

Hospital Corpsman To Tank Coxswain A Month Of Uneasy Lessons

By HUGH GIBSON

Jean, be-medaled Texan may be first Navy medic ever to sit in the driver's seat of a Marine tank as his regular battle on.

Hospital Corpsman Second Class Frank J. Perry, Jr., who wears a blue galaxy of stars on his 13 buttons, won that post at Seoul in a bloody apprenticeship that began at the Inchon landing.

Attached to the Anti-Tank Company of the First Marine Regiment, Perry found himself riding in a jeep commanded by Staff Sgt. Bud Hibbs when the Marines began their amphibious invasion.

There wasn't room for me when the jeep was fired, so I had to jump off at the time they opened up with their 90mm gun," the 29-year-old Perry said here at the Naval Hospital this week.

Perry's off-again-on-again role as a medic ended only until Inchon was secured. Hibbs promoted him to asstant driver for the advance to Seoul.

"I didn't know anything about driving at first," Perry admitted, "but I got a little practice by relieving the regular driver every now and then while he rested."

Between his regular medical duties and the chores of a tank crewman, the tall Texan was one of the busiest men in the First Marine Division those days.

"I kept a supply of blood plasma in every tank we had," Perry said. "We were away up there ahead of the jeep ambulances and I could fix the guys up right after they were hit."

"Sometimes we would take on a load of wounded and I would treat them while we were on the way back to an aid station."

Perry held the assistant driver's post until the day after they fought their way into the South Korean capital. He was promoted to regular driver in the middle of the wild battle for Seoul.

"I'd never driven a tank with the hatches closed, and told Bud so," Perry explained.

"Never mind that, Doc," Hibbs told me, "get in there and drive her."

"I drove until 5:30 that afternoon and did all right. After that, I was Hibbs' regular driver."

Perry's tank-driving career came to an abrupt end when the First Marine Division landed at Wonsan for the invasion of North Korea. Hibbs' tank remained at Wonsan.

Maj. Gen. Thomas Presented Stars Upon Promotion

Maj. Gen. Gerald C. Thomas presented his commission in an formal ceremony held at the home of Maj. Gen. Ray A. Robinson, Commanding General, Second Marine Division and Camp Lejeune Wednesday evening, Jan. 24.

Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, Commandant of Marine Corps Quantico, who made the presentation, also presented Gen. Thomas with his flag and stars grade.

The host of honored guests who witnessed the promotion ceremony included Mrs. Franklin A. Hart, Ray A. Robinson, Mrs. Gerald Thomas, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. William J. Whaling, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. John T. Selden, Col. and Mrs. John B. Cresswell, Col. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Brown, Col. and Mrs. Reynolds H. Hayden, Col. and Mrs. Gordon Hall, ret., Col. James Keating, Capt. and Mrs. Calvin Galloway, USN, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frank P. Hager and First Lt. John R. Coon, Jr., Aide to Commanding General.

General Thomas is Commanding General of the Marine Corps Landing Force Development Center at Quantico.

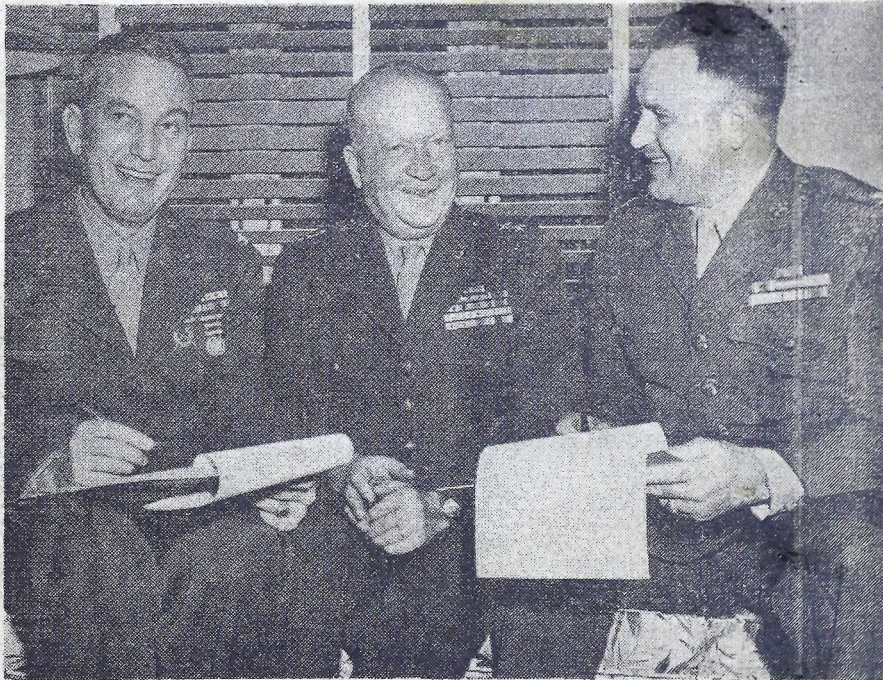

Col. Gordon Hall Named Civilian Defense Head

JACKSONVILLE, N. C. — Col. Gordon Hall, ret., was formally named director of the local civilian defense council in a special session of the town board of aldermen last week.

