Organized Reserve Platoons. Fourteen of them have been activated in major cities. They train two hours weekly in such subjects as classification, administration, supply, disbursing and communications — training which helps many in their civilian jobs.

Women Reserves also attend two weeks of active duty at a

Marine Corps base during the summer. They get the same pay and allowances as male Marines and also may qualify for promotions.

Presently, 2600 Women Marines, regular and Reservists, are on active duty.

Women Marines are serving on all major Leatherneck posts and stations and in reserve and recruiting district headquarters. In October 1951, they returned to Hawaiian scenes. In September of last year, the first Women Marines went to Europe and are serving at Naples and Frankfurt.

Iwo Anniversary Coming Thursday

Next Thursday will be the eighth anniversary of the historic flag-raising atop Mount Surabachi on Iwo Jima. A 100-ton bronze statue depicting the flag raising currently is being formed at Washington, D. C. This statue, in memory of 5000 Marines who perished during the fight for the Pacific atoll, as well as those who died for their country in the last 176 years, will stand in the nation's capital.

Funds for the monument have been depleted for 1953, and a campaign is on here at the request of the Commandant of the Marine Corps, to replenish the Iwo Jima Memorial fund.

Dischargees Failing To Take Insurance

A recent Veterans Administration survey pointed out that men leaving the service are failing to take advantage of the five-year term insurance offered them by the government.

The new coverage is straight term insurance with no cash or loan value. It can't be extended or converted and it doesn't earn dividends; it just pays off to the serviceman's family if he dies.

Veterans have 120 days after separation or retirement to apply for this insurance.

Chaplain's Corner

GIVING IS GODLY

Some stories are too beautiful ever to bore you, yet too simple to be told well. That is the Christmas story. Some stories are "too good to be true." That is not the Christmas story. It is true. This is the gift to beat all gifts, God's own gift to His own children: Himself!

What He did for us proves all He said to us: human nature gets more fun from giving than from receiving. This is history's supreme example of the identification of the social commands of Christ with the best advice of human wisdom and psychology: it IS more blessed to give than to receive. Men are by nature much more a source of supply of love than a receptacle for it.

Men were made to love and the very life of love is in giving. That is why no one feels so good as the giver. Not because of the things you give, but because of pouring out yourself. So the poor and the sick and the cripple, and above all, children, quickly touch our hearts to give. The real imitation of God, the final secret of life and love, is not so much my giving, but my giving ME!

We never tire of repeating in picture the historical event of God's coming on earth and giving Himself to us. And we know from experience how good Christmas giving feels in us. Christmas proves giving is the most Godlike action on earth.

Please, God, give us all now to remember during the days between Christmases, especially in these times famous for "grabbing," the wisdom and glow and divinity of giving. Divine Child, make us, for honor and joy and love, more Godlike men, more and more twin then to You, Who came as a childlike God.—Chaplain E. P. Cronan, Force Troops.

WM Maneuvers

By CPL. ELOISE TURNER

In some portions of the country flu epidemics are making the headlines. In WM Co. a combina- tion of marriages and releases on the marriage bill have almost reached epidemic proportions.

Sgt. Jerry Buote, clerk, H&S Bn. Adjutant's office, has re- turned from leave and an- nounced her marriage to W. J. Garrett. Jerry and former Ma- rine Garrett were married in Lawrence, Mass.

Thursday evening Pfc. Barbara Anthony, general supply, and Pfc. Paul Bruce, Guard Co., were united in marriage at the Protestant Chapel. The bride's father, War- ren W. Anthony of Portsmouth, R. I., was here for the wedding. Following the ceremony an inform- al reception was held at the WM Service Club.

In the December 31 issue of the GLOBE an announcement of the engagement of Cpl. Audrey Green, camp legal office, and Cpl. Frank Vatter, personnel section, Mont- ford Point, stated the couple would be married in June. Such is not the case. The couple left recently on leave and will be married in Audrey's home town, Rockland, Mass.

Monday morning six Women Marines received discharges on the marriage bill. They are: Cpl. Sheila Tavares Gongola and Cpl. Nola Lippincott Ward, both of MRI; Cpl. Betty Pearson Allen, camp property office; Sgt. Bar- bara Forster Bozart, camp main- tenance; Cpl. Nelda Kelly Solo- mon, Central Exchange Annex; and Cpl. Willa Presley Davis, men's shop.

