Southeastern Division Matches Get Underway

The 1950 Southeastern Division Rifle and Pistol matches started Monday morning at 0700 with the firing of the Preliminary Competition phase with the rifle. Over 100 top-ranking rifle and pistol experts filled the air with gunsmoke at Camp Lejeune's rifle range.

Such as De La Hunt, Devine, and McBee, as well as others, were found on the competitors. Competing for individual honors, 50 rifle and 50 pistol matches are present on the different ranges, representing Marine activities, both active and reserve from the Canal Zone, Curacao, Bermuda and southern United States. The greatest number of shooters entered by the Second Marine Division, 40 rifle and 20 pistol, while other activities all have smaller quotas. Newcomers to match-shooting are qualified for the event by showing up well under the gun. They have already served at Camp Lejeune and they will be in the thick of the matches as com-

Division FSCCT Returns From Va.

After presenting their demonstrations on how to get the most out of supporting arms within a division to the officers of the Junior and Senior Amphibious Courses at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., on May 16 and 17, the Second Marine Division's Fire Support Coordination Center team returns to Camp Lejeune this week.

Under the command of Colonel W. S. Brown, USMC, Commanding Officer of the Tenth Regiment, and comprised of division fire support agencies, the team left here May 11 after presenting its demonstration several times within the division.

The primary purpose of the FSCCT is to integrate the fire power of all weapons available to a division such as air, naval gunfire, artillery and tanks, into one cohesive interlocking and independent effort. It is exclusively a post-war development of the Marine Corps and was first tested and perfected within the Second Marine Division with the support of the Second Marine Air Wing. Today the First and Second Marine Divisions are the only units under the American Flag which possess this capability of coordinating their supporting arms.

According to Colonel Brown, FSCCT demonstrations are designed to give observers a bird's eye view instead of a worm's eye view of what happens to their requests for supporting fires. They are divided into two phases; first, the planning of fires in support of a coordinated attack by an infantry unit; and, second, the utilization of fires conducted in the repelling of a counterattack.

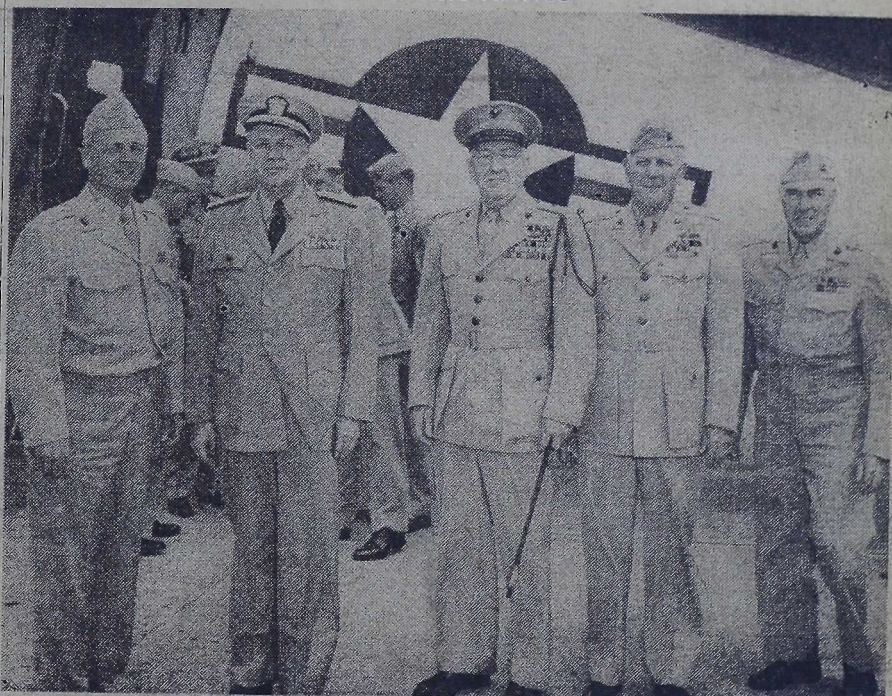

1950 Navy Relief Drive For Funds

The second pay day in May is the important day for Camp Lejeune to go "over the top" in its drive for contributions to the Navy Relief Society. If all hands take part, we can easily double the amount raised at this Base last year, which is the challenging goal set up for us by the President of the Camp Lejeune Auxiliary and the Commanding General, Major General Franklin A. Hart.

Without a doubt the goal is worthy of achievement and calls for cooperation of all hands at Camp Lejeune. A U. S. Naval Air Station south of us contributed over $20,000 last year with less than half as many families receiving financial assistance as was true at Camp Lejeune last year.

For those who are missed on the second pay day in May, there will be another opportunity the first pay day in June. The campaign closes on 6 June.

C. N. Harris, now retired, is present to hear the hot Monday morning. The last year's Executive Officer of the Southeastern Division stated that he just can't get the spirit of the rifle range out of him. It is just possible he doesn't want to. He is still a referee of the National Rifle Association for all rifle and pistol matches held in the southern United States.

Top Atlantic Fleet Officers Visit Camp

Admiral William M. Fechteler, Commander in Chief of the Atlantic Fleet, paid an official visit to Camp Lejeune on Monday. He was accompanied by Lieutenant General Leroy P. Hunt, Commanding General of the Fleet

Marine Force, Atlantic.

After inspecting the base and witnessing a review held in their honor Monday afternoon, they completed their inspection on Tuesday morning and departed for Cherry Point.

The official party flew in from Norfolk shortly before noon and were met at Peterfield Point by Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of the Second Marine Division and Camp Lejeune, Brigadier General John T. Selden, Deputy Camp Commander, and Brigadier General William J. Whaling, Assistant Division Commander.

High point of the two-day visit was the review held at the Camp Parade Ground on Monday afternoon. Tanks, jeeps, trucks, and a battalion of marching infantry gave the distinguished visitors a closeup view of the modern Marine division's striking power.

