9th Marines (Reinf.) Return To Lejeune

Birthday Greetings From CINCLANTFLT

Upon the occasion of the 174th Anniversary of the founding of the Marine Corps, the Commander in Chief sends his sincere birthday greetings to all members of the Corps attached to the Atlantic Fleet, together with an expression of his deep appreciation of the outstanding manner in which its mission is being performed. We of the Navy know that in future times of emergency the Marine Corps will live up to the glorious traditions of outstanding valor in combat which it has so ably demonstrated in every war in which the United States has participated.

ADMIRAL BLANDY.

After Leading Amphibious Assault Landing To Climax Successful 41-Vessel Naval Task Group Cold-Weather Exercise Held In Cooperation With Canadian Government

By CPL. M. J. WHITE

The tired old spirit of Lief, the Norseman, recently stood watch over the saddle-back hump of Cape Porcupine on the Labrador coastline as the 9th Marines (Reinforced), an element of the Second Marine Division, made a mass landing on the shore which he first discovered some 949 years ago.

This sandy-shell beach, midway up the coast of Labrador, was the target for an amphibious assault by a Marine Corps landing force led by Brig. Gen. William J. Whaling, Assistant Division Commander, Second Marine Division.

Preceded by a reconnaissance of the beach by Navy Underwater Demolition Team swimmers, beach strikes by planes launched from the escort aircraft carrier USS Sicily, mine-sweeping operations, and simulated shore bombardment by supporting ships, a battalion of the 9th Marines, reinforced by units of the 10th and 16th Marines, altogether some 2800 strong, swarmed ashore in true Marine amphibious assault style to establish a sub-arctic beachhead in an experimental ship-to-shore movement, the climax of the Navy's cold-weather exercises in the North Atlantic. Rear Admiral Lyman A. Thackeray, USN, was in overall command of the task group.

Following the initial assault landing on this isolated northern beach, the Marines secured the "enemy" held weather reporting station, the airstrip, and other outlying installations in the Arctic land mass which were presumed to be the objective.

On completion of this first tactical problem, a bivouac area was established for the remainder of the nine-day training period ashore.

The exercise, designated "NORAMEX" (Northern Amphibious Exercise), was conducted with the cooperation of the Canadian Government and was designed to advance the state of combat readiness for cold-weather operations of the assigned units.

A Canadian destroyer, HMCS Haida, participated as a unit of the support forces, while five Canadian Army officers were with the task group as observers.

Washington—The lower the three digits of your respective service serial number, the earlier you will receive your share of the $2,800,000,000 National Service Life Insurance Fund.

Veterans Administration re-announced this official formula for the basis of which checks, starting in January, will be mailed out to 16 million eligible policyholders and former holders.

First checks to be mailed by the VA will go to veterans whose serial number ends in 000. A group to receive checks whose serial number ends in 999.

Under this procedure, devised by the VA as the fairest method of distributing the fund, veterans' serial numbers end with its 000 through 009 will receive first checks.

Nearly 13,500,000 veterans applied for refunds which range from 90 cents to $528, depending upon the amount of insurance paid by the veterans and the length of time premiums were paid.

The VA has not set a time limit for claims for the NSLI. At present claims are being paid at the rate of $100 a day. About 10 million veterans are expected to go out in 10 weeks after payments begin in January.

The VA warns, however, that applicants will miss early payments even if their serial number is in the low bracket. To the fact that additional information must be obtained from them. These applications will be handled separately.

Twelfth Basic Disbursing Class Graduates 27

"Study is essential if the quantity and quality of your work is to remain high," said Capt. W. A. Willett, Assistant Camp Disbursing Officer, speaking at the commencement exercises of 27 graduates of the 12th Basic Disbursing Class at the Supply School Battalion recently.

The 12-week course, which has been revised due to the new pay system, gives the "foundation of the rudiments of disbursing work," said LtCol. C. W. Shelburne, new Commanding Officer of the Supply School Battalion. The colonel advised the young men to take heed and carry out the responsibilities given to them, as they were specially picked men for the disbursing field.

Maj. R. R. Bolish, Officer in Charge of the Supply School, said the men have reason to be especially proud of their class as its honor man, Pfc. James A. Hendrick, achieved the highest average of any graduate of the disbursing classes. "Keep up the fine work," he added, "and put your knowledge to good use when you go out into the field."

Following the presentation of diplomas by Lieutenant Colonel Shelburne, the graduates reported to their first sergeant to receive their new assignments.

Maj. Norman D. Kent Presents Diplomas in Capacity Of Guest Speaker

"An energetic attitude must be displayed if one is to succeed in the military service," said Capt. M. D. Grush, Officer in Charge of the Motor Transport School of the Supply School Battalion, speaking to the 16 graduates of the six-week 10th Diesel Mechanics and Carburetion and Ignition Classes on Monday, November 14.

"Trade magazines and technical books give you new ideas for your field," said Captain Grush, advising the graduates to subscribe to them, and to "above all keep studying." Following the captain's remarks, LtCol. C. W. Shelburne, Commanding Officer of the Supply School Battalion, rendered a few chosen words to the men on the importance of the work the men would be doing as specialists in a specialty branch. "An army travels on wheels today," he said, pointing out the importance of a motor transport unit in a modern battle, especially in a cold climate.

