

Memorial Services Held for Nine Mortar Victims

Memorial services for nine Marines killed in a mortar attack June 20 near Tent Camp were held Saturday at the Catholic and Protestant Chapels.

More than 600 attended the Low Mass in the Catholic Chapel. Lt. Col. N. T. Welsh, dressed in dress uniform, said the mass for five Leathernecks of Catholic faith who died. High-ranking Division and camp officers, headed by Col. P. M. Rixey, former acting assistant division commander, and officers and men of the Sixth Marines and Second Signal Battalion attended.

At the Protestant Chapel, more than 400 members of the infantry regiment and signal battalion paid tribute to four Marines of that faith who lost their lives. Col. L. Cresswell, Chief of Staff, Second Marine Division, was among the officers in attendance. Lt. Col. A. L. Murray and Lt. Robert Willets conducted services.

Unit mates accompanied the bodies of the accident victims to their homes for burial.

Unofficial reports indicated the accident was caused by defective mortar shells which fell into the midst of an advancing infantry unit during a training problem near Hickory Point. A Board of Inquiry is investigating the accident.

The dead—First Battalion, Sixth Marines: M. Sgt. Charles P. Czerwinski, Philadelphia, Pa.; Pfc James E. Daigle, Leicester, Mass.; Pfc Robert E. Pickle, Indianapolis, Ind.; Pfc Jack L. Pyle, Toledo, Ohio; Pfc James M. Tarleton. Second Signal Battalion: Sgt. Francis E. Frye, Lansing, Mich.; Cpl. Albert L. Johnson, Kingferry, N. Y.; Cpl. Gordon N. Stringfellow, Dayton, Ohio; Pfc Samuel J. Albimino, Fresno, California.

The injured—First Battalion, Sixth Marines: HM3 Robert C. Butler, Fredericksburg, Va.; Cpl. Thomas D. Ridosko, Milwaukee, Wis.; Cpl. William O. Chase, Indianapolis, Ind.; Pvt. William A. Bauer, Detroit, Mich.; Cpl. Robert P. Guay, Bronx, N.Y.; Cpl. Robert J. ## Law Pending To Extend Enlistments

WASHINGTON, June 26 (APPS)—Legislation is pending to extend involuntarily all enlistments expiring during fiscal years 1952 and 1953 for one year unless members affected re-enlist or voluntarily extend their enlistments.

The following bills affecting Armed Forces personnel have been introduced in Congress and are under consideration by various committees:

1. To extend for two years the period during which free postage for members of US Armed Forces in Korea and other specified areas will be granted.

2. To add three years to the period during which WWII veterans on active duty in the present emergency may receive college training under veterans regulations.

3. To amend the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946 to increase to 120 days the amount of leave which may be accumulated.

4. To grant to persons in the Armed Forces in the present emergency and to their dependents certain benefits now authorized for WWII veterans.

The Defense Department Reserve Forces Policy Board has developed a plan to break down Reserve components of the Armed Forces into Ready, Standby and Retired Reserves. Under the plan, all physically fit young men will be available for appropriate service in the event of future emergency, and inequities will be removed from recalls to active duty. Each Reservist and his employer will know how and under what circumstances the Reservist will be recalled.

Chaplains in Korea

The Navy now has 28 chaplains serving with the First Marine Division in Korea and recently rotated the same number back to the States.

Gen. Fellers

Gen. Fellers Assumes New Duties Here

Brig. Gen. William S. Fellers, Commanding General of Troop Training Unit, Pacific, at Coronado, Calif., since 1949, has assumed duties here as Deputy Camp Commander.

He replaced Brig. Gen. John T. Selden in an exchange of posts. General Fellers, twice awarded the Legion of Merit during in World War I. He enlisted in December, 1917, and had advanced to the rank of gunnery sergeant when transferred to Officers' Training Camp at Quantico. He was commissioned a second lieutenant December 15, 1918.

Born December 16, 1895, at Cincinnati, General Fellers attended the University of Cincinnati and the Georgia School of Technology at Atlanta.

During his early years in the Corps, General Fellers twice served in Haiti, went on expeditionary duty to China, was assigned to the Nicaragua National Guard, was stationed in Shanghai and was commanding officer of a sea-going detachment.

The General participated in the Guadalcanal operation as Executive Officer, Fifth Marines. In May, 1944, he assumed command of the Fifth Marines and in September, that year, returned to the United States to become Officer-in-Charge, Rehabilitation Division, Personnel Department at Marine Corps Headquarters. He became Officer-in-Charge of the Procurement Division in November, 1944.

1697 More Houses Promised Lejeune

The second big break in Camp Lejeune's critical housing shortage came this week with the announcement by Capt. A. L. Tatlock, Housing Officer, that two other large developments will be started close to camp in the near future.

Coming on the heels of last week's ground-breaking for 1054-unit Tarawa Terrace, the news of 1697 additional units gave promise that within several months adequate housing would start becoming available to service personnel of this area.

Corps May Name Sixteen To One, Two-Star Grade

WASHINGTON, June 23 — Two Marine Corps selection boards will be convened early next month to name officers for promotion to major general and brigadier general.

The boards are expected to select the largest number of general officers since the end of World War II. Six officers probably will be selected for two-star rank and nine or 10 for promotion to Brigadier, the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal announced.

A Marine spokesman said that a board for colonels will be convened as soon after the board for brigadiers (about July 19) as it is possible to determine the needs of the Corps.

In the meantime, the Corps said selections of reserve captains on inactive duty for advancement to major "will probably be announced about mid-July." The board considering first lieutenants to captains now is expected to complete its work about the middle of August.

The Marine Corps said that inactive reservists selected for major and captain may expect to be notified through their reserve districts within approximately six weeks following completion of the boards. Those who fail to be selected will be notified individually by letter from Headquarters, Marine Corps.

"Officers selected will be promoted within approximately two to three months after submitting physical examinations," the Corps said. It was pointed out that prompt submission of the examination results will reduce the administrative time necessary in effecting promotions, provided the "running mate" has been promoted. The Marine Corps emphasized that reserve officers' "running mates" in the Regulars must be promoted before the reserves can be promoted.

