Mayor H. M. Eastwood of Jacksonville, N. C., tells 1st Lt. Edmund C. Forehand, USMCR, how pleasant it has been having him and other members of "C" Company, 3d Infantry Battalion, USMCR, Springfield, Ill., as guests during that unit's active duty summer training here. The Mayor sent a tobacco plant (background) with Lt. Forehand to be delivered personally to the Mayor of Springfield. (Photo by Sgt. R. A. Oakley, USMCR, Reserve Training Battalion.)

Local Mayor Sends Missouri Mayor Symbol Of South

A fine gesture of inter-city fraternity was made by the honorable H. M. Eastwood, Mayor of Jacksonville, N. C., last Thursday when he sent a Gold Dollar tobacco plant to the Honorable Otis T. Barbick, Mayor of Springfield, Mo.

Liaison officer for the personal delivery of the plant to the Mayor of Springfield was 1st Lt. Edmund C. Forehand, Executive Officer of "C" Company, 3d Infantry Battalion, USMCR, and prominent Springfield lawyer.

"C" Company finished its active duty summer training here and departed for its home city of Springfield by air last Saturday.

With the Lieutenant also went the following good will message from Mayor Eastwood to Mayor Barbick:

"It gives me great pleasure as a representative of the people of Jacksonville, North Carolina, to send to you, the Mayor of Springfield, Missouri, a true product of the soil of Onslow County, North Carolina; this fine Gold Dollar tobacco plant, the main source of revenue of many of the residents of this community.

"This is a plant used primarily for the manufacture of cigarettes due to the quality of the leaf.

"About 8,900 acres of Onslow County are under cultivation of tobacco.

"It has been an extreme pleasure to have the residents of your fair city as guests here while they were undergoing their annual active duty training at Camp Lejeune.

"I wish to extend a cordial invitation to you and the residents of your city, if you are ever traveling through this eastern coastal region of North Carolina, to visit our municipality where I assure you every courtesy will be extended to you.

Sincerely,
H. M. EASTWOOD."

Fourth Of July...

Independence Day was first celebrated one hundred and seventy-four years ago on July 4th. Have we today forgotten the real meaning of the Fourth of July? In the whirl of special events, trips and parties, this holiday has become a considerably commercialized institution like most of the other important holidays.

The principles in 1776 were founded on the beliefs of a newly-obtained political freedom, a freedom in which tyranny and oppression had no place to germinate. The day possessed a significance that even those who proclaimed freedom could not foresee. From a small group who celebrated so many years ago, the number has increased to millions who now dimly realize for what the day stands.

A little vacation is good for everyone; but in view of the fact that the holiday is set aside for commemoration of the achievement of freedom, a little serious thought along these lines seems only fitting. A heritage as great as ours is certainly worthy of consideration, which will bring its own reward in the form of increased appreciation of these rights we claim as ours.

Today, more than ever, we should realize the value of these freedoms which are guaranteed to us. These freedoms are not only our heritage but a great responsibility. Freedom must be fought for in Peacetime just as in Wartime. In the peacetime fight across the conference table, we who are free must exert ourselves in order that we remain so and in order that we may help others not so fortunate.

Each of us should pause next Tuesday to give some thought to the many advantages in living in a country which enjoys the many freedoms which are ours. We take our liberty too much for granted. Our form of government is our most precious possession. Many have given their lives to protect it. Think about your freedom, not only on Tuesday but always.

Chaplain's Corner

ARE YOU A PHONEY?

During the last cold weather operations, one of the Chaplains spent a few days in a tent with a number of men and for the first few hours he heard rather descriptive, even though later apologetic, language that was complimentary to themselves as well as their service. After a while, however, the language in the tent became very respectful and polite. On the way home one of those lads met the Chaplain and said to him—"Gee, Chaplain, that was nice having you with us. It was just like having our father with us all the time. The fellows all felt pretty good to get away from all that salty talk we have to hear around the barracks. We decided to try to keep that in mind when we get back."

