n. Riley Returns To Camp m Palestine For Visit

Major General William E. Riley, Assistant Division Commander of the 2d Marine Division, returned to Camp Lejeune last Thursday for a few days of well-deserved rest from his present duties as Chief of Staff, of the Palestine Mission.

General Riley has been on duty at the Palestine Mission since May 2, 1948. He joined the 2d Marine Division at Camp Lejeune when his tour of duty as Chief of Division of Public Information had expired.

General Riley's duty with the United Nations in Palestine has a record in itself for the Assistant Division Commander. He is commended for his work in the United Nations twice during his tour of duty with the Palestine Mission.

Honorable Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations, commended the work of General Riley, last January in a message received by General Clifton B. Comandant of the Marine Division.

Text of the message is as follows:

"I am expressing my growing appreciation of the work being done by Brigadier General William E. Riley as Chief of Staff of the Palestine Mission. He has organized many observers of the United Nations, and has shown excellent qualities of leadership and understanding at all levels of the mission. He has contributed much to the maintenance of a necessary basis of peace. General Riley's capacity for organization and command is highly appreciated in all United Nations circles. Trygve Lie, Secretary General."

Navy Relief Drive Ends June 6th

The last inning coming up! The 1949 Navy Relief Drive for contributions ends 6 June. We do not have any pinch hitters—the "regular team" will have to put on steam to win with a final score above last years.

Remember that last year Camp Lejeune contributed $6382.00. In the same period, 1 May 1948 to 1 May 1949, the Navy Relief loaned to Camp personnel $60,623.00 with an additional $2469.00 in gratuities (outright gifts).

Contributions from this year's drive, as of 27 May, total $3592.00. This is, of course, an incomplete return. If you have not contributed, or if no one has asked you to give, look up your Navy Relief Drive representative as your gift is needed to put the drive over successfully.

Dependent's Hospital And Clinic At Camp Lejeune Always Open

One of the outstanding medical services offered to military personnel of Camp Lejeune is the Dependents' Hospital and Clinic of the U. S. Naval Hospital.

The finest, most up-to-date equipment and facilities as well as the services of highly specialized medical officers are always available to the dependents of military personnel.

The medical officer of the day is on duty twenty-four hours every day, in addition to the regular medical officer of the day at the Main hospital. A medical officer is always available for house calls whenever the condition of the patient or lack of transportation from the clinic requires that such calls be made.

Outpatients are cared for at any time during the day or night — Sundays or Holidays. Ambulance service is always available whenever it is necessary.

There is never any question as to whether the case is acute or chronic, trivial or serious. All dependents of service personnel that seek medical or surgical aid are given the best of treatment and none are ever turned away with the excuse that the clinic is closed or that it is after hours.

The Navy realizes the importance of its duty to provide the best in medical and surgical care for service personnel and their dependents and no effort is spared to attain that end.

House Kills Pay Hike By Unanimous Decision Last Week

227 Votes To 163
Sent Bill Back

The House killed the proposed Kilday Pay Bill, which would have hiked the wages of every man in uniform except recruits. The proposed $406,000,000 pay raise was voted down in a meeting of the House of Representatives last week.

This surprise caught the military personnel around the Globe off guard as everyone had expected the bill to be passed unanimously.

The action was based on a mounting congressional economy drive as well as reluctance to grant top-ranking officers big salary increases and a far less increase in salary to the lower pay grades.

President Truman earlier in the day had urged passage of the bill. He wrote Speaker Sam Rayburn that it was a "most important part" of the defense program because the armed services were having difficulty getting high-type men at the present pay scale.

But the House, by a roll call vote of 227 to 163, sent the measure back to the Armed Services Committee, which drafted it after weeks of hearings. This, in effect, killed the bill.

Voting to send the bill back to the committee were 121 Democrats, and 105 Republicans. Against recommitment were 120 Democrats and 43 Republicans.

Throughout the floor debate the sponsors had appeared to be in complete control. A series of amendments to trim raises for generals and give something extra to the enlisted men were beaten down by them.

Approved by the House was an amendment which would have kept in effect, for the duration of present enlistments, wartime family allowances which the original bill would have killed six months after passage. This was about the only concession won by the bill's critics before the vote for recommitment.

The final House action apparently wrote an end to efforts begun more than a year ago, by the so-called Hook Commission, to write a new pay scale designed to lure career service men into the armed forces.

