To Commemorate American Ed. Week

Over 2000 N. Carolina High School Seniors, Faculty Members, And State Dignitaries Will Be Guests Of Commanding General; Complete Day's Itinerary Planned

Camp Lejeune Marines will commemorate American Education Week in a fitting manner on Tuesday, November 8, by being host to over 2000 high school seniors from Southeastern North Carolina.

The students, from 45 high schools, will be treated to a tour of interesting points in the world's largest and most complete training base, a huge parade with equipment, an air show, and a coordinated tank infantry attack by the 6th Marines (Reinforced).

A large number of distinguished educators from North Carolina will be present, as well as county school superintendents, principals, teachers, and other dignitaries.

Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of the Second Marine Division and Camp Lejeune, has planned an interesting day's program for the visitors. This includes a typical Marine dinner in two of Lejeune's huge mess halls and a guided tour of the Hadnot Point area of the post.

Lieutenant Governor H. P. Taylor, Chairman of the State Board of Education, and the Honorable Graham A. Barden, Member of Congress, will be present for the occasion.

Camp Lejeune is noted throughout the Marine Corps for its excellent educational facilities for training Marine personnel in the fields of Supply, Administration, Automotive, Disbursing, and Engineering. Four all-year-round schools, with 20 courses in military subjects, train personnel for the entire Marine Corps. Camp Lejeune also has three elementary and high schools for the dependents of military and civilian personnel with grades from kindergarten through high school. There are over 900 students currently enrolled in these schools, which compare favorably with the best in the nation.

Accredited by the Southern Education Association, the Camp Lejeune School System is one of those in North Carolina whose graduation credits are accepted without special examination for college admission.

The itinerary for the day is as See SEMINAR On Page 8

Lejeune - Jacksonville Highs Inaugurate Annual Classic

Keen Rivalry Certain; Big Attendance Anticipated; School Out At Noon That Day

An inaugural game between the high school elevens of Camp Lejeune and Jacksonville will be played on the Jacksonville High School football field on Wednesday, November 23.

This will be the first of future annual football games to be played between our school and Jacksonville High.

Kickoff time is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 23.

The Camp Lejeune School will be dismissed at noon on that day so that the student body may attend the game. Transportation will be provided to Jacksonville and return for all students who hold tickets. Buses will leave direct from the high school and will return all students to Camp Lejeune after the game.

It is hoped that in the years to come this yearly clash will grow to mean as much to the high school students of the area as some of the leading collegiate games do to those institutions of higher learning. It may well be so. All it needs is the enthusiastic backing of the student bodies, plus the support of parents, families, and friends.

All students—and parents as well—are urged to attend this game. Tickets for students will be 35c and for adults 75c. Let's get behind this initial contest and make certain that it sets a standard of good sportsmanship and keen competition for future years to live up to and build upon.

Double Ceremony Held At Second Combat Service Group

Induction Of Requalified Trophies By Commanding General And Retirement CWO. O. P. Olsen

Within the command of the Second Combat Service Group, were honored for range duty within the Group last morning in front of Mess Hall 411 by Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of the Second Marine Division and Camp Lejeune.

Quarters and Service Battalion 84.74 per cent for requalification personnel to win top honor the M-1 rifle. A handsome award was presented to the unit by the Commanding General. The Battalion won the training trophies, one for unit achievement with the M-1 and one for outstanding accuracy in small arms. An expense of 94.26 per cent was by the Maintenance Battalion in the carbine.

JO. OSCAR P. OLSEN RETIRES ON THIRTY conclusion of the present retirement of CWO. Olsen on 30 years service owned by Colonel Hough. Commissioned Warrant Officer then mounted the speaker's stand. Major General Hart then presented a watch as a memento from the Group.

Oscar P. Olsen enlisted in the Marine Corps on April 11, 1917, at Camp Lejeune, Wash. He was sent to the Philippines Islands, and the Philippine Islands, and then transferred to Manila, Philippines, and was there at the time of the earthquake of 1931 that killed thousands of the island's inhabitants.

After the quake, he was engaged in a campaign against the outlaws, Sandino, who was trying to gain control of the government.

In 1933, he was transferred to Quantico, Va., and from there to Boston and Wakefield, Mass. While at Boston and Wakefield, he was in charge of the rifle and pistol teams during the range season.

He was then transferred to Philadelphia, Pa., to train machine-gun platoons for the anticipated revolution in Cuba in 1934. From 1935 to 1937, he was stationed at the Hingham, Mass., Ammunition Dump.

In the latter part of 1937, he boarded the USS Minneapolis at San Pedro, California, and remained aboard until June of 1939, when he retired from the Marine Corps to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

In October, 1939, he was recalled to duty and assigned recruiting duties at Portland, Maine. In May, 1940, he returned to an inactive status.

In March, 1942, he was recalled again to active duty and was stationed at Hingham, Mass. In June of 1944, he was assigned duties as Commanding Officer of a V-12 Unit.

He was transferred to Marine Barracks, Charleston, S. C., in 1945, and was later transferred to the Submarine Base at Balboa, Canal Zone, where he was in charge of the range.

After completing his tour of duty in the Canal Zone, Mr. Olsen was transferred to Camp Lejeune, where he has since been a valuable asset to the Second Combat Service Group.

Bananaweight Champ Enlists in The Marines

Cincinnati—Glen Bathalter of Covington, Ky., is the unofficial bananaweight champion of the world. For three years he was in the lightweight class, but just couldn't make the minimum limit of 148 pounds necessary to achieve his ambition of joining the Marines.