The largest of the two developments will be a 966-unit addition to Tarawa Terrace. This will probably be built by the owner and builder of the first units, C. D. Spangler, of Charlotte, N. C.

The York Construction Company, of Raleigh, N. C., expects to close financial arrangements this week for an initial project of 731 units on the outskirts of Jacksonville. It is anticipated that formal groundbreaking ceremonies will be held July 5 and that the first units will be ready in approximately 90 days.

One possibility of delay in the Jacksonville housing development lies in the installation of utilities, such as water and sewage pipes and sewage disposal facilities. According to Capt. Tatlock, the contractor expects to have the first units ready within the predicted 90 days but could not be sure at this time of when utilities would be installed.

Work on Tarawa Terrace is proceeding on schedule with the first 100 units set to be completed about August 18. Additional units will be finished at the rate of approximately 20 a day. The first several hundred houses will be in the enlisted section and will be mostly of the two and three-bedroom type. A request for an additional 1054 units to be added to the mammoth project was modified to 966 units by the deletion of 88 units planned

'Out' Says Harry, Corps Says 'Tarry'

A tragi-comedy with a Shakespearean flavor was enacted here Thursday with Sgt. Harry Weigel in the leading role.

Here is the plot: Sergeant Weigel, with Second Combat Service Group's auto maintenance section, was in the process of being released from active duty and, to all appearances, was on his way home.

His record book showed he came on active duty early last July, so he was eligible for release.

But, the Sergeant didn't actually come on active duty in July. He came back September 16. Weigel was here for two weeks of training as an organized reservist in July, and that appeared in his record book as the date of his activation.

So, Sergeant Weigel is still here—because somebody found the mistake!

In the event Weigel wants to know who nipped his departure in the bud, it was the disbursing office. They wanted to know why his pay didn't start until September.

Gen. Edson Directs Nat'l. Rifle Assn.

MONTPELIER, Vt., — Maj. Gen. Merritt A. Edson, retired World War II Marine Corps hero and holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, has resigned as Vermont Commissioner of Public Safety to become executive director of the National Rifle Association of America.

General Edson announced he would take over his new post in Washington July 1. He succeeds C.R. Lister, who died May 14. General Edson has been a member of the National Rifle Association since 1921.

A native Vermonter, General Edson entered the Marine Corps in 1917 and in three decades of service won every military honor offered. The Medal of Honor was awarded him for action on Guadalcanal in 1942. He retired from the Corps in 1947 and became Vermont's first Commissioner of Public Safety, organizing and training the Vermont State Police.

Committee Votes 300,000 Marines

WASHINGTON, June 26 — The United Press reported today that the House Armed Services Committee voted to increase Marine Corps strength to 300,000 men and to include the Corps' commandant on the Joint Chief of Staff.

Gen. Clifton B. Cates, the commandant, testifying before the committee, said the Marines will have to turn to the draft to meet manpower quotas.

Active Reserve To Be Reorganized

WASHINGTON, June 23 — The Marine Corps Organized Reserve soon will undergo a change in composition—dropping many infantry units—according to plans promulgated last week, the Army-Navy-Air Journal has announced.

As outlined, the planned strength of the Ground Reserve and Organized Aviation squad will be "approximately the same" as before the Korean mobilization, the Corps said. "However, the composition of the Reserve by type of unit is going to be considerably different."

Principal changes outlined by the Corps are the inclusion of a number of service-type units and a considerable group of Security Force personnel. The number of infantry units will be "substantially reduced," the Corps said.

Ground units planned are as follows: 10 Infantry Battalions, 15

Rifle Companies, 3 105mm Howitzer Battalions, 2 155mm Howitzer Battalions, 2 155mm Gun Battalions, 1 4.5" Rocket Battalion, 2 90mm AAA Gun Battalions, 4 90mm AAA Gun Batteries, 1 AAA — AW Batteries, 1 Engineer Battalion, 8 Engineer Companies, 2 Tank Battalions, 1 Amphibian Tractor Battalion, 2 Armored Amphibian Companies, 2 Amphibian Truck Companies, 2 ANGLICO, 1 Air Delivery Company, 6 Signal Companies, 1 Radio Company, 6 Truck Companies, 3 Ordnance Maintenance Companies, 3 Signal Maintenance Companies, 3 Engineer Maintenance Companies, 3 Cargo Companies, 6 General Supply Companies, 3 Shore Party Companies, 4100 Security Force Detachments (Infantry Type Units). "An approximate figure. These units will be grouped together in the most feasible manner based on availability of personnel and facilities and consistent with economical use of Inspector-Instructor personnel.

The Corps said that "as of 1 July" there will be thirty VMF (fighter) squadrons at 25 Naval Air Stations. Ten of the 25 "old" squadrons have membership "near their authorized strength" and the remaining 15, personnel of which have been mobilized, are now recruiting back up to strength. In addition, five VMF squadrons have been newly commissioned and are recruiting to strength. Twelve Marine Ground Control Intercept squadrons are expected to be recruited back to operating strength during the next twelve months, which will bring the aviation organized squadrons up to the same complement that existed prior to the Korean conflict.

Trio Of Lejeune Marines Cited For Meritorious Korean Service

Korean veteran Col. J. A. White, Commanding Officer of H & S Battalion, Marine Barracks, cited First Lt. Philip K. Leeseberg, Staff Sgt. James I. Higgins and Pfc. Donald P. Reneau for meritorious service in Korea at battalion ceremonies last week.

Lieutenant Leeseberg, Service Company, was awarded the Bronze Star for "... meritorious service as communications officer of Company 'A', 1st Shore Party Battalion, First Marine Brigade ... he established and maintained communications between rail heads and forward supply dumps under adverse conditions ... and occasional enemy fire ... often reconnoitered road junctions to determine the direction of travel and possible enemy positions, and in addition examined bridges and roads for possible enemy mines..."

Leeseberg's citation was signed by Lt. Gen. Ridgeway, present Supreme Commander for United Nations Forces in the Far East.

