

Re-opening of Air Field Scheduled

CHERRY POINT, Feb. 16—A report that the Marine corps will re-open Peterfield Point airfield at Camp Lejeune was confirmed today by Maj. Gen. Louis E. Woods, commanding general at the Point.

General Woods said the field has been in use by light planes since World War II when it was built, but stepped-up operations by the Marine Air Wing's helicopter squadrons and by planes at Cherry Point have necessitated increased use of the field.

In the past the field has been used mainly as a Marine Air auxiliary base in operation of artillery units, General Woods said.

General Woods' announcement came in a report by Senator Willis Robertson in Washington.

The field will be supplied with hangars, storage space for gas and other supplies, and runways probably will be lengthened, General Woods said.

General pointed out that the field at Cherry Point will be used as an auxiliary base also. The field will serve as a landing area for "carrier base," and its use will serve to minimize the need for the huge Marine Air Station at Cherry Point.

An auxiliary for helicopter operations, the field will be used for marine craft, operating on marshes, and for land and sea resupply operations.

Year-Old Girls Arriving In Corps

WASHINGTON — Congress may be taking 18-year-olds in the Marine Corps, but women are enlisting in the service at that age, and "they'll be in the military life," said the director, Col. Katherine A. Ivey.

"I haven't too many of them, but those we have present no difficulty," she said in an interview marking the eighth anniversary of the founding of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

Colonel Towle said that the taking of 18-year-olds has made the Marine Corps more aware of their duties in their country than they were in the last war. The result, she said, is that the Woman Marines are meeting current quotas, although the women's services have expanded their recruiting programs during the war in Korea.

Dividend Checks Take Long Time

WASHINGTON — Checks for a special dividend on GI insurance will start being mailed to policyholders in April, NY News Service said this week.

There is a word of caution to policyholders: Don't plan on buying a new outfit with it; the money won't arrive even in time to buy Christmas presents. It all depends on the anniversary date of your policy.

Payments will average $85, it is estimated, but the range of the dividends will be great—say, from a couple of dollars to a couple of hundred, depending upon age, the date of the policy and the length of time it has been in force.

The anniversary date of your policy—that is, the month in which it was taken out—is January or February. Thereafter, dividend checks will be sent to policyholders 12 months after the respective anniversary date of their policies.

Ten Lieutenant Colonels Get 'Eagles' At Ceremony

Ten lieutenant colonels received the silver eagles of full colonels in an informal ceremony at the Commanding General's quarters Thursday evening.

Eleven promotions would have been effected, but Lt. Col. R. K. Miller was absent on emergency leave when Maj. Gen. Ray A. Robinson, Commanding General of the 2d Marine Division and Camp Lejeune, presented the new commissions.

Mrs. R. K. Miller was present at the ceremony and received the insignia of her husband's new rank from General Robinson. Colonel Miller's commission will be presented when he returns from leave.

Six new colonels were added to the 2d Marine Division by the promotions. Officers advanced to colonel were:

Col. S. S. Berger, Executive Officer, 8th Marines; Col. R. M. Fawell, Jr., Commanding Officer, 2d Tank Battalion; Col. T. S. Ivey, Assistant Plans and Training Officer, Division Staff; Col. N. P. Wood, Jr., Executive Officer, 10th Marines; Col. H. B. Meek, Division Signal Officer; and Col. R. K. Miller, Executive Officer, 6th Marines.

Marine Barracks officers promoted were:

Col. G. D. Morgan, student at the Supply School; Col. P. W. John, Executive Officer, Marine Corps Supply Depot; and Col. C. S. Todd, Executive Officer, Supply School Battalion.

Lejeune Marine Hurt Disarming N. Y. Thug

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Pvt. Walter Villar, 20, home on furlough from the Camp Lejeune, was taking a pre-dawn stroll over Manhattan bridge when a bandit shoved a gun in his ribs.

Police said the training-hardened Marine whirled, flipped the bandit to the pavement, and sought to pin him there when the gun discharged, hitting Villar in the shoulder. The bandit fled without loot. Villar's wound apparently was not serious.

General Robinson also presented eagles to two Force Troops officers, Col. K. A. King, Executive Officer, Force Troops, and Col. E. M. Williams, Commanding Officer, 8th Engineer Battalion.

Present to witness the ceremony and to assist in pinning on the insignia of rank were the wives of the new colonels, Capt. L. M. Daniels, USN, who was recently promoted to his present grade, was also among the spectators.

Most of the new eagles had a Post Exchange gloss, but Col. T. S. Ivey's had seen service before. They were a gift from his father-in-law, Brig. Gen. William H. Harrison, USMC, ret., of 16 De Forrest rd., Lansdowne, Pa. General Harrison retired in 1947 after 30 years of service.

Senate Group OK's GI 'Free Insurance'

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21—The Senate Finance Committee has approved a bill (HR-1) authorizing $10,000 in "free insurance" for every member of the active armed forces who is not comparably covered by National Service Life Insurance or U. S. Government Life Insurance. Armed Forces revealed this week. The insurance would be retroactive to June 27, 1950, when the Korean War began.