It would be nice to say that now the language in his barracks is the kind we'd like to hear, but sad to say there are too many other characters around who think that a foul mouth is a sign of manliness or strength or something.

Why do we lead a double life in our speech? None of us like phonies or fellows who do one thing and say another and yet that's just what we are when we start foul language.

When we are home we use perfectly good language. When fellows are out on dates they don't ask their girl friend to pass down the ketchup to put on a hamburger. When we get together with decent fellows we can express our thoughts very clearly without vulgarity.

You come into the Armed Forces a pretty good fellow. In boot training a few realize that they are away from all the restraints of home and it's almost natural to take a shot at all the things they weren't allowed to do at home like cussing people out, drinking beer, maybe smoking. Ah, yes, they finally have made their declaration of independence—today they believe they are men.

They find themselves in with a bunch of fellows in just the same boat as themselves but now in their assertion of freedom they find all the others competing for first honors in the race for freedom. On and on the battle goes—the language becomes saltier and saltier, each fellow becomes more and more of a blow hard telling what a great guy he is. It seems that nobody wins.

There are only two reasons why a fellow uses filthy language. One is that he doesn't know any other—that makes him a MORON and since we are known by the company we keep that makes us morons for going along with him. The other reason is that he is a SHOW OFF trying to make an impression—that makes him even worse. Take a look at yourself before the Chaplain or some senior NCO or officer. You're very quiet and you say what you have to in a very polite way—showing you can talk that way; but then when you get back to the boys—BROTHER that's different.

A fellow who uses filthy language is either a MORON (who doesn't know any better) a SHOW OFF (trying to impress) or a PHONY. If you use filthy language you are one of the three. Why not wake up and see the light, talk the way you want to talk, and become a real MAN?

PATRICK A. KILLEEN
Chaplain, USN.

Staff NCO Club Activities
Election returns are in; For President with 858 votes MSgt. "DERBY ROSS". For Secretary with 559 votes TSgt. VAL OLESNOVICH.

Now that our mirror room is again cool and comfortable you people can enjoy the pleasures that are so carefully prepared for you. Saturday and Sunday evening instead of the regular five piece combo that has been furnishing the music for dinner dancing we had a seven piece band that gave us a variety of music which seemed to please even those extremely particular dancers. The drummer was out of this world, as was proven by the many requests for his solo renditions.

Bowling lockers will be opened on Saturday 1 July. There are 45 lockers available and only 18 have been signed for so far. Seems like there will be plenty of lockers for those that need them.

Bingo, Monday nite was smaller than usual. Attributed no doubt to the fact that some of us are finding ourselves a little short. The Merchandise Prize went to MSgt. W. R. Boyden. While the Jackpot was divided for the second week in a row between MSgt. R. D. Cook and Mrs. G. E. Gardner. Come on out folks. We'll do our best to make your evenings, pleasant and instill with a desire to do it again.

The Staff NCO wives have made available to you a nursery which you can safely use and be sure that your child gets the proper attention while you take advantage of the Staff NCO Club. The nursery is open on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and for the present is located at the Midway Park nursery. A person finds it hard to enjoy himself if his mind is preoccupied with responsibilities. Why have them when they are so easily removed?

Teen Age Girls and young mothers are requested to register with the Recreational Director for Playground Programs for young children at our new play grounds. This is very important work. It will be a benefit to the children and to the community.

The Midway Park Woman's Club met on Monday evening, June 26, at the Community Building. The new president, Mrs. Tom Cothran presided. New chairmen of the various committees were named and a capable lot they are. It is our firm belief that the club will be responsible for commendable work this year. Delightful and cooling refreshments were served.

Our boys are busy with their cars and will compete in the local Soap Box Derby. The date for the County Race has not yet been set, but it will be very soon. Watch this column for news—also listen in to your radio program on Thursday evenings—9 to 9:30 p.m.