The last general revision of military pay scales was made in 1908.

In defense of their wage proposals for officers advocates of the bill said that the lowest-ranking serviceman had been granted wage increases of 400 per cent since 1908. In contrast, they said, the pay of the generals had been raised only 10 per cent.

Opponents hammered at two points throughout the debate: the need for economy at a time when federal spending is expected to exceed income, and the fact that the bill did more for the general officers than for the junior officers or

Construction On New Field House Begins

Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of Marine Barracks and the 2d Marine Division at Camp Lejeune is shown above tossing a shovelful of good earth over his shoulder as he broke ground to start construction on Camp Lejeune's $700,000.00 Field House, which will be one of the best equipped gymnasiums in the military services. 'Red' Davis And Dorsey Fears Capture All-Navy

In a message received at Camp Lejeune yesterday, three Marines had been officially crowned champions in the All-Navy Tournament held at San Francisco last week.

Featherweight Cpl. "Red" Davis, Camp Lejeune, has tried to cop the coveted All-Navy title for the past two years but has had difficulty in downing all opponents in his class. This year, "Red" fought last year's All-Navy Featherweight Champion in his first match and defeated him in a grand slam exhibition of poise and power. He then went on to defeat all other contestants. Congratulations are certainly in order for this fighting Lejeune boxer.

Dorsey Fears, Lejeune Bantamweight, fought his way to the top of the All-Navy boxing world and was crowned Bantamweight king of the Navy. Dorsey sports a wealth of boxing awards already and this added All-Navy crown deserves a "well-done."

The third Marine to take the All-Navy title as Heavyweight champion, is Pfc. Joe Connell, LantFt. Joe's heavyweight bout was described as being the best ever fought in All-Navy Tournament annals.

The Red Cross issued 406,898 first aid certificates to persons completing courses in 1947-48.

General Hart, visiting dignitaries, civilian contractors, and staff officers took part in the ceremonies. The Second Marine Division Marching Band opened the ceremonies with the Marine Corps Hymn. Commander E. R. Barnes, Camp Chaplain, delivered the invocation, saying "this Field House will be consecrated to developing strong and virile manhood, keen minds and upright character in our Marines." General Hart in his address said, "This Field House is being paid for by the funds of men who have served and are now serving at Camp Lejeune and will be one of the finest equipped gymnasiums in the military service. It will contribute much to moral building and development of our Marines."

At the conclusion of his address, General Hart, assisted by Mr. Eugene G. Skinner, President of Skinner & Ruddock, of Charleston, S. C., broke the ground.

Colonel Alan G. Warren, Royal Marines, was among the honored guests. Participating in the ceremonies were: Col. G. F. Good, Jr., Chief of Staff, Second Marine Division. See FIELD HOUSE On Page 5

When the whistle blows at the end of a day's work, we climb into our cars and head for home. And what a sight greets us on the highways. Road hogs, speeders and all sorts of smart alec drivers leap frog all over the place without a thought in their mind as to the awful carnage they cause in the nation's death toll.

We are listing some of the bad types of drivers. Check the list carefully and if you are guilty of three, increase your insurance and we will see you in the HOSPITAL, brother!

SPEEDER—He is the most DANGEROUS road hazard. He is involved in two out of every five fatal accidents.

DRINKER—He is the cause of about twenty percent of all fatal accidents. If you drive DON'T drink; if you drink DON'T drive.

SLEEPER—Victims of daydreaming, or road fatigue, or driving when overtired He usually wakes up when it's too late.

WEAVER—Is the man who weaves all over the road. Give him the right of way—He is DANGEROUS. He usually winds in and out until he crashes into someone or some object.

ROAD HOG—Sails blithely along in the center of road, ignores the other fellow and allows no one room to pass.

SIGNAL SHIRKER—Fails to signal for turns or stops, and pays no attention to signals of others. Manages to do a good job snarling traffic.

NECKER—Uses the front seat as a parlor sofa. Romeo of the road. One-arm driving is VERY dangerous.

CROWDER—This fellow isn't always found in the subways. Follows and hugs auto in front dangerously close.

CREEPEE—Starts to creep before light changes, scares pedestrians, makes them jumpy.

HORN-ITCHER—Blows horn excessively or unnecessarily. Has not consideration of the effect on others. Do you drive with your horn?