In acting on this bill, the Senate committee adopted most of the provisions approved by the House. However, one major amendment was adopted. It provides that servicemen covered by NSLI or USGLI will be entitled, for 120 days after separation from active duty, to receive: (1) A refund on the entire amount they have paid in term premiums while in service; (2) A proportionate amount of permanent insurance premiums representing the cost of the pure insurance risks paid during the period of service; plus interest at three per cent per annum on NSLI policies and 3 1/2 per cent on USGLI policies.

As the "free insurance" bill is now drafted, service personnel who hold NSLI or USGLI policies may keep them, but no more such policies could be purchased.

Another touch of the past occurred when Colonels G. D. Morgan and C. S. Todd received their commissions minutes apart. First lieutenant when captured at Guam early in World War II, they shared life in Japanese prison camps together until liberated on Sept. 8, 1945.

West Virginia Signs Veterans' Bonus Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 13—Governor Patterson signed into law today five measures establishing a bonus for veterans of both world wars.

A maximum of $300 can be obtained by anyone who served only within the United States, and a $400 maximum by anyone with overseas duty. Ten dollars per month is allowed for each month of duty in the United States, and $15 per month for each month spent overseas.

MC Selection Board Recommends Captains

WASHINGTON — A Marine Corps selection board convened February 15 to recommend 607 regular captains for promotion to major. These officers in the promotion zone begin with Captain Ernest Bealer and include Captain Zabitchuck, in lineal order.

President of the board is Brig. Gen. Albert D. Costley, Director of the Junior School, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico. Other members of the board include Colonels Kenneth B. Chappell, Samuel S. Balentine, Harley C. Waterman, Ernest E. Shughnessy, Harold D. Hansen, Archie E. O'Neil, Samuel E. Griffith, II, Robert H. Williams, James M. Dub, Edward H. Farney, and Elmer T. Dorsey.

The board is expected to complete its work within four weeks. It may recommend for promotion 624 unrestricted officers in the grade of captain, 28 for limited duty only, and 15 for supply duty only.

'Boots' Now Processed At Lejeune

The familiar bellow of a Marine DI rose above the hum of general activity at Camp Lejeune this week as approximately 1,000 recruits got their first taste of service life.

In order to speed up the processing and initial training of recruits, casual companies were formed in Headquarters and Service Battalion, Marine Barracks, to process the new "boots" before they are sent to Parris Island.

Here they were issued clothing, given haircuts, physical and dental examinations, and instructed in military courtesy and discipline.

Drill instructors were drawn from the ranks of infantry regiments. All those selected were formerly DI's and it was easy to fall into their old routine.

Under their guidance, the recruits changed practically overnight from civilians to men with a purpose in mind, becoming Marines and carrying on the traditions of their predecessors.

All volunteers, the recruits expressed a ready willingness to learn what they were expected to know, and they enthusiastically jumped into the new life they had chosen for themselves.

The processing of recruits here is expected to ease the administrative work, and processing details normally carried out at Parris Island.

This is a temporary expedient, it was announced, and will be discontinued when Parris Island is able to accommodate the increased complements.

Marine Lieutenant, Two Others Die In Highway Crash

WILMINGTON, Feb. 18 — A Camp Lejeune Marine lieutenant was instantly killed and two other persons died en route to a hospital here as the result of a highway accident near Scotts Hill, 12 miles north of Wilmington about 5 p.m. yesterday.

Investigating highway patrolmen identified the dead as First Lt. L. V. Snyder, Camp Lejeune; P. B. Dean, Philadelphia, Pa., and his wife, Mrs. Viola Dean.

It was reported that Snyder was traveling north on Highway 17 when the car he was driving crashed head-on into the vehicle driven by Dean.

The Marine was thrown from the car and instantly killed. Mr. and Mrs. Dean were pinned in their demolished car. Mrs. Dean died in an ambulance en route to the hospital while her husband died a few minutes after being admitted to James Walker Memorial Hospital.

Highway patrolmen reported that a heavy fog hung over the scene of the crash. He added that a third vehicle, driven by Marine Sgt. John Onuska also of Camp Lejeune, plowed into the wreckage shortly after the victims had been removed. Onuska was uninjured but his car was greatly damaged.

Second Triple A Battalion Tests Battle Gear And Men

By SEYMOUR KATZ

The Second 90 mm AAA Gun Battalion last week rang down the curtain on one of the most unusual operations ever held here, an operation under simulated battle conditions that utilized every piece of equipment and every man in the outfit.

In a strenuous test of the unit's combat efficiency, and its ability to cope with combat problems, the anti-aircraft men began on January 22 to move four batteries and supporting equipment to a mock-up area near Peterfield Point Air Field.

In an area at one end of the air field three sections of land were roped off, each the exact size and shape of an (deleted), and, on Jan. 22 the battalion started the task of cranking its forward echelon into the land-bound ships.