When he tried to enlist again recently, he was only seven pounds shy. So he got ten pounds of banana and started in peeling and eating. Two and a half hours later, he nudged the scales slightly over the mark, and he's in boot class now.—(AFPS)

MSgt. Henry X. McDermott Ends Long MC Career

Served With Texas Cavalry During World War One; Joined Marine Corps In 1923

Another service record book was filed in Headquarters, Marine Corps, Washington, D. C., last week, marking the conclusion of 30 years' honorable service for MSgt. Henry X. McDermott of 63 Pleasant Street, Stoughton, Mass.

Sergeant McDermott, attached to the 2d Combat Service Group, was retired from the Marine Corps last Thursday at informal ceremonies held in the offices of Col. J. F. Hough, Commanding Officer of the Group.

Bedecked in medals and decorations symbolic of his travels and adventures with Marine Corps units throughout his Leatherneck career, Sergeant McDermott will return to his home in Stoughton, Mass., where he plans to marry and settle down after a vacation-rest in Florida.

Sergeant McDermott enlisted in the Marine Corps on May 1, 1923. He has attended numerous service schools and has been awarded 12 diplomas for successfully completing the prescribed courses.

Prior to enlisting in the Marine Corps, the Massachusetts Leatherneck served with the Texas Cavalry during World War I.

While serving with the Marine Corps overseas during the second world conflict, Sergeant McDermott was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action.

Keep It Clean

Camp Lejeune is recognized as one of the most beautiful military posts in America. Keeping it clean is a big job. Maintenance personnel will have a much pleasanter task in policing the post if we refrain from throwing refuse from vehicles when travelling over our highways.

If you have an empty cigarette container or peanut bag, DON'T toss it out the car window. Disposal containers are placed throughout the base for just such a purpose. Let's put our rubbish in them. This will help keep down maintenance costs and labor, and our post will continue to be not only the most beautiful base in America, but also one of the cleanest.

Every building has cigarette butt receptacles in evidence at the entrances. Use them when you throw away a spent cigarette.

Newspapers that have been carelessly discarded after the reader finishes with them is the worst headache your barracks police sergeant has to contend with. Don't heave them on the barracks floor when you're through with them. Fold them up neatly and place them in the nearest rubbish container.

We could go on forever. But there is no need of it, for we know most of you are proud of your post and certainly are interested in keeping up its good appearance.

We all agree that Camp Lejeune is one of the few military posts that is a marvel for beauty. Let's keep it that way.

Five-Time Winner Rifle Range Mess Hall No. 3 won the Mess Efficiency Pennant for the fifth time last week. Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Chaplains' Corner

Among the many generals who helped George Washington, the father of our country, there were a few who had a jealous streak and thought themselves superior. One of these was General Charles Lee. Do not confuse him with Robert Lee of the South. This Lee was born in England and fought in many British wars. When a high position was denied him in the English army, he left his home country and joined the Americans. Recognizing Lee's ability, Washington appointed him a major general. Lee was not satisfied. He considered himself superior to Washington. Jealous, proud, and conceited, he did not hesitate to express his opposition to his commander-in-chief and even to disobey his orders.

He failed Washington at Fort Mifflin. He almost let Washington be destroyed near the Delaware River, and also in the battle of Red Bank. Through carelessness, Lee was captured. But Washington interceded for him, and Lee was back in the American army.

When he again disobeyed, Washington blazed out against him in a way that he had never spoken before. Lee was angry. He demanded a court martial, which found him guilty and suspended him. He never returned to the army. Years later, he died on his estate, "unwept, unhome, unsung."

This story of Lee is an illustration of the wicked envy and jealousy. Many a similar tendency to be because another has what not have, or receives honor we would claim for ourselves.

Such an attitude breeds calumnies and slanders, make a whole community very miserable.

Let everyone squelch esteem and rejoice at fortune, success, and have others.

Charity for your neighbor is akin to Love of God.

Recruit Platoon Qualifies 100% With M-1 Rifle

Feat Accomplished For First Time In Years By Men Representing Almost All States East Of Mississippi River

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. — The expertness of Marine rifle instruction and renowned Marine marksmanship was exemplified again on Wednesday, October 19, when a recruit platoon qualified 100 per cent with the Garand M-1 rifle on the Weapons Training Battalion rifle range here. This is the first time in several years that a recruit platoon, consisting of many recruits who have never fired a rifle before, has qualified every member over the standard marksmanship course.

Out of the total of 67 recruits in Platoon 70, Second Recruit Training Battalion, representing almost every state east of the Mississippi River, nine fired expert, 34 sharpshooter, and 24 qualified as marksmen. Private Harvey F. Goglin of Route No. 1, Cottage Grove, Wis., was high shooter of the platoon with a total of 226 out of a possible 250 points.

Two Schools Graduate Sixty-Five Students

Seven Men Finish Motor Vehicle Operators' Course No. 7

Climaxing five weeks of intensified study, seven men were graduated from the Motor Vehicle Operators' Course No. 7 last Friday morning at ceremonies held in Building No. 51.

Capt. M. D. Grush, Officer in Charge of the Motor Transport Division of the Supply School Battalion, made the introductory speech and instructed the men to take good care of their vehicles whether they are assigned to drive jeeps or the more expensive tractor-trailers.