The graduation exercises were highlighted by the comments of the guest speaker, Maj. Norman D. Kent, Officer in Charge of the Motor Transport Division of the Supply Depot. "The importance of motor transport in the modern army is fully realized and recognized today," said the major, discussing the significance between the old and new civilizations inventiveness. "You men have merely completed the ground-work upon which you can build," remarked the major. "Actual practice will improve your ability in your chosen field." Speaking emphatically on three most important topics—team work, economics and efficiency, and a career—the major proved to the men that they must be ever alert and make the utmost of their opportunities.

On the subject of team work, Major Kent said a Marine must not only learn to give but to take orders, and he must learn the art of getting along with others and to promote harmony among his fellow workers.

The correct use of economics and efficiency, a very important part of a mechanic's job, was the second item the major discussed. He advised the young men to take care of their tools and to be especially careful of spare parts and vehicular equipment. "It is the abuse, rather than the use, that is responsible for breakdowns," he poetically maintained.

Speaking on the subject of a military career, the major said a man must be a good mechanic and he must also be a good Marine. He must stand his guard duty, be attentive at military schooling, keep his uniforms neat and orderly, and take special care of his weapon. "He must be alert and make the utmost of his opportunities," he said, pointing out that hard work and study bring promotion.

Following the discussion of these topics, the major then read a poem he had written on the way back from Okinawa, which recorded the vital part transportation played in the conquering of that Japanese infested island.

Before presenting the diplomas the major said, "In conclusion, I want to offer you my sincerest and heartiest congratulations for having passed an important milestone in your career."

The Indianapolis Speedway

Many of us here at Camp Lejeune have seen the annual Indianapolis speedway race held each year on Memorial Day, but it is not necessary to travel all the way to Indiana to witness this reckless spectacle. All one needs to do is wait at either entrance to Camp Lejeune as the four-thirty whistle signals the end to another working day, and the beginning of dusk. Camp Lejeune and surrounding areas take on the air of a speedway race, with drivers recklessly jockeying for position to be the first one there. But do these same people ever stop to think, what's the hurry, and where are they going? Home to the family and supper, a date with the girl friend, or just no where in particular. No matter what the destination, if these same drivers would only think the second time, I am sure that they would slow down.

Few ever realize it, but in 1948 fatal accidents reached their peak during the hours between 5:00 and 7:00 p.m. During these hours, almost every night it is a common sight to see smashed cars and broken bodies lying along the side of the highway. During these hours, homeward and liberty bound Marines are on the highway. These are the hours when the volume of traffic is near its peak. It is a time, too, when visibility worsens as the sun goes down. Drivers and pedestrians alike are tired and anxious to get home. Careful drivers heed the admonition: "When the sun goes down, slow down."

It is hard to believe, but only last year there were more motorists killed between the hours of five and seven in the evening than any other hours of the day. Last year there were 4,410 persons who lost their lives between these hours.

If you hurry at the end of the day, when you leave the camp compound, you will have time to stop for a few quick ones before the rush, and still reach your destination at the same time, but you will have to hurry to make up for the time you lose during that stop.

No statistics are necessary, however, to inform us that drinking drivers and pedestrians constitute a major traffic problem.

Editorials have been written, laws made, signs posted—but yet the loss of life and limb still mounts. The steadily rising trend of accidents involving persons in the age group of 25 to 64 years, which takes in about 98 per cent of the drivers at Camp Lejeune, is a matter of gravest concern to everyone engaged in highway safety activities.

Most crashes are the fault of the driver, not the car.

This was just as true last year as it was two years ago. Motor vehicles "in apparently good condition" were involved in nine out of ten 1947 and 1948 accidents.

Nothing is more foolish, and dangerous, than a car maintained with loving care and driven with reckless abandon. Equally foolish, and just as dangerous, is an auto whose polished, decorated exterior camouflages neglected brakes or tires.

From accident reports that provide these figures, we know that mechanical defects are responsible for more crashes than the figures indicate. Faulty lights, for instance, can cause fatal accidents, but if the driver is killed and his car badly damaged, the evidence is lost.

The all-important conclusion is this: If your car is not in good condition, you cannot drive with safety. If you don't drive with care and consideration, you're a menace to yourself and others even if your car is in perfect condition.

Once again be reminded; careless, reckless driving loses lives. Be a life-saver. You can never tell, it may be your own.

THE HOUR OF PARTING

Every tongue spoken by man has beautiful words which are used when men speak of a solemn experience in human life. In every language, too, words can be found whose utterance befits an important event. One such an occasion arises whenever we find that the will of God necessitates a separation from friends and loved ones. That is the time when Frenchmen would bid farewell with "au revoir," Germans with "auf Wiedersehen," Poles with "dowiedzenia"; men of other tongues would each utter the appropriate word in his native tongue. But the most significant and beautiful expression is, I think, found in English, for we say "goodbye."

To us in the service it is a familiar word, one we need use all too frequently. Every change of permanent duty requires our bidding farewell with dear friends. Unfortunately, we may permit an un-Christian sadness to preclude the experience. One must remember that orders which transfer military personnel from one duty station to another come from legitimate authority, and hence express the will of God, Who desires and arranges through His merciful Providence that all things work out for the best of those who love Him.