After loading and shipping problems were solved, the AAA men, under the direction of their Commanding Officer, Lt. Col. John B. Heles, began to unload their equipment and supplies on January 24. They immediately set about the work of establishing tactical combat positions in the Tent Camp "boondocks."

The anti-aircraft-artillerymen resumed training on Monday morning at 7:30 and spent the day in the task of anti-aircraft tracking drills, using Grumman fighter planes from Cherry Point as their "targets."

A communications center, life-line of artillery operations, was located centrally between the batteries, and functioned throughout the tests under realistic battle conditions.

Two plotting tables, one for each of the 90's dual functions, were set up to map and plot the fire of the guns, and a battery of telephones hummed continuously as reports flashed into the center.

The artillery control table was manned by plotting experts, who received reports from field spotters, estimated the range and azimuth, and then flashed their computations to the big guns.

Since the 90mm can be switched in an instant from artillery usage to AAA, it was possible Tuesday to conduct drills in both operations, with the guns switching from one function to another.

During the problem, a reinforced infantry company, made up of men from each battery, was instructed in the techniques of repulsing enemy attacks, and the methods of protecting the guns. Field night problems were held continuously with a fighter plane from Cherry Point, simulating strafing attacks to teach the company how to protect themselves from enemy air power.

With the men schooled in all phases of combat, the Second launched its field displacement operation on Wednesday, and on the following day, moved the batteries back to the Tent Camp area.

By the end of the week, the entire battalion was moved back, and company headquarters began solving the numerous problems it was informed would arise in combat, and straightening out all technical difficulties.

From the operation, members of the Second 90mm's, compiled information on new methods of camouflage, gun deployment, training and disbursement.

When the last shot of the operation was fired Monday, officials announced the battalion plans on re-staging the two-week procedure again in the near future.

HYPNOTIC REVUE Victim of Frostbite Shares Ride Weapons Carrier With Eight Dead

COMING SOON

Professor Daniel Schmidt

MARCH 6-11

By HUGH GIBSON

A grisly ride to safety with eight dead men as described here this week by a 22-year-old Marine frostbite casualty in Korea.

His right foot bandaged and minus a toe, Pfc. Henry Cox, Jr., told his story from a bed at the Naval Hospital.

When frostbite put him out of action on December 2, the Wingate, N. C. Marine was one of thousands fighting to reach Hagaru from the Chosan Reservoir.

"My feet froze so bad that I

Marines Of Guam

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — Gov. Carlton Skinner of Guam asked the Marine Corps today to adopt his fledgling 1,600-man militia force as the nation's first citizen-soldier unit not under Army jurisdiction. The militia was established during World War I by the Marines and dissolved in 1941. The force was reorganized when fighting broke out in Korea, only 800 miles to the northwest.

couldn't walk," Cox said. I took off my shoe paces swelled until I couldn't shoes on again.

"That was when they put the back of a weapons carrier those eight dead guys."

There were two other lives on the vehicle, the driver—other casualty who was across the hood. Cox shared back with his silent comrade for three days and two nights before reaching Hagaru.

"It didn't bother me, I insisted. 'I was getting out wasn't it? I just lay back to my sock feet and listened fellows and the Chinese thru at each other.'"

A graves registration attached to the Seventh Marine had become accustomed grimmer side of war since at Inchon in September.

"But that's not the kind of most men like to do," he admitted.

The day after he reached After seven weeks in a there, he was flown to the States and reached here on February 20.

Want Heads Glass 92.3 Average

Charles K. Ehrler picked up chips when he was graduated from the NCO Leaders recently with a final average of 92.3.

In addition to his diploma, the old mortar section leader received a letter of commendation from Maj. Gen. Ray A. Robinson, Commanding General of the 2d Division and Camp Le-jeune. Presenting the letter, Col. J. T. Masters, Sr., Commanding Officer of the 8th Marines termed the young man's achievements in the field course "outstanding."

The battalion commander, Capt. N. E. Sparling, was also at the informal presentation ceremony in Col. Masters' office.

Ehrler has been a sergeant since 1949. Ehrler was called to active duty last year and assigned to Company B, 2d Battalion, Eighth Marine Regiment in the Volunteer Reserve after completing a four-year tour in the regular Marine tion, while Cpl. Ed Rich was director-producer.

In the recording are interviews with Capt. Mary J. Fisher, commanding officer of Lejeune's Women Marines company, and members of the organization and their escorts.

Feature of the transcription is an address by Maj. Gen. Ray A. Robinson, Commanding General, Second Marine Division and Marine Barracks, Camp Lejeune. General Robinson jokes about the difficulties and "growing pains" that arose when the Women's Reserve program was initiated in 1943. The General then was officer-in-charge, Operations and Training Section, Division of Plans and Policies at Headquarters, Marine Corps, and had much to do with the WR formation.

"We found men didn't know a lot about women when we tackled the problems of uniforms, quarters, etc. for the women," the General remarks. He closes with praise for the job the female Leathernecks have done and are doing with, "it took us 175 years to get the public to like us. You women are outshining us in a mere eight years."

