Could Go On Over; Who's Relieving Who

Surprising things happen in the modern age of jet-propelled warfare and nuclear... and the Marine Corps Base at Camp Lejeune, N. C. is no exception.

He surprised expressed the face of Staff Sergeant L. W. Lear as he turned from the complexities of the switchboard at Camp Lejeune Communication Section today, and gazed nonetheless surprised at Private First Class Eleanor Woman Marine, who was relieving him of his duties. The query, of, "Haven't you someplace before?" Lear raked his already used thinking machinery, the familiar-looking telephone operator who said, "Move sarge, I'm your replacement."

His mind went racing back, utterance of those words, in April, 1946 when in the surroundings, in fact, the same switchboard, the situation had been reversed. He believed, none other than the eyes who was now relieving both operators talking at the process of renewing old dances, it was discovered after being relieved by S/Sgt. L. W. Lear was then a Private, Pfc. had been discharged from service and returned to her occupation as switchboard operator for the New England Bell Telephone Company in Boston.

Marines Capture Korean Flag In Assault On Fort

Washington, D. C.—"U. S. Marines capture Korean battle flag," was the headline that blazed the front page of newspapers about the United States, as a assault force of 105 Marines of a Korean Fort in June, 1950.

The incident had its beginning in 1871, when Koreans fired ships of a friendly American Mission as it steamed up the river. Admiral John Rogers, leading the small American fleet, waited ten days for an apology, and then ordered an attack of retaliation against Korean forts along the river. An expeditionary force of 651 men, with 105 Marines forming an assault spearhead, added and captured two forts in a minimum amount of resistance. The following morning, advance on the main fort began. The ensuing battle turned a bitter hand-to-hand combat with the deadly accuracy of Marines turning the tide of the battle, and the Navy and Marines recaptured the fort. Two Marines, Corporal Brown and Private [Name], succeeded in capturing the fort's red and yellow battle flag. Both men were awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for their part in the engagement.

American soldiers destroyed the spiked the cannon, and tore the walls before returning their shells. The toll of the battle: 200 Korean dead, and three Americans killed along with seven

Switchboard Reunion

History repeats itself at the switchboard of the Camp Lejeune Communication Section as Pfc. Eleanor Keyes relieves S/Sgt. Roy W. Lear. It was back in 1946 when the reverse occurred with S/Sgt. Lear relieving Pfc. Keyes as the WR's were being prepared for discharge. Since then Pfc. Keyes has been a switchboard operator for the New England Bell Telephone Co. in Boston and only recently was called in with the 2nd Infantry Battalion for extended active duty. S/Sgt. Lear has been with Communication Section since 1946. (Photo by S/Sgt. J. D. Smith)

VA Explains Benefits Of Loans To Veterans

Areas of the country in which 4 percent mortgage financing is lacking, and in which eligible veterans of World War II may qualify for direct government mortgage loans as provided by a recent Act of Congress, were designated today by the Veterans Administration.

The eligible areas, virtually all of which are outside metropolitan centers, include about 2,200 of the 3,100 counties in the United States. It is estimated that about 4,000,000 veterans, or 30 percent of those still eligible for GI loan benefits, reside in those areas.

The Housing Act of 1950 made available $150,000,000 for such direct home loans to veterans, effective after July 19, in areas where V-A found that 4 percent financing from private sources is not obtainable. In addition to location in such an area, the following conditions must be met:

1. The veteran must not previously have used any part of his GI loan guaranty entitlement;
2. The loan may not exceed $10,000;
3. The veteran must be a satisfactory credit risk, and the monthly payments on his mortgage must bear a proper relationship to his income.
4. He must show that he is unable to obtain 4 percent financing from other sources, including loans from the Secretary of Agriculture in the case of farm housing.

As in the case of other GI loans, the V-A direct loan bears 4 percent interest, may be made repayable over periods up to 30 years, and the veteran receives a gratuity credit of 4 percent of the amount which ordinarily would have been guaranteed by V-A, up to a maximum of $160.

Most V-A offices have at least one guaranty or part of a county

U. S. Navy To Hold Officers; Cite MarCorps Needs

Washington (AFPS)—Resignations submitted by Regular and Reserve officers will be "held in abeyance" because of the present Korean situation, the Navy recently announced.

Reserve officers' requests for transfer from active to inactive duty will not be approved, the Navy said, "except where it is determined that the service of the officer concerned will not be necessary to meet immediate or future mobilization requirements."

The restriction on separation of personnel also applies to the Marine Corps, which announced it will call 50,000 of its 80,000 volunteer Reserve force to active duty before October 31.

The chief Marine Corps requirement is for Reserve officers of the rank of captain and lower, and enlisted men up to the grade of sergeant.

Officers requesting retirement after 30 years of service will not be affected, the Navy said. The restriction on voluntary separation is expected to save the Navy about 1,700 officers who otherwise would have been lost within the next year.

Truman Sees Victory As UN Battles Block

On a hot mid-August afternoon the White House dispatched a courier with a message to President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of South Korea.

The message was sent by President Harry S. Truman on the second anniversary of the proclamation of the Republic of Korea and said in part:

"I know that the aggressor will be repelled and that the people of Korea will achieve the freedom and independence which are their natural right. By a staunch adherence to the principles of right and democracy, victory is assured."

But this was not the only optimistic statement pertaining to the Korean crisis.

