TSgt. J. A. Fowler Wins Place On International Pistol Team

Fires 183 Out Of 200 To Insure Berth On U. S. Team; Ties National 1949 Champ

TSgt. John A. Fowler, Battery "A", 10th Marines, Second Marine Division, returned from the National Pistol Matches last Friday assured of a place among the first 12 participants on the U.S. International Pistol Team.

Sergeant Fowler accomplished his feat in the National Matches held at Fort Sheridan, Ill., beginning on Friday, September 2. The matches featured approximately 400 of the outstanding pistol shots from throughout the country, including civilians, Army, Marine, and even FBI marksmen. Against such crack competition, the sergeant fired 183 out of a possible 200 with the .22 caliber pistol, slow fire, 50 yards, in a strong wind under adverse firing conditions. This figure tied that of MSgt. Joe Benner, USA, Fort Benning, Ga., National 1949 Champion, firing in the same match.

The popular sergeant has won several marksmanship trophies during his more than eight years' service in the Marine Corps. He has been firing in the Eastern Division Matches since 1946. He won the First Place Silver Medal in the 1948 matches and in May, 1949, captured the First Place Silver Medal in the Southeastern Division matches.

HIGH INDIVIDUAL SCORER

WO. R. C. McIntyre of the 2d Combat Service Group (Medium), firing in the Fort Sheridan matches as a member of the U. S. Marine Corps Headquarters Battalion Team, was high scorer on the line with the .45 caliber pistol out of 30 other competing four-man teams. Warrant Officer McIntyre fired 278 out of a possible 300. In team standings, his team placed third.

TEAM MEMBERS DESIRED

LtCol. W. A. Lee, Officer in Charge of the Rifle Range, points out that there is still opportunity for prospective members to try out for the Lejeune Pistol Team. Try-outs are held each Wednesday and Friday at 1300 at the Rifle Range.

The next anticipated match is scheduled to be held at Durham, N. C., on September 18.

Two tentative matches are also planned for the month of October, one to be held in Harrisburg, Pa., and one at Quantico, Va.

All personnel desiring to try for a place on the team are urged to go to the Rifle Range at the above times and fire in the trials.

The Center Of Attraction

This picture caught Camp Lejeune's Second Marines "coming round the bend" into Penn Square in Philadelphia, Pa., on August 30 before part of the crowd of a million and a half people who witnessed the gigantic twelve-hour-long 31st National American Legion Convention Grand Parade in that city. They manage to look good, even though executing a difficult march maneuver. The Marines, numbering 800 of the 60,000 who marched in the parade, were cheered and showered with ticker tape by the wildly enthusiastic spectators. This Philadelphia Inquirer photo was spread across an entire page on the picture page of that paper and was released nationally by wire services. The Inquirer stated in its caption "... other armed forces units also marched."

Death Stalks The Highways

GRUESOME LABOR DAY RECORD

Our hard to beat record of total accidents to date soared up THREE over Labor Day. TWO Marines killed and TWO critically injured. Three accidents certainly caused a sorry loss of life. What caused them? Same old story, FATIGUE, and undoubtedly, hurrying to get back to camp.

It's a sad deal, isn't it, when grown-up men roam our highways at the wheel of a high-powered infernal machine, giving little heed to life or limb? Makes one wonder if we, who have luxury items such as automobiles, don't wander away from the sensible things in life—such as respect for our own life and that of the other fellow. He has a place in this world the same as we do.

Wouldn't it be a wonderful idea if all of us brightened up a bit and drove with care and due regard for the safety of others and ourselves? Just think of the awful carnage this would eliminate. Motor vehicle deaths and injuries would fall to an all-time low. People who are too timid to chance the highways on week-ends and holidays would come out of hiding and would drive on and roam the highways and roads, knowing that—in all probability—they would arrive back home in one piece. It's a pleasant thought and could come about if ALL DRIVERS would just think, drive with caution and care, and keep one THOUGHT uppermost in their minds, that is—"IF I DRIVE AT A REASONABLE RATE OF SPEED, AND OBEY THE LAWS OF MAN AS WELL AS OF NATURE, I WILL NOT KILL OR MAIM ANYONE, AND WILL MYSELF ARRIVE SAFELY HOME."—W. ## TAKING CHANCES

In a little village where everybody turns out to see the train come in, a big fellow filled with drink was making a nuisance of himself. The local guardian of the peace tried to quiet him, but the rowdy whipped out a pistol and started shooting at the officer. The policeman threw his hand on his hip to draw his weapon, but instead sprang forward and disarmed the young hoodlum and sent him home.