The captain concluded his speech with a word about the responsibility of hauling gear. In a short but direct manner of speaking, he told them how important it was to make certain everything was in order before making a haul. "The treatment of the equipment by the driver is as essential as that of the man who loads the truck," the captain concluded.

Following Captain Grush's speech, Maj. P. B. McNicol, Director of Instruction, Marine Corps Supply Schools, was introduced and addressed the graduating class.

In an informal way, Major McNicol told the men how they could cut down the expenditures of the Marine Corps if they followed the advice their instructors had given them in the care of the equipment and themselves.

He furthered his speech by comparing the World Champion New York Yankees and the second-place American League club, the Boston Red Sox. "The Red Sox had an

Engineer School Company Presents Diplomas To Fifty-Eight Men

At informal ceremonies held at the Engineer School Company, Courthouse Bay, on Friday, October 28, 58 men of the Sixth Basic Engineers' Class graduated.

Second Lieutenant W. A. Flander, Executive Officer of the School, made a few pointed remarks to the graduates on the subject of "Doing a Job Right," whether as a Marine or an engineer.

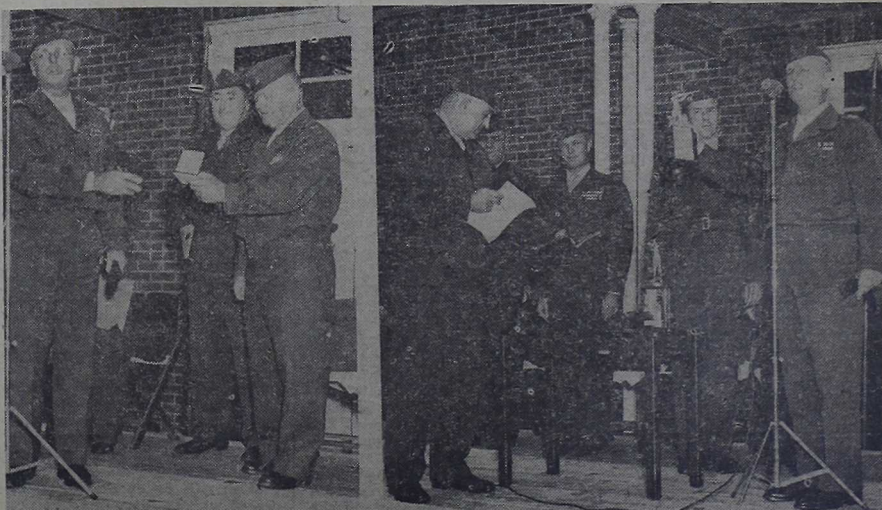

Just as many cities of Asia were conquered by the ingenious engineering feats performed by the hordes of Genghis Khan, so may the modern engineering world be overwhelmed by these now-basic engineers. The Engineer School Company is to be congratulated on the feat it is accomplishing in training young men for one of the most important units in a military organization.

Graduating classes were the Basic Construction with 20 men, the Basic Utilities with 12 men, and the Basic Equipment & Mechanical with 14 men, each a 12-week course. The first graduating classes of the newly activated Blacksmithing and Welding courses, both with six men and each a four-week course, also took place. The need of competently-trained men by the Marine Corps in these fields of engineering was the reason for the activation of these courses.

Honor men were Pfc. S. H. Dyke, Utility; Pfc. R. G. Stachnik, Construction; and Pfc. R. E. Deak, Equipment & Mechanical.

Col. J. F. Hough, Commanding Officer of the 2d Combat Service Group, made the introductory remarks prior to the Commanding General's commendatory remarks on the fine requalification achievements of the Group. Football League

The Cannoneers of the 10th Marines, fielding perhaps one of the best intramural teams ever seen at Camp Lejeune, clinched the 1949 Intramural Football Championship last Wednesday afternoon as they dropped the Marine Barracks eleven, 32-0, closing out their schedule for the 1949 season.

NINE MINUTES TO SCORE

The "Terrific Tenth" looked no different Wednesday, as they took their seventh straight win, than they did all season. With expert quarterbacking by Charlie Beall, they rolled to their initial tally in only nine minutes of the first quarter as Evans cut through his left tackle to score, climaxing a 68-yard drive sparked by Evans, Rainville, and Beall. Newberry, who looks like he was born to kick extra points, converted and the Cannoneers led 7-0.

SAME DRIVE

Early in the second stanza, Brookman broke into the scoring parade as he bucked over from the two-yard stripe for the second score. This push to pay dirt started on the 32-yard line. The score at the half stood 13-0.

THRASH CRASHES

Opening the second half, the 10th started to roll from the very beginning. McCamie kicked off for the 10th to open the half. H&S returned it to their own 35. Beattie, H&S's halfback, dropped back to pass. Finding no receiver in the open down field, he tossed a short flat pass to his right half. As he reached for it, Thrash, right end of the 10th, crashed through, plucked it out of the air, and went the remaining yardage for a TD. McCamie's conversion was good and the score board showed 20-0 in favor of the 10th.

OUT OF THE BALL PARK

H&S Battalion started a drive, after receiving the kickoff, and went down to the 10th's 25-yard line, but had to surrender the ball on downs. The 10th took over and drove the H&S boys all the way back up the field, and perhaps would have driven them out of the ball park if the goal post hadn't been in the way. Bryant carried the pigskin over for the tally. The conversion was wide.