We wish to thank General and Mrs. Hart for being present at the WJNC Radio Station to make these awards; also the Midway Park Board of Governors and Mr. Kermit Guthrie who was master of ceremonies.

The Butler Circle Wives Club, Mr. James Herndon, and Mrs. W. J. Heavey who received the awards for outstanding work in this community on last Thursday night's broadcast wish to thank all those responsible for this fine gesture; also for all the letters and verbal commendations sent into the Midway Park Board of Governors. Our motto will be—To continue to be of service to our community and to live up to the confidence placed on us. This is the first time that Midway Park has recognized individuals and organizations in this manner. 1950 is half spent but it is not too late to be cognizant of the people and organizations in this park who would be worthy of recognition.

Sports At A Glance . . . . .

By Pfc. Horace Myers

HE'S A HERO NOW . . .

A couple of months ago, the baseball crowd out at the games were yelling for Pete Peiritsch's uniform.

Claims of, "You're too old," and "This is a young man's team," were sounded in the direction of the third baseman every game.

But this man, who was probably playing baseball when some of us were still in high school, kept his head and played on with the idea that the time would come.

Mr. Bobby Feller, Cleveland's strikeout ace, stated in last month's SPORTING NEWS, "I couldn't get going until it got hot." And so it's been with Pete.

The local nine didn't have warm skies to play under until they hit the road on an early Florida trip. Coach Zorn said then that Pete hadn't found his eye, and to watch for him when he did.

Only 12 games ago, coach Zorn switched Pete to the clean-up spot and he's been pounding opposing pitchers all over the lot ever since. Besides leading the team in hitting, Pete has control of four out of the six other departments.

Now, it's become expected that Pete's going to hit each trip up to the plate, and he usually doesn't disappoint the fans.

ALL-STARS

The highly heralded Cameron Village All-Stars didn't look like, or were not, a team composed of college all-stars. Talking to Mr. Collier, manager of the team, he explained that the team was made up mostly of boys who had played together in high school, and were continuing their love for the game during the summer months. The average age for the team members was 19, with the exception of Sunday's winning hurler who was 24. Vic Sorrel, North Carolina State's head coach and coach of the All-Stars, didn't arrive at Lejeune during the two-day series, due to business that kept him in New York.

TOUGH TO TAKE . . . . .

After relieving starting hurler Lefty Gilmore, Lejeune's Fireballer Frankie Masso tossed no-hit no-run ball for two frames, and in the meantime watched his teammates come within one run of closing the gap between the locals and Cameron in Sunday's game, only to come back in the eighth and have his infield and outfield commit four big errors allowing three runs to come home and blow his chances of winning number 6.

GLOBE NIBBLES . . . . .

Another '49 ex-grizzer, Owen Rudd, starting center, dropped by the office Monday morning to say good-bye as he departed with his discharge for his home in Kentucky. Rudd expects to enter the University of Kentucky this fall on a football scholarship. . . . With the interest in track growing, rumors have been going around that a Cross-Country team may be in the process of being formed. . . . Light's for the new baseball diamond will be up next week. Only the pipe line running across the

Local Nine Split With Cameron Crew Here Over Weekend

Number two-in-a-row came at the expense of the Cameron Village All-Stars on Saturday, as Ted McCollum unveiled the best day of his Lejeune career, setting them down, 5-1. In winning his sixth game of the year, McCollum threw a two-hitter past the Cameron bats, and struck out 15 batters. The strike-out mark was the best compiled since Blood Burns hit an equal figure in 1948.

Cameron's only run in the contest came in the fourth inning. McCollum walked the leadoff man, and Thompson singled, putting two on. Ted fanned Frazier, but Collier hit to Cardaman, who bobbled it and allowed the visitor's sole tally to score.

