Marines Really Put ir Hearts Into Giving

Reading Time: 1/2 minute
Result: Possibly Saving A Life

The story of two Marine recruits, literally and figuratively unfolded when the Blood Donor Center at Camp Lejeune, N.C., reported a similarity between the two men's names appearing on the blood donation list. The center revealed that Pfc John W. Rogers and Zachary T. Piercy, had given blood in six days. It was pointed out, was a regulation since ordinarily, a three-day limit between donations said they didn't follow the regulation. Examination, following the double-check, showed the two to be identical and suffering no harm so soon. As Rogers is a Marine, lost Okinawa. I know how when a loss like that is suffered and want to do all I can to prevent it for some other family."

His buddy, Piercy said he felt the same way. How did Camp Lejeune officials feel about it? Well, they thought, under the circumstances, a reprimand would be out of order. So they just told the two donors to hold up a little longer the next time, eliciting a promise from the pair that they would stay within the limits of their generosity.

Certain Groups May Be Extended

An executive order from the President authorizing an additional year's service for men whose enlistments expire between July 1, 1952, and July 1, 1953, is expected soon, according to a recent "Navy Times" article.

The request for such an order has cleared the Department of Defense and is at the Budget Bureau awaiting approval by its director. It would then lack only Truman's signature to make it law.

The extension, if signed, will affect all regular, reserve and national guard enlistments due to expire during the fiscal year of 1953. It would not affect those whose enlistments already have been extended or those whose enlistments do not expire until after June 30, 1953.

Division Training Tempo Stepped Up

Spring meant more than love and flowers to men of the Second Division. It meant jam-packed seabags, field transport packs, and maneuvers as the division moved into the meaty portion of its tightest training schedule since World War II.

Long lines of vehicles hummed up and down the road between Camp Lejeune and Morehead City dock facilities and long lines of dungaree-clad Marines scrambled up and down the gangplanks of APA's and LST's.

Monday the Sixth Regiment, under command of Col. Ormond R. Simpson, went aboard ships at Morehead and departed the following day for TTU, Little Creek. There the regiment will receive three weeks' training in amphibious techniques.

Last week-end the Second Marines, commanded by Col. Bruno A. Hochmuth, landed at Morehead after completing three weeks of training at Little Creek. But the men of the Second will have little time to lose their sea legs before embarking again late in April for two months' maneuvers on the tiny Caribbean island of Vieques.

Division and Force Troops ANGLICO are scheduled to land tomorrow at Morehead to wind up Anglex-52, a month-long exercise in air and naval gunfire coordination at Culebra, also in the Caribbean.

SWISS MOVEMENT

Here's a bit of advance scoop. Camp Lejeune clocks will be turned ahead an hour at 2 a.m., April 27 with the advent of Daylight Saving Time. You'll have to wait until next fall to get back that hour of sleep you'll lose.

Reserve Units Start Training During Month

Full-scale summer training for Marine reservists, the first since the outbreak of Korean hostilities in June 1950, gets underway at Lejeune this month under the auspices of the Reserve Training Battalion.

First to participate in two weeks of intensive training under the program, being carried out at Lejeune and bases on both coasts, will be volunteer, or inactive, reserve officers and NCO's. Organized reserve units, both ground and air, will start training in June for two-week periods, continuing through September.

Annual field sessions for reservists were cut short in 1950 with the rapid mobilization of all organized ground units and the eventual ordering to active duty of reserve aviation squadrons. The Korean emergency also caused suspension of 1951 training plans.

The Corps began rebuilding its reserve last October, a few short months after it began releasing reservists to inactive duty. Organized ground units activated throughout the country now number nearly 100, with an additional 42 reserve squadrons located at 25 naval air stations.

Since re-establishment of organized units has been underway for little more than six months, attendance at this year's summer training is expected to be less than during post-World War II years. Combined organized and volunteer reserve attendance, however, is expected to reach about 3000 officers and enlisted men.

Other bases besides Lejeune slated to see an influx of summer trainees include Camp Pendleton, Parris Island, Quantico, San Diego, Little Creek (Troop Training Unit, Atlantic), and Coronado, Calif. (Troop Training Unit, Pacific).

Air-Lift Planned
An air-lift for organized units, similar to those conducted prior to the Korean outbreak, will be utilized again this year with about half the ground units being transported by air to or from training locations. (Continued On Page 2)

Tab 7,000 Men For TRAEX-1

More than 7,000 Camp Lejeune Marines will be among a 10,000-man Leatherneck force participating in TRAEX-1, an FMFLANT training exercise, which will range from Puerto Rico to Onslow Beach and last from late April to mid-June.

As part of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, under over-all command of Lt. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, units from the Second Marine Division, Force Troops, and the Second Marine Air Wing will be involved. Atlantic Fleet ships will make up the remainder of the combined air, sea, and ground forces.

Gen. Cresswell Heads Group
Commanding general of Marine forces in TRAEX-1 will be Brig. Gen. Lenard B. Cresswell, deputy commander of the Second Marine Division. Chief of staff during the operation, which stresses close inter-working of ground and air units, will be Col. Roy L. Kline of the Second Marine Air Wing. (See picture, Page 2).