A Letter of Commendation from Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith, former Commanding General of the First Marine Division, went to Staff Sgt. (then Sgt.) Higgins, Service Company, for "... displaying great skill and courage ... learning that food, water and ammunition were badly needed by the assault companies, he, regardless of danger or personal fatigue, supervised loading and delivery of these urgently needed supplies ... kept a steady stream of food, water and ammunition going to the assault units ..."

"He assisted in evacuation of wounded by directing that empty vehicles, when returning to the supply dump, drive by the forward aid station and return casualties to the battalion aid station ... his actions were an inspiration to all members of the battalion ...", the letter continued.

Pfc Donald P. Reneau, Guard Company, was awarded the Purple Heart "... for wounds received as a result of enemy action in the Hagaru-ri area, Korea, on 29 November 1950 ..." while serving with the First Marine Regiment, First Marine Division.

4th Division Reunion In Chicago This Week

CHICAGO, June 26—The fourth annual reunion of the Fourth Marine Division Association will be held here at the Sherman Hotel Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Four members of the University of North Carolina faculty are teaching extension courses in subjects to Marines at Camp Lejeune this summer. All members of regular UNC departments, they are (left to right): J. A. Viverette, instructor of English; Dr. Vinton A. Hoyle, professor of mathematics; Robert T. Harper, instructor of English, and Thomas W. Aiken, instructor of history and political science (Official USMC Photo).

Interest In Courses May Bring Permanent College Center Here

The establishment of a regular University of North Carolina extension center at Camp Lejeune could be brought about by sustained interest of the kind shown in this summer's courses which opened recently, according to First Lt. Harry E. Shilling Jr., Educational and Personal Affairs officer.

This would allow Camp Lejeune personnel to do much of their work toward a college degree, especially in freshman and sophomore subjects, without leaving camp premises. Under such a program, classes would be available the year around.

Despite short notice, the program started here this summer was welcomed enthusiastically. One hundred and thirty-six Marines and Naval personnel enrolled for the summer semester—a 12-week session with classes two nights a week for each group. Five subjects are taught in eight sections.

Students have formed three sections of freshman English, two of college algebra, and one each in sophomore English, history and political science.

Classes are held four nights a week by four North Carolina faculty members. Dr. Vinton A. Hoyle, professor of mathematics, is the senior member. This has prompted more than one student to quip, "We'll play this game according to Hoyle!"

Other faculty members are Thomas W. Aiken, instructor in history and political science, and Robert T. Harper and J. A. Viverette, instructors of English.

Each of the courses is worth quarters-hours of credit upon successful completion. A total of hours is required for a degree, generally including two to three years in "residence"—attendance at University itself. Transfer of credits to another college or university can be made, subject to requirements of the other school.

Present plans of the Camp Educational office are to conduct survey to determine interest in the fall quarter.

The Tarheel faculty members side at the camp in bachelor quarters from Monday until Thursday. They are available during class hours for student consultations.

Teaching at a military base different from their customary civilian campus tradition. They did at the camp cafeteria and are issued special services cards which entitle them to attend movies, games, and other camp amusements.

The "profs" have even had chance to participate in a perpetual Marine gripe "waiting in line." But they haven't lost their sense of humor.

While they were lined up for identification photos at the center where Marines are processed, one came up with the inevitable quip: "When do they issue our uniforms?"

Corpsmen Celebrate 53rd Anniversary

WASHINGTON, June 26—The Navy Hospital Corps celebrated its 53rd anniversary on 17 June.

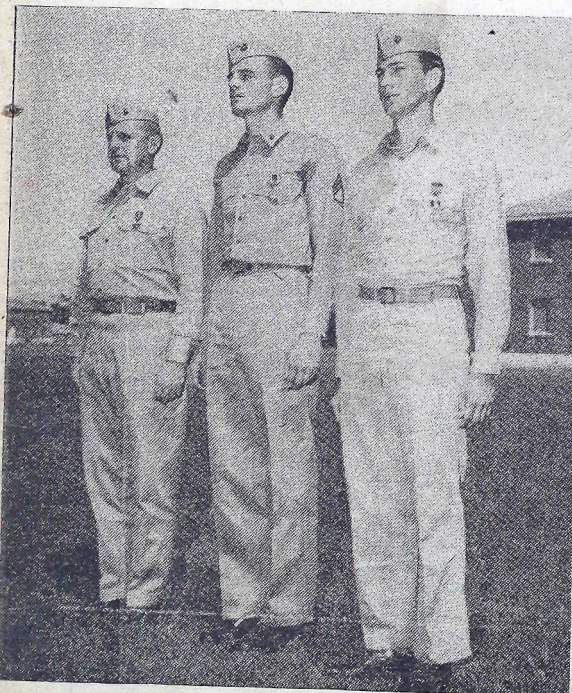

Officially established as a part of the Navy Department by legislative action on 17 June 1898, the Hospital Corps was the first Congress created staff corps in the Navy.

Four years after the Corps' establishment, it opened its first school at the Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va. Prior to that date Navy medical officers had been assisted by enlisted men with little or no specialized training.

During World War II, the low Navy and Marine Corps mortality rate—less than three deaths per 100 wounded—was credited in large measure to the efficiency of the corpsmen by Naval medical officers.

Sixth Naval District Gets New Commander

As a result of action in Korea, three Camp Lejeune Marines were presented awards by Col. J. A. White, commanding officer, H&S Battalion, Marine Barracks, a Korean veteran himself, at ceremonies June 20. Left to right, they are: First Lt. Phillip K. Leeseberg, Bronze Star; Staff Sgt. James I. Higgins, Letter of Commendation and Pfc Donald P. Reneau, Purple Heart. (Official USMC Photo).

Jet Ace Jabara Has Counterpart In Marines' 'Flying Nightmares'

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIR WING IN KOREA—While Air Force Captain James Jabara was winning fame as the first jet ace in history, an old school mate of his, flying with the Marines in Korea, was starting a record of his own.

