Cherry Pointer Cops First In Rifle Championship

BY LT. W. T. Zamoje

Last Thursday afternoon, the Southeastern Division Ri- fle and Pistol Matches were concluded here with the pre- sentation of medals to win- ners of both groups.

Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of the Sec- ond Marine Division and Marine Barracks, Camp Lejeune addressed the group prior to the presentation of awards. He extended his con- gratulations to the winners for their fine shooting and wished them the "best of luck" in the All-Marine Corps Matches to be held at Quanti- co, Va., this summer. The General also stated, he had hopes that the Marine Corps Matches for 1950 will be held at Camp Lejeune.

Following this short talk, the General introduced Colonel W. J. Whaling, Chief of Staff, Marine Barracks, Camp Lejeune, who pre- sented the medals to the winners. Four Gold, eight Silver and sixteen Bronze Medals were awarded to shooters of the rifle and pistol.

Top rifle award was given to 1st Lieut. G. Gross of the Marine Air Station at Cherry Point, N. C. Al- though tied with TSgt M. R. Beebe of the Second Marine Division with like aggregates of 569, Lt. Kross was awarded first place by virtue of his firing a new high score of 291 in the second stage of the match, breaking the previous Camp Lejeune record of 290.

TSgt. Beebe already a disting- uished marksman, placed second. TSgt I. W. Johnson, Parris Island, was the recipient of the first Gold Medal taking third after firing a score of 564.

In the pistol matches, Warrant Officer R. C. McIntyre of the Sec- ond Combat Service Group came away with first place firing 557. Placing second was MSgt. W. E. Fletcher, Parris Island shooter, who is a familiar figure in nearly all Marine Corps competitive rifle and pistol matches.

A newcomer to Marine Corps Matches copped the first Gold Medal taking third place was Ser- geant R. Nielson, a second Marine Division shooter. Nielson also re- ceived the second Gold Medal in the rifle match.

The Marine Corps Schools at Quantico, Va., is the next stop for the sharpshooters of the Southeast- ern Division. There the All-Marine Corps Matches field the best shots of the entire Marine Corps and the winner in each category can justly be proud.

It is at Quantico that such fa- mous awards as the Lauchheimer Trophy, the Wirgman Cup and the Elliott Team Trophy are won. To Marines, winning these honors mean a great deal. This is a place where both enlisted men and offi- cers compete on the same level and both put their hearts into winning.

First Group Of 'Citizen-Marines' End Their Two Week Training

The first group of Citizen-Marines are preparing to leave Camp Lejeune today upon the termination of their an- nual two week training period. During their short but edu- cational stay at Camp Lejeune, they have been refreshed to Marine Corps tactics and strategy.

4th Division Vets To Hold Meeting

There will be a meeting of Fourth Division Marines on Wednesday, June 1st, 1949, at the Camp The- atre at 1615.

This will be the final meeting to discuss transportation plans for at- tending the convention to be held at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C.

All former members of the Fourth Marine Division are cordial- ly invited and urged to attend.

This reunion will hold the first all-Marine parade in 25 years. President Truman and ranking dig- nitaries have been invited to review the "Fighting Fourth," which saw four major actions in a period of one year during the last war.

Major General Franklin A. Hart, Commanding General of Marine Barrack and the 2d Marine Division at Camp Lejeune will lead the pa- rade in their march down Constitu- tion Avenue. General Hart is pres- ident of the Fourth Marine Division Association.

For the combat-veteran Reserves, the training was chiefly based on refresher courses while the younger Citizen-Marines were indoctrinated into the Marine Corps with drills, inspections, and various other duties Marines are expected to per- form proficiently.

More than 18 different courses and on-the-job training have been offered the 81 Officers and 124 Enlisted men in the first group to train here.

Here is a group of men who com- bine their knowledge and skills with that of the Marine Corps. The result, a well prepared and well informed Marine Corps Reserve.

Welcome-Citizen-Marines

The first of the Marine Corps Reserve Components—Volunteer Reserves—have arrived at Camp Lejeune for their annual training.

We want to say right here and now, that they're welcome. We are glad to see them again!

Just so the record's straight, here's some dope on the Reserves that you may not know or just didn't realize:

Your Marine reservist works for a living as a civilian. He is perhaps a mechanic, cab driver, farmer or clerk. He has an eight-hour-a-day job and he needs it to live. His job leaves his evenings and week-ends free. He can use them for going to the movies, fishing, swimming or any other form of recreation. It's the only spare time he has. Instead of that he enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve, voluntarily giving up a good proportion of this "spare" time to military training. It's no game. It's a sacrifice—and it's for patriotic reasons.