After Admiral Fechteler had been honored with the customary ruffles and flourishes and a 17-gun salute, Major General Hart escorted the visiting officers along the line of troops and vehicles. They were accompanied by LtCol. (See VISITORS Page 2)

1950 Cancer Fund Lejeune Donations Triple Area Quota

Once again, Lejeune Marines, Navy, and civilian personnel have proved their open-handed generosity in a worthy cause by their voluntary contribution of $3,399.53 to the 1950 American Cancer Society Drive.

This marks the second time in the current year that Lejeune alone has exceeded the entire Onslow County quota, the other time being in the March of Dimes. The county quota for the Cancer Drive was $1,000.

These performances do not go unnoticed or unheeded by the people of the county or the civilian press. It has been noted editorially and has received much favorable comment from drive members and committees.

One editor stated: "This generosity by Lejeune's people is especially commendable. It would have been comparatively easy for them to have disregarded the appeal by saying that they have the facilities for taking care of their own victims of this dreaded disease. But instead, they went to work to estab-

Sgt. R. A. Berling Supply School Bn. Receives Silver Star For Peleliu Graduates 27 Men From Two Schools

For conspicuous gallantry in rescuing several wounded men under fire at Peleliu in World War II, SSgt. Raymond R. Berling was decorated with the Silver Star Medal in a ceremony held at Courthouse Bay on May 11th.

The medal and a citation signed by the Secretary of the Navy were presented to Berling by his commanding officer, Maj. Richard G. Warga of the 2d Amphibian Tractor Company.

Berling won the Silver Star on September 15, 1944, during the First Marine Division's assault on Peleliu. An amphibious truck had been hit in shallow water and set on fire by the Japanese defenders of the island.

Two men were pinned under the burning wreckage and several other wounded lay nearby. Berling, then a corporal, went to their aid under a hail of mortar and small-arms fire.

"After assisting in extracting the two men and getting them to the beach, he made repeated trips back to the truck to help the other wounded to shore," Berling's citation states.

"His coolness under fire and his prompt and courageous actions were contributing factors in saving the lives of several personnel and reflect great credit on Corporal Berling and the United States Naval Service."

A veteran of the Pacific fighting, Berling returned to the United States in 1944. With the 1st Amphibian Tractor Battalion since March, 1942, he had fought at Guadalcanal and Cape Gloucester before the Peleliu operation and held the Purple Heart Medal.

Versatile Cog Is Coast Guard

When war strikes, the United States Coast Guard doffs its peacetime role with the Treasury Department and dons the battle paint of the Navy.

This versatile service was authorized by Congress on August 4, 1790, and was first known as the United States Revenue Marine, and later as the Revenue Cutter Service. It wasn't until 1915 that it became The Coast Guard.

Rallying under their motto "Semper Paratus" (Always Prepared), the men of the Coast Guard serve the nation during peacetime by their enforcement of marine laws, search and rescue, lifeboat stations, and many other important tasks vital to everyday navigation.

Graduation exercises were held at the Supply School Battalion last Monday morning for 15 men finishing the Motor Vehicle Operators Class Number 14 in the Motor Transport School and 12 men completing the Stewards Class Number 24 in the Food Service School.

Those completing the two schools in the order of their final standing were:

Motor Vehicle Operators Class: Privates First Class Donald J. Mattade, Donald R. Cumberland, Thomas W. Hagerty, Walter T. Wisniewski Jr., Frank A. Destefano, Dean G. Marshall, Arthur T. Davis, Ernest W. Wiese, Clyde L. Reed, John M. Blair, Emil J. Paul, Arthur J. McGill, Richard J. Rosenberg, Hollis L. Beatty, and Rolland

Commissioned Warrant Officer D. R. Lebock, Officer in Charge of the Food Service School, was the first speaker at the exercises. Mr. Lebock stressed to the graduates the importance of cleanliness and a neat appearance at all times, but especially in and around the galley.

Captain M. D. Grush, Officer in Charge of the Motor Transport School, was the next speaker. Captain Grush urged the men to display an energetic attitude towards their jobs, no matter to what duties they might be assigned.

Major P. B. McNicol, Director of Instruction and S-3 of the Supply School Battalion, was the principal speaker of the day. The theme of his talk was to do the job well, and to always keep studying in order to get ahead. He strongly advocated constant reference to the Technical Manual, bringing out the fact that overseas the "old salts" were always checking the manual—usually after hours—looking for "the right way instead of the easy way."

"Happy Holiday"

A dance recital entitled "Happy Holiday" will be presented by the Midway Park School of Dance, at Midway Park Community Building on May 25th at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the Midway Park Shopping Center from Mrs. Raney.

ASAF Program

Armed Forces Day will be observed at the NCCS Club with Open House Saturday from one o'clock through the afternoon and evening for military personnel and civilian visitors. In the evening there will be dancing to record music.

A "Coronation Ball" for the May Queen to be chosen by servicemen will take place next Wednesday, May 24th. Hostesses whose names have already been entered include Misses Jean Brown, Dorothy Ennis, Hilda Hill, Roxie Hood, Nancy Lambe, Jean Morton and Louise Mattocks. Votes may be entered at the NCCS Club until Tuesday evening. Servicemen are requested to wear ties and jackets for this dance.

Another Talent Show is being planned for the last week in May, and anyone who would like to participate is urged to contact Miss Birmingham any evening at the Club. The recent performance brought out a diversity of talent including Harmonica Solos by Pfc. Russell Ashley and Roy Woods, Songs with Guitar by William Collins; Al Jolson Impersonations, Vincent Riccio; Tap Dance by the Simpson Twins and a Comic Ballet by Jackie Simpson, Eleanor Prevost and Joe Merkle. Hap Clark introduced the acts. It has been suggested that a Roller Skating Show be combined with the next performance. If any reader has had any experience in training skaters, his help would be appreciated.