Colonel Hall, in outlining what Mayor Herbert Eastwood and members of the board described as a "well-outlined program," pointed out that, in time of war, Jacksonville could possibly be a target.

The town, he said, "could be a dumping ground for enemy aircraft in the event they were driven away from more key targets of Lejeune, Wilmington or Morehead City."

Because of the proximity of Jacksonville to Camp Lejeune, Colonel Hall sat in on a discussion of measures to be taken in the event of disaster at the Marine Base.

Smiles were the order of the evening as Col. Wilmer E. Barnes, (left) and Frank P. Hager sign the acceptance of their promotion in the presence of Maj. Gen. Ray A. Robinson at ceremonies held at the home of the Commanding General on Friday evening. Also present at the ceremonies were Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Hager. (Photo by Sgt. Neal Boenzi).

Drive Continues

The March of Dimes campaign has been extended until February 7. Don't neglect your opportunity to contribute.

Wilmington, N. C. Has New Recruiting Office

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 28 — Tech. Sgt. Raymond D. Jurgensen, Purple Heart veteran of the Iowa Jima campaign, has been assigned to the Wilmington Marine recruiting office for duty. Capt. M. D. Smith, Jr., of Raleigh, announced today.

Captain Smith is director of recruiting for the state. Jurgensen will work with Tech. Sgt. William A. Mitchell who has been in charge of the station since it opened a few days ago in room 13 of the Post Office building.

A graduate of the Marine Corps recruiting school at Parris Island, S. C., the non-commissioned officer previously served as a rifle instructor at Quantico. More recently, he was attached to the Second Marine division at Camp Lejeune and while there visited Italy, Greece, France, Malta, Gibraltar and Tripoli during a cruise of the Mediterranean sea.

Less Marines In Korea Than In Camp Lejeune

There are, apparently, four times as many Marines serving at Camp Lejeune than there are in Korea. Over where the fighting is thick, a recent dispatch reveals that a lone Marine mortar gunner exacted a heavy toll of Chinese Reds. He was identified as Pfc Houston D. Marine.

At Camp Lejeune, Houston's brother, Cpl. Alonza W. Marine, signs the payroll of the 2d AAA Battalion. Other Marines on duty at Camp Lejeune are Tech. Sgt. Joseph N. Marine, Sgt. Victor J. Marine and Cpl. Edward E. Marine.

Promotions Go To Four Generals Eight Colonels, 38 Lt. Colonels

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — The Marine Corps announced yesterday the promotion of four brigadier generals to major general, eight colonels to brigadier general, and 38 lieutenant colonels to colonel.

The new major generals are General C. Thomas, commanding general of the Landing Force Development Center, Quantico; Henry D. Linscott, Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, Washington, D. C.; Edward A. Craig, assistant division commander for the 1st Marine Division, in Korea; and Christian F. Schilt, Chief of Staff, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, Norfolk, Virginia.

Promoted to brigadier general are James H. Strother, Depot of Supplies, San Francisco; James P. Riseley, Professor of Naval Science, Princeton University; Gregon A. Williams, Chief of Staff, 1st Marine Division; Frank H. Lamson-Scribner, assistant director, Division of Aviation, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps; William J. Scheyer, assistant director, Division of Personnel, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps; Albert D. Cooley, director of the Junior School, Marine Corps Education Center, Quantico; Lewis B. Puller, commanding the 1st Marine Regiment in Korea; and Robert O. Bare, Chief of Staff, Marine Corps Education Center, Quantico.

The new colonels are 38 lieutenant colonels selected for promotion in February 1950. Forty-four new lieutenant colonels and 47 new majors, also selected early last year, were promoted. Awaiting promotion are 90 lieutenant colonels and 221 majors selected last fall for higher grade.

Maj. Walter Wells Promoted To Lt. Col.

In a ceremony held Friday afternoon at the office of Col. W. S. Brown, C.O. of the Tenth Marines, Maj. Walter C. Wells, C.O. of the Tenth's 4th Bn., was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Colonel Wells, a native of Amityville, L. I., N. Y., is a veteran of ten years of Marine Corps service. He first received a Reserve commission in February, 1941, and was awarded a regular commission three months later.

He was with the First Provisional Marine Brigade in Iceland in 1941, and later served with the 9th Defense Battalion on Guadalcanal, New Georgia and Guam.

His artillery experience includes two years as a Field Artillery instructor at MCS, Quantico, and two years with the 11th Marines on the West Coast.

Before being transferred to the Second Marine Division in August, 1950, the Colonel was Inspector-Instructor of the 1st 155 How. Bn., USMCR, at Philadelphia, Pa.

He is married to the former Pauline Wood, of Lovington, Va. They have two children, Penny 2, and Frederick, 1.