BROOKLYN SETS UP

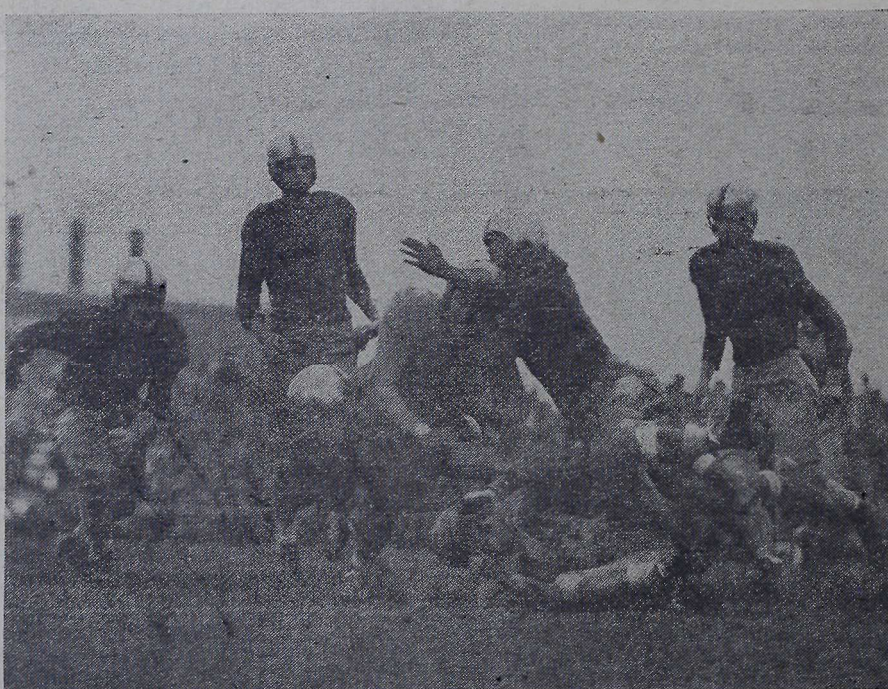

Brooklyn, a 10th Marine lineman, busted through in the last quarter to block a punt and set up the final TD for the 10th. Taylor plowed over with what proved to be the final six-pointer of the 1949 season for the Cannoneers. The conversion was good.

Here Wednesday Night For Local Opening

By TSgt. EDWARD M. GREEN

Camp Lejeune's boxers will take to the road for their opening team match, facing the Red Devils of Fort Jackson tonight at Columbia, S. C.

TITLE HOLDERS

up against a tough foe, is expected to give the Lejeune backs something to worry about. The little 5' 10" toughie hails from Mocanaqua, Pa., and is slated to see plenty of action in the game tomorrow.

Lejeune's offensive part of the two-platoon system will be counting on the running of Moody and Maksin, and big Dick Stein to hit the line. Minihan will be in the quarterback position, with Hargett and Darnell holding down the flanker positions. McMullen will be over the ball at center with Quillian and Gregarson holding down the guard slots. Dawson and Smith will constitute the rest of the line at tackles.

Davis; AAU Eastern Heavyweight Champ Joe Mahoney; Tommy Otero, Golden Gloves bantam king of North Carolina and AAU champ of South Carolina and Nebraska; Pete Schiro, featherweight Golden Gloves champ, also won the best-fighter award at Charleston; and Willie McClendon, All-Navy lightweight contender.

OUT TO BEAT '48 RECORD

With such veterans to carry the brunt of their attack, plus the addition of such promising newcomers as Don Veburst, Johnny Jones, and Frank Jackson, the Marine pugilists expect to surpass their 1948 banner year.

DAVIS WILL NOT FIGHT

Coach L. I. Brandt will not fight Red Davis against Fort Jackson as he was late in starting training and has not made the weight. The card will include:

Bantam—Tommy Otero

Feather—Pete Schiro

Light—Al Lowry

Middle—Frank Jackson

Light-heavy—Don Veburst

Willie McClendon

Heavyweight—Joe Mahoney

CREDIT WHERE IT IS DUE

Lejeune continued their onward surge last Saturday as they dropped Cherry Point, 29-0. The strong interest of that game was the Lejeune line. Everyws that the linemen of any football team are just most forgotten people of all. They block, tackle, ference, and do just about everything that could ed of any man in a game. When you read the local Sunday morning, all that you see is, "CHOO CHOO
 NORTH CAROLINA OVER GEORGIA," "DOAK
 KICKS EXTRA POINT IN CLOSING MINUTE
 OVER TEXAS," and—in the days of the great um of '45 and '46—"DAVIS AND BLANCHARD LD OVER PENN." Now, stop and think for a mot what could the great "Choo Choo" do without a oak Walker? Or any of them? How far could Davis hard have gone without Coulter, Green, Steffy, and in the line blasting the interference?

the whole thing adds up to is that when a back cuts dirt, very seldom does the fan see that last block thrown by the lineman which enabled that back to a team, it takes 11 men. You can't play with four.
 linemen have been playing heads up ball all season.
 y they haven't allowed any team to score on the against them. So this week we take our hats off to of the Lejeune-Cherry Point game—THE LEJE-

Engineer & Tank Eleven Roll Over Medical Battalion 33-0

O'Connor's Running And Castellano's Passing Spark Team To Victory

The combined Engineer and Tank Battalion walked to an easy victory last Sunday afternoon as they topped the Medical Battalion at Midway Park before some 400 spectators.