Lejeune slapped nine hits to come off with their 5-run total, with Peiritsch and Becker contributing the only two extra-base blows, both doubles. Pete Peiritsch led the hitters, as usual, this time gathering two for two to add to his season's record.

Pete the Pirate has a mark of 29 for 56 since his insertion into the clean-up spot 14 games ago for a fourth-slot average of .518. He has also batted in 23 runs in those 14 tussles, one of the best individual performances here in many months of Sundays.

Again, as against Cherry Point, Lejeune came through with two slugfest frames to pile up all their runs. This time sparked by Peiritsch's two-on double, they slashed out for three in the first, and added two more in the third. The pair of third-inning scores came on a walk, an infield hit, and two more consecutive base knocks.

In the second Cameron-Lejeune clash, Ole Man Five Hundred came back—a little ways, anyway, as Cameron emerged from the afternoon's activity victorious, 9-5. Although Lejeune outhit the visitors, 10 to 5, nine errors by local hands spelled the difference.

Gilmore started on the mound, and the visiting All-Stars lost little time in knocking him into a 4-0 hole. Lejeune counter-balanced the Cameron's four-run first frame a mite by getting one across in the bottom of the inning on Hoerner's triple and Peiritsch's single.

The ball game rolled on without pitchers mound remains to be put in. . . . Drive carefully over the Fourth, there's some good football games coming up this season.

Masso Wins Again As Locals Clip Flyers Wings 11-6

Slowly evening the season's score of an age-old service rivalry, the Lejeune Marines came from behind to whip Cherry Point last Wednesday, 11-6. The Marines staged two big innings for nine runs, as Frank Masso threw six innings of shutout ball to win his third game in nine days.

Pete Peiritsch continued to lead the Lejeune hitters, getting a double and two singles in five trips, and batting in two runs. Also outstanding at the plate were Dutch Dunbury with four for five, one a double, Neils Hoerner with three for five, all singles, and Charley Beall with a homer and a single in five trips. Beall's round-tripper was his third of the season.

Gilmore started for the local cause, but he found himself knee-deep in trouble in the fourth and Frank Masso came onto the hill in relief. The score when Masso took over—3-2. Firin' Frank had trouble at the outstart, as Point batters cleared the bases to make it 6-2.

As per usual, however, whenever Gilmore leaves the ball game, Lejeune bats begin to find the range. They pounded home five runs in the bottom of the fourth and went out in front, 7-6, staying ahead the rest of the way. Key blast of that fourth was Beall's home run clout, which came with Peiritsch on base.

In the sixth, Lejeune pulled off another big inning, scoring four times to put the game on ice.

Cannoneers Slip By Shore Party, 3-2

The Tenth Marines had to come from behind last Tuesday afternoon to defeat a hard fighting Shore Party nine, 3-2, in a seven-inning intramural game played on the Tenth's home field.

Taking the lead in the opening frame, the Tenth picked up their run when rightfielder Cox singled Colby home, who had walked.

Shore Party countered back in their half of the third and moved ahead on a walk and two singles, 2-1. Lead-off man for the Tenth, Colby, walked and was brought home on a double to rightfield by Paskevich, who is now hitting .348 for the Tenth, and put the Cannoneers back in the ball game, 2-2, in their half of the frame.

Both hurlers bore down in the fourth and fifth frames keeping the basepaths clear.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Tenth's first sacker, Novak, singled into centerfield. He moved on to second on the wild throw to first and on to third on a wild pitch. Washington followed Novak to the plate and was called out on strikes. Second baseman Archambault, on a two-to count, grounded out to third allowing Novak to come home on the throw to first.

Winning pitcher for the Tenth was Bob Radcliff, (2-0), and losing hurler for the Shore Party Nine, Bill Minihan. Radcliff held the losers to five hits, walked one, and struck out 4. Shore Party's Minihan, gave up only three hits, walked 6, and struck out 8.