In the last year of World War II, 3,922 men and women from the seven southeastern states had won commissions in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Something New In Transportation

Varsity athletes at Camp Lejeune will travel in splendor and comfort from now on in the General Motors Inter-City Coach recently purchased by the Camp Special Services Office.

The new bus, 40 feet in length, will accommodate 41 passengers comfortably on its foam fabric-covered reclining seats. Powered by a 220-horsepower motor, the bus has a separate, which runs a regular refrigeration unit supplying air-conditioning for the comfort of the passengers. For those who like to read on the long trips to and from the various posts and stations on the coast, individual lamps have been installed over each seat.

For easy recognition, the words U. S. Marine Corps have been painted on each side of the bus above the windows, with the words Camp Lejeune, N. C., being painted below the windows. The rear of the bus is painted the words "The World's Most Complete Amphibious Training Base," by TSgt. J. W. Richardson.

Report From Washington

Duty Status is now authorized for European Command military personnel delivering automobiles to ports of embarkation for authorized shipment, or picking them up after shipment from the United States. Previously, personnel picking up or delivering cars at ports were required to use leave time.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress authorizing review of the records of Navy officers who failed to advance in grade during World War II, to determine if error, delay, oversight or injustice was the cause.

A Women's Interservice Athletic League has been formed in Washington to integrate athletic programs of servicewomen in the Capital area. Representatives of each Service will hold membership.

Approximately 150 French Army, Navy and Air Force personnel arrived recently at Norfolk, Va., for assignment to United States military training schools as part of the Mutual Defense Assistance Program.

First Enlisted Man Completes Officer's Basic Extension Course

Master Sergeant James W. Mowery recently became the first enlisted man to complete the Officer's Basic Extension Course offered by the Extension Division, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

MGS Extension Courses Reach All-Time High

Enrollments in the various courses and sub-courses of the Extension Division, Marine Corps Schools, reached an all-time high of 6,076 during the month of April, 1950. On January 1st of this year, enrollments totalled only 4,636.

One of the principal reasons for the rapid increase was the recent opening of primary extension courses to enlisted personnel in the grades of sergeant, corporal, private first class, and private.

Thousands of "Hometown Marines" from Marine Corps Reserve units all over the nation will be in training this summer at Camp Lejeune.

The southeast contributed 78,354 personnel—nearly the strength of four combat divisions—to the U. S. Marines during World War II.

Naval Academy or a civilian institution, whichever is appropriate to the individual case, for endorsement stating that the applicant is qualified to represent that institution in the competition. Graduates of civilian institutions should insure that academic transcripts of their previous education are submitted with their application.

A board will be convened on or about 10 July, 1950, to consider all requests and recommend those who are considered to possess the qualifications necessary to receive Navy sponsorship in the competition.

While at Oxford, Navy and Marine Corps students sponsored by the Navy will be considered on active duty and will receive pay and allowances commensurate with their rank. Recipients of scholarships obtained otherwise will not receive special benefits authorized for Navy sponsored candidates.

When the inspecting party returned to the reviewing stand, the Second Marine Division Band led parading units as they passed in review.

Helmeted infantry of the 2d Battalion, Second Marines, stepped out smartly in the wake of the band. Mortars, machine guns, and recoilless rifles were pulled along on carts by marching gunners in an impressive display of modern infantry firepower.

Close behind the infantry rolled jeeps, and trucks loaded with troops demonstrated the mobility required by modern warfare. Last in the line of march were the tanks, pennons dipping and fluttering as they roared past the reviewing stand.

After the review, Admiral Fecteler and Lieutenant General Hunt spent a busy afternoon inspecting the buildings and facilities of this huge base. Monday evening they were the guests of honor at a reception, dinner, and formal dance at the Officers' Mess.

B. J. Bailey, Officer of 23 Years, Promoted

Assistant Communication Officer Bernard J. Bailey, Second Marine Division, was recently selected for promotion to the rank of Major by the President of the United States. He took the office from Lt. Col. G. P. ...

Mr. Bailey enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1927 as a private. He received basic training at Parris Island, S. C. On completion of his training he was sent to Quantico, Va., to serve with the 87th Signal Battalion, and has been a communication Marine ever since.

On May 29, Mr. Bailey was promoted to the rank of Major after several years in Nicaragua. He was assigned to Village Duty. He returned to the United States in 1931.

Mr. Bailey was again sent to Nicaragua in 1932, this time for a connection with the Presidential Election. The assignment was to see that the election was conducted in accordance with the wishes of the natives. After the election he returned to the United States and was assigned to the Comm. School at Quantico, Va., in 1933.

Mr. Bailey boarded the USS Anderson for Pelping, China, where he was assigned duty with the American Embassy Guard as a recreation clerk. In May, 1941, he was sent back to the United States to help with two ships ahead of Pearl Harbor.

World War II, he served in the Marianas Islands, and Peleliu. Just prior to his assignment, he was promoted to the rank of Major.

After 23 years in the Marine Corps, Mr. Bailey spent 14 years in baseball for the Marine Division. He pitched 11 years as a pitcher and is one of the few Marines to have pitched in all three major leagues. He pitched a 7 to 0 shutout, three hits, in Pelping. Mr. Bailey says, "I can still pitch three innings."

NSLI Dividends

Some service personnel are receiving letters from the VA advising them that they are not entitled to receive the special NSLI dividend. However, due to the procedure employed by the VA in determining eligibility, such information is not correct in all cases.

It would appear advisable for anyone receiving such a letter from the VA to consult his Unit Insurance Officer on the case. If, upon consultation, it appears that the dividend may in fact be due, assistance can be given in drafting a reply.

Persons who have received neither the NSLI special dividends nor the letters referred to above should IN NO EVENT make inquiry to the VA regarding the non-receipt of dividend prior to 30 June, 1950.