The Medics won the toss and elected to receive. The Engineer's kick-off went back into the end zone where Howard, the Medic's halfback, was slow in picking it up and was dropped on the 4-yard line. Failing to gain, the Medic's punted out to their own 35. O'Connor, Engineer's halfback, picked up two through center. He added two more on the next play around end. Two incomplete passes by Castellano turned the ball over to the Medic's. The Medics, after four running plays failed to gain, punted to the Engineer's 25-yard line, where Sutherland returned it to the 35. O'Connor cut around right end for 11 yards. Mastey went through center for 8. Castellano hit Veyluek with a pass on the Med's four-yard line. Nester drove it down to the one-yard line, where O'Connor cut through right tackle for the score. Altman's conversion was good and the Engineers led, 7-0.

In the closing minutes of the quarter, Nester broke away, sidestepped the secondary, and went from his own 47 down to the Med's eight. On the next play, he carried it to the four. Two passes were incomplete and on fourth down Mastey scooted around left end, behind a beautiful block by O'Connor, to pay dirt.

The Engineers line, playing heads up ball, capitalized on a Med's fumble to set up the third score of the game. Gray, big Medical Battalion fullback, fumbled on a line-buck. Hillard, center for the Engineers, recovered and on the next play O'Connor went the remaining 10 yards for the tally. Altman's attempt for conversion was partly blocked. It wobbled on the cross bars and finally dropped over for the extra point as the first half ended.

During the third period, both teams fought on even terms. Neither was able to gain through the other's line.

The Engineers put across their last two TD's in the final period as Mastey plowed over from the one-yard line, climaxing a 48-yard drive, and Veyluek caught a pass in the end zone for the final tally. Altman's conversion was good.

The Scout Carnival certainly was a huge success last Friday night. Decorations by Mesdames Rackley, Mazingo, Spradling, Still, Stocks, and Walsh in their respective booths were put to naught by the rain, but nothing dampened the spirit of the crowd. We wish to thank all that participated and gave so generously of their time and talents.

The churches recognized Girl Scout Week with the attendance of about 300 Girl Scouts in uniform at their respective services.

A benefit luncheon will be held in the Community Building, Midway Park, on November 9 at noon. This is under the auspices of the American Home and Garden Committee of the Midway Park Women's Club. A Quiz Program will be conducted by Madam Dunches'. Prizes will be awarded. Tickets can be secured by calling Mrs. Perkins, 2662, for reservations.

The North Carolina Symphony Committee will have a booth at the Midway Park Food Center Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5. You can secure your subscriptions here or call Mrs. Bowersox at 2536.

See the movie short at the Midway Park Theater, "Come Along With the Girl Scouts," November 3-6. Parents, please do not miss this short.

Call Mrs. Heavey, 2316, about the toys you are discarding during fall house-cleaning. This project is to make an underprivileged child happy for Christmas.

Our football team is doing a fine job, and all our boys should be commended for some excellent teamwork. Ronald Hodge should be given credit for some outstanding plays. Good luck, boys, to you and your capable coach, Chaplain R. S. Sassaman.

Combat Service Group Presents December Program

The wives of the Combat Service Group of the Officers' Wives' Club will present, as the December program for the club, a Christmas Decoration Contest and Musical Tea. The contest will take place Wednesday, December 7, from 1500 to 1630 at the Officers' Mess.

All officers' wives have received entry blanks and any officers' wife who is not now a member of the club and wishes to compete for one of the three prizes may do so by paying her semi-annual dues. Extra blanks may be obtained at the Officers' Mess.

A special treat has been planned for the musical portion of the program and will be announced later.

Mrs. John F. Hough, Chairman, and Mrs. Reed M. Fawell-Jr., Program Director, and all the ladies of the group cordially invite all officers' wives to attend and participate in this gay Christmas Program.

P-TA Notes

The Grade Parents held a special meeting last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Daniel H. Kirk, First Vice President, called the roll of the 89 Grade Parents for our 30 school rooms.

The parents were informed that there are no set rules to observe. Their activities are determined by the teachers and themselves. Their cooperation was asked in carrying out suggested outlines by the North Carolina Congress of P-TA.

Mrs. Peter C. Killen gave a short review of and highly recommended the National Parent-Teachers Magazine, emphasizing its outstanding source of material in daily problems of child rearing.

The parents' cooperation was also asked for the Budget and Finance and the Hospitality Committees.

Mrs. Kirk asked each room to submit the name of one of its room parents as chairman of that particular small committee. This was accomplished informally directly after the meeting in order to avoid calling another special meeting for that purpose.

In order to give the children of Camp Lejeune an opportunity to participate in the Camp Christmas Festivities, the following are being planned for their benefit.

(1). A Children's Party for all service dependents in group two to 12 years inclusive to be held on December 23 on the Camp Drill Field (directly opposite Building No. 1 Marston Pavilion) if the weather is bad. The program will consist of band and choral group singing and a 15-minute outdoor show lighted by the arrival of Santa Claus by air with presents for those children present.

(2). A Teenagers' Dance for those dependents 13 years and over to be held on December 23 from 2000 to 2400 in Marston Pavilion. Music will be furnished by the Divisionaires. Refreshments will be served.

In order to properly plan the above parties and purchase necessary supplies, it is imperative that an immediate count of those children who will attend.

If you have dependents who will attend one of these parties, notify the father's unit office immediately of their names, ages. Registration forms are available at all unit offices.