Captain Jabara was a classmate of Leatherneck First Lieutenant William G. Siegfried, 30, Wichita, Kansas, at Wichita High School, North, some years ago.

Lieutenant Siegfried, a night fighter pilot with the First Marine Air Wing, has knocked out a total of 46 enemy trucks on midnight attacks on North Korean highways.

In his latest foray, Siegfried accounted for nine, seven with one napalm bomb. The trucks were found by an Air Force flare plane pilot who conveniently turned the black night into day for the Corsair pilot by dropping his parachute flares.

Lieutenant Siegfried first attacked a group of 15 trucks. His napalm burned seven and he strafed the others with his 20mm cannons, but they failed to burn. He claimed four damaged after he saw pieces fly from them.

Farther up the road the lieutenant caught two speeding trucks. He met the first one head-on with a long burst of cannon fire. The truck, smoking and out of control, finally leaned against an embankment. The second truck almost ran into the rear end of the first. The driver, deciding the direction in which he was heading was not safe, began to turn around.

He never finished his turn. The Leatherneck pilot left him smoldering and blocking the highway.

Pilots of the Marine "Flying Nightmare" squadron count as sure kills only those vehicles that explode or burn. Lieutenant Siegfried, with 46 to his credit, will not venture a guess as to how many others he has damaged beyond repair.

"I'm going to marry a widow." "I wouldn't want to be the second husband of a widow." "I'd rather be the second than the first."

History of Corps Now Available

A history of the United States Marine Corps, "175 Years With the U. S. Marines," may be purchased for one dollar, postage paid, from the National Convention Committee, James S. Scott, treasurer, 1710 Industrial Trust Building, Providence, R. I.

The book has illustrations and official documents in addition to accounts of historical battles and Marine personalities.

Mayor, i. e., Corporal Works in 'Hilly' Office

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA—Hizzoner, the mayor, has been promoted. Now he's a corporal.

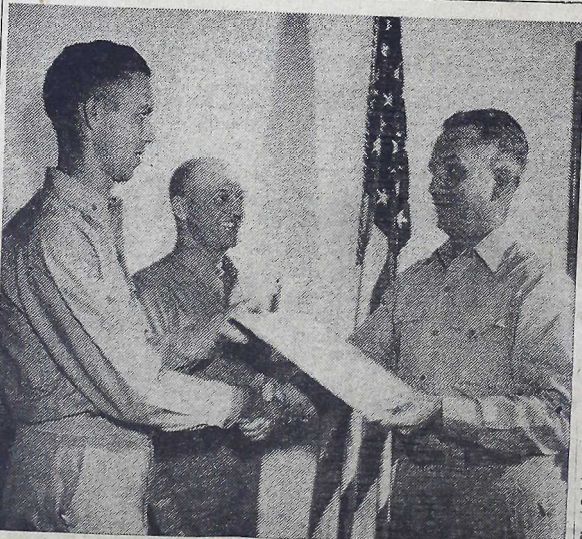

Marine John B. Harris is the double-duty public servant. He was elected for a second term as mayor of Gardendale, Ala., in February, 1950.

He was promoted to corporal in the First Marine Division May 15, but news travels slowly through the hills where he is on duty.

Gardendale, population 3,000, sends the mayor any official papers requiring his signature. He signs them and sends them back. It sometimes takes quite a while, but it seems to work.

His term of office runs out Feb. 15, 1952. After that ...

"This holding down two jobs is worrying me. I'd just as soon get rid of this one out here."

Condon Packs Gear For Return To Practice As Government Lawyer

Lejeune's first reserve officer to be released from active duty after the recently-initiated transfer of the Marine Corps, Maj. F. Condon, Jr., of Annapolis, Md., packed away his Leatherneck this week preparatory to his return to civilian life.

Condon, who has served as staff officer and assistant division commander with Headquarters Battalion and Marine Division, the latter will be officially detached today.

He is counsel for the chairman of the National Labor Relations Board. Condon was called to active duty in 1940, with one of the Marine reserve units summarized by the Corps—the Fifth Infantry Battalion, Washington, D. C.

Condon was its commanding officer.

The 35-year-old officer is completing his second tour of duty with the Leathernecks. He enlisted in October, 1940, and was released to an inactive status in March, 1946, after seeing considerable action in the Pacific with the Second Marine Division.

The major indicated he would return to the practice of law in Washington and New York in a governmental capacity.

Condon's wife, Mary Louise, who also holds the rank of major in the Marine Corps Woman Reserve (inactive), will be remembered as commanding officer of the Woman Marines here during World War II.

Housing

letter from the Chief of Naval Operations to the Secretary of Defense, it was stated that the number of housing units provided due to the large increase in the permanent post-war population.

Under the new housing conditions in the Lejeune area, due largely to the factor of isolation, are considered more critical than at other major Naval installations. The letter said, adding that the Federal Housing Administration has received correspondence from other correspondents concerning family housing conditions in the area.

Presently there are 405 units of family housing in Trailer Park, Paradise Point and 1163 at Camp Lejeune—a total of 1968 units.

Under the new housing conditions, the two new projects will bring the total housing units available to personnel to 4719 units.

Although a majority of these new houses under camp jurisdiction will be assigned to officer and staff NCO personnel, it is felt that enlisted men in the lower pay grades will be helped as more and more civilian housing is vacated by moving into the new units.

This situation may be remedied more by a housing board which is scheduled to start meeting today to establish new policies and regulations covering the new units. The board will be composed of Lt. George Gross, Second Marine Division; Major F. Carrick, Marine Troops; Lt. Col. Frederick L. Tatlock, Housing Officer.

Under tentative plans, rents at Camp Lejeune, and probably the new units, will be slightly higher than those now in effect at Midway Park. Before utilities are figured in, Tarawa Terrace units will rent for about $43, $53, and $62.50 for one, two, and three-bedroom units in the enlisted section. Officers will pay approximately $56, $66, and $76 for their one, two and three-bedroom units.

Under present plans, Marine and Navy personnel will have top priority on all of the new units.