Marine's Pup Places In Westminster Show

Youngest dog at the show, the Marine's pup was making its first showing at the event, which is considered the top kennel contest of the land.

Her dam, also owned by Scott, was shown once at Newport News, Va., during April, 1950, taking first place.

Ex-Lejeune Coach Wins Three Medals In Seoul Fighting

Capt. Welby Cronk, former Camp Lejeune Athletic Officer and Baseball coach, was recently presented the Silver Star Medal, Bronze Star Medal, and Purple Heart for Korean action.

The captain first reported to Camp Lejeune in August 1948 and was assigned duty with the Camp Athletic Office, and was coach of the Camp Lejeune 1948 baseball team.

The temporary citation for the Silver Star medal which was sent to Mrs. Cronk read in part: "For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy while serving with a Marine rifle company in Korea on September 27, 1950. Captain Cronk, serving as a company commander, was assigned the mission of continuing the attack eastward through the streets of Seoul, leading the battalion column. With complete disregard for his own personal safety moved into the center of the street which was being swept by intense enemy small arms, automatic weapons and machine gun fire, pointed out targets to his supporting tanks and led his company forward in a determined attack." The citation was signed by Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith.

Mrs. Cronk stated that she had no information on the captain receiving the Bronze Star medal, but that it had been published in the Leatherneck Magazine and Gazette.

The Purple Heart was presented to the captain for wounds inflicted during the Inchon-Seoul landing on September 15, 1950.

Captain Cronk is attached to D Company, 2d Bn, 1st Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division. Mrs. Cronk lives at 300 Sherwood Road, Jacksonville, with her four children, Patsy 7, Skipper 5, Kathy 3, and Michael 3 months.

GSG Supply Officer Promoted To Lt. Col.

Maj. Harvey M. Miller, CO of Supply Battalion, Second Combat Service Group, was promoted to the grade of lieutenant colonel last Thursday, in the offices of Col. W. E. Barnes.

Present at the promotion was Mrs. June D. Miller who assisted Colonel Barnes in pinning the silver oak leaves on her husband's shoulders.

Upon graduation from the Naval Academy in 1940, Colonel Miller was commissioned in the Marine Corps.

During World War II, Colonel Miller was CO of the Marine Barracks at Auckland, New Zealand, and was later stationed on Midway Island as Executive Officer of Marine Barracks.

Marine Rotation In Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—Marine Corps replacements will leave the United States about March 1 for the Mediterranean. About 1,600 will sail from Norfolk, Va., to replace the Marines transferred from units of the U. S. Sixth Fleet to Korea in August of last year. The re-enforced battalion will join naval forces now in the Mediterranean, which numbers approximately 20 ships of the major combatant type.

A. G. Tuggle, Eastern North Carolina unit manager for a national soap products manufacturer, presents keys of their new car to Sgt. and Mrs. August Boehm in Jacksonville. The Marine couple won the auto with a letter on why they liked a particular soap products.

Ten Years Ago I Used Your Soap; Since Then I've Used No Other

Dame Fortune smiled at a Marine couple in Trailer Park Friday in the form of a 1951 custom built automobile, $200 worth of groceries and a year's supply of products from one of the nation's leading soap manufacturers. In addition, the couple is eligible for a $5000 grand prize.

Sgt. August Boehm and wife DeLores, from Bergenfield, N. J., are the lucky pair. The Sergeant, attached to H&S, 8th Marines, sent a 25-word letter on why he liked the product and a regular-size box top from one of the soaps to the company two weeks ago.

On February 14, a representative of the manufacturer walked into 12-108A Trailer Park and broke the tidings to the Boehms. The representative added the couple also would have won 1000 gallons of gasoline except for a technicality. The company conducted 20 similar daily contests and awarded 20 cars. The 20 winners are eligible for the cash grand prize.

Friday, at a Jacksonville grocery, the Boehms were presented with their car and a certificate for the groceries. The soap manufacturer's representative said he was surprised when he found the Boehms the winners, for their entry blank had no rank on it and the company man expected at least a field officer with three or four autos. Yes, this time the story ends differently — the Boehms didn't have a car.

Marine Brothers Reunited At Purple Heart Ceremony

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — It took the Purple Heart to get two Marine brothers from Roanoke, Va., together.

Bill and Elmer Milam, both frostbite victims of the Changin Reservoir withdrawal, were finally reunited at Bethesda Naval Hospital where they received the Purple Heart together, after a series of near misses all the way to Korea and back.

Pfc. Elmer Milam, 19, was in Korea with the Third Bn., Seventh Marine Regiment, when his brother, Cpl. William Milam, 22, was shipped over after being called up from the Marine Reserves. Their paths crossed at Inchon, Seoul, and North Korea, but they never met.

When frostbite knocked them both out of action, they were flown from Pearl Harbor to Oakland, Calif., on the same plane but never knew it. Elmer, a stretcher case, was in the rear of the transport.