Former Pfc. Arlene "Babe" Syk- ursa, camp disbursing office, re- turned to Lejeune for a visit this week end wearing an officer candidate badge. She is a member of the current Officer Candidate Class, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico.

During the month of February members of the Woman Marine Company have been asked to do- nate 63 pints of blood. The quota has been set at seven pints per day to be donated on Mondays, Wed- nesdays, and Fridays.

Monday morning the first se- ven donors for the company were: Cpl. Mary Ann Axmacher, and Pfc's Cherlene Setterson, Wanda Beauchamp, Rita Greenwell, Ann Carpenter, Billie Bryson, and Vel Crocker.

2nd Tank Bn. Gives Scouts Thrills Galore

In a flame-throwing, thrill-pack- ed, 90-minute demonstration of the "General Patton" tank, the 2nd Tank Bn. played host to 30 wide- eyed Cub Scouts from Pack 90 here recently.

Arriving at the demonstration site, the Cubs awaited the ap- pearance of Maj. Gen. R. McC. Pate, commanding general, 2nd Division. Upon the general's ar- rival, they snapped to attention and saluted smartly. Returning the greeting, General Pate spoke a few words of welcome.

All ears, the youngsters listened to a description of the M-47 tank by 1st Lt. Robert V. Shepard of the 2nd Tank Bn.

Rides Too

At the conclusion of the lieuten- ant's lecture, joyous war-whoops greeted his announcement that the boys not only could personally in- spect the tanks, inside and out, but also would be given a ride after- wards.

Amidst clouds of dust and the roar of powerful engines, the first two group of Cubs took off on their ten-minute ride. Left at the start- ing gate to wait their turn the three remaining groups of eager scouts found it more than difficult to restrain their anticipation, even under the watchful eye of the Cub Pack Master, Lt. Col. Lloyd G. Coutts, Joint Landing Force Board.

Forming a chow-line after their tank ride, the boys were dished up refreshments while Marines set up an M-4A3 tank with flame thrower for the final phase of the demonstration.

Liberal interspersed with the whoosh of the flame thrower and the billows of black smoke were the "Wow's" and "Oh Boy's" of the Cubs as they watched the disinte- gration of a small pine tree some hundred yards from the flame-gun.

Quantico Tilt Opens Five's Road Junket

QUANTICO, Va., February 12—Leroy Smith and his Camp Lejeune cagers will tangle with Paul Arizin and Co. here tonight in a Marine Corps family squabble.

The North Carolina Leathernecks left Lejeune yesterday on the first leg of an 11-day trip which carries them through the rest of their regular season schedule.

Quantico drubbed the Lejeune cagers this year by 110-83 at the North Carolina base. That contest was mainly a scoring duel between Smith and Arizin, with depth and major college experience giving the Virginians a definite edge.

Arizin was high man with 35, followed closely by Smith with 27. The latter did not get into the conflict until late in the first quarter, while Arizin played only until the end of the third period.

Off To Norfolk

After the stay at Marine Corps Schools, the Lejeune Leathernecks take off for Norfolk, Va., and vicinity. They first play Com Serv Lant in Norfolk Saturday, and then take a jaunt over to Little Creek to meet the Amphibs there Monday.

Lejeune will tangle with Norfolk Naval Air Station, and then move on to Camp Pickett for a game there next day.

The series ends with a game at Norfolk against DesLant February 21.

Lejeune previously has beaten ComServLant, Naval Air Station, and DesLant, while dropping close ones to Camp Pickett and Little Creek.

The Marines return to their home court on February 23 as host team in the Middle Atlantic Inter-Service Athletic Conference tournament which will feature such service powerhouse as Fort Belvoir, Fort Lee, and Camp Pickett.

Glovers Clip Mitchel Air Force Wings

Camp Lejeune's boxing team swept through six bouts here Friday night, registering two KO's and four decisions, to whitewash the vaunted Mitchel AFB Bombers, 6-0.

Mitchel, long rated one of the top boxing teams in the East, couldn't offer any opposition for the Lejeune shurgers.

Bantamweight Norm Williams started Lejeune's fast pace by completely outclassing Jerry Polite. Williams, more experienced, had no trouble and downed Polite with two sharp lefts for an eight-count in the second.

Galligan TKO's

Featherweight Ev Galligan scored a TKO in 1:07 of the third after hammering Coley Colbert for the first part of the fight. Galligan cornered Colbert and the ref stopped the bout when the Bomber mittman couldn't defend himself.