One of the onlookers remarked that he had taken unnecessary and dangerous chances. "Well," said the policeman, "I came pretty close to doin' it. But I just figured it wasn't Jim shootin', but his jag, and then I seemed to see his kids hangin' on the gate, waitin' for him to come home, and his wife worryin' about him, and I just couldn't do it. The chances I took were for them." He was a rough and tumble fellow the cop, but there was something fine and kind in his heart. He was willing to gamble with his life rather than add to the troubles of an already burdened family. He didn't want to add to the tears of little children. He could see and feel what it would mean to others who would be hurt, and yet were helpless.

BY PFC. DICK STITES

proposed pay bill has reached a new climax this morning as a Democratic Policy Committee meeting of the United States Senate on September 6, the majority leader Scott Lucas (D-Ill.) announced that the Military Pay Bill was among the measures approved for consideration at the adjournment of the present session of Congress, and was set on the Pay Bill but Senator Lucas said he thinks it would be reached prior to September 15.

It is quite possible that the Military Pay Bill is scheduled for consideration following action on the Trade Agreement, but this is not certain.

When the Military Pay Bill comes before the Senate for action, several amendments rejected by the Armed Services Committee will be considered. The most important will be that of Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Col.) which provides that "any disability shown to have been incurred in line of duty during a period of active service in time of national emergency shall be considered to be the result of performance of active duty."

The effect of this amendment would be to increase the cost of the bill, since it would extend benefits of disability retirement sections of the measure to those who were incapacitated in time of war for any reason, other than active service, whereas the bill would require eight years' service before those disabled from causes other than those due to active service would be eligible for retirement.

Senator Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.) has proposed an amendment assigning warrant officers to various grades in accordance with length of service. The bill in its present form would authorize the Secretary concerned to distribute warrant officers for pay purposes among the various grades. Senator Myers' amendment would assign command warrant officers of more than 26 years' service to warrant officers of more than 30 years' service to pay grade W-4, commissioned warrant officers of more than 20 years' service and warrant officers of more than 26 years' service to W-3, commissioned warrant officers of less than 20 years' service and warrant officer of more than 20 years' service to W-2, and warrant officers of less than 20 years' service to W-1. (Information taken from ARMY-NAVY NEWS).

The Military Pay Bill is considered in the near future, and is expected to be passed with minor amendments.

Miss America said she would be glad to take the challenge of the contest officials to pit Miss America against herself, without bathing suits, in the kitchen, on the dance floor, on the beach, or anywhere the Atlantic winner chooses. Camid IV Exercise Praised

Fourth Marines Lauded By CG, TTU, Lant For Landing

Maj. Gen. Hart Notes With Pleasure The Excellent Performance Of Duty By Local BLT

By MSgt. Anthony Stankatis and Cpl. Richard J. Murdoch Jr.

In a recent division bulletin, it was stated that the Commanding General had noted with pleasure that the excellent performance of duty of the Fourth Marines had merited and received the approbation of the Commanding General, Troop Training Unit, Atlantic.

The bulletin was the result of a letter from Brig. Gen. R. H. Pepper, USMC, to Maj. Gen. Franklin A. Hart, desiring to bring to the attention of the Commanding General the very efficient performance of duty demonstrated by the Fourth Marines during the recent CAMID IV training.

The letter read in part: "The thoroughness with which its members performed their duties contributed greatly to the success of CAMID IV. The cooperation of this unit was exemplary throughout."

(The story behind this commendation, not heretofore published in the Globe, is related at this time by the two Second Marine Division correspondents assigned to the CAMID IV operation at Little Creek, Va.)

Aug. 20—On August 16, amid demolition explosions that rattled dishes in Norfolk and caused a flurry of telephone calls to local area newspapers asking "What happened," the Fourth Marines of the Second Marine Division showed the future officers of the armed forces how an amphibious invasion should be conducted as they stormed the beaches here.