His yearly pay gives him just enough cash to pay his transportation costs to and from scheduled drills, and to keep his uniforms cleaned and pressed and buy shoe polish. Once a year he devotes two weeks to intensified training—Vacation? Go over and take a look at the training schedule; or better still, go out in the boon docks and watch him as he slogs past you with full combat gear.

One thing more—a good many 'Citizen' Marines are seasoned combat veterans with a wealth of rigid training and service behind them. They are proud to AGAIN serve the Marine Corps as members of the Marine Corps Reserve.

Welcome MARINES, we are glad to see you again and hope you enjoy your summer training at Camp Lejeune.

Educational Benefits

The Marine Corps has always afforded Marines the opportunity of bettering their education. The Marine who is interested in furthering his education, completing high school, or preparing himself for some highly specialized subject can get assistance from the Camp Education Office.

The Marine Corps Institute has a wealth of courses available for those who wish to plan a well-rounded educational program. The staff of the Camp Educational Office will gladly help you plan your education and career.

The education officer has at his finger tips complete information concerning all courses available through MCI or USAFI. All you need to do is consult him. He will give you assistance and guidance.

The Camp Education office is located in building No. 62. The next time you have a few spare minutes during lunch hour, drop in and discuss your educational problems.

The Everlasting Arms

In William Saroyan's book THE HUMAN COMEDY there is a scene in a railroad car full of soldiers, as it swings across country, to some port of embarkation. One of the men who isn't destined to come back is playing haphazard melodies on his accordion when a tough top-sergeant says to him, "Son, I don't want you or the boys to laugh at me, but I sure wish you'd play that song I used to sing in the Methodist choir back home, about Leaning on the Everlasting Arms." The accordion player takes up the tune. At first the top sergeant merely hums along, and then he begins to sing as one by one he recalls the words. A young corporal turns from the window to listen, then gets up and saunters down the aisle to be nearer the music. Four privates leave a crap game and get in to the act, and soon the entire car is filled with voices singing about the everlasting arms.

Do you think that it made softies of them, to sing that way about leaning on the everlasting arms? Or do you think that perhaps it made them a little more gallant to face whatever life would demand of them? Or do you suppose they didn't do anything about it after that, just quit and let God do it all, since He had such tremendous arms? Or do you rather suppose that they took on a little more just because those everlasting arms were there—underneath?

It positively frightens me at times to discover what some folk think their Christianity is supposed to do. They give off the impression that it's meant to give us rest and comfort. Read through the New Testament again and see what is stirring there—God is wrapping His arms around humanity in the person of His Son to help them achieve their full stature as his sons. There's never even a hint that He intends to make life easy. His purpose is always to make men strong. And if life attempts to crush us ever there are the everlasting arms to undergrid us and to help us lift the load. They were never intended to be substitutes for our arms—they are simply God's way of saying that He won't ever let us down. Once we get hold of that perhaps we will stoping all our cheapness on Him put it where it belongs. Man don't have the knowledge strength or fortitude necessary to stand up alone. He knows that enough. But if you make a little effort you'll discover all you are those everlasting arms that will pull you through whatever you are facing. Never hesitate to sing about the everlasting arms.

Camp High School Choir Sings At Camp Theatre

The 36 members of the High School Choir, under the direction of Miss Dorothy H. are becoming a familiar sight to the men of Camp Lejeune. Last night they sang at the Camp Club and on Monday night sang between shows at the Camp Theater.

The mixed choir sang in the first of the series of performances at the Camp Theater, with Miss Dorothy H. as accompanist. The program included "Mary Was a Russian's Sailors Dance," "Of The Things You Are," "Whiffenpoof Song," "Two-Tone Song," "Summertime," by Lois Dake, and "Come Along," sung by Shirley L. Fair, were well received by the audience. Miss Hoskins has been at the Camp School for a year and under her skillful direction this choir has entertained various activities throughout the Camp.

Although new members join each year these have above average voices. They are always welcome to join.

Marine Div. Band Plays At Dedication In Wilmington

The Second Marine Division Band continued to rise in popularity throughout Southern North Carolina last Tuesday by fulfilling another engagement at Wilmington, N. C.

The 60 piece section of the band, accompanied by a color guard were posted by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce to take part in ceremonies attendant to the dedication of a new stadium for the Wilmington Baseball Club, Inc., honoring war dead of New Hanover County.