After two even rounds, Julius Griffiths slammed George Schley to the canvas with a left hook to give the Lejeune better the margin of victory in a close decision.

Ed Gustin scored Lejeune's second TKO when Mitchel's Willie Ellison refused to come out for the third round after taking a solid beating for the first two.

Despite being knocked down in the third, Bud House scored a decision over Harrison Glover to give Lejeune win number six. House piled up a comfortable lead over Glover in the first two rounds.

A right hand downed House, but he was up at one, unhurt, and forced the fighting for the remainder of the round.

Ringmen Eying Titles In Coming MAISAC Jousts

The Lejeune boxing team starts its defense of the Middle Atlantic Inter-Service boxing championships at Fort Meyer, Va., Monday.

Last year, the Leathernecks' second string went into the MAISAC, while the first team was engaged in the Atlantic Fleet tournament. Lejeune took MAISAC honors while FMF won second place in the Atlantic Fleets.

The only returnee from last year's MAISAC champs is featherweight Ev Gavalin.

good in this year's tourney. Coach Glenn McComas will enter two men in every division except flyweight and heavyweight, taking 18 men on the trip in all.

Captain McComas' best prospects are Levi Washington, Julius Griffiths, Ed Gustin, and Bud House.

Some of the entries in this year's event include Quantico, Bolling Field, Fort Belvoir, Fort Lee, and Camp Pickett. Eighteen teams are invited to the five-day meet, which ends February 21.

WM's Strafe Girls Of Langley AFB

Saturday night the Lejeune Women Marines met and defeated Langley Air Force Base, 38-29, for the second time this season. Although the WM's took the lead in the first quarter and kept the margin throughout the game, they were lacking in form.

Tennessee Kitts, forward, was high scorer for the WM's with 21 points. Pat Burbage, next in line for the season's high-scoring position, was on the bench most of the game due to an injured ankle.

Dorothy Flint, forward, added 18 points to her record as high scorer for the WAF team.

Next week the Lejeune WM's leave for a road trip and will play Norfolk NAS, Fort Lee, and Camp Pickett before they return.

Cpl. Richard Garth, San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot basketball guard, was an all-conference choice at Iowa State Teachers College.

Some of the greatest names in college and professional cage circles will be featured in the four-day Middle Atlantic Inter-Service Athletic Conference basketball tournament, which starts here February 23 with Camp Lejeune as host team.

Entrants in the tourney are Fort Belvoir, Walter Reed Hospital, Fort Lee, Langley Air Force Base, Norfolk Naval Air Station, Camp Pickett, Little Creek Amphibs, and Camp Lejeune.

Play will be double-elimination, with each team having to lose twice to be out of the running.

Fort Lee Prospects

Fort Lee is led by Bert Cook, Utah State All-American and Knickerbocker star, and also features Ray Regalis, of Northwestern and the Rochester Royals. Sam Miranda, dribbling and set-shooting expert from Indiana where he made the Big Ten, also plays for the Fort Lee quintet.

Fort Belvoir has the services of two LaSalle standouts of 1951-52, in Buddy Donnelly and Jack George.

George was one of the most promising of young college players while at LaSalle and the team's leading scorer before the Army tabbed him after two years of college play. Donnelly was the captain of LaSalle's National Invitation Tournament champions last year.

Play in the five-day tourney will start February 23 with games on the following three days and the finals February 27. In case there is a tie after the finals—a once-beaten team topping the undefeated squad—there will be a play-off contest the next day.

Tournaments Slated To Choose Armed Forces Champions

Tournaments will be held by the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps to select all-service champs in baseball, basketball, boxing and track and field.

Each service will enter a team as its representative and will conduct its own eliminations to select a squad.

The first National Inter-Service Basketball Championships will be played at Offutt AFB, Neb., on April 17 and 18. The all-service tourney for the boxing title will be at Norfolk, Va., on April 24 and 25.

Other inter-service championships scheduled are: track and field, Fort Jackson, S. C., June 19 and 20; baseball, September 18 and 19, at a Marine installation to be announced at a later date.

Lejeune Five Go 2-1 In Week's Play

Boots Quell Camp Rally To Cop Tilt

The Parris Island basketweavers outlasted Camp Lejeune Saturday night in a whirlwind finish which saw the locals whittle down a 22-point deficit to five points in the last two minutes. However, the old foul nemesis gave the Boots their winning margin of 83 to 76.