New Methods and Equipment Help Reduce Combat Fatalities

By E. A. PICKETT

Two thousand men have been trained to be Naval hospitalmen here at Camp Lejeune since last October. As fast as they were graduated from Field Medical School, they were sent to duty—1000 to Korea, and the remainder either to other Navy or Marine Corps stations throughout the country to augment peace time medical forces or to the Second Medical Battalion on this base.

The medical battalion, as a distinct thousand-man unit, is comparatively new to military organization. In the past, a doctor with a handful of corpsmen cared for each group of combat troops. After front-line first aid, casualties were sent, by an available means, to a rear-based hospital far to the rear, necessarily, in order to have those injured men in a place where instruments, too complicated and bulky to move nearer the battle zone, could be used in the diagnosis and treatment of wounds.

Today, the picture is different. Like crime, carpentry, and calligraphy, medicine is organized. We still have the medicine men in every battalion, but they are a part of a system that extends, in a closely knit formation, from the fox-hole to a U. S. Naval Hospital at, say, Camp Lejeune.

New, too, is the equipment. In the past few years medical scientists of the services, in conjunction with the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory, have introduced innovations to revolutionize the treatment of injury and illness among combat troops. Outstanding in these developments is the lightweight, mobile field surgical trailer which brings complete hospital service to the front line.

Close to the regimental "CP" (Command Post), the hospital tent is set up. Within range of heavy mortars and artillery, surgeons perform operations associated with city medical centers like the Mayo Clinic.

New Zealand Cites 2d Marine Division

CHICAGO, June 26 — A citation from the government of New Zealand will be presented to the Second Marine Division at the Leatherneck organization's annual reunion here at the Hotel Sherman, July 13.

A representative of the New Zealand administration will make the presentation to the division which trained in and garrisoned New Zealand in the early days of World War II.

Lt. Gen. James C. Smith (Ret'd), who commanded the "Red Torch" Division at Tarawa, will be among the celebrants. Units of the Second Marine Division fought at Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, Tinian and Okinawa.

Anyone interested in attending the affair should contact Maj. Philip Cochran, c/o W. A. Alexander & Co., 135 LaSalle st., Chicago. A two-dollar registration is required.

Also on wheels is a dentist's office. During World War II, several anecdotes were broadcast about men in the overseas areas, who "lost" or "broke" their false teeth. Under existing regulations, those men, regardless of their importance to the campaign, had to be sent "stateside." Now, any Marine so distressed will find himself back in action two days later, able to eat and having made a round trip of about four miles!

The Second Medical Battalion, as much a part of the Second Marine Division as the artillery or tanks, is composed of six companies. There are two hospital companies capable of operating with either a division or regimental command post; three collecting and clearing companies, smaller and lighter than the hospital units but equally equipped their job is to gather casualties, treat them and consign them to the second-line receiving station, and the inevitable headquarters and service company to keep records, drive the vehicles and feed and clothe the troops of the battalion. Each company is complete within itself, in case disintegration is necessary.

One of the mundane duties of the medical battalion is to act as "quartermaster" for the unit aid stations.

Cmdr R. R. Gleysteen, Medical Corps, USN, is proud of his Second Medical Battalion. He quotes a figure compiled in Korea: 98 percent of all casualties brought to regimental field hospitals survived. Well-trained Naval hospital corpsmen, plus modern equipment set up in the combat areas brought about this exceedingly low figure.

Now, the Eighth class is on its way through Field Medical School here. In a few weeks, its members will join the ranks of the "docs" so revered by Marines. After that will come the Ninth class, then the 10th. The Second Medical Battalion is not stopping at 2000.

Gen. Fellers

General Fellers returned to the Pacific in April, 1946, becoming Commanding Officer of Marine Barracks on Okinawa and later holding the same position at Yokosuka, Japan. He served as Chief of Staff, Troop Training Unit, Amphibious Training Command, Pacific, at Coronado, Calif., from July 2, 1948, until July 15, 1949, when he became Commanding General following appointment to his present rank.

The new Deputy Camp Commander is married and has a son, William S. Jr., 24, a Marine staff sergeant, and a daughter, Ellison, 27.

These reservists from the Second Combat Service Group seem quite happy to hear that they'll be released from active duty quite soon. Some of this group went on an inactive status Monday and Tuesday (Official USMC Photo).

HOUSING FOR ALL

One of the most welcome announcements to be made at Camp Lejeune in many long months was that concerning the construction of 1054-unit Tarawa Terrace.

In the area adjoining any military installation housing is a critical item. Service families have been living in squalid shacks, overcrowding all facilities, and often paying exorbitant rents. Tarawa Terrace is a tremendous stride in the right direction.

Everyone concerned with this development should be given the hearty thanks of Lejeune Marines. The Commanding General and his staff and the Housing Officer have worked tirelessly. The civilian contractors are working hard to complete the project as rapidly as possible.

An allocation board is now at work on the very difficult problem of deciding how and to whom assignments in the new quarters will be made. Camp personnel of all rates and ranks are vitally concerned with their decision.

In searching for an equitable solution, the allocation board no doubt is giving consideration to men in the lower pay grades who are least able to pay the high rents charged for housing in many areas surrounding the camp.

Chaplain's Corner

All men, from the lowest to the one having the highest authority, are the object of some enmity as the human being, an imperfect creature, cannot begin to appease all and sundry. Our very Master, the God-man, found Himself confronted with many enemies. He was subjected to a persecution such as no other man before or since had or has suffered.

Many of Our Lord's close friends were his enemies when, probably in innocence, they made it difficult for him with their incredulity. Like doubting Thomases, they would not believe the possibility of one of their own being divine and even with manifest proof would not give credence when the teachings were not convenient to their mode of life.

Any teachings, religious or otherwise, that differed with their conception of life was taboo, and the majority of these people were deeply religious. Even the religious leaders, who had descended to the lowest of degradation seeking only to serve the Roman authorities, demanded of Christ whence came his authority! Alas, to question the authority of the Son of God.

In meeting our enemies we have a Master to show us the way. His was not a rash, abrupt, headlong rush into action to condemn the wrong-doers. Patience must be observed. He must remain calm under all circumstances in order to put to advantage all the goodness of those men. His strategy, if we may refer to it thusly, dictated that he commend those who deserved it.