Lejeune To Observe Serene Memorial Day May 30th With Official Holiday Planned For Next Monday

The most beautiful and sacred of our patriotic holidays, Memorial Day, originated in 1868, under an order issued May 5th, by General John A. Logan, Commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, "that every post of the Grand Army should hold suitable exercises and decorate the graves of their dead comrades with flowers. Memorial Day at Camp Lejeune will be observed in solemn church services this coming Sunday. A history of the background of this national holiday follows:

Operation Packard III On Maneuvers Along The Carolina Coast

Operation Packard III, final training exercise for Marine Corps' Amphibious Warfare School, Class of 1949, got underway as Task Force 108 sailed from Quantico last week for maneuvers and amphibious landings on the Carolina coast.

With over 1100 demonstration troops from the Marine Corps Schools and about 700 officer-students of the Amphibious Warfare School aboard, the task force rendezvoused and observed a naval gun fire and air support demonstration near Bloodworth Island, Va., before proceeding here where amphibious landings were made at Onslow Beach.

In addition to destroyers, transports, LST's and other conventional ships that make up a small task force, TF 108 also included an aircraft carrier with a helicopter squadron aboard and a transport submarine for carrying landing troops.

For the first time on a large scale the Marine Corps' HRP's twin motor helicopters were used from aircraft carrier flight decks. The 'copters, called "flying bananas" by the Marines who man them, flew elements of a regimental combat team over simulated coral reefs and underwater obstacles and landed them high and dry at picked spots behind the beach defenses. The helicopter squadron also flew in supplies, aided in communications and acted as artillery spotters to demonstrate their versatility in amphibious warfare.

The transport submarine, used for the first time on East Coast maneuvers, landed under cover of darkness at a defensive strong point. The transport submarine was developed in the late stages of World War II and has not been used in actual combat.

The officer students of the Amphibious Warfare School, future commanders of Marine Corps regiments and divisions, staffed the command positions of the operation. For the past nine months these officers have been undergoing training pointed for this exercise. All phases of amphibious warfare—air, sea and land—have been covered in this unique school—the only one of its kind in the Armed Forces.

Govt. Will Purchase U. S. Freedom Train

WASHINGTON (APPS) — The Freedom Train will roll again.

President Truman recently signed a bill authorizing the Government to purchase and operate the Train.

This order, issued so many years ago, still carries on, but extends now to the dead of all wars. Gradually too the custom has grown until it includes all graves—those of public officials, of fraternal orders and societies, and of relatives and friends, for to many it has become a day of personal and family commemoration.

Originally called Decoration Day, as the years passed and its scope became widened, it became more appropriately Memorial Day. Because of its original purpose—the decoration of the graves of the soldiers who fought the battles to preserve the Union, its formal observance, always dignified and reverent, was given a military aspect from the first.

A flag was placed on graves of soldiers for a marker. Poppies are a new symbol of Memorial Day for World War veterans.

Today the exercises are much the same, except that the American Legion is in charge, and the scope of the program has been enlarged to include music, songs, and poems of later wars. The parade, constantly improving in organization, includes not only all available military units, with massed colors and a color guard, firing squad and bugler, and all the local bands and fife and drum corps, but also the civic officials, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, fraternal organizations, often with their drill teams, and children from the schools. The schools observe the occasion with suitable auditorium programs.

In the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va., the grave of the Unknown Soldier is decorated, with formal ceremonies. There are national exercises at Gettysburg with emphasis on the oration, the music and the reading of Lincoln's immortal address. The day is an appropriate occasion for the dedication of memorials in local cemeteries, in city parks, and elsewhere, for example, the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington on May 30, 1922. The graves of American soldiers in French cemeteries are decorated by the French as well as by the Americans.

It is a day of heroes, a day to remember their sacrifices and their deeds; a day of memories of loved ones and friends; a day to honor and to remember others—and what they did to preserve our country and our freedom.

It is a legal holiday in all states of the Union, the District of Columbia and territories and possessions, except seven of the southern states that prefer their own appointed time, Confederate Memorial Day, April 26. Memorial days continue the traditions that have grown through 75 years, but with a new understanding, as actual participation of those from World War II will give a new significance to future observance.

Opportunity Drive To Begin At Camp Lejeune June 13

The President of the United States has recently announced a nation-wide savings bond campaign to be conducted during the period 16 May to 30 June. This campaign will be known as the 'Opportunity Drive'. The President called for an all-out effort on the part of all patriotic Americans everywhere to make the drive a success.