Coaching Clinic To Be Held At MCS Next Month

According to a recent Camp Memorandum, a football coaching school will be held during the period 24-28 July at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

Mr. Stuart K. Holcomb, head coach of the Purdue Boiler-makers, and his staff will conduct the school.

The Commanding General is desirous that, in addition to sending varsity coaches, unit commanders who anticipate fielding an intramural football team this fall select an officer or enlisted man who will be available for the 1950 season and send him to this school. The name, rank, and service number of the man selected will be submitted to the Camp Special Services Office prior to 28 June, 1950.

Last year Auburn's head coach, Earl Brown, and his staff were at Lejeune conducting a coaching clinic which later proved to be an asset to the varsity's outstanding season.

Chief Of The Week

Charles Sullivan, HMC, States Navy, a patient on No. 24 at the Naval Hospital, is to stay in the Navy. But after that, can you say that he says he intends to will raise Palamino horses "for show purposes."

Sullivan was born on 22, 1921, at Cheyenne, Wyo. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Sullivan of Cheyenne. He is a rancher. He enlisted in the Navy on 9 June, 1939, at Den-Ver, and went to San Diego, Calif., for his boot training. He is currently serving at the Camp Lejeune.

Sullivan has seen quite a bit of the world during his eleven years in the Navy. After his training at San Diego, he was attached to USS Pennsylvania, and member of the wrestling team. He also attended the Hospital School at San Diego for four months, and in 1940 transferred to the Second Den-Ver, FMF, at Parris Island, S.C. He was with that outfit when he was sent to San Diego and from there he was sent to a where he remained for eighteen months.

In August, 1943, Chief Sullivan returned to the States and was assigned to recruiting duty in Den-Ver for a period of six months. He then went to San Pedro, Cal.

He boarded an APA which was put in commission. Its destination was New Guinea, with troops aboard. Sullivan has taken him to the Orient and to many other parts of the world. He came to Camp Lejeune in early 1949, and for a period was attached to the Hospital, and then was transferred to the Camp Dispensary. At present time he is taking in commercial art, and his specialties are: Saddle making, leather craft, miniature sculpture and model ship building. Cross workers at the Naval are of great help to him in his studies.

People (the Red Cross) have been extremely kind to me at every turn," says Sullivan, "and I really don't know what I would have done without their help. In addition to their help with materials which to carry on my work, I have been of invaluable assistance in other ways. I don't know how to express my appreciation."

Chief Sullivan, and of everything to you and the remainder of your career!

Another Reserve Infantry Bn. Due To Arrive Sunday

The 1st Infantry Battalion, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, from the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, Fort Schuyler, New York, N. Y., will arrive at Dixon School siding by special train on Sunday, July 2nd, for their annual active duty training.

Arriving with Headquarters, "A" and "B" Companies of the parent organization will be "C" Company of the 1st Infantry Battalion, a separately administered unit with headquarters in the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, U. S. Naval Submarine Base, New London, Conn.

The 1st Battalion, activated in the fall of 1946, is now under the command of Maj. Irving Schechter, USMCR, Thompson Hill Road, St. James, Long Island, N. Y. Sunday's arrival of approximately 600 officers and men will mark the third summer training period spent at Camp Lejeune by the 1st since its activation.

"C" Company will bring five officers and 130 enlisted under the command of Capt. Louis J. Masse, USMCR, 39 East Main Street, Jewett City, Conn.

The battalion is comprised of men from New York City, New Jersey, Connecticut, and more distant parts of New York State. Its personnel represent practically every major unit of the wartime Marine Corps.

One of the outstanding units of the battalion is its crack band, led by CWO Richard E. Slattery, USMCR, 2470 University Avenue, New York City. The band, color guard, and a snappy rifle company composed of men from all three parent companies present a familiar group at civic and military functions in and around New York City. They are now thoroughly at home parading up the city's famous Fifth Avenue.

The 1st will complete its training and depart from Lejeune so as to arrive back home on Saturday, July 15th.