Known as MARLEX, the operation started at 0715 with the Navy's Underwater Demolition Team No. 2 swimming from their small landing craft offshore and starting their demolition operations and beach reconnaissance.

From 0800 to 0840, the demolitions planted by UDT No. 2, were sending geysers of debris, sand, and water high in the air, simulating Naval gunfire and "enemy" artillery bursts.

At 0840, the men of the Fourth Marines, now referred to as "invasion specialists," hit the beach as only Marines can hit them—fast, furiously, and efficiently, with each man knowing his job and performing it to the best of his ability.

As wave after wave of Marines stormed ashore, they encountered several obstacles in the form of prepared ground explosives and a pill-box blocking their advance. These greatly enhanced the air of realism that had been created earlier.

As the ground explosives were bursting, shaking the beach, a flamethrower team and demolitions man readily "knocked out" the pill-box, much to the delight of over 1,000 observers that attended the exercise. The spectators included ranking officers of the armed forces, a company of the 82nd Airborne Division, a host of civilian guests, and the cadets and midshipmen of the U. S. Military and Naval Academies, who attempted to duplicate the performance this morning.

Today, at approximately the same time in the morning that MARLEX started on August 16, the cadets and midshipmen, assisted by members of the Fourth Marines, amphibiously assaulted the beaches at Camp Pendleton, Va., where they faced a small but effective maneuver "enemy" comprised of Second Division and Troop Training Unit Marines.

In their landing, the CAMID's utilized the basic knowledge provided them by the Fourth Marines in regards to the vital roles of communications, small unit tactics, and overall coordination of the amphibious force in insuring that amphibious operations of the United States will always prove successful.

Other units participating in the full-scale amphibious operation were elements of the Second Marine Air Wing, 82nd Airborne Division, 316th Troop Carrier Group, U. S. Air Force, and various Naval units of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, Amphibious Force.

College Credit Given For Completing Test

Naval Personnel can earn one or two years of college credit for "in-service" purposes by successfully completing tests recognized by the Navy as the equivalent of either one or two years of standard college study.

In the case of one series of examinations, the "USAFI General Educational Development Tests, College Level," results may be forwarded at the individual's request to a civilian college or university for possible accreditation by that institution. In such case, only one year's college credit could be granted.

AGE LIMIT 21 YEARS

The second test, "Educational Qualification Test 2CX," may be taken after successfully passing the first year accreditation examination. It also may be taken by persons who have completed one year of college. In either case, prospective examinees must be 21 years of age or over.

Successful completion, however, of the 2CX test will gain only Navy recognition for having the equivalent of two years' college for in-service purposes.

'You Can't Win'

Slot Machines Collect Billions Every Year

Attending War College

Twenty-four Navy and six Marine Corps senior officers are among a class of 114 members now attending the National War College at Fort Lesley J. McNair, Washington, D. C. The course of instruction, representing the beginning of the college's fourth year of existence, covers international relations and U. S. foreign policy and other subjects of importance to the nation's security.

EXAMS AT CENTERS

The college level GED tests may be taken at any Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps GED testing center. The 2CX examination, however, must be applied for individually. A description of the tests, minimum passing marks, and methods for applying for them are contained in BuPers Circ. Ltr. 122-49 (NDB, 15 Aug. 1949).

Famous Author Claims Americans Spend Money Foolishly On Worthless Pastime

(From the book "You Can't Win" By ERNEST BLANCHE)

Slot machines have been aptly termed one-armed bandits. Their annual "take" reaches about two billion dollars. Some 80 to 90 per cent of what the players put into them is clear profit for the operator.

The slot machine has three wheels set in vertical position. Insert a coin, pull down a lever, and you send the three wheels whirling. When the wheels stop, three fruit or other picture symbols show up in the little glass windows of the machine.

If the device is a nickel machine of the fruit-symbol type, the cherry combinations pay from 10 to 25 cents; three oranges pay 40 cents; three plums 60 cents; three bells, one dollar; three bars, about four dollars—the jackpot.

The mechanical action is always the same, whether you pull the lever slowly or yank it down vigorously. After a second or so, a little rod slides into a notch on the sprocket of each wheel, causing audible clicks. But most operators plug the notches on certain winning symbols.