OPTIMISTIC NOTE

In Korea, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Commanding General of the U. S. Eighth Army, summed up the furious Battle of the Beachhead in these words:

"The fight is not finished, but I am pretty sure now we will hold the beachhead we need."

And in Washington, Presidential Assistant Averell Harriman, recently returned from Japan, told a news conference that General Douglas MacArthur was confident of victory and that the morale of our troops in Korea is good.

"They are waiting for time and chance to counter-attack and destroy the enemy," Mr. Harriman said.

While national leaders expressed optimism as to the ultimate outcome of the war in Korea, Russia continued her obstructionist tactics in the United Nations.

At Lake Success, U. S. Representative Warren Austin told the Security Council that the freedom, and independence of Korea had been blocked by the Soviet Union and the authorities in North Korea.

WHY WE FIGHT!

He declared that the determination of the United Nations to insure that Korea shall be free, unified, and independent of outside influence from any great power, on or off the continent, has never wavered.

That, he said, "is what the United Nations Forces are fighting to uphold today in Korea."

The American delegate said it was apparent to anyone with a knowledge of warfare that the invasion by the North Koreans was "carefully planned and had been prepared over a long period of time."

"I am sure," he continued, "the distinguished representative of the Soviet Union will agree that it must have taken many months to train the drivers and gunners who are now massacring their fellow countrymen and defying the United Nations."

Another important development at Lake Success came when the United Nations Commission for Korea said it thought the "strongest possible voice should be raised throughout the whole civilized world in protest against North Korea's delay in giving Red Cross supervisory protection to prisoners of war, non-combatant captives, and wounded." ## Corps Outlines Mobilization Plan

The Marine Corps has called to active duty all of its Organized Reserve Ground units. It has called certain selected units of its Organized Reserve Aviation.

On August 8th an announcement was made concerning the calling up of the Volunteer Reserve. The following policy will govern the ordering up of officers and enlisted men of the Volunteer Reserve category.

The Volunteer Reserve are those Reservists who are not members of Organized Reserve Units or Fleet Marine Corps Reserves.

OFFICERS—GROUND

Within the next few days, Headquarters Marine Corps will begin sending out orders, via District Reserve Directors, to male officers in the grades of Captain and Lieutenant. These officers will have combat-type specialties and, for the most part, will be under 31 years of age. The currently planned total number of officers, to be called to active duty by July 1951, is approximately 2300. The majority of these officers will report for duty during the months of September and October.

A number of officers in this category have already requested active duty. Any officer in this category who desires to volunteer is urged to do so.

OFFICERS—AVIATION

No officer pilots of the Volunteer Reserve are being called at this time.

Approximately 300 non-pilot officers, with aviation specialties will be called. These officers will be principally from the grades of Captain and Lieutenant.

New Enlistment Campaign Opens

The Marine Corps, traditionally manned by volunteers, this week opened a new enlistment program for Reservists who do not want to become regular Marines.

The period of enlistment is indefinite. Men with no prior military service, between the ages of 18 and 32, may sign up at any Marine Corps Recruiting station if they meet requirements. They will be enlisted in the Volunteer Reserve, placed on extended active duty "in excess of 30 days" and sent immediately to "boot" camp for training.

Under the latest Marine Corps directive, a former Marine who qualifies can walk into the nearest Leatherneck post or station and sign up for his initial duty assignment there. Former Marine enlistees with aviation experience will be sent to Cherry Point, N. C., or to El Toro, Calif., whichever is nearer their place of enlistment.

Meanwhile, the Marines lowered the minimum "hitch" in the regulars from four years to three years.

Applications For Navy Mutual Aid Assn' Suspended

(Editors Note: The following are excerpts from a letter written by Captain B. M. Dobson, Secretary and Treasurer of the Navy Mutual Aid Association.)

A special called meeting of the Board of Directors of the Association was held July 31, 1950, to give consideration to the possible impact of emergency conditions, created by the Korean crisis, on the Association.

Applications for membership in the Association had not radically increased during the month of July. Of itself this increase was not alarming. However, in view of the fact that most commercial insurance companies have adopted restrictions or exclusion policies affecting military personnel, it was believed that the inevitable result would be an unnatural increase in applications at an early date resulting in an unwarranted assumption of new anti-selection risks. Therefore after due deliberation the following resolution was adopted:

"Until further action of the Board of Directors, no applications for membership in the Association shall be accepted which, if mailed, bears a postmark after 31 July, 1950, or which, if otherwise delivered, is not received in the office of the Association before 31 July, 1950."

This timely action was taken before the position of the Association had been jeopardized and with the belief that it was necessary to protect the interests of the present members of the Association and their dependents to whom the Board recognizes its primary responsibility.

Staff NCO Club Members Enjoy Pantomime Artist

Proof that talent is no respecter of age or rank became undeniably evident last Friday night at the Staff NCO Club when Pvt. Eugene L. Ricketts went through his clever and well organized routine of imitations.

Pvt. Ricketts, a member of "D" Company, 8th Infantry Battalion, was ordered from his home in Altoona, Pa. to extended active duty on August 14 and only encouragement from fellow reservists caused him to bring his costumes and other equipment with him—and he's mighty glad he did.

Since he was 15, Pvt. Ricketts has been entertaining, and after his graduation from high school. He made it a full time job. At first he used to don a costume and imitate a celebrity with his own voice but now, after critical friends advised him differently, he uses recorded voices and moves his lips to give the illusion that he is actually doing the singing.