It is helpful then to recall also the significance of what we are saying as we bid goodbye. "Goodbye?" Why, it means "May God be with you!" It means may He protect you from danger to body and soul as you make your journey. It means may God inspire your activities and guide and assist you in them. What more beautiful word could possibly be found for the occasion! Perhaps these meanings are only connotations of the word today, but to the God-conscious English of Shakespeare's era, all these thoughts were in the minds of the people when they bade goodbye. There is no reason in the world why we should not say goodbye in the same manner, with the same meaning.

The natural sadness which steals furtively into the heart as loved ones disappear from sight can be and ought to be held at bay by the certain knowledge that in the Christian virtue of hope we have assurance of finally meeting those we love at the conclusion of life's journey, and that when meeting there, we shall never again be forced into separation. For St. John assures us that under the eternal sun that shines upon the heavenly

OFF STAGE

Many things are said and done on the stage. Off stage, of the most interesting and significant things occur the audience never hears about. Although the setting is a stage, something did happen that warranted passing to this audience of readers.

If you were a witness to last Thursday's gridiron contest the Leathernecks representing the Marine Corps Schools Quantico, Va., you should remember the half-time ceremonies in which four members of the Second Marine Division marched onto the field wearing uniforms depicting various eras of Marine history.

As these four men left the field, General Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the Marine Corps, personally thanked them for the part they played in making the ceremonies possible for you Marines.

CHICAGO, CHICAGO, AND OH WHAT A TOWN

Three Camp Lejeune Marines, all members of the Division Public Information Office, left here last week en route to Chicago, Ill., to attend the Naval Journalistic School. SSgt. Earl Wilson, SSgt. "Sandy" Fabian, and Pfc. Ed Sharpe are the journalistic students we are referring to.

The school will familiarize them with journalism, radio writing, wire recording, photography, Naval history, and a host of other subjects that will make their Marine career in Public Information an easier and more enjoyable one.

Best of luck fellows!

THANKS

The staff of the Globe would like to devote this space to giving their thanks to the Repro-Photo Plant, the Camp Transport, the News and Views, Casual Company, Buckers of the Southeastern Engraving Company in Wilmington, and all others who made the 16-page Anniversary possible. Although more midnight oil was burnt in this issue than ever before, we feel that it was well worth our effort to produce a paper that you would enjoy reading.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING-NEW YEAR'S EVE?

Some will be celebrating here on the base, while others will be celebrating their holiday at home on leave. But the Second Marine Division Band will take part in the Orange Bowl festivities in Miami Beach, Fla., on New Year's Day.

SEMPER PARATUS

According to an Associated Press bulletin dated November 16, a Leatherneck private rescued a Naval officer from the water during the recent joint invasion exercises "Miki."

Pfc. Lawrence Masters of Custer, S. D., went to the aid of (jg) Robert G. Newby when the latter lost his footing on the slippery deck of the submarine Perch and fell into the choppy waters.

Masters, with a safety line about his waist, plunged into the sea and helped Newby keep afloat 30 minutes until the submarine was hauled aboard.

FLICKER FLASHES FLASHED

In addition to publishing the weekly Flicker Flashes containing the showing of pictures at the various areas, the Globe will henceforth run an introductory column with a recap about the picture and other pertinent information for the audience to enjoy reading prior to seeing the movie.

FOURRAGERE ON WEST COAST TOO

The Fifth Marine Regiment, one of the Corps' most colorful units, has been reactivated at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Originally organized in 1917, its activities in World War I caused it the nickname "Devil Dogs" to be attached to Marines. It was deactivated after World War II and reorganized as a battalion in 1941.

"BOOT" PATTED ON BACK

The Parris Island "Boot," the Marine Corps publication, was awarded the Pat-on-the-Back Award from the Armed Forces Press Service, a sub-division of the Armed Forces Information and Education Division Office of the Secretary of Defense, last week. This is the second time within the past 15 months the Marine Corps Recruit in South Carolina has been awarded this honor.

Noted Eye Doctor To Address Group On November 30

Doctor E. C. Anderson of Wilmington, N. C., will address the Camp Lejeune Medical Society on Wednesday, November 30, 1949.

Doctor Anderson will discuss some of the common eye conditions and will illustrate his remarks with colored slides.

Doctor Anderson is eminently qualified to speak on this subject, due to his wide experience in the field of Ophthalmology. Doctor Anderson is a Diplomate of the American Board of Ophthalmologists and practices in Wilmington, N. C.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the U. S. Navy Medical Field Research Laboratory, Building No. 65, at 8:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served to members and guests.

The Camp Lejeune Medical Society has recently been formed to promote professional information and interest among Medical Officers and professional scientists at Camp Lejeune, and nearby military establishments, and to maintain relationships with neighboring kindred civilian groups.

EngSchCo ExecOff Promoted To Capt. Captain Eisenhardt Outstanding In High School And Collegiate Football

Capt. Edward Eisenhardt, Executive Officer of the Engineer School Company at Courthouse Bay, was recently promoted to his present rank in ceremonies held in the offices of Brig. Gen. John T. Selden, Marine Barracks Chief of Staff.

Captain Eisenhardt enlisted in the Marine Corps June 18, 1942, in Buffalo, N. Y. Since his enlistment, the captain has served at Parris Island, S. C.; Cherry Point, N. C.; the Marine Barracks detachment on Guam; and Marine Barracks, Naval Ammunition Depot, Oahu, T. H. While serving overseas during the war, Captain Eisenhardt participated in the invasion of the Marianas.