Capt. F. Michaelis Promoted To Major

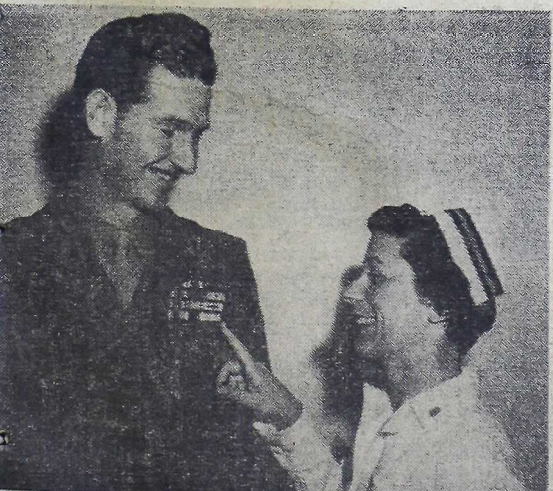

Captain F. T. P. Michaelis, Disbursing Officer of the Tenth Marines, was promoted to the rank of Major in ceremonies held Friday at the office of Col. W. S. Brown, C.O. of the Tenth Marines.

Major Michaelis is a veteran of 26 years of Marine Corps service, including six years with the Legation Guard at Peking, China.

A native of Stillwater, Minn., Michaelis enlisted in the Marine Corps in May, 1924, and served aboard the USS New York, "while she was still a coal-burner."

He was Paymaster of the 29th Marines, Sixth Marine Division in World War II.

Major Michaelis has three children, one of them, Pfc Robert L., is attached to 2d Bn., Second Marines, here at Camp Lejeune.

Tiny Polio Victim Knows Meaning Of Gratitude

BY CPL. SEYMOUR KATZ
Linda Rezendes, daughter of Sgt. Anthony J. Rezendes of the 2d Service Battalion in Tent Camp, is only two and a half years old—but she knows the meaning of gratitude.

In 1949, the disastrous polio epidemic that struck thousands of children all over the East Coast, took a large toll in Linda's home town of Somerville, Mass.

Linda was the youngest child in the town to be stricken.

Her father, then a member of Boston's 2d Reserve Battalion, notified the March of Dimes.

For seven months the organization paid Linda's way through hospitalization, weekly treatments, nurse's care, casts, examination, and every thing else that goes with the medical care of a child ill with infantile paralysis.

It cost her father nothing.

Now Linda is completely cured and her father says this of the March of Dimes:

"I'll never forget what they did for me and my baby. I hate to think of where we'd both be without them. And she got nothing but the finest care. The only trouble with her now is that she runs around TOO much. Her mom can't hold her down."

Well, ever since Linda came down with Polio the Rezendes have been dropping nickels and dimes into her piggy bank.

About a week ago, when the little bank was completely full, they opened it up and found almost $200.

Sgt. Rezendes asked his ter what she wanted to do with the money.

"Want a doll?" Pop asked.

No answer.

"Want some new dress?"

Still no reply.

"Well, what do you want?"

"I wanna give the money to the doctors," was the answer.

So last week the March of Dimes, got a nation from Linda Rezendes' payment for the right and be a nuisance to her

Dependent Care

In last week's Camp Lejeune article appearing under the heading "Family", it was erroneously reported that the March of Dimes, to clarify this matter, the information prepared by the Naval Hospital, is publishing the benefit of those who authorized medical treatment.

Medical officers shall render professional care to dependents those activities which have facilities, including necessary personnel, and which have been authorized by the Bureau to such care. This service is to the authorized dependent naval personnel, including of the Fleet Reserve and components, who present identification. Care may be provided to dependents of members of the U. S. Army and Air Force when and as authorized by directives.

Medical attendance shall be limited to those dependents who side in the station or within reasonable distance thereof shall be determined by the commanding officer.

Except in cases of emergency this professional care will be available only during working hours of the station or office, and it may be accorded without interference with the medical officer's other duties.

Many dependents of this station are insisting on receiving medical care and treatment during normal working hours by the Medical Officer of the Day at the hospital, which are interfering with his normal duties, which are primarily caring for the patients of the hospital.

Facilities for outpatient treatment of dependents at the Naval Hospital, Camp Lejeune, are as follows:

Patients are seen by appointment. Outpatient treatment available 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays except holidays. If a patient that scheduled appointments be kept on the date of the appointment cannot be seen the patient is urged to cancel it or make another appointment for a future date. Emergencies will be seen at any time.

Attention of all personnel is directed to Camp General Order dated January 11, 1951, which contains in detail concerning the care of dependents of personnel of this camp.

Polio Equipment Transport Poses Problem In Logistics

By air, highway and railroad more than $1,000,000 worth of iron lungs, hot-pack machines and other polio therapy equipment has been shipped by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis throughout the United States during the last 12 months, it was reported today by Lt. Col. P. W. John, campaign director of the Camp Lejeune March of Dime appeal.

Cooperating in this 24-hour-a-day, 7-day-a-week flow of equipment to areas where polio struck were the United States Air Force, Military Air Transport Service (MATS), the Air Reserve, the Air National Guard, commercial airlines, railway and express companies and the life-saving crews of civic and fraternal organizations.