Men of the Second Marines will conduct their ground training on the island of Vieques, south-east of the Puerto Rican mainland. They will be supported by Corsair and Tigercat fighters from Marine Air Group 24, now stationed at Cherry. (CONT. ON PAGE TWO)

Spring Has Sprung, The Grass Has Riz, I Wonder Where My Khakis Is

The robin usually heralds spring in other places quite the thing. But at Lejeune the season fertile is welcomed by the good old turtle.

Old Bre'r Turtle poked his head out of the mud here this week and said, "It's spring."

Flowers, robins and romantic couples may herald the vernal equinox in other parts of the country but at Camp Lejeune the calendar is proved correct by appearance of the shell-toting "critters".

Thousands of turtles push for elbow room on floating logs, swamp islands and secluded spots in the rivers, swamps and ponds here. Big snappers, small terrapins and ordinary mud-turtles bask in the sun.

the sun before going about their business.

Although slow and not too bright, Lejeune's turtles play an important part in nature's wild-life plan. An insect eater, the swamp citizen holds down the mosquito population in the area.

He may not be as handsome as some harbingers of spring but Bre'r Terrapin deserves a pat on the shell and a "well done" for utility performance when he's released to inactive duty this fall.

Camp Lejeune: Let's Keep It Clean

..And If The Outfield Holds Off..

Who Do You Think Will Win The Pennant In The American And National League, And Why?

SGT. RICHARD V. LEITNER, 10TH MARINES—I think the Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National Pennant. I've seen them play more than any other team, and they have a lot of strong holdovers. For the American League, I'll pick the New York Yankees; no reason other than they always come up with a winning team, it seems.

PFC ROBERT A. GRIM, 2ND SIGNAL BATTALION—I'll choose the Yankees to walk away with the American League Pennant. They may have lost DiMaggio, but they still have the winning spirit. In the National League, I'll tick with the New York Giants. They have the best pitching and the best manager in the League.

PFC DAVID E. KRINGS, 10TH MARINES—The New York Yankees, without a doubt, will grab the American Pennant. They just don't know how to lose. In the National League, the Giants have a well balanced ball club, with terrific pitching. That combination should be the key to open the door to the Series.

SGT. RAY E. MILLS, 2ND MARINES—It will be the Cleveland Indians to take the American League honors. Their big four pitching staff is a sure cinch, for my money. The dark horse is the Tigers. In the National League, I see three potential winners: the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Braves and the Giants. Watch those Braves!

SGT. JIM GRIFPER, 10TH MARINES—I'll take the Phillies in the National League. They will probably get Curt Simmons back for the stretch drive. In the American League, I'll go along with the Cleveland Indians. They have great pitchers, and if they get good hitting out of Luke Easter, they'll win.

PFC FRANK W. SEASTRAND, 10TH MARINES—I'd say the Cleveland Indians will take the American League Pennant. Superior pitching will do the trick in the National League. It's the Brooklyn "Bums" to cop top honors. I like their hitting and that should make up for what I consider their deficient pitching staff.

CPL. JOE L. KRAINOCK, 2ND MARINES—I think the Chicago White Sox will take the American League Pennant. Guess I'm just prejudiced, because they are from Chicago. I'm not particular about who wins the National League Pennant. But to name one, I suppose the St. Louis Cardinals stand as good a chance as any team.

PFC JIM W. WAUGH, SECOND SHORE PARTY—For the American League, the Boston Red Sox sure look good to me. Their strong hitting and excellence in pitching should cop top honors for them. In the National League, I'd say the New York Giants will come out on top. They won last year, and I just believe they'll do it again.

PFC NEVIO PELLESCI, 8TH MARINES—The New York Giants look sure to take the National League honors, what with their superior pitching staff of Sal Maglie, Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn. In the American League, the New York Yankees should get to the top. They're an all-around, balanced club, always to be counted on.

PFC WILLIAM H. H&S BN., MP—In the National League, I'll pick the Philadelphia Phillies. They have a strong pitching staff, and if they get good hitting out of Luke Easter, they'll win. In the American League, I'll go along with the New York Yankees. They have great pitchers, and if they get good hitting out of Luke Easter, they'll win.

Phib Trucks Duck Soup To Versatile Doc

LITTLE CREEK, Va.—Whether it's high blood pressure or high tire pressure, HM3 Thomas Marshalek can handle the situation.

He's been proving this ever since he was assigned to serve as a medical corpsman with a company of the Second Amphibious Truck Bn., Force Troops unit attached to the Second Marines during training here.

Besides keeping his unit "fit as a fiddle," the Woodburn, N. Y. corpsman has taken such an active interest in the amphibious trucks, or "ducks," as they are often called, that he is now a capable operator and can pass a few hints on to the newcomers.

"I figure that as long as I am in the outfit I might as well learn the vehicles," Marshalek said as he waited for the signal to head his duck towards the beach during a mock landing here recently. "And many times in emergencies, corpsmen are sent out as assistant drivers."

Pressure's On

A former garage mechanic, the 28-year-old "Doc" can explain any part of the complex boat-trucks from the tires' automatic pressure system to the mechanics of the propeller transmission.

The "duck" company is currently undergoing intensive amphibious training here with the Second Marine Regiment.

Marshalek enlisted in the Navy in 1943 and was released at close of World War II after serving with field medical units in Europe. He was recalled to active duty in September 1950 and was assigned to his present duties with the Marine Corps in January 1951.