The New York Leatherneck attended East High School in Buffalo and the University of Niagara at Niagara Falls, N. Y. His high school and college athletic career centered principally around football.

The stocky captain played five years of high school football at East High as a guard. Following high school, he played semi-pro for one year with the Warren City Oilers in Warren, Pa., as a tackle.

His college football career began in 1939 at Niagara University, where he filled a guard position with his 5'9", 210-pound frame. He played three years for Niagara before enlisting in the Marine Corps.

Captain Eisenhardt's service football talents have not been shown as the nature of the captain's duties prevented him from playing but two games for the NAE Casual Station team last year.

Captain Eisenhardt is married to the former Norma E. Becker of 503 Cambridge Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

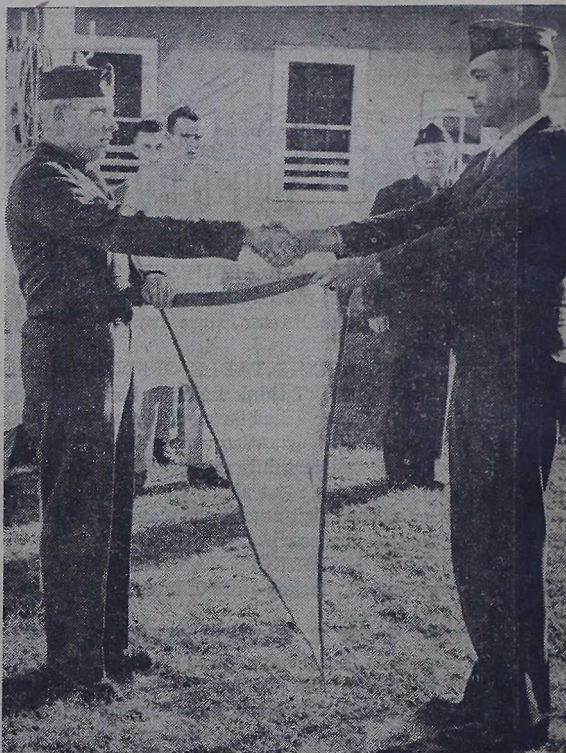

Navy's New 'Killer' Destroyer Named After Marine Hero

Boston—The Navy's newest "killer" destroyer, designed to hunt and destroy high-speed submarines, was recently commissioned here.

The "tin can" was named the USS Robert A. Owens, in honor of a Marine hero of World War II. Robert A. Owens, who was awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously for his heroism on Bougainville Island.

The 390-foot destroyer was built to combat high-speed schnorkel-type submarines, first developed by Germany during the war years and later taken over by the Russians. (AFPS)

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT THE TEAM?

We asked six people, picked at random, to tell us what they thought of the football team. Here are the answers we received.

CAPTAIN SEE, ACCOUNTABLE OFFICER, GENERAL SUPPLY DIVISION: "I think Lejeune has a top squad this year. A little tougher schedule would have been better. Lejeune's showing against Quantico was excellent. The team played heads-up ball and certainly deserved the victory. The thing which impresses me most about the squad is the perfect team work and the spirit among the players and the hard work on the part of the coaches."

LT. COMDR. G. L. GRAKCEMAK, DENTAL CORPS: "The team last Thursday looked quite different from the team that lost to Fort Bragg."

MR. DEAN "POP" C. TAYLOR, WESTERN UNION: "All that I can say is that I have heard some very favorable comments on the team from people here on the base and in Jacksonville. Why, only the other day I heard Jim Carroll, commenting on the Quantico game, saying that it was as good as some collegiate games he had witnessed."

TSGT. JOHN BRANNAN, 1ST SGT. CO. "A", 1ST BN, 2ND MARINES: "The team looks a lot better than last year's. The spirit of the team seems much better, and the personnel of the base seem to be back of the team 100 per cent."

SGT. GORDON A. CAMPBELL, MARINE CORPS SUPPLY DEPOT: "The team looks good. They should play Fort Bragg again. The boys really have the spirit and should go all the way."

PFC. JOHN R. BROWN, CLERK IN SCHOOLS CO., SUPPLY SCHOOL BN: "A base couldn't ask for a better team. Also, you couldn't have asked for a better game than the one with Quantico."

Lejeune - J'sonville Highs Inaugurate Annual Classic

Keen Rivalry Certain;
Big Attendance Anticipated; School Out
At Noon That Day

Camp Lejeune High and the Jacksonville Cardinals will inaugurate an annual classic this coming Wednesday afternoon, when they meet on the Jacksonville football field at 1:30.

This will be the first of future annual football games to be played between the local institution and the Jacksonville High School.

The Lejeune High students will be excused at noon on that day so that they may attend the game. Bus transportation has been arranged from the high school to the game and return.

It is expected that in years to come this yearly clash will grow to mean as much to the local high school students as some of the leading collegiate games do to those institutions of higher learning.

All-Navy Selections Wanted By Navy News

Parris Island, S. C., Nov. 12.—Sportswriters throughout the Navy and Marine Corps were busy this week selecting their All-Navy football teams for 1949 and submitting their two best elevens to the Navy News Magazine which is conducting the fourth annual All-Navy selections.

As in the past, Navy News is making an honest effort to obtain the very fairest possible opinion as to who are the top players in the Navy and Marine Corps. It is anticipated that most sports writers in the respective military organizations will lend their assistance in selecting the 1949 All-Navy Team.