And his efforts are excellent, too. Reports from members of the Staff NCO Club show that Ricketts was enthusiastically received and has been booked for numerous other shows within the past week.

His specialties are imitations of Al Jolson and Danny Kaye, but upon questioning, he admitted he'd try imitations of anyone the crowd desired.

If you'd guessed that his Marine Corps interest is Special Services, you'd be right, but the fact that he has never been to boot camp has thrown a monkey wrench into his plans. While being classified, he asked for a Special Service MOS but was told it could be assigned only after he'd finished recruit training. As is the case with most newly arrived reservists, he is still a little confused about his future.

Currently, Ricketts is bunked in at Barracks 118 along with the rest of "D" Company. His big question is "How long will I be here?"

Before his return address became c/o USMC, he lived at 1832 Fourteenth Avenue with his mother, Mrs. McAlarney, in Altoona.

Loans

designated as an eligible area. However, in 8 offices no direct loans were authorized. These offices serve Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, and the greater metropolitan areas of New York City, Philadelphia, and Washington, D. C.

The 67 V-A regional offices which administer the GI loan guaranty program in their respective regions have been furnished a detailed listing of the areas in which veterans may apply for direct loans.

Veterans who wish to apply for a direct home loan should write to the Loan Guaranty Officer at the nearest V-A regional office, stating the location and price of the property and the amount of the loan which will be required to finance the purchase or construction of the home. The V-A office will supply an application form.

The areas designated as eligible for direct loans were selected on the basis of records showing the relative unavailability of GI home loans for veterans from private sources, as well as upon the recommendations of the regional loan guaranty officers who are familiar with current lending activity in their regions.

V-A stresses that the mere submission of an application for a direct loan does not assure that it will be granted, even if the property desired is in a designated area. Both the property and the credit of the veteran will have to meet V-A standards.

V-A cautioned each veteran not to invest in land or materials or make a deposit on the assumption that he will receive a direct loan. Every applicant should wait until he hears from the V-A Regional Office handling his application.

V-A indicated that if time and funds permit, changes in the list of designated areas for direct loans will be made as the availability of private capital improves or falls below acceptable standards.

Of the $150,000,000 made available for direct loans, $100,000,000 has been allocated for use in the designated areas. The balance will be allocated to the areas where the greatest relative need is vident as the program progresses.

REPORT from WASHINGTON

Privately owned Army war dogs which saw service in World War II will not be recalled to duty in current expansion of the forces. The Army now has a "Canine Corps" of approximately 500 dogs, largely the offspring of World War II canine veterans. Trained dogs are being used in Germany and on Okinawa, and sledge dogs are on duty in Alaska.

Naval Reserve nurses on inactive duty, who have dependents under 18 years of age, are not eligible for recall to active duty, under recently established Navy policy.

The exemption from payment of regular postage on first class letter mail established for members of the Armed Forces in World War II has been restored for members on active duty in Korea, and such other areas as the President may designate as combat zones or military theaters. As in World War II, the sender is required to write his name, address and serial number in the upper left-hand corner of the envelope, and the word "Free" in the upper right-hand corner.

The Air Force has announced plans to promote 886 officers and 7,000 Airmen to fill vacancies created by the expansion program.

Fort Monroe, Va., one of the Army's most historical posts, and Headquarters of Army Field Forces, has been closed to the public as a security measure.

Under recently announced Naval policy, officers commissioned directly from NROTC units who have not yet been selected for retention in the Regular Navy as career officers, are not eligible for flight training, postgraduate training, long term training; or transfer from General Line to Supply Corps or Civil Engineer Corps, or change in designation to Engineering duty, Special duty or Aeronautical Engineering duty. They are, however, eligible for submarine training and for short term training courses of five months duration or less.

Orders assigning Air Force rated personnel to duty for periods in excess of 30 days at installations lacking facilities for proficiency flying, will designate an Air Force Base to which the officers concerned will be attached for flying duty in order to maintain proficiency flying, under instructions recently published (AFL 60-18, July 13, 1950).

The Navy will resume recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Newport, R. I., for the first time since 1944. Training activities at Newport will supplement those at Great Lakes, Ill., and San Diego, Calif.

The deadline for submitting claims for unused military leave has been extended to June 30, 1951, by the provisions of Public Law No. 479, passed by the 81st Congress. The previous deadline was Sept. 1, 1948. Claims submitted subsequent to this date are invalid and should be resubmitted. Members and former members of the Armed Services who are entitled to submit claims under P.L. 479 are those who have credit on August 1, 1946, in excess of 90 days.

Camp Lejeune, the world's most complete Amphibious Training Base, has 22 mess halls whose capacity is approximately 60,000 men.

There are a total of 3,185 buildings and structures located on Camp Lejeune.

ENLISTED

All enlisted men of the Regular Army and below, both active and ground, will be ordered to active duty.

Orders to both officers and enlisted men will provide a minimum of 35 days between the receipt of orders and date of commencement of active duty. District Directors have been directed to grant additional 15 days under certain finite criteria.

The Commandant of the 1st Corps announced this week that his present policy is that no Regular of Reserve, under 16 years of age will be ordered into combat.

... Destiny ...

One man is born with a gold spoon in his mouth, and from childhood through youth into manhood, he is favored by forces of good fortune that give him an impressive string of educational degrees, a social excellence, an important bearing and all the other advantages that tend to guarantee a definite success.

Yet that man can be a failure because his personality is so warped and self-centered that his very presence registers negatively with everything and everyone that he contacts.