Colonel John declared that it cost the National Foundation $200,000 during the last year to maintain and replenish its seven equipment centers and to pay the costs of transporting respirators and other articles and supplies to epidemic areas.

These equipment centers are located in Boston; New York City; Columbus, O.; Portland, Ore.; San Antonio, Tex.; Atlanta, Ga.; and Denver, Colo.; and are never closed the Colonel asserted. Requests for equipment at the Columbus center alone numbered 402 during the year.

More than 450 respirators and 300 hot-pack machines were routed through National Foundation channels last year up to

Newspaper To Feature Lejeune Activities

Mr. Alex Rivera, Durham, N. C., photographer visited Camp Lejeune last Thursday. Mr. Rivera was sent here on an assignment as a representative of the Pittsburgh Courier to obtain information and photographs for a feature story on the activities and duties of colored personnel.

During his visit, Mr. Rivera obtained photographs of colored Marines of the Combat Service Group performing their regular duties, mess hall shots, Pfc. Jimmie Smith, high-scoring forward of the Camp Lejeune basketball team, and Pfc. Jessie Bass, a former member of the Army and Navy, and a Marine Reserve recently called back to duty. Private Bass is thought to be one of the most decorated colored Marines on active duty. He wears the paratrooper insignia, and submarine insignia along with several awards and decorations.

October 1, the director said. In addition, 250 beds and cribs and 2,000 pounds of wool for hot packs were provided. To meet epidemic needs during 1951, the National Foundation must purchase 50 more respirators and other types of equipment at a cost of more than $150,000.

"On June 1, 1950, there were 321 patients in respirators throughout the nation," Colonel John continued. "Most of these were patients from epidemics of 1949 or earlier."

As an example of the speed with which National Foundation equipment is moved during periods of emergency, the Director told how the Air National Guard improvised a polio air-lift during the 1950 outbreak in Ohio.

"The tragic epidemic in Wytheville, Va.," he said, "had passed its peak when a severe outbreak occurred in Ohio. Time was a matter of life or death. There were a few respirators available in Virginia, scarcely any in the Buckeye State. Within a few hours a dozen had been flown by the Air National Guard to the point of need in Ohio from Virginia, Michigan and elsewhere."

"This is only one example among hundreds of similar emergencies. But it is typical of the help given through the March of Dimes," the Colonel concluded.

Schooling Offered In Chemical Defense

Nominations are now open for qualified enlisted men wishing to take a six-week instruction at the Chemical Defense Course in Edgewood, Md.

According to a recent camp memorandum, personnel chosen to take the course must meet the following requirements:

A GCT of 100 and a MAT or PA of 90; a MOS in OF or other MOS's for retraining in accordance with paragraph 7154 of the Marine Corps Manual.

Personnel interested should contact their unit commanders for additional information.

Honor Roll

The following organizations have passed the 100 per cent mark in the annual March of Dimes Campaign. Figuring on a percentage basis, personnel of these organizations have given better than $1.00 per man.

Marines In Korea Smash Ahead In Assault On Polio

By SGT. ROBERT CASE, Combat Correspondent

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA — Leather-necks of the First Marine Division are lining up in force behind the annual "March of Dimes" campaign currently being waged in the United States.

A fund-raising drive is being conducted throughout the division to lend a helping hand to the thousands of crippled children back home. Preliminary reports indicate the drive will be a real success.

For example, one rifle company of the First regiment came up with a phenomenal figure.

Commanded by Capt. Welby W. Cronk, 175 men in the company donated $806, or an average of about $4.50 per man.

One squad of a platoon commanded by First Lt. J. P. O'Connell, gave $130. The squad consists of 13 men.

Sgt. Jack Kennedy, the squad leader, walked from man to man before the collection, lending each of the 13 men a $10 bill.

One weary, "broke" Marine in the company gave all he had—2,000 Korean won. That amounts to 50 cents in American money.

College Graduates Offered Commissions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 — The Marine Corps announced yesterday its first Officer Candidate Course since World War II. The course will enable college graduates with no military experience to become officers.

Qualified graduates, or seniors in accredited colleges who will receive a baccalaureate degree this spring, other than in medicine, dentistry, or theology, and who will be less than 27 years old on July 1, 1951, may write for information to the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps, Washington 25, D. C.

Accepted candidates will be enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve and sent to an intensive 10-week training course at Parris Island this spring and summer. Graduates will be commissioned Second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve and sent to the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, for a five-month basic officers course.

Candidates who fail to qualify for a commission will be given the option of discharge from the Reserve or assignment to active duty in enlisted status.