Lejeune Varsity Team Take To The Road For Weekend Til

Boxing And Basketball Teams Meet Bermuda Air Force Teams
At Bermuda

While the local eleven are butting heads with the amphibians at Little Creek Saturday, the basketball and boxing teams will be battling the service teams in the city of Bermuda off the tip of Miami, Fla.

The cagers are scheduled to meet the Kindley Air Force Base five and the Naval Operating Base team, while the boxers are to be matched with the local Air Force squad.

All-Navy Flyweight Red Davis, Featherweight Pete Schiro, Welterweight Paul Ribnick, Middleweight John Jones, Light-Heavies Willie McClendon and Don Veburst, and Heavyweight Joe Mahoney are expected to be the starters for Coach Brandt's team.

Coach Bolish will have Norfolk and Nonsinger at guards and McNaughton will hold down the pivot position, with Parker and Coyle in the forward slots for the locals starting five.

Did You Know . . .

That all major league baseball parks have to be a certain size aside from the infield?

An official major league baseball must not weigh less than five ounces and not more than 5 1/4 ounces.

That the distance from home plate to second base is 127 feet, 3/8 inches?

Defense

Bob Coyle, returnee from last year's Sixth Naval District and South Central Group winners, is expected to give ball handlers plenty to worry about for the coming season. Gridders Meet Up-feated "Amphibs"
Little Creek, Va.

By TSGT. E. GREEN

Riding the wave of victory their decisive defeat of a football's champion Quantico rines, Camp Lejeune will join to Little Creek, Va., on Saturday where they will meet the Amphibious Base eleven in their last two games to determine the winner of the South Naval Group, who will enter play-offs for the All-Navy crown.

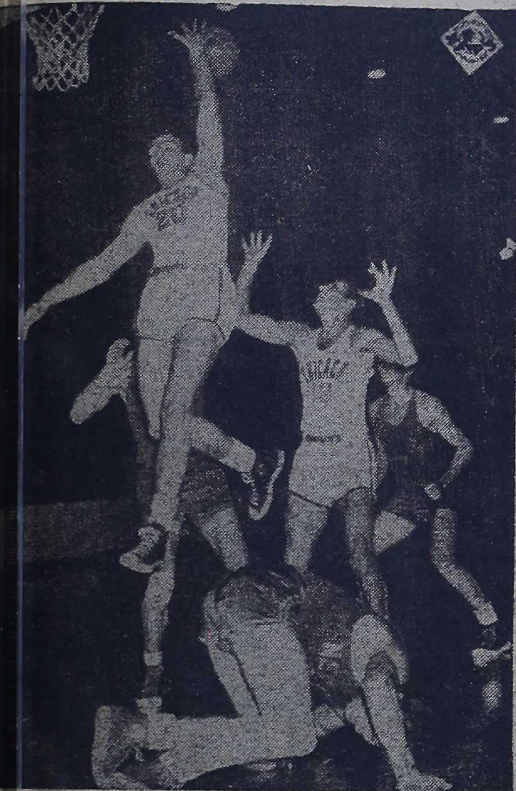

Last Thursday, the powerful Lejeune juggernaut accomplished a feat that has been the goal of service teams since 1946 when they defeated Quantico eleven in their string of wins over teams that included 18 consecutive victories. They had been undefeated in service competition since 1946, when they were beaten by an Army team from Fort Eben.

By virtue of their upset of Quantico, Lejeune is now rated the contender for the South Naval Group crown, but they still have two tough teams to best before they can claim the laurel. The first of these is the Amphibs of Little Creek whom they meet this week. Little Creek has gone undefeated for the season against competition that must be reckoned with. Complicating this the Amphibs scored 347 points while all their opponents only 20, and piled up six shutouts in eight straight games.

Lejeune has won seven losing one, scoring 282 points, allowing their opponents on Lejeune's powerful line has been scored through for the season, and Coach Andruska pending on them to turn back the threat of Little Creek.

Lejeune High While Odie Spears (20) Chicago Stags forward, goes up in the air in vain attempt to rebound, an unidentified New York Knickerbocker's eager (ground) sprawls on the floor in the first period of pro game in Stadium. Other players identified are Forward Andy Phillip of Stags, and Ray Lump (7) of Knickerbockers.

Wallace Drops Lejeune High 30-0 In Hard Game

First Loss In Class "B" Competition For Locals

Battling for everything they were worth, Wallace High dropped a fighting Lejeune High eleven, here at the base, Saturday afternoon. Wallace scored in every quarter to beat the Devil Pups 30-0.

Lejeune marched to within eight yards of pay dirt three times, but couldn't produce the drive to carry the pigskin over. Standing out for Lejeune was Joe Barringer and Floyd Propst who carried the blunt of the attack in the backfield for the locals. Time and time again these backs piled up yardage through the holes that the line had made for them. Jimmy Couch and Richard Frucci took the spotlight in the battling line.