The first phase of the maneuvers will get underway about two weeks from now when the Marines will embark on troop transports for the trip south. A limited number of aviation personnel are slated to fly to Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, where they will be stationed till early June.

Plan Beach Assault

The operation will culminate in an amphibious assault on Onslow Beach, scheduled to start June 13. During the four-day attack it is planned to air-lift fully-equipped Leathernecks in Marine transport helicopters across the Inland Water Way and behind "enemy" positions.

Opposition for the invaders will be offered by Force Troops personnel, formed into "Aggressor" units. Umpires for the exercise also will be supplied by Force Troops.

Auto Accident Kills Tenth Marines Man

Cpl. Robert A. Bean, 22, 2d Battalion, 10th Marines, was killed Saturday when the auto in which he was riding hit a culvert on Route 301 near Washington, D. C. and careened into an approaching automobile.

Bean, a native of Matawan, N. J., was one of six men, all members of the 10th Marines, thrown from the car, an open convertible, in the accident. Only the driver, Sgt. James L. Durkin of the 4th Battalion, escaped injury. He told Maryland state police the auto went out of control.

Other men in the wreck were identified as follows: Sgt. William Green, 4th Battalion; Pfc John Pirotto, 4th Battalion; Pfc William Foley, 2d Battalion; and Pfc. John Wysolowski, 2d Battalion. They were treated for arm, leg, and head injuries at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

All aircraft involved will be Marine transports, with the possible exception of the Navy's huge "Constellation."

Air-lifting of reservists has proved advantageous to the summer training program by providing more time during the two-week periods for training through the reduction of travel time. It also serves as a training exercise for Marine transport squadrons.

Reaching a strength of more than 128,000 following World War II, the Marine Reserve saw about 90 percent of its ground unit personnel called to active duty shortly after UN forces were committed in Korea. At that time, the organized reserve totaled 138 ground units and 42 aviation squadrons.

Plans for the post-Korea Reserve include 184 ground units and 42 air squadrons to be established by next June 30, with 14 Women Marine platoons included. A substantial increase in the number of units is planned during the coming fiscal year.

Supply Depot's Variety Show Plugs Camp USO Campaign

A capacity audience of 1,500 Marines jammed Supply Depot's open-air theater last week to watch a cast of 25 talented men and women Marines stage a fast-moving variety show, launching the Supply Depot's annual USO fund drive.

Met with roaring enthusiasm, the 12-act, two-hour show, presented by TSgt. Jim Watson and emceed by Billy Arthur, editor of the Jacksonville "News and Views," had acts ranging from a pie-throwing contest to a hula dancer.

Tommy "Rhythm Man" Brown, 20-year-old Atlanta trooper, stopped the show with his dance, song, and gag routines. Brought back for three encores on his "Dixie" numbers, Brown also hammered the drums and made gags such as "she was sooooo thin she had to tie knots in her legs for knees."

Going, Going, Gone. Lovely blond vocalist Billy Joe Hammons worked her vocal wiles on the audience and climaxed her good singing with a good deed that proved a good show. In a kiss "auction," with proceeds to go to the USO, Sgt. J. L. Wyrick topped rival bids with a dollar. The sergeant's comment on his clocked 25-second kiss: "That was Number One!"

Sultry Miss Audry Tosi, the Sarah Vaughn of the show, was cheered on for several encores. Barbara Henna made with the motions in an original interpretation of South Sea dances. The "Smile Awhile Boys," featuring James Miller, Clayton Smith, George Elkins, and Glen Hawkins, did some fancy harmonizing.

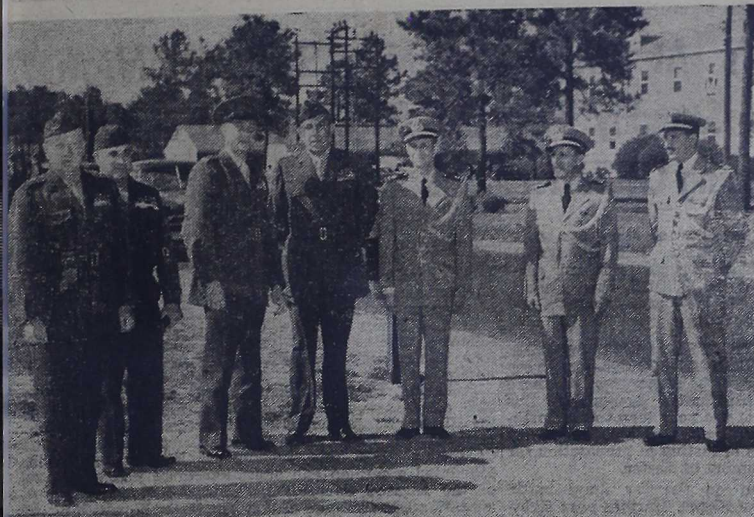

Johnny Schaffner, Sammy Lescallett, Larry Onofrio, and Otis McWilson constituted the band, and played some rousing numbers.

Smorgasbord

The show ended with a splatter as two huge and gummy custard pies crashed into the faces of 1st Lt. Roland Q. Lowell, mess officer of Mess Hall 1209, and Hal Taylor, visiting USO director.