We may follow in the path of our Master, then, remembering always our convictions, we may not, at any time, compromise with evil. There may be no appeasement for wrong.

Marine Corps Ring Contest Winners Will Be Presented Prizes Tuesday

Winners of the Marine Corps Ring contest held here during May will be awarded prizes July 3 at the Camp Theater at approximately 7:45 p.m. just prior to the Morton Downey Show.
The winners: First Prize, $300, Pfc Joseph R. Bertossi, Weapons Co., Second Marines; Second Prize, $100, Pfc Joseph A. Copachietti, H Bty., Third Bn., 10th Marines; Third Prize, First Lt. John F. Feeley, Service Bty., 10th Marines; Fourth Prize, $50, Pfc Jay Lanham, formerly in Service Co., H&S Bn., Marine Barracks, now at Marine Barracks, Naval Station, Treasure Island, San Francisco.

The designs were judged under direct supervision of Maurice J. Fagan, National Commandant of the Marine Corps League. The judges commented on the originality of the 723 designs submitted and worked to select a design traditional in quality and style. The judges convened in Philadelphia during June to select the winners.

The selected drawings now are at the manufacturer where gold models will be made and re-sub- mitted to the judges, who will determine quality and styling.

The new ring will be available to Lejeune personnel only through the Post Exchange. Marines in re- serve categories on an inactive sta- tus will be able to purchase the rings through the Marine Corps League. Purchase will be reserved for those entitled to wear the ring. As has been pointed out in the past, this ring will not be an of- ficial Marine Corps ring.

Rabies Prevention Aim of Camp Medics

"In order to safeguard the per- sonnel of Camp Lejeune all dogs on this camp shall be inoculated against rabies during the ninety days prior to July 1," according to Camp Memo 243-1951.

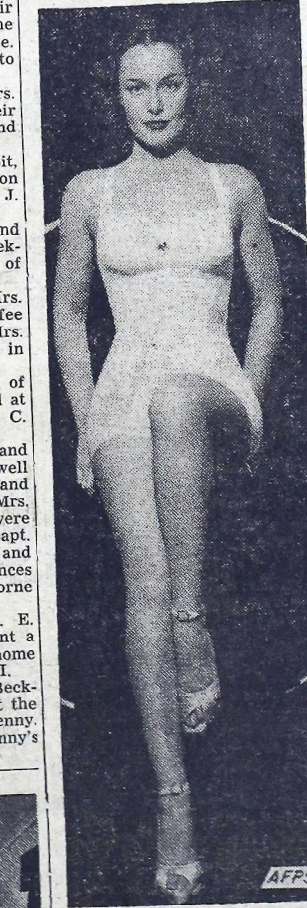

The order also states that during the period July 1-15, there shall be a strict leash quarantine of all dogs on this camp. During this period all dog owners will keep their dogs confined, tied, or on a leash, and re-register all dogs at the Pass and Identification Office, Building 50. Written certificates of rabies im- munization given between April 1 and July 1 is required for registra- tion.

Doctor Coppage, a veterinarian, will be at Building 233 from 1 to 4:30 p.m., today, to inoculate dogs.

Navy Dept. Bulletin Outlines Allowance

Article 51-329 of Navy Depart- ment Bulletin 9, dated May 15, states that where both husband and wife are members of the uniformed services and are maintaining joint residence off the post and station, the male member, under certain conditions, is entitled to the Basic Allowance for Quarters prescribed for a member without dependents.

Male officers eligible for such an allowance should contact the Camp Housing Officer in Bldg. 1. Eligible male enlisted members should con- tact their commanding officers.

One of the finest equipped recreation facilities at Camp Lejeune is the newly remodeled Mirror Room (above) of the Staff Non-Commissioned Officers Club. Designed to seat 356 persons, the decorations of mirrors, red and green leatherette booths and chairs, indirect lighting effects and wine-colored draperies help create that "back-home" nightclub effect. Music is the keynote of the Mirror Room, with such famous bands as Tex Beneke, Blue Baron, Gene Krupa, Claude Thornhill and others appearing there at various times. Live bands are featured each Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Present officers of the club are M. Sgt. Adolph Muckley, president; M. Sgt. Thomas H. Mills, secretary, and Tech Sgt. William M. # Lejeune Beats Quantico, 3-2, 5-4 To Near Corps East Title; Splits With Little Creek

Camp Team Needs Four Triumphs Over Cherry Point

By BILL BERGER

Lejeune's baseball team moved a step closer to the East Coast Marine Corps championship Thursday with a double victory over the Quantico Marines, 3-2 and 5-4. Lejeune needs four victories over Cherry Point to clinch the crown.

Jack Ingalls gave up five hits to win the first game, his 11th of the season, while Bob Nankerville won the second, although he needed help from Bob Penner in the ninth inning.

Andy Andersen saved the first game for Ingalls with a perfect throw from leftfield to catcher Bob Bortz at home plate that nipped a would-be Quantico run for the final out.

With Lejeune leading 3-2 going into the ninth, Ingalls got leadoff man Dick Dutton on a grounder to short, but Frank Alagia and Fred Chadderton singled in succession.

After Ed Tracy, batting for the pitcher, struck out, Rusty Gates slashed a single to left that should have scored Alagia from second with the tying run. But, Andersen uncorked a perfect strike to Bortz and nailed Alagia sliding in.

Jerry Brezen, Mouse Halsall and Andersen each had two hits for Lejeune. Halsall's double in the third inning was the only Lejeune extra base blow.

Catcher Ken McCreight knocked in both Quantico runs on a double in the eighth inning with Jack Palmer and Bill Hawkins on.

In the second game, Mouse Halsall's first homerun of the season, coming in the fifth inning with Brezen on base, proved the margin of victory.

With the score 5-3, in Lejeune's favor, Quantico threatened in the ninth inning. They got one run, two hits and a base on balls off Nankerville before Penner came.