Every machine I have ever examined has been "fixed" to pay off only a small percentage of the money taken in—usually 10 to 20 percent.

What if the machine is honest? Even then your chances aren't very good—one in 4,000 to turn up the jackpot combination. A study by Prof. Philip G. Fox, of the University of Wisconsin, based on student experimentation with a dime machine showed that the "lucky" player could play for an hour before losing $10, but the "unlucky" player could throw $10 away in 7 minutes.

At the average time of 28 minutes, the cost of playing amounts to $21.60 an hour—which is pretty expensive exercise.

Proof positive that "you can't win."

After only one year on the outside, he came back into the Marine Corps. He was stationed overseas from 1930 to 1934, during which time he fought and coached. While in aviation during the war, he received his commission on February 16, 1943. Coach Brandt is looking forward to a good season this year. The Lejeune Boxing Team last year boasted two All-Navy Champs. This year both are returning. With these two boys to start with, Coach Brandt could develop even a better team than last year's.

MAJOR R. R. BOLISH
BASKETBALL COACH

Major R. J. Bolish has been named to coach the 1949-50 Varsity Basketball Team. The major, who was born in Canton, Ohio, played high school football and basketball for Upper Sandusky High in Upper Sandusky, Ohio, where he graduated in 1935.

He entered Ohio State University upon graduation and finished in 1939 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Physical Education.

In the latter part of 1939, he was appointed Director of Athletics at Beaver High School in Beaver, Ohio. The major held this post until 1941 when he enlisted in the Marine Corps. He served aboard the USS Maryland during the war from December of 1942 until January of 1945. Following a short stay Stateside, the major again returned overseas; this time to Japan, China, and Guam.

Major Bolish came to Camp Lejeune in November of 1947. He has been Officer in Charge of Marine Corps Supply Schools, Supply School Battalion, Marine Barracks.

The Camp Lejeune Fencing Class invites experienced fencers and novices to join the class. Applications are held open until September 30, at which time the Fencing will be formed. Meetings are being held at Gym 40 Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, at 2000. MSgt. Tom Zkiewicz, chief coach, and Pfc. Tom Clark, manager, are scheduling matches in the late winter.

When the first football game rolls around, an alternate starter at one of the guard slots will be Jim Mariades. Standout in football and boxing at his hometown high school, Mariades then went to Pitt where he played under the Jock Sutherland. Playing service ball after he entered the Marine Corps, he was selected All-Service guard in 1948. Lt. Mariades has been playing ball at Quantico for three years. He's 27 years old... tips the scale at 160 and stands 5'10" tall.

Quantico was again crowned the East Coast Champions. They defeated Parris Island at Norfolk, taking the title for the second straight year. Ted Osiel, the Lejeune regular who played for Parris Island, and hit pretty good at Norfolk.

Word received out of the Parris Island "Boot" TSgt. Gene Kiernan will be transferred to Camp Lejeune October 1. "Irish Ed," as he is sometimes called, went to Parris Island in 1946 and has held down the coaching job for the P. I. Boxing Team since that date. He is a colorful personality and has compiled an enviable record for his southern rings.

With only one week of practice left before the season goes up on the local football field, the Lejeune gridiron really be put thru the ropes for the next week. Despite injuries that now exist, all are expected to be ready for the opening game.

The 1949 World Series will be broadcast over WJLA this year. Announcers, time, and other details will be announced as soon as the regular schedules of the American and National League are completed.

When Camp Pendleton takes to the football field next year they can thank Quantico for one of their halfbacks. 2dLt. Joe Bartos of Lorain, Ohio. Lieutenant Bartos played on the 1944, '45 and '46 teams at the Naval Academy. Fullback, one year with the single wing formation, and years with the "T." In 1947, he was selected to play for the Eastern All-Stars against the New York Giants in an annual New York Herald-Tribune game at the Polo Grounds. For the past two years, Lieutenant Bartos has played for the Quantico and both seasons he has been named to the Marine team. Standing 6 feet 2 inches, he weighs 200 lbs. He is looking ahead to a pro grid career.