PI completely outplayed the Lejeune men for three periods and then gave in to the defensive pressure of the North Carolina Marines' Bob Ruoff and George Lebby.

Center Clarence Yackey was the Islanders' main rebounder until he was taken out in the middle of the game with four personals charged against him.

Timely Tallies

All through the contest, timely hits by high-scoring Leroy Smith and Skip Whitaker kept the Lejeune men within range of their Marine cousins.

Parris Island had the lead at the end of the first period, 19-15, while they widened the gap to 46-34 by intermission time.

The third period saw the Boots ahead by 22 points at one time, but accurate shooting by Whitaker and Smith narrowed the gap to 71-56, and at the opening of the fourth stanza the locals started to drive and rebound to hold PI scoreless for long stretches at a time.

Lejeune had come within five points of the visitors at 81-76, on the shooting of Smith and Bob Ruoff, and the fine ball-hawking of Dippy Carosi and Ray Chakey. However, at that point, Yackey was fouled and dumped two under the three-minute foul rule to put the game out of Lejeune's reach with less than 40 seconds to go.

High for the night with 32 was Leroy Smith. Yackey marked up 27 for the winners, and Leo Chester, PI forward, tallied 23. Skip Whitaker hit for 17 as runner-up for Lejeune.

CARL WHITE, Combat Service Group court ace, received Force Troops Player of the Week honors this week.

East Coast Woman Marine Tournament Hits Boards Here

The first two games of the East Coast Woman Marine Tournament got underway last night, starting a three-day race for the coveted championship. Visiting contestants are Parris Island, Cherry Point, and Quantico.

Having defeated Cherry Point twice, the Lejeune cagers feel confident of another victory against the "Tets." However, having had no matches with Quantico or Parris Island, the Lejeune six will have to remain on their toes.

The tournament will probably close tomorrow. However, should the winner of the losers' bracket defeat the winner of the winners' bracket in the double-elimination tournament, the series will go into extra games on Saturday.

Games today will be 6:30 and 8 p.m., while tomorrow's action will start at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. If further games are necessary, they will start Saturday at 1 p.m.

Ninetymen Record Intact: Beat 155 Gun, 4.5 Rocket

The road to the Force Troops basketball crown was made considerably less hazy last week for 2d 90 AAA as the Ninetymen remained undefeated while Aggressor Co., previously the only other unbeaten quintet in the second half, fell twice.

Second Ninety had a serious scare from a spirited 125 Gun team, which led the league leaders, 30-25, at halftime and 47-40 after three quarters. But the underlings weakened in the final stages and 2d 90 overcame the handicap to win, 64-58.

The Nineties also triumphed over 4.5 Rocket, 73-44, and won a forfeit victory from Armored Amphibious.

Aggressor Company's unbeaten spree came to a decisive halt when Combat Service Group handed the final-half upstarts an 83-59 lacing. Automatic Weapons then showed the Aggressors still slower by stopping them, 71-58.

Clark Still High Charlie Clark, Amtruck's center, broke the 500-point circle and considerably widened the margin between himself and other Force scorers by registering 49 points in three games. His season's total now stands at 559, a 23.3 per-game average, the latter also highest in the league.

Still second to Clark in scoring, but losing ground, is the enormous 6-6 Combat Service Group center, Roy Oliver, with 446 points and a 20.2 per-game mark.

Kinston Choristers Present Program At Camp Theater

The Grainger High School Singers, Kinston, N. C., presented an hour-and-a-half musical production at the Camp Theater, last week. The program was under the direction of James Hall.

This season the choristers have added a novel 15-musical ballet to their vocal selections. "The Ozark Story," composed of folk music selected and arranged by Mr. Hall and choreography by Mrs. Jackie Hale, featured Verna Wooten and Nancy Walker.

Derived from Ozark Mountain songs, the ballet depicts a young mountain girl, her blighted love affair, and her tragic death. Included in the 13-selection program were a number of hymns, rituals, a creole lament, and two Rogers and Hammerstein hits from "The King and I," "I Whistle a Happy Tune" and "We Kiss in a Shadow."

Featured soloists were Mary Bland Dixon, Mack Edmondson, and Sue Horne, accompanied by Harriet Sutton and Betty Stanford.