The first pie thrower got "Maggie's drawers," but SSgt. Roy D. James and Pfc C. Alexander registered direct hits to the horrified delight of the audience and the dazed good sportsmanship of the victims. The pies were thrown by the highest bidders, proceeds going to the USO.

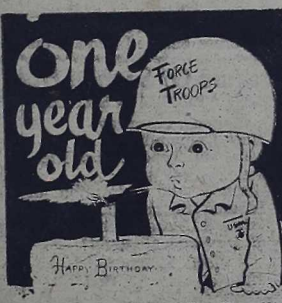

This was to be the first in a series of summer shows, "Stars Under the Stars," said TSgt. Watson.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—The little fellow above represents Brig. Gen. G. A. Williams' Force Troops, Atlantic, which has grown from a few dozen men to some 10,000 Marines in a year's time. Newest idea in Marine units, Force Troops stands ready to carry out its function of providing firepower and supplies to aid the Division over sustained periods of combat.

Some nine hundred Marines got the shock of their lives here this week when they suddenly found their first sergeant isn't the man he once was. The reason—she's a woman.

Master Sergeant Margaret A. Goings, Long Island, N. Y., relieved a "top-kick" with nearly thirty years' service, Master Sgt. Griffin H. Hamilton, Jasper, Ala., in a precedent-shattering move that found her the first sergeant of an all-male company here.

She fell heir to the top enlisted spot in Lejeune's largest company through the process of seniority.

Assigned to the company as a clerk and technical sergeant, she was shortly promoted. When Hamilton was transferred she was the senior man...er-a... woman present with the necessary qualifications.

Said the new "top," "I always expected to have a family some day, but never one this size, and overnight too."

Although her task is primarily administrative, Sergeant Goings fell out with "her" company on its first inspection, and won praise for its appearance from her battalion commander, Colonel W. A. Reeves.

Sergeant Goings could conceivably be required to lead her company in the field. However, she doesn't expect to, since the company is Headquarters Company, H&S Bn., MB, and its main function is to handle the base administrative load.

Being a first sergeant is nothing new to the Lady Leatherneck, since she served as "top-kick" for a Woman Marine company in Washington, D. C. in 1950.

She is a 1940 graduate of Miami (Fla.) High School, and attended Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., for two years prior to her enlistment in the Marine Corps in 1944.

Move Col. Masters To Nat. War College

Col. James M. Masters, now performing staff work with the Second Marine Division, is among a group of six Marine colonels who will report to the National War College, Washington, D. C., in August. He was recently relieved as CO of the Eighth Marines by his brother, Col. John H. Masters.

Also given orders to high-level military schooling is Col. Roy L. Kline of Cherry Point, chief of staff in the forthcoming TRAEX-I operation. Colonel Kline will attend the Naval War College at Newport, R. I.

The 215,000 men, women, and children in the United States are being urged to contribute to the American Cancer Society's annual drive here at Camp Lejeune, N. C., on Tuesday. The drive is being held to finance research, medical care and advice for those with or suspected of having cancer. The drive is being held in conjunction with the "Control Month" campaign, which is being held in 1951—twice as long as in previous years. Leatherneck Has Travel Under Fingertip Control

With $12 in his pocket and a $25 bet that he couldn't make it to spur him on, a 20-year-old Pennsylvania Leatherneck hitch-hiked his way from Philadelphia to Anchorage, Alaska two years ago—and now he is set to do it all over again.

That's the story of Pfc. John J. Glackin of Weapons Co., 2nd Battalion, Sixth Marines, who is scheduled to be released to inactive duty next week.

It all began for Glackin in June, 1950 when some high school buddies bet him that he couldn't make it to Alaska with just $12 in his pocket. Promptly taking up the wager, the thumb-wielding Marine Reservist made it across the country in seven short days.

After a brief stay in San Francisco, he continued on to Seattle, Wash., where he worked long enough to earn plane fare to Anchorage, Alaska. Employed as a waiter in the far north, Glackin was there only several weeks when he was notified that he was being called to active duty in Philadelphia.

With the money he had earned, the much-traveled Leatherneck flew back to the East Coast and reported for duty with the Marine Corps Reserve.

But the trip didn't faze him. "Two weeks after I am released I plan to go back to Alaska to make enough money so that I can attend college next fall," he said.

As for the $25 bet which started the whole thing—Glackin admitted that he never did collect it.

A LETTER FROM THE COMMANDING GENERAL

The Commanding General has observed that a lack of interest in and proper appreciation for the appearance of Camp Lejeune by members of this command exists. Our highways, boulevards and streets are at times most unsightly as a result of their being used by thoughtless and careless people as a dumping ground for empty bottles, paper and wooden cartons, boxes, newspapers and other forms of trash.

Our maintenance crews are constantly on the alert to make Camp Lejeune a beautiful place in which to live as well as an outstanding place in which to work and play.

Our "police" crews strive daily to maintain a clean and orderly camp. In spite of this, newspapers, bottles, paper cartons, and so forth continue to clutter the roadsides. The result is a continued unsightly appearance which has caused considerable unfavorable comment. This in turn has cast a reflection on each and every officer and enlisted member of this command.

Discipline and leadership, as we know it, are being challenged. The American public respects the Marine Corps and its individuals. They know the Corps as a well-disciplined, well-trained and clean-cut outfit. In their visits here they expect to see the best. A change of attitude is necessary to reflect the true spirit of a Marine.