Sgt. "Tear Gas" Gurgacz Retires After 23 Years

Sergeant John Gurgacz, better known to his many friends in the old days as "Tear Gas," retired last Friday after completing 23 years of active service in the Marine Corps. Upon retirement, Gurgacz transferred to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve to round out his "30."

Gurgacz has quite a record behind him in the service, spending 15 years of his 23 overseas, and 3 years sea-going. He wears 11 campaign ribbons and decorations in all, including the Presidential Unit Citation, Navy Unit Commendation, Second Nicaraguan Campaign, and the Asiatic-Pacific Theater with 4 stars covering Cape Gloucester, Peleliu, Okinawa and New Guinea. His China Service extends over several periods and he holds the Marine Corps Expeditionary Medal for this service. During the Pacific campaigns, Sgt. Gurgacz served with the famous First Marine Division and was present on D-Day at each one of the above landings.

At the time of his retirement, the Sarge was serving with Headquarters and Service Company, 2nd Battalion, Second Marine Division, as an all-around utility and maintenance man.

Club 58 News

For the past few weeks, quite a number of people living on Carver Drive and Carver Circle have been selling or purchasing votes for a baby contest. I learned from reliable sources that the money netted from this project will be used to buy recreation equipment for a playground for the children of our community. This program is under the sponsorship of the Carver Circle Womens' Club. This is a worthwhile cause these women are working for, and I think everyone of us, military and civilian, should support this program wholeheartedly.

Certainly our children can use additional recreational facilities, and any equipment that can be gotten through this campaign for the youngsters will serve a fine purpose. Statistics prove where there is some form of good, wholesome recreation there are fewer delinquent children. Good recreation promotes healthy bodies and healthy minds.

The names of the two most popular babies will be announced May 20th, in the school building. A musical program is also scheduled for this date preceding the announcements.

Carver Circle Womens' Club, this reporter salutes you and wishes you Godspeed in your campaign.

Now, back to Club 58. For your entertainment this Saturday night, May 20th, the Burton "combo" promises to play some "real gone" but weird "bop"! Don't miss it. Chances are you'll hear a couple of new songs composed by Johnnie Haines (PFC), Burton's piano man. Incidentally, May 20th is the nation's first Armed Forces Day, and I'm sure SSgt. Kaiser is making preparations to show you a very grand time.

Chaplain's Corner

"IF I COULD ONLY..."
Russell Conwell, a great preacher and lecturer of the last generation, had a famous speech that he gave hundreds of times in all of the large cities of the United States. Great crowds of people came to hear him give this lecture and thousands of printed copies were sold. Yet the theme of the speech was very simple. It was entitled, "Acres of Diamonds" because it was centered around the story of a man from Arabia who searched all over the world for fame and fortune only to return to his home and find there acres of diamonds on his own land.

Again and again we say to ourselves, "If only I were somewhere else" - "If only I could be doing something different," - "If only I could go home, go overseas, get transferred," - "If I could only do this or that, I would be happy and everything would come my way." Yet, happiness and the opportunities for success are all about us. Acres of diamonds are often at our feet while we look over the fence at the supposedly greener pastures.

We should make plans and provisions for the future, but we should also make the best of every day. Some people spend their lives making plans for future happiness, all the while making their own lives and the lives of those about them miserable. We should rather live every day in a way in which we can harvest the acres of diamonds of friendship, wisdom and experience that lie about us.

Jesus told His disciples that rather than worry unduly about the future to the point that it might become an obsession with them, they should heed His words, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Pedestrians

The major portion of the blame for automobile-pedestrian fatalities is always heaped upon the driver of the automobile. Ever since the origination of the slogan, "The Pedestrian Has The Right Of Way," walkers have been careless. At Camp Lejeune, we see many men who walk on the wrong side of the road, who "jay-walk," and who walk between parked automobiles without regard for personal safety.

The situation is especially predominant in the theatre areas after the movies. The theatre-goers pour from the theatre into the paths of automobiles believing that the drivers will see them in time and stop. They have been lucky so far. But the law of averages will catch up to them sooner or later. When it does, you will probably notice a great improvement in pedestrian safety.

It's too bad that the situation can't be corrected without the need of an accident. The automobile, like a supposedly unloaded rifle, can be a dangerous weapon if not given the proper respect. You don't have to be in an automobile to have an automobile accident.

When you are walking along a road during darkness, for example, walking to Marston Pavilion on dance nights, walk on the left side of the road facing traffic. When an automobile approaches, get well off the road. Too many men expect the drivers to go around them. The drivers will IF THEY SEE THEM. Carrying a white handkerchief in your hand at night is always a good policy.

Keep in mind the ABC rule of survival in our automobile infested world. This rule applies to pedestrians as well as drivers. The rule, "Always Be Careful."

Military Housing

The House Armed Services Committee recently ruled out further government construction of family quarters at military bases in the continental United States, according to a United Press dispatch.

The committee voted unanimously to amend the pending 689 million dollar military construction bill to eliminate about 97 million dollars previously authorized for military family housing.

The committee declared construction of such housing should be left to private enterprise under the Wherry Act, which provides numerous special incentives for that type of home building.

Many housing projects under the Wherry Act are already under way at a number of military posts, and a great expansion of such construction is planned under the law as liberalized by recent amendments authorizing defense agencies to negotiate with private firms for the development and operation of such projects.

Catholic Children Receive First Holy Communion

Mother's Day, May 14th, was also the day on which 30 children made their First Holy Communion at the Catholic Chapel. Children in the group came from Paradise Point, Trailer Park, Midway Park, Jacksonville, and Holly Ridge. They have been receiving religious instruction weekly at the Camp School since last October from the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, who made the journey each week from New Bern to give the instructions.

All children participating formed a colorful procession as they entered the Chapel for the 9:00 o'clock Mass. At the appropriate time, they walked up the altar steps and received for the first time the Sacrament of Holy Eucharist from Father Anthony L. Gendron. It was a great day in their lives and it had been purposely planned for Mother's Day, the day dedicated to the person nearest their heart.