KNOW-IT-ALL—The driver who thinks he knows all proper driving rules while violating many of them daily. If a traffic officer followed YOU all day how many tickets would you receive?

GROWLER—Berates and causes other people to become jumpy. If you are a gentleman and a good sport you will never growl, no matter who is at fault.

SLOVEN—Neglects auto to point of danger. Do you have your auto inspected regularly?

STICK AROUND—HOT CHOW ANY MINUTE!

Many a good man is quick to inform you that he is not "religious". The inference is that anyone who is conscious of definite religious convictions has something wrong with him; he is the exception, rather than the rule; he is likely to cause you some embarrassment by refusing to go along with the crowd. Very likely this wide-spread reluctance to be known as a religious man would take a lot of explaining, but I wonder if one of the chief reasons is not the strange conception so many have of what being a religious man involves.

Should such a person be expected to parade his convictions in a superior, "holier than thou" attitude? Certainly not. The most noble figure religion has ever known, Jesus of Nazareth, condemned in harshest language those who loved to be seen of men, praying in the market place. Nowhere in the Bible can you find any support of religious hypocrisy as the response God would have men make to Him. Humility, not pride, is a key virtue of true religious men, who are always cautioned not to think of themselves more highly than they ought to think. No, real religion does not breed snobs; it breeds men who know themselves, their powers and their limitations, because they have walked secretly and humbly with Almighty God.

Should the religious man be a "wet blanket," a "kill-joy," unable to enjoy life to the full because of narrow codes and petty restrictions placed upon his behavior by the Church? Again, the answer is, "Certainly not." People who have found themselves in religion are generally the happiest, best adjusted people you find. Considerable freedom of conscience is possible when it comes to matters of what we shall eat or what we shall drink.

These variable standards have existed within the Church from the very beginning, and it is left to the individual to decide which code he shall consider binding upon him. In some matters, like sexual behavior, for example, there is one religious standard for all, and person cannot trifle with the Law of God without losing all claim to sincere religious adherence. Where the moral law conflicts with his desires or appetites, the religious man must obey; but even then, in obeying obedience is a sure sign of much more genuine belief than he who breaks these laws ever know. From the Book we have this warning, "Be deceived; God is not mocked: whatsoever a man sows, that he also reaps." No sacrifice principle can ever be worth the price of the moment in universe. This is a lesson religious man has learned which he is grateful.

A religious man, then, is content from his fellows chiefly in respect. He lives as though he has ultimate meaning and He gives to God the praise or due Him, not losing sight of truth that it is He who has us and not we ourselves; man among other men, but he has stood at the foot of the Cross, and so can never be other man again. He is of being one of a great company of men and women who have been ashamed to confess their faith, reluctant to be known as a people of God. Among them have been saints and martyrs, soldiers, sailors, athletes, scientists, social reformers; great men and men measured by any standard, withal, filled with a joy of that has been the envy of a them. To be or not to be a man, ah, that's the question that over-arches all the others that puts to us. Look about you fully and with an open mind, before you decide so important matter. For what has been the great lives is yours to the asking.

Leatherneck Will Feature Transfers

LEATHERNECK Magazine again begins the listings of Marine Transfers and promotions in the June issue, which goes on sale at the Post Exchange this week.

The popular prewar feature begins with a listing of the old and new duty stations of Staff Non-Commissioned officers transferred under Marine Corps Special Orders No. 60-49 to No. 95-49. Other pay grades will be added when practicable, it was announced, and other Special Orders listed.

LEATHERNECK will also carry a list of promotions, at various intervals, according to SSN and duty station.

Arrangements to again publish Corps transfers and promotions were completed at the earliest reasonable date following its suspension during the war and postwar period when the size of the Corps and greatly exalted transfers and promotions made the continuation of the feature impracticable.

Requests for the reinstatement of this feature by Marines in their magazine led all others, the publishers stated.

Camp Lejeune Nine Drops Three Straight Games Last Week

By PFC DAVE SHARPE

The Lejeune Marines dropped three straight last week, one to the Sailors of NRS Norfolk and two to the All-Americans of Fort Bragg, then whipped the Army nine of Fort Monroe to bring their season's slate back to within two games of the .500 mark.