Papers somehow got tangled and the younger brother was sent to San Antonio for two days with the older brother's papers. Bill, for a while, was a lost file and couldn't go home for Christmas.

It all straightened itself out at Bethesda Naval Hospital. They didn't arrive together, but managed a 30-day leave at approximately the same time. For some reason, Bill left for Roanoke six days before Elmer.

BALLSTON, SPA, N. Y. Sgt. Frank J. Cramer, believed holder of the all-time individual record for recruiting men in the armed forces, is going back to service himself.

Cramer, a veteran of World War I and II and the father of triplets, has reported to the Albany district office of the Marine Corps.

Cramer enlisted 2123 men in one year. He joined the first Marine aviation forces in 1917, reentered Marine service as a recruiter in 1942, but retired to a farm near here at the end of World War II.

Folks, We're Bleeding!

The terrific expansion in personnel and units at Camp Lejeune is reflected in many ways. It imposes itself on parking problems, housing shortages and even commodities in the commissary and post exchange. But our immediate concern is its impact on your newspaper.

The increase in personnel resolved itself easily. We simply had more copies printed. But the newly activated units presents a more serious difficulty. More and more of these organizations are supplying us with news. We hope they continue to do so, and do not become discouraged if the material is condensed. Some portions may have been deleted because of inadvertent security violations. Other sections may have been trimmed because of limitations of space. We try to select the material in keeping with the old Navy precept: "The greatest good for the greatest number."

Nevertheless, when Mamma comes in with a story and picture of her three-year-old celebrating his birthday with some of the other junior files, it embarrasses us to say we just don't have the space to print it.

And when the eager young man comes in to inform us that he will be promoted to corporal on the following day, and will gladly supply us with a picture and his biography, we endeavor to mollify him. We try to explain that probably many young men will be promoted to corporal on the following day. Then, as a compromise, we tell him that if he will come in at the end of his fourth cruise with the information that he's going to be promoted to corporal, that would be a newsworthy story.

We'd like to print everything that is submitted, but there isn't room. A size-40 matron may be able to give it the old college try and squeeze into a small girldie; but printer's type doesn't have a two-way stretch.

Your paper is composed of eight pages, each with five columns running approximately 16 inches. This gives us a total of about 640 column inches. With pictures (known as "art" to the trade) taking up one-third of the total space, or some 220 inches, we have 420 inches left.

We are currently filling the back page with a half-page cartoon and Korean casualties, leaving 340 inches. Usually the sports section consumes two pages, or 160 inches. That leaves us with 180 inches. Then when a page of social activities and kindred news is deducted, we have only 100 inches left.

A page of 80 inches is devoted to editorials, the Chaplain's Corner, religious news, etc. After this is checked off, we find that we have only 20 inches left. That nameplate on page one, that tells you you are reading the Camp Lejeune Globe, takes a modest 11-inch cut out of that remaining 20 inches. Now only nine inches are left. While we admit that the History of Creation was written briefly enough to be contained in that space. It's scarcely sufficient to accommodate all the news of Camp Lejeune.

Futhremore, if we don't knock off this apology there won't be enough left of that remaining nine inches for us to try to explain why all contributions cannot get into print. We hope we have made the explanation clear, and

(Editor's note:—Sorry, to stop in the middle of a paragraph, but we ran out of space).

LIFE'S GREATEST BUSINESS

One of the old Saxon king out with an army to put down rebellion in a distant province. When the insurrection had been quelled and the rebels defeated, the king placed a candle over the arch of the castle where he had headquarters. Lighting the candle he announced through a herald all those who had been in rebellion against him that all who surrendered and took the oath of loyalty would be spared. The king offered his clemency and mercy, but the offer was limited to the life of the candle. Every great offer of and of time has its candle limitations.

The Bible tells us, "Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, upon Him while He is near." seek the Lord is life's great, most neglected business. I give their time and energy strength and enthusiasm to other things and other quests, that which in the end fail and betray and disappoint the soul.

But God never disappoints. His bread that He offers is real bread and the water that He offers is water of life. Cardinal Wolsey's dying hour cried, "Had I served my God with half the zeal I served my king, he would not mine age have left me naked in mine enemies." The Waldensian preachers of old sometimes traveled about as merchants and dealers in jewels and precious stones in way of obtaining access to families of the nobility. When they had disposed of their rings and trinkets and were asked if they had nothing more to sell, they answered, "yes we have jewels more precious than any you have seen. We will be glad to show you these also if you will promise not to betray us to the clergy. We have a very precious stone so brilliant that by its light a man may see God. And another which radiates such fire that it endures the heat of God in the heart of its possessor." Then unwrapping their bundles, they brought out a Bible. It is indeed the most precious stone for by its light a man sees God and can find God.

The Globe Sports

Sports At A Glance . . .

BY CPL. HAL FREEMAN

Well, Camp Lejeune's going to have a track team and from the qualifications of the newly-appointed coach it looks as though it's going to be quite a team.