Lejeune Gridders Are Hit Hard By Injuries

12 Key Men On Injury List As First Game With Campbell College Draws Near

By 1st Lt. W. T. ZAMOJC

"Maybe all these injuries before the season are good omens. Have them now and maybe there won't be as many once we start playing our games," has been said many times.

That's the consensus of the coaching staff of the Camp Lejeune football squad. They can be justified in moaning loud and long due to the number of injuries that have cropped up in practice.

Here is the injured list, as of last Saturday: Davidson, end, ankle; Hargett, end, knee; Greason, guard, knee; Mariades, guard, upset stomach; Martin, center, arm; Rudd, center, knee; Camp, halfback, finger; Maksin, halfback, leg; Moody, halfback, hip; Serres, halfback, ankle; Kobek, fullback, ankle; and Stein.

Gilbert Hershey, Bethesda, Md.; played for Wilson High in Washington, D. C., and three years at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, for Earl "Red" Blaik; 5' 10", 160 pounds.

Edwin Strickland, 148 pounds, 5' 7", from Dillon, S. C.

Lawrence Miller, Chicago, Ill., 5' 10", 170 pounds.

Joe Bertholf, Middletown, N. Y., 5' 9", 170 pounds.

Sid Klinepeter, 5' 10", 183 pounds, from Duncannon, Pa.

Mario Natelli, 5' 6", 155 pounds, Jersey City, N. J.; played ball at Jersey City Junior College.

Clarence Camp, Memphis, Tenn.; 5' 8", 175 pounds, played for Quantico last year.

NEXT - THE COACHES.

fullback, ankle. Count them and you will find twelve are on the injured list. All are key men and their absence is hurting.

Dr. Turney and his two hospital corpsmen have their hands full, but report that all men should be ready to go against Campbell College on September 24. The game time for that tussle is 1600.

Following a three-day rest, going a full week without body contact work took its toll on the ball club. In a Friday scrimmage, the long lay-off showed itself time and again in blocking and timing. The scrimmage was rough and so were some of the gridders.

Some of the rough edges disappeared early in the Friday scrimmage when John Nettingham and Steve "Zeke" Zakula made fancy runs. Nettingham hit the line like a bull and was hard to stop. He can be dangerous with that kind of running.

Frank Maksin, flashy back, hurt his leg in the Friday scrimmage. At first, it was feared his leg was broken, but X-rays revealed the bone had been bruised and the medics say Maksin will be good as new very soon.

On Saturday morning, the pigskinners looked much better in another session of scrimmage. Running and tackling was hard all during the 90-minute drill. William "Minnie" Minihan flipped several passes good for substantial gains and also generated his squad to some large ground-gaining plays. Little Eddie Strickland, the team's lightest man, 148 pounds, made himself very noticeable by catching passes and running like a rabbit.

Just ten more days separate the Lejeune gridders from the opening game, and you can bet your bottom dollar Coach "Andy" Andruska and his staff are going to have those Marines ready and rarin' to go get the Campbell College Camels.

WALTER T. ZAMOJC writes: This is the fourth appearing weekly in on the prospects of on the Camp Lejeune ball team.)

present. Frank is fast, to say the least, and will give opposing tacklers a tough time when they try to catch him. He's 5' 11", weighs 170 pounds, and played at Lejeune last year.

Right on the heels of Maksin are Leo Moody, Dillon, S. C., and Steve "Zeke" Zakula, Chicago, Ill.

Moody has been on the injured list for the past week but should be ready when September 24 rolls around. In addition to being a shifty runner, Moody will do a lot of punting this fall. He stands 5' 11" and weighs in at 170 pounds.