McCullum lost his first game of the year at Norfolk, dropping a 7-4 decision in a game which saw Lejeune bats leave ten men stranded on the bases against five for NRS. The Navy nine bunched all seven runs into three innings, getting four in the fourth, one in the fifth, and two in the sixth before Lejeune could score. A single by Bishop, two fielder's choices and Frank Frezza's single brought one run across in the sixth. The locals grabbed three in the eighth when Pieritsch, leading off, cracked a line triple, and Bishop singled him home. Chief Hampton cracked another extra-base blow, a double that scored Bishop. Spencer grounded out, and Frezza walked, then DeJohn, batting for Grivas, slapped a single to score Hampton. But the three were not enough, and NRS walked off the field with the ball game.

Fort Bragg smashed a total of twenty-two hits and twenty runs in two games to make it four out of four over the local Leathernecks in the Lejeuners' sixteenth and seventeenth games of the season. The Army team won the first one, 9-7, then broke loose to win the second game, 11-0. Coach DeJohn used three pitchers, but the combined efforts of Bragg bats and Lejeune "fans" were too much for them.

Lejeune got back on the winning side of the fence in a Memorial Day contest against Fort Monroe, when they took the Soldiers into camp for the second time this season, coming off the field with a 14-7 win. The Lejeuners were out-hit, eleven to nine, but eight Monroe errors paved the way to the six-inning victory. McGee, with two singles in two times at bat, and Bishop and Cheval with a double and single each, led the Marine attack.

All-Marine Corps Rifle And Pistol Shoot Underway

QUANTICO, Va.—The All-Marine Corps pistol and rifle matches will get underway here at the Marine Corps Schools May 31 and continue until June 17, 1949, with entries from Marine post and stations throughout the world. This tournament gathers the best shooters throughout the Marine Corps and takes place each year at Quantico, with winners considered top-ranking Marine marksmen.

Some of the keenest competition is expected for the Lauchheimer Trophy which goes to the shooter with the highest aggregate score of both rifle and pistol events. Among the distinguished shooters who will compete for this trophy are: MSgt. Thomas R. Mitchell, 2319 Fifth St., Lubbock, Texas, present holder; Chief Warrant Officer Mark W. Billings, 12315 Washburn Ave., Detroit, Mich., both of the Marine Corps Schools, and MSgt. Walter E. Fletcher, 2233 N. E. Local Golf Team Defeats Cherry Point 22-14

The untied, unbeaten Camp Lejeune Golf team triumphantly returned last weekend from upsetting the Cherry Point Golf team for the second time by a score of 22-14. The sharpshooting golfers of Camp Lejeune have five successive wins to their credit, playing teams from North Carolina and Parris Island.

Low scoring honors for the Cherry Point game were divided between MSgt. C. C. Adams of Camp Lejeune and SSgt. W. E. Beverly of Cherry Point who shot exceptional 74's on the new golf course at Cherry Point. Lt. W. S. Anthony was second with a close 76.

The team's best ball for Camp Lejeune was a 65, 7 under par, against a 66 for Cherry Point.

For the first nine holes the golf match was nip and tuck with most of the individual and team matches even. However, the Lejeune hackers rallied on the back nine and all played good golf to come through with flying colors.

Casey At The Bat

The outlook wasn't brilliant for the Mudville nine that day;

The score stood four to two with but one inning more to play.

And then, when Cooney died at first, and Barrows did the same, A sickly silence fell upon the patrons of the game.

A straggling few got up to go in deep despair. The rest Clung to hope which springs eternal in the human breast;

They thought if only Casey could get a whack at that—

We'd put even money now with Casey at the bat.

But Flynn preceded Casey as did also Jimmy Blake,

And the former was a lulu, and the latter was a cake;

So upon that stricken multitude grim melancholy sat.

For there seemed but little chance of Casey's getting to the bat.

But Flynn let drive a single, to the wonderment of all.

And Blake, the much despised, tore the cover off the ball.

And when the dust had lifted, and the men saw what had occurred,

There was Johnnie safe at second, and Flynn a-hugging third.

Then, from 5,000 throats and more, there rose a lusty yell;

It rumbled through the valley; it rattled in the dell;

It knocked upon the mountains, and recalled upon the flat.

For Casey, mighty Casey, was advancing to the bat.

There was ease in Casey's manner as he stepped into his place;

There was pride in Casey's bearing, and a smile on Casey's face.

And then responding to the cheers, he lightly doffed his hat.

No stranger in the crowd could doubt 'twas Casey at the bat.

Ten thousand eyes were on him as he rubbed his hands with dirt;

Five thousand tongues applauded when he wiped them on his shirt.