Mentor of the cinder pounders will be First Lt. Donald R. Green, a 2d 90mm AAA Gun Battalion officer. Lieutenant Green recently was recalled to active duty, leaving the post of recreation director of the city of Colton, Calif.

A native of Kewanee, Ill., Lieutenant Green played football end, ran the 880 and performed on the high school basketball team there. He earned three football letters, four track monograms, captured both teams in his senior year and gained all-state gridiron honors. The football team he led won the Northwest Conference title.

At Monmouth (Ill.) College, the lieutenant participated in the same athletic activities and again captained the track and football teams in his final year. He became an all-conference grid end and ran on the mile relay team which still holds the college record.

Graduating in 1942, Lieutenant Green returned to Kewanee High and coached the football team to another Northwest Conference crown. After serving in the Corps for three years, the lieutenant matriculated at the University of Southern California in 1946 and a year later received his Master's degree. He also became football and track coach at Colton High and in three seasons produced two conference track champions and two title-winning cross-country squads.

A division memorandum last week indicated the Second Marine Division will enter the Atlantic Fleet Athletic Championships to be held at Norfolk. The schedule: Bowling, March 19; Boxing, April 23; Golf, July 23; Wrestling, April 2; Tennis, June 25 and softball, August 20.

Only division and attached FMF personnel are eligible. Marine Barracks and school personnel CAN NOT perform on these teams. Marines interested in participating or coaching on the squads should contact WO E. R. Aikman or Captain J. C. Brennan at 5384.

There'll be plenty of basketball here in the next few weeks. On March 5-6-7, Lejeune, Cherry Point and the Charleston Zippers.

Lejeune Amateur TKO's Pro In Ring

WILMINGTON, N. C., Feb. 17—O. V. Taylor, Jacksonville, Fla. native who claims the Golden Gloves welterweight championship of Georgia, TKO'd Andy Depaul in the third round of a five-round bout last night in an all-Marine boxing program for benefit of the Damon Runyon Memorial Cancer Fund.

Taylor ran after Depaul for two rounds, then landed a right uppercut that knocked the latter. Taylor was awarded a TKO when Depaul, reputed junior welterweight pro champion of the midwest, failed to answer the bell for the third round.

James Sylvester won a split decision over Lou Garcia in a light-weight match that drew most applause from the crowd. In a middle-weight tussle, Moose Cutri outclassed Charlie Morse.

Chuck Babcock, another middle-weight, floored Richard Buckley for an eight count in the first round before gaining a split decision. In the final lightweight test, Joe Brown won a split decision over Johnny Jones, although the latter was the aggressor. Jones, however, was downed once and dazed several times.

Along with the boxers from Camp Lejeune, a judo team from the Marine base participated. Frank Hubbard, holder of the second degree black belt, thrilled the audience with skill and deftness. Dan (Red) Cassell, who wears the green belt, and Clarence Butts, a white belt wearer, were other performers. Veteran Wilmington ring followers showed the exhibition the finest judo show ever held in the Port City.

Atlantic Reserve Fleet will play at Goettge Memorial Field House in the Northern division finals for the Sixth Naval District title. The district tourney, with the Northern, Southern and Western titlists competing, will be held here March 9-10-11.

Camp Lejeune will be host for the All-Marine East Coast Basketball Tourney March 12-17. That'll give everyone another look at the top-flight Quantico and Parris Island teams. The winner will leave by air March 20 for the East-West title tourney which will be in California March 22-23-24.

Daily practice is the program of the baseball squad and the club should be pared to 30 men by Saturday. Our coaches have a lament, however "We need pitchers and catchers," they say.

Army Lt. Arnold Galiffa, 1949 All-America triple-threat football quarterback at West Point, still is a demon passer.

A dispatch from Korea tells of Galiffa helping to wipe out attacking Reds by hurling a hand grenade 75 yards. That's more than twice the distance the book says grenades can be thrown accurately. A fellow officer reported, "After Galiffa tossed the apple, I saw one Chinese fly straight up in the air out of his foxhole. Two more jumped up and were cut down."

First Lt. Jim Stevens, ex-Baltimore Orioles pro baseball player, has been named coach of Parris Island's diamond squad. He hit 301, stole 82 bases and scored 122 runs in 1946 to win the International League's Most Valuable Player award. He recently was recalled to active duty.

Track Candidates

Anyone interested in trying out for the Camp Track Team is requested to report to First Lt. Green at the Field House Friday at 7 p.m. ad Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Quantico Boxers

Cop Novice Title

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 16—The Quantico Marines, for the fourth straight year, captured the novice team championship as Frank Rawlings and Al Siciliano scored victories in the final round of the Golden Gloves tournament last night at Uline arena.

Capt. John Agnew, member of the District Boxing commission, presented the district trophy to Marine coach Freddy Lenn during intermission ceremonies as 4,503 watched.

In coping the novice team title, the Marines amassed 11 points on two victories and one runner-up.