Another man is born amidst the misery and squalor of abject poverty, and throughout his growth he is pummeled adversely by every unfavorable element of a bad environment, a lack of education, an unmitigating chain of bad breaks, a possible physical handicap, and other embodiments that obviously assure failure. But in spite of the disadvantages, that man can be a great success, because his spirit is so colorful and outstanding that everybody cannot resist liking him. Many grow to respect and love him, and his chance for glory, large or small, virtually is a foregone conclusion.

What is the true secret of one man's ability to capture mass appeal without any visible efforts and another man's undesired penchant for earning nothing but contempt from everyone, including even his own children?

Does it rest in that heredity that prompts a typical Broadway character to rasp the answer; "Some guy's got it, an' some guy's ain't got it."

Does repose in a theory of life-long conduct that is contained in that classic aphorism of the theatrical world, "Be good to people when you're on your way up, because you're gonna meet them all when you're on your way down."

Regardless of where the answer rests some men are fated to possess a touch of genius when it come to the fickle heart of mass appeal. Many other men are destined to a niggardly future no matter how desperately they may try to woo popular opinion in their own favor.

Perhaps it might be best for many to remain in the category, for herein lies normalcy and mediocre happiness, and this may be preferable to the natural tendencies of the majority of the persons. The spotlight of mass appeal that centers on a person often leads to abnormal living, destroyed privacy and likely persecution. Herein lies the penalty of leadership.

Those men who would toy with this secret must expect to pay a price. It may be the price of the pain suffered by those who would do good, or it may be the hatred fostered by those who would do evil. History has proved that this tantalizing mystery of existence can work as a paradoxical boomerang.

One man studies law books on the earth floor of a log cabin and lived to become the Great Emancipator. Another, during a time of incomplete peace, a housepainter, has lived to become a tyrannical enslaver of millions. This man died as the most hated man in history. Only similarity between these men, like many other good and bad performances, is that it took a war to crystalize their work.

That is why there always will be wars as long as this inexorable forces of mass appeal exist. One man in his regime will create good, and another man in his regime will create evil. The people of all the nations will follow for all the generations to come.

This saddening knowledge was perhaps on the minds of that great American, Oliver Wendell Holmes, when he said, "As long as man dwells upon the globe his destiny is battle, and he has to take the chance of war."

IT JUST DIDN'T WORK OUT

"It Just Didn't Work Out" is a melancholy expression often used by people to describe a marriage that has failed. But it can also describe the outcome of many other ventures of life as well. It can be said often of our best laid plans and our noblest efforts that they "Just did not work out". Why things do not sometimes work out is not always easy to explain, and sometimes cannot be explained at all. They just don't, and no one can give the full answer.

But failure to work out is not limited to secular things alone; it happens in moral matters as well. This fact is illustrated by a story that appeared in a Washington newspaper sometime ago. It told of a "very modern" young couple who defied the moral code. She, according to her own opinion, was a thoroughly emancipated young woman, and he an emancipated young man. But somehow they could not see it through. They were found one day locked in each others arms in their gas filled apartment. There was a note that read, "We have been accustomed to laugh at the moral code as a set of man-made rules to frighten timid folks into being good. But we have learned from our own experience that the wages of sin is death, even worse than death, hell on earth". Defying conventions and moral standards did not work out."

A man who has been reared in a christian home and been a regular attendant at church, sometimes suddenly decides to abandon all religious practices. Something deep and tragic has happened, and in his crisis he rejects such practices as empty and meaningless. He places a question mark after God and all religion. But such a decision simply sets one adrift on an uncharted sea, and the further he sails without God, the more empty and dismal life becomes. Volumes of human experience tell the same story—man was made for God and man will never truly rest until he finds rest in him—Re-

Miss Thompson Resigns At USNH; Was Field Director Of Red Cross

Although her resignation had been presented to the Atlanta district headquarters of the American Red Cross early in the spring (and turned down for the "time being"), it is now a fact that Miss Patricia Thompson, field director of the Red Cross at the U. S. Naval Hospital, will get to go back to her home at New Orleans, La., and be with her mother and father, which she has longed for many months. Although she will find the happiness she has wanted for a long time, her departure from the Naval Hospital is a distinct loss—not only to those with whom she was associated in the Red Cross for over a year—but to members of the hospital staff, the large number of civilians, and more especially, the many patients she and her associates served so faithfully.

But it was as she wanted it to be. For almost nine years she has served the American Red Cross in many parts of the world, and as events shaped themselves, in March, 1945, Miss Thompson was sent to the 142nd Army General Hospital at Calcutta to replace Miss Sue Lisso as Field Director. Today, Miss Lisso relieves her good friend at the Naval Hospital and becomes Field Director here.

A social worker by profession, Miss Thompson (better known as "Pat"), first applied for Red Cross work in Dec., 1941, immediately following the Pearl Harbor attack. In June, 1942, she was a full fledged Red Cross worker and was first assigned to an Army Hospital at Paris, Tenn., (a barrage balloon outfit) as field director. Soon, she was recalled and assigned to Camp Davis, N. C., another Army station, but enroute she was halted and placed in an "overseas group." Seven years later, she recalls, "almost to the day, I passed Camp Davis enroute to Camp Lejeune and the Naval Hospital, in the meantime having toured around the globe almost."