It is hoped that, as a result of this appeal to decency, the responsibility and discipline inherent in each Marine will be awakened and the promiscuous throwing of bottles, cartons and other trash along our roads will cease.—Ray A. Robinson, Major General, USMC.

Lads At Front On Standby For Coming Of Easter

(The following story was written by MSgt. John P. (Jack) Sheehan, former assistant editor of the GLOBE, now serving as a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent.)

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA—In every corner of the globe wherever there be Christianity, thoughts at this time of the year turn to the forthcoming Lenten Season, a 40-day period of fasting in preparation for the coming of Easter.

Even on the far flung battle lines of Korea, Marines busy fighting communist aggression have paused long enough whenever the situation permitted to attend a three day mission conducted by four Catholic priests now serving with the Marines here in Korea.

For several nights, the Marines gathered in a small make-shift chapel, heard comforting words of advice and spiritual guidance delivered by the priests, Father Joseph Gallagher of New York City; Father John O'Neill, St. Paul, Minn.; Father Vincent Lonergan, New York City, and Father James Follard, C.P., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Each evening as these Marines gathered, their voices could be heard breaking the cold crisp Korean air. They were saying the Rosary, offering their prayers for the happy repose of the souls of their fallen comrades, for everlasting peace in the world, for spiritual guidance during the coming Holy Season, and for protection and comfort from the evils of communist aggression and sin.

These same Marines of the First Marine Division who were in a rear area at the time of the mission are now on the battle lines of Korea. But as each man returned to the lines, there seemed to be a new light in his eyes, and a silent whisper on his lips. A light of purity, knowing that he was ready for what ever may come and a whisper of "Lord, I Am Ready."

MIDNIGHT MASS

An Easter Midnight Mass will be held in Infant of Prague Church next Saturday at midnight. This is the first time an Easter Midnight Mass has been authorized in the diocese of Raleigh.

Confessions will be heard during an Easter Vigil service before the Midnight Mass from 11 p.m.-midnight.

The Legend of the Dogwood

There is a legend that at the time of the Crucifixion the dogwood had been the size of the oak and other forest trees. So firm and strong was the tree that it was chosen as the timber for the Cross. To be used thus for such a cruel purpose greatly distressed the tree, and Jesus, nailed upon it, sensed this, and in His gentle pity for all sorrow and suffering said to it: "Because of your regret and pity for My suffering, never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used as a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender and bent and twisted and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross—two long and two short petals. And in the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be nail prints, brown with rust and stained with red, and in the center of the flower will be a crown of thorns, and all who see it will remember . . ."

Chaplain's Corner

The tendency to commercialize the days of the great religious events is prevalent in the United States. This fact may be observed at the Easter season in many ways. Read your current magazine and see the things that are advertised under the Easter motif. The new hat, the new dress, the new suit, the new shoes, all shout aloud for attention. The Way of the Cross has been neglected and the Easter parade has taken the spotlight.

The message of Easter is a message of victory. It is a message of God's victory over the forces of evil. It is a message of Christ's victory over death and the grave. Easter is a message of the Christian's personal victory over temptation and sinful living. Have you won that victory? "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above."

For the sincere Christian, the message of the resurrection of Jesus has meaning all through the year. After the finery and flowers are faded, the Christian's faith should still shine brightly in this world of hatred and anger and jealousy and strife. The Christian can not and will not drift along with the tide of moral degradation which is sweeping over our nation. He will stand for Christian principles in every area of public and

Cut Time In Grade Factor In Promotion To First Lieutenant

Second lieutenants, both regular and reserve, no longer have to wait 24 months to trade in their old, gold bars for new silver ones. Alnav 7-52 reduced the period to 18 months. Here's a run-down of the new order's implementation:

★ All second lieutenants on active duty with dates of rank from April 1, 1950 to October 1, 1950, inclusive, will be appointed first lieutenants with date of rank April 1, 1952. Local commanders are authorized to effect this promotion.

★ Second lieutenants with date of rank October 2, 1950 or later, will be appointed first lieutenants upon completion of 18 months in grade. Here again, action by local commanders is authorized.

★ Second lieutenants being recalled to active duty with 18 months in grade will be appointed first lieutenants on the date they report for active duty.

private life. As people look at the Christian every day they will be aware that he is living a "resurrection life." You too can live this life through personal faith in Jesus Christ, our risen Lord.—Chaplain Robert H. Willets, 2d Signal Bn.

Cornelia Stabler Performs For OWC Wednesday

BY JANE KNAPP

Cornelia Stabler, monologist, will present a program of her original character sketches in the Camp Lejeune High School auditorium at 1:30 p.m. next Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Force Troops Group of the Officers' Wives Club.

She calls her sketches "Personality Portraits" for they are veritable word-pictures of the people one meets every day. Her repertoire of 20 sketches includes a busy secretary, a lady lecturer, the mother of a family of radio fans, an elderly actress who is giving a party, and a modern teen-ager coming home from a date.

Miss Stabler, who is the author, as well as the interpreter, of her monologues, has presented them coast-to-coast in this country and also has toured Europe for USO camp shows. She has been heard on the major radio networks, has appeared on television, and has had the honor of entertaining at the White House for the late President and Mrs. Roosevelt. During the summer months Miss Stabler directs a community theater in the Pocomo resort area of Pennsylvania.