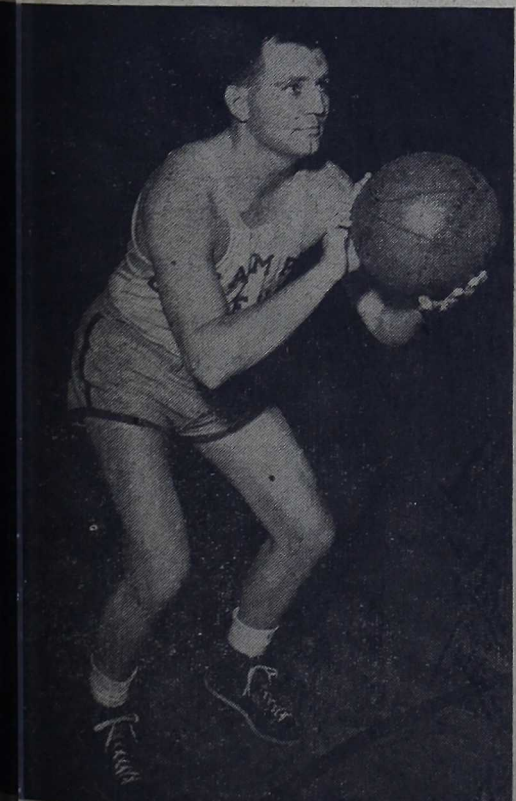

Billy James paced the Wallace team as he scored three of Wallace's TDs. Wallace, who kept their undefeated record intact, also remained unscathed upon and ran their string of victories up to nine.

Large Turn Out For First Fencing Exhibit

Ira Norfolk, who coached the First Marine Brigade team on Guam to a 31-1 record last year and also was the leading scorer of that team which averaged 100 points per game, will be an added punch to the Lejeune Varsity this season. (Pfc. R. J. Cote, Repro-Photo Plant.)

Sprano Wins Team Championship; New Sport Adds To Growing List

Crack! Wack! Parry to the right, parry to the left, and what have you? A new sport was born in Camp Lejeune last Friday night as the Lejeune Foil Fencing Team opened their season with a team championship exhibition.

Foils in the pistol-grip and French form were used, in regulation sizes as according to AFLA Rules and Regulations. The bouts were fought according to the AFLA rules.

With an assemblage anxiously awaiting the Camp Lejeune Varsity Foil Fencing Team Matches, Coach Thaddeus Groszkiewicz, introduced the two Lejeune teams participating in the exhibition matches. The judges for the evening were Cpl. Enio Miranda, and Pfc. William Lowe; the scorekeeper, Cpl. Barry Rodgers.

The two teams, newly activated, are:

Team 1: Aitchison, Willard, Pfc., 11 points; Dalton, Tim, Pfc., 10 points; and Sprano, Henry, Pfc., 15 points.

Team 2: Parlee, Edmund, Cpl., 3 points; Kane, Louis, Pfc., 10 points; and Coleman, Ferber, Cpl., 12 points.

The winning team was Team 1 and the champion fencer of the exhibition was Pfc. Henry Sprano.

The men made an excellent showing and the spectators were treated to a vastly new Marine sport. They were literally held to their seats as they viewed with mixed amazement the fast lunging and parrying of these young Marine fencers.

The champ, Sprano, especially showed himself to best advantage. While in civilian life, he was an instructor and team member of the Waterbury, Conn., YMCA Fencing Team, which fought many memorable matches against the fencing squads of such outstanding universities and colleges as Yale, Holy Cross, Trinity, Fordham, and the U. of Connecticut. He learned much of his skill and techniques from

Former Grid Hero's Son Plays For Army

Jim Thorpe—Carlisle Indian great; football, baseball, and track immortal; athlete superb.

Carl Thorpe—22-year-old corporal, 174-pound, 5'8" hard-running wing back for the Fort Monmouth, N. J. Signaleers.

The man who was termed the "worlds greatest athlete" during the 1912 Olympics in Stockholm has four sons; John, 14; Richard, 17; Bill, 21; and Carl who is now serving with the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth.

The young footballer joined the gridmen at Monmouth after their opening game, and since then has been plagued with injuries including a rather badly torn shoulder muscle. However, he has continued to play although his action has been limited mostly to defense.

Carl returned from a 17-month hitch in Korea and Japan in April of this year. Last season, he coached and played on the Okinawa team while stationed there.

Young Thorpe is a chip off the old block, bearing the exact resemblance features of his dad. He puts a lot of faith in his father's advice—advice that made the 62-year-old full-blooded Indian the best known athlete in this country.

Mr. Ken Shiler, one-time saber champion of Connecticut, and his fencing traits from the various fencing coaches of Yale and Wayne University, seats of learning with which he has been associated.

With Cpl. Parlee, a left-handed fencer who has been coming along remarkably well; Pfc. Kane who studied under the famed Santelli, a world saber champion; Cpl. Coleman, a champion from Portland, Maine; Pfc. Aitchison, once fencing champion of the high schools of Cleveland, Ohio; Pfc. Dalton; Cpl. Rodgers; Cpl. Miranda; Pfc. Lowe; Pfc. Mischock; Pfc. Rios; the other members, and with the able assistance of the two coaches, MSgt. Thaddeus "Ted" Groszkiewicz and Pfc. Henry Sprano, the Camp Lejeune Fencing squads are out to make Marine fencers as well-known for good sportsmanship and skill as any civilian fencing organization.

"Having the ability to play football is your greatest asset, and constant practice on your faults in various phases of the game will make you a polished player," Jim advised his son. "Also, learn to like everything about the game."

The famous Indian believes that deception is the best factor in running, and thus young Thorpe devotes a lot of time to improving his running game with the hopes of someday being a college star and possibly an All-American.