The Navy Department has directed that an intensive two week savings bond campaign be conducted by all naval establishments sometime during the seven-week period stated above. In line with this, the 'Opportunity Drive' campaign will be conducted at Camp Lejeune during the period of 13-27 June, 1949. During this period, it is desired that every officer, enlisted man and civilian employee of the Navy and Marine Corps not now participating in one of the regular Navy bond purchase plans, be personally interviewed and encouraged to enroll on a voluntary basis.

The goal set for this drive is an over-all participation of at least 75 per cent of all military and civilian personnel. The present over-all percentage of participation is 41.9 per cent for military personnel and 35.6 per cent for civilian personnel. These percentages are too low and it is believed that with a concentrated effort by all bond representatives and their assistants, and the whole hearted backing of the drive by all military and civilian personnel, our goal can be achieved.

The Commanding General strongly endorses the Opportunity Drive and directs all organization commanders and activity heads to lend full cooperation in this effort and to encourage all personnel to regularly save a portion of their pay.

2d AmTrac Receives Leatherneck Plaque

During ceremonies held at Division Headquarters last Tuesday, Colonel George F. Good, Jr., Chief of Staff, Second Marine Division presented the "Leatherneck" magazine award to Major Richard G. Wurga for the high subscription rate of the Second Amphibian Tractor Battalion, which he commands.

The award consisting of a framed picture of Marines in action had been won by the battalion for their successful "Leatherneck" subscription drive during which 53 per cent of the unit took subscriptions.

The Second Amphibian Tractor Battalion have the unique distinction of being the first unit to be placed on the Honor Roll of "Leatherneck" supporters.

Team Work

Camp Lejeune Auxiliary, Navy Relief Society

Team work requires enthusiasm, a deep sense of honor and loyalty to the group in which you are. This spirit has meant much in the history of our nation and the Marine Corps. We have been a nation of people with a TEAM SPIRIT.

The strength of any organization or outfit is in the spirit of the individuals who are willing to work together for a definite purpose. The Navy Relief Society depends on every person's support to carry on its work. With this backing, whenever you are faced with an emergency the Camp Lejeune Auxiliary will be able to help.

Also wherever you are in the service, no matter how distant or small the station, the Navy Relief Society is ready to help in sickness or emergency. If there is no Auxiliary where you are, a letter to Navy Relief Society Headquarters at Washington, D. C. will bring understanding assistance for your dependents or your needs.

Last year's contributions from Camp Lejeune was $6382.00. All together we can beat that figure. Let's get the spirit of the team working.

Lejeune 9 Bows To Two Army Teams Defeats Fort Monroe Soldiers

Greyhound Races At Morehead City 3 June

More than 400 greyhounds have arrived at local kennels from Florida and other states to take part in the nightly races to be held at the Carolina Racing Association's dog track which opens its second and a 92-night season here on Friday night, June 3.

Prior to the official opening of the track on June 3, there will be six nights of schooling races starting on next Friday night, May 27. The schooling events, held in order that dogs may get accustomed to the local track, will feature from 15 to 16 races each evening and there will be no charge of admission to see the dogs run. On the schooling nights there will be no pari-mutuel betting, and as a result, children if they so desire may visit the track and see the dogs run. After official opening night and the beginning of pari-mutuel betting no minors will be allowed inside the track while races are underway.

This is the same system that was employed last year and highly trained and well-paid officers enforced the ruling relative to minors and at the same time kept absolute order at the track.

Patrons of the track this year will find many improvements have been made since the season closed last year. Several thousand dollars have been expended in landscaping the properties. Additional parking areas have been constructed providing space for parking several hundred additional automobiles. Approaches to the parking area have been paved. Changes have been made in the grand stand providing additional seating space.

This year automatic coin machines have been installed at the main gate to expedite the movement of patrons through the turnstiles. Instead of buying a ticket and handing same to a ticket-taker at the gate, there will be change making facilities and the patron will merely drop a half dollar in a slot to unlock a turnstile for entering the tracks—and turnstiles will also be installed for patrons of the Club House. An automatic ticket system will be installed at the mutual windows to speed up that phase of the operation.

With the official opening on June 3, there will be 10 races each night. But there will be no racing on Sunday nights. The season extends until Saturday night, September 17. Pari-mutuel betting will be under supervision of the Morehead City Racing Commission, and L. D. Gore will again be the Commission judge.