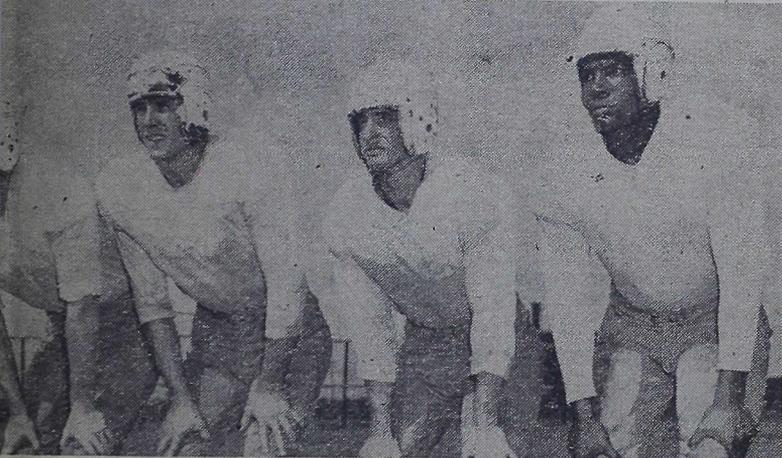

"Zeke" Zakula, 6', 180 pounds, is the lumbering type of halfback that can bowl over would-be tacklers. He saw a lot of action last year for Camp Lejeune. On defense, he can be expected to make many vicious tackles if and when the opposition gets through the powerful Lejeune forward wall. Zakula is from Chicago, Ill., and played ball for Chicago Vocational.

Another dangerous back is Melvin "Tex" Serres, naturally from Texas, Houston to be specific. "Tex" is another good punter and knows his way around would-be tacklers. He stands 6' tall, weighs 170 pounds, and played ball at Alding High in Houston.

Always ready to get into the fray on the gridiron with the other halfbacks are these ball-toters:

Robert Gault, 5' 6", 155 pounds, from Chicago, Ill., really fast, has one year at U. of Illinois, played high school ball at Wendell Phillips

The retention points gained for use in case of a reduction in force by each individual is figured in the following manner. Each person is entitled to one retention point for each year of Federal service. Federal service includes time served on active duty in any of the military branches and time spent in the Federal service as a civilian employee. Each individual is also entitled to one point if his efficiency rating is "Good"; three points if his efficiency rating is "Very Good"; five points if his efficiency rating is "Excellent." Only the last efficiency rating approved is creditable. The above is all that is counted for retention points.

In the reduction in force, several persons have called the Industrial Relations Officer thinking that the five or 10 point preference granted veterans is included in the retention points. This is a mistake, as those preference points are granted only for appointment purposes which helps the veteran to obtain his job.

VETERAN NEWS

Regardless of how many policies the veteran held or continues to hold, only one application is needed from each veteran to secure the National Service Life Insurance Special Dividend due him on each of his policies, Paul W. Crayton of the Veterans Administration office, New Bern, said today.

More than 400,000 World War II veterans of North Carolina began filing applications for the special dividend the first of last week for their proportional shares of 2.8 billion dollars to be distributed to 116 million veterans shortly after the first of next year.

Many of these veterans took out policies of varying amounts at different periods of their service and were under the impression that separate applications had to be made for each policy. They were entitled to a maximum of $10,000 in insurance.

Since records on all policies held by an individual serviceman were consolidated into one central account for him, one application will suffice to obtain him a lump sum check covering the proportional dividend due him on each policy.

Each policy must be studied separately because the amount of the dividend is based on the face amount of the policy, the length of time it was kept in force up to its 1948 anniversary date, and the age of the insured; however, the one application will initiate the study of each policy held by the veteran.

Applications are available at all VA offices, post offices, and veterans organizations. Veterans were again cautioned by Mr. Crayton to exercise extreme caution in supplying correct service serial numbers because the serial number will afford the most important method of associating the application with the correct insurance account maintained by the VA. Dates of entry into the service are not wanted.

Being mutual insurance, NSLI's cash reserve has turned out to be more than the amount necessary to give full insurance protection to policy holders; therefore, the VA is returning that surplus money, in proportional shares, in the form of a special dividend.

Division Schools Now Open To Men Below Rank Of Sergeant

Three Schools Offer Enlisted Personnel Opportunity To Prepare Themselves For Duty In Various Fields

BY MSGT. EDWARD J. HARFORD
Enlisted men of the Second Marine Division below the rank of staff sergeant who are interested in preparing themselves initially or duty in either Functional Field One, Five, or Sixteen, and who meet the requirements, may do so via the media of the Division Schools.

The Second Marine Division currently conducts three schools. Primarily they are Supply, Communications, and Clerical, all of which are established by ACoS (G-3) but are under the direct supervision of the staff functions they are related to.