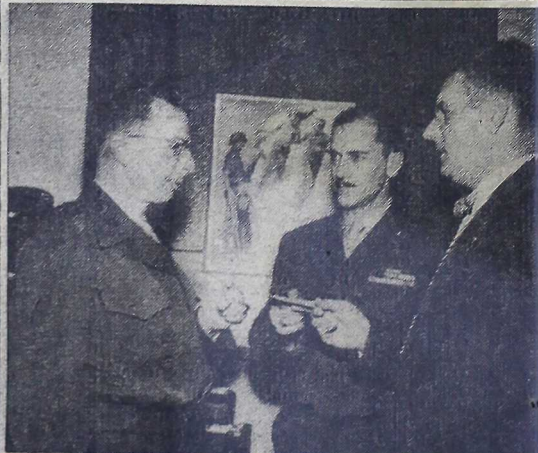

A limited number of graduates of this course may be offered commissions as career Marines.

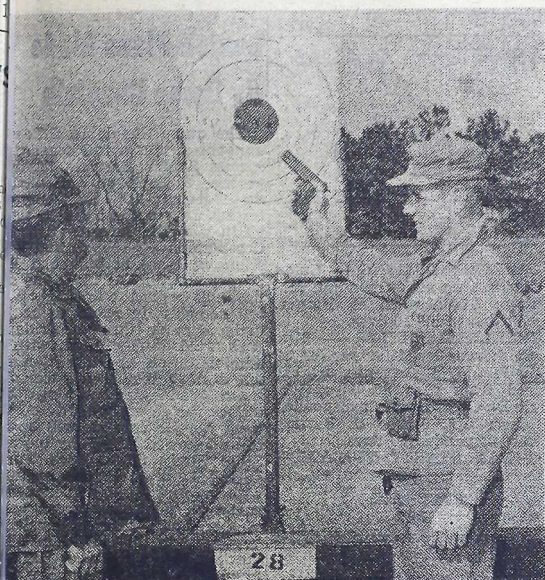

The pretty face belongs to little Linda Rezendes, daughter of Sgt. A. Rezendes of the Second Service Battalion in Tent Camp. The smile on the face is there partially through the aid of the March of Dimes which cured Linda of polio when she was stricken over a year ago.

"Here's how I did it, Colonel," says Pfc. Donald J. Ends Only One Day 'Snapping In' Men Outshoots Outfit With .45

By LEO HAMEL

Young New York City Marine, Donald J. Schenck, E Company, 2d Bn., 8th Marines, earned seven-day leave when he fired 400 last week at the Camp Pistol Range.

Outracking up this score, highest of the Battalion and five points out of the 1950 Pistol Range total, Schenck cashed in on an outfit by Lt. Col. N. E. Sparling, Battalion Commanding Officer.

Colonel Sparling, before taking outfit to the range, had promised a seven-day leave to the top other in each weapon class.

His incentive program paid off three other men of the Battalion whose scores topped the lists carbine, M-1 rifle and BAR.

Pfc. Richard A. Tulay, mortarman, fired 262 out of a possible with the M-2 carbine, and collected seven days at home for his efforts.

Light man with the BAR was

Pfc. Phillippe N. Daugherty, of D Company, who shot 231 for 250.

Pfc. Billy E. Fisher, of F Company, took top honors with the M-1, with 234 out of 250.

Schenck, however, looms as the "Wonder Boy" of the outfit when his shooting experience is considered. The 18-year-old Leatherneck had fired a pistol only "ten or twelve" times before enlisting in the Organized Marine Corps Reserve last July.

Schenck had been attached to New York's 19th Infantry Battalion for exactly two weeks when that outfit was called to active duty. Sent to Parris Island for Recruit training, he barely qualified with the pistol while there.

When the Battalion moved to the range last week, Schenck spent one day "snapping in," and the following day made his bid for top pistol honors. His only comment, when informed that he made the high pistol score, "When does my leave start?"

Pick-Up Stations

It has been noted with deep concern that members of this command are not using the designated pick-up stations when leaving or returning to this Camp. The Commanding General has directed the Post Marshal to "cite" any and all persons who are found soliciting rides on the roads or along the roads at this camp.

For information to "all hands" pick-up stations are located at the following areas:

1. Main Gate.
2. Holcomb Boulevard at Main Gate (outgoing).
3. Holcomb Boulevard at Main Gate (incoming).
4. Intersection of Holcomb Boulevard and Sneads Ferry Road (incoming and outgoing).
5. Black Top apron North East Building No. 904 (Sneads Ferry Road and Michael Road; incoming and outgoing).
6. Intersection of Holcomb Boulevard and Birch Street; North East intersection (outgoing).
7. Holcomb Boulevard across from Building No. 1 (outgoing).
8. Main Gate, Naval Hospital (outgoing), concrete only.
9. Main Service Road in front of Camp Theater (outgoing to Jacksonville or the Beach), concrete only.
10. Main Service Road and Louis Road (N Street) (To Jacksonville or the Beach), concrete only.
11. Intersection of Sneads Ferry Road and Marine Road (12365-1281) (incoming East side).
12. Intersection of Sneads Ferry Road and Onslow Beach Road (incoming and outgoing) (North Side). Drivers are warned not to stop anyone unless they are at a proper pick-up station.

A special word of warning for off camp traveling. Hitch hiking or standing on the travelled portion of the highway is illegal in North Carolina.

Maj. Fuller Promoted To Rank Of Lt. Col.