The children receiving First Holy Communion were Diana L. Baker, Dennis W. Baker, Catherine E. Blatz, Bert A. Blatz, Don C. Blasingame, Laurence R. Buchanan, Patricia J. Bucher, James V. Cross, Pamela Davis, Martha E. Dillon, Patricia Ellis, Albert Epps, Jacqueline Giotta, Cecelia T. Hunter, Laurence Keenan, Donna M. Kindt, Robert Kochan, Robert Kunka, Joseph A. Langley, Marie E. Midway Park

By Recreational Director

Chaplain R. S. Sassaman, who has carried on as our Chaplain, is being relieved of duty here. It would be difficult and beyond this writer's ability to express the sentiments of the people in this community on saying farewell to a fine Chaplain and a grand man.

The Girl Scout Troops 28, 30, and 33 will journey to Fort Macon, Morehead City, on June 2nd. Accompanied by their respective leaders, the girls will enjoy a day's outing at the new recreational area where every facility is available for bathing, lunching, etc. Mr. Long, the warden of this recreational spot, will conduct the girls and their leaders on a tour of Fort Macon. This is an interesting landmark that will prove instructive and fun for the girls.

A May Day Baby Festival will be conducted at the Piney Green project. This is the Second Annual Festival held in this area. Last year's program was a real success and we trust this one will also be of financial benefit to the Piney Green Women's Club which is sponsoring this program. Refreshment stands will vend all the usual good things to eat and drink. There will be a Kiddy Toy Parade Field Day and the crowning of one of the little tots.

Are you listening in on your radio program over WJNC on Thursday nights at 9:00? This broadcast, conducted by the Recreational Director, is one that is designed to entertain and keep you informed as to what transpires in the community in which you live. We would like to hear from all of you. Write in to the radio station with comments, suggestions, even criticisms. We would be glad to improve and keep you interested in our program.

Hospital News

Miss Margaret Williams, for the past two years in the recreational department of the Red Cross station at the U. S. Naval Hospital, has been transferred to the Red Cross unit at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Beaufort, S. C.

A native of Farmington, N. C., Miss Williams has been engaged in Red Cross activities since 1945, having served, in addition to the Naval Hospital here, at Camp Campbell, Ky., Camp Gordon, Ga., the Oliver General Hospital, and at Parris Island, S. C., for two years prior to coming to Camp Lejeune.

Miss Williams graduated from Greensboro Women's College and taught school in the Greensboro city schools for a period of time before becoming a member of the Red Cross.

"I have spent two very pleasant years at the Naval Hospital," said Miss Williams before taking leave, "and I can honestly say that I have enjoyed every minute of it. I sincerely regret to have to leave so many friends here, but I can always have the hope of seeing them again sometime, somewhere."

All of the Red Cross staff with whom Miss Williams was associated sincerely regret her leaving, and the same can be said for the many hospital patients she served daily in one way or another, as well as the hospital staff and her many civilian friends, all of whom wish her the best of everything, including health and happiness, in her new assignment!

The Globe Sports

Sports At A Glance.....

By Pfc. Horace Myers

IT DOES YOU GOOD TO LOSE. . . .

"To be able to win, you have to know how to lose." That's been an accepted saying for many years and it's always proven true.

Last Saturday afternoon, here at Lejeune, it was once again proven as the local track squad came through for their first win of the season.

Wake Forest was no pushover, nor were the several other top track teams in North Carolina that Lejeune has met. The locals fully realized that their chances of winning against the Demon Deacons appeared very small at the start of the meet. But the Lejeune squad wasted no time in showing the Deacons, and the fans, that they were out to win.

For the first time this season, Lejeune took the lead and held it after the first three events. This was a good omen.

The events were run off in rapid order, and still the Lejeuners held the lead. Depth, which had bothered the locals in several matches, seemed to be the strong point in this one.

Lejeune's "Wonder Boy," Dan Green, was running in perfect form. He clinched the one-mile run to put Lejeune in the lead after the first event. Coming back in the half-mile run and the 880-yard dash, he again took top honors. The two-mile run was just too much for the most improved member of the local squad as he finished in the fourth place slot. This boy Green has a better than average chance of winning at the All-Marine Corps Meet in Quantico. The first time he ever ran the mile, he was clocked at four minutes and 37 seconds, a time that many runners are still trying for.

Lejeune kept moving along as Way paced the hurdlers to capture both the high and low events.

Lejeune's Patton set an unofficial All-Marine Corps Track Record when he got off a toss of 199 feet and 2 1/2 inches in the Javelin-throw. Patton, who holds the record for the Marine Corps, was an outstanding track and fieldman at the Naval Academy during his college days.

After watching this much improved team unleash their attack, the fans realized that they were backing a team that was giving their all.

Starting back with North Carolina State up until the University of Maryland, the locals suffered loss after loss, and it was hard going to keep on losing. Sometimes it hurts to see everybody win but you, but that's life in every form.

Perhaps it was good for the team to suffer those early losses. One could hardly expect them to come close to teams like North Carolina, Duke, and State, all three top squads, not only in North Carolina but all over the country.

The locals have now tasted both sides of the bread, the sweet and the sour. They know how to lose and how to win. Watch them roll now.

Tennis Tourney

A double elimination tennis singles tournament will be held at Camp Lejeune to determine a qualified team to enter in the forthcoming All-Navy Tennis Tournament. Names should be submitted to the Camp Athletic Office by 19May50.

A four-man team will be selected in the playoffs and will represent Camp Lejeune at the All-Navy eliminations. Further details will be published at a later date on pertinent information regarding the tourney.

The Camp Athletic Office is located in Building No. 1005 and may be reached by phone at 3653.