Siciliano clinched the championship for the Leathernecks in the 147-pound battle after Joe Perez, Quantico 118-pound battler had been defeated by Al Morton of the A.C.'s, and Rawlings had TKO'd George Betchel in a lightweight bout. Siciliano score a TKO over Joe Nelson, unattached in the second round after 1:22 of action.

Barney Ross Hurt

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Feb. 17—Ex-Marine and former welterweight boxing champion Barney Ross of New York, was injured when an automobile skidded into a highway railing at Rockhill, near here.

It was reported that Ross suffered a strained back and bruised neck but declined hospital attention.

The American Red Cross opened a recreation club in Pusan, in South Korea, in mid-November. On opening night the club was visited by 10,000 servicemen. The club's facilities, including refreshments and comfort articles, are free to all servicemen.

Six Lejeune Boxers Win, One Defeated

FORT MYER, Va., Feb. 21—Epic Alonzo's TKO of Fort Belvoir's Frank Wheeler in 2:45 of their welterweight bout last night highlighted six Camp Lejeune victories in the opening round of the Middle Atlantic Inter-Service Boxing Tourney here before 4,000.

At 118 pounds, Lejeune's Dorsey Fears won by forfeit over Henry Fisher, Andrews Air Force Base, and at 135 pounds, Steve Pockuba, Lejeune, decisioned Bill Faughn, Jr., Fifth Naval District.

Al Hood, Leatherneck middleweight (160), won by forfeit from James Smith, Little Creek Amphib, and Lejeune's John Jones TKO'd P. J. Logan, Patuxent, Md. Naval Air Station, in the second round in a similar weight bout. Billy Campbell, another Lejeune welterweight, decisioned Ernest Weaver, Fifth Naval District.

Only Lejeune boxer to lose was lightweight Al Fagan who dropped an unpopular decision to Martin Gullory, Fort Lee, Va. Gullory got off the floor to defeat Fagan.

Anglico Leads League

Anglico heads the Tent Camp Intramural Basketball League standings after six weeks of play with an 11-1 record. The Eighth Engineers are second with a 7-3 slate, and Second Automatic Weapons Battalion is third with 6-3.

Anglico score an impressive 57-49 triumph over the Eighth Engineers last week paced by the scoring of Hank Spahn and Bob Replege.

Quantico Wins Twice

Lejeune Loses Teehey, Defeats Bolling, 67-30

By PETE CLAPPER

By a lopsided 67-30 score, Camp Lejeune's basketball team defeated Bolling Air Force Base at Goettge Memorial Field House Friday night. It was the Marines' 25th victory in 28 starts.

More than 200 saw Lejeune center Murray Bullock, six-foot four-inch from Port Henry, N. Y., make 17 points in the second half. His previous high was eight against Eastern Carolina Teachers College February 2.

Following Bullock was teammate Jimmy Smith with 14. High scorer for the Flyers from Washington, D. C., was Cal Calhoun with 10.

Lejeune took the lead immediately with a pair of baskets by Smith and was never threatened. Jim Teehey, Marine center, injured his knee early and officials said he probably will be unable to play the rest of the season.

On February 8 Lejeune downed the Flyers, 68-39, in Washington.

In the second half, Nichols' hot shot held Camp Lejeune powerless. Jimmy Smith of Camp Lejeune scored a set shot but Nichols returned with two more baskets. In the final second Ralph Nofsinger and Sebring tallied for Camp Lejeune but were unable to make up the 20-point margin. Win-Parade Goes By the Boards With First Mat Loss of Season

By HAL FREEMAN
Three consecutive victories in middle weights enabled Appalachian State Teachers College to beat Camp Lejeune's wrestling team 18-13 and snap the Marines' beaten string at five last Wednesday at Goettge Memorial Field use.

Appalachian scored pins in the 7 and 167-pound matches and in the 157-pound bout on a decision to gain a 16-8 advantage. Lejeune needed falls in the 177-pound and heavyweight bouts to (16-16) or a fall and decision (16-16). However, the lightweight match ended in a deadlock and, for the first time in this season, our heavyweight, Bill Harris, won a decision rather than fall.

Appalachian's Frank Waynick ended by defeating Dick Kielinski, 10-3, at 123 pounds, then Charles Barnhart, 130, blanked via referee James Ward, 7-0. Bob Hess, winner by fall the last two times out, again accounted for five points when his opponent, Cliff Ashley, 137, was forced to default because of a muscle contusion of the chest.

Then, trouble started. Lejeune's Hal Hampson, unbeaten in three 14-pound starts, was pinned in 5:00 by Steve Gabriel with a bar arm and body press. Lloyd Moore, 157, led, 4-3, over Appalachian's Neil Finger with 40 seconds left, but lost, 7-4, when the latter scored a reversal and near fall. Wayne York, Appalachian's 167-pound meet captain, followed with a 4-50 pin of Al Dobbeck on a reverse half-nelson and body press.

Martin Saban kept his unbeaten mark intact but allowed it to become somewhat blemished when he wrestled to a 6-6 deadlock with Appalachian's 177-pounder, Joe Hartley. Norris outpointed Jim Wilson, 8-1.