Other racing officials, most of whom were here during the 1948 season include: Boyd Rhode, presiding judge; J. R. Sanders, associate judge and timer; Paul Hartwell, racing secretary; Harry Dundas, paddock judge; Paul S. Hartwell, Jr., clerk of scales; C. V. Goethius, chart writer; Leo Kuper, director of mutuels; Eddie Webb, lure operator and Dr. C. E. Paden, veterinarian.

pitched a spectacular ball game in his first starting assignment. Mc-Cullum gave up only one hit and no runs until the ninth inning,
when a Lejeune error, a fielder's choice, a single and the first extra base hit of the day, a double brought home two runs.

The local Leathernecks grabbed two more tallies on the two home runs in the sixth, one in the seventh on two singles, three in the eighth on two singles, a walk and Eddie Gallagher's double, and two in the final stanza on Cheval's double, a base on balls, and Ralph Nofsinger's triple.

Outstanding in the three game series were Lev Spencer, "the Gunner," who lofted his batting average to .375, and whose power at the plate brought him the lead in base hits, runs batted in, and tied him for the leadership in stolen bases. These statistics, combined with his fielding average and rifle arm, further prove the point that the Lejeune Marines should land at least one man on the 1949
All-Navy baseball squad.

Marine Aviation Celebrates 28th Anniversary

Marine Corps Aviation, which grew from a one pilot force in 1921, to a peak of 117,496 Marine aviators during World War II, celebrated its thirty-seventh anniversary last Sunday.

Currently specializing in fighter and fighter-bomber aircraft, Marine aviators now total 1,946 officers, with an overall figure of 15,929 officers and men attached to aviation units.

About half of all Marine air squadrons are fighter squadrons, and more than half of the aircraft are F4U Corsairs—fighters which fly at speeds in excess of 400 miles an hour.

For familiarization with ground tactics and problems, a Marine pilot's training includes a course (along with line officers) at the Marine Amphibious Warfare School, where he pushes through swamps on night patrol, estimates the situation for an infantry-tank problem, and makes beachhead landings.

Such indoctrination, the Marine Corps believes, enables the pilot to provide better air support for ground troops.

A continuous program of tactical experimentation is also being conducted with jet aircraft and helicopters, in addition to utility, transport and fighter planes. Marine Aviation operates six air groups and two wings with a total of 815 planes.

Civilian Personnel Guide

MISUSE OF FURLOUGH

During recent weeks the Navy Department has received many complaints from individuals and from organized employee groups regarding the application of furloughs without pay during regular work weeks for the purpose of accomplishing work on Saturdays and Sundays. The nature of these complaints is such as to indicate that some field activities are making use of furloughs without pay contrary to the intent of current regulations.

The complaints are that some activities are furloughing small groups of employees for work on Saturdays and Sundays on strictly routine assignments. These assignments are reported to be routine receiving and shipping duties in supply departments, routine cleanup work by laborers and regular production work by mechanics and helpers. It was reported that in no cases were the elements of an emergency present in any of these assignments. Discussions with selected naval activities by departmental representatives since the complaints have been made appear to confirm the above allegations to such a degree that a restatement of the intent of current regulations is necessary at this time.

The intent of current regulations (NCPI 85) was to permit activities to furlough employees during the basic work week to cover clearly unforeseen urgent or emergency work on week-ends. It was not anticipated that activities would use the furlough to accomplish purely routine work on week-ends on the basis that it would be more convenient at that time. The elements of an emergency should be present in all cases where the furlough device is used, and in all cases local management should make it a point to fully explain the nature of the emergency and the reasons for the weekend work to the employees concerned. The use of furloughs without pay to avoid the payment of overtime under the circumstances outlined above is not only contrary to current regulations, but a very questionable management practice as well. In addition, its use is not adequately supported for reasons of economy since the amount of overtime pay involved in most cases would be negligible.

Since the complaints received by the Navy Department regarding the furlough of employees also dealt with the question of compensatory time off in lieu of overtime, it is considered that a restatement of the intent of the Navy Department's instructions on this subject is also appropriate. In the case of graded employees, compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay is for the decision only by the employees concerned. If employees prefer pay instead of compensatory time off they must be paid. In the case of ungraded employees, there is no authority whatsoever to grant compensatory time off. These employees must be paid at overtime rates for all hours worked in excess of forty during any regular work week.

Due to the fact that the foregoing complaints have been the subject of much discussion in the department, it is requested that supervisors and department heads take necessary actions to prevent the misuses of furloughs as mentioned above.