He has little hope of ever nearing his father's fame, for in addition to football Pa Jim was an outstanding trackman and shattered the Olympic decathlon record by winning the majority of 10 events, plus added honors of winning the pentathlon crown in the 1912 games. He is the only athlete ever to gain both titles in one year.

After returning from the Olympics, the elder Thorpe played professional football with the Canton Bulldogs and then turned to pro baseball, playing in the outfield for the New York Giants for seven years. This past summer the grand old man operated a professional girls' softball team in Los Angeles.

Son Carl just hopes he can justify the old adage... "like father, like son."

So when the grid season ends, Carl will hastily change from pads to shorts and join the Signaleers basketball team as they try to duplicate the gridmen in winning the 1st Army championship. —(AFPS)

THINK IT OVER

At the present time, 54% of the country's total population—an estimated 80 million persons—own Savings Bonds of varying denominations. We believe you'll agree that the Payroll Savings Plan is the smartest, surest way there is to save.

Cincinnati Reds used only 77 dozen baseballs during 1949 spring training camp.

Throwing distance from home to the pitchers mound is 60 feet in the major league.

Connie Mack managed the Philadelphia Athletics to their first pennant in 1902. He won eight other pennants, the last in 1931.

The Girl Scouts and Brownies of Camp Lejeune certainly made a fine showing in the New Bern Armistice Day parade. There was many a hand for the girls and their leaders as they passed along the line of march and many a favorable comment on their two floats. This is the first real display we have made since we organized under the New Bern Area Charter. Keep up the good work, girls, this is only the beginning.

Be sure to listen in to the Midway Park radio time on Wednesday evening at 9:00 p.m. The program will be "Football" and will feature boys of the Jacksonville and Camp Lejeune teams and their respective coaches, who will discuss the two teams and their records in view of the forthcoming game the day before Thanksgiving.

During American Educational Week, the entire Camp and Midway Park Schools held an "Open House" meeting on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, giving parents and teachers alike an opportunity of meeting and discussing the pupil's problems on a more intimate basis.

Over 500 parents attended. It was so enjoyable and enlightening that another "Open House" has been requested for a future date.

All arrangements were made by Mrs. Daniel H. Kirk, first vice president of P-TA and in charge of grade representatives and parents, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Hansen, secretary, Mrs. Peter C. Killeen, publicity chairman, and Mrs. E. R. Babcock, who is in charge of the P-TA magazine sales. Each room had its individual meeting, with grade representatives presiding and grade mothers acting as hostesses and serving refreshments.

5:00 To 8:00 P. M.

WINTER HOROSCOPE

-DANGER-
If you were born under Bull or Leo the Lion, or a dead duck if you were born between 5:00 and 8:00 p.m. during the fall and winter months, you are in danger.

The National Safety Council said that less than one percent of the stars in the statistics cast a horoscope for pedestrians during the hours ahead.

Of pedestrians during the hours ahead, the Council said that the fall campaigns in the "Operation Safety" which are devoted to safety and night traffic.

SHOW DANGER

Figures show that almost all pedestrian deaths occur during only a few hours of the year—the hours between 5:00 and 6:00 p.m. through March.

Statistics emphasize the importance of the fall campaigns in the "Operation Safety" which are devoted to safety and night traffic.

Evening hours between 5:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. are the most dangerous for pedestrians in fall months because the rush hour for millions of workers comes during these hours.

BOOSTS HAZARD

It slowly gives way to darkness during the rush hour, millions of drivers adjust their habits to conditions of poorer visibility. The Council said, "Jay crossing against traffic is doubly dangerous for pedestrians do not realize they can see cars much easier than they can see them."

Contribute to the danger by slowing down as visibility is reduced to the Council. Try to drive the car in the same amount of time though darkness may be hazardous.

DRIVING

Stay within the posted speed limit.

Check your tires every 125 miles at high speed, especially in hot days, will pick up a lot of air and you stand a chance of blowing a tire which is a serious accident. Check your brakes when starting.

The fact that your vehicle is wandering while on the road.

Check your car before you start to make sure that items like windshield wiper, agency and footbrakes, properly adjusted.

Check your water and oil levels at intervals. Feel yourself becoming drowsy, pull off the road and stop?

In all probability you are not in such a rush that you can't stop for a few minutes.

WATCH the traffic situation in front of the car ahead of you?

STOP suddenly? Some day the car behind may be unable to do likewise.

TRY to operate your car without subjecting it to undue strains and wear?

ALWAYS dim your lights when approaching an oncoming car?

WHEN ready to pass a truck at night, flash your lights as a signal to the driver? If the way is clear he will return the flash.

SEVEN OR NINE.....???

Although the Romans considered September the seventh month—hence its name—we count it as the ninth, and the beginning of autumn. But whatever the number, it's surely a swell month to know that your Payroll Savings dollars are working night and day—for you! Sign up today!!

By D. J. YOUNT

Hear ye, hear ye, hear ye, next Thursday is Thanksgiving, a date I'm sure you are all well aware of. (James Street says you can end a sentence with a preposition.) But, are you aware that the third Hospital Hi-Lites show will attempt to compete with the turkey for your attention on that day? Yes sir—a new cast of hand-picked amateur talent goes on the air over WJNC at 9:00 p.m., from the auditorium of the U. S. Naval Hospital.