Symphony Members Drive Meets Success

The drive for memberships in the North Carolina Symphony Association now being sponsored by the Officers' Wives' Club of Camp Lejeune, in collaboration with the Jacksonville Women's Club, Women's Clubs of Midway Park, and the Officers' Wives' Club of Cherry Point, is meeting with marked success in the venture to underwrite the Symphony's visit here for performances in the Camp Theater early next spring.

A children's concert will be given in the afternoon for the children of the surrounding area. It is expected that Miss Jane Winfield, child prodigy of Washington, N. C., will perform with the orchestra for the added enjoyment of the youthful audience. Children are avidly interested and attentive listeners in their appreciation of fine music. Prior to the symphony's appearance here, a description of the numbers to be played will be provided for the local school music teachers in order that their pupils may be prepared beforehand to thoroughly understand the "stories" to be told in their rendition.

The evening concert will be attended by the adult subscribers to the Symphony Association, and a generous block of tickets will be allocated by Camp Special Services for distribution to the various military organizations at Camp Lejeune for the enjoyment of music lovers stationed here.

While the drive for memberships at Camp Lejeune will have been concluded at an early date, subscriptions are still available through the various drive chairmen as well as at business and municipal locations in Jacksonville, Midway Park, Swansboro, Richlands, and at Cherry Point.

North Carolina is proud to have the North Carolina Symphony virtually become the "Voice of the State," taking great music to the corner of North Carolina every spring, the symphony's fifth annual tour. The symphony of 65 pieces is planned to perform in the Theater at the time of the Full Orchestra tour to the communities of the state. "Little Symphony" will be aboard a Coast Guard cutter for the enjoyment of isolated living on sandy Cape Hatteras.

Benjamin Swalin, conductor of the North Carolina Symphony, widely recognized as a distinguished scholar. Born in Minnesota, he became a member of the police Symphony Orchestra at age 18. Later he studied in Vienna and New York. His direction, the symphony has grown to a professional level, a brilliant and inspiring performance throughout the South.

Memberships purchased will entitle the holder to the enjoyment of the concerts to be given during spring season of 1950. Bern, Wilmington, and ties in North Carolina.

A well known "Son of Carolina," Kay Kyser, a many Life Members support North Carolina Symphony. The coming performance, splendid organization, and Camp Lejeune will be a treat for all music lovers here, as well as the audiences who will attend the concerts.

Suggestion Program Shows Increased Activity

Following are excerpts from a mental letter to the Information Officer pertaining to the Quarterly Statement of the Suggestion Program.

For the fiscal year 1949, 130 Naval activities suggestion programs in these activities emanated an average of 285,000 or slightly more than the total number of Navy activities.

The reports from activities show that for the ending March 31, 58 suggestions were submitted of which 3,296 were submitted in cash awards of $80,051 and eligible savings to the of $482,217 for the first adoption. The quarter ending June 30, 1949, shows the figures: suggestions, 3,604; cash awards, $81,290; eligible savings to Navy, first $1,659.

The record shows that fiscal 1949 proved to be another year of increased activity in the suggestion program. The 40,800 suggestions submitted have resulted in the adoption of over 12,500 ideas, which are an annual saving of almost one-half million dollars. The increase of nearly three years over 1947 and 1948. The significance is the fact that employees are participating in the program by submitting suggestions and that the improvement ideas of quality that over 31% of immediate adoption.

The program proves that the Naval Suggestion Program is going over and over and that a large group of employees are being encouraged to save money for their activities, but in checking the Monthly Report we find that the Marine Barracks, Camp Lejeune, during the three months ended June 30, 1949, had nine beneficial suggestions adopted which resulted in employees being paid an average of $45.00 per suggestion. These three suggestions, which the Navy Department will save $600 by their adoption.

Above, all civilian employees should be able to see that the beneficial suggestions submitted by them the Navy can save a great deal of money and put into better operational procedure. Also the Navy pays well for suggestions and it is a known fact that employees of the activities food ideas and—if submitted—beneficial suggestion—can help the government obtain a cash award to the individual; so, have you had any brainstorms lately on ways to save time or materials on some job you do? The Navy can use your ideas and pays cash awards up to $275 for any beneficial suggestions that are adopted. Suggestions of any kind which will result in improvement or economy in the operations of the Navy or Marine Corps through monetary savings, increased efficiency, conservation of property, improving working conditions, elimination of accident hazards, etc., might win an award. If you have a practical idea, submit it today! Suggestion forms are available in your department office or at the Industrial Relations Office.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

"Employees who are required to be examined by the Civil Service Commission in connection with a pending promotion or reassignment within the Navy Department will be granted time off without charge to leave for the time required to complete such examination. Employees taking either non-competitive or open competitive civil service examinations in order to retain their positions will be granted time off without charge against leave for the time necessary to complete the examination. However, employees taking open competitive examinations for positions will be required to take annual leave or leave without pay for such time as they are absent from their official duties."

In accordance with the above, employees taking the promotional examination for Leadingman and Quartermaster must sign for annual leave for the time required to complete the examination, unless currently serving in the position for which he is competing in the examination.

Employees who must compete in an examination for their position several times before receiving a qualifying grade will be granted leave each time.

SGT. HORACE KILPATRICK

Though stationed at Edenton, N. C., it was decided that Kilpatrick was too seriously injured to be transferred. He was brought to Camp Exchange. Application cards for this purpose have been furnished department heads to be completed by each civilian employee at this activity. Department heads have been instructed to have the application cards completed and returned to the Industrial Relations Office not later than 1400, November 4, 1949.