Lt. Col. Regan Fuller, 31, son of Mrs. Stuart J. Fuller of Washington, D. C., was promoted to that rank during informal ceremonies at Camp Lejeune last week.

Colonel Fuller is currently serving as commanding officer of the 2d Amphibious Reconnaissance Battalion of Fleet Marine Force Atlantic.

After being graduated from Washington's Western High School, Colonel Fuller entered the University of Virginia. While there he enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve and upon graduation in 1940 received a commission as second lieutenant.

During World War II, he served with the Seventh Marine Regiment, 5th Amphibious Corps. He was later assigned duties as a truce observer in Palestine.

The Colonel wears the Silver Star Medal with GO in lieu of a second award, Bronze Star Medal and Navy Commendation Ribbon.

New Service Station Opens In Tent Camp

The Marine Corps Exchange of Camp Lejeune opened a new four-pump gasoline service station at Tent Camp last Saturday.

The station, located near the Second Service Battalion Motor Pool, will sell gas and oil at the same rates as the main service station at Hadnot Point and will operate at the same hours, which are:

- Monday to Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.
- Closed Sunday.

At present the station is selling gas and oil only but grease racks and other facilities will be built in the near future, it was announced.

Marine Jet Flyer Of Cherry Point Killed In Crash

CHERRY POINT, Jan. 26 — A Marine jet fighter pilot was killed in the crash of his plane near Scotland Neck yesterday afternoon, Cherry Point officials announced today.

The pilot was Second Lt. Carl Wilson Seppala, 23. He has a brother, HM-2 James L. Seppala, based with the Sixth Marines, Second Division, Camp Lejeune.

The plane, identified by Maj. E. P. Dunn, public information director, was an F-9F fighter from squadron VMF 115, Second Marine air wing, Cherry Point. The craft exploded near Palmyra tunnelled 20 feet into the ground and disintegrated in a second explosion which scattered wreckage over two acres.

The jet was part of a flight of 16 planes which took off from base about 1:10, bound for Quoriset Point, R. I., the officer reported. Bad weather in the Scotland Neck vicinity forced seven of the planes to return to Cherry Point and eight of the formation landed at Patuxent, Md., he added.

Center is open nightly for information, reading or writing facilities. Rooming information also available.

Marine Students Bail Out As Part Of Air Training

QUANTICO, Jan. 23 — Thirty-one Marines parachuted to earth through the cold January air 30 miles south of Quantico yesterday as a finale to their five months of Flight Equipment Training at the Marine Corps Air Station here.

Capt. James M. Jefferson, Jr., Marine Corps Schools PIO who also made the jump, said that the main discomfort encountered was the chilly ride in the uninsulated and unheated R4D transport plane, and the extremely cold 2000-foot, two-minute descent earthward.

The men used the "free fall" method and pulled their own rip cord rather than use the "static line" system of jumping.

The Captain also stated that a 12 mile-an-hour wind presented the hazard of jumpers being dragged across the rough terrain and possibly being snagged in barbed wire fences surrounding nearby farms. However, no one received more than minor scratches.

Concluding, Captain Jefferson said, "The men had to pack their own chutes, and the fact that all landed safely is evidence enough that all hands were properly trained and did their jobs correctly."

Fighting 'Padre' Returns To Front

CHERRY POINT, N. C. — The "Fighting Padre" of "Guadalcanal Diary" fame, Lt. Commander Francis W. Kelly, who had served here as Senior Catholic Chaplain since July 30, 1950, was recently detached for duty with the First Marine Division.

Father Kelly, who also was portrayed in "The Marines Take Tarawa," a Marine Corps documentary film, will be joining the First Marine Division for the third time when he reports to the West Coast for assignment.

Lt. Commander Kelly is believed to be the first Catholic Chaplain to serve a full cruise with the Marine Corps.

He entered the U.S. Navy in 1942, and hit the beaches at Guadalcanal with the First Marine Division, and he was with the "Old Breed Leathernecks" when they stormed ashore at Tarawa and Okinawa. After 36 months of overseas service in World War II, Father Kelly was discharged in August, 1946, and returned to his home, Upper Darby, Penna.

He was a member of the Organized Marine Corps Reserve after his discharge, attached to the Sixth Infantry Battalion.

When that unit was called to active duty last year, Chaplain Kelly was assigned to Cherry Point, home of the Second Marine Air Wing. He relieved Lt. Commander W. L. McBlain as Senior Chaplain of Cherry Point.

How Not to Recruit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Staff Sgt. John P. Murray, a Marine Corps recruiter, and his wife were watching a night club floor show here when the master of ceremonies interrupted to ask that he go outside and move his car.

"An automobile bearing a Marine Corps recruiting tag is parked over an open manhole outside," the emcee said.

Murray bolted for the door when the announcer added: The repairman would like to come up and go home.

Live Bombs Prove Tough Work For Disposal Squads

Realistic practice in the ticklish job of digging into the earth for live bombs is being afforded the newly formed Second Division Bomb Disposal Squad as it began last week to clear out a former dive bombing practice range between Tent Camp and Rifle Range.