Then while the writhing pitcher ground the ball into his hip,

Defiance gleamed in Casey's eye, a sneer curled Casey's lip.

And now the leather-covered sphere came hurtling through the air,

And Casey stood a-wate-

hauty grandeur there.

Close by the sturdy ball unheeded sped—

Hurlers Chalk Two No-Hitters

'Lefty' Gilmore And 'Berny' Halloran Boast Impressive Season Records

Lefty Gilmore and 'Berny' Halloran, both members of the Second Service Group 'Bears,' have pitched no-hit ball games. Gilmore is first no-hitter of the current season against the 2d Engineer. Halloran had his first no-hitter against the 10th Marines.

Bears are way out in front of opponents so far this year. The excellent pitching style of the team displayed by pitchers Halloran and Gilmore.

'Berny' was All Star of his back home for two straight seasons. Since entering the Corps, 'Berny' has seen duty aboard the Pacific Fleet, aboard the USS Iowa, for over two years. 'Berny' played basketball with the Camp Lejeune team last year. He is no longer finished the season he pulled on his baseball glove and started working out for the forthcoming season with the Bears.

Due to the regret of the Commanding Officer, 'Berny' is due for discharge in July and he has expressed intentions of accepting the discharge to pursue further education and educational standards. 'Berny' will be greatly missed by all members of this command because of his great playing ability, but all the members of his outfit sincerely wish that he goes on to greater things in his forthcoming college career.

Among the many new outstanding players on the various baseball teams at Camp Lejeune, Pfc John Halloran of the 2d Combat Service Group "Bears" outshines the majority. Pfc. Gilmore has pitched baseball for over five years and over that period of time has been steadily improving his skills and deliver as evidenced by excellent record.

Known as Lefty, "Southpaw" Gilmore has been turning them out at the bat very successfully for this season. "Lefty" has pitched up seven straight wins so far this year. In the first game of this year, "Lefty" set a fast pace by striking out fourteen men at Montford Point Team and "Bears" walked away victorious with a 7-2 win after Gilmore pitched a no-hitter.

Another No-Hitter
The contest between AAA and Marine Barracks, H&S Bn. basebatters, Felder chalked up a no-run ballgame.

After striking out 14, gave up no hits or runs in the seven-inning. Three men reached first on errors.

One of the most interesting hobbies around Camp Lejeune, if not the most active, is raising and showing pedigree dogs. Lt. and Mrs. Ray Settle have raised and showed dogs for a number of successful seasons as evidenced in the photo above. Lt. Settle's dogs are pictured above with a wealthy collection of ribbons and trophies they have won at various shows all over the country. (Photo by SSgt. Powers, Camp Photo Lab).

Chatanooga, Tenn. — Baseball's wandering boy, Louis "Bobo" Newsom is back again starting his 21st year as a pitcher in organized ball. The fabulous Newsom tried to sign up with several major league teams, but after frequent negative replies, has cast his lot with the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern Assn.

There are 29 different sizes of rubber bands manufactured, contradicting the idea that all rubber bands are the same.

Boston (AFPS) — A wonderful and amazing new airplane has been developed.

Speed of the airplane is not its sensational feature—rather, it is the lack of speed.

Otto Koppen and Lynn Bollinger of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, worked three years in perfecting their craft which has an idling airspeed of 27 mph, and can land on a tennis court.

They call it a helioplane because it combines the appearance of a conventional plane with the advantages of a helicopter.

THE RIGHT-OF-WAY

Right-of-way is defined in the law as "the privilege of the immediate use of the highway." The term "highway" also includes city streets. Whenever one motorist encounters another motorist, or a pedestrian, and when both desire to move on the same portion of the highway at the same time, the question of right-of-way arises.

In all such occasions, ordinary courtesy and caution are called for—but State laws prescribe certain priorities, and all motorists and pedestrians should be thoroughly familiar with them.

One of the most common situations calling for a decision on right-of-way is when two vehicles on different highways are approaching an intersection which is not controlled by either stop signs or traffic-control signals. There are two provisions of the law dealing with this situation.

The first states that the driver of a vehicle approaching such an intersection shall yield the right-of-way to a vehicle which is already has entered the intersection. Regardless of whether the other driver is coming from your right or from your left, if he has entered the intersection before you do, you are required to yield the right-of-way to him.