Next, Miss Thompson was assigned by the Washington headquarters of the Red Cross to the 27th Army General Hospital (University of Pittsburgh Medical Unit at Fort Lewis, Wash.) This unit, however, was later "grounded" and she was temporarily detached to the U. S. Naval Hospital at Seattle, Wash., where she was for almost a year. Then she found herself enroute to the 111th Station Hospital (later to become the 234th General Hospital) which, incidently, was cited for its outstanding work with "Merrill's Marauders" who liberated Burma. This hospital was located at Chabra, Province of Assani, India, near Ledo, at the site of the take-off for the "flights over the hump."

"The Chabra air field was built on what had been a tea planter's polo grounds," recalled Miss Thompson, "and the airfield was known familiarly to all as the 'Polo Grounds.' The 'Flying Tigers' used it first, who were based nearby at a strip in the village at Din Jan."

In October of 1943 Miss Thompson was transferred to temporary duty at the 181st General Hospital, Kaiachi, where she remained until May of 1944.

"I will never forget the sight of Christmas Day, 1943," she said. "Santa Claus rode across the hospital compound on a camel to cheer the patients and their guests for this glad day. Do you have an idea who they were? They were Polish refugee children from a nearby interment camp. And they had a wonderful time—toys, candies, dolls, presents galore for all. I can never forget that Christmas!"

Teacher Needed

The position of head teacher of the Camp Lejeune Nursery School is open for the period 1950-51. The Officer's Wives Club, which sponsors this activity, is anxious for qualified persons to apply. The school term runs from September to June from 0900 to 1130 Monday thru Friday.

Those interested should apply to Mrs. T. S. Ivey, Chairman of the Committee, MOQ 2506, by 29 August, stating qualifications and experience. Application blanks may be obtained from the Camp Chaplain's Office in Building No. 1.

Miss Thompson returned to the Chabra Hospital in May, 1944, and it appeared they would have to evacuate, as the Japs were very near, "but they were held back by the British and completely routed by the Americans, so evacuation became unnecessary.

In March, 1945, she was at the 142nd General Hospital, Calcutta, where remained until Nov., 1945, returning "the short way" through the Suez Canal, working with a group of patients being returned to the states for hospitalization. She arrived home on New Year's eve, 1946, and on Mar. 1, sailed for the Eastern Theatre of Operations from which she returned in May, 1949, where she was stationed at the Army of Occupation Hospital at Kassel, Germany, which was located in Von Runstedt's former headquarters "from which he is said to have planned the Battle of the Bulge," at the 41st Evacuation Hospital, Paris; 98th General Hospital, Munich, and at hospitals at Bremerhaven and Nurnberg, Germany.

Before taking leave this week, Miss Thompson could not forget her friends all about her—at the Naval Hospital, on the Marine base at Camp Lejeune, in Jacksonville, at Midway Park, and other places—who had contributed so much towards the welfare of hospitalized Marine and Naval personnel. "All I can think to say right now is thank you all—thank everyone so very much for their many, many kindnesses to me, to the Red Cross workers, and most of all, to the patients, none of whom will ever forget these lovely courtesies," said Miss Thompson.

And as she is heading towards New Orleans and her parents, we would like for her to remember, too, that she has left many friends behind—so very many, indeed—who will always remember her for her acts of kindness which brought happiness to so many during the all too brief period she was stationed at the Naval Hospital.

Everyone who knew this kindly little lady, who was never known to be excited, but was always calm and on an even keel; who never could compose a harsh word for anyone, but rather, always found something good to say of them, yes, everyone who was privileged to know her and talk to her, will say, in all reverence, God bless you, Miss Thompson, and may our paths cross again real soon.

The Globe Sports

Sports At A Glance . . .

BY S/SGT. EARL H. WILSON

It certainly appeared for awhile as if the Camp Lejeune sports program would be awarded the Army-Navy "O" for oblivion.

Varsity sports had ceased entirely, and the intramurals were fast disintegrating. There was even some controversy as to whether or not Lejeune would have the personnel to field a 6 man football team. Coaches as well as players, were few and far between.

The opening session of football practice heralded the return of ten lettermen and the nucleus of a coaching staff. Then, in the short space of a week, transfers again hit the potential squad, and of the 125 hopefuls that appeared for the initial practice, 13 linemen and 15 backfield men remained.

Only four of these were returning lettermen from Lejeune's 1949 Sixth Naval District Championship aggregation. Remaining to bolster the nearly non-existent eleven, were Bob Donley, tackle; Rufe Williams, tackle; Don Smith, tackle; and Bill Minihan, quarterback.

In the words of Head Coach Major Bruno J. Andruska, "Things were looking mighty dim."

With the arrival of the Organized Reserve Units came the desperately needed "shot in the arm" that somewhat rejuvenated the hopes of all concerned that Lejeune would be able to field a presentable eleven this season.

It is still far too early to predict anything in the way of a team, but things are looking up from day to day, and most important of all, the men who are appearing daily for grueling workouts have the necessary spirit that must go hand in hand with ability.

If, and I use the word emphatically, Camp Lejeune can furnish the necessary personnel to warrant a team, Coach Andruska will MAKE a team. I also take a precarious position, going out on the well known "limb", in stating that Camp Lejeune will again take its place alongside the best in service competition. Perhaps that is what has been needed all along. The faith in the spirit of the players, as well as the ability, to do their best, no matter what the odds.

Welcome Aboard Captain "Wally" Williams.

A new, and very capable, backfield coach has been added to the 1950 gridiron staff of Lejeune in the personage of Captain Walter L. "Wally" Williams.