Campbell is the proud possessor of $35,000.00 in Savings Bonds, as a family inheritance enabled him to purchase $15,000.00 worth last year. He was "forced" to take the "G" Series Bonds this year, as the "E" Series is limited to $5,000.00 per year for any one individual. He need not worry about "ready cash" though, as he has decided to make the Marine Corps a career and will re-enlist for six years on the 8th of July, at which time he will receive $360.00.

personnel to take advantage of courses offered by the Marine Corps Institute and the various Marine Corps Schools.

An outstanding athlete in his college days, the General was a member of Auburn's Varsity Football Team during 1911-12-13-14, when he starred in the backfield. During the latter two years, Auburn won the Championship of the South. The General also played four years on the Varsity Track and Soccer Football Teams.

With the benefit of his collegiate athletic background, General Hart has the deepest realization of the spirit of coordination and teamwork instilled in a group of men functioning as a team. This spirit of team-work is the very backbone of the esprit de corps for which the United States Marine Corps has always been so justly renowned.

Bearing this in mind, he developed both Varsity and Intramural sports at Camp Lejeune to an all-time high of performance and efficiency. Above all did he believe in—and set a personal example of—good sportsmanship. To General Hart goes much of the credit for the fine showing made by last year's Varsity Football Team, a team that made service gridiron history by becoming the first service team to defeat Quantico in over three years.

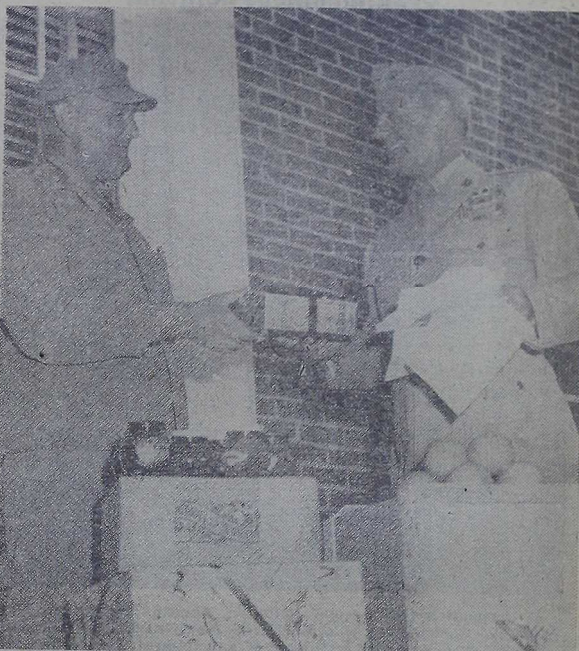

On April 25, 1948, General Hart took part in the solemn ceremonies dedicating the stained glass Memorial Windows in both the Protestant and the Catholic Chapels. The event was given national coverage by the nation's newspapers in both color and rotogravure photography. National, military, civilian, and clergy representatives were present in large numbers. The General always advocated religious participation, always urged it, and always provided opportunity for all to take part and attend the services of their choice.

In appeals from worthy charities and other worthwhile causes, the General was always in the van. The Red Cross, Navy Relief, Bond and Savings Drives, USO Campaigns, March of Dimes, Cancer Drive, Tuberculosis Fund, etc., saw no stone left unturned to raise funds at Camp Lejeune and many have been the letters of appreciation for donations contributed.

May 24, 1949, saw General Hart spade a shovel of earth from the Athletic Field to officially start construction on Camp Lejeune's new Field House, the consummation of constant endeavor and a lasting monument to a promise fulfilled.

This huge edifice, a three-story brick building approximately 300 feet long and 180 feet wide blending with the surrounding Georgian Colonial motif, will house on the main floor sports auditorium three regulation basketball courts, indoor softball, handball, and other floor sports such as shuffleboard. It will seat approximately 5,500 people. Included will be shower rooms, locker rooms, offices, storage and equipment rooms, and first aid facilities.