"Personality Portraits" will be the last program to be presented this year by the Camp Lejeune Officers' Wives Club. It is hoped that all members of the club and invited guests will attend this most interesting and unusual performance.

O'Daniel Awarded Silver Star Medal

For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy in Korea, Sgt. William Q. O'Daniel was decorated with the Silver Star Medal by Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Pollock at ceremonies held here Tuesday.

Last March, while a private first class, Sgt. O'Daniel was serving as an automatic rifleman when his rifle company was pinned down during an assault. The heroic sergeant, with accurate fire, neutralized an enemy position that was delivering heavy fire on the platoon to O'Daniel's left, enabling the platoon to over-run the position.

Later in the attack, his rifle jammed, O'Daniel observed an enemy soldier hiding in a foxhole. Leaping into the hole the sergeant killed the soldier with the butt of his rifle. Sergeant O'Daniel is currently serving as a squad leader in the 8th Marine Regiment.

Lejeune swept the first three places in the two mile event, with Williams, Murphy and Fowle finishing in that order. For seven of the eight laps Williams and Murphy ran shoulder to shoulder, and only on the last lap did Williams break away to gain the victory.

J'Ville Housing Info Centralized in USO

All volunteer housing efforts in Jacksonville have been taken over by the USO-NCCS. Under the new set-up, agencies such as the Red Cross and Chamber of Commerce, which have been supplying information, will refer all applicants to the USO. The move is aimed at greater efficiency through centralization.
In the opinion of officials of USO, Red Cross, and other agencies, efforts were being duplicated, since a person desiring housing usually went to every place offering such facilities. In addition to avoiding duplication of efforts, the new system is advantageous in that the USO remains open in the evenings till 11 p.m. It opens at 10 a.m.

Kilocycle Confabs Old Stuff to Marine

Most Marines keep in touch with the folks back home through the usual letter or occasional telephone call, but not so for Pfc Charles Reina Jr. of the 6th Marines. Scheduled for a discharge from the Corps on April 21, Reina recalls the many times he has "talked" with his father in Scranton, Pa. via "ham" transmitting—amateur short wave radio operation. This unique form of home correspondence was first conceived by his father, a highly skilled operator, when Charles Jr. joined the Marines and was stationed at Quantico, Va. Through the camp's radio station, Charles was able to contact home regularly. Specializing in relaying messages from servicemen, stationed at bases over the country, to their families, his father also "visits" regularly with operators from Alaska, Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and Army bases in Germany.

Visitors Clip Camp Track Records But Lejeune Wins Four-Way Meet Post Outflanks General Threshed By Farm Hand

Three Marks Broken By College Sprinters

Three Camp Lejeune track records fell and one was tied as the Marine tracksters amassed 76 4/5 points to take first place in a quadrangular track meet here last Friday.

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College finished second with 39 7/10 points, North Carolina College of Durham came in third with 23 1/2 points and the Winston-Salem Teachers wound up fourth, totaling 22 points.

Two A&T entrants, Ed Carter and Henry Jones, accounted for two of the fallen marks. Carter hurdled the 120 yard high in 14.7 clipping four-tenths of second off the old mark set by Don Leck of North Carolina College in 1950. In the 220 Jones of A&T blazed to a 24.5 finish, breasting the tape only a step ahead of Lejeune's Roger Montgomery. The old mark of 21.6 was set by Bob Scott, University of North Carolina, last year.

Exciting Race

The crack Winston-Salem quartet of Emery, Clausen, Griffy and Bailey, clipped four-tenths of a second off the record of 3:31 set last week by the Marine's mile-relay team against North Carolina State. The Winston-Salem four beat Lejeune's combo of John Bainer, Leo Rivera, Frank Rivera, and Carl White to the tape by a shoulder in the most exciting race of the day. White started the last lap, trailing the Teachers' anchor man, Bailey, but on the backstretch White gained ground and as they came around the final turn he was running on Bailey's heels, but was unable to pull ahead.

Charles McCullough, from North Carolina College cleared the high jump pole at 6'3 3/4" to tie the record set in 1950. Six contestants were still in the jumping at 6'2" including Lejeune's Hartshorne and Davidson, but 6'3" took its toll and at 6'3 3/4" McCullough was alone. The bar was then set at the record-tying height and the North Carolina College athlete topped it on his first try. But in attempt to better the mark, McCullough failed in three attempts at 6'4 1/4".

Camp Lejeune's Ben Sheaffer, Carter, and Jones tied for individual scoring honors, netting 10 points apiece.

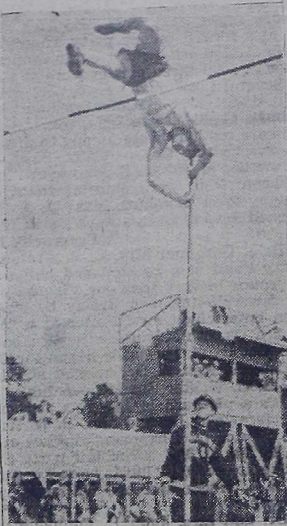

Sheaffer Captures Two

Sheaffer captured the mile and the 880, while Jones took first in the 100-yard dash in addition to his record breaking high hurdles performance. Carter took both hurdle events.