Captain Williams reported to Lejeune with the unit from Portland, Me., and proving that a football coach has his eye on all incoming personnel, it did not take long for Coach Andruska to latch on to his "find."

More interesting of course, is the fact that Major Andruska and Captain Williams are "old friends" and played on the same baseball team together.

"Wally", as he prefers to be known, has had an outstanding career in athletics. He first enlisted in the Corps 18 December, 1941 as a private and later attended OCS in Quantico in November of '42, where he started his Marine Corps career in athletics playing on the varsity basketball squad.

Captain Williams is a graduate of Boston University where he earned 11 letters in varsity sports, participating in football, basketball, baseball and track.

In 1945, "Wally" played with the El Toro Marines and shortly after his discharge from the Corps, joined the professional circuit, playing for the Chicago Rockets in the All-American Conference. In 1947-48, he played with the Boston Yanks of the National Football League.

His war service consisted of 26 months with the 2nd Anti-Aircraft Battalion, participating in the campaign for the Gilberts and Okinawa. Just the man Coach Andruska has been looking for, Captain Williams is a sure bet to place one of the best available backfields on the gridiron field of battle. Camp Lejeune welcomes you aboard, and best of luck in your endeavors.

Warmin the Bench

Football's first skirmish of the 1950 season took place at Chicago's Soldier Field Friday night, August 11. Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice of North Carolina and Eddie Le Baron, College of the Pacific star, led an attack that wound up in a 17-7 victory for the College All-Stars over the favored Philadelphia Eagles, 1949 champions of the National Football League.

The North Carolina halfback was voted the most valuable player on the All-Star eleven, but Le Baron came in for plenty of support by his exhibition of ball handling. On one occasion Le Baron was rushed while fading back for a pass, reversed his field twice and flipped a thirty-five yard pass to Justice who galloped another thirty-five yards for the collegians second TD.

Outplaying the pros for the entire first half, the All-Stars led at the end of that period, 14-0. SMU's Doak Walker, Notre Dame's Larry Coutre, Hall Haynes of Santa Clara, and Fred Morrison, Ohio State fullback, joined forces with starring Justice and Le Baron throughout the game. Morrison scored the first touchdown of the game, by smashing four hard yards in two tries after Justice had brought the ball past the Eagles five-yard stripe in two runs which totalled 43 yards.

Smarting from their first-half shut-out, the Eagles stormed back in the third quarter, scoring from the Stars' 28-yard line after taking advantage of a slight case of butterfingers on the part of the All-Stars. The Eagle attack was soon blunted, however, by determined linemen representing the best of North Carolina, Georgia, Minnesota, Auburn, Notre Dame, William and Mary, Oklahoma and the College of the Pacific.

A fourth-quarter field goal gave the Stars an extra edge of three points and from there out the game was on ice. The National League Champions tried every trick in the book, but Le Baron's razzle-dazzle passing and Justice's brilliant running proved too much.

The All-Star game, an annual charity affair, was football's opening note for 1950, but for Eddie Le Baron, it was farewell to college football. He was to report the following day for duty with the Marine Corps. In all probability, Eddie will have plenty of his teammates for company before long. The draft and the re-call of Reservists and National Guardsmen promises to deplete many a college gridiron squad this season.

Regardless of the draft and Service recalls, college football for 1950 should be top-notch. Many of last year's star Juniors and Sophomores will be back on the playing field with Army being touted as the probable national champions. Notre Dame will again be the team to whip although its publicity department has been giving the usual pre-season pessimism, e.g.—"Notre Dame's coaching staff expects its winning streak to be broken and picks Army to be tops." That adds up to a good Irish prospect for 1950. (APPS)

Grid Team Takes Shape As More Men Report

The 1950 Lejeune football team is fairly underway, as new additions have been made in both coaching staff and the participating personnel.

Hopeful candidates are continuing to draw and fall out for the daily practices which take place behind the Protestant Chapel every afternoon beginning at 1400.

Things are beginning to shape up as the picture takes on a much brighter hue than that of a week or so ago. Monday's practice found 44 men going through their paces in comparison with the paltry 28 that appeared last week.

It is realized of course that the disappointing turnout was due to the transfer of personnel and the sudden but frequent changes of men to different assignments. Now that the situation is slowly getting back to normal, Coach Andruska can concentrate on the material he has at hand.

A factor, of much concern to the coach, is that only a small percentage of the men who indicated that they desired to play football have been turning up for practice. In the screening process, the past history of athletic personnel is brought to the fore and they receive every opportunity in which to list their past accomplishments and willingness to play.

Monday's practice was marred by the obvious absences, numbering in the neighborhood of 40. Future practices, it is hoped, will be on a full scale with all men desiring to don the colors of Camp Lejeune reporting to show just what they have in the way of pigskin toting ability.

Constant reference is being made to last year's squad and the comparison between the number of candidates reporting for practice. There can be no comparison of numerical figures, the comparison must be made in the ability of the material and not the amount. For the information of the reserves reporting in, and the new men at Camp Lejeune, there are many positions open for football talent. If you have had any football experience, and would like to play varsity ball, contact the Camp Athletic Officer, or Head Coach Major Bruno Andruska for further information.

The coaching staff of the Lejeune eleven has been augmented by the arrival of Captain Walter "Wally" Williams, new backfield coach. Boasting a very impressive record in the pigskin parade, Captain Williams will be a great boon to Major Andruska in molding the backfield material into the desired combination for winning games.