Locals Drop Two To Fort Jackson

Riding on the crest of a 14-game win streak, the red-hot Red Devils of Fort Jackson soundly thrashed the local nine twice last week, taking the first in a night game, 17-2, and whipping the Marines again in the second, 10-4.

Lejeune committed seven errors in the night contest, and the Devils added a 16-hit attack to push their lossless skein to 15. Lejeune opened fast, scoring twice in the first inning, but that was as far as the Lejeune offensive could go.

The Red Devils are probably the hottest thing alive in service circles right now. They fielded the sharpest, surest club Lejeune has run into to date. Every man was an expert in his position, as the final tabulation tells clearly.

Lejeune connected for three hits in the first two innings, with Hoerner, Becker and Beall collecting. Washington, who started, was plagued by errors, and Lefty Gilmore finished out the ball game in a six-inning relief role.

The second clash was a much brighter story. In that second contest, coach Moe Zorn's juggled lineup came back in fine style. Even though Jackson took that one also, Lejeune showed more spark, more drive than in any of their previous five tilts.

In that game, Hoerner was at first, and Danny Cardaman broke into the lineup at shortstop to get two hits. But the third, and probably most significant change, was the insertion of hustling, hopping, always hollering Sid Klinepeter. Sid worked the game behind the plate, giving the greatest show of hustle and drive shown anywhere this year.

And again it was Fred Becker, who, with Klinepeter, led the hitting attack. Becker got two hits again, as did the Lejeune catcher. Klinepeter's first base blow of the game was a double off the 345-foot mark in right-center field.

Lejeune got the first of their four runs in the sixth, when Becker singled, and Klinepeter's two-bagger brought him home. The locals added three more in the seventh. Rice led off with a double, and Cardaman doubled him home. Chambers was safe on a fielder's choice, then came Charley Beall's 310-foot four-bagger, scoring Chambers ahead of him. The home run climaxed Beall's road trip hitting spree, which saw him boost his batting average from a .229 mark to a robust .304. Red Johnson was safe on an infield hit, but Hickoff and Hoerner fanned to end the inning.

1950 Intramural Baseball League Gets Underway

The "play ball" call sounded from diamonds of the Sixth Marines to the fields out at Tent Camp last Monday afternoon, as some 19 Lejeune "farm clubs" moved into action opening the 1950 Intramural Softball and Baseball Leagues.

Due to Spring maneuvers, the leagues were late in starting. But, the squads have been conducting their practice sessions for some time, and pre-game talk has the leagues setup for one of the tightest races in the history of both the American and National.

Several of last season's Intramural stars were missing as the first pitch crossed the plate since they are now property of Coach, Lt. "Moe" Zorn, mentor of the local varsity nine.

All games are slated to get underway at 1530 during the season and are scheduled for 7 innings. A time limit of 15 minutes will be allowed a team not ready to start at game time. Upon expiration of the 15-minute time limit, a forfeit will be charged against the team not putting in an appearance.

In a recent Special Services Intramural Baseball and Softball Policy release, several important phases were added to the Intramural system of play. They are:

Ground rules will be established 15 minutes prior to game time upon agreement by both coaches and the umpire-in-chief and interested parties. If, during the game, a point comes up not covered

Experience Pays Off

The old adage, "Experience Is The Best Teacher," paid off over the week end in the form of a 7 pound 1 1/2 ounce fresh water Large Mouth Black Bass which was hooked by Pfc. Ronald L. Lowe of the 2nd Motor Transport Battalion. Lowe hooked his catch in Wallace Creek using a fly rod baited with a Hulla Popper with a Red and White Skirt. Lowe claimed he has gained his experience from beginning his fishing career at the age of 6. (Photo by Pfc. E. A.

Fishing this week-end was not what could be termed excellent, but the fish were biting if you knew where.

The biggest catch of the week goes to Pfc. Ronald L. Lowe of the 2nd Motor Transport Battalion who came up with a prize catch of a 7 pound 1 1/2 ounce fresh water Large Mouth Black Bass which he landed in the Wallace Creek using a fly rod with a Hulla Popper with a Red and White Skirt.

By the way, speaking of big fish, it is rumored that a Fishing Rodeo will probably be held at Camp Lejeune. All you anglers who come up with what you think is a good size fish, no matter what it's species, report it to the NCO in Charge of the Wallace Creek Boat House. The only information available just now is that there is going to be a Rodeo with prizes being awarded for the largest fish caught in the various species. The prizes will be awarded at the end of each quarter.

A lot of fishermen and women were seen Saturday morning at the Sneads Ferry Bridge, but there were no fish in evidence.

Croaker and drum with an occasional speckled trout were being caught at New Topsail Beach and Surf City.

Surf City casters have been making fair catches of channel bass at Drum Inlet up near Morehead City this past week. The channel bass had been plentiful in the area and some of the commercial fishermen have recently landed several hundred in nets.

Bluefish, the fightingest of small game species inhabiting the waters of coastal North Carolina, have appeared in sizeable schools off the Inlet at Morehead City and in the Cape Lookout Bight Area.

Artificial lures, small spoons or bones, were used to attract the fish. The same lures are used for taking Spanish mackerel, another small game species taken at the surface while trolling.

How about some of you local fishermen giving me some dope on your catches and what you have been using for bait? Call the Camp Lejeune Globe Office, 5522.

In the 440-yard dash Lejeune's men finished in positions with specifications going to Will Kett for one of the best places on the quarter-mile year.

Tracksters Lose Road Trip Meet With Maryland

The local tracksters moved back into the circle of Southern Conference Track and Field competition last week when they journeyed to the University of Maryland for a dual meet with the flashy "Terps." Midway Snaps Morehead City Win Streak

While "Pappy" Deim throttled the big bats of a Morehead City nine last Saturday at Midway Park, his team mates capitalized on five Morehead City errors to beat the Tidewater League champs by a score of 5-1. Midway was definitely the under-dog in this contest, Morehead City having previously dropped only one game out of eight played this year.