Hampson's loss was a particularly painful setback for it represented a triple defeat. Hampson became the first Lejeune man to be pinned this season and his undefeated string was broken. In addition, he is the first Leatherneck meet captain to be beaten this year.

Wives Hear Concert by Division Orchestra

The Officers' Wives' Club members were treated to an unusually nice and pleasing program Wednesday, February 14, when the 2d Marine Division Band entertained at Valentine's Day Contest in the Camp School Auditorium.

The Program was sponsored by the 2d, 6th and the 8th Marines Officers' Wives' Club group. It opened with a rousing march tune "On The Quarter Deck" and then settled to the sentimental theme of Valentine's Day with the Overture to Sigmund Romberg's "Student Prince." Cpl. David Friedland, recently a Julliard School of Music student, then rendered an excellent Trombone solo of Pryor's "Thoughts of Love."

The popular "Argentine," the haunting and spirited syncopated rhythm of the "Song of The Baou," the lively and amusing Comedian's Gallop, the gay dance of Gypsy origin "Csardas," along with the selections from the favorite Broadway musical, "Carousel," all presented ample opportunity for full appreciation of the Band's musical achievements since organizing last summer.

Orchids, for their display of "lip talent" in Goldman's "Echo Waltz" go to the Cornet Trio, Sgt. George Tripp, Cpl. George David and Cpl. Benjamin Arellano.

As a finale the Band presented its very own composer talent in the rendition of the "Second Marine Division March" written by Cpl. Emery Marx.

To the strains of the "Marine's Hymn," the audience regretfully left the auditorium. Regrettably, because it is seldom that Club members have the opportunity here at Lejeune to enjoy such a well-planned and delightfully presented musical program. Our "thanks" to WO Richard A. Slattery and Bandmaster MSgt. G. M. Dowdy, and to the commentator, Cpl. Charles W. Hold who introduced each selection in typical "Deems Taylor" style.

A Valentine's Day Tea followed the concert and the River Room was the scene of "hearts and flowers" for the occasion. The refreshments and the decorations all carried out the Valentine's Day theme and the work of the Sponsoring Groups in putting on the complete program was much appreciated by all who attended.

Some Guys Will Do Just Anything To Be Able to Avoid the Draft

ST. LOUIS, Feb 17 — The mother of 21-year-old Philip Wyatt, who is serving with a Marine division in Korea, was told today by a St. Louis selective service board that he is subject to arrest as a draft dodger.

Mrs. Wyatt said she told the board repeatedly that Philip is already in the armed services when mailing induction notices have come to her home.

She said the climax was reached when a board clerk told her her son was subject to arrest unless she brought proof that he was in the Marines. Mrs. Wyatt retorted: "Go ahead. Arrest him and bring him back here. I'd certainly like to see my boy again."

IN HONOR OF G. WASHINGTON

The Washington Monument By Armed Forces Press Service

On September 1, 1796, a man who had led his nation to a rightful place in the world, published a Farewell Address to the American people.

It was a speech that endured the ravages of history, for it contained a message written with the foresight of a great President—George Washington.

His words intended to show why he could not consider the honor of running for office once again. They did more—

... in the discharge of this trust I will only say that I have, with good intentions, contributed toward the organization and administration of the government the best exertions of which a very fallible judgment was capable. . . .

While declining to run, Washington felt his years of duty obligated him to tell the people his hopes, dreams and advice for the young nation.

The nation pauses Feb. 22 to remember George Washington.

Hornet Reactivated

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 — The USS Hornet, fighting 27,000 Essex-class carrier whose pilots once shot down 67 enemy planes in a single day of Pacific fighting during World War II, is being taken out of "moth balls," the Navy announced yesterday.

Courthouse Bay News

By BETTY MCKENNA

We at Courthouse Bay were sorry last week to learn that Lt. Col. E. C. Woods is leaving us. Colonel Woods will be missed not only by the officers and men under his command, but by all his friends on the base. His new assignment takes him to his hometown of Norfolk, Va., and will enable him to be with his family.

Among the farewell activities honoring Colonel Woods before he left was a parade and review last Friday of the Second Amphibian Tractor Battalion, and a buffet dinner dance last Saturday evening given by the officers of the battalion at the Little Club at Courthouse Bay.

At the dinner, Maj. W. L. Peck presented Colonel Woods with a watch from the officers of the battalion. Honorary guests at the dinner included Lt. Col. and Mrs. T. W. Brundage and Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. T. O'Neill.

Mrs. S. L. Stephan and Mrs. J. T. O'Neill entertained the wives of the officers here at Courthouse Bay at a coffee in Mrs. O'Neill's quarters recently. It was a pleasant get-together which we plan to repeat in the near future.

Lt. and Mrs. John L. O'Rourke, who were house guests of Captain and Mrs. J. D. McKenna last week on their return from El Paso, Tex., have left for a 15-day stay at their home in Forest Hills, N. Y.