Civilian purchase privileges will begin as soon as the application cards can be approved by the Camp Exchange Officer and returned to applicants.

If you care to use this privilege, it is suggested that you get hot and see that your department head has an application for you.

Hospital Hi-Lites No. 2

kept there or at Cherry Point; hence, the transfer.

When listed as seriously ill, the hospital Red Cross staff contacted his brother and had him flown here from Orlando, Fla., for a visit. This was the first time the brothers had seen each other in six years.

This week, Kilpatrick, who is recovering nicely from an assortment of broken ribs, crushed vertebrae, and a collapsed lung, is again savoring that eloquent word, "liberty."

One of the first friends I made on arrival at Camp Lejeune, was Miss Elizabeth G. Taylor, Red Cross social worker stationed at the U. S. Naval Hospital.

Betsy, as we soon learned to call her, has been here almost two years, but is to leave this week for the Army at Fort Benning, Ga.

Everyone, I'm sure, joins with me in saying that we'll miss Betsy sorely. Her competent work, sense of humor, and simply atrocious accent, have endeared her to all. Though we hate like the dickens to lose you, Betsy, we wish you loads of luck and fun—until we meet again.

Note to patients, staff, and members of the families living in the hospital compound:

Protestant services are held each Sunday morning at 10:30 in the the program deserves a big hand.

Lejeune Medical Society Holds Initial Meeting

Comdr. M. W. Mason, Medical Corps, U. S. Navy, Addresses Professional Gathering of Medicos; Many Physicians from Surrounding Area Attend

By TSgt. HUGH E. GIBSON

Radioactive isotopes are no substitute for medication and surgery, members and guests of the Camp Lejeune Medical Society were told by Comdr. Malcom W. Mason, (MC), USN, guest speaker at the first professional meeting of the Society held here on Wednesday evening, October 26.

Speaking to a representative audience of medical officers and physicians from the surrounding area, Commander Mason, Chief of Radiology at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md., discussed "The Use of Radioactive Isotopes in the Modern Treatment of Disease." A diplomate of the American Board of Radiologists, the commander has had wide experience in the use of isotopes as therapeutic agents.

Describing radioactive isotopes as "really hot," the commander announced that the Navy has scored another "first" by inaugurating a special program designed to produce technicians trained in the handling of isotopes. The first class of five students is now in progress at the Bethesda establishment.

Careful to discourage the impression that isotopes are a magic weapon against such diseases as cancer and leukemia, the commander reported excellent results in reducing pain and discomfort through their use.

"This, in itself, is a notable achievement," Commander Mason declared, "and in several instances has enabled us to discontinue administering narcotics."

Although pessimistic over the curative value of isotopes, the distinguished radiologist stated that cases are on record where the relief obtained from their use has extended for periods as long as five years. He warned his listeners, however, that no positive proof exists that radiation effects may not manifest themselves later in isotope-treated cases.

In clipped, precise words, the eminent radiologist traced the history of research and experimentation in this field from the first experiments with bean plants in 1913, using naturally radioactive elements, through the development of cyclotrons and the modern uranium pile. An important milestone in this advance was the discovery in 1934 that radioactivity can be artificially induced. Today, approximately 1000 radioactive isotopes are known to science and their production is relatively inexpensive.

Projected slides were used by Commander Mason to explain some of the more commonly used isotopes and the intricate task of determining the exact amount to be used in each case. While hard and fast rules are difficult to prescribe, experience has shown that better results are obtained by administering small doses over a long period of time rather than large doses in a relatively short period, he said.

One of the most useful features of radioactive isotopes is their aid in diagnosis. This is particularly true in the case of isotopes derived from iodine when used to determine the activity of the thyroid gland. From the amount of the isotope retained by the body over a given period, it is possible to detect both hyperactive and hypoactive functioning with great accuracy, Commander Mason explained.

Isotopes used at the Bethesda hospital are obtained from the super-secret atomic energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., the commander revealed. Their use in the treatment of every case is subject to careful consideration by a board convened at the hospital. Normally, the commander pointed out, the use of isotopes is supplementary to orthodox medication, surgery, or x-ray, although isotopes alone have been used when special conditions prohibited the employment of more conservative methods of treatment.

Following his prepared speech, the eminent doctor answered questions from the audience and discussed special aspects of radiological treatment. A high degree of interest was evidenced by the barrage of questions from Medical Society members and their guests.

Commander Mason was introduced by Capt. J. F. Hooker, (MC), USN, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Naval Hospital at Camp Lejeune, following a reading of the minutes of the organizational meeting by Comdr. W. K. Lawlor, (MCS), USN, Secretary-Treasurer of the Society, and a brief welcoming address by Capt. W. J. Shudde, (MC), USN, President.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Captain Shudde announced that the next meeting of the Camp Lejeune Medical Society would be held during the month of November at a date to be selected later.

Refreshments were served to members and their guests following the meeting.

NCO Leaders' School Graduates Saturday Morning

Graduation exercises for the first class of the NCO Leaders' School will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, November 5, in the Area 3 Theater, Maj. Anthony Walker, Commanding Officer of the School, announced Monday, Col. Homer L. Litzberg Jr., Commanding Officer of the Sixth Marines, will deliver the graduation address.

The exercises will be open to the public and a cordial invitation to attend is extended by Major Walker to relatives and friends of both the graduating class and the school staff.