With some of the ready-to-boom missiles sunk as far as fifteen feet in the earth, the squad, under the supervision of First Lt. Charles F. McKenna, has already uncovered more than two dozen of the bombs.

The 100-pound general purpose bombs were dropped into the K Area range from 1943 to early 1950 by dive bombers from Cherry Point airfield and are being cleared away to make the area an amphibious landing maneuver ground.

Lieutenant McKenna, who is attached to the Second Shore Party Bn., said that because of the extreme danger of the work, the squad is receiving "hazard pay."

The five-man squad is comprised of men from the Shore Party Battalion, Second Ordnance Battalion, and the Second Engineer Battalion. All have previous combat experience in extracting the missiles.

Swimming Classes Held For Dependents

Swimming classes for dependents of officers and enlisted men will be held every Saturday morning in the Area 2 Swimming Pool, according to a recent camp memorandum.

The first classes will be for beginners only, it was announced by Sgt. George Michel, pool staff chief.

The instruction schedule will be as follows:

- Children (over 48 inches tall) from 9 to 10 a.m.
- Adults from 10:30 to 11 a.m.

Children taking the course must be accompanied by an adult who will remain until the class is over.

For further information call 5491.

100-Pound aerial "duds" are prepared for detonation by Second Division Bomb Disposal experts. The missiles are being cleared from "K" Area, formerly used by Marine pilots for dive bombing practice. More Brain - Less Pain

We got a great, big, fat chuckle out of a highly peevish Marine who returned from the Jacksonville Courthouse last week minus nearly 35 bucks as a result of being nabbed while speeding outside of Richlands a few days before.

He blasted everything in North Carolina from the State Police to Southern Fried Chicken.

"Half of a month's pay!" he bellowed. "They wouldn't even give me abreak for being a serviceman. Those lousy —etc."

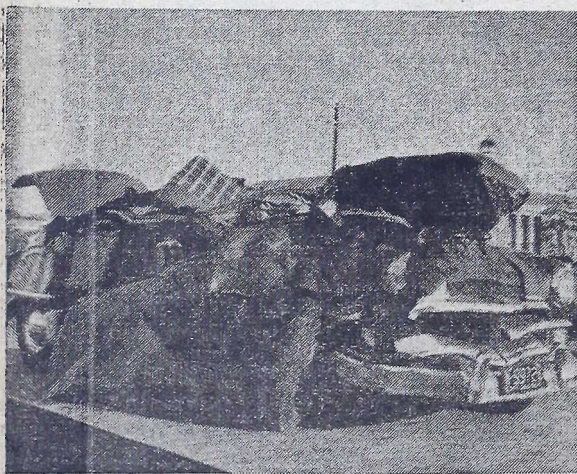

A sackmate, tired of the tirade, rolled over and gently asked, "What if you got into an accident and maybe killed somebody? Then you'd holler that there ain't no cops around to prevent them. You are a jerk. J-E-R-K. Jerk."

That was all to the conversation.

Now most of us get a big kick out of speeding. When there's plenty of room left for the gas pedal to travel and the roads are wide and clear it's a pretty natural temptation. We've all succumbed to it sometime, but the fact that we're still wearing boondockers instead of wings proves that we've got the good sense to make it a rare occasion instead of an every trip habit.

Speeding is stupid. To save a minute you can lose your car, your life, your future.

In the Hadnot Point traffic circle you can see what we mean. A shiny new car completely demolished. A car that some guys with a little less money dream about. Maybe the driver of that car wasn't at fault. But someone was.

Take a good look at that convertible. Stop and inspect it. Look at the crushed fenders and the mashed body. Soak it all in. Then use your head a little bit more and the accelerator a little bit less. The next car might be yours.—Seymour Katz.

DON'T BE A JACKASS
There is a story about a don that had, he thought, to work a lot and do more than his share work. One day he found a lion skin. He admired the power the aggressive beast, once clawed, possessed. A thought came him: "Ah, I am here alone uns by my fellow creatures. This is opportunity to dominate them. be a lion."

He dressed himself in the lion skin and set out to find "Prince" the horse, which he insisted, he pulled his share of the load. would make old "Prince" run. located his victim feeding quiet in the pasture and sneaked up him. He was almost beside before he detected the intruder. What a scare the old nag got! let out a neigh and a snort, jump high into the air, and tore ac the field followed by a cloud of dust. The donkey laughed until sides ached.
Old "Gip," the grouchy dog, ing the lion ran yelping, crying and throwing the whole farmy into consternation. The donkey gan to forget that his power dominate was not himself, but what others thought him to until he met "Rudy" the fox. fox responded by swift runn and brief stops to scrutinize aggressor. The sly, crafty fox observed lions all his life, and tected something lacking in pursurer. The donkey determi to frighten the fox raised his h to roar, but only a bray ca forth. Turning to the panic stric animals the fox said, "This is lion, but the lazy jackass. I susp ed him by his weak imperson of power. He lacks not only a lic courage, but even a lion's roar."
You must draw your own conclusions, space permits my say only this, "Don't be a jackass!"