Directives allocating number of students per unit and class requirements for the various courses are distributed to all units concerned approximately two weeks prior to the opening of school.

All personnel attending the Division Supply and Clerk-Typists' School are transferred to Headquarters and Service Battalion, Division, for the duration of the period of instruction and are reassigned to their parent organizations for duty upon completion of the schools.

THE DIVISION SUPPLY SCHOOL

Located in Building No. 301, the Division Supply School is a function of the Division Supply Office, under the supervision of Capt. Carl W. King as officer in charge. The school offers two courses of instruction the "Property NCO Course" and the "Basic Enlisted Supply Course."

Classes of the Property NCO Course are of five weeks' duration and cover such subjects as Organizational Property Records, Warehousing, Decontamination, Tables of Allowances, Tables of Organization, and Basic Typing. Men successfully completing this course are recommended for MOS 566 (Property NCO).

Classes of the Basic Enlisted Supply Course, a more extensive course in supply, are nine weeks' duration and include Modified Property Accounting, Passenger Transportation, Freight Transportation, Tables of Allowance, Tables of Equipment, Tables of Organization, Subsistence, Basic Typing, Warehousing, and TQM familiarization. Students completing the course are recommended for MOS 321 (Supply Clerk) or MOS 735 (Stockman, General). Certificates of graduation are awarded upon successful completion of either course.

Captain King and MSgt. Theodore B. Roosevelt, Jr., instruct all subjects pertaining to supply and MSgt. John P. Zimba is instructor of Typing and Supply Administration.

Personnel attending these classes should have at least eighteen months to serve on present enlistment and twelve months to serve in the Second Division.

THE DIVISION COMMUNICATIONS SCHOOL

Under the cognizance of the Division Signal Officer with 2dLt. G. Kohler as officer in charge, the Division Communication School, located in Building No. 13, conducts three courses of instruction.

The Radio Refresher Course, for personnel already qualified as radiomen, is set up as a means of standardizing all radio procedure in the division.

The Field Telephone Lineman Course, including subjects of Basic Electricity, Basic Telephone and Switchboard, Wire Laying, Pole Climbing, and other kindred subjects, is open to personnel within the division who are desirous of duty in Functional Field Five as linemen. The course extends over a six-week period and upon completion students will receive recommendations for MOS 641 (Telephone Lineman).

A six-week Message Center Course that includes Field and Office Message Center Procedure, Naval Communication Procedure, Dispatch Drafting, Map Reading, Communication Security, and Telephone Procedure will qualify a man for MOS 667 (Message Center Clerk).

TSgt. C. W. Seville is NCO in Charge of Communications School. SSgt. Roncinske, Sgt. Ringleman, and Sgt. Eddleman are instructors in the Message Center, Radio, and Telephone Lineman Courses.

THE CLERK-TYPISTS' SCHOOL

A function of the Division Adjutant's Section, the Clerk-Typists' School offers initial preparation for duty in the Administrative and Clerical field. The course is primarily a Typists' Course of six weeks duration and includes Basic Typing, Forms and Correspondence, Stencil Cutting, Routine Reports, and an introduction to the "new" Personnel Procedures referred to in Marine Corps Memorandum No. 64.

Maj. Louis E. Hudgins Jr., Division Adjutant, is Officer in Charge of the School. MSgt. Edward J. Harford and Sgt. Henry J. Stein are instructors in all subjects. Requirements for the course are that personnel have little, or preferably no, previous typing experience. Students successfully completing the course receive recommendations for MOS 055 (Clerk, General) and 405 (Clerk-Typist).

ON THE JOB TRAINING

Training is also offered to men of the Second Division via the Barber Training Program, a course in practical barbering extending over a period of six weeks. This course includes a three-week period of cutting hair at the Camp Brig with the basic tools of the trade and three weeks in the Area Exchange Barber Shops learning the finer points of barbering. Student barbers receive no compensation for their services. Cpl. J. E. Tilson is NCO in Charge of the program.

The Division ACoS (G-2) is scheduled for two classes of Reserve Instruction of two weeks each beginning September 19 and October 3. The first course is to be "Elementary Intelligence" and the second "Advanced Intelligence" . . . a refresher course to standardize intelligence procedure.