Penner walked Gates to fill the bases, then got Palmer to hit into bases, and forced Hawkins a double play and forced Agganis to ground out to Harry Agganis, unassisted, to end the game.

Bo Dempsey led Lejeune at bat with two for three, while McCreight had three hits in four trips.

Amphibs Flaunt Ring Prowess; Post Challenge To All Outfits

By ROD HARRIS

Success of their outdoor boxing smoker, the first here in several years, has prompted the Second Amphibious Tractor Battalion to post a challenge to any camp or division unit — regiment or smaller — for an intra-mural match.

More than 300 approved the two-hour boxing and novelty act program held June 20 in an open-air arena across from the main theatre at Courthouse Bay.

The initial act was a "hit-and-miss" slugfest by three blindfolded gladiators in the ring together. The "decision" went to Maj. William H. Stoll, battalion Executive Officer and referee, for successfully eluding the wild-swinging participants.

Wrestler Melvin Weiss found a 14-pound weight disadvantage too much to overcome as Cpl. Lloyd Moore took two of three falls. Both sport impressive high school and collegiate grappling records. Moore was on Lejeune's past varsity mat squad.

A judo exhibition matched Cpl. Mike Mok and Pfc. Rod York. Mok, holder of a North California Association brown belt, is a camp judo team member.

One of the liveliest of five boxing bouts found 204-pound Pfc. Orland Smith decisioning Sgt. LeRoy Hagan.

In other matches, Cpl. David Maanar drew with Cpl. Charles Loyal at 148 pounds. Sgt. William Okeman won a split decision over Pfc. Tom Brown. John Newman outpointed Cpl. Louis Culbertson, and Cpl. Bill Schwab's flurry of punches TKO'd Cpl. Bill Bronley within a minute after the opening bell.

Rough-and-tumble jiu-jitsu was demonstrated by Sgt. Clyde Trainor and Pfc. Vernon Bray.

The evening's finale was a match between judo expert Mok and former professional grappler Sgt. Andy Butcher, coach and trainer of the smoker participants. No decision was awarded.

Special Services Officer Second Lt. Richard E. Himebaugh and Sgt. Butcher planned the program, which will be continued as long as enthusiasm is maintained. Challenges may be posted with them.

Amphibs Defeat 6-5; Erase 10-1 Deficit, Win, 1

By BILL BERGER

Lejeune's baseball team two-games series over the with the Little Creek Amphibious Tractor Battalion, winning the first, 6-5, and the second, 12-10.

Marty Saban started the game, but tired in the seventh and was relieved by Spillman, who received credit for the victory.

The second game saw Lejeune lose a 10-run lead when it collapsed.

With Bob Penner on the Lejeune had a 10-0 lead going into the fifth and Penner hadn't hit a base hit.

The temperature was at 100 degrees, and Penner started to feel the heat in the fifth.

From there the downhill continued as Zeke Murrell, Doug Dowell and Spillman went mound in a futile effort to the Amphibs.

Murrell, who relieved Penner, struck out the first man to him, then successfully gave base-clearing triple, a double and the fourth man.

Coach Bill Shea lifted Murrell in favor of MacDowell, who promptly served a base-clearing triple to his first opponent. MacDowell allowed a single to the second batter, he was lifted. Spillman came in for the second game in two days.

Spillman gave up two hits, walks and three runs before finally was retired after score had been tied at ten.

Spillman allowed the winning runs in the seventh inning on two hits and an error.

Three Lejeune players, Al Dempsey, Andy Andersen and Harry Agganis were tossed out in the eighth inning for arguing with the umpire.

With Jerry Brezen out of the game because of a spiking in the seventh inning, Lejeune had field a make shift squad the two innings. Shea caught, Lou Leibler was at first base, rightfielder Bo Dempsey played third and Lou Adair was in the outfield.

Norfolk NAS Tops Lejeune, 11-4

For the second game in succession, Lejeune pitching cost the Marines a baseball game. Monday night, they dropped a 11-4 decision here to Norfolk Naval Air Station. It was Lejeune's 11th loss in 12 games.

Bob Nankerville started for Lejeune and going into the sixth inning had given up one run and six hits. He folded, however, and gave up five runs and six hits in the seventh before being lifted in favor of Jorsh Dorsey.

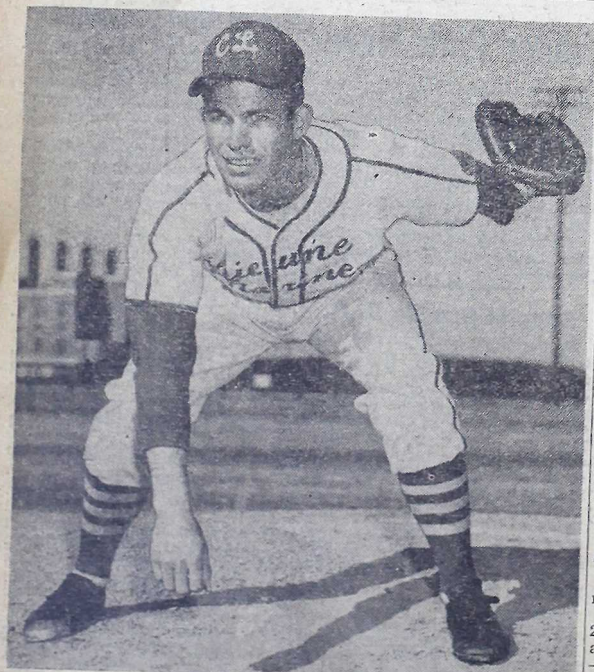

Dorsey got through the seventh inning with one run and one hit charged against him, but he faltered, giving up two hits and a base on balls to load the bases before Marty Saban relieved him in the eighth.

Saban gave up a hit to catcher Barney Bacho that scored two more runs and allowed another run before retiring the side.

Doug MacDowell pitched the ninth inning and yielded only one run.

Lejeune took the lead in the second inning with three runs on four hits. Mouse Halsall, Bo Dempsey and Bob Bortz singled successively, then leftfielder Andy Anderson, three batters later, got a single that scored the third run. From there, however, the Marines were able to get only six hits off Norfolk pitcher Charlie Strickland.