For two laps of the mile, Sheaffer lagged behind, letting mates Bud Bope and Elmer Chamberlain set the pace, but on the third turn around, Sheaffer forged ahead easily winning in 4:40. Chamberlain finished second and Bope third.

In the half Sheaffer again was by himself as he breasted the tape in 2:08.1. Frank Rivera took a third

ON THE UP AND UP—Frank Womer, Lejeune pole-vault record holder at 12' 4 3/4", clears 11'7" to finish in a five-way tie for first in the quadrangular meet here last Friday. Womer set the record against North Carolina State, Saturday, April 4 (Official USMC Photo).

Camp Tracksters Headin' North

Victors in a dual and quadrangular meet, the Camp tracksters head north next Tuesday, April 15, to vie with Quantico in a dual meet at the Virginia Marine base.

The Quantico meet will serve as the first test for the one Lejeune runner who has not yet been pushed in competition this year, Ben Sheaffer.

In the two meets held this year, Sheaffer has taken the mile, in times of 4:36 and 4:40, but with some competition he should be able to lower that time considerably. Quantico boasts one of the best milers now running in service competition. Bob Jones, who has been competing on indoor tracks all winter, and Sheaffer will have to go all out to beat him.

Roger Montgomery, although he placed second in both the 100 and 200 yard dashes in last week's meet, lowered his time nearer to the record-breaking 9:6 he ran at Colby. Only a few steps behind the leader in the 100, his time for the event was unofficially estimated at 9:8 and a fraction of a tenth of a second.

John Bainer continues to surprise with his winning efforts in the quarter mile as he again beat his formidable teammates Carl White and Leo Rivera to the wire.

As in the past two meets, Camp Lejeune will more than hold its own in the running events, and should place high in both the pole vault and high jump. The addition of Bernie Euker, as a part time javelin heaver, will add strength in that event, but the discus and shot remain weak points.

Coaches Prospect For Grid Gold On Local Claim

One hundred and twenty candidates reported to head coach Joe Donahoe as spring practice for the Camp Lejeune varsity football team got underway Monday.

The spring training program, scheduled to last into May, begins a long grind with the All-Marine Corps football championship as the eventual goal.

Whipping the men into shape and reducing the roster to a workable size will be the responsibility of the seven coaches. Assisting Major Donahoe as spring practice for the Camp Lejeune varsity football team got underway Monday.

The regular season opens on September 20, when the Leatherneck aggregation collides with Catawba College here, but the real test comes in November when the Campers meet Quantico, Cherry Point and Parris Island in that order. Lejeune must win all three games in order to qualify for the All-Marine championships.

Last year Donahoe's charges hurdled the Cherry Point and Quantico obstacles but dropped the Parris Island game. Games have been carded with the University of Cincinnati, Ft. Jackson, Dayton, Ft. Eustis and Bolling Air Force Base.

Throwing Leather At Fleet Tourney

Camp Lejeune's boxing team, headed by battle tested veterans, Al Hood, Steve Pockuba, Hub Millet, Jimmy Sylvester and Earl Coleman, is fighting this week in the Atlantic Fleet championships at Norfolk, Va.

As the team left the base, the addition of two Cherry Point battlers augmented the squad in the lightweight and heavyweight divisions, where the loss of Joe Sanchez had weakened the squad.

The Atlantic Fleet go is a stepping stone to the All-Navy finals to be held on the coast later this spring.

Two dual meets have been scheduled for the boxing team with Cherry Point and a return match with Fort Bragg. The Marine Flyers will be here May 8 in a smoker that may be held outdoors, and the pugilists will go to the Army base to try and make it two straight over the paratroopers.

On April 21 the Camp boxers will leave to compete in the Middle Atlantic Inter-Service Athletic Council tournament.

Leathernecks Slap White-Wash On Lee

Good pitching by three righthanders, Bill Greason, Bob Grim and Nevio Pelleschi, enabled Camp Lejeune to sweep both ends of a double-header against Washington and Lee here last Thursday, 6-1 and 10-0, and extend its winning streak to four.

Grim and Pelleschi teamed up to limit the collegians to just one hit, in the second game under the lights, as their mates pounded two W&L hurlers for eleven bingles, scoring eight of their runs in the first stanza.

Swing Into Action

After Grim had set the side down on strikes in the first, Camp Lejeune's booming bats went into action. Joe Di Gilio got on base on the shortstop's error, and Dave Krings singled to right putting men on first and third. Jim Pinkerton then lashed a double to center scoring both runners. After Frank Seastrand had walked, Bill Shires singled to left, putting runners on first and second.

Washington and Lee's starter had departed after Pinkerton's hit and Steve Schlossman was toiling on the mound. Carl Goodiel flied to left and Charley Ziober popped to the third baseman, making it two away and bringing up Bob Grim. On a three and one count, the Lejeune pitcher hoisted the ball to rightfield, but Joe Rowe muffed the easy out, and third baseman Lowell Hamric bobbled the throw, and by the time the collegians hot corner guardian had retrieved the sphere, Shires and Larghey had crossed the platter, and Grim was perched on third.

Di Gilio, batting for the second time in the inning, walked, and when Schlossman wild-pitched, Grim came in and Di Gilio advanced to second. Krings got his second hit of the inning, a shot to right, scoring Di Gilio. Pinkerton popped to first to end the inning.