This huge Field House will be the finishing touch in giving Camp Lejeune unexcelled media for developing strong and virile fighting men, the Marines of today and tomorrow who will keep alive the tradition that America must remain strong.

Nor with all this activity during the past two and a half years has the forte of a Marine been overlooked—that of being a first-class fighting man.

General Hart's first assignment upon taking command was to lead units of the Second Marine Division on maneuvers climaxed by actual landing operations on Vieques Island in the Caribbean. These maneuvers lasted for approximately six weeks. At their conclusion, they were pronounced highly successful, with the coordination with other participating forces rated as "tops."

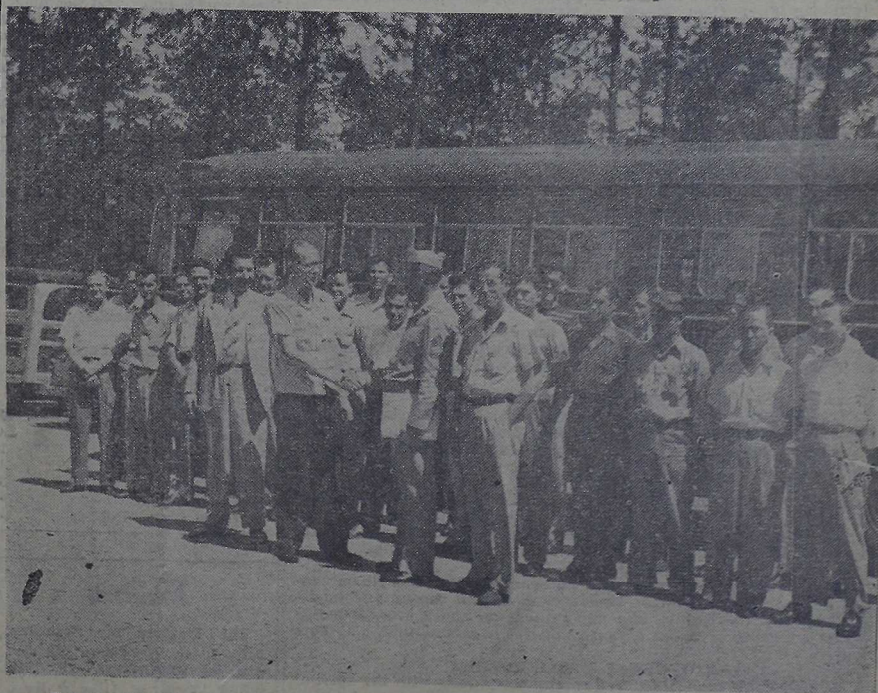

So has it been with maneuvers every year and with operations such as NORAMEX, CAMID, PORTREX, CROSSOVER, and many others, as well as with the regular Mediterranean training cruises. Wherever men or elements of the Second Marine Division have been assigned, they have been hailed and lauded as outstanding, thanks to General Hart's leadership, planning, training program, and intense desire for military perfection.

Major General Franklin A. Hart has left his indelible mark of successful accomplishment on Camp Lejeune and with him to his new assignment at Quantico go the best wishes of all hands for continued success and well being.

capture of the heavily fortified Island of Iwo Jima. For his part in this battle he was awarded a Gold Star in lieu of a second Legion of Merit.

General Robinson was born June 1, 1896, at Los Angeles, Calif. He attended the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, where he took a Civil Engineering course.

His military career started May 21, 1917, when he enlisted as a private in the U. S. Marine Corps. On October 9, 1917, just prior to completing his recruit training, he was commissioned a second lieutenant.

The next six years saw him completing the Officers' Training School at Quantico, training and going to France with the 13th Marine Regiment, returning from France to a tour of duty at Quantico, going overseas to Pearl Harbor as a company commander, and returning to the United States to take command of the Marine Detachment at the Destroyer Base, San Diego, Calif.