Six Lejeune errors, four charged to Basal, helped beat Lejeune. Lejeune left fifteen runners on base. NORFOLK 091 005 131 11-7-5 LEJEUNE 030 001 000 4-10-6 Strickland and Bacho; Nankerville, Dorsey (6th), Saban (8th), MacDowell (9th), and Bortz.

Jack Ingalls is ace of the Lejeune mound staff with 11 victories and two defeats. Jack has been in 16 ball games, pitched 109 and 1/3 innings and has 110 strikeouts. He hails from Tulsa, Oklahoma (Official Marine Corps Photo).

banquet for our "non-participating All-Marine Corps" track team and our wrestling squad that won Atlantic Fleet Championship was quite successful and tasty. The shrimp was excellent, the beer thirst-quenching, the filet mignon "a delicacy fit only for the banquet."

the way some of our athletes handle themselves in public making roles, one might think the Corps sends its men to Carnegie courses.

Olson, who spoke as a track team member, had the audience then had the onlookers applauding with his oratorical When Dick said that cinder coach Don Green had molded the most powerful squad in the East and had made "each one of us a better Marine," Captain Green's wasn't the line that tingled.

Gen. W. S. Fellers, newly-arrived Deputy Camp Commander, by athletics is such an important part of the development athletes are leaders. Leaders make good Marines," the General A good leader not only leads—he is willing to be led. Athletes develop these sterling traits."

On September 23, St. Bonaventure is host to the Musketeers. On September 29, Youngstown is host to the Musketeers. The Lejeune and Youngstown games are Xavier's initial outings these teams.

North Carolina State tentatively is scheduled to appear here Sept. 8 for a practice contest with the Lejeune varsity. Marine officers have been trying to schedule such a test for the past several years.

Well, the Quantico baseball series is over and we pulled a double mph. But not without perhaps the most trying argument of the on. From our vantage point, Quantico's third baseman, Jack Palmer, nitely was guilty of interference. When umpire Stan Landes waved Bertz home, he made the proper move in our book.

Sitting in the stands with this reporter and concurring that Land-decision was just was Mace Brown, onetime pitcher with the shurgh Pirates and Boston Red Sox and now a scout for the Detroit Tigers.

Mace covers the Carolinas and Virginia. Reports led him to Lejeune (we wonder why?). Mace watched both games attentively, commenting on how he used to play "that one when I was in the majors." He seemed to get quite a kick out of reliving his past performances.

Big mace, a graduate of the University of Iowa, wasn't with the Pirates for the first time. During World War II, he served as a lieutenant in the Navy and worked with Marine officers in athletic games in the States, in Hawaii and on Guam.

Prior to the war, Mace was one of the mainstays of the Pirates' coaching staff. When he went over to the American League and joined the Red Sox, he still was a feared hurler.

"See anyone that looked like a prospect here," we asked. "You've seen some fine ball players at Lejeune," Mace answered coyly. After the game, Mace assured us he'd be back.

Mace shouldn't have any trouble getting in to see any baseball game. He carries the silver pass—lifetime eligibility to all major league contests—of a 10-year veteran of big-league play. He's one of the very, very few.

Division Golf Coach Seeks Team Members

The Second Marine Division golf team now is being organized and officers and enlisted members of the division are invited to compete for the squad.

First Lt. Raymond C. Scussell is coach and has set practice daily periods for Monday through Friday at 1 p.m. Unit commanders have been directed to release personnel from duty for these periods.

The team, after screening, will participate in the Atlantic Fleet play-offs at Norfolk, Va., July 23.

'Lost Colony' Affords Special Rates For GI's

Special admission rates to Roanoke Island's annual play, "The Lost Colony," have been arranged for servicemen in uniform this season. William M. Hardy, general manager of the play, has announced.

"The Lost Colony," a play dealing with a phase of the beginning of this country, will open its eleventh season at Roanoke Island, N. C., June 30. The reduced admission price for servicemen in uniform will be $90.

Boat Racing Class

Boat racing instructions are available at the Wallace Creek Boathouse. Students are divided into three levels—advanced, novice and women.

Registration may be made with Jane Young at the Boathouse.

Purple Heart Awarded After Six-Year Delay

It took almost six years to catch up to him, but HMC Paul E. St. Sing of the Second Amphibian Tractor Battalion finally received the Purple Heart he earned in 1944 while serving aboard the U.S.S. LST 507.

The presentation was made by Lt. Col. J. T. O'Neill, battalion commanding officer, with Lt. E. F. Burkhardt, battalion surgeon, looking on. According to Chief St. Sing, the citation could have made quite a few trips around the world by LST while he was waiting for it.

Persons interested in filing for examination should consult Announcement No. 4-9-7 (1951) for the Leadingman and Quartermen positions and Announcement No. 4-9-8 (1951) for the Chief Quartermen positions.

Applications for the examinations will be accepted at the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Industrial Relations Office, Camp Lejeune, through July 9.

Persons eligible for the examinations must submit Form 5000AB and Form 57. Only those persons currently employed at the camp are eligible to file for examinations. The qualifications required for the various positions are listed in appropriate announcements of examinations.

For detailed information concerning examinations, employees should contact the personnel section of their department or call Mrs. Deim, extension 2107.

Corsair F4U Crash At Peterfield Point

CHERRY POINT, N. C., June 25 —A Marine Lieutenant was killed and another injured in two F4U Corsair fighter plane crashes last week.

Lt. Harry A. Boenig, Woodsboro, Tex., was killed June 19 after his plane crashed in flames in a wooded area here at the Marine Corps Air Station. He died a few minutes after the plane hit the ground.

Another crash injured Lt. Elmer Lewis, Jr., June 15. He was pulled from his burning plane at Peterfield Point, Camp Lejeune, after crashing 200-yards short of the runway. His plane's wingtip struck the ground on landing, causing the fighter to cartwheel and burst into flames.

Lieutenant Lewis suffered a fractured thigh and lacerated ankles.