Score In Fifth

In the fifth, Lejeune scored once on a walk to Pinkerton, a single by Seastrand, a force play, and walks to Larghey and Goodiel.

Lejeune scored its tenth run in the sixth when Seastrand's single drove in Pinkerton who reached second on an error.

In the meantime Grim had pitched masterful ball allowing one hit, a solid single, between first and second in the fourth.

With two away in the sixth inning and a full count on the batter, the umpire ejected Grim for arguing. Nevio Pelleschi came in, and passed the visitor's Summers and Streuli before striking out Warren Moody to end the inning.

Match Seven-Hitters

In the first game Lejeune's Bill Greason and Washington and Lee's Tyson Janney matched seven-hitters but the Marines took advantage of the breaks, scoring four in the fourth on only three hits, coupled with lone markers in the first and seventh.

In the fourth, Carl Goodiel led off with a double, went to third on the second baseman's error and

Hoosier State Braves Scalp Marines Two

A ninth-inning Camp Lejeune rally, sparked by Seastrand's two-run forger, fell short here last day night, as the Evansville, Ind., Braves made it two rows over the Marines, 9-3. Braves handed Lejeune first loss of the season's afternoon, 8-1.

Lejeune came into the top of the ninth Monday night 9-4. After Joe Di Gilio bled to third, Dave Krings lined to right field, and a single by Jim Pinkerton brought home Seastrand then pitched three and two pitch, sent apple 365 feet over the right wall. It was Lejeune's 11th bagger of the year. After Payonk singled, scoring to Jim Griffey came up to for Bill Shires, and manager Bob Coleman with relief pitcher Bob Berg. The Evansville right Griffey to fly to right, and Carl Goodiel to end the game.

Righthander Bob Grim ended his own record at one taking the loss, started mound for the Leathernecks.

The Hoosiers went right in the first inning as a triple accounted for a run second, a walk to Harry Werror by Di Gilio and a made it 2-0 for the visit more runs crossed in when the Braves' Horae blasted one over the right with one mate aboard to Hoosiers' lead to 4-0.

Lejeune finally broke in the third against Steve Wolf, when passes to Krings, and Pinkerton, strand's ground-out put run across.

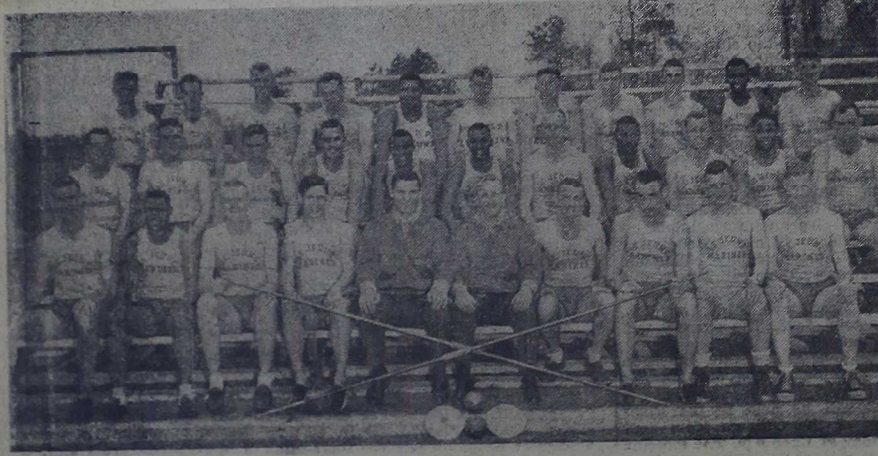

Grim and Wolf made "eggs" in the fourth and countered twice in the fifth the score 6-3. Evansville on four singles and an Goodiel, and Lejeune with three straight a Pinkerton, Seastrand, and a run-producing by Pete Stapleton took mound for the Braves in and after Grim gave up ed run in the sixth he to Frank Hamlen to start.

Lejeune scored once on a walk to Seastrand, a double by Payonk, but came back with two in to set the stage for the ninth inning uprising.

Sunday's Tilt

In Sunday's game, the ters belted starter Fra for three hits including in the first inning to times and coast the rest behind the five hit Charley Moore and Rudy Carmon Dugger capped the second inning on for the Campers and fifth inning when the led three times in the visitors at bay.

Four Games Will Complete Home

Four games with college opponents and a single tilt with the Charlotte (N.C.) Hornets will complete Camp Lejeune's initial home stand.

Winners of their first four, the Marines dropped a two game series with the Evansville, Ind., Braves of the 3-1 league in their last two outings. After the completion of their home stand, the Leathernecks will head south to play two-game series with Parris Island, Camp Gordon, Ga., and the Jacksonville Naval Air Station in Florida.

Coach Chuck Sweeney, in the first six games, has tested six of his hurlers, and three of them have turned in route-going victories. Complete game winners so far have been Bill Greason, Jimmy Waugh, the staff's only portside, and Carmon Dugger. Bob Grim evened his record at one and one, Pelleschi and Dugger came out of the bullpen to quench the fire in recent tilts, while Frank Hamlen has been the only Lejeune pitcher that hasn't come up to bat.

These pitchers will face the bats of the Virginia Cavalier nine game tonight, the Hornets tomorrow and the Wilson State next Monday and Tuesday.