He remained at San Diego until mid-year of 1926 when he was appointed to the Staff of the Commanding General, Western Mail Guard, during the period when Marines were guarding the U. S. Mail.

Completing this assignment in early 1927, he sailed for China with the 4th Marine Regiment where he was assigned to the Staff of the Commanding General, 3d Marine Brigade, first in Shanghai and later, as the Chinese Koumingtang Army advanced northward, in Tientsin.

April of 1929 saw him back in Quantico for a stay of about one year.

During the summer of 1929 he was resident engineer and Officer in Charge of the Detachment that built President Hoover's initial camp on the Rapidan.

In 1930 he returned to the West Coast and was ordered to sea duty as Commanding Officer of the Marine Detachment aboard the USS Colorado, upon completion of which he went to the Puget Sound Navy Yard, Bremerton, Wash., where he remained until 1935.

Again returning to Quantico as Post Maintenance Officer and Safety Engineer, he was assigned to the Senior Course in 1938 and upon graduation in '39, went to foreign shore duty in China as Executive Officer and Operations Officer, Marine Detachment, American Embassy, Peiping. Later he went to Tientsin as Commanding Officer of the Post Marine Detachment, and finally until his return to the States was Commanding Officer, Marine Forces, North China, and Commanding Officer, Marine Detachment, American Embassy, Peiping.

Going to Headquarters, Marine Corps, in July, 1941, he joined the Personnel Section, Division of Plans and Policies, and was named Officer in Charge of that section in 1942. In 1943, he became Officer in Charge, Operations and Training Section, Division of Plans and Policies, which position he held until ordered overseas as Chief of Staff of the Third Marine Division.

June, 1945, saw him as Assist-mishap for two more innings, but in the fourth Cameron added two more to their collection, making it 6-1, with Lejeune on the short end.

The fifth saw Gilmore lifted for a pinch-hitter, and also saw Lejeune make it a 6-3 scoreboard when Nels Hoerner unleashed a line single with two men on. Frank Masso came on in relief for the second time in three games.

In the seventh Lejeune got two more, coming within a single run of knotting the count, this time when Peirtsch brought two men home with a line drive hit to left-center field.

Inning eight was the Cameron clincher, however, when Lejeune suddenly collapsed, giving them three big runs on one hit and four errors. It was too much too late in the game, and Lejeune couldn't get back into the game.

The locals got two on in the eighth, but no one could get across as the Cameron pitcher retired the side in the ninth—one, two, three.

Movie Review As It Appears This Week

WHERE DANGER LIVES

Drama—If the title of this picture means anything, it should prove to be full of excitement and adventure. Though we have no advance information on this movie, Robert Mitchum and Faith Domergue should provide adequate excitement for the average movie-goer. ... Three Bells.

THE SPY HUNT

Drama with microfilm evidence of a Middle European political murder being smuggled out of Italy and France to the United Nations. This routine espionage number manages a fairly diverting time for the movie goers. Howard Duff and Marta Toren lead the cast to make this a movie you shouldn't miss. ... Three Bells.

CAPTIVE GIRL

Jungle Drama—Jungle Jim in the form of Johnny Weismuller brings the average Jungle melodrama to the screen with the aid of Buster Crabbe. If you like lots of gorillas, elephants, swimming, and a small amount of excitement, you will like this one. ... Two Bells.

DUCHESS OF IDAHO

Musical Comedy—A delightful musical with Esther Williams and Van Johnson joining forces to create a certain amount of humor to blend with the bathing suit and present an above average movie. If the picture lives up to advance notices, it should rate. ... Four Bells.

THE GREAT JEWEL ROBBER

Drama—This interesting, suspenseful story deals with the amazing exploits of a modern "Raffles" who made the headlines a short time ago when the police finally trapped him. Most movie-goers will find it interesting and absorbing. David Brien and Marjorie Reynolds are excellent in their roles. ... Three Bells.