Captain Williams is a graduate of Boston University where he earned 11 letters in varsity sports. He enlisted in the Marine Corps as a private in 1941, and later attended O.C.S. in Quantico where he played basketball as a member of varsity quintet.

He served with the Second Anti-

Aircraft Battalion in the Islands and Okinawa re 1945 to join the El Toro football team.

So You Think You Know Baseball

Timing is of the essence in baseball. The cut-off play, the hand flip, the Boudreau steal, all demonstrate the important split-second action in the sport. Yet it can be over the following hypothesis, a player's attempt to time bases a question on Jack Onslow's White Sox host to the Red Sox in Park. The visitors are as they come up for the eighth. Birdie Tebb off with a single, but the fans. Dom DiMaggio, a slow bouncer to the r and and the baseman ma pickup near the bag, w stop Luke Appling is all ing for the toss.

The baseman, realizing will not have time to double play if he flips the ball into Luke's glove without letting go. He whirls and throws t in time to beat Dom for a double play. Or is play? How would you

Answer—No double betts is safe at second. The ball must be seen by the fielder. Section rules says, in part, "A action of a fielder in base with his body wh the ball securely and fl hand or glove. . . ."

How's Your Eye? Skeet Team Needs Shooters; Try It

The loss of personnel hitting the sports a crippling blow seems to be the theme, but it is not only confined to the football team as it would undoubtedly seem at this time of the year.

The Camp Lejeune Skeet Team was also hit very hard by the loss of five of its ten members. Four travelled by the advice of the "man" who said, "Go West, young man". They were Captain William Holt, Master Sergeant Herman Stackhouse, Commissioned Warrant Officer George Davison, and Technical Sergeant Frank Heidt. The one other team member to leave was Major Doyle A. New, who was transferred to Quantico for duty.

The five remaining members include Lieutenant Joe Vosmik and his sharpshooting wife, Carroll Vosmik, Warrant Officer James First, Hospital Man Chief Jack Kanavel and Master Sergeant George Hartfield.

It is the desire of Lieutenant Vosmik, as well as the other members of the team, to rebuild the team to its original strength and shooting ability. All interested personnel should contact the Camp Athletic Officer in Building 1005. Come in and confer with Lieutenant Vosmik, or call 3659.

Instructions are available for all beginners and the shotguns and shells will be furnished all shooters. The Skeet Team meets for practice on Saturday mornings at 0800, and Sunday afternoons at 1300 on the Skeet Range located in the parachute training area.

Mrs. Carroll Vosmik, outstanding woman skeet-shooting artist, is desirous of organizing a women's team. With the Women Marines aboard, and Camp Lejeune in possession of the Women's Reserve 1950 Small Bore Rifle Championship Team, Mrs. Vosmik has the makings of a Skeet Team of championship caliber. (See story and picture of Mrs. Vosmik elsewhere on Sports Page).

The Camp Lejeune Skeet Team recently competed in the Great Eastern Championship Shoot held at Lordship, Conn., where they managed to capture third place honors in this yearly classic. There will be many registered shoots coming up in the near future, so all interested shooters should get started immediately in sharpening up their "aimin' eye" preparatory to shattering the clay pigeons this season.

The Camp Skeet Range will hold a 100 target all gauge registered club shoot on Saturday, 26 August. The first squad will start shooting at 1300. All shot gun enthusiasts are urged to attend. The shoot will be conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations of the National Skeet Shooting Association. For further information contact WO. Furst at 5121.

Lejeune Swimmer Will Compete In All-Service Meet

Staff Sergeant Ralph R. Reichenbach, Camp Central Librarian, will represent Camp Lejeune in the All-Service Swimming Meet to be held in Philadelphia, Pa., on 27-28 August.

Reichenbach, who started his aquatic career by joining the Camp Lejeune Swimming Team as a diver in 1948, has participated in every meet but one since that date.

A specialist in the 1 meter springboard event, Reichenbach displayed his swimming ability also, in January of this year, and has been participating in the 50 meter free style and the 50 yard events with great success.

He recently returned from the Southern Invitational Meets in Wilson, N. C., where he placed fourth in the low board diving event.

Reichenbach is undecided as to whether he will participate in the swimming events or just concentrate on capturing the diving title in the coming meet.

The Sharpshooters Report In The Marine Corps

Carroll Devers Vosmik, wife of Lieutenant Joseph Camp Lejeune Athletic Officer, and daughter of Mrs. M. O. Devers of Route 4, Dayton, Ohio is a shooting Champion deluxe.

of the Women's Inter-Gauge Skeet Championships in Indianapolis, Ind., in 1946, she has held over 45 Skeet Championships.

At the start of her Marine career, via her marriage to Vosmik, Mrs. Vosmik competed the Class AA Champion Camp Lejeune, N. C., 98x100, and downing the shootoff. She also has a distinction of attaining the highest average in the state of Ohio and Indiana last year.

Mrs. Vosmik became year of skeet shooting last season. She comes by her skill honestly, as all five members of the Devers family are shotgun experts. Her father, M. O. Devers, owns the Hilltop Gun Club in Dayton, Ohio and specializes in all forms of firearm artistry such as rifle, pistol, trap-shooting and skeet-shooting as well as the almost extinct art of muzzle-loading cap and ball weapons. He taught all members of the family to shoot and is well qualified as he holds the Men's National Skeet Championship. Mrs. Vosmik's sister, Jeannette, is an expert in trap-shooting, while her mother is an artist in her own right, confining her shooting to the hunting of wild game.