Saturday's ceremony will mark the end of a rigorous schedule of instruction that began on October 8. In the ensuing four weeks, the class, composed entirely of staff NCO's, has received intensive training in the theory and practical application of leadership, conduct of training, and basic tactical training.

Tentative plans call for the next class to start on November 19, Major Walker said.

follows. Guests will be met at the Main Gate at 10:30 a.m., and will be escorted to the Hadnot Point area where the activities are to be held. A parade and review, with personnel from the entire Second Marine Division and Marine Barracks participating, will be held at 11:00 a.m., as well as a display of combat equipment. Following this, an air show will be put on by the Second Marine Air Wing of Cherry Point.

Dinner will be served at 12:00 noon. At 1:00 p.m., the guests will assemble in the Main Camp Theater, where General Hart will deliver the welcoming address and will introduce the Honorable Graham A. Barden, Member of Congress and a member of the Committee on Education and Labor, who will be the guest speaker.

Following the talks in the theater, a guided tour to the points of interest in the Hadnot Point area will be conducted, with a stop at the Protestant Chapel, to view the beautiful stained-glass memorial windows. During the tour, officer commentators will describe the activities passed.

At approximately 3:00 p.m., the guests will witness a coordinated tank and infantry attack on fortified positions by the 6th Marines (Reinforced), employing rocket launchers, flame throwers, demolitions, machine guns, and other infantry weapons.

Following this, the guests will be escorted to the Camp Lejeune High School for a tour of the class rooms. Refreshments will be served to end the day's activities.

Hunting License Status Clarified By N. Caro

Section Governing Who May Hunt Without License Clearly Defined By State Attorney General

A recent letter received by the Commanding General from the Executive Director of the State of North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission clearly defines that North Carolina Statute concerning the status of military personnel in regard to hunting without licenses in the state.

As a matter of interest to all military personnel, the letter is quoted herewith.

"Questions have arisen in the past as to the status of military personnel in regard to hunting without licenses in North Carolina. The North Carolina Statute, section 113-95, has been clarified by the Attorney General of North Carolina, and we feel that the personnel of your command would benefit from being informed of this interpretation.

"Under the Attorney General's ruling, the privilege extended to service men entitling them to hunt without a license is restricted to members of the Armed Forces who are bona fide residents of North Carolina, who are at home, on temporary leave or furlough, or to any Veteran residing in and receiving treatment in a United States Veterans facility, and to those who served overseas with the Armed Forces and who are temporarily stationed in a redistribution

litation center. "A bona fide resident, the ruling, is one who has established his domicile in the State of North Carolina, and who has not such domicile, with the of retaining it permanent in this State, do not requirements of the are not exempt from Laws requiring possession of a valid license when a member of the Army who has once established domicile in this State entitled to hunt without even though he had left the State with the of returning to it at date.

"Section 3 of this Act that these provisions were forced only for the duration of six months. Inasmuch as there has been a termination, and since not adopted a peace treaty, former enemy nations, stood that the provisions Act are still in full force.

"Therefore, the Commanding General would be benefited by this ruling, respectfully requested be initiated to disseminate information.

"Please be assured of our cooperation with you to cooperate with you possible and feel free to for any service we can any time."

Scouting NEWS

Camp Lejeune Cub Pack No. 90 held their monthly meeting at the Midway Park Community Building on Tuesday, October 25, at 1930. A large number of parents were present with their boys and it was gratifying to see the interest displayed in the Cub Scout Program.

The purpose of this meeting was to register all boys who desire to become Cub Scouts. Thirty-nine boys were registered and their applications have been sent to Boy Scout Headquarters for membership cards and Bobcat pins. In addition, the Cub Scout Committee explained at this meeting the purpose of Cub Scouting and the part that each parent must play to make the year a successful one for the boys involved.

During the meeting, the officials of the Pack were chosen. The sponsoring institute is the U. S. Marine Corps and Comdr. R. S. Sassaman, Chaplains' Corps, U. S. Navy, has been designated by the Commanding General as Chairman.

In the Cub Scout Committee, the following officials were chosen: Chairman—Col. R. L. Denig Jr., USMC.

Members—LtCol. G. P. Groves, USMC.

MSgt. W. B. Does, USMC.

Mr. L. D. Cardwell

Treasurer—Mr. C. K. Huneycutt

Cubmaster—Mr. J. E. Herndon.

Seven Dens were organized and Den Mothers appointed as follows: Den No. 2, Mrs. K. N. Guthrie; Den No. 3, Mrs. L. D. Cardwell; Den No. 4, Mrs. W. C. Edison; Den No. 5, Mrs. R. F. Gotko; and Den No. 7, Mrs. R. L. Smith.

As of the present, no one has volunteered to be Den Mother for Den No. 1 in Midway Park or Den No. 8 in Trailer Park. Anyone desiring to offer their services are requested to contact Lieutenant Commander Sassaman or Colonel Denig.

The Cub Scout theme, "Keeping Strong," was selected for the Den Mothers to stress during November. All Cubs were asked to bring achievement No. 5 to the next meeting to be held in the Midway Park Community Building on November 15. At the time, prizes will be awarded for the best Wolf, Bear, and Lion Cub achievement. A motion picture on Cub Scouting will be shown which the Cubmaster hopes will be enjoyed by all the boys.

Prior to adjournment of the meeting, Wolf Cub Gallais E. Matheny was presented with his Bear Cub