Deim, who allowed only six scattered hits, would have had a clean shutout but Base Umpire Twenty called a balk on the veteran right-hander in the third frame which sent Benton to third, allowing him to score on Salter's grounder to DeJohn.

Benton, who was batting .434 for Morehead going into this game, helped his average by getting two doubles in three times up. Bob Huffine came through in the clutch for Midway by driving in two runs with his hard hit grounder in the fifth which was good for two bases.

Score by innings: RHE Morehead . . . 001 000 000—1 6 5 Midway . . . 000 032 00x—5 7 1 Batteries: Seipp and Salter; Deim and Stanley.

The All-Marine Track and Field Meet will be held at Butler Stadium, Quantico, Va., on June 16-17. This marks the third consecutive year that the thineclads have fought it out on the Butler Stadium track.

Marine posts and stations scattered throughout the world, regardless of personnel strength, can take first place awards, as no team trophy is given.

The Quantico team, leader in first place awards for the past two years, can look forward to some strong competition by entries from Camp Lejeune, Camp Pendleton, and El Toro Air Station.

Patient Of The Week

Here's one Marine that has his old job back if he wants it—and he definitely does. He is Pfc. Don William Houska of Elberon, Iowa, at the present time a patient on Ward No. 24 at the U. S. Naval Hospital where he has been since he was hospitalized on 3 January, 1950. He is suffering from asthma, but is getting better all the time. That's the way they do it at the Naval Hospital.

Don (who says that no one knows his middle name except his mother and father) is assigned to the outfit known as "Anglico" which, to the laymen, means simply Air Naval Gunfire Liaison Company.

Don, who is well liked by all of the patients on his ward and throughout the hospital, and especially the Red Cross craft shop, is to go home soon on a medical discharge. But it will still be an honorable discharge, huh!

Before entering the United States Marines (he enlisted on 1 Aug., 1948 at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.), this young Marine was a railroad telegrapher for the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, working at De Witt, Iowa. He has that same job back when he is discharged. That's more than is given a lot of Marines when they come home with an honorable discharge from the service!

Our Patient of the Week was born at Elberon, Iowa, on 17 of December, 1928, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Houska. His father was a veteran of World War One, and now is engaged in a small trucking business. Houska got his boot training at San Diego, and then went to a radio school at Camp Delmar, Calif., where he remained for six months. For three months he was on maneuvers in Hawaii, the Marine outfit being attached with the Second Army Division. He thoroughly enjoyed that duty!

Don arrived at Camp Lejeune on June 6, 1949, and was assigned to "Anglico." He would like to remain in the Marine Corps but not with his present ailment.

His hobbies are photography, (he has an Argus C-3 camera with which he has made some excellent pictures, and he has become an expert in building model airplanes since he has been in the hospital through the facilities given him by the Red Cross. Quite often you will find him in the Red Cross Craft Shop building a plane, and some of his work has been displayed in the Red Cross Craft Shop and on displays elsewhere, such as Cherry Point, the Marine Air Station, and at an exhibit in Philadelphia.

"I really can never thank the Red Cross enough for what they have done for me while I was in the hospital," said Don in all seriousness. "They are kicked about here and there by some service men, but when you meet them face to face, it's different. I say this—there is always a rotten apple or two in any barrel, but that doesn't make the whole crate bad! The Red Cross has been wonderful to me and I deeply appreciate it."

He also has a good word for the Naval Hospital staff, his doctor, and those on the ward. "Everyone has been swell to me," he commented, "and if I do say so, it has almost been a pleasure to be hospitalized at the U. S. Naval Hospital."

And the best of everything to you, Don, when you leave the Marine Corps. You will certainly miss the service and we believe the Marine Corps will miss all of those who have your attitude and ability to carry on. Good luck!

Nation's First Armed Forces Day, May 20, 1950

A Proclamation . . .

Whereas the Armed Forces of the United States serve the Nation with courage and devotion both in war and in peace; and

Whereas the Armed Forces, as a unified team, are currently performing, at home and across the seas, tasks vital to the security of the Nation and to the establishment of a durable peace; and

Whereas it is fitting and proper that we devote one day each year to paying tribute to the Armed Forces as the servants and protectors of our Nation:

Now, therefore, I, Harry S. Truman, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim that Saturday, May 20, 1950, shall be known as Armed Forces Day; and I invite the Governors of the States, Territories, and possessions to issue proclamations calling for the celebration of that day in such manner as to honor the Armed Forces of the United States and the millions of veterans who have returned to civilian pursuits.

As Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces of the United States, I direct the Secretary of Defense and the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to mark the designated day with appropriate ceremonies, and to cooperate with civil authorities and civic bodies in suitable observances.

I call upon my fellow citizens to display the flag of the United States at their homes on Armed Forces Day and to participate in exercises expressive of our recognition of the skill, gallantry, and uncompromising devotion to duty characteristic of the Armed Forces in the carrying out of their missions.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and cause the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Movie Review As It Appears This Week

BLUE GRASS OF KENTUCKY
Kentucky Derby Drama—Excellent! It is one of the best horse racing pictures produced in some time. To begin with, the action keeps one interested from start to finish. Then again, there are no vicious villains to make the picture a wild melodrama. Ralph Morgan is cast as a veteran horse trainer, Bill Williams as the hero, and Jane Nigh as the heroine. . . . Three Bells.

OUTCAST OF THE BLACK MESA
Western—A typical Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnett tale of gunsmoke, love and horseplay in the desire to conquer the Old West. If you enjoy the horses, dust, smoke and occasional ricochets, this is a don't miss picture. . . . One Bell.

THE SECRET FURY
Murder Mystery—An intriguing story idea is set in motion in the initial sequences of "The Secret Fury." It is fairly effectively maintained for the most part although the emoting pyrotechnics at times fail to give off a sound register. The plot develops into a full flight murder-melodrama that unveils itself at a time to give the audience complete satisfaction. Robert Ryan and Claudette Colbert share the leading roles. . . . Two Bells.