Lejeune Boxers Snare Carolina AAU Trophy

By PETE CLAPPER

GREENVILLE, S. C., Jan. 27 — Camp Lejeune's mittmen brought home the Open Class Team Trophy today from the Carolinas' Amateur Athletic Union Boxing Championships here.

The Marine boxers garnered open class honors in the Bantam, Feather and Welterweight classes. Lejeune also won Open Class runner-up awards in the light, light heavy, and heavyweight divisions.

Setting pace for the Marines was lightning-fast bantamweight Dick Williams, who completely out-classed Billy Short, of Charlotte, N. C.

Some 5000 fight fans in Greenville's Textile Hall saw Bill Mickulecky box Earle Peake, of Greenville, to a standstill for the featherweight title.

Smartest bout of the tournament was turned in by welterweight Billy Campbell in a close decision over Clarke McKee, of Greenville.

Williams opened a flurry of blows to Short's body and head. In the second round he shook Short with hard rights to the face. At the final bell Williams was still pummeling Short steadily.

Featherweight Mickulecky felt out his opponent briefly and scored a knockdown within the first minute. From then on the Marine's know-how dominated the ring. In the second canto Mickulecky's left jabs staggered Peake. The Marine drew blood from Peake's nose in the last round with a series of powerful rights.

Lejeune's welterweight Campbell duelled McKee at long range in the first round. Both fighters connected with jabs, but Campbell was the more powerful.

In the first two minutes of his semi-final bout, Joe Fagan, Marine lightweight, kayoed Manuel Harrison, of Whitmire, S. C. The Marine, however, went down for the count in the second round of his final fight with Charlotte's Ronald Short.

Frank Soave, Lejeune's light heavyweight, decided Jimmie Mathews, of Charleston, S. C. in the semi-finals, but lost his championship bout on a split decision to Jack Cassidy, of Winnsboro, S. C.

In the heavyweight department, Lejeune's Mike Kobek, decided by Greenville's Charlie Hart in the finals, outboxed and outclassed Rex Truex, of Charlotte, for the semi-final nod.

Orlando Cutri, Marine middleweight, lost the semi-final decision to Carle Flowe, of Charlotte, in a bout featuring wild exchanges.

CWO Joe Karlage, coach of the mittmen, accepted the team award at ringside after the final fights.

SEMI-FINALS

Theaters Needlessly Jammed For Hit Shows

Despite juggled movie schedules and extra showings of hit pictures, Camp Special Services reports indicate that many troops are turned away each night from their own area theaters.

The situation has arisen because of the large number of persons who "jump the gun," and, instead of waiting for the movies to show at their own area theater, flock to the first showing of the movie, wherever it may be.

Area Theaters are primarily for the use of personnel from that area, and when large groups of men from other units attend these movie houses, it creates a hardship for the men who are entitled to attend.

The seating capacity of Lejeune's ten movie houses is over 9,000 for each performance, and, according to Special Services, the largest attendance on any recent Sunday saw only 50 per cent of the total capacity.

Cooperation of all hands is urgently requested in this matter. Attend the movies-but do it in your own area, at the time scheduled for your group.

NCCS News

Pfc. Peter Olsaver was elected chairman of the reorganized Program Council at the group's meeting last Monday. Pfc. Mona Young was named secretary.

The council will meet again on Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. to discuss and complete plans for a Valentine's Day Ball on Feb. 14.

Reporters are needed for the bi-weekly newspaper, "The Scoop," the NCCS official bulletin.

A Monday Night Pinochle Club was started to supplement the highly successful Saturday night group. Members are still needed.

Pfc. William P. Andres of Anglico won the weekly ping pong tourney last Friday. The matches are held every week on Friday at 8 p.m.

An orchestra will play for the weekly Wednesday night dances while music for the Saturday night dances will be supplied by record.

Sunday's program includes a quiz show at 7:30 p.m. and a feature movie, Highway No. 13.

Roller skating is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Presbyterian J. C. Bows To Gagemen

Camp Lejeune used their reserve squads all the way Tuesday night here, whipping the Presbyterian Junior College, 83-46, to chalk up their 17th victory in 20 starts.

Ralph Nofsinger of Lejeune was high man with 19 points while teammate Chuck Leach hit for 15.

Marine Sergeant Tops In Army Training Base

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J. —Marine Sgt. John W. Nichols was recently chosen honor student of the month at the Teletype Maintenance School at this Army training base.

The award is based on academic rating, conduct, efficiency and performance of duty. A copy of the citation presented to Sergeant Nichols has been forwarded to the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Sergeant Nichols is a veteran of Iwo Jima, where he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal. His most recent overseas duty was at Tsingtao, China.

THE AVERAGE MARINE IS OFT-TIMES AMAZED BY THE RULES, REGS AND BY-LAWS THAT GOVERN HIS DAYS; HIS CLOTHING, HE FINDS, MUST BE WORN "BY THE BOOK" IT'S SHINE, "SPIT AND POLISH" FOR THAT LEATHERNECK LOOK.