Asks New Bill For Housing Units

Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson sent to Congress this week an authorization request for a $623,125,682 public works and housing program for the Army, Navy and Air Force, which would provide a minimum of 7500 housing units during the next fiscal year.

Secretary Johnson told Congress that the program represents "the minimum requirement of authorizations which are immediately necessary and critical in the light of the overall strategic considerations of the Services."

It is emphasized that after Congress gives the authorization for the program, appropriations for actual construction would have to be approved separately.

The proposed program is unique in that it represents a comprehensive, unified request for all Services, formulated by the Munitions Board after studying needs of the Army, Navy and Air Force, approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and strongly endorsed by the Secretary of Defense. Heretofore, the individual services have sought separate Congressional authorization for such projects.

Included in the $430,000,000 which will be sought during the next fiscal year—a sum already proposed for such work in the President's budget is $152,000,000 for family housing units. A total of $97,600,000 would be used for housing the Zone of Interior and $54,500,000 for overseas quarters. This would provide 5500 units in the United States and 2000 overseas.

Defense officials explain that while there is serious need for additional Navy housing, the shortage is more acute at Army and Air Force installations. They emphasize that in the preparation of the program, there was no attempt to set quotas for the various Services, but rather the aim was to consider separate projects of the basis of their need to the National Defense, without regard to Service.

Reserves Arrive At Lejeune; Bring Marching Song

With the arrival of the Citizen-Marines at Camp Lejeune, the base is beginning to hustle and bustle preparing the training programs for the Reserve half of the Marine Corps.

The men arrived at the base starting the 16th of May and will continue to flow into Lejeune until the latter part of the summer months. They will undergo various training programs and on-the-job training in different functional fields.

In keeping with one of the proud traditions of the Marine Corps—good music—the Marine Corps Reserve now has a Marine Corps Reserve Marching Song, adopted by the Commandant of the Marine Corps on February 2, 1948.

Written expressly for the Marine Corps Reserve by two outstanding song writers, Gene Bone and Howard Fenton of New York City, the song symbolizes the spirit of the Marine Corps Reserve in its role of maintaining the national security of our nation.

The idea of a Marine Corps Reserve song was conceived by Brigadier General W. T. Clement, Director of Marine Corps Reserve, and was announced in the Marine Corps Reserve publication, the Reserve Bulletin. Both members of the Marine Corps Reserve and civilians submitted many excellent songs before the one written by Bone and Fenton was selected. As civilians, they had submitted a song at the instigation of Frank Chapman, a Major in the Marine Corps Reserve and well-known concert singer.

The recording of the song was made by male singers from the cast of the musical production "CAROUSEL", in accompaniment with the U. S. Marine Corps Band directed by Major W. F. Santelmann. The singers, under the direction of Joseph Littau, "Carousel", Musical Director, rehearsed and recorded the song in their spare time while the show was appearing in Washington, D. C. in January, 1948, and donated their talented services to the Marine Corps in the interest of a nationwide Reserve enrollment drive. At the present time the "Carousel" company is on a nationwide tour.

In addition to recordings the song is also being prepared in sheet music and band arrangement form for use by Marine Corps and Marine Corps Reserve activities. The Woodward Music Company, New York, has copyrighted the song and plans to publish sheet music and band arrangements for use by the public.

House Considers Service Pay Increase

Debate on the Kilday Pay Bill

to increase the compensation of the members of the Uniformed Services began in the House of Representatives on Thursday, 19 May, and was continued throughout the following day.

The committee's report emphasized the fact that uniformed personnel have suffered a substantial pay reduction through the expiration of military exemptions from income tax.

Mr. Pace agreed with the estimate of Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, that the first year's cost, if the bill becomes effective October 1, would be $360,000,000 and the annual in each of the fiscal years 1951 and 1952 would be between $400,000,000 and $405,000,000.

In his letter, Mr. Pace again raised the questions of a contributory retirement system and of combining pay and tax free allowances into a single item of gross pay, all of which would be taxable. However, he agreed that there were at present insufficient available data on which to base comprehensive studies, and did not insist on any changes in the pending bill to cover these proposals. He said he would recommend to the President appointment of a Presidential commission to make an across-the-board study of military and retirement systems. He recommended that consideration be given to reducing inactive training personnel of the Reserve components, and suggested that if pay principle were approved pay might be computed on the basis of 1.75 percent of gross each year of active duty, instead of 2.5 percent of base pay, as at present.