MARINES RAIDERS

ADMIRAL WAS A LADY
Comedy—We have no information on this picture but the title throws a little light on the subject. With a title like "The Admiral Was a Lady," this picture starring Wanda Hendrix and Edmund O'Brien must be a comedy. . . . Three Bells.

THE GUNFIGHTERS
Western Drama—A different sort of western that engages the interest and holds it throughout because of the main character around whom the proceedings revolve. Good entertainment for moviegoers who want an interesting story with some sharply individualized characterizations, excellently acted by Gregory Peck in the leading role. . . . Four Bells.

HOUSE BY THE RIVER
Murder Mystery—This murder mystery melodrama, revolving around a concealed author who commits a murder and then capitalizes on the publicity for the sale of one of his books, is interesting as a character study, but as entertainment it is gruesome and unpleasant. The acting is competent and the production values very good. . . . Louis Hayward and Jane Wyatt are co-starred in this thriller-chiller. . . . Three Bells.

Armed Forces Day Prayer

Lord God of Hosts, in whom our fathers trusted: We give Thee thanks for all Thy servants who have laid down their lives in the service of our country. Unite all the people of this nation in a holy purpose to defend the freedom and brotherhood for which they lived and died. Grant, we beseech Thee, that the liberty they bequeathed unto us may be continued to our children and our children's children.

O God our Father, we commend to Thy keeping all the men and women serving our country in the Armed Forces by sea, land and air, that they may win for the whole world a just peace, and the sacrifices which they offer for our country's cause may be acceptable in Thy sight, and that an entrance into Thine eternal peace may, by Thy pardoning grace, be open unto them.

And Thine shall be the glory forever and ever.

Amen

Navy A Symbol Of Sea Power; Now 175 Years Old

The United States Navy looks back on 175 years of progress. From its conception in 1775 to the present day, the Navy has advanced to become the world's largest and most powerful sea force.

During the Revolutionary War our Fleet consisted mainly of some 2,000 individual commanders and privateers who dauntlessly sailed into British waters and attacked merchant shipping. However, successful fighting was largely made possible by the allied French Fleet. At the termination of the war, the U. S. Navy practically disappeared.

Six years later, harassed by French merchantmen and Barbary pirates, Congress voted for naval re-establishment. The Navy Department was formed in 1798, and immediately ordered into action against the buccaneering state of Tripoli. New prestige was gained by our Navy at the successful conclusion of the Mediterranean wars.

Our position as a world sea-power was confirmed in 1898 when Commodore George Dewey defeated the Spanish Fleet at Manila Bay without the loss of a single American sailor.

Further naval advancements were made during World War I when the Navy began developing an air arm and submarine fleet.

The Navy crowned its glory in the trying years of World War II. Tremendous convoys were conducted with minimum loss; large-scale landing operations were executed successfully, and vicious sea battles whittled down the enemy's naval and merchant shipping to nothingness.

Today the Navy stands as a

On The Land . . .

Men In Khaki, Are Far And Near

A solid line of khaki encircles the globe: Germany, Trieste, Japan, Guam, Hawaiian Islands, Alaska, West Indies. The United States Army is on the job.

Today's Army differs vastly from the ill-equipped, ragged group which wrote glowing chapters at Valley Forge, Bennington, Trenton, and many others of more modern vintage. Chapters written by our present Army are no less glowing, but the means of attaining victory have undergone drastic changes. Washington would have marveled at our modern, mechanized troops.

Huge tanks, guns, rockets, and methods of combat have made the U. S. soldier not only the most feared opponent, but also one of the best protected. Constant research is keeping the Army in a state of preparedness never before equalled in the nation's history.

In occupied countries, the Army maintains a highly mobile force which can move to troubled areas with lightning speed. The task of the soldier in these countries is not only to maintain law and order. He is a superb example of American democracy in action as well.

With well-trained, intelligent men and the most modern weapons and combat methods, the U. S. Army is prepared to put a "knock-out drop" in any concoction of a potential enemy can brew.

In 1914, a Kaiser brought the world to war because he thought that those aligned against him were too weak and cowardly to fight. In 1939, a Fuehrer again loosed the fateful lightning because of the same reason.

Today, America's Army is an unmistakable sign to all the world that Americans are neither weak nor cowardly. (AFPS) symbol of the ultimate in sea power. It offers hope and encouragement to countries combating the encroachments of communism. The Stars and Stripes flying from the staff of an American ship and the friendliness of the Navy bluejacket in foreign ports have done much to bring about a greater understanding of the workings of democracy.

In The Air . . .

Vast Progress Is Noted In Air Force History

World War II proved that United States air-power meant victory power. In the post-war era, the Air Force is confident that air power means peace power.

In the early 1900's, the Air arm consisted of one officer, two enlisted men and an airplane. That's when it was part of the Army Signal Corps. Today the U. S. Air Force is ready for defensive and offense operations, and is capable of carrying the fight by air into the heart of the enemy's homeland.

The mission of the U. S. Air Force is the air defense of the United States. This defense requires the maintenance of an active Air Force, supported by reserve forces capable of immediate mobilization.

An outstanding postwar achievement of the United States Air Force in Europe was its spearheading of the airlift ("Operation Vittles") across the Soviet land blockade of Western Berlin.

During a typical 24-hour period, an airplane landed at Tempelhof airdrome every 3½ minutes. The peak was reached on Good Friday in mid-April when 12,900 tons of cargo were flown to Berlin in 24 hours.

The Air Force also proved its value during the last war, for it's personnel flew 13½ million hours of combat missions and dropped more than two million tons of bombs. It lost about 22,900 planes—11,500 of them on combat missions—but destroyed more than 40,000 enemy aircraft.