The most outstanding member of the "Five Shooting Devers" is brother Joe, who at the age of 11, broke the World's Skeet Record getting 97x100 to capture the National Sub-Junior title in 1942. Since that time he has swept the Ohio State shoots, winning the Handicap and the Doubles with 99x100, the Ohio State Preliminary Championship getting 200x200 and winning the Ohio State Open shattering 199x200. He is also the Nevada State Skeet Champion in the All-Gauge, 20 Gauge, 28 Gauge, and the .410 Gauge. In addition, Joe Devers holds the distinction of being the only man in the history of the All-American Skeet and Trap Teams to ever hold a position on both teams at the same time. And all this at the age of 19.

Mrs. Vosmik is a member of the Camp Lejeune Skeet Team and has shot against all male competition. She is also a member of the five man team champions, and that in itself should prove the capabilities of this comely shotgun artist. Any woman that can compete in men's championship shoots, and do better than just hold her own, is deserving of the utmost in success.

Three special features, to be presented by the Mutual network in observance of the Labor Day holiday, have been scheduled for Sunday and Monday, Sept. 3 and 4.

On Labor Day eve, Sept. 3, the Mutual network will present, in cooperation with the International Association of Machinists, a dramatic story of the American worker, called "Boomer Jones." And among the distinguished Hollywood stars who will be heard in leading roles for this presentation will be Brian Donlevy, Marie McDonald and William Holden. The story was specially written for this program by Morton Wishengrad, one of radio's outstanding scripters. Mel Ferrer will direct. Al Hayes, president of the association, will deliver an address during the program, which will be aired from 10:30 to 11 p.m., EDT.

On Sept. 4, Mutual will broadcast the annual Labor Day report to the nation by Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin. The time of Mr. Tobin's address will be announced at a later date. Mr. Tobin will speak from Washington, D. C. A spiritual touch to the Labor Day theme will be added when Rev. George Boardman will be heard as the guest of Mutual's "Faith in Our Time" broadcast for Sept. 4. (10:15 to 10:30 a.m., local time). Rev. Boardman is associated with the Church of St. Luke and St. Matthew in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mutual's "The Air Force Hour," aired every Friday evening from 9 to 9:30 p.m., EDT, will originate from Germany, Austria and Korea during the next several weeks.

Air Force officials responsible for preparing the documentary inserts that are an integral part of each program have advised MBS that three on-the-scene Department of Defense reporters are now in Korea. These men are armed with mini-tape recording machines, the 15-pound self-contained units which "Mutual Newsreel" field reporters use, and that their on-the-scene descriptions will be sent to Tokyo for transmission to the United States—and "The Air Force Hour."

The first reports from these men are expected to be descriptions of bomber attacks. However, as the tempo of operations by General Douglas MacArthur's forces is increased in Korea, these reports will be based on each facet of Air Force operations in that war-torn area, strikes at behind-the-front supply and materiel depots, attacks on military targets immediately behind the lines, such as air and maintenance bases, etc., and cover operations for ground and naval forces.

The musical portion of each program will originate from Germany and Austria, where the orchestra is on a good-will tour. The Friday, July 21, music segment will be from the Paladium in Vienna, and the following week from Stadt Stadium, Munich. However, priority has been given to the documentary inserts from Korea for these broadcasts.

Pat Michaels, who is reporting for Mutual directly from the Korean front, is a Marine Corps veteran of World War II and was wounded in action on Iwo Jima. While convalescing he reverted to his news background and reported for radio by special permission, the remainder of the military operations in the Pacific. He has been a radio broadcaster for the past twelve years, and received his first experience as a news reporter and broadcaster in Honolulu.

Review As It Appears This Week

BEDSIDE MANNER
 —Ruth Hussey and John Carroll made this movie quite and it is coming to Camp Lejeune as a re-release. The side-splitting situations presented will keep moviegoers for a long time. . . . Family. . . . Two Bells.

PROWL CAR
 —A typical cop-hunts-robber plot with young and able ring Mark Stevens, Edmund O'Brien and Gale Storm, this could be interesting to mystery fans. Naturally the plot and the police-famous prowler cars. . . . Adult. . . . Two Bells.

TEA FOR TWO
 —Here's one of the pictures you will call another musical it is a sensation. Acting superb, photography excellent and res wonderful. That describes Tea for Two. Gordon MacRea Day are co-starred. . . . Family. . . . Four Bells.

CORREGIDOR
 —Another re-release. The title is self-explanatory in that an still remember the grim days of Corregidor. Otto Kruger Landi are co-starred. This movie caused a mild sensation during the war years as the Japanese atrocities were the public eye. . . . Adult. . . . Two Bells.

RIGHT CROSS
 —A good fight picture that provides edge-of-the-seat excitement, plus a romance with heart appeal. The husband-of Dick Powell and June Allyson will please all as they hit in The Redhead and the Reformer. . . . Family. . . . 6.

WHEN YOU'RE SMILING
 —Frankie Laine and Bob Crosby join forces to present a musical although we have no advance information on mily. . . . Two Bells.

DESERT HAWK
 —A gripping story of desert tribes filmed in beautiful. The scenes are catching in their true color and Yvonne De does a lot for the scenery. For the adventure-minded movie-com-mend Richard Conte and his Desert Hawk antics. . . . Two Bells.