The second provision covers the case of two vehicles arriving at the intersection at approximately the same time. Here, the vehicle on the left is required to yield the right-of-way to the vehicle on the right.

Two special provisions of the law deal with right-of-way when drivers desire to turn left. First, if you have entered the intersection and desire to turn left, you are required to yield the right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction, which is either within the intersection already or so close to the intersection as to be a hazard to you. It is up to you to wait until the other vehicle passes by before completing your left turn.

However, after you have yielded the right-of-way to these approaching vehicles, a second provision then permits you to complete your turn and requires any additional vehicles approaching from the opposite direction to yield to you.

The usual right-of-way rules are changes at any intersection by installation of stop signs or traffic-control signals. The law includes definite regulations on right-of-way at such locations.

If you are entering an intersection where there is a stop sign facing you, you are required to come to a full stop and yield the right-of-way to any vehicles on the main highway which have entered the intersection or are approaching so closely as to be a hazard to you. However, the law doesn't require you to continue to yield for an extended period of time. After you have stopped and yielded the right-of-way to approaching vehicles, you may then proceed cautiously into the intersection.

This latter provision is a good one to remember when you are the driver on the main highway. If another driver is in the intersection and has been waiting to cross a side street, and has waited several vehicles to pass, and starts on across in a gap of in front of you, don't call "dumbbell" driver. According to the law, he has the right, and you are the driver who yield to him.

Numerous court decisions point out that none of the laws with right-of-way excuse a party from being especially full at street intersections to collision. Your own good judgment should tell you when it be foolish to insist on the right of way.

There are several other important laws governing right-of-way. One of these laws requires a driver of a vehicle to start or the movement can be made reasonable safety.

Similarly, when you enter a highway from an alley or a private driveway, you must of a full stop before entering the road—and you must yield right-of-way to all vehicle approaching or passing on the way.

Exceptions to the usual right of way rules for emergency vehicles such as fire trucks, police cars, ambulances are provided by law. It is unlawful for the operator of a vehicle not to yield the right of way to such emergency vehicles when they are operating on of business and when they are audible signals. When an emergency vehicle is sounding its siren over to the curb or the side of road and wait until the vehicle passed.

Among the most important governing right-of-way are the dealing with pedestrian traffic. There are at least three significant laws on this matter. Here are rules which you should always remember as a driver:

First, as an operator of a vehicle you must yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing the highway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk at an intersection, except at those intersections where movement of traffic is being regulated by traffic officers or traffic control signals.

Second, in turning a corner at an intersection controlled by traffic signals, you must yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing with the green light.

The third rule governing pedestrian right-of-way is one which should be remembered by all pedestrians. It states that when a pedestrian is jaywalking or crossing a highway at any point other than a marked or unmarked crosswalk, an intersection, he must yield right-of-way to vehicles on the highway.

When thinking in terms of right-of-way, the Safety Division, Office of Industrial Relations, urges to head the following rule:

First, know the occasion when you are required to grant right-of-way to other drivers or pedestrians—and be courteous enough to yield to them.

Toxic Gases Under Test In Maryland

New and more deadly war gases more toxic than lewisite or mustard are under test and development at the Army Chemical Center, Edgewood, Maryland, by the Chemical Corps of the Army. Edgewood research has progressed, with the German wartime "Tabun" or first of the "G" series as a base, to even more toxic gases. This series, also known as the "Green Ring Three," so-called because of the method of designation, comprises deadly "nerve" gases, which has been dubbed "psychological" gases because under certain conditions they might cause irresponsible behavior among victims. Small quantities of these gases inhaled or on the skin are lethal.

North China Patrol The Latest Gazette

When seven marines were captured by Chinese Communists while on an ice-hunting expedition in 1946, the 1st Marine Battalion sent a battalion on patrol to find them. After over three years of what happened to the patrol has just been released in the June issue of the Corps GAZETTE by Lieut. Colonel Henry Aplington.

It was a show of force, designed to convince the communists it was bad medicine to force Marines, even if they were bound and looking for ice for beer cooler. The patrol accomplished this mission but it also back, footsore and weary, new respect for the North countryside and the Chinese. The missing marines were not found (a truce team later arranged for their release) but training value of the patrol great. The battalion commander learned that combat-taught Marines are soon forgotten and that a garrison duty had softened the battalion, which had fought with distinction from Guadalcanal to now.