To mention some of the new talent, tune in on Pfc. Al Freeman, a patient from Camp Lee, who will sing "Trees," "Body and Soul" will follow with H.A. Eugene G. Russo as singer and James Fisella accompanying him.

A duet by Privates R. L. Mack and Charles R. Anderson is on the menu along with some vocalizing by Ensign Betty Stapleford.

Then just to really round out a good half-hour we bring you an old favorite, Comdr. W. B. Chesterfield on the piano, and many familiar numbers from the Divisionaires under the direction of Jimmy Warren.

The show promises to be a real treat to all who find it necessary to remain at the hospital over the coming holiday.

Sunday, November 13, the "up and at 'em" patients were entertained in the Red Cross Recreation rooms by the Jacksonville Hadassah organization. Mrs. Samuel Leder is the president of this group and she and others of her guild served punch, cookies, nuts, and candy to the boys. Best of all they brought along those rare items of items, some unattached young girls for dancing partners. Everyone had a wonderful time!

Once in a while somebody at the hospital puts his leisure time to work and comes up with a literary effort. The following lines of poetry were written by Phillippe E. Broneato, and handed to us for publication.

OUR DREAM

When our youth has been taken away
And we have grown old and gray,
We will stroll hand in hand,
On our own piece of land.
Our house shall look as white as snow
Upon the hill where it shall stand.
A lovely garden just below

Where all the birds will come to land.
For here we shall live in closest tie
Until the time comes when we must die.

TO A DYING SOLDIER

Though the time is near
And the hours are getting short,
Darling, please do not fear
For we know that you have fought
For what was right.

Worry not my dear
For the Lord is very near.
Your work was not in vain
For you have fought for freedom
Where others fought for fame.

PATIENT OF THE WEEK

PFC. CHARLES R. ANDERSON

Pfc. Charles R. Anderson, better known as "Slim," is a tall, dark, 19-year-old from Middletown, Pa. He is our Patient of the Week for several very good reasons.

One: He's hospitalized because of the long drawn-out illness, rheumatoid arthritis, and he doesn't gripe a bit.

Two: He's been a guest at the U. S. Naval Hospital since May 16 which makes him practically a cousin or something.

Third: The nurses all give him a veritable A-1 rating as a patient and a person.

He has been a wonderful help to the Red Cross Staff and is busy now getting ready to appear in the next radio show. So, Slim, though we're awfully sorry that you had to come into the hospital the day you came back from overseas; we know you are in a good place in which to get well—Good luck!

A COMMON COMPLAINT

Ever feel you're getting nowhere—your money's spent as fast as you make it? Don't be discouraged, there's an excellent remedy. Put part of that paycheck into U. S. Savings Bonds each week—the simple, sure way, through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Movie Review As They Appear At The Camp Theater

CHINATOWN AT MIDNIGHT

Hurd Hatfield is supported by Maylia and Jacqueline DeWitt in this 67-minute Columbia release.

Very little information is available on what appears to be a low-budgeted picture with a minor cast. The possible exception is Mr. Hatfield who has appeared in several deep dramas with some success. There is a "March of Time" short and "Paramount News." Lack of details would be hazardous a guess as to bringing the family to this one.

AND BABY MAKES THREE

Robert Young, Barbara Hale, and Janis Carter constitute the cast. Columbia, 86 minutes.

Another with very little advance information. Robert Young should be his usually successful self, with lovely Barbara Hale and Janis Carter in supporting roles. Should be a family picture. There will be a comedy.

FOLLOW ME QUIETLY

William Lundigan, Dorothy Patrick, and Jeff Corey in a 60-minute RKO.

A routine murder opus that makes most of the action inherent in the plot, this picture unfolds the not too chilling story of a murderer known as "The Judge" who strikes during the rain and gives detective Lundigan a fair share of headaches. Dorothy Patrick as a girl reporter tries to trail the killer and succeeds only in getting in the way of the sleuths. A family show. Two shorts round out the evening's entertainment.

THE CONSPIRATORS

Romance in Old England, a conspiring British Army Officer, and government intrigue endanger the life of Melinda (Elizabeth Taylor). However, all is well that ends well—for those who are faithful and trusting. A family picture. MGM News.

PRINCE OF FOXES

Tyrone Power, Orson Welles, Wanda Hendrix. Twentieth Century-Fox, 107 minutes.

An excellent film portrayal of a best-selling novel with a first-rate cast and highly impressive Italian background shot on the spot.

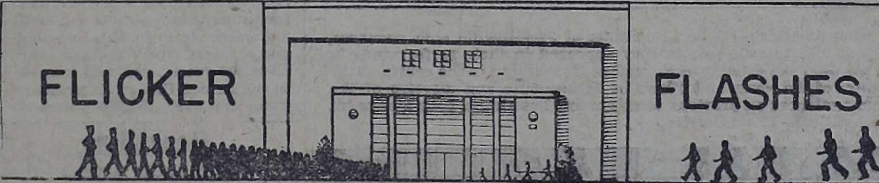

The story of the cunning despot, Cesare Borgia, and his former assistant who deserts him in battle is interestingly told. Filled with intrigue and romance and frequently furious action as swords clash. A family picture. No shorts.

THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

Danny Kaye in a 90-minute Warner Brothers Technicolor Comedy. No advance information available on this one. No shorts.

Should be an enjoyable evening for the whole family.
